Whoomp and Somemore Blue: A rivalry worth savoring

Dean Gillette

Somemore Blue (Marcus Miller) winning Friday's $40,000 Thanksgiving Classic at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

by James Platz

MIDWEST CHRONICLES

with JAMES PLATZ

As Harrah's Hoosier Park closed its 2026 meet, it served up one last helping of open stakes action. The Thanksgiving Classic, held Friday night (Nov. 27), brought another installment of what has become a signature rivalry in Indiana: Whoomp versus Somemore Blue.

Indiana racing fans have been spoiled over the last two seasons. Any jurisdiction would love to have either of these Rockin Image fillies representing the program. We've been blessed with both. And with few exceptions, each time these pacers have lined up behind the starting gate, they have brought their best.

"It's just been fun," said Whoomp's trainer, Roger Welch. "It's exciting to watch them race because you watch them bust out of the gate, walk the middle half, and then you watch them race home. They're just two great horses."

> — Erv Miller

The rivalry came into full bloom this season, but it took root in 2025. The fillies met six times as 2-year-olds, a preview of what was to come. Erv Miller pupil Somemore Blue went 7-2-0 in 10 freshman starts, winning her first seven, including a Grand Circuit event at the Indiana State Fair. Whoomp opened her career with back-to-back fourth-place finishes, then found her stride.

Whoomp trailed Somemore Blue in their first two Indiana Sires Stakes meetings that August, finishing third and then second. Sent off as the second choice in the $201,000 Grade 2 Kentuckiana Stallion Management Stake, she handed Somemore Blue her first defeat. The Welch trainee, bred by Bo and Pat De Long and owned by the two in partnership with Jay De Long, then beat her in the sixth and final Indiana Sires Stakes preliminary leg and the $250,000 Super Final. The Rockin Image—Nightcap filly won four straight and five of her last six to finish 8-1-1 in 13 starts, earning $349,601 (sixth among North American freshman pacing fillies) and Indiana Pacer of the Year honors. Somemore Blue banked $279,566, ninth among freshman fillies, with a 1:51.3 mark.

The 2025 season was a prelude to an epic 2026. With the pair dominating the division, few were anxious to oppose them, so six of the eight sires stakes legs were carded as single divisions. After each filly won her respective opening-round division, they clashed in the remaining seven preliminary legs, each one memorable, before the $250,000 Super Final.

Those meetings were two heavyweights standing toe-to-toe, trading haymakers. In the preliminary legs, the favorite prevailed only three times, and each time the two fillies finished 1-2. Whoomp and driver John De Long wired the field in the second leg, holding off favored Somemore Blue by three-quarters-of-a-length in 1:50.4. Two weeks later, Somemore Blue struck back, romping by nearly four lengths in a gate-to-wire 1:49 score. Whoomp answered in the July 11 fourth leg, beating her rival by a quarter-length in 1:48.3. Marcus Miller and Somemore Blue set every fraction to beat betting choice Whoomp by a neck in the fifth leg, and on Aug. 15 Whoomp, the favorite, sat in the pocket through fractions of :25.4, :55.1, and 1:23.4 before pulling to win by 1½ lengths in 1:49.3.

"When they were going quarters in :25 and a piece and going :49 and :48, you know, that was just breathtaking," said Welch.

Somemore Blue then used pocket trips to win the final two legs, upending favored Whoomp in late August before repeating as the betting choice. Between those wins, the Rockin Image—Misssomebeach Blue lass also captured the $75,000 Carl Becker Memorial and its prep, beating her rival both times for an ownership group that has included at different times Ken Duffy, Lava Java Stable, Never 2 Late Stable, Stepbystep Racing, and Bryn Campbell.

Whoomp squared the series at four wins apiece in the $250,000 Super Final, romping by nearly five lengths. Somemore Blue, the favorite, finished an uncharacteristic seventh. Erv Miller said sickness was the cause, noting the illness also knocked her out of the Breeders Crown.

"It was quite a summer with these two, they're both really good fillies," he said. "It was a bad deal that our filly got sick at the wrong time. When she got sick and missed some money in the final and missed the Breeders Crown, those were two big factors for her."

Somemore Blue earned $257,750 in the sires stakes campaign. Whoomp's Super Final score boosted her total to $369,750 in Indiana's top series.

After sires stakes, the fillies took different paths. Whoomp went east to Eldorado Scioto Downs and finished second in a Breeders Crown elimination. In the $664,500 final, she turned in a gutsy effort, falling just a length short of winner Miss Jum Jabber. She was entered in the $125,000 Grade 3 USS Indianapolis Memorial but scratched after tying up. Welch said she wasn't 100 per cent after the Crown performance.

"She just hasn't been the same since," he said. "I never had a chance to really let her regroup, so the last couple starts we didn't get to see the battles like we're accustomed to."

Somemore Blue, bred by Lavon Miller, was second in the $40,000 Circle City, then third behind Loua Dipa and She's A Bulldog in the USS Indianapolis. She returned to the winner's circle in the $40,000 Hazel Park, scoring by five lengths.

Even an "off" Whoomp represented herself well returning to her home track. In the $40,000 Pompano Park, Somemore Blue gained the upper hand with a wire-to-wire win over the favorite, 1½ lengths to the good in 1:50.2. The next week, as the favorite, she took the $40,000 Balmoral Park by nearly three lengths in 1:50, with Whoomp again second.

That set the stage for Friday's Thanksgiving Classic, the finale of a two-season back-and-forth. Somemore Blue went off at 1-9 in the $40,000 event and sat behind Whoomp through a :55.3 half. By the three-quarter pole, Marcus Miller had her out and ready to strike. In the stretch she passed Whoomp, the homebred winner of more than $900,000, and won by three lengths in 1:52 over a sloppy track.

"Every time she goes to the gate, she just really tries her best," said Erv Miller of his charge, now a winner of just shy of $700,000. "It's just amazing how sharp she is. She doesn't take a lot of work, we don't work her real hard, and she just stays really fresh that way. I think that's part of what carries her through the whole season."

Somemore Blue leads the head-to-head 12-7 over two seasons, yet in sires stakes it's a 6-6 draw, with Whoomp's two Super Final wins separating them. With $581,835 this season, Whoomp ranks second among sophomore pacing fillies in North America behind Miss Jum Jabber. Somemore Blue ($416,250) is sixth.

Both trainers have indicated that the fillies will return in 2027 as 4-year-olds, racing locally while pursuing stakes outside Indiana. The rivalry will no doubt continue, perhaps in a modified format.

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

Dr. Moira Gunn's journey in harness racing, Part 2

by Murray Brown

Part 1 is here.

As a prelude to this article, I came upon a post by Clay Horner on Facebook where he mentioned something I didn't know. There is a large pond on the farm where Dr. Moira Gunn and her husband Marv Chantler live. Every morning, even in sub-zero temperatures, the first thing she does is take a dip in that pond. When I next spoke with her, she brought up the fact that she had just been in said pond. She does this daily, regardless of what the weather gods might bring in often frigid Ontario.

Isn't it difficult to handle? I asked. Her response was that she finds it invigorating and is a great start to her day. It might have been tough to do when she first began doing it, but as time went on, it became necessary to begin a day in the most beneficial manner possible.

We kick off this part of Gunn's story by looking at her time at Armstrong Bros.

"When I first came to work at Armstrong Bros in 1988, I thought I'd be there for a few years, gathering experience, and really not knowing what the future held for me," she said. "Little did I know that it would be a life-altering experience that would shape my life over the next two decades.

"My experience and equine knowledge related mostly to thoroughbreds.

"It was my late husband Dr. Michael Colterjohn who was the standardbred guy. Ironically, he, the person who had worked with standardbreds all his career had taken a position as the head person at Gardiner Farms, then along with Windfields as the leading thoroughbred farm in Canada, while I, a thoroughbred person had gone to work at Armstrong Bros, Canada's leading standardbred breeder.

"I began at Armstrong as the resident veterinarian. Dr. John McKnight had previously occupied the post. He had left to establish his own Northfields Farm.

> "Initially my duties [at Armstrong Bros] involved mostly foal and yearling care. I transitioned into reproduction, while maintaining my overall farm duties. In 1990, Dr. Glen Brown offered me the position of farm manager at Armbro. My response was that I'd like to think about it. Dr. Brown's totally-in-character response was 'Don't think about it too long.'"

In 1990, Dr. Glen Brown offered me the position of farm manager at Armbro. My response was that I'd like to think about it. Dr. Brown's totally-in-character response was, 'Don't think about it too long.'

"I took the job and stayed at Armbro until the books were closed in 2005 on the greatest Canadian breeder of standardbreds ever.

"Before I go any further, I need to say something about Dr. Brown. I've been fortunate to have known and been associated with many high-quality individuals in my many years in horsedom. Dr. Brown was not only one of them, but he stands at the very apex of that group. Whether it be in knowledge, wisdom or overall horsemanship, Dr. Glen Brown stood at the very top. I feel fortunate to have been able to have worked at his side all those years and to have been the recipient of some of that knowledge and wisdom."

At 2, Endurance won six of his eight starts and set a track record for 2-year-old trotting colts at Oak Grove in only his second lifetime start. He swept all three divisions and the $400,000 final of the Kentucky Sires Stakes at The Red Mile and finished his 2-year-old season a close second to Apex in the $1 million Mohawk Million while earning an impressive $557,450.

At 3, he was recognized as one of the premier 3-year-old trotters in North America. He finished first or second in six of his seven starts with the Hambletonian being the only time that he did not finish first or second while earning an additional $326,392.

> — Dr. Moira Gunn

So, you were now the farm manager at Armbro. What were your goals?

"One could say that they were both few and several. One of my first projects was to improve the nutritional aspects on the farm and of its equine residents. This involved studies of the hay and grain being fed to the horses. I went to the dairy experts who were far ahead of us in these areas. We began doing weekly analysis of both the hay and grain on a weekly basis. This was fairly new at the time, but has since evolved into a common practice among equines. My husband Dr. Colterjohn was doing the same at thoroughbred behemoth Gardiner Farms at the same time."

You mention a particular love for broodmares while at Armbro. Did you have any favorites? Why the broodmares over let's say the yearlings?

"Second question first. The broodmares probably because of the length of time of my involvement with them. They were there for their lifetime. I got to know them well over time. The yearlings were only around for a little over a year. That's not to say that I didn't develop an affinity to them as well, but my contact with them was short lived compared with the broodmares.

"As for my favorites among the mares, my overall favorite was Armbro Flight. That wasn't unique to me. I don't know of anybody at the farm of which she wasn't the favorite. Obviously, her great performance on the racetrack and her incredible lineage were exceptional. Being the daughter of Helicopter, the farm's first standardbred and a Hambletonian winner herself put her in exalted company. But she was exceptional in every conceivable way. She was of medium size with a regal bearing about her. She was incredibly well mannered and as kind as a mare could be.

"Two other favorites were Armbro Whirl and Delmegan. They were both born in 1978. Armbro Whirl was, of course, a homebred, while Delmegan was purchased as a yearling. They both went into training in the Glen Garnsey stable. Both became top race fillies. When they were retired to become broodmares at the farm, they became lifelong buddies. Where you found one, the other was close by. After the Armbro dispersal, they were retired at our Paradox Farm. One morning we found Delmegan, passed away alongside a tree in their paddock. Within a day Armbro Whirl had also died. Coincidence? I don't believe so."

During your career at Armbro, you met all of the great horsemen of that generation. Were there any that stood out? Any anecdotes about them?

"There were so many. Too many to mention any in particular. There were some who were regular customers of the farm. People such as Bill Wellwood, Jack and John Kopas, Ray Schnittker, and Chuck Sylvester would always show up to look at our yearlings.

"Something I remember about both Wellwood and Schnittker is related to yearlings by Balanced Image. Just about everybody knows that the Balanced Images were no picnic in the park to train. Woody [Wellwood] would say, 'When I buy a Balanced Image colt, I make a stop at the vet's before bringing it home. That stop is to make that colt a gelding.' I remember one year Ray Schnittker was at the farm looking at yearlings. He had a pretty good trotter named Armbro Plato by Balanced Image who was a 3-year-old that year. To put it mildly, he wasn't the easiest horse to train. Ray was at the farm looking at our yearlings. We turned out this Balanced Image colt for him. The colt went off flying on the trot; then he continued straight into the fence. Down he went. He came up and continued on trotting. Ray shook his head and said, 'I'm not going through that again.'"

You speak fondly of the many friendships you made while at Armstrong.

"There were the greatest group of people working at the farm; likely as wonderful a bunch who have ever been together at any other such enterprise. We worked hard with the same goals. We developed long, lasting relationships which last until today, over two decades since the farm's dissolution."

THE DOWN UNDER DIARY

with ADAM HAMILTON

Tasmania is cheering as Nyack becomes one of Australasia's top horses

by Adam Hamilton

It was 12 years ago when the mighty stayer Beautide took James Rattray to the ultimate heights in Australasian harness racing.

It was a heartwarming underdog story when Rattray and Beautide – both from the tiny but proud harness racing state of Tasmania – won the iconic Inter Dominion final at Menangle on March 2, 2014.

Impressively, they repeated the dose 12 months later at the same track and distance in the 2015 Grand Final.

Rattray was the face of a state and a hero back home.

He also propelled the Rattray clan – a family who has arguably done as much for harness racing in Tasmania as any – into the national spotlight.

The family's involvement in harness racing goes back more than a century to when they bred the 1918 Easter Cup winner J G.

The Rattray clan is harness racing royalty in the state they called the "Apple Isle."

James' grandfather Wayne was a six-time leading trainer in Tasmania, and his son, Barrie, took that success to a whole new level. He won 16 training titles, along with 11 premierships as a driver.

Barrie's brothers, Kent and Neville, have also had their success.

James is one of Barrie and Denise Rattray's four sons – Todd, Gareth and Adam are the others – and all have driven winners.

While Todd and Gareth have built successful careers in Tasmania, Beautide was the inspiration for James to make Sydney home.

Beautide raced 81 times for a remarkable 49 wins, 20 placings and earnings of almost $2.2 million.

The clan always knew he was a once-in-a-lifetime horse, but they also felt the improvement he made with the switch from Tasmania to the regular racing at the much harder and demanding Menangle could be a successful formula to follow.

James has had some nice horses since, but the reality is that it has taken until this year to get one in the same sort of league as Beautide. Well, close anyway.

Toby Coutts

Nyack (James Rattray) winning the Sunshine Sprint on Saturday in Brisbane.

That horse is Nyack.

Like Beautide, he was bred, raised and did his early racing in Tasmania for the Rattray family.

While it only took eight months for Beautide to transform from a promising Tasmanian pacer into an Inter Dominion winner, Nyack has been a slower burn.

But the patience and belief is now being rewarded.

Nyack was transferred to NSW just over two years ago.

There have been glimpses along the way, but it has been the second half of the year which has seen many say he is the third best horse in Australasia.

You could only confidently argue Leap To Fame and Captains Mistress are better than him now.

It was the Brisbane Inter Dominion in July, which Nyack entered with no fanfare or betting market expectation, which showed his vast improvement.

Nyack, sent out a $101 outsider (for a $1 bet), ran the race of his life from an awful draw to finish a fantastic third to Captains Mistress and Leap To Fame in an epic race and record-smashing time.

"It felt like a win," James said after the race. "We were so happy with him through the series and thought we could run a place in the final from a good barrier, but to come from where he drew [wide on the back row] and finish third to those two superstars is amazing.

"He really seems to have gone to a new level and hopefully it's the start of a big year or two with him."

Turns out it was, or at least it has started that way.

In his first Group 1 race since that final, Nyack met Captains Mistress again and gave her a heck of a scare, finishing second and beaten just 1.3 metres in the Victoria Cup on Oct. 17.

Then Nyack's time came.

He broke through for his first Group 1 win in last Saturday's (Nov. 21) $150,000 Len Smith Mile at Menangle.

He deserved that, but the critics will say he didn't have Captains Mistress or Leap To Fame to contend with in the Len Smith.

The win was as exciting as it was rewarding for James.

"Everything says he's gone to a new level and he felt the strongest and best he ever has in that race," he said.

It inspired him to take on Leap To Fame again.

"We could have gone back home [to Tasmania] and focused on a couple of big races down there, but he did so well, he deserves his chance in Brisbane."

Nyack made the 10-hour road trip to Brisbane and on Saturday night (Nov. 28), just seven days after the Len Smith, posted a sparkling win in the $75,000 Group 2 Sunshine Sprint.

He burned to hold the lead, stayed in front throughout, and clocked a sizzling 1:48.7 mile rate for 1,660 meters. It was just 0.1 seconds outside Leap To Fame's track record.

> "It's the ultimate, isn't it, if you can beat Leap To Fame in one of these big races? I don't know if we can, but the Inter Dominion gave us the confidence to think we're not that far off him, especially if we can get a good draw and the right sort of run."
> - James Rattray

Nyack will now meet Leap To Fame in next Saturday's (Dec. 5) $250,000 Group 1 Blacks A Fake at Albion Park.

If the Len Smith was a Group 1, then this is a "Group 1-plus" and James knows it.

"It's the ultimate, isn't it, if you can beat Leap To Fame in one of these big races?" he said.

"I don't know if we can, but the Inter Dominion gave us the confidence to think we're not that far off him, especially if we can get a good draw and the right sort of run.

"We'll give it a crack."

Beyond that, James would love to win the iconic $1 million Miracle Mile at Menangle next March.

It's another mega race Beautide won. He did it back in November 2013.

"Looking further ahead, it would be great to get a slot into the big Perth race [$1.25 million Group 1 Nullarbor] in April," James said.

"The Nullarbor and Fremantle Cups are a week apart and both at Gloucester Park where gate speed is such an advantage and his early speed is Nyack's biggest weapon. He's one of the fastest beginners around."

Tasmania will be cheering every step of the way.

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Don Johnson has constructed a solid career in harness racing

by Chris Lomon

Don Johnson doesn't have to jog his memory to recall how a task he once viewed with contempt turned into something entirely different.

Nearly 50 years ago, the young horseman climbed into the sulky and headed out to the racetrack with Logan Star, a bay son of Alberts Star.

A few minutes later, they returned to the stable.

Not long after, the young man holding the lines made a declaration of sorts.

"I said that I would never jog a horse again," recalled Johnson with a laugh. "They ended up doing some vet work on him and one day, they were busy, so I went out and jogged him again. And he became my favorite horse after that."

Jogging horses would also become a cherished part of Johnson's repertoire.

His love of racing and horses, however, began much earlier in life.

Johnson's parents worked for Gord Coates, who trained horses and owned a car dealership in Barrie, just over an hour's drive north of downtown Toronto.

"I just started going to the track on weekends," Johnson said. "The horses were stabled at the old Barrie Raceway. I would go in and do stalls, and eventually, I was doing a lot of everything on the weekends. That's basically how I got started, through my parents."

When was Johnson hooked?

Early in his racing career, Johnson became a staple on Ontario's once-bustling fair circuit, driving horses at various venues throughout the province.

"There was a gentleman, Frank Todd, who I met when I used to drive in a lot of the fairs around Ontario," Johnson said. "He was a guy who would take his time and put the effort in. He would tell me that if I ever had issues with something to go and talk to someone you trust and get the most valuable information you can find and go from there.

"When I started going to the fairs — my wife and I had a family when we were young — we would take the kids. I would go to the fair and drive and whatever money I made, we would take the kids to the midway after that and enjoy the rest of the day together."

There was always something to take home from the Ancaster fair, even when the on-track results were lacking.

"At the Ancaster fair, if you didn't get a check, you got a bag of horse feed for every race you didn't receive one," Johnson said. "So, there were times when Frank and I would bring horses to Ancaster — his horses weren't anything special — and he would leave with six or seven bags of feed.

"My enjoyment was driving in the race and then taking the kids to the fair afterwards. It's too bad it's gone by the wayside because it was so much fun."

Johnson's sunny outlook on racing has never wavered, even when the weather hasn't cooperated.

"Just growing up around the track at Barrie, if it was raining, I would go from barn to barn and ask if I could jog one for anyone who was racing because I enjoyed jogging," he said.

Over the years, Johnson's talents took him to several barns.

He worked for trainer Mike Hales before joining Murray Brethour, where he spent four years.

At various points in his life, Johnson stepped away from the sport, albeit briefly, before eventually returning to the fold.

"I've worked with the horses, but I have also done construction jobs and other things, and bounced back and forth, but always came back to racing," Johnson said. "I also had a painting business and used to paint houses. When I left Murray, I painted houses for five years. The paint business was slowing down, and I was offered a job working for [trainer] Mike Timpano. I worked for Mike for a year and then moved on to Carmen Auciello.

"But originally, when I worked the one construction job, when I got laid off in the winter, I worked for Carmen's dad, Rocco, for a winter, around 1999-2000. In 2020, I started working for Carm, so it was literally 20 years later when I came back around working for the Auciellos."

Working for Team Auciello has proved to be a perfect fit for Johnson.

It is an environment where his input and expertise are valued, something he deeply appreciates.

"If you have an opinion on something, he will listen," Johnson said. "If I go out and train one, then come back and suggest something, he will consider it. If there is a horse we are trying to figure out, he will ask me what I want to try and if it works, we will talk it over and make a decision together on the best way forward. He is open to listen to you, which really gives you the confidence in what you are bringing to the table."

With one particular horse, Johnson shouldered the load – literally.

"Highlandbeachlover is a big favorite of mine," he said of the horse who moved on to another barn late in December 2025 and last raced this January. "He was a bit of a character. When I would put him away, I could stand at his shoulder. When you would brush his mane, he would swing his head around and set it on your shoulder. If you stayed there for five minutes, he'd leave it there for five minutes. Some other people would go to brush him and when he swung his head around, they thought he was about to bite them. But he just wanted to rest his head on your shoulder and he would put the whole weight of it on you."

Four years ago, Carmen handed Johnson the lines of another horse for an amateur race at The Meadowlands.

His partner for the dash was Allgonowhoa, who lived up to his name despite being overlooked at 51-1.

While they didn't cross the finish line first, Johnson and the bay son of Dragon Again earned a runner-up finish that night.

"I was supposed to have the 10-hole, but there was one scratch. I left out and then sat the 2-hole and finished second at 51-1. I went out to jog the horse around before the race and it was amazing to kind of soak up everything. Looking back, it was such a great moment, one I will never forget."

As for jogging horses, the task the grandfather of six once vowed never to do again has become one of the most rewarding parts of his job.

"It's always great to be out there, to get to know the horses and get a feel for how they are doing," Johnson said. "Things have definitely changed since that day I said I'd never do it again. But that's a good thing, for sure."

Nearly five decades after that first memorable jog with Logan Star, Johnson has come a long way from the young horseman who wanted nothing more to do with the task.

These days, getting behind a horse and heading out for a jog is, as he would happily tell you, one of the best parts of his job.

THE VIEW FROM WOODBINE MOHAWK PARK

MareFlare Equestrian 'Kantering' into Ontario harness racing tracks

by Melissa Keith

A decade in business is a significant achievement for any entrepreneur. In 2027, a familiar presence in the Woodbine Mohawk Park paddock will attain that marker of success.

Arabella Kanter is the horsewoman at the forefront of MareFlare Equestrian. A summer conversation in the Mohawk paddock led to curiosity about her small business serving the equestrian community, including Ontario harness racing participants.

"I founded MareFlare Equestrian myself back in 2017," said Kanter, responding to HRU questions via e-mail due to her travel schedule.

She regularly attends the London Classic Yearling Sale (since 2022) with a 30-foot booth, as well setting up at seasonal Ontario tracks (Clinton, Hanover, Leamington, Sarnia, and Dresden).

"Our stationary stores [at] Flamboro, Georgian, and Kawartha are located in the backstretch and are only open on race nights," she said.

Now, MareFlare is a supporter of harness racing initiatives Harness the Hope (an Ontario-founded non-profit organization raising funds and awareness for causes related to breast cancer through harness racing events) and Young Gunz Mini Racing (providing on-track experience to the next generation of trainers and drivers).

Canada's largest tack shop brand (GreenHawk Equestrian) actually originated at Mohawk Racetrack in 1985, founded by the late Gordon K. Russell; his son, Ian Russell, has overseen the brand's expansion to other equestrian disciplines and locations since 1992. The first location was a trailer at the Campbellville, ON track, serving people who worked on the backstretch. The "Hawk" in the name stands for Mohawk; it has been speculated but not confirmed that the "Green" stands for Greenwood Racetrack, the Ontario Jockey Club track which conducted live harness racing in Toronto's east end until Dec. 31, 1993.

Kanter's mobile tack shop visits Mohawk on an on-demand basis. "I do not set up to sell directly at Mohawk, as another tack shop [GreenHawk] is located there," she told HRU. "However, I am happy to drop off prepaid orders at Mohawk upon a customer's request. However, for all other tracks, I have an enclosed trailer fully equipped with walk-through displays for customers." One of her best-selling brands is Mast Harness.

MareFlare expanded into standardbred racing equipment and other necessities when Kanter started getting specific requests.

"In 2017, I started selling customized equestrian products," she said. "By 2019, I expanded into the harness racing industry, creating customized harness bags, blankets, and other specialized equipment. In early 2022, I grew the business further by adding a tack shop side to offer everyday supplies. By late summer of 2022, I began setting up directly at a couple of race tracks.

"Many people have mentioned that there hasn't been a tack shop at a majority of the 'B' tracks in years and that it would be great to have one available again."

Her entrepreneurial beginnings stem from a harness racing-adjacent background.

"I worked for a trainer cleaning stalls on Sundays, and he initially connected me with Clinton and Leamington in the fall of 2022," said the MareFlare founder. "The following year, I began traveling to the rest of the 'B' tracks. I am the first in my family to enter the harness racing industry; I've done so through my tack shop. I also occasionally paddock for friends."

MareFlare sells indispensable equipment and other equine needs on race dates. While not naming names, Kanter acknowledged that "all the time," trainers, caretakers, and drivers at various tracks thank her for saving the day.

"There is a clear need for a tack shop at every track," she said. "In addition to providing everyday supplies, it would serve as an essential resource if someone forgot to pack something or [had] broken equipment."

Kanter's business still has room to grow.

"I don't travel around to any training centers as of yet," she said. "All of the tracks have been very welcoming as I've gotten started at each location and the horsepeople have been supportive along the way."

True to her surname, Kanter turns to a horse who isn't a standardbred trotter or pacer in her spare time.

"I have a 14-year-old Gypsy Vanner that I bought as a 3-year-old and trained myself," she said. "Although I don't have much time to ride outside of working at the tack shop, whenever I can, you'll usually find us out riding on the trails."

ALL OVER ONTARIO

with MATTHEW LOMON

Nick Ahern is building onto his family's legacy

by Matthew Lomon

Nick Ahern may be a carpenter by trade, but he's always been a horseman at heart.

A proud member of the respected Ontario harness racing family, Nick, like generations of Aherns before him, had the sport woven into the fabric of his earliest memories.

"I remember hopping in my papa's truck and driving around with him to pick stuff up for the horses," Nick said. "Afterwards, we'd spend time in the barn together, but I also remember a little spot at my uncle's place, where we still keep the horses, down the back road by the pond. We'd sit there and hang out, watching my dad and uncle jog and train the horses.

"Then, we'd make our way to Kawartha Downs to race. Sometimes, I'd sit with him and watch the races, or after we raced, we'd wander over to his car and talk about how the trip went or how the horses raced."

A grandson of David and Betty Ann Ahern, son of Dave and Debbie Ahern, and nephew of Greg Ahern, all of whom have dedicated decades of service to the standardbred game, Nick didn't have to think twice, or really, at all, about building on a foundation laid long before him.

"Just being around it from day one, seeing my dad, my uncle and their dad, my papa [David], in it, and them always being together, it was only natural for me to follow along," Nick said.

"Now, it can be my dad and I in the barn with my aunts, uncles, mom, sister [Taylor], girlfriend [Olivia] – it's not just one person, it's all of us together. Not only do I love the racing, but it's pretty special to have our whole family in and around it."

With no shortage of tutors, Nick's standardbred schooling is an amalgamation of family wisdom, time-tested perspective, and hands-on experience.

While many lessons have stood out along the way, there's one particular refrain from his father that has remained a guiding force.

"My dad has told me this for a long time, 'If you're in this business and you think you know everything, you're not going to go very far because you can always learn more,'" Nick said.

Dave's sage advice has served Nick well throughout his racing career, which officially got off the ground in 2022 when the younger Ahern obtained his trainer's license.

It was only fitting that his father played a starring role in his maiden victory.

"My first training win was at Kawartha Downs with a horse that my dad and I owned [Ultimate Speed], and he drove her that night and won," said Nick of the 1¾-length triumph on June 10, 2023.

"Getting to share that with him is something I'll never forget."

Nick's early career has followed a path nearly identical to that of his father and uncle. Both Dave and Greg acquired their trainer's licenses in 1992, with the former earning his driver's certification four years later and the latter three.

Nick, like his dad, took the next step and became a licensed driver after four years.

In what he described as a logical progression in his racing career, Nick's foray into driving quickly proved to be a worthwhile endeavor.

The Peterborough, ON-based reinsman lined up behind the starting gate for the first time as a pro on June 6 at Kawartha, delivering a runner-up effort with a filly from his own stable, Sunwashed.

Less than one month later, he continued the Ahern tradition of driving a winner.

"My first driving win was with a horse [Acefortyfourapollo] that my dad and I owned, and had for a while now," Nick said.

> "Could I see myself going full-time [in harness racing]? I could. It depends on how well I'm doing and how much I want to commit. Right now, it'd be tricky, but it depends how bad you want it, and I have no intentions of slowing down anytime soon."
> — Nick Ahern

"It was his first start off a layoff, and my dad actually qualified him the week before because I was in the qualifier as well, driving one of our other ones."

The strategy for the real thing was simple – at least it was initially.

"I had a game plan in mind, but you can't always rely on that," Nick said with a laugh. "Usually, you have to change it up two, three, four times when you're out there. But it just ended up working out. He was feeling good. I was sitting in the 2-hole coming around the last turn, and I knew if I could get room and get out, that he'd have a pretty good chance.

"We just wiggled around, and as soon as I found room, he took off, but it wasn't until maybe less than a 16th-[of-a-mile] left that I knew we had a good chance of getting it done."

Adding to the significance of the milestone was having his dad there, despite the many demands on his time beyond the racetrack.

"[My dad] works weekends all the time, so if we race at Kawartha on Saturdays, he can't always be there," Nick said. "But it just happened he was working days, and we were in a late race, and he was there in time.

"It's also cool that it was at Kawartha because we have a lot of family and friends come out and support us. It was nice to do it there with everyone."

Word of Nick's breakthrough traveled throughout his circle and the greater racing community, even catching the attention of a familiar face and all-time great.

"The following week, I was in Barrie [at Georgian Downs], and I was talking to Doug Brown," Nick said. "He came up and shook my hand and said, 'Congratulations on your first win.' I remember saying to him that it was a decent class drop and that helped, and he said, 'That doesn't matter. You still have to go out and get the job done.'

"It was incredible hearing that from him."

The Hall of Famer and winner of 8,580 races has been a fixture in Ahern racing lore for as long as Nick can remember.

Though, if he did ever forget, it wouldn't be for long.

"My dad and uncle won the Blizzard Pacing Series at Mohawk in 2001," said Nick, who would have been a year old at the time. "It was with a horse [Making Bucks] that didn't have enough points to make the final but they thought, 'Well, we'll just throw her in anyway. Maybe the people who have enough points won't enter and we'll squeak in.'"

Nick added with a laugh, "They ended up getting in and Doug Brown drove the horse, and they ended up winning it… I've heard that story a few times."

Alongside Brown, Nick circled fellow Ahern favorites Mike Saftic and Randy Waples among the drivers he looks up to most.

Today, the list also includes five-time Keith Waples Driver of the Year Award recipient James MacDonald, and of course, his dad.

> "Just being around [harness racing] from day one, seeing my dad [Dave Ahern], my uncle [Greg Ahern], and their dad, my papa [David Ahern], in it, and them always being together, it was only natural for me to follow along."
> — Nick Ahern

"Going to the track as a kid, and even now, watching my dad out there driving around has always been special for me," he said.

Now living the life himself, Nick has navigated the delicate and demanding balance of pursuing his passion for racing while working full-time by relying on those dearest to him.

"It's definitely tricky," Nick said. "It'd be easier if there were more hours in the day, that's for sure. But honestly, I have to say it again, I wouldn't be able to do it with the number of horses we have, or at all, if it wasn't for our whole family pitching in.

"You go to the barn and do what you can, and when you run out of time and have to go, there's always somebody there to help."

Being that somebody is a role Nick has taken on for his teenage cousin Tyson, Greg's son.

"It means a lot, especially with how close our family is," Nick said. "This summer, I was driving a lot, but on Wednesdays, my dad, Tyson, and I would be out there training and driving together, having fun and playing around.

"One day, we had a schooler, and I had my dad on one side and Tyson on the other side. It was cool to experience from that perspective." Carrying the tradition forward has been an Ahern hallmark for generations. For Nick, proudly bridging his family's racing present and future has been an honor.

But he, too, is just getting started.

"Could I see myself going full-time?" Nick said. "I could. It depends on how well I'm doing and how much I want to commit. Right now, it'd be tricky, but it depends how bad you want it, and I have no intentions of slowing down anytime soon."

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

by Victoria Howard

Dee Lineweaver is a double third-generation descendant. Both sides of her family are involved in harness racing, and Dee is following their path.

It began with her grandfather, John, along with his sons, Alvin, Winston and Ray, who initiated the family tradition into the sport of standardbred racing back in the 1960s.

The Lineweaver brothers began competing at the fairs with (cheap) horses they purchased, before eventually competing at racetracks including Green Mountain, Libert Bell, Brandywine, and Harrington.

Dee's father Winston's family settled in the mid-1700s in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. While competing at Harrington, Winston met a girl named Eileen, whose parents Buddy and Margaret from Greenwood, DE, also raced horses, and Dee's grandmother worked in the office at both Harrington and Ocean Downs.

And the beat goes on.

"I've been around harness racing and horses since the day I was born," Dee said. "Whether I liked it or not, I was brought to the barn and spent my time with horses. And I loved it.

"When I was 13 years old, I became actively involved in the sport. Trainer Roger Hammer gave me my first horse — an unbroken 3-year-old filly named Famous Aspen. 'Aspen' and I were both green so I guess you could say we taught one another. Aspen made it to the races, and we started our careers together by racing at the PA fairs the same summer.

"Although the filly was no world champion, the money she earned that summer helped me buy a horse to race the next year, and the remainder was saved for a car to go to college."

Since that day, Dee has done it all. She has been an owner, groom, trainer, and has even driven in races.

After her divorce, Dee trained horses full time which led her to an entry level position in the race office. Several years later she was promoted to the racing secretary/director of racing at Shenandoah Downs and then race secretary at Harrington Raceway. Dee has an associate judge's license, subbed at the Delaware Racing Commission and is an ID technician for the USTA.

Presently, Dee owns two retired racehorses: Artman, the first horse she ever purchased with her own money who will turn 32

> *"[My idea for a series for lady drivers] became a reality in 2025 when the stars and dates aligned on four cancer events: Hollywood Casino at The Meadows, Northfield Park, Harrington Raceway, and Shenandoah Downs. in January, and Cobbler Hanover, an adoptee who is a pasture buddy for Artman. Cobbler Hanover is the only standardbred to ever take a lifetime mark on the turf.

Dee presently doesn't own any racehorses because she's operated and run a racetrack for the last 10 years, but when she did compete, she traveled quite a bit.

"I raced my horses at Dover Downs, Freehold Raceway, and Colonial Downs in New Kent, VA, but I will always consider Rosecroft Raceway my home track," Dee said. "Besides Delaware, where my mother is originally from, my parents spent most of their time racing on the Maryland circuit at Freestate and Rosecroft. Up until I started school my family lived in a camper we kept on the track. When Freestate closed, we spent most of our time racing at Rosecroft. After I graduated high school, I started my own stable."

Dee's two retired racehorses are located on in Maurertown, VA.

"I inherited the farm from my father after he passed," she said. "The land was originally purchased with my father's earnings from harness racing by his mother, my grandmother. She bought the farms for all the boys, using their funds, and the farms are within a mile of each other."

Dee admires other women in this sport, especially her mother, Eileen.

"I consistently saw her training and driving," Dee said. "She was a member of the amateur club and drove in the Billings series. One year, mom even made it to the Billings points finals but didn't participate because dad couldn't go with her.

"As I grew older, I watched my mother continually support all the amateur groups at any tracks we raced at. She supported them so much that in some instances we had multiple horses in the same race just so everyone could have a drive.

"Mom was a huge supporter of the CAADA [Capital Area Amateur Drivers Association] for many years."

After having a Powder Puff event at Shenandoah, Dee had a vision to have a series of ladies' races at multiple tracks.

"It became a reality in 2025 when the stars and dates aligned on four cancer events: Hollywood Casino at The Meadows, Northfield Park, Harrington Raceway, and Shenandoah Downs," Dee said. "In 2026, we officially named the group The Sulky Queens, and created a Facebook group where the drivers and office personnel could communicate with each other.

"We scheduled seven events in 2026, adding Batavia Downs, Harrah's Philadelphia, Rosecroft Raceway, and The Meadowlands. I'm very excited about what's ahead in 2027 for The Sulky Queens, as we're looking forward to adding more new racetracks — potentially, Yonkers Raceway, The Red Mile, and more.

We are so excited and hope that The Sulky Queens races garner increased acclaim and new faces to our wonderful sport."

Dee's husband Lee is an auto mechanic and has his own business in Woodstock, but that doesn't stop him from being involved in harness racing.

"He has been extremely supportive of the horsemen in two ways: he has fixed a lot of trailer axles, blown tires, starters, etc., but he also went out of his way to broker and deliver hay and straw to the horsemen foe many years," Dee said. "My husband has been a big supporter of mine, and he's my biggest fan. Besides rebuilding the interior of my barn, while I was away at Colonial Downs, he also managed to race my horses for about six months while I was recovering from a leg surgery.

"Lee and I have two children, Weston and Margaret. Weston is a diesel mechanic who spent a few years working weekends with the track crew, and Margaret works for her dad as the garage's service writer. When Shenandoah is racing Margaret spends her weekends at the track paddocking for various horsemen, primarily Roger Hammer.

"It's funny how things come full circle. My father Winston and Roger grew up together racing fairs before white pants were a USTA rule and remained friends until dad's passing five years ago. My children were lucky enough to experience their friendship and racing horses together at Shenandoah before we lost him."

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

'Small' owner wins 10 races in a row

by John Berry

George C. L Birkhold is a humble gentleman who resides in Sarasota, FL.

He's been around all breeds of horses just most of his life since growing up in Greenville, OH and admiring the chartreuse and red driving colors of the great Gene Riegle.

Birkhold has supported the industry in the Sunshine State since it's infancy, you know, when Florida was truly known as the "Winter Capital of Harness Racing."

He always seemed to have a 2-year-old and 3-year-old Florida-bred trotter or pacer ready to go behind the starting gate in Florida's Stakes events and was in the business of breeding horses, as well — not necessarily to become rich off their talent, but because he loved it.

Some years back, when Florida's Governor got the de-coupling bill on his desk seeking permission to sever a casino's obligation to have racing, the "Gov" had two options.

He could either veto the bill and save an industry that put Pompano Beach on the fall-winter-spring destination map, or sign the bill guaranteeing the demise of an industry that supported thousands of jobs and was a destination since the early 1950s with the construction of the elite training facility and subsequent multi-million-dollar investment by the Van Lenneps of our beloved and historic Pompano Park.

With pen — make that pen-knife — on hand, the Gov stabbed harness racing in its heart.

Nevertheless, Birkhold kept the faith and continued to invest money in the breeding and racing of horses eligible to the Florida Standardbred Breeders and Owners Association Stakes program.

The program was weakened to a point where the fall stakes program — once lucrative with their Night of Champions featuring total purses close to $500,000 — was drained to insure future fatality.

This 2026 season — probably the final one — the Champions Day was held at another grand facility, Sunshine Meadows Equestrian Village, still featuring the elite of the industry, but, at this hour, mostly inhabited by yearlings that will learn their lessons over the next few months with the hope of becoming a champion in their own right.

Among the mix this season was none other than Birkhold, who brought the "last of the Mohicans" — his 2-year-olds and 3-year-olds to compete in this championship final — the purses being $4,000 for each of the events.

There were six events this year, all walkovers.

Walkovers are nothing new to horse racing.

They have been around for over 100 years.

To be successful, all a horse has to do is get around the racetrack without incident to claim the prize purse.

The great thoroughbred Spectacular Bid won the Woodward Stakes at Belmont in 1980 and Eclipse won all of his 18 starts — eight of them by walkover.

In harness racing, Windsor Magnolia won a New York Sire Stakes race some years ago and broke her maiden — being 0-for-16 coming into that race — her time was 1:58.

But they don't put that info on the purse check — just an amount that will help pay expenses and keep the horse and the owner from going completely broke.

So, now back to Birkhold.

Birkhold will never get rich in the harness racing business. In fact, he ranks 4,121 of all owners this year.

And, just like the intentional walk in baseball, Birkhold used the "intentional walkover" to gain what might be a record with his 10 wins in a row between five of his horses.

Birkhold's streak began, innocently enough, on Nov. 7 at Sunshine Meadows when his 2-year-old trotting gelding Heza Trotting Gator (Rose Sun Nolan) won his walkover in the $3,000 Sunshine Stake in 2:31 described as "very handily."

Birkhold's son handled the lines back of the youngster.

Fast-forwarding a bit — actually slow-forwarding — one week later at Sunshine Meadows, Heza Trotting Gator, without much fanfare, toured the one-mile oval in a new lifetime mark of 2:24 — his earnings vaulting from $170 to $6,170 in those last seven days.

On to the juvenile pacing filly Gator By The Sea, who made her racing debut for the Birkhold father-and-son duo, scampering around the slick oval in 2:31.1.

The streak, of course, extended to four when the Catch The Fire gelding Firehouse Gator, who had been racing in Ohio — last start in the Jug town of Delaware, OH — showed he may have inherited something from his pedigree by pacing in 2:08.3 for Ted Bookstaver, who un-retired last season here at Sunshine Meadows after a 20-year hiatus to hop in the bike, once again.

Birkhold owns Firehouse Gator with Indigo Racing, LLC and put up panels of :31.2, 1:03, and 1:36 on the way to the wire.

Lest one thinks that this was, quite simply, going to be a 10 walkover record, the first race at Saratoga on Nov. 14 changed that notion.

With Leon Bailey in the sulky for trainer John Hallett, Gator Pledthefifth, solely owned by George Birkhold, though bothered in the early stages of the mile, closed ferociously to score in a conditioned trot in 1:56.4.

This was win number five for Birkhold in a growing streak with the crowning touch being the tote-board price of 99-1 and returning a dividend beyond even that — $212.20.

Shifting a bit southeast about 650 miles to Dayton Raceway in Ohio where Birkhold's Rhinestone Camo, the 6-year-old altered son of Southwind Camo, was in to go in a conditioned event with veteran Ken Holliday in the bike.

Cutting fractions of :27.2, :56.4, and 1:25.2, Rhinestone Camo never had an anxious moment and pulled away to a win measuring close to three lengths in 1:54.3 — the GCLB colors — stretching to six while rewarding his faithful with a $6.20 mutuel.

On to Sunshine Meadows on Nov. 21, the weather was very rainy, along with the lightning and thunder and there were discussions by the judges on whether the walkovers could even be contested on this sloppy racecourse.

With the thumbs up decision, it turned out to be a photo finish, not about the time of any race, but, rather, the off time for Heza Trottin Gator ready to go in Florida and, back up north at Saratoga, where Gator Pledthefifth was at the starting with Jacob Cutting in the sulky.

Gator Pledthefifth got to the wire at Saratoga in a sharp 1:55 — :28.4 — a few seconds before Heza Trotting Gator and Birkhold's son strolled around the Sunshine Meadows oval in 2:33.4 — the winning streak advancing to seven — then eight, a few seconds later.

By the way, Gator Pledthefifth didn't get off anywhere near his 99-1 tote board price of the week prior. He paid his faithful $15.34 this time around as fifth choice.

Gator By The Sea coasted around the one-mile track in 2:33 for Birkhold for the stable's ninth consecutive win, and completing the streak at 10 was Firehouse Gator, handled, again, by Ted Bookstaver, who sizzled over the track so quickly that, as Bookstaver remarked, "He was smokin.' The track was sloppy at the start and lightning fast crossing the wire with the mile in 2:05.2, a new lifetime mark. As mentioned, Indigo Racing does own part of that winner with Birkhold.

Birkhold's stable made 10 starts at three different track in two weeks and made history that may be hard to surpass.

To solidify the accomplishment — notwithstanding the three pari-mutuel wins during the streak — there have been many similar situations encompassing all of sport, including baseball, soccer, the Olympics, basketball, and all-inclusive horse racing, including 18 walkovers in thoroughbred racing.

The 1931 Wimbledon was won in a "walkover" with Sidney Wood awarded the trophy.

When the Chicago White Sox had disco night at the ballpark years ago and the field was unplayable as 50,000 records were broken and strewn throughout the ballpark with Detroit awarded the second game of a doubleheader by default, it was a walkover, so to speak.

Wyndham Halswelle won the 400-meter final in a walkover in the Olympics.

In the soccer portion of the Olympics in 1936, Austria advanced via walkover.

In a championship boxing match years ago, Joe Lynch was scheduled to fight Joe Burman but Lynch failed to appear at the required weigh-in and Burman was recognized at the champion.

So, the humble Birkhold now has himself what might be a world record with 10 starts and 10 winners in a row.

Not bad for a gentleman ranked 4,121 among his peers of ownership.

CHAPTER 16

Side by side

Five years ago, Detective Jerry Hooley arrested Laurence Delmonte, a part-time criminal with a full-time limousine business. Larry the Lugnut, as he was known on both sides of the law, narrowly avoided prison when Hooley worked with the prosecutor and filed a lesser charge.

On Friday morning, Hooley called Car Pay Diem Transportation. Lugnut answered.

"Detective! Good to hear from you. I'm keeping my nose clean."

"Good to know, but I'm retired. I have a first date tonight. I thought a limo pickup would be fun."

"Can do. But since it's such a beautiful, warm day, I have a better idea. Text me your address. I'll bring it over."

At 20 minutes to five, Martha Conklin heard three honks of a car horn. She opened her front door and stepped onto the porch. Squinting into the setting sun, she saw Hooley leaning against the front fender of a bright yellow convertible with a black interior.

As she walked toward him, she asked, "Is this yours?"

"Nah, borrowed it. It's a 1965 museum-quality Ford Mustang. The guy who loaned it to me said it's worth a hundred grand, but he might be a little loose with the truth."

Martha said, "It's very impressive. I can't remember the last time I was in a convertible. And congratulations on your retirement."

"Thanks. Hey, you look great. Your hair looks really, well, real."

She smiled. "Well, thank you."

Hooley said, "Remember the first time we talked, early in the morning on the bench at the racetrack?"

"Yes, that was nice."

"Turns out I accidentally made a good move."

"Move?"

"Yeah, according to an article I read about dating on a Google search, sitting next to a lady, instead of face-to-face, takes a lot of the pressure off the early days of a new relationship."

She gave a dismissive flick of her wrist. "Oh, come on! I'm the one under pressure, trying to overcome my mistake with a lying weasel with a comb-over."

Hooley chuckled. He paused, then shifted to a more serious tone. "What about your husband, your real husband, the one who died?"

She sighed. "Charles was… okay. He was always a bit introverted. We led separate lives. The last 15 years felt like I was living with a cement garden gnome."

Hooley gave a fist pump and tapped a drum roll on the hood of the yellow car. "A weasel and a garden gnome. A low bar, I'm in the game."

She smiled, a big smile that revealed perfect white teeth, and playfully poked his shoulder with the infamous index finger. "Now what are we going to do about this side-sitting situation? Take a Ferris wheel ride, a promenade, or go back to the racetrack bench?"

He gave another small fist pump. "This first date is going much better than I thought. So, here's what I'm thinking. We walk side by side around your yard, and you show me your garden. I pretend to be interested in flowers, ferns, and fauna. Then we sit side by side in the yellow convertible, driving to the restaurant."

She picked up the ball. "And at the restaurant, we select a table for four and try sitting face to face. If you get nervous, give me a signal, maybe a tug on your earlobe, to let me know you are moving to one of the empty side chairs to deflect my laser-like stare."

"Like a 45-degree escape plan. I like it."

Martha hooked onto Hooley's arm, and they headed toward the rhododendrons.

After a leisurely drive with the top down and a dinner neither wanted to end, they were finishing slices of cherry pie à la mode.

Martha dabbed at her lips, set the white linen napkin on the table, and said, "I'm very happy you did not need to play musical chairs during dinner."

"I'm very happy you have a sense of humor; some people find me a tad flippant."

"You were absolutely charming. I found this evening perfect."

He leaned back and smiled. "Yeah, it was great. You didn't stab me in the eye or point your finger one time. It can only get worse from here."

Playfully, she picked up her napkin and pretended to throw it at him.

The waiter's name was Chuck. Chuck was tall and skinny with black hair pulled back into a tight man-bun. Chuck managed to mention he was involved in experimental theater and had the role of Zedar in a retro version of Chylifies."

When Chuck exited stage right, Martha leaned in and whispered, "Did you recognize the name of the play?"

Hooley shook his head. "I thought he was speaking Latin. He probably slips the play information into every dinner he serves, hoping to boost attendance for his performance of Zedar."

She smiled. "Maybe we should go – just for fun?"

"Bet you five bucks he slips a card with dates, times, and locations into the wallet with the check."

He did.

While Hooley fished out his credit card, he looked up at Martha, smiled, and asked, "Are we doing the joint checking account thing?"

Martha winced and discreetly gave Hooley the middle finger.

He said, "Now that's flippant."

They shared a laugh.

She said, "The convertible, the wine, the waiter, the food, you - I can't believe how wonderful tonight was." She held up her wine glass and gave him a mini toast. "Thank you, Hooley," she whispered, her eyes glistening.

"Hey, thank you, this is much better than mudlarking."

She tilted her head.

"It's like beachcombing in mud. It's at the bottom of my bucket list."

"Probably where it belongs." She paused. "There's something I haven't mentioned. I didn't want to spoil tonight."

Hooley leaned forward. "Alex?"

"Of course. Who else?"

"Fire away. I'm curious as hell. What's with the restraining order? I thought that the horse story was over and done."

"I did, too."

"What happened?"

She paused to gather herself. "The morning you and I met at the racetrack, Alex showed up when I got home. I wouldn't let him in, so he just talked loudly through my closed front door. But I could see him on my security camera."

"What did he want?"

"He suggested we reconcile. I still can't believe his nerve. He kept repeating the word reset. He gave an Academy Award performance."

"What did you say to him?"

"That he needed therapy."

"And?"

"Then he used a darker tone, became a businessman, and said he wanted me to buy his share of the horse for $75,000."

"And you said?"

"The police are on the way. I said I found out that he stole things from my husband's tool chest. He yelled some vulgar things and then stomped to his car. It was then I noticed a splint holding his pinky and ring finger together."

"Interesting, so the police came and suggested the restraining order."

"Yes, my lawyer took care of the paperwork."

"Crazy stuff."

"Then there was the call from Kansas."

"The other owners, the two ladies?"

"Aren't they adorable?"

"Yeah, they're great, but I didn't even know you knew who they were. Why would they call you?"

"Adele called me about two hours ago. She introduced herself and her friend, Doreen. Then she got to the point and asked if Alex Pettigrew swindled me out of $50,000?"

Hooley realized his mouth was open. He closed it and asked, "What did you say to her?"

"I said, yes. He took some of my money and a lot of my confidence."

"Then Adele said, 'Well, let's get it back, dear."

Loua Dipa headlines exceptional group of fillies retiring to Crawford Farms

Crawford Farms is pleased to announce the retirement of world champion and Dan Patch Award winner Loua Dipa, who will join an exceptional group of accomplished pacing fillies transitioning from the racetrack to the breeding shed in 2027.

The 2025 Dan Patch 2-Year-Old Pacing Filly of the Year, Loua Dipa retires with an impressive $1,404,118 in career earnings, 17 victories, and a lifetime mark of 1:48, taken at the age of 2.

A dominant force on the Grand Circuit at both 2 and 3, Loua Dipa captured four Grade 1 victories during her illustrious career. Her freshman campaign was highlighted by victories in the Breeders Crown, She's A Great Lady, and International Stallion Stakes. She continued her exceptional form at 3, capturing the Fan Hanover, Jugette, Jerry Silverman Memorial, USS Indianapolis Pace, and Matron Stakes.

A daughter of Sweet Lou out of world champion Looksgoodinaromper, Loua Dipa represents an extraordinary maternal family. Remarkably, Looksgoodinaromper's first two foals, Loua Dipa and Looksgoodinloulou, are both world Champions with combined career earnings exceeding $2 million. Her third foal is currently a yearling. Both accomplished sisters will now have the opportunity to carry on their family's remarkable legacy as members of the Crawford Farms broodmare band.

Joining Loua Dipa are fellow Burke Racing standouts Shacarri, Rose, and I'm a Lou Lou, each bringing exceptional bloodlines, athletic ability and considerable potential as future broodmares.

Loua Dipa, Shacarri, and Rose will remain in partnership with the Burke Stable, joining Looksgoodinloulou, who retired in 2025 with $684,337 in career earnings and is currently in foal to Downbytheseaside. She is scheduled to be bred back to Captaintreacherous in 2027.

Shacarri, a talented stakes performer and half-sister to both Eastie Boy and Louprint, brings another highly desirable maternal family to the program, while Rose, a stakes winner with more than $610,000 in career earnings and a full sister to Melillo, further strengthens the depth of the Crawford Farms broodmare band.

I'm a Lou Lou, trained by Ron Burke and acquired by Crawford Farms this fall at the Harrisburg sale, will also begin her next chapter as a broodmare under the sole ownership of Crawford Farms. She is scheduled to be bred to Brandon Blvd in his inaugural breeding season.

The 2027 breeding plans also include the return of Warrawee Ubeaut to Downbytheseaside, following the tremendous success of their offspring, Breeders Crown winner Seaside Ubeaut.

2027 Breeding Plans:

- Loua Dipa — Downbytheseaside
- Rose — Downbytheseaside
- Shacarri — Sweet Lou
- I'm A Lou Lou — Brandon Blvd
- Looksgoodinloulou — Captaintreacherous
- Warrawee Ubeaut — Downbytheseaside

"I couldn't be more excited to welcome these exceptional fillies and future mommas to our broodmare band," said Michelle Panebianco of Crawford Farms.

"We have thoroughly enjoyed the success we've shared in partnership with Burke Racing, both on the racetrack and in the breeding shed. Warrawee Ubeaut is a wonderful example of what we hope to continue building together. Watching her transition from an extraordinary racehorse to a producer of elite athletes, most recently celebrated with Seaside Ubeaut's Breeders Crown victory, has been incredibly rewarding.

"There is something particularly special about watching these remarkable athletes begin their next chapter and knowing the potential they carry to influence future generations of our sport. We look forward to building upon that success and continuing what has been a very rewarding partnership for many years to come."

Mark Weaver echoed that enthusiasm for the continued partnership.

"We are thrilled to see 'Dipa,' Shacarri, and Rose following in the footsteps of Warrawee Ubeaut at Crawford Farms," Weaver said. "These three homebreds are extra special to us, and being able to sell part while remaining involved is the perfect balance."

Trainer, co-owner, and co-breeder Ron Burke said, "Loua Dipa is the best mare I ever trained. Shacarri is from the best family going, and Rose is a total professional with a heart of Gold. I am thrilled that these fillies are going to Crawford Farms to fulfill the next chapter of their lives."

Farm manager Heather Marshall said, "I am beyond excited to be adding Loua Dipa and the other superstar mares from Burke Racing to the herd. I fell in love with I'm A Lou Lou the second she walked out of the stall at Harrisburg. It's a lot of pressure having mares this nice to work on, but such an honor to be trusted with them."

Beyond its continued partnership with Burke Racing, Crawford Farms has made several significant acquisitions this fall, further strengthening both its pacing and trotting broodmare divisions.

Among those acquisitions is the remaining 50 per cent interest in 2020 Hambletonian champion Ramona Hill from Hanover Shoe Farms, along with the remaining interest in her 2026 Chapter Seven colt.

Bred and raised by Crawford Farms, Ramona Hill returns to the sole ownership of the farm where her remarkable journey began. Currently in foal to Captain Corey, she is already demonstrating her potential as an elite producer through the success of her Walner daughter Nevis Peak, a Goldsmith Maid winner with more than $500,000 in earnings during her 2-year-old campaign.

Additional pacing broodmare acquisitions include: Pass And Stow — in foal to Downbytheseaside; Rockinsangria — in foal to Huntsville; Camera Lady — in foal to Downbytheseaside, and Mollop Hanover — in foal to Downbytheseaside.

Additional trotting Broodmare acquisitions include: Aperfect Annie — to be bred to Walner in 2027, Call Me Goo — in foal to Chapter Seven; and Crysti Dream — dam of Diabolic Hill and Nassir Dust, currently in foal to Captain Corey.

These strategic acquisitions reflect Crawford Farms' continued commitment to assembling elite maternal families and producing the next generation of Grand Circuit champions, while maintaining a lifelong commitment to the horses that make those achievements possible.

For these remarkable athletes, retirement from racing is not the end of their story, but the beginning of an entirely new legacy.

Tall Dark Stranger to stand at Sunset Ridge Farm in NJ

Hall of Fame pacing stallion Tall Dark Stranger will have a new home for the 2027 breeding season. The 9-year-old son of Bettors Delight—Precocious Beauty will stand in New Jersey at Sunset Ridge Farm in Cream Ridge.

He previously stood in Pennsylvania from 2021 to 2026.

A champion on the racetrack, Tall Dark Stranger won 19 of his 22 career starts, earning more than $2 million while trained by Nancy Takter. His remarkable racing career included victories in the North America Cup, Meadowlands Pace, Cane Pace, Breeders Crown, and Metro Pace. His exceptional speed, determination, and consistency earned him numerous championship honors, including the prestigious 2020 Dan Patch Horse of the Year title.

Tall Dark Stranger's offspring have already demonstrated stakes-winning ability, including Kentucky champion Ubrute (p, 2, 1:49.4, $634,704), Grand Circuit stakes winner Handsome Stranger (p, 3, 1:48.1, $364,779), and multiple graded stakes-winning 2-year-old Stonebridge Blitz (p, 2, 1:49.4, $291,473).

Tall Dark Stranger will stand for a 2027 stud fee of $4,000 USD with multiple mares discount.

Hambletonian Oaks champion Warrawee Michelle retires

Warrawee Michelle, the 2025 Dan Patch Older Trotting Mare award winner, has gone out a winner as her FanDuel mare trot victory on Nov. 14 at The Meadowlands will be the final start of her spectacular career.

Owned by trainer Ake Svanstedt, Santandrea Inc, and Young Guns (Jeff Gural, Arthur Geiger, David Stolz, Richard Doolittle, and Little E LLC), Warrawee Michelle has compiled a 41 13-10-6 record with $1,964,695 earned throughout a four-year career on the track. The daughter of Walner—Sound Check also owns a lifetime mark of 1:50, a world record clocking for a 4-year-old on a five-eighths track.

Known for her ability to step up on the biggest stages, Warrawee Michelle has accumulated a long list of accolades while succeeding at every age. The 5-year-old captured the 2024 Hambletonian Oaks and Delmonica Hanover as a 3-year-old, is a two-time Breeders Crown winner (2023 and 2025), beat the boys in the 2025 Graduate final at age 4, and scored wins in the Miss Versatility, Dayton Derby Oaks, and FanDuel in 2026, a year in which she is the presumptive favorite to take home a second Dan Patch award.

Santandrea, Young Guns, and Little E LLC have purchased complete interest in Warrawee Michelle and she will start her next career at Jeff Gural's Allerage Farm in Pennsylvania. She will be bred to Captain Corey.

Nominations open for Fair Island Farm Caretaker of Year

Nominations are now being accepted for the 2026 Caretaker of the Year award. This award, sponsored by Art Zubrod and Leah Cheverie's Fair Island Farm in conjunction with the United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA), recognizes the unsung heroes of the sport: the caretakers who maintain the health and welfare of the horses on a daily basis.

Any caretaker working for any stable or farm in North America is eligible to be honored as the Fair Island Farm Caretaker of the Year. All that is needed to nominate is an email that consists of 200 words minimum from an individual or group detailing the skills and special qualities of the caretaker.

The Fair Island Farm Caretaker of the Year will receive a cash prize of $2,500 as well as transportation costs to the USHWA Dan Patch Awards banquet in Orlando, FL, on Feb. 21, 2027, where he or she will be recognized and presented with a trophy. The winner will also enjoy a two-night stay at Rosen Shingle Creek, host hotel for the USHWA activities, as well as two complimentary dinner tickets.

"Leah and I are honored to continue the tradition of recognizing caretakers and the hard work they do on a daily basis," said Zubrod. "And it is especially gratifying to honor one most-deserving person as the Caretaker of the Year."

Initially titled the Groom of the Year Award when first presented in 1982, the honor was instituted as a result of a suggestion made by Delvin Miller at the annual Harness Tracks of America meeting when he received HTA's Stanley F. Bergstein Messenger Award. Previously sponsored annually by HTA and Hanover Shoe Farms, the tradition was continued in 2015 by MGM Northfield Park and USHWA, with Fair Island Farm coming on board in 2019.

"The U.S. Harness Writers Association is once again pleased to be able to honor the Caretaker of the Year in our Dan Patch Awards presentation," said USHWA president Heather Vitale. "Great thanks to Art and Leah for their sponsorship of this award through their Fair Island Farm. The caretakers are so important to this sport and it is especially gratifying to be able to work with Fair Island Farm in the recognition of these outstanding individuals."

The winner will be chosen by a nine-person selection committee comprised of USHWA members, all of whom are former caretakers: Tim Bojarski (chair), Kim Rinker, Tom Charters, Moira Fanning, Jessica Hallett, Dean Hoffman, Mary McDermott, Shawn Wiles, and Peter Lawrence.

All nomination emails must be sent to committee chairman Bojarski at a159star@gmail.com and received by Monday (Dec. 7, 2026).

Big M 2027 schedule changes are for the bettor

The live racing schedule at The Meadowlands for 2027 is now available, and there are a few subtle changes that will prove to be a robust upgrade for the mile oval's loyal fan base.

The biggest change will be alternating post times. Friday's race cards will get underway at the usual 6:20 p.m., while Saturdays will now begin a little earlier, at 6 p.m.

"Some of our customers have asked for an earlier start, and we want to see what the new Saturday post time brings," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "We're hoping it convinces our afternoon regulars to sometimes stay for the first part of the evening card, at the very least. We know a lot of them like betting both the thoroughbreds and standardbreds. For the others who come to us for our live product only, it will mean getting home a little earlier, as we will shoot to finish on Saturdays between 11 and 11:30 p.m.

"It isn't the same scenario on Fridays, as there are customers who might have trouble making it here in time to bet the Pick-5, which is offered on the first race. Many of them are coming straight from work to us, so we felt keeping the post time where it is on Friday was the appropriate thing to do."

There are also a handful of Sundays and Thursdays when the track will offer live racing.

There are 102 live harness racing programs slated for 2027.

Here are the dates:

- January: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m.
- No racing on Friday (Jan. 1). There will be racing on Sundays, on Jan. 17, 24, and 31, post time, 1 p.m.
- February: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m.
- March: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m.
- April: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m.
- May: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m.
- June: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m. No racing on Friday, the 18th. There will be racing on Sunday, the 20th, post time, 1 p.m.
- July: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m. There will be racing on Thursday, the 8th; and Thursday, the 29th, post time, 6:20 p.m. Post time on Saturday, July 31st is noon (Meadowlands Trot Day).
- August: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m.
- September: Harness racing — Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m. (Sept. 3 through Sept. 11). Monmouth at The Meadowlands thoroughbred turf racing — Friday and Saturday, post time TBA (Sept. 17 through Sept. 25).
- October: Monmouth at The Meadowlands thoroughbred turf racing — Friday and Saturday, post time TBA (Oct. 1 through Oct. 15). Harness racing — Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m. (Oct. 16 through Oct. 30).

• November: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m.

• December: Friday, 6:20 p.m.; Saturday, 6 p.m. There will be racing on Thursdays, on the 2nd, 9th, 16th and 30th, post time 6:20 p.m. Christmas Eve and Christmas Day fall on Friday, Dec. 24, and Saturday, Dec. 25, respectively, and, as a result, there will be no live racing that week.

"We're very much looking forward to the upcoming 2027 season," said Settlemoir. "And we are extremely excited about Saturday, July 31, when we have our only noon post time of the year on our biggest day of racing. That's the day we will host the first edition of the $1-million Allerage Farm Meadowlands Trot."

3-year-old stars shine in closing weekend at Hoosier Park

Seeing the impressive 3-year-olds for the last time this season at Hoosier Park, the Thanksgiving Classic Stakes offered four impressive outings for Somemore Blue in the opener. Deuce Pop rallied for his first win at Hoosier Park. The following race Odds On Bullfrog did not skip a beat. Meanwhile, Fresh Face Yankee closed out the evening in decisive fashion. Amongst the 3-year-old action, Little Rocket Man delivered in the open pace for his 90th career score.

Somemore Blue driven by Marcus Miller for trainer Erv Miller stole the show once again as she rattled off four consecutive victories for the sweep over rival Whoomp to claim the $40,000 Thanksgiving Classic for sophomore pacing fillies.

Battling the sloppy conditions, Somemore Blue reported from post 5 off the gate for the inside advantage forcing Whoomp to the lead at the first turn in :26.1. The lead pair remained the same through the half in :55.3. Nearing the final turn, Somemore Blue's hand was forced by Atte Station (Trace Tetrick) who charged into third, with Somemore Blue quickly engaging Whoomp as the pair battled to three-quarters in 1:24.3. The two star Indiana fillies battled before Somemore Blue gained the upper-hand late, steamrolling to a three-length score in 1:52. Whoomp held sway for second, with Rodeo Dancer (Atlee Bender) rallying from the backfield to be third.

The post-time favorite Somemore Blue is owned by Kenneth Duffy, Lava Java Stable, Never 2 Late Stable, and Bryn Campbell. Bred by Lavon Miller, the Rockin Image—Misssomebeach Blue filly added a dozen wins on the season for $695,816 in lifetime earnings. Somemore Blue paid $2.20.

Rebounding in impressive fashion, Deuce Pop fired out of a cannon late driven by Trace Tetrick for trainer Ron Burke to win the $60,000 Thanksgiving Classic for 3-year-old trotting colts.

Slotted into post 7, Deuce Pop played it safe out of the wings in seventh, while Rose Run Boom (Jordan Ross) was the sharpest to hold the early advantage at the turn in :27.4. On the backstretch, Rose Run Boom led the way with Inverness Ave (Kevin Lambright) taking the cover in second. Marching to the halfway mark in :57.1, Rose Run Boom held the 11-horse field at bay as Dan D Man Can (Atlee Bender) started first-over from fourth. On the final turn, Dan D Man Can joined the podium as Rose Run Boom showed the field to the stretch in 1:25.4. Staying quiet for the first three-quarters of the mile, Deuce Pop snapped into high gear as he flew through the last quarter in :26.4 passing by the early race standouts to stop the timer in 1:53.4 by 2¾ lengths. Rose Run Boom held second as Inverness Ave stayed on for show.

The Tactical Landing colt, Deuce Pop recorded his twelfth win of the season for owners Burke Racing Stable LLC, Weaver Bruscemi LLC, Knox Services Inc, and Phillip Collura. The Atlantic Trot Inc bred Deuce Pop tallied $268,740 in lifetime career earnings. Deuce Pop paid $3 to win as the post time favorite.

Knocking the field out of the park for a grand slam in the eighth race, Odds On Bullfrog piloted by Joey Putnam for trainer Dr. Ian Moore scored his fourth straight win, taking home the $50,000 Thanksgiving Classic 3-year-old colt pace.

Odds On Bullfrog wasted little time from post 2 as he leapt out to the lead at the first quarter in :26.1. The seven-horse field piled in behind the leader with Phantom Hill (Trace Tetrick) and Ain'tplayinnice (Brandon Bates) offering the stalking positions behind the pacesetter. Starting the second half of the race in :55, Odds On Bullfrog remained firmly in control as the field was unchanged. Ain'tplayinnice advanced along the outside, advancing to the leader's wheel in second while Odds On Bullfrog brought the field to three-quarters in 1:23.2. Ain'tplayinnice met the eyes of the leader before Odds On Bullfrog battled back to the challenge to regain the lead. Fending off the field, Odds On Bullfrog crossed the wire in 1:51.3 by three-quarters-of-a-length. What Nooo Waaay (John De Long) rallied for second, while Ain'tplayinnice settled for third.

Odds On Bullfrog delivered on his ninth win of the season to accumulate $314,791 in career earnings. Owned by Odds on racing and bred by Odds On Nourrir, the Hoosier Park pacing track record holder Bulldog Hanover colt paid 2.60 to win.

As the 15-race card winded down, Fresh Face Yankee driven and trained by Jay Cross turned up the heat in dominant display in the $50,000 Thanksgiving Classic filly trot.

Starting out of the middle of the 11-horse field in post 5, Fresh Face Yankee was met by Naked And Afraid (Jordan Ross) along the outside as Naked And Famous led at the first turn in :27.4. Fresh Face Yankee did not settle into second for long as she moved up to the helm at the halfway mark in :57.3. For Dayze (John De Long) got in on the action on the final turn grazing past Naked And Afraid to take aim at the leader. Fresh Face Yankee hit the lane after three-quarters in 1:26.3 and never looked back, keeping For Dayze in her rearview as she cruised to the wire in 1:54.2 clear by 2¾ lengths. For Dayze took care of second with ease while Naked And Afraid held for third.

Fresh Face Yankee is owned by Timothy Smith and bred by Fashion Hill Farm. The Crescent Fashion out of Swan Yankee filly cruised to her 11th win of the season for $351,085 in career earnings. Fresh Face Yankee paid $2.60 to win.

Utilizing a perfect pocket trip, Little Rocket Man hit his 90th career win in the $22,000 open pace driven by Kyle Wilfong for trainer Ken Rucker.

Behind the starting gate in post 6, Little Rocket Man looked to his right to find the post-time favorite Captain Arturovico (John De Long) as the favorite hit the open freeway to the first turn in :26.4. Little Rocket Man and Shooting In Place (Jordan Ross) followed suit as Captain Arturovico led every step of the way through the half mile in :55.1 and the three-quarter fraction in 1:23.2. Digging in late, Little Rocket Man was able to rally past Captain Arturovico in deep stretch to score by a half-length in 1:51.2.

The 10-year-old Rockin Image gelding is owned by Russell Beeman and Jack Freeman for his 11th win of the meet. Little Rocket Man deposited into his robust lifetime account hitting $2,157,184 as he is now 10 wins away from the century mark. Little Rocket Man paid $7 to win.

Athearn and Robinson take top honors as Plainridge meet ends

As the horses lined up for the final time this year on Tuesday (Nov. 24) at Plainridge Park, Steve O'Toole, general manager/director of live racing, was trackside to honor the top driver and trainer of 2026.

Matty "Ice" Athearn was the track's leading driver and posted some lofty numbers to back that up. Athearn won 173 races, that includes his triple on closing day, and earnings of $2,527,513 during the eight-month session. That purse total is only $355 dollars shy of the all-time earnings mark of $2,527,868 set by Brett Beckwith in 2024. Athearn's win total is the fourth highest in track history. Greg Merton is the all-time leader with 230 wins in 2017.

Enrico Robinson was the leading trainer at Plainridge in the first year he campaigned there full time. Robinson had 64 wins and $1,022,138 in earnings. Both of those totals rank fourth all-time. Jimmy Nickerson holds the record for wins (92) and earnings ($1,194,860) and both were achieved in 2022.

And as both of these accomplished competitors were feted for their achievements on the final day, it was also fitting that they each won one of the top two races on the card.

Athearn won the featured $22,000 upper-level pace with Still Rollin N, who brushed late for the victory.

PA Luke (Jimmy Hardy) flashed to the front and led through stations of :26.3, :54.4, and 1:22.4, as an outer-flow led by Set Shot (Mitchell Cushing) was prompting the pace. Still Rollin N was third-over in that outer-flow and made a three-wide move halfway through the last turn. Then when they reached the stretch, Set Shot took the lead from PA Luke and had gapped Still Rollin N by a couple lengths. But Still Rollin N flew down the center of the track and caught the leader by a nose at the line in 1:51.3.

It was the seventh win of the year for Still Rollin N ($4.40), who is owned by VIP Internet Stable and her trainer, Amanda Kelley.

Then Robinson won the $19,000 upper-level conditioned pace with Charlie's Wish, who overcame an early break to score the victory.

Sweet Jeff IR (Nick Graffam) grabbed a quick lead as Charlie's Wish (Mitchell Cushing) made a break in the first turn and was relegated to seventh, and 11 lengths in arrears. Sweet Jeff IR got to the half :55.1 unchallenged, but on the backstretch, JL's Rock Star (Kyle Swift) moved first-up and the now recovered Charlie's Wish was third-over in the breeze heading around the last turn. At the top of the lane, JL's Rock Star took the lead as the field fanned four across, with Charlie's Wish widest of them all. As the horses approached the wire, Charlie's Wish was flying and caught JL's Rock Star by three-quarters-of-a-length in 1:52.3.

Charlie's Wish ($3.20) is owned by Pollack Racing.

Live racing will resume at Plainridge Park in April of 2027.

Bombs fall again at Big M

After last Saturday's (Nov. 21) program at The Meadowlands saw long shot winners pay $101, $93.40, and $176.40, chalk players figured things would likely go their way on the Friday (Nov. 27) Big M card.

It didn't work out that way.

Friday's races saw four bombs drop on the mile oval: Meetmeatthebar (Daniel Dube driving) paid $173.40 in the fourth race; Dream Pillar (Anibal Borjas) returned $78 in the 10th; Be Different (Vinny Ginsburg) came back $58.20 in the 11th; and Knock Twice (Johnathan Ahle) scored in the 13th and returned $132.80.

With three of those big payouts coming during the Late Pick-4 sequence, there were no winning tickets sold on the popular bet. Those who had three correct selections collected $656.45.

'PROUD' PROVES PRETTY: The trip was anything but smooth, but Prtynproud Hanover had little trouble overcoming that tough journey on the way to a winner's circle visit in the Friday night feature, a $17,500 high-end conditioned pace for fillies and mares.

The Joe Bongiorno trained and driven 3-year-old Downbytheseaside—Pretty N Fast product was in the early scrum from post 2 in the nine-horse field, racing on the outside just off early leavers, which were Hers Hungry, and Please Be You, who led at the quarter in :27.4.

Prtynproud Hanover was now in gear for Bongiorno and cleared the top before the three-eighths, but 3-2 second choice Take Your Pick had designs on the lead, and stopped the clock while parked at the half in :54.4 with 'Pretty' settling into the 2-hole.

As they made their way onto the far turn, Bongiorno moved Prtynproud Hanover out of the pocket to take on Take Your Pick, who had led at three-quarters in 1:22.3, and the eventual winner grabbed the lead at the head of the stretch and held sway to the wire under energetic Bongiorno handling in 1:50.4. It was a neck back to a fast-closing Hunting Hula, with Strutsville third.

"She's a nice filly," said Bongiorno. "We had her all of last year and won the Kindergarten with her. She's an Ohio-bred horse and had a little injury training down so she missed stakes season. She's only had a few starts this year, so we'll probably keep her going."

As the even-money favorite, Prtynproud Hanover returned $4.20 to her backers to record her ninth win from just 18 career starts, good for earnings of $155,552 for owner Ken Jacobs.

A LITTLE MORE: Brett Beckwith, Ginsburg, and Patrick Ryder finished the night tied atop the driver leaderboard with two wins apiece… All-source handle on the 14-race program totaled $2,106,576.

Three-way battle heading into Drivers' Holiday Challenge

Adding another layer to the excitement already surrounding this year's Drivers' Holiday Challenge at The Raceway, the top three drivers by wins in the nation this season will all be in action. Brady Galliers (334), Austin Sorrie (329), and Sam Fillion (327) currently rank first, second, and third respectively and will be looking to add to their impressive totals while competing in the annual charity event.

The trio is also locked in a spirited battle for the Driver Championship at The Raceway at Western Fair District. With just over a month remaining in the 2026 racing season, every win is becoming increasingly important as the race for top honors enters the final stretch.

Also included in this year's star-studded field are Garret Rooney, Tyler Borth, Rob Doyle, Brett MacDonald, and Lorne House.

Drivers competing in the Holiday Challenge will select their horses through a draft that will take place on Friday (Dec. 4), immediately following the weekly program draw. The unique format adds another element of strategy and anticipation as participants determine their pairings for challenge night.

The Drivers' Holiday Challenge has become a cherished holiday tradition within Ontario's harness racing community, helping raise awareness and funds for Toys for Tots while spreading a little extra Christmas cheer to children and families in need throughout the holiday season.

This year, Maddi Henry has stepped in to help coordinate donations and fundraising efforts, carrying on the outstanding work of Kelley McNiven, whose dedication and leadership over the past several years helped transform the Drivers' Holiday Challenge into one of racing's most successful charitable initiatives. Organizers extend their sincere appreciation to McNiven for her years of commitment and look forward to building upon that success.

Fans, horsepeople, and community members can support the cause by donating a new, unwrapped toy or making a monetary contribution. Every donation helps brighten the holidays for local families and children in need.

As an added incentive, each toy or monetary donation will earn an entry into a prize draw featuring several generously donated items, including:

- A Keg gift card donated by Twinbrook Farms
- A Britt's Custom Creations gift card donated by Britt Cullen
- A Mare Flare Equestrian gift certificate donated by Arabella Kanter

• Dinner for two at The Top of the Fair on Dec. 8, donated by The Raceway at Western Fair District (donations must be received by Dec. 4 to be eligible for this draw)

Toy donations can be dropped off at any of the following locations:

• Wilsons Tack at The Raceway

• Western Fair Grandstand

• Mare Flare at Flamboro Downs

• Wilsons Tack Warehouse

Donations may also be given directly to Maddi Henry, Amy O'Toole, Brinsley Brickman, or Erin Swainson-Brickman.

Monetary donations can be sent via e-transfer to:

holidaydriverschallenge@gmail.com.

Whether through a toy donation, financial contribution, prize donation or simply helping spread the word, every act of support makes a meaningful difference. The Raceway, participating drivers, and organizers encourage the entire racing community to come together once again to make the holiday season brighter for children and families in need.

"The generosity shown by horsepeople, racing fans, and community partners continues to make this event special year after year," said director of equine programming Greg Blanchard. "The Drivers' Holiday Challenge is proof of what our racing community can accomplish when we come together to support a great cause."

The Top of the Fair dining room will also be open that evening for another Trifecta Tuesday promotion featuring a holiday-themed buffet-style dinner plus gaming and racing package. Seats are going quickly and reservations can be made at topofthefair@westernfairdistrict.com.

For more information on the Drivers' Holiday Challenge, visit www.theracewaywfd.com or follow The Raceway at Western Fair District on social media.

Wanda Polisseni to receive Excelsior Award

Wanda Polisseni will be the recipient of the United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA) Monticello-Goshen Chapter's Excelsior Award at their annual awards banquet on Dec. 6 in Campbell Hall, NY, which is presented by the New York Sire Stakes, and will be dedicated to John Manzi.

A resident of upstate New York, Wanda Polisseni has earned widespread acclaim as both a successful harness racing owner and a dedicated advocate for retired racehorses. In March 2026, U.S. Trotting Association president Russell Williams named her the recipient of the 2026 USTA President's Award, recognizing her lifelong commitment to the standardbred breed, industry stewardship, and equine welfare.

Polisseni entered the harness racing industry as a horse owner 23 years ago. Operating under her Purple Haze Stables banner, her racing operations have ranked among the top 50 owners in purses on multiple occasions. Polisseni remains actively involved in purchasing and racing horses, finding personal fulfillment in watching both stakes contenders and overnight horses grow and mature regardless of their race outcomes.

Beyond her achievements on the racetrack, Polisseni is perhaps best known for ensuring racehorses transition successfully into second careers. She serves as president of the Purple Haze Standardbred Adoption Program (PHSAP) in Oxford, NY. Operating on a 105-acre farm purchased in November 2018, this Standardbred Transition Alliance-accredited organization rehabilitates and retrains retired standardbreds for new opportunities within the broader equestrian community while providing educational and training support for adopters. Through Polisseni's leadership and collaborative team efforts, PHSAP has placed more than 100 former harness racehorses into well-matched homes. She believes meaningful equine rescue relies on collective community support rather than massive individual sums, noting that even modest contributions of 10 or 25 dollars can make a substantial difference.

Cherished and admired by many in a variety of sectors in the harness racing industry, Polisseni will be honored with the Excelsior Award which recognizes her significant contributions to harness racing in New York State.

As part of the annual festivities, the chapter will convey all of this season's New York Sire Stakes and U. S. Trotting District 8 Awards, which will be presented in addition to the year-end awards for horses and horsepeople from the local tracks when the Monticello-Goshen USHWA Chapter holds their 67th annual Awards Banquet on Sunday (Dec. 6, 2026).

The Monticello-Goshen chapter will also honor Joe Morris (Lifetime Achievement Award); Max J. Hempt (John Manzi Leadership Award); Chris Coyle (Good Guy Award); Rebecca Howard (Amy Bull Crist Distinguished Service Award); Elizabeth Lewis-House (Phil Pines Award); Winbak Farm (Cradle of the Trotter Breeders Award); William Carter (Rising Star); and Kristin Hopkins (Mighty M Award of Appreciation).

Funds raised through the banquet and souvenir journal have allowed the Monticello-Goshen Chapter to give well over $165,000 to Goshen Historic Track and the Harness Racing Museum & Hall of Fame over the last two decades. The Track and the Museum are two separate and distinct entities that share the same hallowed ground and a mutual purpose of preserving and promoting harness racing.

The practice of raising money and donating funds to Historic Track and the Hall of Fame began in the mid-1970s with Monticello Raceway publicity icon John Manzi, and has continued ever since. This year's banquet and souvenir journal will be dedicated to the late John Manzi for his decades of tireless promoting and supporting harness racing in our region, who passed away on Oct. 28 at the age of 82.

Tickets for the gala event at The Country Club at Otterkill, Campbell Hall, NY, can be reserved by contacting Shawn Wiles at 845-798-4074, or email: swiles@rwcatskills.com.

To place a congratulatory ad, or a John Manzi remembrance ad in the souvenir journal, please contact Chris Tully at 845-807-7538, or email: tullytrot@yahoo.com.

Harness Racing Museum's 50th annual holiday concert on Dec. 3

Great music and fun are the traditions of the Harness Racing Museum & Hall of Fame's annual Holiday Concert. Celebrating its 50th year, this community event is sure to put you in the holiday spirit, so mark your calendars for Thursday (Dec. 3, 2026) at 7 p.m.

Goshen High School's Varsity Choir and Jazz Voices Ensemble return for their 25th appearance. The Varsity Choir is a performance-oriented group of singers, comprised of students from all four high school grades. The Jazz Voices perform various styles of jazz music from the older classics to selections written by the latest jazz composers. Members of the band and orchestra will also perform during the evening's program.

The concert will end with the traditional audience participation number, "The Twelve Days of Christmas." Refreshments will be served in the Carriage Room for all to enjoy. Seating is limited and available on a first-come first-served basis. Arrive early and tour the Museum and its festive halls and stalls.

Admission is $5 per person, and is waived for Museum members.

If you have not booked your business holiday party, there are dates still available at the Museum. Call for details about this unique setting for all your special occasions at 845-294-6330.

The Harness Racing Museum & Hall of Fame, located at 240 Main Street in Goshen, NY, is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Non-member admission is $10 (12 years and up) and children 3 to 11 years is $5. For further information on the holiday festivities and the Harness Racing Museum & Hall of Fame, its services to the sport and the local community, please call 845-294-6330 or visit www.harnessmuseum.com.

This week's fines and suspensions

HRU is providing links to publicly-available fines and suspension lists for convenience.

Readers are reminded that because a person's name appears on the list does not necessarily mean they are guilty of an offense. Many times, cases are not finalized and many of the accused are still entitled to due process.

Also, please note, for context, the first link is to the Association of Racing Commissioners International's classification system of drug penalties to give readers a sense of the difference between a Class 1 and a Class 4 positive.
