Turning a negative into a positive: new Meadowlands races strengthens the industry

How the track and New Jersey breeders and owners worked together to respond positively to the news the Hambletonian was leaving the state.

by Dave Briggs

Dave Landry

Kevin Greenfield said the new $1 million Meadowlands Trot has convinced him to leave stallions Tactical Landing and Karl in New Jersey.

WIRE TO WIRE

with DAVE BRIGGS

About two hours after The Meadowlands announced it would replace the Hambletonian in its 2027 stakes lineup with the new $1 million Meadowlands Trot, Kevin Greenfield reached out to say it was all he needed to hear to keep stallions Tactical Landing and Karl in New Jersey.

Greenfield, the stallion manager for both studs, said he had been planning to move both trotters out of New Jersey due to the Hambletonian and Hambletonian Oaks' departure for Indiana. That was prior to Thursday's (Sep. 17) announcement that Meadowlands owner Jeff Gural and the Standardbred Breeders and Owners Association of New Jersey (SBOANJ) had partnered to fill the gap left by the Hambletonian departing for Indiana.

“I have stallions all over the North America. All of these programs have to survive... This shouldn't be, 'The heck with New Jersey...' We have to look at all of them and try to do the best we can for all of these vibrant programs. This would have been at total tragedy to have nothing happen [in New Jersey] and have the stallions leave... It would have been a huge, critical blow to the industry, one that was maybe not recoverable.”

— Kevin Greenfield

“I always wanted to keep [the stallions in New Jersey],” said Greenfield. “I never wanted to move them [out of state], but I had to have a reason to keep them there. [The Meadowlands and SBOANJ] came through. They did their part, and I immediately announced [the stallions would stay in New Jersey] because that was my intention, and I'm just thrilled.

“I want to thank Jeff Gural and SBOANJ for all their hard work after the Hambletonian left. [The departure] was a big shock, and, essentially, the perception was that the [New Jersey] program was on life support. We needed to come up with something [to fill the gap], and, more specifically, before the Lexington sale, which told everybody that the [New Jersey] program was vibrant, The Meadowlands wasn't going anywhere, and that there was incentives for New Jersey-breds.”

Tactical Landing and Karl both stood at Southwind Farms in New Jersey in 2026, but were due to be moved elsewhere after Southwind announced at the end of June that it will cease operations at the end of the 2028 season. Now, instead of them being moved out of state, Greenfield said the two stallions will transition to Walnridge Farm in Cream Ridge, NJ in order to remain in the New Jersey program.

One of the advantages of the new Meadowlands Trot and the $500,000 Meadowlands Oaks Trot, is a new 20-per cent purse bonus if the winner is New Jersey-sired.

“A million-dollar race and a $500,000 one doesn't help the New Jersey people or the New Jersey-breds,” Greenfield said. “To Jeff’s credit and to the SBOANJ’s credit, they came up with [the bonus], and that’s what was needed.”

In the end, this is about turning a negative into a positive and everyone playing a role to benefit the entire industry.

Oddly, harness racing now finds itself in a better position today than a month ago when the announcement was made that the Hambletonian was moving and concerns grew for the future of racing in New Jersey.

Now the sport has another set of big-money stakes to support a return on investment for the owners and breeders that finance most of the participant side of the equation. That, in turn, is essential for buoying foal crops that help fill fields to drive wagering.

Harness racing needs as many strong jurisdictions as possible and it is imperative that New Jersey remain among them as the home of The Meadowlands, which draws the biggest harness racing handle in the U.S.

Greenfield, who operates Hickory Lane breeding farm in Ohio that is home to seven stallions, said the rise of midwestern jurisdictions such as Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio should not come at the expense of New Jersey or anywhere else – and he’s right.

“I have stallions all over the North America,” Greenfield said. “All of these programs have to survive... This shouldn’t be, ‘The heck with New Jersey...’ We have to look at all of them and try to do the best we can for all of these vibrant programs.

“This would have been at total tragedy to have nothing happen [in New Jersey] and have the stallions leave... It would have been a huge, critical blow to the industry, one that was maybe not recoverable.”

These new races, enhanced purses for other existing stakes such as the Dancer and Miller, and the bonuses are also key for Gural’s lobbying effort to get a casino at The Meadowlands.

He still faces stiff challenges both from politicians in Atlantic City and New York casinos interests, but working in solidarity with New Jersey breeders and owners to put up their own money to keep the track at the forefront of the sport and enhance agriculture in the state surely is more persuasive than his previous stance suggesting he’ll close the track if he doesn’t get a casino.

The new tack – and the fact Gural not only got this done in one month and is ponying up to make good on his promise to fight – sends a signal to the state that The Meadowlands is serious about trying to forge a future; one that is, perhaps, deserving of casino support.

That’s what makes the addition of these new races, and the added bonuses, one of the more positive stories of the year.

For sure, The Meadowlands needs to thrive for the sport to do the same.

But while the track alone still wields a lot of sway in harness racing, it is nowhere close to the power generated when Gural and the breeders, owners and horsepeople work together for the betterment of all.

Ken Jackson is front and center in Kentucky's renaissance

by Murray Brown

Ken Jackson is a man wearing several hats in what I refer to as the renaissance of harness racing in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The truth be known, it is not renaissance at all. The term renaissance denotes a rebirth of an entity. What is now taking place in Kentucky never was, certainly not to near the degree of what is taking place now.

Everything relating to harness racing is up and growing in Kentucky. Purses are at a level far surpassing what we have ever known. New enterprises, whether they be breeding farms, race stables, or training centers continue to sprout up. Instead of just one pari-mutuel racetrack, The Red Mile, the Commonwealth now boasts three. In addition to the historic Red Mile, we now have quality race meets in Oak Grove and Corbin.

The three areas in which Jackson is most prominent are in his joint ownership and management of Kentuckiana Farms, his role in the ownership of the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale, and his role in the stewardship of the rich Kentucky Sires Stakes program, the vehicle which has brought so much new investment in agriculture and prosperity to Kentucky.

We shall attempt to touch upon the three roles in which Jackson is most involved.

KENTUCKIANA FARMS

“You described me as being the ‘Mr. Outside’ in my role at the Farms with my brother-in-law Bob Brady being ‘Mr. Inside.’ That is a very fair description.

“Bob runs the farm and its livestock. I would add that I believe him to be, without a shadow of a doubt, the very best at what he does. He is active in all facets of the operation including dealing with our many clients.

“Bob’s son Ryan appears to be the apple that fell off his father’s tree. He is now our farm manager and is actively involved in the day-to-day running of the farm and the horses on it. We are fortunate that he is so interested and pays attention to detail.

"I am more involved in the business areas of the farm's operations. I work with advertising, banking, finance, syndications, racing stable, handling the relationship with the team at Churchill Downs [owners of Oak Grove Racing, Gaming and Hotel] and our involvement with the politicians and the Kentucky legislature.

"One of the great assets of our relationship is that Bob and I generally stay in our own lanes and each do what we feel is in the best interest of Kentuckiana Farms. The proof in the pudding is that it works.

"Together, we work on major farm issues like acquiring new mares, stallion share purchases, and expenditures of capital.

"The farm has been through several periods of ups and downs. Because of the growth of the Kentucky Sires Stakes program, brought about through the growth of the Historical Horse Racing, we are now in a period of growth and prosperity. I like to think that we have grown and prospered by learning from our mistakes and benefitted through our hard work."

LEXINGTON SELECTED YEARLING SALE

"It's no secret that before the establishment of Lexington Selected Yearling Sale, we, as Kentucky Standardbred Sales Company, and our partners at Tattersalls were operating as competitors.

"The relationship, or lack of one, benefitted neither of us. Worst of all, it made it difficult on our clients.

"Instead of focusing on one week of sales, we were forcing them to attend two. With some clients, it worked. With others, they were forced to choose one sale over the other, or worst of all, not to come to either. The quality of horses offered by both sales were also diluted.

"Instead of having one super select sale, we had two separate ones, each being less selective, but were far shy from being what common sense would dictate it should be.

"Finally, common sense did prevail, and our new team with Randy Manges as our manager got together with the Tattersalls group with Geoff Stein and David Reid running things, to establish the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale. Sadly, Randy and Geoff are no longer with us, but the management team is in the most able hands of Bruce Brinkerhoff and David Reid.

"It's not just me giving my opinion, but the numbers show that we are by far the best standardbred yearling sale in the world. We are not content on resting on our laurels though.

"We know we have a superior operation, but we will continue to tweak things. This year we've eliminated one of our sessions even though we easily could have had more, rather than fewer horses.

“Everything horse related in the Commonwealth [of Kentucky] is growing. Keeneland’s yearling sale now going on is up, attracting untold dollars from throughout the world. I hope that carries forward to our yearling sales; we will find out in just a few short weeks.”

— Ken Jackson

“By dropping that session, we feel we have improved the overall quality of the offering and made things more comfortable for our customers.

“Make no mistake of it, the week of sales and Grand Circuit racing, ‘The Lexington Experience’ is probably the most enjoyable week in all of harness racing. It may also be the most tiring one. Eliminating that one day of sales may lessen the burden and enhance the experience.”

ROLE IN THE SO-CALLED KENTUCKY RENAISSANCE

“I’ve been privileged to have been involved in the program since its inception. I suppose that my role as an advisor to the racing commission is what first brought me to it.

“The installation of Historical Horse Racing at the Kentucky racetracks has been the means by which the necessary financing of the program has been established. The fuel is generated by The Red Mile, Oak Grove, and Corbin.

“Since the horse racing industry was the direct vehicle by which all this money has been raised, then why not use this same industry to implement the growth of not only horse racing and horse breeding, but also as an impetus to help agriculture growth in the Commonwealth?

“To say that the program has been a resounding success, would be among the greatest of understatements. Untold millions have flowed into Kentucky with breeders establishing farms and trainers setting up individual or satellite training centers in the state. In the process, new jobs have been created, and new fans have been introduced to the sport, all to the benefit of Kentucky's best known and its number one industry.

"With our three tracks at Oak Grove, The Red Mile, and Corbin, we've been able to establish a program where people can come to Kentucky and train and race for the majority of the year. It has drawn many to do just that. We kick off the year with a 36-day meet at Oak Grove and a lucrative 4-year-old and newly restructured 2- and 3-year-old Sire Stakes program; one that has received high praise from trainers and owners. Also, the new Oak Grove Trotting Derby and its associated Oak Grove Trotting Oaks now kick off the Grand Circuit season.

"We've also established a four-pronged incentive program with the Wildcat, Goldenrod, Commonwealth, and Kentucky Sires Stakes championship events at The Red Mile, where trainers can race their horses according to their abilities at any given point in time. The program continues to grow. With this growth will come the need to sometime tweak it, so that it continues to be the very best one that our sport offers.

"The race schedule then segues to The Red Mile culminating in the historical Grand Circuit week of racing, the greatest week of racing in our entire sport. The year then winds down at Corbin where overnight racing and year-end lucrative Sire Stakes close out the year for Kentucky bred.

"The growth in attendance and handle has been amazing. At Oak Grove, we began just six years ago with modest daily handles of $40,000-$50,000. Last season, they averaged nearly $400,000 and raced over 36 days. On Oak Grove Derby Eliminations Day, the track handled roughly $875,000.

"Oak Grove is owned by Churchill Downs. I've been privileged to work with the executives running the show. In a few words, they are brilliant, innovative, and driven. They are always willing to try new initiatives. We have found that some things work and perhaps others may not. But its only by trying that we are able to find out.

"Everything horse related in the Commonwealth is growing. Keeneland's yearling sale now going on is up, attracting untold dollars from throughout the world. I hope that carries forward to our yearling sales; we will find out in just a few short weeks."

NOTE: Purely by accident, I discovered that this story is number 350 that I've been involved with for HRU. Last week I received an email from my friend Seth Rosenfeld congratulating me on last week's story on Rex King. I thanked him, mentioning that I felt that it was one of the best ones of the 300 or so I've written for this journal. I thought to myself "300? I wonder how many I've actually written?" So, I went to the HRU website and found that the actual number was 349. No, I've not become my friend Roger Huston, where I keep track of every race call I've made. It was purely by chance that I came upon the number. I thought back to a time seven years ago when the two Daves, Briggs and Reid, persuaded me to embark on writing for HRU. My immediate response was an absolute: No! Here I was 78 years old, newly retired and bored. I had never, or perhaps very rarely, written anything in my entire life. Seventy-eight years of age was no time to begin doing something I hadn't done before. The Daves were persistent. They said "Why not give it a try? Your friend Ronnie Gurfein did it, post career, so can you. With your history in the sport, you have loads to contribute." They dragged me kicking and fighting to begin writing what was destined to become a weekly column. Of all the emotions, I felt when beginning to write, fear was the most prevailing. That is an emotion I still feel, to perhaps a lesser degree each week, when my self-imposed deadline approaches. When I had written less than a hundred columns, my fear, in addition to concern about the quality of the columns was that I was running out of topics to write about. Editor Dave quickly disabused me of the notion. He said, that there are literally hundreds of people and horses that I could profile. As usual, he was right. As for the fear relating to quality, that is still with me. I doubt that it will ever leave. The 350 columns undoubtedly include some stinkers, with probably most of the others being no more nor less than adequate. There have been a few such as the one on Rex King and the second one on Chuck Sylvester which were winners, that I felt in my bones were that from its inception to the time that it appeared in HRU.

Fairhall reflects on first year in charge at Grand River

by Matthew Lomon

September 16 wasn't your average Wednesday at Grand River Raceway.

"Our last day was a Wednesday, which is not always our busiest day, but it was really well attended," said Raceway manager Christine Fairhall. "The tarmac looked great, and patio parties were pretty much maxed out. We had almost 200 people on site that pre-booked for patio parties, so that definitely helped with the energy.

"We even had one group show up all decked out as if they were headed to the [Kentucky] Derby. That seemed to be a common theme this year – people dressing up and making it more of an event than just an evening out."

The Elora, ON oval bid farewell to its first live harness racing season under Fairhall's leadership with an action-packed 10-race card, half of which was dedicated to Ontario Sires Stakes Prospect Series competition.

"We're always excited to host OSS in any form," said Fairhall, the granddaughter of Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Famer Keith Waples.

"While the general public doesn't always understand the difference between the different divisions, the title can make it something both regular and new bettors pay more attention to, which is great."

No further explanation was required for Grand River's marquee race date, Industry Day, which returned with its usual fanfare and enthusiasm for its 37th instalment on Aug. 3.

"Energy and excitement follow Industry Day each year, and we're happy it has the great following it does," Fairhall said. "We had many new faces and young families out for the experience."

The mix of fresh and familiar faces was not only encouraging, but a testament to Grand River's emphasis on making the racetrack a welcoming destination for fans of all ages and experience levels.

"Whether, it started with them coming out for the family-based activities and then getting wrapped into the horses and watching the races, or them coming for the races and then getting wrapped up in the family-based stuff, too – it was great to have everything working together," Fairhall said.

Horseplayers also had their time in the spotlight through the Bet Ontario Handicapping Contest.

The traveling, in-person wagering contest held its fourth leg on Industry Day, with all roads leading to Woodbine Mohawk Park for the championship on Saturday (Oct. 10).

"It was pretty well attended when they were here for Industry Day and our regulars seem to enjoy it," Fairhall said. "Hopefully, some of them will be on their way to the finals."

Fairhall, having been a member of the Grand River team for more than a decade before assuming the role of raceway manager, is no stranger to Industry Day festivities.

This one, however, took on a different feel from her new vantage point.

"Being my first Industry Day in charge, it was a bit nerve-wracking, but the staff here, they know their stuff," she said. "They manage all their departments smoothly with nothing less than professionalism, as they always do. They did an awesome job.

"I just bobbed in and out wherever they needed help."

It was an equally eventful Industry Day on the track, with each of the program's three main events sparing no drama.

The headliner, the $205,000 Battle of Waterloo, saw a pylon violation by the 1-2 favorite C Script result in 5-2 second choice Gogo Gadget being elevated to first.

While not an easy decision, it was one that needed to be made.

"It's unfortunate, but the rules are the rules, and when you're looking at a purse like that, we need to follow them the best we can," Fairhall said.

A different kind of drama defined the five-eighths-mile oval's co-main event, the $165,000 Battle of the Belles, which staged a dominant showing from the John Pentland-trained Jersey Bulldog.

"John said their connections couldn't be happier," said Fairhall, relaying what Pentland told Cujo Entertainment after the 7¼-length triumph.

"They were happy that Bob [driver Bob McClure] chose Jersey Bulldog to steer for the race. They said it was a terrific win for the village that it has taken to get Jersey Bulldog to the winner's circle, and hopefully many more to come."

Pentland's memorable afternoon was punctuated by a historic effort from Redland Rocket Man, who at 15-1, set a Canadian,

“I really enjoy being out amongst the staff, the horsepeople, and the guests [at Grand River] trying to support and help out, which left me sitting behind a desk playing catch up till the wee hours of the morning, but I appreciate the feedback from the people that are here. I’ll do all I can, but I need to realize that I do have limitations and accepting them is something that I need to work on as well.”

OSS, and Grand River track record in the $150,000 OSS Gold leg three event for sophomore pacing colts.

“It was amazing, to say the least,” Fairhall said of the victory in 1:48.2. “With so many eyes already on us, it was the perfect time for that to happen and put us in the spotlight even more.”

Outside of a memory-laden Industry Day, the season that was provided a wealth of standout moments, including two “behind-the-scenes” stories that struck a chord with Fairhall.

The first, as the multi-generational horsewoman described, had a two-pronged effect.

“Due to the new claiming procedure, we have a staff member stand with the claim right after the race until it’s vet checked, and the new connections take over,” Fairhall said. “It gave me a great chance to meet people. While you’re there for half an hour, you can talk to people, get their opinions and their insights.”

She also spent a fair amount of time with a popular claimer, Victor Invictus.

“Early in the season we had one horse who was claimed just about every week,” Fairhall said. “It became a bit of a running inside joke that my buddy ‘Victor’ was on the card, so I’d likely be spending some time with him that day.”

Special occasion number two came courtesy of driver Jason Ryan’s daughter Abby, a racetrack regular who was always keen to lend a helping hand.

“On Harness the Hope Day, we ran a mini beanbag toss fundraiser competition in the paddock,” Fairhall said. “Abby was there helping that night, helping us raise some money, and honestly, just seeing her excitement to give that donation on behalf of the paddock attendees and participants to the Harness the Hope staff was incredible.”

Just days removed from closing the book on her first chapter as raceway manager, Fairhall has already begun to reflect on what the change of scenery has meant for her, both personally and professionally.

“Even though I already had a clue that my time management skills need a little bit of polishing up, I had a wonderful season getting to know the staff outside of the mutuels department, where I had been for the last umpteen years.

“I really enjoy being out amongst the staff, the horsepeople, and the guests trying to support and help out, which left me sitting behind a desk playing catch up till the wee hours of the morning, but I appreciate the feedback from the people that are here. I’ll do all I can, but I need to realize that I do have limitations and accepting them is something that I need to work on as well.”

She credited the Grand River staff, and their “positive attitude and reliability,” for helping ease the transition.

“Our team is here because they want to be here, and they take pride in their work,” Fairhall said. “They do everything they can to make Grand River a place where people want to race and come for entertainment.”

Fairhall’s managerial debut was one characterized by humility and hard work, two qualities that drove her ambition to make Grand River’s guests feel like the staff was doing everything in its power to provide a positive experience.

As far as delivering on that goal, Fairhall, while proud of what was accomplished in 2026, needn’t be reminded there’s always more work to be done.

“I think for the most part we were able to achieve that goal, but like anywhere else, we definitely have room for improvement,” she said. “Over the winter, we plan to take suggestions from staff, attendees, and guest experience support to try and solve some of the issues that were brought up, as well as build on the great foundation that already is in place.”

Go On Boy takes third Grand Prix de Wallonie

by Thomas Hedlund

There was little drama in the final leg of the UET Elite Circuit, Saturday's (Sept. 19) €140,000 Grand Prix de Wallonie at Mons, where Romain Derieux and Go On Boy captured the race for the third time.

Heavy favorite Inexess Bleu (Vittel de Brévol) broke stride immediately as the gate pulled away from the field. Alexandre Abrivard was unable to get the gelding back on gait and his race was over almost before it began.

Keep Going (Follow You) went to the lead for Mathieu Mottier, while Gabriele Gelormini settled Cobra Killer Gar (Readly Express) into the pocket.

That left Go On Boy (Password) first-over, a position Derieux had no intention of accepting for long. After approximately 650 meters, he sent Go On Boy to the front. Once there, the pace slowed considerably – and very little happened from that point on.

Go On Boy drifted out a path at the top of the stretch but remained comfortably in control, holding off the strong-closing Jingle du Pont (Niky) and Krack Time Atout (Face Time Bourbon).

The winning time was a 1:55.2 mile rate for 2,840 meters.

Go On Boy previously captured the Grand Prix de Wallonie in 2023 and 2024, while Inexess Bleu won last year's edition.

Saturday's victory also gave Go On Boy the 2026-27 UET Elite Circuit title, as he moved past Epic Kronos in the standings in the final event of the season. The final in UET Elite Circuit will be held in Turin, Italy on Oct. 11.

FRANCE APPROVES TRANSPORTED CHILLED SEMEN

After months of debate, a decision has been made. Beginning with the 2027 breeding season, France will allow the use of transported chilled semen for artificial insemination of mares.

The SETF committee approved the proposal Thursday (Sept. 17) by a 28-22 vote, after the measure had previously received the support of the breeding commission.

“For the more remote regions, and in order to maintain a functioning geographical network for the French trotter throughout the country, I believe this is a good decision,” committee member Maxime Busset, who voted in favor of the proposal, told LeTROT.

The decision is opposed by the organization representing professional stallion owners.

François Cotreuil, president of the Syndicat des Étalonniers Professionnels de Trotteurs, fears the change could weaken the position of stallion stations and alter the market for French standardbred breeding.

The proposal will now go before the stud book commission before the necessary rule changes are implemented.

ATG SCRAPS V85, BRINGS BACK V75

Swedish wagering operator ATG is abandoning V85. Compared with V75, the V85 turnover was down by nearly SEK 100 million during the summer months of June, July, and August.

Beginning Nov. 28, V75 will return as Swedish harness racing's primary betting product, although with one significant change: the price per combination will increase from SEK .50 to SEK .60.

“When we see that we're losing customers in horse racing wagering, we have to act,” said acting ATG CEO Jörgen Forsberg.

V85 was introduced on Oct. 25 last year, replacing V75 after the latter had spent 32 years as Swedish harness racing's flagship wager. But V85 has struggled during 2026, prompting ATG to reverse course.

“When we launched V85 last year, we believed the game would contribute to change,” ATG chairman Peter Norman said. “We viewed V85 as a marathon, and we stand by that. But the growth we had hoped for has not materialized. It hasn't gained the same traction among customers who wager frequently and for smaller amounts.”

So V85 is out and V75 is back — at a 20 per cent higher base price than before.

And the same ATG board that approved the switch from V75 to V85 remains in place.

That's how it works in Sweden.

Chris Tully

The Hickory Lane Farm crew stands with their $200,000 co-sale topper Perls Hotshot, a filly by first crop stallion Lou's Pearlman.

Ohio Selected Jug Sale breaks sales records, again

by Chris Tully for the Ohio Harness Horse Breeders

For the fifth out of the last six seasons the Ohio Selected Jug Yearling Sale broke its own sales record during this year's edition of the standardbred auction with 268 horses selling for a gross of $9,191,000, which was a 6 per cent increase from 2025. The average price per yearling sold was also up 5.4 per cent to $34,294 from the previous year.

Interestingly, there were three co-sale toppers that each commanded a bid of $200,000. The first was Hip #66 Seaside Memories, a Downbytheseaside colt from a Fear The Dragon mare who was purchase by Burke Racing Stable. The consignor was Clearview Farm.

About an hour later Hip #90 Free Range, an In Range filly from the Spring Haven Farm consignment was sold to Reijo Liljendahl for $200,000. She was from a Chapter Seven mare and from the same maternal family as the freakishly fast CR Kay Suzie.

A few minutes later Hip #95 Perls Hotshot, a filly by first crop stallion and Jug champ Lou's Pearlman was hammered down for $200,000 to Burke Racing Stable. She was consigned by Hickory Lane Farm, Agent for Ivy Holdings, and was that nursery's first sales topper.

Farm owner and syndicate manager Kevin Greenfield could not have been more pleased.

"I am thrilled to have the co-sales topper by our first-year stallion Lou's Pearlman," he said. "They were very well accepted at the sale and we want to thank all the consignors and bidders for their enthusiasm with the stallion."

Lou's Pearlman's average was the highest of all first crop stallions at $45,920, and co-owner Mark Weaver of the Burke Brigade was excited about the results.

"We've been waiting for this day for a long time and are thrilled it went as well as it did for him and everyone that supported him," Weaver said. "To average 10 times his stud fee and have the sale topper at 40 times the stud fee might be uncharted territory."

The 2021 Little Brown Jug winner had 25 sell for a gross of $1,148,000.

Second crop trotting sire Ready For Moni enjoyed the highest average, which was $56,100 for 20 sold for a gross of $1,122,000. Third generation Midland Acres co-manager Jake Mossbarger said, "We are extremely proud of how good he's done. We had a lot of faith in the horse and it's coming through on the track and we are just glad that the owners and the buyers are supporting him. We are super excited for all the breeders who have supported the horse."

Another first crop sire, trotter Branded By Lindy, also enjoyed strong support with an average of $48,111 for nine sold, which was just above last year's leader In Range who had 18 go through the ring for an average of $46,556.

On the pacing side, Downbytheseaside led the charge for the sixth consecutive year, with the high gross of $1,494,000 for 28 sold and an average of $53,357.

The sale is conducted by the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale Company, and general manager Bruce Brinkerhoff was proud of the continued success of the sale, and noted, "We were very pleased with the results of the sale. The consignors brought an outstanding set of horses that were very well received. With the strength of the Ohio program, which is perhaps the best in the nation, people were very eager to bid and buy. In addition, we had a significant amount of participation from people outside the state. There were a lot of new faces."

"We are very happy for Ohio breeders who enjoyed another record-breaking sale with high gross and high average."

Burke Racing was the top buyer spending $537,000 for five purchases, followed by William Hartt (eight, $506,000) and Reijo Liljendahl (three, $470,000).

Midland Acres topped the consignor gross sales category with $1,392,000 in total for 50 sold. They were followed by Spring Haven Farm with $1,044,000 (35), Rose Run Farm with $936,000 (19), and Hickory Lane Farm with $929,000 (19).

Clearview Farm led the consignor average category at $64,000 for eight sold. Abby Stable was second in consignor average with $61,000 for two sold, followed by Spring Run Farm at $55,000 for two sold.

Huntsville colt One Adam Twelve tops Goshen Yearling Sale

by James Platz

The 2026 edition of the Goshen Yearling Sale was held Monday (Sept. 14) at the Mark Ford Training Center in Middletown, NY. During the session, which kicked off at noon, 123 of the 130 yearlings cataloged sold for a gross of $1.66 million, signaling a $13,520 average.

Huntsville colt One Adam Twelve topped the session, bringing a $77,000 final bid. Consigned by Cameo Hills Farm, the bay is out of Artsplace mare One Last Kiss, who has produced six winners from seven foals including world champion Kiss Me Onthebeach and sophomore Say Goodnight, recently runner-up in the $300,000 PASS final for filly pacers. Cataloged as Hip #113, One Adam Twelve was purchased by Mark Ford.

A total of 10 babies by Huntsville sold during the session, averaging $22,050.

A pair of Crazy Wow progeny followed the sale topper in the results. Brother Lucas was hammered down for $50,000, while Jamari fetched $35,000. Brother Lucas, part of the Leatherstocking Equine consignment, is a full brother to $500,000 winner Sister Mary Maude. His dam, Perfect Mass, is a sister to two-time O'Brien Trotter of the Year Perfetto. Ron Harp signed for the colt as an agent.

Jamari, Hip #92 in the sale, is a colt that is eligible to both the New York and Kentucky programs. Consigned by Silver Tradition Stable, he is the first foal from Muscle Hill mare Lindy's Paloma, sister to six-figure earner I'll Have A Lindy and sophomore Onemorenkickmeout, now an eight-time winner with $87,735 on his card. Paul Kelley purchased the colt, one of his three acquisitions of the session.

Crazy Wow had the largest contingent in the catalog with 27 yearlings. The group averaged $16,426.

A pair of yearlings from the first crop of Cannibal landed within the top 10 sold on the day. Going Savage, a Leatherstocking Equine entry, brought $33,000, while Cherie Blue Chip, sold for $28,000. Cataloged as Hip #100, Going Savage is a New York and Massachusetts eligible colt from 100 per cent producing So Surreal mare Shesgoinggoingone. He was purchased by Our Three Sons Racing. Filly Cherie Blue Chip, Hip #98, is also dual eligible to New York and Massachusetts. From the Blue Chip Farms consignment, she is the second foal from an Art Major mare and her pedigree page includes 2022 Horse of the Year Bulldog Hanover.

Fifteen yearlings sired by Cannibal sold, producing a $14,213 average.

Cameo Hills Farm led all consignors in both the number of yearlings sold and gross sales. The group of 37 farm and agent babies generated sales of $612,500, good for a $16,554 average. Blue Chip Farms topped consignors in sale average, with eight yearlings selling for $138,000 while averaging $17,250.

Leatherstocking Equine sold 24 yearlings for $321,200 ($13,383 avg), a group of 21 yearlings from Winbak Farm brought $297,500 ($14,167 avg), while eight from Silver Tradition Stable garnered sales of $110,500 ($13,813 avg) and two dozen consigned by Eric Taddeo brought $177,200 ($7,383 avg).

Total sales were up slightly over the 2025 mark of $1.636 million, but the result was reached with 14 more yearlings passing through the sales ring. Monday's average indicated a nearly 10 per cent decrease from the $15,009 mark of one year ago. Those decreases continued when breaking down the results by sex and gait. A group of 27 trotting colts averaged $17,019 (21 for $17,619 last year) while 30 trotting fillies averaged $13,557 (27 for $14,796 in 2025). On the pacing side, 33 colts averaged $13,218 (28 for $14,571) and 33 fillies averaged $10,924 (33 for $13,894).

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

Harness racing was worth the wait for Kayla Chappell

by Victoria Howard

Kayla Chappell was born in Victoria, BC, and raised in Cloverdale, BC. Both parents worked in the industry, grooming, training and driving, while their daughter showed Arabian horses.

Chappell competitively showed at the national level for over 10 years before trying her luck in the sport that her parents loved; harness racing.

The family raced at Fraser Downs and if that sounds familiar it's probably because one of harness racing's best female trainers, Casie Coleman, also started there.

Chappell and Coleman both attended the same school, Lord Tweedsmuir Secondary, which was located on top of the hill overlooking the racetrack.

On the West Coast in Canada, they only race pacing horses so it wasn't until Chappell ventured out to Ontario that she learned about trotters.

"For the past three years I have worked for trainer Andrew Harris," Chappell said. "Harris is the trainer of one of the top stables in harness racing today. He is so good at what he does and working for him has been an honor."

Harris has trained many champions, most recently, Brandon Blvd, one of the sports best 3-year-old pacers who won the $800,000 Meadowlands Pace, giving him his first victory in the track's signature pacing event in his 23-year career as a trainer.

But being in the limelight is nothing new to Harris for he trained Yo Tillie, Monserrate, Abuckabett Hanover, Cambridge Hanover, Funtime Bayama, and others.

"My boyfriend and I both work for Andrew," Chappell said. "For the past three years we are in Kentucky [during the summer] and when the meet at The Red Mile is over, we pack up and head to New Jersey and remain there until mid-April, and then we start the process all over again."

Brad Conrad

Andrew Harris and Kayla Chappell with Topville Lucky after winning the $100,000 Nadia Lobell for 3-year-old pacing fillies in July at Eldorado Scioto Downs.

"I take care of five horses [for trainer Andrew Harris], and each one is like my child. I used to drive, but due to health problems I don't really drive anymore. I miss it a lot and still enjoying jogging and training. We mainly race at The Red Mile in Lexington."

— Kayla Chappell

“I am grateful for the opportunity to work with all these great horses, and I also want to thank our owners Bruce Areman and Bill Pollock [Punisher 11 Stable] for without them none of this would have been possible. They have put so much into the business.”

— Kayla Chappell

“I take care of five horses, and each one is like my child. I used to drive, but due to health problems I don’t really drive anymore. I miss it a lot and still enjoying jogging and training. We mainly race at The Red Mile in Lexington.

“Last year, Gala set a track record at Cumberland Run for 2-year-old fillies on a five-eighths-mile track and was only one-fifth-of-a-second off equaling a new world record on a five-eighths for 2-year-old fillies. She holds the track record at Cumberland for 2-year-old fillies.”

Chappell said she feels blessed to be working alongside one of harness racing’s top trainers.

“It has given me many great opportunities to care for some amazing animals,” she said. “The fastest horse I have taken care of is the filly Topville Lucky who took a mark of 1:49.1 last season as a 2-year-old at The Red Mile.

“Of course, every one of my horses are special to me, but the one who will always remain at the top of the list is Zeppole Hanover [Zeppy for short].

“This year Zeppy didn’t come to Kentucky with us and remained in New Jersey. He is such a joy to be around who has the ‘typical golden retriever’ personality and loves his donuts. I have taken care of Zeppy since I started working for Andrew so of course, he’s a spoiled brat.”

Last year at The Red Mile, Chappell could be seen leading Zeppy to the field on her electric scooter while he proudly donned his zebra fly sheet.

“If that didn’t bring a smile to your face, nothing will,” she said with a laugh.

Topville Lucky is also high on Chappell’s list of horses that she’s cared for.

“She will always be super special to me because it was ‘Lucky’ who gave me my first Grand Circuit win at The Red Mile,” Chappell said. “Recently, Lucky won the Nadia Lobel at Scioto Downs and finished a strong third in the Adioo Volo held at The Meadows.”

Chappell also looks after Heart For Two, a chestnut 3-year-old trotting filly.

“I’ve had her since she came to our barn after they purchased her at the sale and yes, although she’s red, she’s definitely one of my favorites,” Chappell said. “But really, I can’t choose one horse I care for that I wouldn’t put on my favorite list, I love them all.”

As a woman in harness racing, Chappell values those that came before her.

“Yes, women have certainly come a long way in the sport. I believe that all the women in the industry are superstars. We all are trying to pave our own path and make a name for ourselves. The two women that pop into my head are Casie Coleman and Lauren Tritton. They are both very smart and talented horsewomen who have definitely made a huge mark for the women in the business.

“As I said, Casie also came from Victoria, BC in Canada and we are so proud of her over there. It amazed me how Casie ran her barn and was super successful conditioning and training one superstar after another. Coleman won three Little Brown Jugs and was the trainer for many world champions, such as American Ideal, McWicked, Betting Line, Michaels Power, Vegas Vacation, Sportswriter, and Betterthancheddar. Casie is extremely intelligent and one of the smart ones who worked her butt off and was able to retire early in life.

“And then there’s driver Lauren Tritton. Watching her drive is amazing. She looks so relaxed and in control. Lauren runs a barn, drives in the races, and raises a family. She’s not very big in stature but is huge in the bike, even against the best male drivers. Lauren’s always showing the boys that the girls can drive against the best, and win.”

Chappell said she appreciates everyone who has helped her along on her harness racing journey.

“I am grateful for the opportunity to work with all these great horses, and I also want to thank our owners Bruce Areman and Bill Pollock [Punisher 11 Stable] for without them none of this would have been possible. They have put so much into the business.”

In 2022, Chappell won Outstanding Groom of the Year at the O’Brien Awards. Although this is a huge honor, she considers her biggest accomplishment in life to be her sons, Will and Andy, ages 11 and 13, respectively.

CHAPTER 6

Do not blow our cover

“What connection?” “You mean like an informant or a mole?” Hooley spoke a little louder than normal.

Heads turned in the Florence Police Department toward the senior detective as he conducted a FaceTime interview with two senior citizens from Topeka.

His partner, Bones Marchais, who was listening from a desk chair out of camera view, scooted his chair forward a few inches.

Department members Rosemarie Foster from tech and Dennis Arnold from vice began to watch the show from over Marchais’ shoulder. The trio of off-screen officers crowded together like teenagers ready to take a selfie.

For the benefit of late arrivals, Hooley asked the women to verify his recap.

He took a steadying breath and said, “Mrs. Elison.”

“Adele, please.”

“Adele, let’s get this straight. A man from Kentucky, who grew up in your neighborhood, finds your late husband’s obituary, shows up out of the blue, and randomly tries to lure you into investing in a racehorse.”

“Yes, but not randomly. He had a plan.”

“You know the guy is as shady as a lawyer with a shovel at midnight. You know he is trying to defraud you under the guise of advising you to save on inheritance taxes.”

“Yes.”

“You knock on your neighbor’s door, explain the situation, and she willingly joins the party.”

“Correct.”

“So now he is trying to swindle both of you. You know it, and yet you still get involved, and you still ARE involved.”

Adele said, “Yes, and now the police are on the case. Isn’t this thrilling?”

Doreen, the lady with the tiara, said, “I joined the Assets Accepted ownership group after the call from Kentucky. Actually, it was a FaceTime, just like this one, but with Peter.”

“Peter Pettigrew, the other cousin, the horse trainer, he contacted you?”

“Yes.”

Hooley tried another route.

“Did either of you have any previous involvement or knowledge about the sport of harness horse racing?”

The tiara answered brightly, “No, absolutely none, but we have learned quite a bit since the deal went down. We are learning about pedigrees, staking horses, qualifying, and training.”

Adele added, “With computers and a little curiosity, it’s amazing how quickly you can learn. Plus, we have each other to bounce questions off, and, of course, money on the line. And then there is Peter.”

Hooley said, “Yes, Peter, let’s get back to the horse trainer. What did he have to say?”

Adele clasped her hands together to compose her thoughts, paused, and said, “Alex the weasel did not take long to boast to his cousin, the horse trainer, that he had two old fish on the line ready to be gutted.”

“Oh my God,” Hooley blurted.

Bones slapped his right hand on the top of his head.

Foster and Arnold found folding chairs and sat down.

Adele spoke softly with a Cheshire cat smile, "Alex, the problem cousin, underestimated the goodness of his cousin. Peter was not interested in fish. He quickly called to protect us."

"What did he say?" asked Hooley.

The tiara said, "Peter said, 'Absolutely, under no circumstances get involved in any way with Alex. I want him to settle his divorce, stay away from the racetrack, and move away. He is like a fungus that attaches to anything and anyone – my cousin is a no-go zone.'"

Hooley asked, "You were both aware of this warning?"

"Oh yes."

"Yes."

Hooley hunched his shoulders. "I'm having trouble processing this."

Adele sighed, "We are blessed. At this stage of our lives, the money is irrelevant. The adventure is more important. We are learning about a new sport, having fun, and we have, um, insulated ourselves from Alex. Doreen is key to our plans, and her participation gives us leverage."

"Plans? Leverage?"

Adele waved a schoolmarm finger. "Do not underestimate us."

"Not a chance. So, you are telling me that Alex has no idea that his cousin and you ladies are in contact?"

"No, Detective Hooley, and it is very important that he does not. Please take care not to blow our cover."

There was a pause while all four officers silently exchanged looks of amazement.

"What did Peter say about the racehorse that you invested in?"

"Peter said horses are a risky way to make money, but this filly is the best-bred horse he'd ever owned. Then Peter said, and these were his exact words – 'The trotting filly has a chance. My cousin is hopeless and ruthless.'"

Hooley glanced at his partner. Marchais held a sheet of paper pinched in his fingers with the word printed across it: CONKLIN.

Hooley nodded, "Ladies, do you know Martha Pettigrew Conklin?"

They answered in a duet, "No."

Adele followed up, "Is she married to Alex or Peter?"

"Alex, but she is not married to him anymore."

"Poor woman. Apparently, she did not do her due diligence. I'm sure it ended badly."

"The marriage was extremely short and not sweet."

"Is this Martha woman of sound mind?"

"Yes, maybe a touch of temporary insanity."

"How does she figure in the equation?" Adele asked.

"The horse, Assets Accepted, was funded using her money, but Alex holds the ownership papers for his share of the horse. It's a property settlement issue that is flaring up now that the horse has value."

The tiara dropped back into the chat, clapping in glee, "Romance, intrigue, a bitter divorce, horse racing action, it just keeps getting better and better. Do keep us up to speed; we may co-author a novella."

Adele said, "If there is a touch of violence, we could do a podcast." Adele said with a smile.

Kngtstlkrs Games posts 57-1 Elegantimage elim stunner

by Mark McKelvie / Woodbine communications

Nuance and Kngtstlkrs Games were the top performers in Friday's (Sept. 18) eliminations for the Grade 1 Elegantimage Stakes at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

With a pair of eliminations taking place, a group of 18 3-year-old trotting fillies were vying to secure a spot in Saturday's (Sept. 26) $400,000 final.

Marcus Melander trained Nuance was able to reach up in the final strides to nail Leading Lady for a 1:52.1 victory in the first $35,000 elimination.

With James MacDonald driving, Nuance got away fifth and would get a nice second-over tow behind Sparks heading around the far turn. Leading Lady made a move up the backstretch from third to grab the lead away from Storybook Love at a :56.4 half.

After reaching three-quarters in 1:24.4, Leading Lady looked poised to convert on her 1-2 billing. However, Nuance unleashed a wicked :26.4 final-quarter to track down the leader and win by a head. Storybook Love was third, while Upto Laura Hanover and Sparks completed the top five.

Nuance entered Friday's race off her first win of the season on Sept. 6 in the Pennsylvania Sires Stakes consolation. The daughter of Greenshoe has been providing consistent efforts, finishing first or second in now six straight starts. Friday's win was her fourth career and pushes her earnings over $200,000 for owners Courant Inc.

A $2 win ticket on Nuance paid $9.60.

Kngtstlkrs Games and driver Louis-Philippe Roy pulled off a 57-1 stunner in an action-packed second elimination.

A quartet of fillies took turns on the lead until Kngtstlkrs Games reached up in the final strides for the eye-catching 1:51.2 victory. Cher Hill was the fourth leader in the opening five-eighths-of-the-mile, touching down on the lead shortly after a :55.4 half. The 2-5 favorite, Busy Miss Lissy S was first over around the far turn, edging to Cher Hill's wheel at three-quarters in 1:23.2. Kngtstlkrs Games was third-over turning for home.

Cher Hill dug in gamely to fight off Busy Miss Lissy S, which appeared to be the main threat. However, Kngtstlkrs Games kept on powering on the outside to make it three across coming into deep stretch and did get up in the final stride for the career-best victory.

Busy Miss Lissy S was third, while Sharp Seven and Lainey W were the final fillies to advance to the final.

A homebred for Knightstalker Stable, Kngtstlkrs Games entered off a non-winners of three victory on Sept. 7 at Mohawk, her third win in six starts. The Peter Shody trainee had tried the Kentucky Sires Stakes throughout the month of August.

Kngtstlkrs Games is a daughter of Calgary Games. She now has five wins and $118,479 in career earnings.

A $2 win ticket returned $116.70.

Elimination winners secured a post position anywhere from 2 through 6 for the $400,000 Elegantimage final. The post draw for the Grade 1 event was conducted Friday night.

Swan Good Bi stays perfect, takes Peter Haughton at Hoosier

by Jacob Rheinheimer / Harrah's Hoosier Park

Harrah's Hoosier Park played host to a pair of Grade 1 events on Friday, Sept. 18 with local hero Swan Good Bi staying perfect on the season in the $475,100 Peter Haughton Memorial for 2-year-old trotting colts, and Birr Castle heading a Marcus Melander trained trifecta in the $483,350 Jim Doherty Memorial for rookie trotting fillies.

In the Haughton, Swan Good Bi (driven by Jordan Ross) left from post 4 as the 9-2 second choice next to Presidente (Scott Zeron) who was the 2-5 favorite. The two left as a team off the wings, with Presidente crossing over in front of Swan Good Bi to take the field of 10 to the opening quarter in a quick :27.1. Zeron grabbed into Presidente on the backstretch, slowing the pace down to a :57.1 half while Dream Shaq (Dexter Dunn) led the outer flow from fourth. Presidente began to get separation around the final turn, opening up by three lengths at three-quarters in 1:25.1 while Swan Good Bi continued to give chase in second.

Turning for home, Swan Good Bi began to eat into the deficit, tipping out for the drive to take aim at Presidente. Gathering steam with a :27.3 final quarter, Swan Good Bi grabbed racetrack despite drifting out in the lane and surging past Presidente to score the victory by 1½ lengths in 1:53.2. Yankee Boss (Tim Tetrick) rallied from the backfield to be third, with Ponda Cheetah (Marcus Miller) rounding out the super at 70-1.

Henry Graber, Jr. trains the Grade 1 winning Swan Good Bi who is six-for-six to begin his career. Ernie Lambright bred the gelded son of Swan For All—Bange Bi who was a $30,000 yearling buy at 2025's Midwest Standardbred Yearling Sale for owners Indiana Stables LLC, Frank Baldachino, Michael Rosenthal, and James Zito. Swan Good Bi boasts a career bankroll of $320,800 following the career best effort, with the 1:53.2 clocking matching the track record for 2-year-old trotting geldings established in 2021 by Dover In Motion. Swan Good Bi paid $11.40 to win.

Dean Gillette

Swan Good Bi (Jordan Ross) winning the $475,100 Grade 1 Peter Haughton Memorial on Friday at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

In the very next race, Birr Castle got the best of a three-way Marcus Melander trained battle to the wire with Zeron in the sulky in the Jim Doherty Memorial.

Leaving from the rail as the 3-2 second choice, Birr Castle got away in third while Two Day Hangover (Mattias Melander) quickly crossed over to the cones from the outside and was under fire from Athena's Girl (Dunn) who pressed on to her outside through a :27.3 first split. Athena's Girl took command moving onto the backstretch, with the Marcus Melander trainees in firm control first through third en route to the half in :57.1. Birr Castle tipped off the pylons moving into the final turn, charging into second on the outside while Athena's Girl brought the fillies to three-quarters in 1:26.

Birr Castle raced at the Dunn wheel at the head of the lane while Athena's Girl drifted off the cones allowing Two Day Hangover to advance along the cones. The fillies slugged it out from there, with Birr Castle taking flight in the final stages with a :27.1 last quarter and win by a neck in 1:53.2. Two Day Hangover was up for second along the inside, with Athena's Girl third just a half-length back of the winner.

Birr Castle has won five of six to begin her career, with her lone defeat a runner-up effort in Pennsylvania Sire Stakes at Pocono Downs. The Pheasant Hill Farm homebred daughter of Captain Corey—Melania pushed her career earnings to $476,356 following the career best effort. With the win, Birr Castle earned an automatic bid to the Breeders Crown final at Scioto Downs on Friday (Oct. 23) as part of the "Win & You're In" incentive. Birr Castle paid $5.20 to win.

Earlier in the program, Dancingdreamer driven by Dunn for trainer Tyler George wired the field in an impressive outing to win the $78,750 Hoosier Cup final for Indiana sired 3-year-old pacing colts.

Scoring out of the gates from post 4, Dancingdreamer made quick work of the five-horse field to the first turn in 26:4 with the post-time favorite Swiss Lights (Trace Tetrack) just behind the leader. Dancingdreamer kept the rest of the field on the same number to the halfway mark in :55.2. Aces And Cinches (Kyle Wilfong) was the first to flinch along the outside, going first-over on the leader from fourth. Dancingdreamer stayed in rhythm at the helm through the three-quarters in 1:23.2. Down the stretch, Aces And Cinches took aim at the leader up the middle with Swiss Lights to his left and What Nooo Waaay (John De Long) on the far outside. Dancingdreamer never gave them another chance as he powered home to the wire with a :25.3 kicker home to trip the beam in 1:49 by 2¾ lengths. Swiss Lights claimed second, while What Nooo Waaay charged into third.

The Rockin Image colt is owned by Desyllas Racing LLC, William Beck, and Jeffery Eckburg. Dancingdreamer was bred by Luckiana Farm. The 3-year-old boosted his lifetime earnings to $344,130 for his fourth win of the year.

Harrah's Hoosier Park will be dark on Tuesday (Sept. 22); however, the race office will be busy with the draw of the Grade 2 Caesars Trotting Classic presented by Kountry Lane Standardbreds which headlines a stakes laden card on Friday (Sept. 25).

Goodwalkspoiled set to take her swing

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Goodwalkspoiled is ready to tee it up in the Kentucky Championship.

A 2-year-old daughter of Pebble Beach whose name is a nod to the oft-quoted description of playing golf, Goodwalkspoiled will be among nine horses hoping to capture the trophy in today's (Sept. 20) $400,000 Kentucky Championship Series final for freshman filly pacers at Lexington's Red Mile.

The Red Mile hosts all eight Kentucky Championship Series finals for pacers and trotters today, with racing beginning at 5:05 p.m. (EDT). The Kentucky Championship events are races 3 through 10.

Goodwalkspoiled has posted three wins in five races this season and earned $70,000 for driver Kyle Husted and trainer Amy Husted, with Husted Racing LLC sharing ownership of the filly with John Schwarz, Jr. She won a leg of the Kentucky Championship Series on Aug. 25 in 1:51 at The Red Mile. On Aug. 4, she won a division of the lower-level Commonwealth Series in 1:50, a mark that is the fastest of the Championship Series finalists and ranks behind only three 2-year-old filly pacers in North America.

She will leave from post 7 today and is the 9-2 third choice on the morning line.

"We've known since training her down that she was wicked fast," Amy said. "She was a little tricky to get going — she had some attitude issues — but once it clicked, we knew she had the speed. Around March, we knew she was pretty nice. But you could have a nice one, and then everyone else has a lot nicer ones. So, you never know. We didn't want to get our hopes up. But we knew she was special; for us, anyway.

"I like her spunkiness. She's very nice to jog and train, she's smart, and she takes care of herself — but she has feistiness to her as well."

Goodwalkspoiled, out of the mare Play Nice, is from the first crop of stallion Pebble Beach, who was a Dan Patch Award winner as a 3-year-old in 2022. The Indiana-based Husted's purchased Goodwalkspoiled, a half-sister to Pennsylvania stakes winner Ain'tplayinnice, for $27,000 at this past October's Midwest Standardbred Select Yearling Sale.

"We loved watching Pebble Beach race, and Kyle and I always said we thought he would be a really good sire because he was so fast," Amy said. "We looked at her at the sale, and we fell in love with her. She was big, strong, perfect conformation. We thought she would be out of our price range. Maybe we just got lucky."

Goodwalkspoiled heads to today's race off a seventh-place Championship Series finish on Sept. 6, when she led for three-quarters of the race. Her past four starts show a pattern of alternating wins and seventh-place finishes.

"She wins and then she throws a clunker," Amy said. "Last week, was her clunker. Maybe this will be her good week."

Amy added about the performances, "The times that she raced below average, she scoped with some mucous. Not anything terrible, just a little sickness. When you have to race as tough as these races, you have to be a hundred per cent. We've battled a lot of allergy issues with her all year, and I think that just got the best of her."

Today's $400,000 purse will equal the most lucrative that Husted's training stable has competed for.

"It's what we dream about," Amy said. "Especially with one that we picked out, and broke and trained down. Our partner is great. We've had horses together going on six years now, and he's amazing and very supportive. It would be just so much fun if we could get a little piece of it. It's definitely what we've dreamt about for a long time."

Kountry Legacy, a daughter of Capt Midnight—Shartin N, is the 5-2 morning-line favorite in the Kentucky Championship Series final for 2-year-old filly pacers. She has four wins and two second-place finishes in seven races this season. She will leave from post 3 with Trace Tetrick driving for trainer Jeff Cullipher.

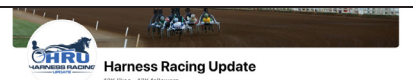

The 7-2 second choice is My Taylors Swift, who has a win and four seconds in six races. She will go from post 6 with Ronnie Wrenn, Jr. in the sulky for trainer Ron Burke.

A pair of geldings supplement into the 81st Little Brown Jug

The connections of Redland Rocket Man and Toast Of The Town have made the $45,000 supplemental payment and are now eligible for the 81st edition of the Little Brown Jug on Thursday (Sept. 24) at the Delaware County Fair.

Redland Rocket Man is the fastest sophomore pacer in North America this season thanks to his 1:46.4 effort in the $100,800 Grade 3 Simcoe Stakes last Saturday (Sept. 12) at Woodbine Mohawk Park, defeating Jug eligibles Sweet Lovin Lou and the defending Horse of the Year Beau Jangles.

The Bulldog Hanover—Granny Hanover gelding has earned $377,020 for the partnership of Murray Cox, Gary Volpe, and trainer John Pentland.

Toast Of The Town is owned by the quartet of Let It Ride Stables, Morrison Racing Stables, Jesmeral Stable, and Alberg Racing.

He comes into the Jug on a three-race win streak, setting his lifetime mark of 1:48.1 in the final leg of the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows (Aug. 28).

Noel Daley conditions the Sweet Lou—New Year gelding, who has earned $246,117.

The entire Little Brown Jug field will be drawn when the entry box closes on Monday (Sept. 21) at 10 a.m.

The Little Brown Jug is presented by the Ohio Harness Horseman's Association.

Vanna By The River supplements into the Jugette

The Our Three Sons Stable has paid the $15,000 supplement to add Vanna By The River to the 56th edition of the Jugette, to be contested Wednesday (Sept. 23) at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Vanna By The River enters the Jugette in sharp form, fresh off a runnerup finish in the $300,000 Ohio Sire Stakes final on Sept. 12, missing the victory by just a half-length. The consistent daughter of Downbytheseaside—Sweet Ace has hit the board in 13 of 16 starts this season and boosted her career bankroll to $270,680. Her 1:50 lifetime mark was taken in the Independence Day leg of the OHSS at Eldorado Scioto Downs.

Cory Stratton conditions the sophomore filly, who was purchased for $48,000 as a yearling at the Ohio Select Sale.

The remainder of the Jugette field will be finalized today (Sept. 20) when the entry box closes.

Breeders Crown Charity Challenge kicks off

The Breeders Crown Charity Challenge (BC³), presented by Prolific Equine, has officially kicked off as we count down to the Breeders Crown being held at Eldorado Scioto Downs Oct. 16-17 (eliminations) and 23-24 (finals).

The BC³ began in 2019 and raises funds for charities in the Breeders Crown host community. The 2026 Breeders Crown will be held at Scioto Downs in South Columbus and the local charities include:

- Ronald McDonald House – Central Ohio – located directly across the street from Nationwide Children's Hospital in Columbus, they provide housing for families whose child is receiving ongoing treatment
- Make-A-Wish Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana – based out of Columbus and creates life-changing wishes for children with critical illnesses
- Greater Columbus Sports Foundation – supports the development of amateur athletes and facilitates competition space as a platform for positive social impact
- Folds of Honor – Central Ohio – provides scholarships, for both higher education and for grades K-12, to spouses and children of fallen and disabled U.S. military service members and first responders, including police, fire-fighters, EMTs, and paramedics

Each charity has been teamed up with an Ohio-based harness racing driver, with each driver having a BC³ Facebook page to help spread the word about raising the funds needed to help local community charities.

The drivers include:

- David Miller (Make-A-Wish Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana) – the 61-year-old was inducted into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in 2014 and is currently North America's all-time leading driver both in wins (15,000) and earnings ($303 million)
- Chris Page (Folds of Honor) – the 42-year-old is a 10-time winner of the Jerry Kaltenbach Memorial, awarded to the driver who earned the most during a single season of the Ohio Sires Stakes
- Ronnie Wrenn, Jr. (Greater Columbus Sports Foundation) – the 40-year-old is a second-generation horseman with 9,300 driving wins since 2008 and over 40,000 starts
- Austin Hanners (RMHC-Central Ohio) – the 27-year-old started driving in 2016 and already has over 1,066 wins and horses he has driven have earned over $17-million

Ways to donate to the BC³ include:

- Purchase a stallion breeding at the BC³ Stallion Auction, held during the Lexington Selected Sale on Tuesday (Oct. 6)
- On-track during Breeders Crown eliminations weekend on October 16-17
- Checks can be mailed, with Breeders Crown Charity Challenge in the memo line, to:

Scioto Downs, Attn: Jenna Otten, 6000 S High St, Columbus, OH 43207
Checks will be presented to each of the charities on Friday (Oct. 23).

The amount each charity receives will be determined by points earned:

- via social media engagement through each driver's Facebook page
- from a double seated jog cart race on the Friday Breeders Crown elimination night
- from a handicapping contest between each charity on the Friday Breeders Crown elimination night
- via a poll on the @SciotoRacing X account, held during the last two weeks of the BC³

Three horses look to complete Ohio Triple Crown at Delaware

As Cleveland Darby crossed the finish line at Eldorado Scioto Downs on Sept. 12 to win the $300,000 Ohio Sires Stakes Scarlet championship for freshman filly pacers, Carl Howard had a bit of an out-of-body experience.

"I don't normally act like that," said Howard, of R A S Racing. "I remember doing that but don't know why I did it."

In a moment captured in a video posted to social media, Howard is bent over before rising to celebrate with a huge smile on his face. Cleveland Darby, a homebred for Howard, was officially an OHSS champion.

"I just put my hand down for a second and thanked my dad and my father-in-law, and I just wished they were both there to see it," Howard said. "I said, 'Thank you to both you guys for helping make me the man that I am.' My dad gave me the work ethic, and my father-in-law was a lifetime restaurateur, and I made my money in the restaurant business. To breed and have a nice piece of a horse that wins an Ohio Sires Stakes championship is really special."

R A S Racing, of Powell, OH, owns Cleveland Darby in partnership with Burke Racing Stable, Weaver Brussemi, and Lawrence Karr. Going off with 18-1 odds, Cleveland Darby took the lead at the top of the final stretch and held off heavy favorite Tempting Flames – who equaled the world record for a five-eighths-mile track with a 1:50 mile in the fourth leg of the OHSS at Scioto Downs on Aug. 18 – to win by a length in a lifetime-best 1:51. The victory was her fifth in eight seasonal starts, increasing her earnings to $306,000. Looking back, Howard hadn't been aligned with the bettors in seeing her as such a longshot.

"I thought she was going to have to be on her 'A' game, but I don't think people realized how good she's been," he said.

The Downbytheseaside filly out of Loreenas Ruffian made her first career start in the $150,000 Next Generation at Scioto Downs and finished fourth. An inauspicious sixth-place finish in the first leg of the OHSS followed, but she has won five of her six starts in the time since. She has been paired with driver Chris Page all season, and Howard also credits trainer Ron Burke with how well the horse has progressed.

“Ronnie has done an amazing job and kept working on her and made some changes – last weekend was the first time that she had earplugs in,” he said.

That victory on Sept. 12 was the culmination of a story that began at the 2023 Little Brown Jug. After selling Loreenas Ruffian foal Women Layer – a 5-year-old Sweet Lou gelding with 31 career wins and $1,025,797 in earnings – Howard decided to keep the mare’s future foals. Howard, who has missed just two Little Brown Jug races since 1981, approached Mark Weaver, of Weaver Brussemi, and Burke at the 2023 Jug to discuss partnering to own those foals. An agreement was made, and Karr joined the ownership group for Cleveland Darby in April.

The filly is now one of just three horses vying for this year’s Ohio Triple Crown. Having already won the Ohio Stake Fair Stake and OHSS Scarlet championship, she’ll look to complete the trifecta next week in the Ohio Breeders Championship at the Delaware County Fair – home of the Little Brown Jug. Howard will be there, hoping to celebrate yet another victory.

“Winning at Delaware is really special,” he said. “You get goosebumps when you’re in that winner’s circle. There’s nothing that beats that.”

Cleveland Darby isn’t the only R A S Racing-connected horse looking to complete the Ohio Triple Crown this year. Mooter Tooter – owned by Burke Racing Stable, Knox Services, Beasty, and R A S Racing – has the same goal in mind.

This season has seen a big turnaround for the 3-year-old Long Tom filly trotter out of Moots. Winless as a freshman, she hit the board just once in seven starts and finished the year with $17,500 in earnings. The Burke trainee won her first start as a sophomore and has gone on to post a 5-2-0 record in 13 seasonal starts, banking $264,075. Qualifying for the OHSS Scarlet championship wasn’t always a given, however.

“She started off the year very slowly and had some breaking issues,” Howard said. “Mr. Burke goes to work on the horse and figures out something. He made a change with her shoeing, and it made a big difference, and she’s been really sharp ever since.”

Indeed, Mooter Tooter’s performances in the first two legs of the OHSS were underwhelming, resulting in a pair of seventh-place finishes. But she finished first and second, respectively, in the next two legs and proceeded to add a victory in the Ohio State Fair Stake. A fourth-place finish in the fifth leg put Mooter Tooter in third place in the OHSS point standings and comfortably into the final. With the filly coming off a runner-up finish in an overnight race at Scioto Downs the week before, Howard was confident in her chances of coming out on top in the OHSS championship on Sept. 12.

“I thought the horse was really good the week before,” he said. “It was kind of a warmup mile, and she closed off the mile real strong.”

Mooter Tooter went off with 12-1 odds in the nine-horse Scarlet championship field that also included 2025 Dan Patch Award winner and OHSS 2-year-old filly trot champ Setyoursightshigh. With Yannick Gingras in the sulky, she was in seventh place and trailed leader Chip Shot by six lengths at the halfway mark but used a late surge on the far outside down the final stretch to edge Setyoursightshigh by a neck at the line in a photo finish.

“I wasn’t shocked that she won,” Howard said. “Maybe surprised, but not shocked. Yannick did a heck of a job. He got first-over cover, and he followed that cover into the stretch. We were four or five wide on the outside in the four lane and got up for the victory. These are so rare and hard to get, so any time you get one, it’s a thrill of a lifetime.”

Mooter Tooter will look to give Howard and the rest of her connections even more thrills next week in Delaware.

As his name perhaps suggests, Don’ttruckwithme proved difficult to work with during his early days with trainer Daren Harvey.

“He wasn’t the barn favorite, that’s for sure,” Harvey said. “When he was out on the track, he did his job. But to put his bridle on... impossible. To put his halter on... impossible. To walk into his stall to give him water... impossible.”

Wayne Mast, Jr., who owns Don’ttruckwithme with Eden Acres Farmstead and Kirk Nichols, also remembers those traits.

“He was a little ornery,” he said. “It seemed like when he hit the track, he was normally focused on what they were trying to do with him. The trouble was more in trying to get him to settle down in the barn.”

However, in the span of just a few months, the 2-year-old Catch The Fire gelded pacer out of Age Of Consent has become an OHSS champion ready to complete an Ohio Triple Crown-winning season.

“He’s really evolved – the girls that take care of him have really transformed him,” Harvey said. “He’s kind of a doll baby now. He still has his moments, but he’s not the horse that first showed up.”

Don’ttruckwithme has hit the board in all eight seasonal starts with six wins and two seconds while banking $415,960. A $37,000 purchase at the Ohio Selected Jug Sale from breeder Judy Roegner in September 2025, he was victorious in his debut in The Next Generation as part of five straight wins to begin his career. A pair of runner-up finishes to Night Surfer in the final two legs of the OHSS followed, but Don’ttruckwithme still ended as the points leader.

Night Surfer led the championship race at the first three calls before fading to third at the finish as the Mike Wilder-driven Don’ttruckwithme edged Ocean Party by a nose at the line in a track-record 1:49.4.

“He put in an incredible effort – that was tight,” Harvey said during a post-race interview.

Harvey was happy to have Wilder in the sulky that night but gave plenty of credit to the horse's regular driver, Chris Lems, who was unavailable due to injury.

"Chris Lems got this horse ready for tonight," he said and then previewed what was next. "Just the Breeders at Delaware, and hopefully we'll wrap up and get him ready for next year."

Marilyn Evans Fogle is 2026 Lady Pace honoree

Marilyn Evans Fogle, a former parade marshal and outrider, will be honored as the 2026 Lady Pace honoree by the Delaware County Fair.

Fogle was the parade marshal and outrider at the Delaware County Fair and the Little Brown Jug from 1957 to 1979, riding Silver Tomahawk Jr, a grey she raised from a colt.

In 1980, Fogle turned the reins of parade marshal and outrider duties over to her cousin, Diane Winters, the 2015 Lady Pace honoree.

Fogle was deeply involved in mentoring Delaware County youth through their 4-H horse programs, shaping generations of young horsemen and horsewomen.

In 2025, she served as a panelist for the Delaware County Historical Society's "The Horse World in Delaware County" program.

"Marilyn Evans Fogle embodied the spirit of the Delaware County Fair and the Little Brown Jug for more than two decades," said Tom Wright, president of the Little Brown Jug Society. "She was a steady, trusted presence with grace, pride, and a deep love for our traditions."

"We are grateful for her years of service, her devotion to our community, and the legacy and memories that she continues to share."

She will be honored in a winner's circle ceremony on Jug Day (Sept. 24).

Another C Note sets stakes record in Keystone Classic action

For the third consecutive day, Hollywood Casino at The Meadows hosted Keystone Classic events, featuring two $28,000 divisions for 3-year-old pacing fillies and two $29,000 divisions for pacing colts on Friday's (Sept. 18) 15-race card.

The 3-year-old pacing colts were highlighted by Another C Note's 1:48.1 stakes-record performance in his Keystone Classic division. Driven by Ronnie Wrenn, Jr., the son of Captaintreacherous watched from the pocket as Superchamp Hanover put up blazing fractions of :25.4, :53.2, and 1:20.4 at three-quarters. As Highland B Best raced first-over at the leader, Another C Note moved to the lightning lane to close out the victory.

Trained by Ron Burke for owners Burke Racing LLC, Weaver Brussemi LLC, Let It Ride Stables, and Scott Dillon, Another C Note now adds a 1:48.1 mark to his résumé. Highland B Best, with Troy Beyer, ground out the place spot over pacesetter Superchamp Hanover.

Good Friday was indeed very good, winning his Keystone Classic division on Friday. Dave Palone had the Tall Dark Stranger gelding on point from start to finish in a career-best, equaling 1:50.3 effort. While Palone was cruising to victory up front, Tim Tetrick used a second-over trip to get place money with Generational Wealth, while Shawn Johnston rallied Southwind Spencer for show in 1:50.3. The winner is owned by Howard Taylor and Teena Freibert.

The 3-year-old Keystone Classic filly divisions were dominated by the Burke Brigade, with convincing wins by Sandyboots Yankee and I'm A Lou Lou.

Sandyboots Yankee, with Ronnie Wrenn, Jr. in the sulky, cleared to the lead just past an opening 27-second quarter, then waited until the three-quarters in 1:23.2 before dashing away to a five-length romp in 1:50.4. A :27.2 final quarter propelled the daughter of Always B Miki to her fourth straight win in stakes action for owners Burke Racing LLC, Weaver Brussemi LLC, Lawrence Karr, and Phillip Collura. With The Fur and Aaron Merriman saved ground along the rail to finish second over Kilauea Hanover and Mike Wilder.

I'm A Lou Lou turned in the fastest Keystone Classic filly division with a powerful 1:49.3 effort. Tetrick moved the Sweet Lou filly to the lead past the opening quarter in :26.3 and never looked back. Despite the quick early fractions, I'm A Lou Lou widened her lead following the 1:21.3 three-quarters with a 28-second final quarter. The four-length victory was her third of the season for owners Burke Racing Stable LLC, Knox Services, Lawrence Karr, and Phillip Collura. Robins Song and Wilder finished second, while Make It Right and Merriman held the show spot.

It was a "Double Dutch" on the day as International amateur driving event action continued. Dutch driver Yanick Mollema repeated his performance from the previous day with another win in the only amateur event of the day. Mollema waited patiently along the rail before taking over at the three-quarters and rolling off to a nine-length victory.

Friday's top driving honors belonged to Wrenn, Jr. with six wins, while Burke led all trainers with seven victories.

There will be no live racing at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows next week. Live racing will return to its three-day schedule on Sept. 30, with first-race post at 12:45 p.m.

KEYSTONE CLASSIC ACTION CONTINUES AT THE MEADOWS:

Keystone Classic action returned Thursday (Sept. 17) with a pair of $24,000 divisions for 2-year-old colt trotters and a single $69,000 division for 2-year-old colt pacers. Also on tap at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows were a pair of International amateur driving events.

Green To Go and Brian Zendt turned in the fastest Keystone Classic division for 2-year-old colt trotters with a first-over 1:55.4 victory. Moving from fifth past the half, Zendt was unable to flush cover, forcing the Greenshoe gelding to grind down leader Scarpa and get the neck victory. It was a career-best effort for Green To Go, who is owned and trained by D. R. Ackerman.

Sparkling Lady and Ronnie Wrenn, Jr. took command of their Keystone Classic division early and controlled the tempo before sprinting home in :28.2 to score a length victory. Fresh off the Pennsylvania fair circuit, the 1:56.4 was a lifetime mark and the third win of 2026 for owner/trainer Mahlon Martin. Sparkling Lady is a daughter of International Moni and was a former $10,000 Harrisburg yearling purchase.

Hungry Marco and Brady Brown inherited a straight shot to the passing lane, and the pair cashed in to win the $69,000 Keystone Classic for 2-year-old pacers. A Stonebridge Blitz break on the lead put Brown and the Stay Hungry filly in the pocket behind Atomix Hanover with an-eighth-of-a-mile to go. It took the length of the stretch and a :28.1 final panel to get past Atomix Hanover for the win. Trained by Jamie Sullivan for owners David Hamm, Glenn Phillips, and Frank Chick, Hungry Marco now has five wins from nine starts and earnings of more than $100,000.

Jerry Kehm used his home-track knowledge to measure out a head victory in the International amateur driving event with his own horse, Northern Bluff. Sent by Kehm from post 7, Northern Bluff was up by three before Island Business and Nico Post threatened, but the Mark Goldberg trainee held on for the 1:56.3 victory.

Yanik Mollema and Swan Legacy were under constant pressure throughout their International amateur event and still managed a three-length victory. The 33-year-old Dutch driver was able to rate favorable fractions despite the challengers and secure a comfortable 1:56.3 win for trainer Todd Keith.

Mike Wilder was the only driver with multiple wins on the card, with three victories to earn driving honors. Justin Pirillo's training double earned him training honors.

USTA implementing new rule to better inform public of shoeing changes

I read Bob Pandolfo's comments on shoeing information, and I do agree with the basic point that he tries to make. Bettors should know when a horse is racing barefoot or has shoes put back on, no question. We can all agree that it can be important handicapping information and of late, much more commonplace today.

I do think, though, that the industry deserves a little credit for the work that has already gone into addressing it. The USTA board of directors has already approved a rule that takes effect Jan. 1, 2027. Rule 6.15(b)(14) states:

"Standardized symbols for shoeing information to include front shoes off, hind shoes off, all shoes off, any of the first-time changes from the previous race's shoeing."

That's not something still being kicked around. It has been approved and has an effective date and will be displayed on Jan. 1, 2027. We've also been working with staff from Standardbred Canada to develop a uniform North American approach and that is in place. There is another proposal in the current rule making process that would require the trainer to declare their shoeing intention at the time of entry. That aspect will ultimately be decided in March.

I understand the frustration when the information isn't in the program today. But there's a difference between the information not being available yet and the industry not doing anything about it. There's more involved than simply adding a symbol to a program. The information has to come from the trainer, get through the race office, be entered correctly into the USTA database and then make its way into the various program and wagering systems. Let alone, be tested and carried forward with downstream industry partners that provide the data to the masses in bulk. We want it to be accurate and consistent when it gets there.

That takes some work, especially when you're trying to put a system in place that will work across the industry.

This is also where I think members can play a bigger role. The USTA has district meetings, the annual meeting, and a rulemaking process where members can bring these issues forward, ask questions and offer suggestions. I'd encourage Bob, and anyone else who has ideas on how we can do this better, to take advantage of those opportunities and have that conversation with the people working on it. The district meetings start in early October, so I encourage every USTA member to attend theirs.

That's how the system is supposed to work. I'm all for continuing to ask what we can do better for the better. That's a good thing. But I also think we need to recognize when the industry is actually working on something instead of making it sound like the issue is continuing to be ignored. Maybe all of that isn't visible from the outside. That's understandable. But a quick look at what has already been done would show that this is moving. We can always do more and we will. I just think it's fair to point out that on this particular issue, the industry has listened, worked through the process, and is putting something in place.

TC Lane / USTA chief operating officer

Kudos to Gural and The Meadowlands

I just had to give props to Jeff Gural and The Meadowlands for the announcement today regarding the rejuvenated stakes schedule for next year. I will happily admit I was dead wrong when I wrote last month that the loss of the Hambletonian was probably the end of racing at the track. With handle and attendance down this year, it just seemed logical that pulling the Hambletonian was the final nail in the coffin.

However long the track is able to keep going is debatable, but I'm glad hope still exists. I also hope Mr. Gural knows something I don't regarding his casino chances since New Jersey is so complicated politically and geographically. I've always felt like a casino would never get through roadblocks established by the New York casino competition opposition and the dying Atlantic City competition. I hope I'm wrong again.

Finally, I love that the Dancer and the Miller are returning to elim and final format. Although, I hate eliminations from a bettors' standpoint, divisions always end up with short five-to-seven horse fields usually with one or two heavy favorites.
