Burke on the cusp of being first trainer to 40,000 starts

by Bob Heyden

Ron Burke is at 39,938 all-time starts through Friday (April 6) and, thus, is on the verge of becoming the first ever conditioner to start 40,000 times. Steve Asmusssen has sent out over 38,200 entrants on the thoroughbred side. Burke's 8,586 winners and $192,435,009 are also all-time bests.

Anniversary year

This year marks the 10th anniversary of:

• Somebeachsomewhere's spectacular season culminating in a HOY title, a career slate of 20-for-21 and a Breeders Crown victory.

• Muscle Hill's debut. After a neck loss in his NJSS debut, he won 20 straight, finishing with the same record as SBSW and a HOY title, as well.

It is the 20th anniversary of:

• Muscles Yankee winning the Hambletonian to give John Campbell his tie-breaking 5th as a driver.

• Brett Pelling sweeping everything at Delaware (Shady Character winning the Jug and Armbro Romance the Jugette).

• NO ONE being elected into the Hall Of Fame.

• Walter Case, Jr. becoming history's first driver to win 1,000 races (1,076) and he did it in 2,993 drives for a UDRS over .500!

It is the 30th anniversary of:

• Mack Lobell winning his second straight HOY title, the last male horse to do so.

• John Campbell and Armbro Goal taking the Hambletonian. It was the second in a row for Campbell. No driver has won it back to back since.

• Matts Scooter time trialed in 1:48.2 to establish a new mark eight years after Niatross' 1:49.1 time trial mark.

It is the 40th anniversary of:

• Whata Baron posting an incredible seven 1:55 or better miles. Keep in mind that Oil Burner was next with three, and two NJ stallions named B Gs Bunny and Escort had one each.

• Abercrombie was named HOY. A 33-time starter, eight of his races came in four double heats in August alone. In those eight races he posted a record of 6-2-0.

It is the 50th anniversary of:

• Three megastars entering the Hall of Fame — Frank Ervin, with five HOY titles under his belt; William Haughton, the soon-to-be richest driver in the sport and the only one to win eight straight earnings titles and Del Miller, the sport's

Dave Landry

Ron Burke (with driver Yannick Gingras at Red Mile) will become the first trainer - standardbred or thoroughbred - to have 40,000 career starts.

Good Will Ambassador who did more for bringing people into the sport from everywhere than anyone else.

It is the 60th anniversary of:

• Emilys Pride being named HOY, the first of a full handful for sire Stars Pride.

• The first year that the Hall Of Fame took in "Immortals" with 39 entering — horses and humans.

It is the 70th anniversary of...

• Harrison Hoyt becoming the first amateur driver to win the Hambletonian. He won it with Demon Hanover.

• Bill O'Donnell was born on May 4. The "Magic Man" teamed with John Campbell to produce two dominant forces in the driver's colony in the 1980s.

$2 million Single Season Club

The club for horses that have earned more than $2 million in a single season has 14 members — 10 pacers and four trotters.

Wiggle It Jiggleit is the last to do so in 2015 with earnings of $2,181,095 on the strength of a 22-3-0 record in 26 starts.

Ray Remmen's Beach Towel got it started in 1990 with a $2.091 season.

Well Said came the closest without reaching $2 million in 2009 with earnings of $1,982,654.

Bill Robinson has done it with three different colts, all in the 1990s — Precious Bunny in 1991, Presidential Ball in 1993 and Cams Card Shark in 1994.

Linda Toscano is the only female trainer on the list — Market Share (2012).

Market Share, Gallo Blue Chip and Wiggle It Jiggleit are the only three to come back the next year and win $1 million plus.

Muscle Hill and Somebeachsomewhere hold the single season records for their respective gaits.

Two father-sons on this list — Rocknroll Hanover in 2005 and Rock N Roll Heaven in 2010 and Somebeachsomewhere in 2008 and Captaintreacherous in 2013.

In 2008, both SBSW and Deweycheatumnhowe hit $2 million.

Rock N Roll Heaven and Wiggle It Jiggleit hit $2 million without winning a million-dollar race.

Unbreakable record

How's this for the most unbreakable record in standardbred racing:

Stars Pride produced four straight Triple Crown winners.

1964 — Ayres 30 20-4-3, $254,027 (lifetime).

1968 — Nevele Pride 67 57-4-3, $873,238.

1969 — Lindys Pride 47 25-9-4, $396,209.

1972 — Super Bowl 51 38-8-2, $600,156.

If that wasn't enough, how about siring at least one Horse of the Year in three successive decades?

1958 — Emilys Pride

1967-68-69 — Nevele Pride

1975 — Savoir (Stars Pride was 28 at the time)

Can this be right?

Barberry Spur, a son of Triple Crown winner Niatross, won the 1986 Jug. That would be the last time a Triple Crown race was won by a horse sired by a Triple Crown winner on the pacing side. The 1983 Triple Crown winner Ralph Hanover wasn't effective as a stallion, the 1997 winner Western Dreamer is a gelding, the 1999 winner Blissfull Hall had some good ones but was not a player in the Grand Circuit regularly, the 2003 winner No Pan Intended also had some good ones, but not any Triple Crown race winners.

While we're at it, with the Kentucky Derby right around the corner, only twice has the Kentucky Derby winner been sired by a Triple Crown winner.

The 1935 Derby champ Omaha was a son of Gallant Fox, the 1930 Triple Crown winner. Omaha then became the only Triple Crown winning son of a Triple Crown winner after taking the Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

The 1984 Derby champ Swale was a son of 1977 Triple Crown winner Seattle Slew.

Did you know?

1. That a division was once decided by a half-vote and it came in the 1989 Hambletonian dead heat year involving the co-winner Park Avenue Joe.

In 1989, the 3-year-old trotting colt ballot had 82.5 votes for Esquire Spur, 82 votes for Park Avenue Joe, 61.5 votes Valley Victory, 19 votes for Demilo Hanover, 7 votes for the other Hambletonian co-winner Probe and five votes for Shogun Lobell.

2. Jacqueline Ingrassia is the first female driver to make over $50,000 in a single race driving (NOT winning)?

In the 1989 Woodrow Wilson at the Meadowlands, she was fourth with Southern Raider in a race with a $907,000 purse; meaning Southern Raider earned $72,560 for fourth money. Southern Raider was sent off at 7.60-1 and was beaten a combined 1 1/4 lengths.

It should be noted that the winner was trained by Big Red — Kelvin Harrison — making this the richest race ever won, at that point, by a trainer from Down Under.

Zenit Brick earns ticket to Olympiatravet with impressive win Saturday at Solvalla

by Thomas Hedlund

Swedish trainer Timo Nurmos is hotter than ever 2018. In January, the Finnish-born trainer won the Prix d'Amérique in Paris with Readly Express and, during the winter, his Zenit Brick has developed into a really tough contender among older trotters in Europe.

At Solvalla on Saturday (April 7), the 7-year-old son of Make It Happen took his third victory in 2018 and when he crossed the finish line in the Triton Sunds lopp ($95,100 Gold division), he also qualified himself for the final of Olympiatravet at Åby later this month.

Swedish top driver Örjan Kihlström is suffering with pain in his back and Kim Eriksson replaced Kihlström satisfactorily behind the favorite, Zenit Brick. But the horse's performance was something special.

From post position one, Zenit Brick opened slowly and Eriksson had to be content with the fact that he placed the horse fifth over, while stable mate Sir Ratzeputz was sent to the front by Erik Adielsson.

Some 600 meters into the race, Zenit Brick got the order to move up towards the leader, but in front of him, Queer Fish and Kaj Widell wanted to make the trip even more difficult for Zenit Brick. Three wide almost the whole remaining race didn't stop Nurmos' horse. Zenit Brick easily disarmed Queer Fish in the home stretch and came home in 1:55 (mile rate) over 1.3 miles.

The trainer has 46 wins in 146 starts so far in 2018 — a 32 per cent win rate — and earnings of $1,351,346. By those figures, Nurmos is outstanding among the Swedish trainers this year.

Workout Wonder to Finlandia-Ajo

Conway Hall son Workout Wonder won Helsinki-Ajo at Vermo racetrack, Helsinki, Finland on Saturday afternoon. After a strong finish, he captured leader Midnight Hour for the victory in 1:55.3. He earned $15,900 and even more important, Workout Wonder now has a ticket for the prestigious Finlandia-Ajo, which is scheduled at Vermo on May 5.

Jeanni Karlsson / Sulkysport

Zenit Brick (Kim Eriksson) won a $95,100 Gold division of the Triton Sunds lopp at Solvalla on Saturday afternoon to earn a berth in the Olympiatravet at Åby at the end of April.

Last year, Workout Wonder won the preparation race the week before the Elitloppet, but the entourage around the horse choose to decline the invitation for the Elitloppet.

In Paris, Philippe Allaire-trained Arlington Dream (Ready Cash) won the monté race (racing under saddle) $147,000 Prix Theophile Lallouet in impressive 1:57 (mile rate) over 1.7 miles. Allaire trains two of the best monté horses in France for the moment. His Traders (Ready Cash) won the biggest RUS race in the world, Prix du Cornulier ($858.000), earlier this year.

Anthony MacDonald in the HRU video spotlight

The man behind TheStable.ca talks to Jaimi Fellows about the standouts among his 57 2-year-olds in the 10th in HRU's video series now posted on our YouTube channel.

by Dave Briggs

Anthony MacDonald of TheStable.ca is the latest trainer in the spotlight in HRU's Twos in Training video series now posted on our YouTube channel.

MacDonald was interviewed by Jaimi Fellows at the Tomiko Training Centre in Ontario about the 57 2-year-olds he has in training. That video is available here:

Since last Sunday (April 1), five new Twos in Training videos have been posted on HRU's YouTube channel — Frank M. Antonacci of Lindy Farms, Blake MacIntosh, Tony Alagna, Dave Menary and now, Anthony MacDonald.

Special thanks to the Woodbine Entertainment Group for sponsoring the MacIntosh, Menary and MacDonald videos, TheStable.ca for sponsoring the Antonacci video and Brittany Farms for sponsoring the Alagna video.

HRU debuted its broadcast division March 23 with the first of some 20 videos chronicling 2-year-olds in training at stables based in Florida and Ontario for the winter. Many more to come in days and weeks ahead.

Subscribe to our channel, for free, and never miss a video.

Every time a new video is posted HRU will send out notifications through our Facebook, Twitter and Instagram accounts.

BREAKING STRIDE

The Supreme Decision – Devo Rides, Part 5

by Trey Nosrac

Cotton ball clouds dotted the morning sky. My new friend, the expert technology developer, was sitting on the front porch swing as I drove my Prius down the gravel driveway of his boyhood family farm. For some reason, I had the feeling he was wrestling with a decision about where to spend the last act of his life; the excitement of global tech power on the west coast or watching the sun rise and set from that porch. I watched him stand, sling his pack over his shoulder, and then walk down the steps with a flask of coffee in each hand.

He climbed into the passenger seat, handed me one of the coffees and clapped his hands three times like a basketball coach encouraging his team. He said, "Let's talk about litigation and the courts."

I took a sip of the coffee, "Excellent, who are we litigating - Stormy, Mueller, divorce lawyers, OJ?"

"PASPA."

I placed the coffee in my cupholder and said, "Well, as far as I am concerned, the courts can do all the surveillance and wiretapping they want. I figure if you have nothing to hide, let them snoop all day."

He smiled, "No, that's FISA. PASPA is the Professional and Amateur Sports Protection Act, the federal ban against state-sponsored sports betting in all states except Nevada."

"This is the big court ruling you keep talking about, the one that could affect harness racing?"

"Yes, it's confusing as hell. I thought I knew the gist of the case but it's complicated. The ramifications run deep. I was up until three this morning digging around and trying to make sense of everything, but I can't say I was completely successful."

I waved my right hand to slow him down, "Back up, back up. Help me out here. What exactly is being decided and by who?"

"The case is Christie vs. NCAA. More broadly, it's New Jersey against the NCAA, NFL, and other professional leagues. The lawsuit has been going on for five years and will reach the Supreme Court this spring or summer."

The Supremes – 2018

"Chris Christie, New Jersey and gambling. This sounds like an episode of the Sopranos. Who should harness racing cheer for?"

"That was exactly the question I wanted to answer. My idea was to follow the money, to look at the big dogs and see who is backing what side of the issue. That was not so simple. For example, the big corporations in Las Vegas, who have a lot on the line, remain split. The same thing with big sports leagues, some are for it, some against. Horse racing tracks are also split."

"Explain the lawsuit to me in clear English so I can give you my unbiased and untethered decision. I'm often wrong but always decisive."

"If the Supreme Court rules in favor of New Jersey, all the New Jersey racetracks, casinos, and the NJ online gambling sites would be able to offer legal sports wagering."

"Like Vegas?"

"Yes. A ruling that gives the okay to New Jersey would change everything. It would set a standard for future sports wagering in other states and other states are watching because they see new revenue. No state wants to miss the gravy train. Last December, during oral arguments, 20 states signed on in support of New Jersey. Four states did more than just signal support, they already passed legislation paving the way for legalized sports betting if the federal ban is removed."

"Aha, the 50- state solution. What are the odds on New Jersey winning and rocking the gambling world?"

"It's hard to say. But very soon, one way or another, five of the nine Supreme Court justices must agree on the core decision of the case."

I gave a low whistle, "That's a lot riding on a few people in black robes. "Maybe the Supremes will say," and I sang my big finish, "Stop, in the Name of Love."

He groaned.

We were silent for a few minutes, and then I said, "Deep stuff, looking into the future. It's scary and exciting at the same time."

"Yes, the future is tricky business. Digging around in your world of horseracing and gambling laws and regulations is intriguing. In the back of my mind, these state solutions are backward thinking, a kabuki dance. Who wants to deal with 50 states? We look to the future. We think and plan globally."

"The future, the future. Man, I have trouble planning the weekend. I'm like Steven Wright, we are peripheral visionaries — we can see the future, but only off to the side."

"Then look to the past, go back a hundred years to prohibition. To me, prohibition is a good example. If people want to drink alcohol, has any city, state or the Federal government REALLY stopped a person determined to drink?"

I said, "Nobody stopped me. Personally speaking, I consider any sort of prohibition a signal of encouragement."

"Prohibition was difficult to enforce — tax revenue disappeared, crime increased and it was a failure. Gambling feels the same to me. States can, and have, made it inconvenient. But gamblers will find a way, and that includes black markets."

"That's true. Last week I bet $50 on Louis Oosthuizen to win the Masters Golf Tournament. I could have put the bet down with a local guy who I know, but instead I sent my bet with a guy I drove to the airport who was flying to Vegas. Ohio gets zippo. My bet is down. Why make me dance around?"

The Supremes - 1970

"Now look at the future, think about a cloud-based world. Think hard Trey. It's 2021 and you want to bet on your golfer, or bet on a harness race, or on ball game. What do you, the customer, want?"

I thought for a good 20 seconds before replying, which was a new Olympic Record, "I want good odds, convenience, security from theft, fairness in the event, and interesting ways to play."

He said, "Not bad, very insightful."

Then he poked my shoulder with his index finger and asked, "Do you care where you place the bet?"

I replied, "No, I just want a good bet and will pay a little extra to whomever takes it and treats me right but the horse racing states will care and the racetracks will care."

"Yes, but the big question is whether states can contain the money in the emerging world of technology. Trey, in my opinion, this state-based sports gambling legislation is important; it may be a wild ride, but short term. Eventually, the winner of this gambling scramble will be the business that gives you a seamless, solid wager anywhere, anytime. I'm betting it will be a mega-conglomerate with massive data and resources like an Amazon or Google."

I put on my turn signal for the exit that led to the hospital, and asked, "If the Supremes say let it roll and it rains gambling, if states lose control, or if 50 states flood the market, what kind of umbrellas are good for individual sports like harness racing?"

He reached into the back seat, grabbed his shoulder sack, and said, "In my opinion, the future will need good gambling games. Horse racing could be one." He opened the door and finished by saying, "I'll keep thinking, I have ideas, I'll make a few calls. Supremes or no Supremes, the future is ahead."

He began to walk to the glass doors of the Hospital. I pushed the button and the passenger window went down.

"Hey, JT, here's another hit they had. I sang as he walked away, "You Just Keep Me Hanging On."

He shook his head and kept walking.

Despite thinning numbers, some impressive performances at Sunshine Meadows

by Ron Gurfein

This will most likely be the next to last episode as the numbers are thinning as the colts head north. Yannick Gingras and Doug McNair will make a return performance on Friday and go some fast miles with the Alagna babies. They were here on Tuesday and it wasn't long until another track record fell as Captain Deo and Stay Hungry both were overhauled at the wire by Gingras and American History. They broke the track record, but to be politically correct, sorrowfully I cannot disclose the final time. All three colts should make Alagna's 2018 a pleasurable experience. All the Captaintreacherous kids were at it again Saturday morning but all going slow miles in the 2:30 range in preparation for the coming week. However, there was no lack of action on the track, starting with the Fred Grant barn.

Bosch, named after the famed private detective created by best selling novelist Michael Connelly, and Explosivebreakaway, both sons of Explosive Matter went a great mile in 2:21/:34. The pair of nice colts are owned in partnership by Grant, Murray Brown, Steve Katz and Janice Rubin.

Have A Habit, Crowned Eagle, Seaside Bliss and Hat Trick Marleau — a Conway Hall, two Cantab Halls and a Crazed — went a good mile in 2:21/:29. They are all from the Paul Kelley barn.

Frank M. Antonacci from Lindy Farms was in town and piloted my favorite colt, Kings County (Muscle Hill), to a 2:18/:32 mile under severe restraint.

That mile was immediately bested in 2:17/:33 by Lindys Crazy Hall. (Cantab Hall), Mischief Managed (Muscle Hill) and Magic Joe Lindy (American Ideal).

Antonacci had some nice 3-year-olds on display. Hat Trick Habit and Night Rhythm went a mile in 2:09/:30 and in the older category French Moni and Lovely Lindy, were clocked in 2:02/:30.

Road to the Kentucky Derby

I thought I would give you an idea of things to come with my Road To The Derby today because it's getting exciting with some major action last week and some more later Saturday. However, it will be too late for my deadline.

As of now, Mendelsohn (son of Scat Daddy—Leslie's Lady) steps to the head of the class off a crushing 18-length performance in the UAE Derby. Although the competition was less than formidable, the way he did it along with the fact he won the Breeders Cup Juvenile Turf last year makes him a very enticing choice. Add to that the connections. Aidan O'Brien trainer (as good as it gets) and owners Tabor, Magnier, and Smith all have been here before.

Dave Briggs

A few hours later, Audible Todd Pletcher youngster and winner of the Holy Bull at Gulfstream the previous month romped in the Florida Derby after a dream trip. Audible truly punched his ticket to the spectacle on the first Saturday in May.

Hoberg, a lightly-raced colt from The Billy Mott barn put in a creditable race finishing second but couldn't menace the winner. I felt bad for Dale Romans and Mark Hennig when their colts Strike Power and Promises Fulfilled battled to a 21-second suicidal first quarter that all but clinched the race for a late runner.

The results from Saturday afternoon will add more drama to the story. If the horses run true to form I don't see a Derby contender coming out of the Wood or the Bluegrass. Enticed 6-5 in the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct was beaten by 14 lengths in the Holy Bull by Audible in the Bluegrass at Keeneland. Chad Brown's Good Magic, the 2-1 choice, was beaten badly by Promises Fulfilled in the Fountain Of Youth at Gulfstream.

That said the Santa Anita Derby could well come up with some new blood to add to the mix. I love Justify. Trained by Bob Baffert he is 2-for-2 but never won a stake. His wins were astounding and his early morning works incredible — how about :46.2. for four furlongs. Bolt D'oro won two Grade 1's at two and is 4-for-5 lifetime. Nice races and also fast works add him to consideration as well. It should be a race too see.

Next week I will get more in depth. Have a wonderful week and keep your questions coming to HRU for Ask The Guru (GurfTrot@aol.com).

Facebook abuzz after filly makes multiple breaks, wins at Woodbine and not taken down

by Garnet Barnsdale

There was an incident that occurred at Woodbine Friday night that got social media buzzing, with several prominent horsemen chiming in about a questionable judges' decision.

In race 2, a conditioned trot for fillies and mares, it appeared that race winner P L Jill broke stride briefly at several points of the race, with the debate being whether she had lost ground while off stride. The judges ruled that there were no violations of the breaking rule as stated in the AGCO race report: "Inquiry in the stretch, #3 PL Jill make a break, no violations of the breaking rules. Also reviewed the break in the first turn by #3, again no violations."

The ruling sparked a few posts on Facebook from those that said the judges got it wrong. "I've seen everything now at Woodbine," posted trainer Blake MacIntosh on Facebook. There were several responders who seemed to agree. "Unbelievable," replied trainer Rod Hughes, who started a thread of his own thread with the post: "You don't even need to stay trotting to win, wow."

David Dusp wrote: "I must have missed when he moved outside or lost ground during any of the multiple breaks," while driver Bob McClure offered: "Worst call I have seen in a while," and trainer Bob Young offered: "Even money, what a horrible decision."

Not everyone who chimed in thought the judges' ruling was a bad one, however. The Curmudgeon, Murray Brown was in that group. "It was a very tough call. Roy took hold both times to get her back trotting," he wrote.

One opinion that seemed unanimous was that leading driver Louis-Philippe Roy did an amazing job keeping the mare together during the race. "If that had been 90 percent of any of the rest of the drivers up there that horse would have run," opined Donald MacRae. "He does not have to have the best horse to win races. He's just a smart driver that can make speed when he needs it."

Marty Adler also offered a post that suggested the judges made the right call: "From this announcer's perspective, LPR did a terrific job in keeping this filly together. He looked like he knew there was a problem from the gate, nursing her the entire mile. As for the judges, they reviewed from all angles and made their "subjective" opinion. Not 1 or 2 but 3, with professional/educated consensus."

One thing for sure is that you rarely see a horse with a charted line that shows as many breaks as the one below win a race, let alone start a debate about whether she should be taken down or not.

Ontario suspension highlights drivers' fiduciary responsibility to bettors

by Dean Towers

As Brett Sturman has documented a few times, most recently in his March 25 Between The Lines column (full column here), on March 8 a very fast and promising colt named Beachin' Lindy was racing at Woodbine. The word was clearly out, as bettors were all over the son of Somebeachsomewhere, hammering him down to 3-5.

The Louis Roy-driven colt got away fourth and at that point those watching expected the inevitable first-over move. That move never came. After being hopelessly boxed, the driver and horse shook loose far too late, coming on like a freight train to finish fourth (you can watch the race here).

Immediately, and not surprisingly, many were up in arms, wondering how a driver could bury such a live horse.

This is something we see from time to time in harness racing. A talented, well-bet animal is not shown racetrack, and fans and bettors complain they didn't get a fair shake (these complaints are usually of the "harness racing is crooked" variety). Most times, however, nothing ever comes of it; it's just considered part of the game.

The judges at the AGCO didn't follow suit, however. A week later they announced the following:

"Louis Philippe Roy was found to be in violation of AGCO rule 22.13- if the Judges believe that a horse has been driven in an unsatisfactory manner, not otherwise specified in these rules, they shall consider it a violation and furnish particulars thereof to the driver, prior to the instituting of any action therefore – 15 day driving suspension April 1st to April 15th.

This type of enforcement of the rules doesn't happen very often in harness racing in North America, but elsewhere in the world it's a staple. In fact, a quick Google search finds that near the very same day of the Beachin' Lindy race, an Australian rider was suspended 18 days for "failing to take a run between two horses that presented when there was sufficient room to do so; an insufficient effort to shift to the outside to obtain clear running occurred; and failing to ride with sufficient purpose."

This is old hat virtually anywhere else where people are betting on horses.

Why this is so important should be not lost on any of us. Upwards of $2 billion is bet on harness racing in North America, and when the betting handle shrinks, not only do purses fall, but so does the sport's weight with lawmakers. With no betting handle, harness racing is dog racing; which in many jurisdictions has long said goodbye to slot machine revenue.

Just like your stockbroker has a fiduciary duty when it comes to your money, the participants must realize they have the same duty for people wagering. The betting handle for the Beachin' Lindy race was close to $200,000; that means something, and it needs to be respected.

There are clearly extenuating circumstances in this case, as well as others. The trainer might've asked a driver to bury the horse; the horse might've not been on the bit and felt weak; the driver didn't want to pull and clog up the flow because of that perceived weakness. But that, to me, is meaningless. If a horse is 3-5 he can't be buried for a teachable moment (that's what a qualifier is for), and the right line must be pulled. The driver has to go; he or she must put in an effort for the betting public.

I was speaking recently with a respected harness racing insider and had a question. I asked why, at the Meadowlands, there are no instances of drivers breaking the rules by dropping their feet out of the stirrups to strike the horse, while at countless other tracks we see it so often. He mentioned that track owner Jeff Gural told the drivers that if they broke this rule they would not be allowed to race at any of his three racetracks. It was clear, strong and concise.

If the judges treat the burying of a 3-5 chalk the same way, it won't be a problem any longer. The drivers will know, the trainers will know, and the public will know. The Ontario judges have chosen to lead. It's up to the rest of the sport to follow it.

Relative newcomer McAvoy aiming for Bobby Weiss victory with Presidente Zette

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Cozette McAvoy has spent fewer than six years in harness racing, but her involvement in the sport has grown from simply owning horses to also include training and breeding. The 38-year-old McAvoy, a corporate attorney, has won 53 races as a trainer since 2014 and assembled a broodmare band of a dozen horses. She hopes to have two homebred 2-year-olds hit the racetrack later this year.

"I'm really happy with it," McAvoy said, adding about her breeding operation, "I don't intend to be a huge size. I totally love the movie 'Secretariat,' as I'm sure many people do. My dream is a bit of what (Penny Chenery) had. You go out in the morning with your cup of tea and the sun is coming into the barn and you're peeking in on a horse or two.

"I want to always know their names and take time to say hi to them. And they know who I am and I know who they are. Having a smaller operation like that suits me just fine."

So far this year on the racetrack, the Pennsylvania-based McAvoy has seen her stable notch six wins in 42 races this year, with 4-year-old male trotter Presidente Zette leading the way.

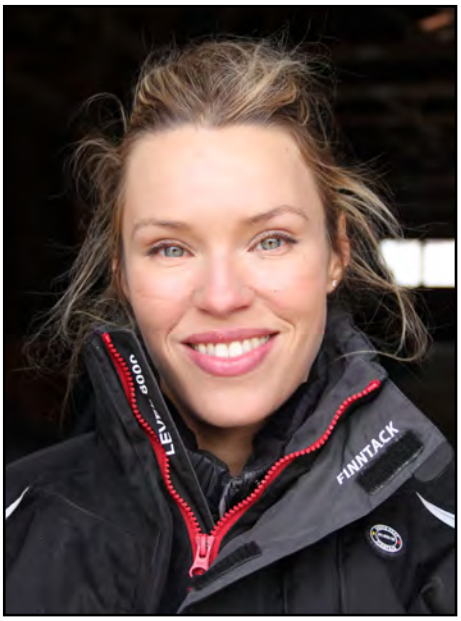
Presidente Zette, who was unraced at 2 and limited to four starts at 3, has won three of eight races and hit the board a total of six times this season. Last weekend, the stallion won his first-round division of the Bobby Weiss Series for male trotters by a neck over Stormont Power in 1:57.1 at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono.

Tonight, Presidente Zette is the 3-1 second choice on the morning line in the second of three Weiss divisions. Meadowbranch Ricky, another opening-round winner, is the 5-2 favorite for trainer Jenny Melander. Racing begins at 7 p.m. and the Weiss divisions are races three through five on the 14-race card.

"You can see from the race times and the past performances of the horses that are racing in the series that he fits in quite well," McAvoy said about Presidente Zette. "He seems to be one of the top horses entered in the series, so I've got high hopes for him."

McAvoy bought Presidente Zette under the name Southwind Magnum for $12,000 at the 2015 Lexington Selected Sale. He is by Muscle Hill out of Missymae Bluestone and a full brother to Southwind Mozart, who was second in the 2015 Yonkers Trot and later a winner in Europe. He also is a half-brother to New Jersey Sire Stakes champion Southwind Cocoa and his full brother Mission Hill (formerly Southwind Bugz) sold for $335,000 last fall in Lexington.

"I was not expecting to bid on him," McAvoy said. "I was thinking he was going to be a high-priced yearling. He ended up being one of the most inexpensive yearlings I bought. I was very surprised at that. I'm thrilled to have Presidente considering how it easily could have not been me as the owner."



Ken Weingartner

Corporate lawyer Cozette McAvoy is hoping her Presidente Zette can pull off a victory tonight in the Bobby Weiss Series at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono.

Presidente Zette missed his 2-year-old campaign because of surgery to remove bone fragments and got a late start to his 3-year-old season, but is making up for lost time.

"He's great," McAvoy said. "Like many ungelded horses, I think sometimes they're a little more interested in chasing things than racing things. It can be an exercise in patience. But he's certainly putting it all together now. I've been really happy with him.

"He's a sweetheart, even though he's a stud. You can fuss with him in the stall and pet him and feed him treats. When you ask him to go, he will really grab ahold of you and go. He's really, really powerful and really nicely gaited."

Given his inexperience, McAvoy did not stake Presidente Zette to any events this year. But given his pedigree, McAvoy is anxious to see how the stallion develops.

"We're going to take it one race at a time and go from there," McAvoy said. "The more he shows, the more we're willing to give him other chances at harder things. It's a matter of letting the horse tell us when he's ready to take the next step.

"I think anybody that has a well-bred stallion is hopeful the horse will eventually mature enough to really have a nice record and win some money. Obviously, not having anything huge at (ages) 2 or 3 is atypical of the normal stallion profile. But I have a growing broodmare band of my own, so we'll just play it by ear and see what happens."

If nothing else, maybe one morning in the future McAvoy will be enjoying a cup of tea, peeking in on one of his sons or daughters, and saying hi.

Deep Impact (Ake Svanstedt) shaved two seconds off his lifetime best with a 1:53.1 victory Friday in the first of two $15,000 Shiaway St Pat divisions at The Meadowlands.

Favorites falter in Shiaway St Pat opener at Big M

by Dave Little / Meadowlands media relations

A pair of short-priced favorites tasted defeat in the first leg of the Shiaway St. Pat series for trotters at the Meadowlands Friday night.

In the first $15,000 division, Opulent Yankee was sent to the gate as the 1-5 public choice for the husband-and-wife team of driver Andy and trainer Julie Miller. All appeared well as Opulent Yankee brushed to command at the half and reached three-quarters in a tepid 1:25.4.

But one horse had yet to make an impact. Deep Impact, to be exact.

Deep Impact was making his debut for new trainer/driver Ake Svanstedt and put together a superb mile. He was parked around turn one, surged to the lead just before three-eighths before yielding the top to the favorite at the half.

He then popped out of the pocket at three-quarters and took his time inching up to and then passing Opulent Yankee through the stretch on the way to a two-length victory in 1:53.1, lowering his previous lifetime best by a full two seconds. Deep Impact, a 5-year-old gelded son of Donato Hanover—Glide Power, paid $16.60 to win as the third choice in the wagering. Opulent Yankee held second with Filled Donut finishing third.

The second and final $15,000 division brought more bad news for "Team Orange Crush", as the Miller's Sutton, back at the races after 17 months on the sidelines, was never in the hunt as the 3-5 public choice. The 2016 Hambletonian third-place finisher went off stride at three-quarters and finished last in the field of seven.

The surprise winner was 11-1 chance Elysium Lindy ($24.60 to win) for driver Andrew McCarthy and trainer Ron Burke. The 5-year-old gelded son of Cantab Hall—Olympic Lindy made every call a winning one, prevailing by 1¼ lengths over Royal Becca J in a lifetime-best equaling 1:53.3. Perseverance was third.

A LITTLE MORE: The two losing favorites in the Shiaway St. Pat helped two of the track's popular wagers result in handsome payoffs. The 50-Cent Pick-5 (Races 2 through 6) returned $3,063 while the 20-Cent Survivor Pick 10 resulted in a single winner cashing in for $20,076 for surviving six legs… The Late 20-Cent Jackpot Super High-Five failed to result in a single-ticket winner, upping the carryover to $177,515… All-source wagering totaled $2,091,835… Racing resumes at the Big M Saturday at 7:15 p.m.

Others in Matchmaker spotlight as leaders take week off

by Frank Drucker / Yonkers Raceway

With series starlets Shartin N, Twinkle and defending champ Mackenzie A getting the week off, Yonkers Raceway Friday night (April 6) presented the fourth round of the Blue Chip Matchmaker.

Three, $40,000 events again brought together many of the best pacing mares, all of whom were thrilled the three queens abdicated this time around. Thus, some previous understudies stepped to the fore.

Scandalicious wins 1st division

Darragh Riordan

With a last-second surge, Scandalicious (5, Tim Tetrick) nosed out Miss Irish Rose A (5) in 1:53.4 to win the first of three Matchmaker divisions Friday at Yonkers.

A compact quintet (after a defection) saw a last-to-first late lunge by Scandalicious (Tim Tetrick, $16.80) in 1:53.4.

From post position No. 4 (in one notch), Scandalicious was content to watch Eclipse Me N (Dan Dube) throw it down (:26.4, :56). Miss Irish Rose A (Larry Stalbaum) left into the pocket, while 9-10 favorite Lady Shadow (Jason Bartlett) was away fourth.

Lady Shadow was out toward the 1:24.3 three-quarters, needing some first-up reminders. Eclipse Me N maintained a length-and-a-half lead into the lane, but her rivals were about to conduct an intervention.

Scandalicious, who didn't leave the cones until past the three-quarters, paced over her four foes, snapping Miss Irish Rose A by a nose. Lady Shadow, though never a threat to win, did continue to grab third, beaten a length-and-a-quarter. Eclipse Me N faded to fourth.

For third choice Scandalicious, a 7-year-old daughter of American Ideal—The Company Store owned by JFE Enterprises and trained by Scott DiDomenico, it was her first win in 11 seasonal starts (1-for-4 in series). The exacta paid $87.50, with triple wagering cancelled due to the short field.

Medusa wins 2nd by a head

Medusa (Yannick Gingras, $12.40) was hard-used to make the lead, then just lasted (:27, :56.4, 1:25.2, 1:54) over a surging Clear Idea (Mark MacDonald).

From post five, Medusa found herself shut out of an early seat by polester Dewar N Soda (Tetrick). She then drove past 11-10 fave Call Me Queen Be (Scott Zeron), stealing a self-serving soft second quarter.

Call Me Queen Be pulled pocket before the three-quarters, but was repelled.

Medusa had a length-and-a-half advantage in and out of the final turn, and she'd need it. Clear Idea closed quickly from second-over, missing a head. Call Me Queen Be did save the bottom of the ticket.

For third choice Medusa, a 7-year-old daughter of Bettor's Delight—Mythical co-owned by Keystoners Randy Bendis and Tom Pollack and trained by Ed Hart, it was her first win in six '18 tries (1-for-4 in series). The exacta paid $53, with the triple returning $132.50.

Lakeisha Hall's wins 3rd division, posts 2nd series win

Lakeisha Hall (George Brennan, $5.60) doubled her series pleasure, going the distance (:27.2, :57, 1:25.3, 1:54.1).

From post two, Lakeisha Hall went up and over pole-sitting Motu Moonbeam N (Brent Holland). Safe from Terror (Jordan Stratton), as the 8-5 choice, tried to leave, but was forced to slip in fourth.

Safe from Terror moved again down the backside, only pacing in place before tiring. Meanwhile, Lakeisha Hall opened to a length-and-a-half entering the lane. Motu Moonbeam N edged from the pocket, but never came close to reaching. The margin was a length in a tick faster than the winner's effort a week ago. with Dude'salady (Tetrick) third.

For second choice Lakeisha Hall, a 5-year-old daughter of Three Straight—Latana Hall co-owned (as Burke Racing) by (trainer) Ron Burke, Weaver Bruscemi and Jack Piatt II, she's 2-for-4 this season (and series). The exacta paid $10.80, with the triple returning $65.

Somewhere In L A (Jason Bartlett, shown winning a Levy leg in 2017) now sits atop the 2018 Levy Standings thanks to a win Saturday at Yonkers.

Somewhere In L A takes over top Levy spot

Through leg four of the five-leg series at Yonkers, Saturday night winners Somewhere In L A and Bit Of A Legend N now sit first and second, respectively, in the standings.

by Dave Briggs

The fourth leg of the George Morton Levy Series at Yonkers was split into three $50,000 divisions Saturday as series leaders Dr J Hanover (1st, 225 points) and Western Fame (3rd, 183) took the week off.

1-9 fave Bit Of A Legend N dominates 1st division

In the first division, 1-9 favorite Bit Of A Legend N and Jordan Stratton powered out of the two-hole, took command from Chumlee A (Larry Stalbaum) in the first turn and then eased his way through soft early fractions of :28, and :57.2.

Daniel Dube pulled from third spot with Long Live Rock up the backside the second time around and challenged, but Bit Of A Legend N dispatched him easily through a 1:25.3 third-quarter before sprinting off to a 1 1/4-length win in 1:53.2.

Chumlee A held on for second. Killer Martini and Jason Bartlett snuck up to grab the third check, Long Live Rock was fourth and Change Stride N driven by Yannick Gingras was the last horse in the money.

With the win, Bit Of A Legend upped his series point total to 237 to place him second in the standings. The $25,000 payday also put his career earnings at $1,978,856, just $21,114 shy of $2 million for owner Vonknoblauch Stable LLC of Hampton Bays, NY and trainer Peter Tritton.

Bit Of A Legend N, a son of Bettors Delight out of Sokys Legend, won the 2016 Levy final and had a win in leg one of this year's series.

Somewhere In L A leaps into top spot

Joe Bongornio blasted 95-1 shot Evenin Of Pleasure out of the eight-hole to the lead in the second Levy division, but 6-5 favorite Somewhere In L A and Bartlett, starting from the rail, wrestled back command of the race before the :25.4 quarter-mile station with Evenin Of Pleasure settling into the pocket.

Bartlett slowed things down from there with a :29.4 second quarter, cruised through the 1:25 third-quarter and on to a two-length win over a surprisingly-tough Evenin Of Pleasure in 1:53.

Christen Me N (Stratton) was third. Rodeo Rock (Eric Goodell) was fourth and second choice Rockin Ron, who was second in the standings entering the night, held on to finish fifth and earn five points despite it clearly not being his night.

Somewhere In L A is a 7-year-old son of Somebeachsomewhere out of West Of L A owned by D'Elegance Stable IX of Florham Park, NJ, Carmen Iannacone of Lyndhurst, NJ, T L P Stable of Kearny, NJ and The Gandolfo Stables of Saddle River, NJ. The gelded pacer is trained by Richard Banca.

Somewhere In L A has earned $95,000 this year with a record of 4-2-0 in 6 starts. He is a winner of $1,418,906 lifetime in 118 starts, 34 of those victories. After second-place finishes in both of the first two Levy legs and wins in his last two, the pacer now ranks first with 250 points, just ahead of Bit Of A Legend N.

Mach It So takes final division

In the final Levy division of the night, David Miller piloted 9-5 favorite Mach It So to a one-length victory in 1:53.1, a seasonal mark for the 8-year-old son of Mach it So out of Beach Dancer.

Keystone Velocity (Dube) was the early leader out of the five hole, with Mach It So on his heels through the :27 opening quarter.

Miller guided Mach It So to the lead before the :56.4 half and held on through the 1:24.3 third-quarter and on to victory.

Keystone Velocity was second, followed by Bettor Memories (Tetrick), Mac's Jackpot (Scott Zeron) and Simply Susational N (Stalbaum).

With the victory, Mach It So improved to 2-0-1 in four 2018 starts for Bamond Racing LLC of Brick, NJ and trainer Jeff Bamond, Jr and vaulted past $2.5 million in career earnings.

The 75 Levy points Mach It So earned on the night (50 for the win, 25 for the start) put him in fifth spot overall with 212 points, just behind Dr J Hanover who won each of his first three Levy tests and took week four off.

Memorable final Saturday at Woodbine as Mayotte wins

The final Saturday night card of harness racing at Woodbine Racetrack was a great night for reflecting and celebrating 24 years of standardbred action at the Toronto oval.

The 10-race card saw a pair of fitting results and the all-time leading driver and trainer in track history recognized.

One of the coolest moments in 24 years of harness racing at Woodbine occurred Saturday when Roger Mayotte won his final drive at the Toronto track more than 24 years after winning the first harness race in Woodbine history.

Sitting behind the gritty veteran pacer Machal Jordan, Mayotte showed patience in steering 3-5 favourite Machal Jordan to a stretch rallying victory in the $15,000 fourth-race.

Machal Jordan was Mayotte's lone drive on Saturday's card and his final drive in a harness race at Woodbine. The victory was fitting for Mayotte, as he won the first-race on January 1, 1994 with then four-year-old pacer Boastful.

Regarded as one of the most respected horsepeople to race at Woodbine, Mayotte will go down as one of only a few drivers to win races in all 24 years of racing.

A pair of Mayotte's most notable victories at Woodbine came behind the fan-favorite pacer Escape The Wind in the 2005 and 2007 Gold Cup. Mayotte also won the first Maple Leaf Trot at Woodbine in 1994 with Earl.

Woodbine Entertainment took time Saturday to recognize the driver and trainer with the most wins in the history of the track.

New Image Media

Kevin McMaster and Randy Waples were honored Saturday as the winningest harness trainer and driver, respectively, in the history of Woodbine Racetrack.

Roger Mayotte won his final race at Woodbine Racetrack Saturday (driving Machal Jordan to victory) 24 years after he won the first harness race ever held at the Toronto track. Monday is the last harness card at the oval before racing moves to Mohawk full-time.

Randy Waples will go down as the winningest reinsman in Woodbine history with 2,605 wins, while Kevin McMaster is the all-time leading trainer having sent out 1,009 winners.

The all-time leaders were presented with watches for their accomplishment in a special winner's circle presentation.

Reflecting on his success, Waples pointed to a brief period early in his career that saw him gain experience on a big track ahead of his days as a top reinsman at Woodbine.

"I kind of lucked out because my dad (Ron Waples) sent me to Minnesota for three months and that was a mile track," Waples recalled. "I kind of got my feet wet on the big track, so by the time I came here I kind of had a bit of an idea of the way to do it.

"Seven-eighths of a mile, big track racing for whatever reason it really suited me and my style and I got lucky."

McMaster, who started his career in his home province of Nova Scotia, noted he never dreamed his career would lead him to being the winningest trainer in Woodbine history.

"When I first came up here I thought I just wanted to make a living," McMaster said following Saturday's presentation. "If I could work for somebody and have three horses on the side that was my goal and great for me it turned out this way."

Saturday's card also featured the final edition of the $34,000 preferred pace at Woodbine.

Bill Budd trainee Nirvana Seelster and driver Trevor Henry captured their second consecutive Preferred with a coast to coast 1:51.2 score. The seven-year-old gelding has been outstanding in 2018, now winning four of his last five starts and having won five of 11 overall.

'Nirvana', who has hit the board in 10 of 12 this season, has quickly banked $117,320 in 2018 to bring his career earnings to $929,914 for owner Bruce Davy. Saturday's score was the 37th lifetime win for the gelded son of Camluck.

A connection between Nirvana Seelster and the first-card of live harness racing at Woodbine (January 1, 1994) can be found in trainer Budd, who raced trotter G G Alex on the debut card more than 24 years ago. The then six-year-old trotter finished second on that New Year's afternoon for Budd.

It wouldn't have been a Saturday night at Woodbine in 2018 without big performances from leading driver Louis Philippe Roy and leading trainer Richard Moreau.

Roy and Moreau teamed up to win four of Saturday's 10-races. The victories came with eight-year-old trotter Pop I ($5.50), seven-year-old claiming trotter Class Me Nice ($5.80), nine-year-old trotter Hldontghttoyurdrms ($6.90) and four-year-old pacer Modern Reflection ($2.20)

The final harness racing card in Woodbine Racetrack history will take place Monday evening. Post time for the 10-race card is 7:10 p.m.

Pacing colts take the Bobby Weiss spotlight

The pacing males saw their first action in the Bobby Weiss Series on Saturday night at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono, contesting three $15,000 divisions of the first preliminary round.

Fastest of the trio of winners was the So Surreal gelding I Soar Him First, taking a new mark of 1:52 in his second start for owner/trainer Gilbert Garcia-Herrera. George Napolitano Jr. pointed I Soar Him First right to the top, and indeed the sophomore was first at every call, with a back half of 55.4.

Also earning a lifetime speed badge was the Roll With Joe four-year-old stallion Goose Mountain, whom Simon Allard brought under the wire first in 1:52.2 while overcoming a tough two-move trip. James Healey owns and trains the developing pacer.

The only one of the Weiss winning trio who did not take a new mark was the Rock N Roll Heaven colt Heavenly Sound – largely because he was coming off a 1:50.4 triumph at The Meadowlands. Saturday's win at Pocono gave him two straight, with Tom Jackson moving him to the lead in front of the stands, and the colt also stepping home in 55.4, last quarter 27.2, to get the job done in 1:52.2 for trainer Bruce Saunders and M&M Harness Racing LLC.

Curtis Salonick

I Soar Him First (George Napolitano, Jr.) set a new lifetime mark of 1:52 while winning the first of three Bobby Weiss divisions Saturday at Pocono for pacing colts.

An excellent $25,000 winners-over pace saw the Mach Three gelding Awesomeness ride the pocket and then the Pocono Pike to paydirt, taking his second straight and fourth in his last six starts, in 1:50.4. Driver Jim Morrill Jr. saw no reason to argue with success, having used the two-hole trip and inside stretch route as a path to Victory Lane last Saturday, and then repeated the feat this week with Awesomeness for trainer Brett Pelling and owner Martin Scharf.

His Excellence upsets in opening leg of Tom Kirwan Memorial

Shuffled to fifth and with no racing room in sight, His Excellence found a path to victory deep in the Lighting Lane and pulled off a 9-1 upset in Saturday's $15,000 opening leg of the Tom Kirwan Memorial Pace at The Meadows. The series for 3-year-old colts and geldings honors the memory of Tom Kirwan, who began his career as a trainer/driver at The Meadows and later served for many years as the track's stall superintendent.

Using Lasix for the first time, His Excellence was away third but never saw daylight until Aaron Merriman pointed him to the passing lane. He blew by the 1-5 favorite, Daddyofemall, and scored in 1:55.4 over a "good" surface. The pocket-sitting Antagonist also rallied inside for second, a neck back, while the previously undefeated Daddyofemall saved show.

Randy Bendis trains His Excellence, a Well Said-So Ravishing gelding, and owns with Tom Pollack, Reed

Broadway and Mike Novosel, Jr.

Speaking of owners Bendis and Pollack, they also took the $20,000 Preferred Pace when the Bendis-trained A Real Miracle used a second-over trip to score in 1:51.1 at a handsome 14-1. Ronnie Wrenn, Jr. piloted the 8-year-old son of Real Desire-I Need A Miracle, who extended his career bankroll to $324,233.

Dave Palone and Merriman each collected three wins on the 12-race card.

Mossbarger Memorial goes to Won For Gigi

Won For Gigi rallied from sixth in the early going to capture the $25,000 championship of the Dr. Don Mossbarger Memorial Series on Friday night (April 6) at Miami Valley Raceway.

Driver Dan Noble unleashed a wicked three-wide brush at the halfway point of the race and pulled even with pacesetter and runnerup Desire One (Chris Page) at the top of the stretch.

With all the momentum, Won For Gigi cruised home a 3-1/2 length winner in 1:53.4 over the rain dampened surface listed as good. Rockin Hot Lady (Trevor Smith) rode the pylons to a third place finish.

Joe Seekman trains the winning 4-year-old daughter of Santanna Blue Chip—Docs Lioness for his wife Tina and her partner L&L Devisser LLC. Won For Gigi's lifetime bankroll soared past the $100,000 plateau with the triumph.

The series, for pacing mares who started the event without six pari-mutuel wins or $60,000, honors the memory of Dr. Don Mossbarger, a pillar in Ohio harness racing for many decades — primarily as the founder and patriarch of Midland Acres.

With the weather worsening, the $25,000 mares open pace two races later resulted in a 12-1 upset by Colorful Sky (Aaron Merriman), who just edged 25-1 Dalianna (Randy Tharps) in 1:55.3. Zoe Ellasen (Tyler Smith), who set all the early fractions, held for third.

Nicole Stewart conditions the 6-year-old daughter of Skydancer Hanover for owner Grant Wilfong. It was the 20th win for Colorful Sky in just under 100 starts, boosting her career bounty to $165,727. Her backers got $27.80 for a $2 bet, while the exacta kicked back a whopping $520.20.

NJSS sustaining payments due April 16

The deadline for the New Jersey Sire Stakes and Standardbred Development Fund's final sustaining payments is approaching on April 16. Normally the deadline would be on the 15th of the month but since that date falls on a Sunday this year, the deadline is extended to Monday, April 16.

The NJSS Premier Division's second sustaining payment remains $500 for both two-year-olds and three-year-olds. The Standardbred Development Fund second sustaining payment for both two-year-olds and three-year-olds continues at $150.

Sustaining payment and supplemental nomination forms, as well as race dates and other information, may be found on the NJSS website at www.newjerseysirestakes.com.

All payments must be in U. S. funds. No late payments will be accepted and no billing notices will be mailed. Certified mail is strongly recommended to NJSS, P.O. Box 330, Trenton, NJ 08625.

ARCI conference hears how racing must embrace technology

Horse racing must make better use of technology to create new betting products and experiences or it will be left behind other sports and entertainment industries.

That was the message of Friday's technology session on closing day of the Association of Racing Commissioners International's 84th annual Conference on Equine Welfare and Racing Integrity at the Hotel Hot Springs in Arkansas.

Panelists said that the likelihood of widespread sports betting, which is based on fixed odds in contrast to horse racing's pari-mutuel structure, provides a pathway to innovation.

Moderator J. Curtis Linnell, the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau's executive vice president, said all entities involved in racing should work toward increased participation in horse racing through betting.

"Betting is the juncture in which the marketplace comes to horse racing," he said. "That is where participation by the customer happens."

Sean Pinsonneault, an industry consultant and previously executive vice president of strategy and wagering for Woodbine Entertainment Group, said racing's big days and the creation of "jackpot" wagers in recent years are ways the sport has created excitement.

"There are lot of positives that come from this industry, but it's changing the way we do things," he said.

Pinsonneault used as an example offering a partial cash-out option on multi-race wagers, where the bettor who remains alive in the wager has the option to get partial payment or bring in partners who buy part of the bet for the remaining legs. Pinsonneault said that is being done in the United Kingdom, which has resulted in a 30-percent boost to pool income and with 80 percent of the cash-outs being partial. He said the bet increases spending and retention of customers, modernizes the multi-race experience and maximizes player engagement. He added that its "Deal or No Deal" concept is ideal for sharing on social media to let people know part of a so-far winning bet is up for sale.

Linnell added that's the technology version of "20 years ago when a long shot won the first race, a guy would be walking around the clubhouse saying 'Who wants to buy half my Daily Double ticket?'"

Pinsonneault also said Australian racing's wagering went from 70 per cent via its pari-mutuel system and 30 percent fixed-odds wagering to 32 percent pari-mutuel and 68 percent fixed odds through corporate bookmakers — a change that has seen the betting on horses increase 38 percent in 10 years.

"As an aside, when Winx was making her 18th or 28th start trying to set the world record for consecutive wins, everybody knew she was going to win," he said about Australia's great racemare who has won 23 straight races. "Some of the corporate bookmakers offered fix odds on lengths of win. There was a tremendous amount of action on that horse, rather than just offering a win bet that was going to pay 5 cents on the dollar. That shows you innovation in a fixed-odds environment."

The panel also suggested studying innovation in other highly regulated industries, such as the financial sector's addition of derivatives that resulted in an explosion in investment. Linnell encouraged experimentation in the pursuit of the home-run idea and emphasized the need for increasing the speed from innovation to implementation.

Linnell said the TRPB, racetracks' investigatory body which oversees a wide range of integrity issues, stands ready to help regulators creating new betting-product models that comply with their rules and laws are legal, accountable, audit-able and fair to the betting public.

"We're going to find a jurisdiction in North America that is innovative and wants to challenge the status quo," he said. "It's just a matter of time. Hopefully we can find that sooner rather than later, and we can bring some of these innovations to the customers of horse racing. And that's more money flowing back to the industry."

Ed Martin, ARCI's president and CEO, said the likely expansion of sports betting will pave the way for racing to use fixed odds in addition to the pari-mutuel model.

"I think it's incumbent on every racing commission to have your general counsel look at any bills going through your legislature to make sure that they are broad enough, that you aren't restricted in language in regards to wagering on horse racing, that it has to be pari-mutuel," he said. "In some states it's constitutional; in other states it's a statute. You might give serious thought to slipping something in a bill that's going through the legislature to give you maximum flexibility. It's not only the racing's commissions' responsibility, it's the responsibility of the tracks, the horsemen, the breed registries and everybody involved.

"This sport is in a highly competitive environment. We can be sitting here talking about pari-mutuel wagering 10 years from now. But you just saw these statistics about fixed-odds wagering and where the market is taking wagering. You talk about bets going offshore because we cannot offer these opportunities domestically because we as an industry have not done what we needed to do to adopt to the technology coming forward. This is about the survival and competitive position of an industry. We can debate Lasix for five more years. But if we don't debate this stuff, we'll be debating Lasix in front of an empty grandstand."

Changes to ARCI's model rules:

One of ARCI's most important missions is to research, develop and approve rules and regulations that can a blueprint for racing jurisdictions to adopt. Among the changes approved by the ARCI board after being recommended by its model rules committee:

The concussion protocol for jockeys was amended to require that at least one of the previously-required medical professionals on site must be adequately trained in diagnosing concussions. The new rule also mandates establishment of guidelines for clearing jockeys to ride after sustaining a concussion.

The scale of weights that jockeys carry in quarter-horse races was moved up four pounds in each age class (now 124 pounds for 2-year-olds, 126 for 3-year-olds and 124-128 for older horses).

The addition of recommended best practices in the case of lighting during the races, which proved fortuitous with Thursday's overnight and Friday morning's thunderstorms in Hot Springs. The model-rules committee looked at other sports to see how they handled lightning, landing on a version of the NCAA lightning protocols.

Maryland's Hopkins new ARCI chair

Mike Hopkins, the longtime executive director of the Maryland Racing Commission, was sworn in Thursday as ARCI's new chair, following Washington State Racing Commission's Jeff Colliton. ARCI chairs serve one-year terms. Dr. Corrine Sweeney, a noted equine researcher and member of the Pennsylvania Horse Racing Commission, became chair-elect after holding the post of treasurer.

Marc Guilfoil, executive director of the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission, was voted recipient of the Len Foote Award in recognition of exemplary service and contribution to racing integrity by a commission executive director as chosen by his/her peers.

"There are a lot of smart people in this room, and I'm not one of them," Guilfoil said. "But my daddy taught me a long time ago that common sense goes a long way in life. We can never have enough common sense in horse racing."

Something fishy in Saturday's 1st race at Yonkers?

Apparently some of the racetracks didn't get the memo about integrity. I would be interested in what Yonkers has to say about its first race Saturday (April 7) payoffs. Any sane person that looks at the odds, payoffs and the two favorites absence at the finish line for this race would smell the stench. We have a $24 win horse, a $18 place horse and a $9 show horse. We also had a 2-5 favorite and a 2-1 second favorite that were nowhere and yet $229 exactor and a $730 trifecta? Come on Yonkers officials. Well, maybe they were out for popcorn.

Kind of make you wonder how well they're overseeing the casino. Looks like an advisory to the NYS Gaming Commission is in order.

— David Perry / Dearborn, MI

More from Perry: Listen to the customer

Sometimes you gotta wonder where the common sense has gone to in harness racing. So what's the number one thing you need in the racing business or for any successful business for that matter? Is it horses, a racetrack, a good location? Nope, it's customers with money to spend. You think not, tell me you haven't seen camel, ostrich, winner dog, greyhounds, turtle and rabbit (Okay, maybe not rabbit) racing. So if conditions are right, people will bet their money.

A wise man would listen to the customer and try to incorporate those things the customer defines as what they need — thus a win-win situation is formed. Now compare that scenario to the harness racing business which is completely reversed and where the racetrack sets the conditions and the customer gets no sayso. Handles plummet, track attendance declines at 8-10 per cent a year and the poor little racetrack cannot understand what is happening to their business and where the younger bettors are going which they assumed would replace the older customers. Knock knock harness racing the business has changed and you have not. For the last decade and a half the customers have been giving the tracks feedback but it has fallen on deaf ears. So is harness racing destined to go the way of the dinosaurs? It appears to me that the tracks have hired marketing departments that have a 1975 mentality — do as little as possible and keep more of their customer's money.

About 4 years ago I sent a letter to Yonkers and suggested two things, move the finish line camera TO THE FINISH LINE instead of 25 feet before it, thus causing the customer to have to guess at who finished first. The second thing was provide the finish in slo-motion and put a finish line marker in the background so as to insure integrity. Four years later and still only a portion of the requests are answered. Here's a tip for you Yonkers and many other of the racetracks for that matter: The answer as to what the customers need in the way of change isn't in the Marketing office or the Director of Racing's office, it resides with the customer! There is little time if any, to give up the stubbornness and get sand out of your ears and LISTEN TO THE CUSTOMER. Yonkers here's a news flash: make significant changes now or start looking for a property buyer because once the casino license is approved across the river, customers will remember who fought for them and listened to them.

In closing, I'll say one last thing about today's racing customer, there's a multitude of other exciting options for them to choose and in our minds most racetracks are lumped together. Therefore, if they are turned off by one track, they are turned off to all. So if you think things that happen at one track — say a 4-minute wait for the race to go off and all the time the clock is at zero — doesn't affect all tracks in bettors' minds, think again. What you are hearing here is that the tracks need to police their own.

— David Perry / Dearborn, MI

Yonkers needs to open Empire Terrace for every card

It's great to see that Yonkers has had a resurgence in its betting handle with a number of race pools hovering around or about $100,000 and nightly handle in the million-dollar range. I congratulate the horseman and management for all they have done to make this possible. However, if Yonkers wants to again become a true leader in this sport it needs to cater to all fans and not just off track and simulcast betting outlets. With such great races coming this spring, summer and fall the Empire Terrace restaurant needs to reopen on all race nights so that owners and patrons can watch the horses with friends and family and have a true on track experience. Saturdays alone are not enough.

There is great NYSS and overnights during the week throughout the meet. Every other major track provides an in-dining experience where you can watch the races on a nightly basis. Whether it be a limited menu, buffet or snacks Yonkers needs at the very least to reopen the bar area again and ride the momentum of their handle resurgence. You can't get the owners and fans excited about coming back to the track again on just one possible day a week. Every other major track provides a consistent in dining experience where an owner or fan can watch the races with family and friends in comfort. It's time for Yonkers to gain traction from this momentum and do the same.
