Bolt The Duer bolts to Dan Patch Pace triumph

By Dean A. Hoffman

Trainer Pete Foley's Dan Patch Pace plans for Bolt The Duer were upset before the race when he learned that the pacer's regular pilot Mark MacDonald wouldn't be able to make it to Hoosier Park, so local reinsman Sam Widger got the call from Foley.

And Bolt The Duer (Ponder) got the winning call from track announcer Steve Cross as he zoomed past his rivals in the stretch to win the $200,000 event in 149.3.

"Pete told me before the race that he was an easy horse to drive, just two fingers," said Widger after the race. "He did say that sometimes you have to chase him a bit. He said his best game wasn't on the front end. He was best when stalking horses.

"I was surprised that more horses weren't leaving out of there," continued Widger, who had Bolt The Duer in front off the gate before yielding to Up The Credit before the quarter in :26 seconds.

"I wasn't really happy with that nine horse [Up The Credit] in front of me, but I didn't want to brush my horse, so I just waited. When another horse gapped off a bit in the stretch I got out and the horse did the rest. He just drug me right to the wire."

Bolt The Duer triumphed by 1-1/2 lengths over Fred And Ginger (Real Artist) and last year's Dan Patch winner Rockin Cam (Cambest). A Rocknroll Dance finished fourth.

Hurrikane King Cole, a narrow favorite over Bolt The Duer in the betting, left from post one and sat fourth most of the mile, but faded to finish ninth, beaten more than 17 lengths.

After the race, when trainer Foley was asked about the plans for Bolt The Duer, he said, "It's a long season, so we'll just play it by ear, pick our spots, and carry on."

The race featured four millionaires, including A Rocknroll Dance, a winner of more than $1.9 million. The other millionaires were Bolt The Duer, Up The Credit, and Aracache Hanover. Ironically, they got post positions 7-8-9-10.

Pre-race speculation centered on...well, just about everyone.

Before the race, racing secretary Kevin Mack told me, "You can make a very good case for six, seven or maybe eight horses winning the Dan Patch, but, frankly, it wouldn't surprise me to see any of the ten win."

Another Indiana racing official disagreed, saying that he could make a legitimate case for any of the ten invitees.

That made Kevin Mack happy, of course, because he was the man who made the calls to owners and trainers to put together the Dan Patch field.

The program selections were Hurrikane Kingcole, Rockincam, Bolt The Duer, and A Rocknroll Dance.

Ace handicapper Tom Kelley picked Bolt The Duer on the top of his ticket followed by Hurrikane King Cole and Aracache Hanover. At post time, the bettors agreed with Kelley's top two picks.

Up The Credit was coming off two wins at Woodbine, the most recent in 1:48.3, and he got the driving services of Trace Tetrick, always a top driver at Hoosier. Alas, Up The Credit also got the outside post nine with all that speed inside of him.

Prior to the post parade, the crowd was serenaded by a track employee singing "Back Home in Indiana." They take their pacers very seriously in the Hoosier State.

Two secondary features at Hoosier on Saturday night were won with 1:51 miles by Mykindachip (Art's Chip) in the $30,000 Greg Haston Memorial and Night Pro (Pro Bono Best) in a $30,000 leg of the Indiana Gold Sires Stakes. Both were given by Jason Dillander. Night Pro remained unbeaten in seven career starts and he coasted to victory spoiling Nitro's perfect season of five wins in five starts.

Hoosier Park was alive and jammed with racing fans and families despite the unseasonably chilly weather and the light rain that began falling during the program. The track pulled out all the stops to entertain its guests with a live band, helicopter rides, ziplining, bungee jumping, magicians and more.

The atmosphere was alive and energetic with a remarkable of youngsters at the track with parents. Hoosier Park has an adjacent casino, of course, but it's obvious that the people who run Hoosier Park genuinely like racing.

"Having only harness racing at Hoosier and the Thoroughbred racing at Indiana Downs is going to help Indiana a lot," said Tim Konkle, longtime Indiana racing official. "Going back and forth between the breeds was confusing to the fans."

SWEDISH DIARY

STOCKHOLM—Sweden must be the best place on the planet to get good Swedish Fish. At least one would think.

They're terrible here.

You start eating them and the first two or three taste fine, even good. Then they throw you a curveball. Every fourth or fifth fish tastes terrible. Some are bitter, some are salty, some have a bad aftertaste. They must be for serious Swedish Fish connoisseurs and not for Americans, or for the unsophisticated Swedish Fish lover.

They just stink, and, I'm sorry, I'm really disappointed about that. It would be like coming to China and finding out they have awful egg rolls or something.

I'm afraid to tell people here, but I don't like ABBA. Not at all. But I fear that if I told anyone that I might get hurt. They can't get enough of local heroes Agnetha, Benny, Bjorn and Anni-Frid here. The new ABBA Museum is all the rage, with signs and billboards everywhere. One of my guides showed me Benny's house and on a tourist tour I took around Stockholm on a boat they showed off Bjorn's house like it was Graceland. Benny owns thoroughbreds and the thoroughbred people are very proud of that.

I figured out how to turn on the lights in the hotel room but other things are still giving me fits. I bought one of those cheap cell phones Saturday morning so that I could be in contact with the outside world and couldn't even get the back cover off to install the battery. Took it back to the store and the guy who sold it to me couldn't get it off, either. He suggested that I glued the thing shut and he was kidding, I think. The tech department managed to get the thing open, but I have had no luck getting it to work. One of the problems is that the instructions are in Swedish, so if anyone knows what "Tryck upp eller for att stalla in timme. Du kan ocksa trycka pa nummerknapparna" means please send me an email.

ABBA's Benny

You'll notice I haven't had much to say about the Elitlopp itself, which is because I have no idea what is going on. It's all over the newspapers, but I can't read a word of it and the websites in English don't tell you much. For all I know the leading contender was kidnapped by Finnish separatists.

I have figured out, however, that it's definitely a big deal. I know that because a Stockholm strip club is running some sort of Elitlopp deal, maybe two for one lap dances? (If my wife is reading this, I did not partake in this activity. I saw a sign for the place. I swear).

Tomorrow, I will actually write about the race. Until then, adjo.

Source Of Pride, Sir Cary's Z Tam Win Elims For Art Rooney Pace

By Frank Drucker (Publicity Director, Empire City @ Yonkers Raceway)

YONKERS, NY, Saturday, May 25, 2013--Yonkers Raceway Saturday night hosted a pair of $40,000 eliminations for the Art Rooney Pace. All told, a dozen 3-year-old pacers--nine colts and three geldings--tried to wedge their way into next Saturday night's $275,000 final.

Here's the sanctioned summary: First elim--New York Sire Stakes champion Doctor Butch (Tim Tetrick), the lone $30,000 supplemental entrant into this event, was put in play early from post position No. 4. He stepped around pole-squatting Source of Power (Dave Miller) well before a :27.3 opening quarter-mile.

After a :56.2 half, Bet the Moon (George Brennan) took out of fourth, engaging the 2-5 favorite toward the 1:25 three-quarters, while second-choice Mach it So (Brian Sears) conducting his business from second-over.

Doctor Butch gruelingly disposed of Bet the Moon, taking a length lead into the lane, However, he first start of the season was not going to be his first win of the season. It was Source of Power going in and going by in 1:53.2. The margin was a length-and-a-quarter over Mach It So, with "Butch" fading to third and Bet the Moon fourth.

That quartet earned berths into the final.

Source Of Pride

wagering choices in descending order) returning $89.

Second elim--They left Sir Cary's Zam (Pat Lachance) his own devices from post No. 3, and he made 'em pay.

Taking over from Good Day Mate (Jason Bartlett) right at the 28-second opening quarter, the 7-5 choice was able to rate a 30-second next interval (:58 half), effectively ended much of the suspense. A funky-gaited Sunfire Blue Chip (Yannick Gingras) pressed the issue down the backside, but was dismissed soon after the 1:25.4 three-quarters. Sire Cary's Z Tam had a couple of lengths in and out of the final

For Source of Pride, a son of American Ideal trained by Jimmy Takter for co-owners (breeder) Brittany Farms, Louie Camara, Al Libfeld, Marvin Katz, he returned $11.40 (third choice) for his third win in four seasonal starts. The exacta paid $39.80, with the triple (three turn, then held off a flying-from-last Lonewolf Courier (Sears) by a head in 1:54.1.

Good Day Mate and "Sunfire" were third and fourth, respectively, securing their seats for the final.

For Sir Cary's Z Tam, a statebred son of Bettor's Delight co-owned (and trained) by his driver, along with M& M Harness Racing and Ira Rosenblum, he returned $4.90 for his second (consecutive) win in four seasonal starts. The exacta paid $12.20, with the triple returning $79.

Next Saturday night also includes the $117,060 Lismore Pace for 3-year-old fillies. Both stakes draws take place Tuesday afternoon.

Saturday night's $46,000 Open Handicap Pace was won by all-age track-record holder Sapphire City (Bartlett, $23.60) in a down-the-road 1:50.4, fastest local mile of the season and matching the all-age standard (Electric Oui) for aged geldings. Foiled Again (Gingras) demanded a rare mulligan after a never-in-it sixth as the 4-5 choice.

The Raceway's five-night-per-week live schedule continues, with first post every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 7:10 PM (note live racing is on hiatus June 2-13) . Evening simulcasting accompanies all live programs, with afternoon simulcasting available around the NYRA schedule.

Cutler Combatants Battle Again in Maxie Lee

By Lucas Marquardt

When last seen Sevruga (Sjs Caviar), Wishing Stone (Conway Hall) and Modern Family (Cantab Hall) were noses apart at the wire of a thrilling Cutler Memorial at the Meadowlands, which went to Sevruga. The three, along with Guccio, were part of a scintillating race in which it was nearly impossible to separate the quartet at the wire.

Today at Chester, the first, second and fourth-place finishers from the Cutler return in the Maxie Lee, with only Guccio passing this one. His place in the lineup will be taken by stablemate Uncle Peter (Cantab Hall).

Sevruga scored a mild upset last out, leading throughout to just hold on and win by a nose at 7-1 for Julie and Andy Miller. He'll try to flaunt his speed this time from post seven, but will likely have to battle early with long shot He's Spooky, sure to leave from the four post. Sevruga is the 5-2 morning line favorite.

Uncle Peter, trained by Jimmy Takter, is likely to take action at the betting windows. He was 0 for 3 on the year before winning last out at Chester in a winners-over.

"I think he'll race well," co-owner John Fielding said. "He seems to have gotten over all his sicknesses and stuff that he had last year. His last few starts have been great. He looked fantastic last week and we expect him to keep going."

The Chester card also includes the $250,000 Betsy Ross for pacing mares. Anndrovette (Riverboat King) never turns in a bad race and looks like the one to beat here for trainer P.J. Fraley and driver Tim Tetrick. She'll face Economy Terror. Now four, Economy Terror (Western Terror) is trying to regain the form that led her to a Dan Patch Award in 2011. She was just 5 for 15 last year.

"It was a financially successful year, but it wasn't exactly what we were hoping for," said co-owner Howard Taylor, an attorney and restaurateur from Philadelphia. "I'm hoping she steps up and regains the stature she had at [age] 2. She's a thrill to own. She's a great mare and maybe a little underappreciated in her career."

Market Share Wins Another Meadowlands Qualifier

The 2012 Hambletonian winner Market Share (Revenue S) took another positive step on the way to his 4-year-old debut, winning a qualifier yesterday at the Meadowlands. With Tim Tetrick driving, Market Share won by a head in 1:56. Trainer Linda Toscano has said that the Maple Leaf Trot at Mohawk is her first major goal of the year.

Market Share went in 1:54.4 in his qualifier the week before, but the track was listed as "good" yesterday morning at the Meadowlands.

Other notable winners included To Dream On (Credit Winner), who by 15 lengths in 1:56.3 and Pet Rock (Rocknroll Hanover) an eight-length winner in 1:50.2

Thunderous Applause For Our "Ridge" Column

Dear Bill: I cannot tell you how much I enjoyed reading your column on Thunder Ridge. Bush tracks have always been my favorites. I once went to Brush (Colo) and they handed me these tickets out of a trough because there was no machine. Always loved the county fairs, especially the days when they ran the Pomona meet and all the gypsies brought in their horses. They effectively ruined a good thing, despite my poison pen, and made Pomona into Fairplex Park which is nothing more than an extension of Del Mar. Never liked that move and for personal reasons. One by one I saw the little one, two and four-horse outfits disappear from view. And they continue to squeeze the little guy, especially in California where things couldn't be worse.

Your column was about as good as it gets. I will forever remember the day Los Alamitos announcer Eddie Burgart and I were at a county fair meet in the California desert. We made more money making small bets than one could imagine, and the jockeys were about as bad as it gets. But who cares?

Good job,
Warren H. Eves

Fascinating Reading, But...

While Bill Finley's Thunder Ridge feature was fascinating reading, I couldn't help but feel disturbed by it. Celebrating the "offbeat and bizarre" in racing, as Finley admits to, is one thing. But an air of voyeuristic revelry accompanying the collapse of a neglected racetrack is another.

The horsemen and spectators shown in the photos accompanying this article were unidentified. Did they not want to give their names, or did it just seem unimportant to mention them by name?

It's depressing when such tracks only attract media attention in the context of their impending closure. I was left wondering at the end of Finley's article about whether there had ever been an effort to promote or revive Thunder Ridge. I have been to rural tracks with no wagering (on live or simulcast races) that were still clean, well-maintained and able to draw decent crowds for seasonal matinee cards. Survival is not just about the handle.

"A chain is only as strong as its weakest link," goes the famous Thomas Reid quote. Something to think about as another "harness racing is dying/dead" story makes the rounds.

Sincerely,
M. Keith

He Likes HRU, But...

To start, I want to say I enjoy each/every edition of HRU...look forward to it, read it and feel more knowledgeable for having done so. For that, I thank you.

But...I have to say, I believe you could have taken a completely different tone in your Thunder Ridge article. We horseplayers (and especially Harness players) get the fact we are a dying breed and there are tracks that probably should just go away for the betterment of racing as a whole. But I felt dirty after reading your article...through the entire read I was hoping you would take a more nostalgic/grass rootsy approach...it never did. Wouldn't it have been nice to talk to the drivers/trainers/owners who I'm sure would have led you to the "we do what we do for the love of the sport" angle?

Not everyone plays basketball in Madison Square Garden...that doesn't mean we should downgrade kids playing in the inner-city parks w/o nets.

A little disappointed.

Thunder Ridge Story a "Masterpiece"

I, too, have always been intrigued by the "offbeat and bizarre" in racing; I, too, am turned off by "sameness." Therefore, I offer you congratulations for your masterpiece on Thunder Ridge. I just read it again, and savored it more the second time. Anyone who missed the essay should go to your "Archives" section and open the May 18 issue. I hope you are nominated, based on your Thunder Ridge piece, for an end-of-year award in some category of equine journalism. The essay and the accompanying photos were flat-out captivating

Gural Needs To Be More Consistent With His Bans

OK, so i see that Jeff Gural has banned Rene Allard from training at all his tracks, and here's my complaint: Jeff won't say why he's banned Allard. If Rene doesn't have a positive there's no reason to ban him from racing at the Meadowlands. If we are going to ban trainers on suspicion of cheating then why are some highly successful trainers with suspect credentials still training at the Meadowlands? We have already banned Lou Pena and Gilbert Garcia from racing at the Meadowlands, even though neither of them has a positive and now unless something comes up we've done the same thing to Rene Allard. It seems to me that this is a bit hypocritical seeing that at least one guy I'm sure most harness fans/gamblers believe to be cheating is still allowed to race there. I commend Jeff Gural for wanting to clean up the sport and hope he succeeds at this task, but with no positive tests by any of these men there's no reason for any of them to be banned. And here's another thing that i found hypocritical: Lou Pena, Gilbert Garcia, Rene Allard are all banned for whatever reasons and Casie Coleman who is coming off a 60-day suspension for a positive can race at the Meadowlands now that her suspension is over. Really???? Seriously????

The Meadowlands (Race 2): Post time favorite Jerseylicious (Corey Callahan) set all the fractions and looked to have tonight's NJSS fillies division wrapped up. Ms Caila J Fra (Simon Allard) made a move from the 2 hole up the inside in the last 8 seconds of the race, took the win by a nose (paying $16.40) and took a new lifetime record (1:50.2).

5, M, $24,000, Pace, NEW JERSEY SIRE STAKES 3 Year Old Colts & Geldings 2nd Leg, M, 26.2, 55.3, 1:23.4, 1:50.4, FT

The Meadowlands (Race 5): In the first NJSS colts division, Emeritus Maximus (Tim Tetrick) stayed on the rail off the start giving Johny Rock (Andy Miller) and Rockaholic (Pat Berry) a little room to duel for the lead ahead of him. As Rockaholic started to lose ground Emeritus Maximus had no choice but to also fall back on the inside and once he broke free, didn't have enough track left to pick up the win finishing behind Johny Rock (1:50.4).

The Meadowlands (Race 11): The heavy favorite ($0.05) Wake Up Peter (Ron Pierce) broke far before the start in tonight's second NJSS colts division. Rock Star (Yannick Gingras) tried out several positions moving from 3rd at the 1/4 (27.1) to 1st at the 1/2 (:55.4), still leading at the 3/4 pole (1:24.2) but dropped back through the field in the stretch to finish 6th. Real Rocker (Corey Callahan) won the final NJSS division tonight in 1:52 with a payout of $31.00.

The Meadowlands (Race 12): Heston Blue Chip (2012 3 year old male pacer of the year) did not start strong in his 2013 debut dropping to the back of the field off the start, but made a quick recovery moving to 3rd by the end of the first turn. Dynamic Youth (Corey Callahan) took the win in 1:51.0 (4 wins tonight for Callahan) with Bettor's Edge (David Miller) and Heston Blue Chip (both trained by Linda Toscano) following.
