Palone on possible elimination of the "Lightning Lane" at The Meadows

The sport's all-time winningest driver muses about life at his home track should they follow through with purging the passing lane.

by Brett Sturman

On the heels of the elimination of the passing lane at Yonkers Raceway more than a year ago, there have been rumblings that the elimination of passing lanes at the Pennsylvania harness tracks may not be far behind.

Following on cue, it was reported two weeks ago that The Meadows harness track in western Pennsylvania would be proceeding with the elimination of their passing lane, or it's more famed name, the "Lighting Lane" as has been dubbed by long-time track announcer Roger Huston. The plan was for the passing lane to be removed during this time period in the final week of April where the track would be dark. However, the passing lane is still intact.

Mark Loewe, vice-president of racing for Penn National Gaming at The Meadows provided clarification on the subject. After receiving an initial go-ahead, a subsequent determination was made that the decision to remove the passing lane should be deferred back to the entire racing commission.

"The executive director of the PA Racing Commission felt Stakes season is underway... and Brittany-bred racehorses have already rocketed to the top. Western Fame's Levy win lifted him to 19th place on the list of 38 millionaires bred by Brittany Farms, which ended the 2018 season as the #1 breeder in average earnings per starter, at more than $50,000 per horse. With 3YOs now starting back and our best-ever group of 2YOs on the way, those numbers could soon go out of orbit!

like it needed to be addressed by the entire commission board, so the decision has been delayed until the matter can be brought before the PA Racing Commission on Tuesday April 30 in a meeting to be held at 1 pm," Loewe said.

Presumably, the decision to at least temporarily delay the elimination of the passing lane had to do with factors that warranted further discussions. For instance, owners have already paid into stakes races at the track based on the existence of a passing lane.

It's seems clear that track and other industry executives are becoming aligned in the belief that elimination of passing lanes will help improve the flow of the races. In addition to decisions made at Yonkers and what seems like an eventual outcome at The Meadows, Hambletonian Society president and CEO John Campbell has made suggestions to people in PA within the past two years that racing has become too predictable with passing lanes and that they should be eliminated.

Closing in on 19,000 wins in his career with over $142 million in purses earned, Hall-of-Fame driver Dave Palone is the perennial leading driver at The Meadows. In offering his expertise on the subject, Palone was largely indifferent as to how the potential change at The Meadows could affect him personally. "I have no opinion one way or the other, but I think that the trainers and gamblers would be mixed on this," said Palone. "I think we put in passing lanes for the benefit of the gamblers, no one wants to see their horse locked in and not get a chance. So, I understand what they're doing as far as taking the passing lane out to get the racing to be a little livelier, but I also see it from the standpoint of the trainers where it's going to make us race these horses a lot

Dave Landry

Dave Palone said the possible elimination of the passing lane at The Meadows isn't likely to impact him much because he, generally, avoids using it.

harder than we're already racing them.

"We're asking them to race 40 starts a year now, so it's stretching a lot to ask a horse to race that much as it is and then have to race them harder and more aggressive than we already drive them now. I don't know if it's going to be counterproductive that way or not, but I'm up for whatever they do."

For someone who has won as many thousands of races at a single track such Palone has done at The Meadows, I wondered how a change in track configuration could alter his successful style of racing,

"It's going to really change things too much (as far as strategy). I might have a little change in strategy where you can maybe try to put a guy in a bad spot that you're trying to beat if there's no passing lane. But at this point in the game, everyone knows that it doesn't take a rocket scientist to know that you have to be up close and in the hunt... I think you'll get some guys that are going to maybe move prematurely or earlier and get out of 2-holes if they don't trust the horse that they're following, kind of like at Delaware."

Part of Palone's indifference to the passing lane at The Meadows is that it's not a necessity for him as racing stands today.

"If I can avoid it, I stay out of going left. I'm not a passing lane guy," said Palone. "Plus, at The Meadows we have a late passing lane where we don't get started with the passing lane until inside the eighth pole and it's really hard to get a horse charged up to go left at that point. So, if I've got pace, I'm looking to escape a lot earlier than late in the passing lane.

"It might be interesting to see if they opened up the passing lane to the top of the stretch and see how that would change things, but I really don't care how they do it. I'm not a passing lane guy anyway and I'm never looking to put myself in a spot to think that I need to go left to win this race. If I have to I will, but it's not my forte, that's for sure."

Anthony MacDonald (with White Tiger at the Meadowlands on Hambletonian Day 2018) has multiple injuries from a qualifying accident Thursday at Mohawk.

MacDonald, McClure and Hudon injured in Mohawk qualifier accident

TheStable.ca's Anthony MacDonald suffered multiple injuries including a broken wrist, elbow and ribs. Bob McClure, a finalist for Canada's 2018 Driver of the Year award has a broken pelvis and Phil Hudon has a broken foot.

by Mark McKelvie / Woodbine communications

Drivers Phil Hudon, Anthony MacDonald and Bob McClure were all taken to hospital following an accident during Thursday morning's fourth-qualifier at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

The accident occurred in the second-quarter of the race when pacer Excaliber Seelster and driver Louis Philippe Roy stepped on the wheel of driver Paul MacDonell, who was sitting in the two-hole with Prestige Seelster. Excaliber Seelster broke stride from stepping on the wheel, which caused a chain-reaction.

American Risk and McClure were trailing Excaliber Seelster and fell to the track. Hudon, driving The First Step, and MacDonald, driving Sunshines Finest, couldn't avoid the fallen horse and were both tossed from their sulkies to the track.

Paramedics were quickly on the scene and transported McClure and MacDonald by ambulance to a local hospital. Hudon also went to hospital to be examined.

All three drivers took to social media Thursday afternoon to provide updates on their injuries.

MacDonald posted on Facebook that he suffered a broken wrist, broken elbow, broken ribs and a small collapsed lung.

Bob McClure suffered a broken pelvis in the accident.

McClure also posted on Facebook, noting he broke his pelvis in the accident, but will not require surgery.

Hudon shared on Twitter that he suffered a broken left foot.

All three horses were caught following the incident after being loose on the track.

Sunshines Finest, who is trained by Harry Poulton, was transported to the University of Guelph for examination. TheStable.ca posted that the 3-year-old pacer did not suffer any fractures or breaks and will make a full recovery.

American Risk and The First Step came out of the incident without serious injuries.

Harness Racing Update and Woodbine Entertainment extends best wishes to Hudon, MacDonald, McClure and the connections of Sunshines Finest for a speedy and healthy recovery.

Murray Brown retires from Hanover Shoe Farms

The double Hall of Famer worked at the famed Pennsylvania farm for nearly 52 years.

After almost 52 years of working for Hanover Shoe Farms, Murray Brown has retired from the company.

"It has been a great life's journey for me. I look forward to the rest of my years enjoying life and spending whatever time I have left with my wife Carol and our wonderful families. If opportunity presents itself to indulge in my life-long passion for harness racing, I will certainly make room for it."

Murray began working for Hanover in April of 1967.

At that time, and for the ensuing 52 years, Brown says that it was a "dream come true. Working for Hanover Shoe Farms was and is the apex of the profession. There are kids who dream of playing baseball for the New York Yankees or hockey for the Montreal Canadiens. Ever since I became involved in the great sport of harness racing, my dream was to somehow be associated with Hanover, the greatest name in harness racing."

Brown retires as the longest tenured employee in the farm's 93-year history.

In the midst of his time at the farm, Brown became the General Manager and a Vice President of Standardbred Horse Sales Company, the largest and most successful sales company in all of harness racing. He remained in that position for 37 years.

Brown says, "Hanover was my love and my passion. Standardbred Horse Sales Company was work — very hard work."

Murray Brown was hired by the farm's co-founder Lawrence B Sheppard and worked through the regimes of John Simpson, Paul E Spears, Jim Simpson and now Russell Williams.

"All of them constituted a great part of my life and I am thankful for all the kindnesses shown to me. I would be remiss in not mentioning the great group of people and great horsepeople with whom I have been privileged to work with through that time including, but far from limited to Dr. Bridgette Jablonsky, Dr. Peter Boyce, Dr. Garner Greenhoff, Ralph Lemmon, Dale Welk, Kenny Hamm and my ultra-loyal, long-term assistant Vivian Jewitt."

Dave Landry

Murray Brown (right, with Jim Simpson at the Hall of Fame induction ceremonies in Goshen, NY in 2018) has retired after nearly 52 years at Hanover Shoe Farms.

During his tenure, Murray Brown became a member of the sport's two leading Halls of Fame.

In 2003, he was inducted into the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame and in 2009, he was enshrined into the Communicators Corners of the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in Goshen, NY.

Murray Brown's official title was Public Relations Director, but he did more — much more. For almost all of his time there, he handled all of the farm's advertising, advised on broodmare purchases, assisted on stallion syndications, sat on the farm's Board of Directors, sat in and contributed at the annual meeting which determined which stallions all of the Farms, now almost 400 mares were to be bred in the ensuing year.

Murray Brown was a fixture at most of the sport's greatest races and events including international races in Canada, France, Ireland, Italy and Sweden, usually wearing some form of the farm's familiar orange and blue colors.

Brown says he has no pressing immediate plans for the future, other than spending more time with his and Carol's family and their grandchildren and to keep his toe dipped in the great sport in which he has been involved all of his working life.

Pokal finals setting up to be special

by Thomas Hedlund

Åby racetrack in Sweden had an impressive race card on Thursday evening. Eliminations for two divisions of Pokal-races ($245,000) were held for the 4-year-olds and the finals are setting up to be something special.

Attraversiamo (Kiss Francais), trained by Svante Båth and driven by Erik Adielsson, had to fight hard to reach the lead in his elimination, but when in front, Attraversiamo controlled the field and sprinted to an easy win in a mile rate of 1:56.4 over 1.3 miles.

Stefan Melander's Evaluate (Andover Hall) is unbeaten after three starts in Sweden. Örjan Kihlström hit the lead after 500 meters and Evaluate looked perfect when he came home in a 1:57.2 win.

Muscle Hill produces stars in Europe and one of the most interesting 4-year-olds in Sweden is named Campo Bahia, trained by Conrad Lugauer.

A starting position in the second tier didn't stop Campo Bahia in his elimination and Lugauer disarmed leader Zephyr Kronos with 300 meters to go and won without struggle in a mile rate of 1:56.1.

The final contains three extraordinary elimination winners and the hunt for $122,500 will take place at Åby on May 11.

In the first elimination for the mares, Conrads Rödluva (S.J.'s Caviar) was first choice and Örjan Kihlström left second over after a quarter of a mile, aiming for the lead and the duo could easily take the control of the race soon thereafter. Conrads Rödluva dominated in the crop last year and seems to have developed during the winter. She raced with heavy shoes, no ear plugs and was never challenged in a safe victory in 1:58.3.

Mattias Djuse's Racing Brodda (Prodigious) was served a trip in second over and driver Rikard N Skoglund had trust in his horse when he attacked in the last turn. Racing Brodde passed her opponents and had control in the home stretch. The mile rate was 1:57.2.

The last elimination for the mares was the most open one in advance and there was a big upset as Zeta Wise As (Maharajah) used open stretch to disarm leader Felicity Shagwell shortly before the wire. Fredrik Linder trains Stall Courant's trotter and Kevin Oscarsson drove the mare to a 1:59.1 victory.

New names for Elitloppet

Jean-Michel Bazire-trained Looking Superb (Orlando Vici) won last week's Prix de l'Atlantique ($205,000) in impressive style after a third over trip in the 1.3 miles long race at Enghien racetrack, Paris, France.

Bazire has already Aubrion du Gers set for the Elitloppet and got another invitation from Solvalla after Prix de l'Atlantique. It seems like Bazire will accept the invitation and the Norwegian owner has declared that he is more than happy to come to Sweden with the Prix d'Amérique runner up this year.

The mile rate was 1:53.3 and Uza Josselyn finished second in 1:54.1. Uza Josselyn also got an invitation for Elitloppet and the entourage around the horse have accepted.

Bold Eagle should have raced in the Prix de l'Atlantique, but was scratched.

Sébastien Guarato's 4-year-old champion Face Time Bourbon (Ready Cash) was the first choice when Prix Gaston Brunet ($125,000) was held at Enghien last Saturday, but an early break nearly cost him the victory. Björn Goop drove the son of Ready Cash and the duo eventually found second over, a position good enough for sprinting to easy win in mile rate 1:58.1 over 1.7 miles.

Looking Superb replay.

The field is set for Olympiatravet

The field for Saturday's $320,000 Olympiatravet at Åby racetrack in Sweden is set and the last qualification race was held at Romme racetrack last Sunday. Petri Salmelas Makethemark (Maharajah) made his first start of this season and from post number one behind the gate, driver Ulf Ohlsson had to deal with the fact that he was locked inside until a half mile to go when an opponent made a break in second line.

Makethemark got out and could follow first over trotter Sorbet before the attack was made in the last turn. Sorbet and Makethemark fought crowd-pleasingly at the home stretch and photo was necessary before Makethemark was announced winner in mile rate 1:54.4 over 1.3 miles.

Trainer Petri Salmela decided not to enter the final of Olympiatravet and the last ticket went to Handsome Brad.

Elitloppet winner in great comeback

Jerry Riordan's Elitloppet winner from 2018, Ringostarr Treb (Classic Photo) made his first start since The Invitational Trot at Yonkers in October last year on Monday, April 22. And the 9-year-old champion showed that he wants to race another season. Wim Paal sent the trotter to the lead in a mile race and Ringostarr Treb easily sprinted to safe win in 1:53.1.

At Solvalla on Wednesday, April 24, Heavy Sound (Ken Warkentin) was spectacular winning The Onions race in a season best mile in Sweden. Kenneth Haugstad didn't have to push the 7-year-old gelding at all to come home in 1:52 from the lead.

Perfect Spirit in easy win

Hambletonian winner Perfect Spirit (Andover Hall) was the heavy favourite in Prins Carl Philips Jubileumspokal ($53,500) over the mile at Färjestad racetrack on April 19.

Örjan Kihlström drove the Daniel Redén-trained 5-year-old and the duo hit the lead at an early stage of the race. From that position Perfect Spirit never got challenged and he cruised to a comfortable victory in 1:52.4.

Perfect Spirit will enter the Oslo Grand Prix in Norway in mid-June.

Chief Mate still rules my list of 2-year-olds

A final major training session this week at Sunshine Meadows confirmed what I already believed — that Chief Mate is the toast of the class.

by Ron Gurfein

(Editor's note: Ask the Guru will return next week)

My Sunday version of View from The Deck was conspicuously missing because whatever big guns were left in Florida had decided, because of the constant rains, to put off training till this week.

It was worth the wait. Lots of future champions were on parade. Although there were many to love I leave you with one horse that remains at the top of my list after all is said and done.

Chief Mate (c Captaintreacherous—Heaven Forbid) is my pick of the season. He trained his final mile in 2:04 with Tony Alagna once more in the bike. He was followed very closely by Its Showtime (c Captaintreacherous—Uffizi Hanover) and Ideal Perception (c American Ideal—Southwind Siren). Another fast pair of colts also in 2:04 were Choir Master (Mach Three—Ideal Helen) and Captain Barbossa (Captaintreacherous—Swinging Beauty).

Rollinthejoe (c Roll With Joe—Sweet Bonnie), and Force N Fury (c Captaintreacherous—My Little Dragon) (another colt I love) stopped my watch in 2:05 last half in 1:00.

Another quick mile was fashioned by He Refuses To Lose (c Captaintreacherous—Fox Valley Zena) and Reflect With Me (f Captaintreacherous—Remember When), she is a sister to my nice Well Said filly Lucy's Pearl Who was the last horse I owned. Also in the set were: Speak The Peace (f Artspeak—Keep The Peace) and Odds On Hollywood (f Captaintreacherous—Western Graduate) that went a good mile in 2:05.3.

I also spotted some trotting performances of note. Donna Fugata a 3-year old Kadabra homebred owned by HRU columnist Vickie Howard, was trained in 2:01 by Tony all by herself and the top 2-year-old trotter in the barn Confidante (f Father Patrick—Anywhere With You) was timed in 2:05.

From Fred Grant a wonderful pair Test Match (f Andover Hall—Widdershins) and the pride of Walnut Hall, Oxford Hall (c EL Titan—On With The Show) went a good mile in 2:13.

Although Rick and Scott have headed north, Team Zeron showed off a great filly this week, the $120,000 Muscle Hill—Emmylou Who lass named Solsbury Hill that went a mile in 2:20 but came the last quarter in 29 seconds for fun.

Lindy Farms, with Domenico Cecere training, closed out the season in fine fashion.

Kings County and Lindys Crazy Hall went a fast mile in 2:00, last half in :58.

Union Forces and the much improved Refi were timed in 2:00.4. Signor Cardin charged home in 1:59.2 and the quickest of the 3-year-olds was Throw Out The Tab and Magic Joe Lindy in 1:58.3. The former an unrated son of Cantab Hall from Victory Treasure.

Lindy Pearl, American Moni, and Mother Theresa all nice 3-year-old fillies, went a mile in 2:12, a half in 1:03.

Moms Millionaire's filly, as yet unnamed, by the great Muscle Hill, looked awesome stopping the clock in 2:10 last half in 1:02 followed by Do No Lindy (c Donato Hanover—Lindy Land).

Pastor Lindy (c Father Patrick—Lindys Crazy Dolly), Unnamed (c Ready Cash—Highscore Kemp) and Dazzling Lindy (c Crazed—Lindy On The Rocks) went a nice mile in 2:13/1:03.

The Harrisburg yearlings have almost caught up to the Lexington colts and homebreds and some looked very special in the Lindy Barn.

Prefect Hanover (c Father Patrick from the fabulous Passionate Glide) looked like a rocket finishing a mile in 2:17 and She Does Trix (f Trixton—La Riviera Lindy) looked good in 2:19.

Thanks to all the trainers at Sunshine Meadow for being so kind as to answer my annoying questions throughout the entire winter. You were all quite helpful. In closing another winter at Sunshine Meadows, I wish all the connections a very successful 2019, and hope to see you all again next year.

In the Ask the Guru segments I have been asked to list my selection for the top four horses by gait TF, PF, TC, PC, and I will answer that letter sometime before the baby races commence.

The draw for post positions in the Kentucky Derby is too close to my deadline to publish my Derby selections, which hopefully will appear Sunday. If for some reason there is a major change i.e.: my selection drawing post 20, I will update my selections in next Friday's Ask The Guru segment.

Thanks for reading this column. I sincerely hope you enjoy it as much as I like writing it. Have a wonderful week.

Long-time Londoner Fitzsimmons thrilled to be added to Wall of Fame

Trainer Larry Fitzsimmons has been a fixture at The Raceway at The Western Fair District for more than 60 years. Now, he will be joining its Wall of Fame.

by Sandra Snyder | Sponsored by Ontario Racing

Over the last 40 years, the Wall of Fame at The Raceway at Western Fair District has seen some influential names added to its ranks and on Friday, May 17 long-time London, ON resident Larry Fitzsimmons will join the list of honorees.

The trainer was surprised when he got the call about his induction and flattered that his name would be added to a list that includes the likes of Bill Herbert, Harold Wellwood, Jack Kopas and Super Wave, Dave Wall, Chris Van Bussel and Camluck.

"I didn't have an inkling 'til they came and asked me. I said, 'I'd be more than honoured,'" said Fitzsimmons. "I'm proud to be up there with those guys. The biggest problem is, I can remember them all, I know them all.

"The first time I ever went to the races I think Hals Bomb had win in 2:04, that was the track record in London back, what, 60 years ago?"

Fitzsimmons was first introduced to harness racing by his father Norm, who would pull his young son out of school to attend fall fair racing around their home in Markdale. After the family moved to Hanover, a summer job cutting grass at Hanover Raceway cemented his interest and gave him a front-row seat to observe horsemen like future Hall of Famer Bud Fritz.

At 16, Fitzsimmons left home for a training camp with Boston Bruins affiliate the Niagara Falls Flyers and was assigned to their Junior B team in Tillsonburg, ON. Although his hockey career would be cut short due to injury, the move to Tillsonburg proved to be a good one as it was where he met his wife Linda, when the two were just 16 and 15, respectively.

In Tillsonburg, Fitzsimmons also met trainer Clarence Gagnon, who put the young horseman to work starting yearlings.

"The only person I ever worked for really was Clarence Gagnon, he was training for the White Stable in Tillsonburg back then and I helped him break colts one year," Fitzsimmons said. "He was a good horseman Clarence Gagnon."

After working for Gagnon, Fitzsimmons went looking for a horse of his own and wound up purchasing Delbert, a son of Don Parker and Cloverland Mike, from breeders Alice and Jack Kopas. He would spend a few years splitting his time between delivering milk and training horses before getting his driver's license and making the move from Tillsonburg to London.

"I got my (horse) driver's licence when I was 24 years old, so it was right around that time I gave up (delivering milk) and tried it in horse racing," said the horseman. "Me and my wife moved to London from Tillsonburg. She used to drive back and forth to Tillsonburg to teach and I stayed in London in a trailer at the old Western Fair.

"Starved to death for a long time I guess probably," he added with a chuckle, "But I always enjoyed it."

Since then, Fitzsimmons has been a mainstay at The Raceway at Western Fair District, never missing a meet. Although he had opportunities to move closer to the Woodbine Entertainment Group racetracks, and stabled a few horses at both Mohawk and Greenwood Raceways from time-to-time, he never had a desire to leave London.

Among the horses that have flourished in his care are his first Ontario Sires Stakes winner Chicopee Star, a daughter of High Level and Arlina Hanover who earned $67,909 and took a mark of 2:02.4 at Mohawk in the 1970s. Chicopee Star would go on to produce the horse that tops the list of Fitzsimmons' favorites, Fundamentalist mare Angels Uprising. A winner in the Ontario Sires Stakes as a 3-year-old in 1994, Angels Uprising captured the $103,500 final of the Damsel Series at Woodbine Racetrack in 1995, giving the horseman his biggest career victory. After earning $309,187 and taking a mark of 1:52.4, Angels Uprising also produced Whosurboy son Jake Parrish, who has battled his way to $152,832 in the conditioned ranks around Ontario over the last five years.

Other memorable charges include half-siblings Chancelot (Ladatross) and Laurstar (Fundamentalist) out of the D and H Stables mare Ros Motoring. Chancelot would bank $253,167 for his Tillsonburg-based owner/breeders, while Laurstar earned $251,324 and went 10 for 14 in his 1990 sophomore Ontario Sires Stakes season. Camluck filly Stonebridge Celest earned owner Clarence Beitz $440,857 in her career and Royal Troubador gelding CR Bellman finished out his $541,311 career with Fitzsimmons.

The last trotter Fitzsimmons raced, CR Bellman, joined Angels Uprising in retirement in 2012 and the pair is living the Life of Riley in their golden years.

"They run together out at the farm. I keep them in a stall all winter when it's dirty weather and then once it gets nicer I turn them out," said Fitzsimmons. "He's 20 something years old too, not quite as old as her (28), but you know they were good to us, especially her."

Fitzsimmons keeps the retirees, along with the five horses he has in training, at Joe Elliott's training centre in Dorchester, where he is helped out by his sister-in-law Laurie Hicks and, on training days, his grandson, driver Nick Steward.

"I got as high as 35, probably around 1990-91. I had a lot of horses back then," said Fitzsimmons. "Up until probably five or six years ago I'd always have 10 or 12, and now I think we've got five. Of course, the older you get you've got to get down a little bit.

"I remember one time I think we had six Sires Stakes 2-year-old colts in London the first night, now I wouldn't be training six, that's for sure."

While Fitzsimmons may have scaled back his operation in his 70th decade, he has no plans to retire.

"I don't like going to Florida. In fact, I enjoy getting up and jogging and training in the morning, I really do," said Fitzsimmons, while admitting that he is happy to delegate race nights to Laurie, and his daughter and granddaughter Leslie and Dillyn Jackson. "They raced (Jake Parrish) the other night and I stayed home and watched it on television."

Fitzsimmons will be joined by family and friends at the May 17 Wall of Fame induction and said the long-time friendships he has developed in the industry may be the things he has enjoyed most.

"I'm just thankful for all the good people I've been involved with in horse racing. You get to meet a lot of people and probably 99.9 per cent of them you like," reflected the honouree. "You know, you try to win and that, but a lot of friendships... you get to know a lot of people, still do."

TRACKS SPRINGING OPEN

May's arrival shifts the Ontario harness racing industry into a higher gear. Four racetracks kick off their season in May, with three more following in the first week of June.

First out of the gate is Hiawatha Horse Park, which will host 21 Saturday evenings starting May 4 at 6:30 pm. Hiawatha joined Ontario Racing this spring and horsepeople will see a bump in daily purses as the Sarnia, ON oval benefits from the purse enhancement payment allocated to member racetracks.

Sarnia resident Peter Core is looking forward to the season opener at his local oval and has a few sophomore trotters among his 10-horse string that will be taking advantage of the five-eighths mile surface before the Ontario Sires Stakes season gets under way.

"Especially the trotters, I like to get them out where they can get their stride and gait going for a little more distance before they hit a turn, and then a little softer turns," he said. "It kind of allows you to get them kind of stretched out, get their gait and their speed."

CORE'S HIAWATHA TIPS

Where is Hiawatha Horse Park? The track is located just across the border from Port Huron, MI and Core says it has both a well laid-out paddock and grandstand where fans will find a family-friendly environment.

What else is there to do? In addition to the five-eighths mile racetrack there are a fully automated driving range, six beach volleyball courts, baseball diamonds and F1 Karting on site.

Hungry when you arrive? Core suggests Nick's Family Restaurant, just outside the racetrack gates, (Core trains Sportswriter filly Evas Sports Czech for restaurant owner Nick Stoukas) or Global Donuts and Deli, just down the road.

Hall of Famer Bob McIntosh bullish on "Pit Bull"

Only Take Cash back in action in tonight's $50,000 Scarlet and Gray Invitational at Miami Valley Raceway.

by Jay Wolf

Only Take Cash, the 2018 Ohio Two-Year-Old Filly Trotter of the Year, will be making her first start of the 2019 campaign in tonight's $50,000 Scarlet and Gray Invitational at Miami Valley Raceway (post #5; 5-2 with Aaron Merriman).

The filly is co-bred, co-owned and trained by Bob McIntosh. McIntosh shares ownership with Dave Boyle and Mardon Stables (Marv Chantler), who purchased his half of the talented lass from co-breeder CSX Stable.

Last season, Only Take Cash won eight of nine starts and bankrolled $272,140.

Her only defeat was a second-place finish (beaten by a neck) in the first leg of the Ohio Sires Stake on July 3 at Northfield Park.

"That first start at Northfield we really didn't know what we had," said McIntosh. "(Ronnie Wrenn, Jr.) drove her conservatively and that was probably the best thing for her."

Following that defeat, Only Take Cash rattled off seven straight wins, including the Ohio State Fair Stakes, Ohio Sire Stakes Final and the Ohio Breeder's Championship – to sweep Ohio's "Triple Crown."

"The rest of the year she just clicked," said the Hall of Fame trainer. "She's like a little pit-bull because she wants to win so badly. That is what we call her, 'Pit Bull.'"

Only Take Cash is the product of a pair of former McIntosh pupils — sire Cash Hall ($554,298; TT1:51.1h) and dam Armbro Affair ($430,997; 1:53.4s).

Armbro Affair was unraced at two, won 9 of 22 starts at three and won the $250,000 Breeders Crown Mare Trot at four. McIntosh tried to return the champion to the track at the age of 10 due to breeding issues.

"(Armbro Affair) had an OCD in a stifle (at two) and we had to take that out. After her racing career was over, she was tough to breed."

McIntosh sold Armbro Affair last August.

"She really hadn't done anything in the breeding shed. Once I sold her, of course I get this filly," said McIntosh. laughing. "I have a Muscle Mass 2-year-old (named Fit Bitt) and he's training well."

Sire Cash Hall stood at Cool Winds Farm since 2014, but was retired from stud duty in February.

"He developed a heart condition and cannot breed anymore," said McIntosh. "He was a pretty good sire. I thought this would be his big year."

McIntosh is optimistic for Only Take Cash's sophomore season.

"She wasn't very big last year, but she grew over the winter. She is a decent size now," said the 66-year-old conditioner. "She's the most pure-gaited trotter. Cash Hall had no wasted motion and she is the same way. She is like a sewing machine, no wasted motion. She has that 'X factor' that you can't breed into them."

"When she qualified (second place finish on April 18 at Woodbine Mohawk Park), Bob (McClure) only called on her about 50 feet from the wire. Once they got past the wire, he couldn't get her pulled up. That's a good sign. I was super happy.

"I was going to qualify her again. By chance, I saw the USTA site and I saw something about this invitational. I scrambled to get a hold of people and I got in. I think it is the right spot for her. She goes right back the next week for the sire stake. It is good way to start out the year."

Only Take Cash will take on eight opponents in tonight's 10th race (estimated post time 9:05 PM). Trainer Chris Beaver will send out a quartet of challengers including Aunt Rose (post #2 with Ronnie Wrenn, Jr.), the 7-2 second choice.

While McIntosh is excited for the start of 2019's Ohio stakes action, he also has his eye on bigger prizes this season.

"I took a leap this year. Last year, I only staked her to Ohio events. This year, I put her in just about everything."

"I look forward to this year with her. Hopefully, everything stays good, said McIntosh. "She is one of those that doesn't come around every day."

Little Rocket Man on a meteoric rise at Harrah's Hoosier Park

Originally slated to be an Indiana Fair Circuit horse, the tiny pacer — named for Donald Trump's nickname for the dictator of North Korea — is dropping jaws in the Hoosier state for Russ Beeman and Jack Freeman.

by James Platz

Russ Beeman and Jack Freeman paid their horse, Little Rocket Man, into the Indiana Sired Fair Circuit this year with sights set on trying to recoup their investment. The fair schedule does not start until early June, but don't look for the Rockin Image gelding to make an appearance. In the first three starts of his career, Little Rocket Man has shown he has the skills to mix it up in Indiana Sires Stakes competition at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino. Tonight he will be sent off as one of the favorites in the $15,000 final of the Jerry Landess Series after winning a leg last week in 1:52.4, raising his record to three wins in as many starts.

"You just never know until they get behind the gate," said Missy Essig, Beeman's daughter and the sophomore's trainer. "He surprised us, that's for sure."

Little Rocket Man has turned into a horse that nobody saw coming. Training down, he was known more as a lollygagging pacer than an up-and-coming talent. When jogging, he required two headpoles to try to keep his focus on the work. The diminutive gelding, all 15 hands of him, masked his potential well. However, all that changed the first time he moved in behind the starting car. After a qualifying effort where he paced second in a time of 1:58 for driver Trace Tetrick, Little Rocket Man won his debut by nearly three lengths with a 1:53.4 clocking. He matched the performance with another 1:53.4 mile in the opening Landess Series leg, this time a five and one-half length margin at the wire.

"We were kind of concerned about how small he is and how fast they have to go," Essig said. "So we were very surprised his first start that he paced in 1:53."

Purchased at the 2017 Hoosier Classic sale, the colt sold for $18,000 with Freeman signing the ticket. Essig and Beeman knew the family well, as his dam, GT Miss Royal, had raced out of their barn for a stint during her 10 seasons of competition. Little Rocket Man did not make it to the races as a freshman, however. When it was decided the ridgeling would be castrated, the surgery was extensive and required 45 days away from the track. Beeman opted to pull the plug on the season instead of starting again from square one.

Sold out of the Victory Hill consignment with the name Just Like Pete, Beeman's wife, Jackie, came up with the name Little Rocket Man, referencing President Donald Trump's nickname for North Korean dictator Kim Jong Un. As it turns out, the name is more than fitting in light of the gelding's most recent performance. Small as he may be, Little Rocket Man captured the second leg of Landess Series action with a 1:52.4 effort, blazing home in :25.2 to upend favored Feherty and Peter Wrenn by nearly two lengths. Goodbye fair circuit.

"I did not ever expect him to come home a quarter in 25 and a piece," added Essig. "I just try not to get too excited. We're going to take it day by day."

Last season, Tetrick was matched with relative unknown sophomore Always A Prince. The gelding went on to win 19 of 22 starts and banked nearly $500,000. Hoosier Park's leading driver is not making comparisons to last year's Pacer of the Year, but he sees Little Rocket Man as a horse capable of being competitive this summer in Indiana Sires Stakes action despite missing his freshman campaign.

"I think the colt will be effective wherever he goes. I think he's got a shot to be a good one. He's got the tools," Tetrick said. "Every time we've raced him he's paced hard right through the wire and into the turn, and never really been tired when I pulled him up. He hasn't been exhausted to do it yet. This colt has enough tactical speed early that you can sit up close and save him midway through there, and when you move him again late, he'll still have a good brush to him."

Several of last year's top freshman pacing colts have yet to qualify or have recently qualified, so it is hard to gauge just where Little Rocket Man will stack up by comparison. That has not stopped suitors from calling, hoping to acquire the 3-year-old. Beeman, who lives north of Hoosier Park in Alexandria, and Freeman, an Anderson resident, are set on keeping the speedster to enjoy this season. For a small stable – seven currently racing and 15 total in the barn – a good horse is hard to come by.

"As soon as he crossed the line and beat Pete's horse last week, before I could get from the winner's circle back to my table, I had phone calls and people wanting to buy him," she said. "My dad said they're not giving him away."

Still, if Little Rocket Man continues to impress and offers were to increase, it might be difficult to say no. That is the nature of the business. Just as owners dream of adding a talented horse to their holdings, small stables pin their hopes on a homegrown contender that could get them to the winner's circle in the big events. For Essig and her parents, they last won a pair of Indiana Sires Stakes final in 2012 with freshman trotter Russell Mania and 3-year-old Dontfusswithruss.

"It's been a long time coming. I know there are a lot of good ones not qualified yet, but if we can have a stakes contender that would make my year," said Essig. "They're hard to come by when you have a small stable."

The Jerry Landess Series final is slated as the ninth race tonight at Hoosier Park. Little Rocket Man has drawn post three, with Rockie Got Framed, another horse with a 1:52.4 win to his credit, to his outside in post four. Estimated post time is 8:54 p.m.

Tyler Buter wins 3,000th race

Tyler Buter recorded the 3,000th driving victory of his career during a special Easter Sunday twilight card at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono. Buter rallied Daddy Let Me Drive into a :28.1 last quarter, closing furiously in the last 1/16 to be up right on the money.

Tyler Buter and family in the winner's circle at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono on Sunday after the driver scored his 3,000th career win.

The 33-year-old Buter, from a famous racing family, showed early talent in the sulky when he recorded his first win with I Luv My Pasture at the Gladwin (MI) fair before his 17th birthday. Along the way to his 3,000 wins and almost $35 million in sulky earnings, Buter had his best money year in 2015, when his mounts brought home over $5 million; his best year for visiting the winners circle was 2007, when he won 444 times – while driving at 30 different tracks, more than half fairs in his native Michigan.

First two Weiss finals to Team Allard

Team Allard won the first two $30,000 Bobby Weiss Series Championships at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono. Cardiff won the pacing distaff on Monday (April 22) and Town Hall Justice won the trotting distaff on Tuesday (April 23).

Town Hall Justice lowered her mark by three seconds to 1:53.4 despite a track that was downgraded to "good" after mid-card rain.

The victorious Justice Hall mare forced a :27.2 quarter before yielding to Run Lindy Run, then came out soon after her opponent tripped the timer in :56.2 at the half. Simon Allard got his charge to the lead late on the backstretch, with the two favorites Fade Into You (two-time prelim winner) and Spring In Paris (three-time prelim winner) on her heels at and past the 1:24.2 3/4s.

Despite the presence of the heavyweights on her tail, Town Hall Justice was more than equal to the challenge, proving a length better than Fade Into You, with Spring In Paris another 1½ lengths back. Owned by Simon's brother, trainer Rene Allard, Town Hall Justice had been 1-for-33 lifetime before going to her current home – for whom she is now 2-for-2.

Cardiff had to go the dreaded "tuck-then-first-over" journey in the $30,000 Bobby Weiss Series Championship for pacing fillies and mares at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono on Monday, but the Sportswriter mare showed rare pluck in grinding raw for the last 5/8 and still getting the decision in a lifetime best 1:51.1.

Cardiff, who had a first and two seconds in her Weiss prelims, tucked mid-pack from post eight for driver Simon Allard, as a pair of horses on a three-race win streak, 2-5 favorite Ghostwriter and Girl's Got Rhythm, argued through a smoking :26.2 quarter, with the latter claiming the top at that point. Cardiff was again on the move under the wire the first time as Girl's Got Rhythm led the field to the half in :54.4, then cut into the pacesetter's advantage by the 1:22.3 3/4s, with the chalk lurking in the pocket.

Turning for home it looked like the trip was starting to wear on Cardiff, as Ghosttothepost went to the Pocono Pike to try to catch Girl's Got Rhythm. But Cardiff dug deep into her talent pool and gamely paced on to be 1½ lengths ahead at the wire, with Ghosttothepost next, a neck ahead of Girl's Got Rhythm. Simon's brother Rene trains the courageous winner for Allard Racing Inc. and Carmen Carson.

Rich And Miserable wins NY Bonus Trotting Series

Rich and Miserable (Dave Miller, $11.80) snapped odds-on Swansea (George Brennan) at the line Tuesday night (April 23), winning the $73,000 final of Yonkers Raceway/Standardbred Owners Association of New York Bonus Trotting Series.

Away last among the octet from post position No. 7, Rich and Miserable saw 4-5 favorite Swansea — he of the 3-for-3 preliminary-round resume — make the lead well before a :28.3 opening quarter-mile. Eight-holer Joey Bats (Jason Bartlett) floated out, then moved to engage the leader from the second turn, passing a :56.3 half-mile.

'Joey' eventually jumped in Turn 3, leaving a pocket-inheriting Whether Or No Fi (Yannick Gingras) as Swansea's closest pursuer. Chasin' Dreams (Jordan Stratton) was making some inroads in and out of a 1:25 three-quarters, with Rich and Miserable chasin' Chasin' Dreams.

Swansea, meanwhile, owned a length-and-a-half lead entering the lane, but Rich and Miserable was widest and fastest. From 10 lengths out of the intermission, he whipped Swansea by a schnoz in 1:55.1. Whether or No Fi, Chasin' Dreams and No Excuses (Scott Zeron) came away with the remainder, while an outrun Omaha Omaha (Tim Tetrick) and misbehavers Joey Bats and Henderson Seelster (Mark MacDonald) brought up the rear.

For third choice Rich and Miserable, a 4-year-old Explosive Matter gelding co-owned by Buter Farm, Lynette Buter, William & Carol Fuhs and trained by Todd Buter, it was his second win in four seasonal starts. The exacta paid $34.40, the triple returned $157 and the superfecta paid $602.

The series was open to 3-year-olds and their elders who were non-winners of six pari-mutuel races and/or $100,000 through this past Feb. 1st (winners over $150,000 lifetime through that same date ineligible). Rich and Miserable also earned an SOA-paid $10,000 bonus.

A $35,000 series consolation was won by MVP Luke (Miller, $4, part of entry) in 1:56.4.

Competitive racing fueling Big M resurgence

When legislators and Gov. Phil Murphy said yes to a $20 million yearly appropriation to support horse racing in the State of New Jersey, Garden State horsemen were predictably pleased that the purses they would go for would increase considerably.

But would the fans react in a way that would make one think harness racing's lifeline would lengthen? Thus far, the answer is a resounding 'Yes!'.

The Meadowlands has been able to withstand the yearly opening of Pennsylvania's harness venues unscathed having been able to battle them on a level playing field for the precious horse population with purses that have experienced two significant increases in the last two months.

The proof? Last Saturday (April 20), Big M players wagered $3,046,148 on the 13-race card, as betting exceeded the $3 million mark for the seventh time this year. In addition, over the course of the 32 race cards contested at the Meadowlands in 2019, 29 have seen handle of at least $2.5 million.

Big fields and big competition in evenly-matched races are what the Big M faithful crave.

"Over the last four racing programs, only nine favorites have won from 52 races," said track chief operating officer and general manager Jason Settlemoir. "The current percentage of winning favorites at the Meadowlands is 38. Of harness tracks currently racing, the median percentage is 46. In fact, our 38 per cent compares right there with some of the top thoroughbred tracks. Often, the knock on harness racing is how easily horses make the lead and win, but we've had great racing with non-stop action, which makes it possible for horses to win from anywhere."

According to Brisnet, Santa Anita (36 per cent), Tampa Bay (36) and Gulfstream (37) are right there with the Big M when it comes to winning chalks.

Last Friday (April 19), despite bad weather that arrived early in the evening, the action was plentiful.

A new wagering high was established in the Can-Am Pick-4, which saw $65,333 in action. Those who went four-for-four cashed in for $87.17 for the bet with the 20-Cent base wager and low 15 per cent takeout.

One lucky patron wagering on the Meadowlands' signal into the Oregon hub went home with a huge smile on his or her face in the 13th race 20-Cent Jackpot Super High-Five. After 10-1 shot Knightofvictory held off 5-2 favorite Prince Of Minto after a stirring stretch duel, that player holding the only ticket with the winning combination of 6-8-1-10-3 cashed in for $68,059.

When live action resumes tonight at 7:15 p.m., racing fans will have a big carryover to shoot for, as the 'other' 20-Cent Jackpot Super High-Five will start out with $82,307 in the hat in race five.

For 20-Cent Can-Am Pick-4 and Meadowlands' 50-Cent Pick-4 players, free program pages are available at www.playmeadowlands.com and www.ustrotting.com.

Saturday's $3-million night was highlighted by the eighth race, when a total of $341,302 was pushed through the windows, with the always prolific 50-Cent Pick-4 accounting for $116,859 of the pot. Only once in 2019 has the Pick-4 had a larger pool, when $134,614 was put in play on March 2.

1 MILLION PENNY GIVEAWAY: On all live racing nights during April, make sure to try and win one or more of many prizes totaling $10,000 in the Big M's "1 Million Penny Giveaway".

Guests may enter once per live race day. The month-long contest concludes Saturday (April 27).

For complete information and a list of prizes, go here.

HORSEPLAY ALLOWED: Come on out to the Meadowlands on Friday (May 3) and take your best shot in the track's Horseplay Giveaway.

To play, contestants must complete an entry form and grab a free toy horse at the Players Club Desk or the outdoor Horseplay table.

If you throw your horse into the window of the target car, you qualify to win a $100 betting voucher. In the event you win the voucher, you will then be entered in a drawing on Friday, August 2, when the prize is a 2019 Toyota C-HR.

In addition, for each horse that makes it into the target car, the Meadowlands will donate $10 to a designated charity. During May, the money will go to A Lot to Grow.

For complete contest details, go here.

COUNTDOWN TO THE DERBY: The 145th running of the Kentucky Derby is one week from Saturday on May 4. Come out to the Meadowlands and bet the entire Churchill Downs card, which gets underway at 10:30 a.m. (Big M gates open at 9 a.m.)

Post time for the Kentucky Derby is 6:46 p.m.

In the Gallery, there will be a special Derby Day lunch buffet for $39.95. Food service begins at 11:30 a.m.

That evening in Pink restaurant, there will be a southern inspired buffet for $54.95 that begins at 4:30 p.m.

Call 201-THE-BIGM for reservations. You better hurry!

There will be a $100 Derby win-wager contest with entry forms available in the Derby program and at the Players Club Desk. Contestants must enter by 5 p.m.

In addition, there will be a $100 live win wager contest beginning at 6 p.m. with those entry forms available in the live harness program as well as the Players Club Desk. Ten winning contestants will be selected throughout the evening.

It wouldn't be Derby Day without a hat contest for the ladies who come out to the Big M. Contestants can register from 2-4:45 p.m. at the Clubhouse Main Entrance. Judging will take place in front of the winner's circle at 5 p.m. There are five cash prizes up for grabs, ranging from $50 up to $500.

Jason Bluhm named Dayton Raceway director of racing

Hollywood Gaming at Dayton Raceway today announced Ohio native Jason Bluhm as the new director of racing. He will start April 29, 2019, pending customary regulatory approvals.

Bluhm has been senior regional director of racing for Tioga and Vernon Downs since 2006 leading multiple departments at both New York State harness facilities. Bluhm's responsibilities have included race secretary, program director, charter and stall superintendent as well as track superintendent while also overseeing the day to day operations at Tioga Downs in the simulcast and marketing areas.

"Myself and my family are excited to come back home to Ohio and I'm looking forward to being part of the Hollywood Gaming at Dayton Raceway team," Bluhm said. "In less than five years, Dayton Raceway has made a positive impact in the local market place and its racing product and facilities are setting the standard in the state."

"We are excited to bring Jason into the Penn National Gaming racing team. He has experience in so many different facets of the business and will be sure to make an immediate contribution," said Christopher McErlean, vice-president of racing for Penn National Gaming, Inc., parent company of Hollywood Gaming at Dayton Raceway. Bluhm will oversee all racing operations, including the race office, track and mutuels areas at Hollywood Gaming at Dayton Raceway.

Prior to joining Tioga and Vernon Downs Bluhm worked for the United States Trotting Association and was also the owner and groom for a small harness racing stable in Indiana. He is a native of Plain City. OH.

Mark Loewe, who oversaw the Hollywood Dayton racing construction and has led the racing operation for the past five racing seasons, will shift his focus to managing the racing operations of Penn National Gaming's Meadows Racetrack and Casino and Hollywood Gaming at Mahoning Valley Race Course.

Live racing returns to The Meadows

After a scheduled brief hiatus, racing returns to The Meadows on Saturday, April 27 with four Late Closer Finals being contested. Trainer Ron Burke is loaded with talent in these races and looks to complete a sweep of the events.

The $28,700 Margaret Provost Memorial Trot (Race 3) for 3-year-old filly trotters is led by the Ron Burke trained Firedbylindie, a daughter of Explosive Matter who was an easy winner in the first two legs of the series, with a career best 1:56 mile in her last start. Starting from post 4 the filly will be driven by Dave Palone. Her main competition looks to be coming from the Norm Parker trained Sweet Madam and driver Ronnie Wrenn Jr. from post 8.

The $26,300 Ruby Cook Memorial (Race 4) for three-year-old filly pacers looks like a match race between the two Ron Burke trained three-year-old daughters of Sweet Lou, Pretty N Fast and Walk On Air. Both fillies have won their divisions the first two legs of the series. Dave Palone has driven both fillies in the previous legs and has selected to go with Pretty N Fast, while Mike Wilder picks up the mount of Walk On Air in the final. The two fillies will start next to each other from posts 4 and 5 respectively.

The $31,100 Ben Wood Memorial Trot (Race 5) for three-year-old Colt and Gelding trotters is led by another Burke trainee, Capt Chaps Hanover from post position two. Winless in 9 starts as a two-year-old, the gelded son of Explosive Matter is 3 for 4 in 2019 winning both of his legs in the series. His main competition looks to be from Cash Hit off the rail for trainer Steven Walters and driver Brady Brown, the Karen Fread trained Papi Hanover, post four and Dirk Simpson's Explosive Magic from post nine.

The $25,400 Tom Kirwan Memorial Pace (Race 6) for three-year-old Colt and Gelding pacers looks to be a wide open affair. Previous series winners Doctor Jimmy draws the coveted rail with Ronnie Wrenn Jr for trainer Brian Brown, Doc's Hooligan draws post 2 for trainer Bruce Riegle and driver Tony Hall, and Wild Wild Western draws post 9 for Norm Parker and Mike Wilder. Although winless in the first two legs, the Ron Burke trained Yacht Week looks formidable after a 3rd place finish in his only start in the series. Yacht Week starts from post 8 and sports a two-year-old record of 1:51.2 at Lexington's Red Mile.

The Meadows will be rolling out its new starting gate on Saturday, with a reduced slant of 7 feet down from the previous slant of 13 feet. Post time for the 14-race card is 1:05 p.m.

MSOA steps in to save iconic Adios statue

The Meadows Standardbred Owners Association not only looks ahead to the future of the sport, but also does its best to preserve the sport's past. A current project involves a move to save the historic statue of Adios that for more than five decades has watched over the entrance to The Meadows.

A construction project is currently underway at the intersection of Race Track Road and The Meadows entrance that will result in a new mini-mart/gas station. The land was purchased several years ago from a previous Meadows track owner, but no provision was made for one key item that was on that piece of land – the statue of Delvin Miller's beloved horse, Adios, the namesake of the track's biggest yearly event.

The new landowner had no interest in the statue, but horsemen definitely did, so the MSOA stepped in with a plan to save the statue, which was dedicated in August of 1967.

Chris Gooden

The statue of Adios at The Meadows.

"The Adios statue has greeted horsemen and racing fans alike for more than 50 years," said MSOA president Rich Gillock. "It's part of our history. We did not want to see it go away, so we took the initiative to do something about it."

The MSOA began working with the track's current owners, Penn National Gaming, and it appears that the statue will soon have a new home, not far from its previous site. The current plan calls for the statue to be moved close to the entrance to The Meadows' backstretch, next to the message board/welcome sign that the MSOA installed last year.

The statue depicts Adios, a pacer that was foaled in 1940 and not only had a tremendous career on the track, but also as a stallion after his retirement. Delvin Miller purchased Adios and brought him to stand at stud at his Meadow Lands Farm, and the ensuing success of Adios led to Miller's decision to build The Meadows, which opened in 1963. After the passing of Adios in 1965, Miller commissioned equine artist James Nelson Slick to sculpt a life size bronze statue of the stallion. The unveiling of the statue coincided with the first Adios Pace, on Aug. 12, 1967. A smaller version of the sculpture is still given to the winner of the race every summer as the official Adios Pace trophy.

"We can't thank Penn National enough for agreeing to take on the expense of moving the statue. It is an important part of the history of the track and is a daily reminder of why we're all here, Delvin Miller and his famous stallion."

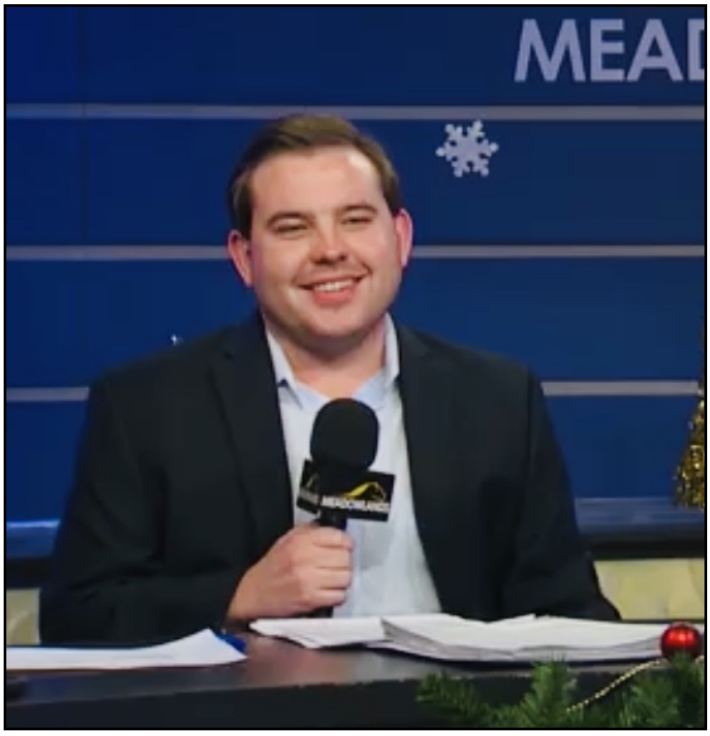
Rich Mattei to Tioga Downs

Tioga Downs welcomes Rich Mattei to the announcer's booth and racing office for the 2019 season.

Mattei had originally been hired to do the race calls at Vernon Downs, a position that will now be filled by John Horne whose voice is familiar as the Tioga announcer over the past few seasons. Horne will continue to write the lead-in and wrap-up articles for both tracks.



Courtesy Tioga Downs

New Tioga Downs announcer Rich Mattei.

Mattei's introduction to calling races was attending the Tom Durkin announcing school in Goshen, NY. He then went on to serve as the announcer for the baby races at Gaitway Farm. That gig led to relief stints at various tracks such as Ocean Downs, Rosecroft, Northfield, Vernon, Freehold and Harrah's Philadelphia along with handicapping the races on TVG for Meadowlands.

"My first full season harness racing job was as the photo-finish/teletimer guy at Harrah's where Rob Pennington and Joe Auger would let me come in early and take entries, put races together and learn about how to do things in the Race Office," said Mattei. "Next was a season as the charter at Freehold, then Karen Fagliarone hired me on as the Assistant Race Secretary which has piqued my interest in that direction. I certainly appreciate the opportunity to work for Jeff Gural and Jason Settlemoir and look forward to the summer at Tioga Downs."

The Tioga meet begins on May 4 with the annual Kentucky Derby Day extravaganza. Live racing will be on Saturday and Sunday for the first two weeks, adding Friday with the May 17 card. Check the website or call (607) 699-7688 for more information.

NYSS yearling nomination forms due May 15

Owners are reminded to complete and submit yearling nominations for foals of eligible mares bred to registered stallions standing in New York State in 2017. This nomination will allow horses to be eligible to the lucrative New York Sire Stakes program and compete as 2-year-olds in 2020 and 3-year-olds in 2021. Proof of registration must accompany the nomination.

Nomination forms were mailed to owners at the time of mating. If you have not received one or purchased the foal, you can access the form online here. The submission deadline is Wednesday, May 15, 2019. Online credit card payments are not available for yearling nominations.

Please mail completed forms and payment to:

Agriculture & New York State Horse Breeding Development Fund

1 Broadway Center

Schenectady, NY 12305

For questions about completing the forms or eligibility, please contact the Fund at 518-388-0178 or info@nysirestakes.com.
