Trainers testify to racing horses on PEDs supplied by Dr. Seth Fishman

Testimony was heard Thursday on the seventh day of the veterinarian's trial.

by Robert Gearty

Editor's note: Harness Racing Update has joined the leading horse racing industry publications that are covering the Dr. Seth Fishman trial via pool reporting.

Two current trainers testified Thursday (Jan. 27) at Dr. Seth Fishman's horse doping trial that they raced horses on illegal performance-enhancing drugs that came from the accused veterinarian.

The testimony from Adrienne Hall and Jamen Davidovich highlighted the seventh day of Fishman's trial on adulteration and misbranding conspiracy charges. Fishman was one of 27 individuals charged in the case and is the first on trial. Those charged include two prominent thoroughbred trainers — Jason Servis, who is awaiting trial, and Jorge Navarro, who pleaded guilty and has been sentenced to five years in prison.

Hall, of Monroe, NJ, trains horses at the Sunshine Meadows harness track in Florida and last raced a standardbred last month in New Jersey. Davidovich, also an owner, raced primarily in the Mid-Atlantic in 2020-21. He has starts this year in New York and Ohio and says he approaches the sport now more as a hobby.

Both told the jury of eight women and four men how they went about getting in touch with Fishman in 2017 and 2018 with the sole intention of obtaining PEDs that wouldn't show up in post-race testing.

"His reputation preceded him," Davidovich, 31, of Pennsylvania said.

Hall testified Fishman gave her a PED called VO2 Max, which she used to dope a horse and win a harness race in March 2019. Prosecutors have elicited testimony that VO2 Max increases horses' oxygen levels that enable them to run faster and longer but at risk to their safety and well-being.

The jury heard a portion of an FBI wiretap that captured Hall excitedly telling Fishman about the first-place finish.

"I wish you could have seen the race," Hall says to the veterinarian. "He was so fantastic. He dominated. He was a completely different animal. I was so happy."

Hall added the horse's final quarter time was 27 seconds.

"What is it usually?" Fishman asks.

"Usually it's :28 or :29 and struggling," she responds.

Hall testified that the PEDs were a gift from Fishman. She said she believed that was the case because Fishman wanted her to connect him to two trainers she knew.

One of those trainers was Todd Pletcher, the Hall of Famer who runs a large stable.

His name was revealed under cross-examination by Fishman attorney Maurice Sercarz.

Prosecutor Sarah Mortazavi, who initially questioned Hall, never asked Hall to reveal the names during her direct examination.

At the start of her direct testimony Hall had said that before she got her trainer's license, she worked at two thoroughbred farms and for Pletcher's stable in an administrative position, not with horses.

Hall told Sercarz that even though she told Fishman she would contact Pletcher, she never did.

Mortazavi then asked why that was when she questioned the witness again.

"He would never take my advice or opinion," Hall testified, referring to Pletcher. "I would never approach him about something like that."

Hall was on the witness stand, testifying against Fishman as part of a non-prosecution agreement with prosecutors. They agreed not to prosecute her for doping horses.

Davidovich was testifying without any such agreement. Instead, he invoked his Fifth Amendment right not to testify and then was compelled to testify by Judge Mary Kay Vyskocil under a grant of immunity. Under a grant of immunity, a witness can't be charged with any crimes he or she admits to.

Hall and Davidovich could, however, potentially face sanctions from regulators after their testimony. Servis and Navarro have been suspended from racing, as have other indicted individuals.

Davidovich told the jury Fishman began supplying him with PEDs after a meeting at a sushi bar in Fort Lauderdale, FL. He said there was a third person at the meeting, a person he described as "my owner."

Asked by prosecutor Anden Chow how the subject of PEDs came up, Davidovich responded, "We were talking about different things to make the horse run better."

Davidovich said that as they got to know each other, Fishman complained to him about Navarro. Prosecutors say Fishman was one of Navarro's suppliers of banned PEDS.

"He said Navarro owed him a lot of money, and he was going to cut him off if he didn't pay," the witness testified. "He also said he didn't want (Navarro) taking down the whole ship because he had a loud mouth."

Davidovich said Fishman was referring to a video shot at Monmouth Park in which Navarro and one of his owners bragged after winning a race that Navarro was the "Juice Man."

Davidovich said he stopped doping horses in 2018 after meeting Dr. Steve Allday, a well-known thoroughbred veterinarian.

"He was the first person in the business who took me under his wing and taught me a different way of being involved in horse racing," he testified.

He added: "I know what I did was wrong, and I wanted to move forward in a different way."

Face Time Bourbon has scratched and retired, making the Prix d'Amérique wide open

Handicapping the 18-horse field for one of the world's biggest trotting races.

by Thomas Hedlund

Face Time Bourbon (Ready Cash) was the heavy favorite to win Sunday's (Jan. 30) Prix d'Amérique. It looked like the 7-year-old Ready Cash son had a strong chance to defend his title again and win one of the biggest races in the world a third straight time.

But on Tuesday (Jan. 25), Face Time Bourbon's connections announced the title defender will miss the race this year due to a low leg injury.

What's worse is the racing career is likely over for the best trotter

Gerard Forni

Face Time Bourbon (Björn Goop) winning the the 2021 Prix d'Amérique. This week, the champion trotter's bid for a third consecutive Prix d'Amérique title came to an end when he was scratched due to injury and subsequently retired from racing.

in Europe the past few years.

"It's a 90 per cent possibility for that," his trainer Sébastien Guarato told French media Tuesday.

Guarato confirmed on Thursday (Jan. 27) afternoon that Face Time Bourbon's career definitely is over.

Sad. The sport needs the superstars and Face Time Bourbon has, without a doubt, been the brightest star on the European harness racing sky for the past two or three years.

His absence means the Prix d'Amérique field, which was set on Thursday (Jan. 27) noon, stands without any huge favorite.

Handicapping the 2022 Prix d'Amérique field

Horse - Age - Sire - Driver - Trainer

1. Galius - 6 - Love You - Yoann Lebourgeois - Séverine Raimond

A true outsider in this year's Prix d'Amérique. Won Prix Tenor de Baune on Dec. 26 and earned his spot in this race with that victory. Trained by Séverine Raimond, the first French female trainer with a participant in Prix d'Amérique"

2. Feydeau Seven - 7 - Rodeo Josselyn - Jean-Michel Bazire - Jean-Michel Bazire

Won the Prix de Belgique impressively and will be a serious factor in the race. Bazire knows how to win races of this stature. One of the probable favorites.

3. Rebella Matters - 7 - Explosive Matters - Christophe Martens - Jean-Michel Bazire

Norwegian-bred mare who has races surprisingly well in the B-races, where she finished third in two of them. Can make money with the right trip.

4. Hohneck - 5 - Royal Dream - Francois Lagadeuc - Philippe Allaire

The youngster in the race. Won the Criterium Continental on Dec. 26 and established his position in the top among French-bred "H-horses". Possesses capacity enough for a great check here.

5. Diable de Vauvert - 9 - Prince d'Espace - Tony Le Beller

Gerard Forni

Last Sunday, Flamme Du Goutier (Antoine Wiels) won France's biggest monté race, the Prix De Cornulier. This Sunday, the mare will race in the Prix d'Amérique.

- Bertrand Le Beller

Showed great condition as runner up in Prix de Belgique. Seems like he has peaked his shape for Prix d'Amérique this year.

6. Gu d'Heripre - 6 - Cocktail Jet - Franck Nivard - Fabrice Souloy

Third in Prix d'Amérique last year, as a 5-year-old, but hasn't really taken the next important step towards the top. Needs improvement on his two prior performances.

7. Chica de Joudes - 10 - Jag de Bellouet - Alain Laurent - Alain Laurent

Strong mare who likes longer distances. Will face a tough assignment to grab money in this race.

8. Power - 6 - Googoo Gaagaa - Robert Bergh - Robert Bergh

Power has claimed big titles on this track before, but must show improvement since finishing 7th in Prix de Belgique. Big long shot.

9. Etonnant - 8 - Timoko - Anthony Barrier - Richard Westerink

Won the Prix du Bourbonnais in December, beat Face Time Bourbon that day and has both strength and speed that is required for a top performance in Prix d'Amérique. Will probably not be the favorite, but Etonnant is the horse I believe can win.

10. Flamme du Goutier - 7 - Ready Cash - Théo Duvaldestin - Thierry Duvaldestin

Won the Prix de Cornulier last Sunday and tries again, this time in the sulky. Good enough to upset if she gets her trip.

11. Cokstile - 9 - Quite Easy - Gabriele Gelormini - Erik Bondo

Won the Prix de Bourgogne on Jan. 2 and tried the Prix de Belgique two weeks later. Raced with shoes that time and seemed totally out of power. No shoes on Sunday and we'll see the old Cokstile again.

12. Zacon Gio - 7 - Ruty Grif - Björn Goop - Jean-Michel Bazire

Interesting Italian bred horse that has beaten Face Time Bourbon in Italy. Disappointing at Vincennes so far and he chases a smaller check.

13. Vitruvio - 8 - Adrian Chip - Alessandro Gocciadoro - Alessandro Gocciadoro

Impressed a lot in Europe as a 5-year-old, but has had difficulties to find the perfect shape and condition in France. If he races at his best level, he could upset

14. Delia du Pommereux - 9 - Niky - David Thomain - Sylvain Roger

Iron Lady that is hard to count on in this year's Prix d'Amérique. Beat Face Time Bourbon in last year's Prix de France but hasn't showed the right condition lately.

15. Vivid Wise As - 8 - Yankee Glide - Matthieu Abrivard - Alessandro Gocciadoro

Super speedy trotter that most likely wants shorter distances to perform at his best level. Second to Cokstile (from the lead) in Prix de Bourgogne

16. Bahia Quesnot - 11 - Scipion du Goutier - Junior Guelpa - Junior Guelpa

Another tough mare that can look back at an extraordinary career. Fourth in the monté race Prix de Cornulier one week ago. Not on fire in this race.

17. Davidson du Pont - 9 - Pacha du Pont - Nicolas Bazire - Nicolas Bazire

Went off stride at mid-stretch in the Prix de Belgique and would probably have won the race without that mishap. Merited trotter that possesses everything that's needed to win, as long as he is sound and fresh.

18. Billie de Montfort - 11 - Jasmin de Flore - Pierre-Yves Verva - Sébastien Guarato

Old lady with a lifetime earnings of $2,898,030. No luck in earlier attempts in the Prix d'Amérique and a check can be reached with a perfect trip.

Flamme du Goutier wins Prix de Cornulier

Last Sunday (Jan. 23), the $793,500 Prix de Cornulier for trotters racing under saddle was held at Vincennes and winner Flamme du Goutier (Ready Cash) finished with power without having to empty herself in the finish.

The victory in Prix de Cornulier was logical. Flamme du Goutier had raced very well in the prior races and she was first choice in the big monté race on Sunday afternoon. Trainer Thierry Duvaldestin declared soon after the race that he might consider racing his mare even in Sunday's Prix d'Amérique, if everything seemed to be okay with the horse and that's where we are today. Flamme du Goutier is one of the 18 contesters that will try to claim the prestigious trophy at Vincennes.

Beside the Prix de Cornulier winner, Jean-Michel Bazire is on fire ahead of the big race on Sunday. France's leading name in the sport has three chances to win and Bazire himself has opted to drive Prix de Belgique winner Feydeau Seven. Rebella Matters earned her spot in the race after two third places in the B-races and Zacon Gio has earned enough money to be one of the participants in this year's Prix d'Amérique. However one of the Bazire-horses that qualified for Prix d'Amérique is missing on Sunday. Ganay de Banville, who finished third in the first B-race in November, is out of the Prix d'Amérique 2022.

Other stakes on tap at Vincennes

Vincennes is what harness racing fans are focusing on this weekend and the big show starts on Saturday (Jan. 29) when the $135,000 Prix Paul Viel for 3-year-old colts and the $135,000 Prix Roquepine for 3-year-old fillies are the highest-staked races on the card. The most interesting race is usually the $115,000 Prix du Luxembourg for the older elite. It is contested over 2,100 meters and features a mobile starting gate.

There are some really great names in the race this year. Gareth Boko, Feliciano and Elie de Beaufour will all start from behind the gate and the probable winner is gelding Elie de Beaufour, trained and driven by Bazire.

Besides the Prix d'Amérique, Sunday's race card features a number of big stakes, including: the $335,000 Sulky World Cup 4 ans for 4-year-olds which has attracted 15 of the best in the European crop born 2018. The 5-year-olds will battle in $335,000 Sulky World Cup 5 ans.

WHAT DOES RAY SAY?

with RAY SCHNITTKER

What's bugging Ray Schnittker? More than one thing

Harness racing's common-sense sage returns.

It's been too long since we've checked in with harness racing's no-holds-barred, truth-teller Ray Schnittker. We reached out the other day to find out if anything was eating him and it was good to hear the horseman hasn't mellowed.

Item #1 – Do you really want the feds running horse racing?

It should be noted that Schnittker is a long-time USTA director and the USTA opposes implementation of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority (HISA). But Schnittker doesn't oppose HISA because that's the USTA position. He has other concerns.

"The head of our federal government is Biden and Harris and we're going to be way down the food chain on this. They don't look like they are brain surgeons to me. Who are they going to get to run this that's not going to be half-assed corrupt and the job is nothing but a political thing?" Schnittker asked. "When someone tells me, 'Let's have the federal government do it,' I'm watching our president and vice-president right now and I probably lost $200,000 yesterday in the stock market. If they are supposed to be our two sharpest people, then what are we going to get to run our thing?"

"They are just going to put some other politician or somebody in there and they are going to do absolutely nothing. Then, they are going to charge us $140 to test a horse every race."

While Schnittker believes drug testing rules should be the same in every state – which is a prime directive of HISA – he also thinks the state racing commissions should do the jobs they're already being paid to do.

Item #2 – Hold horsepeople accountable when they break the rules

"Jesse James was probably a good guy," Schnittker said. "All the guys that get into trouble in our game, I'm actually friendly with, had beers with, but there's no accountability on anybody getting days or anything."

"If you get four months or something like that, you just switch it to someone else's name and blah, blah, blah and you just go right along... There's definitely no accountability and I don't know how you get around it, but I know when I was a kid that when you got days, you got days. The commissions aren't doing anything.

"Maybe, start fining people, like, $300,000 for a positive. I don't mean positive like Bute or some stupid s --- like that, which I think is bulls --- half the time, but real positives – Class 1 drugs."

Schnittker said he gives Meadowlands, Tioga Downs and Vernon Downs owner Jeff Gural a lot of credit on the accountability issue. "He does throw people out of his place, but then they go to Yonkers and there's no accountability there," Schnittker said.

Item #3 – Head numbers need to be eliminated at all tracks

"One more thing, the head number thing. We supposedly did away with it at the USTA and there's still tracks using it for identification," Schnittker said, adding there's a danger to all when the head numbers fall off.

"There's nothing good. Plus, a groom, the thing comes down and could slice their head open... The head numbers drive me nuts. It's like 'Are you kidding me?'"

"A lot of tracks still have them and the classic line is so they can identify a horse. Okay, you've got a thoroughbred and you've got a jockey with colors, same as we've got, and they have no trouble telling you who won the race and who was second. They never had head numbers."

Approval required

Drivers wishing to race in stakes races at The Meadowlands must compete regularly at the track starting in March.

by Debbie Little

Drivers wishing to compete in stakes races during the 2022 Championship Meet at The Meadowlands will now be required to apply for approval.

In addition, all drivers must compete on every Meadowlands card starting at the beginning of March, with the exception of stakes races at other tracks, or a legitimate personal reason.

A clause will be included in the stakes conditions that will be posted under the "Horseman" section of the United States Trotting Association's website next week.

"Obviously, Yonkers has some stakes on Fridays in the beginning or middle of March, so if they're going to be at Yonkers, that's okay," said Meadowlands' president/chief executive officer Jeff Gural. "I'm not looking to take money out of their pockets, but I don't think asking someone to drive two days a week at The Meadowlands is so terrible."

During The Meadowlands' winter meet, several drivers take time off and don't usually return on a regular basis until April, or sometimes, May. Currently, five of the top six drivers from the 2021 championship meet are not competing at The Big M. "I think that the drivers have to have some down time," said

Gural. "I can understand it's a stressful business and I don't want to tell people they can't spend time with their families or go home to Australia, but I thought [being back to race in March] was reasonable. If they're not back by March, I guess they won't be driving at The Meadowlands in stakes races."

"We had a banner year last year because Mohawk was closed a lot and that helped, but this year it's just the opposite, our handle is down. People who used to come [to the track] learned how to bet online and got used to it, so we've had a lot of obstacles put in our path. Our handle goes up if people think that there are 10 horses in the race that have a reasonable chance of doing well, not five or six."

Even though payments have already been taken for some stakes, The Meadowlands is totally within its rights, per the current conditions, to make changes prior to payments being taken for this year. The only exceptions would be The Hambletonian, Hambletonian Oaks and Hambletonian Maturity.

Trainer Ron Burke has the most starts and wins in the early stages of The Big M's winter meet and thinks the racing has been competitive, even without all of the regulars.

"I feel like the racing has been actually pretty good with the guys they've had there," said Burke. "He wanted more aggressive racing and I think you've seen it. I think Jeff gets a little bit caught up once in a while overestimating how important the drivers are to the game. Like I said before, the horses are important."

Burke also thinks that the down time for some of the drivers can freshen them up to be at their absolute best for the championship meet.

"What would Jeff think if Chester told Yannick if he wants to drive, he has to drive every race he can there, too?" said Burke. "Now you have a worn-out Yannick driving at The Meadowlands."

Burke understands what Gural is trying to do, but also knows that asking drivers to compete on Fridays in March could be difficult when they may get only a drive or two. However, he does agree that nights when all the top guys are there are special.

"Saturdays when all the guys are there, it's the best. Scotty [Zeron], George [Brennan], Joe [Bongiorno], Jason [Bartlett] plus all The Meadowlands regulars. You can't get a bad driver," said Burke. "You'd have to want a bad driver."

Gural has always believed in putting out the best product possible, which is even more important now with the hope of securing some national airtime for The Meadowlands on a regular basis in 2022.

"Our goal would be to get on TV for the championship meet, from May through the Hambletonian, when we know that there's less sports products available," said Gural. "If you watch some of these sporting channels, they show all kinds of nonsense."

"Fox Sports 1 and Fox Sports 2 handle a lot of thoroughbred racing product and, to me, we have just as good or a better product because our horses race every week or every other week. Their horses race once a month, if you're lucky."

Driver 'celebration' prompts major infraction status at The Meadows

by Brett Sturman

During a race towards the end of last month at The Meadows, driver Dan Rawlings was fined of $500 and was issued a five-day driving suspension. Driving the horse Stay In Your Place in race 10 of an otherwise ordinary Thursday afternoon two days before Christmas (replay here), Rawlings raised his left arm in victory and waved approaching the race's finish.

If you didn't know any better, you wouldn't have thought anything of it.

The judges, however, didn't quite see it that way. Not only was Rawlings fined and suspended for the infraction deemed "conduct detrimental to the best interest of harness racing," but he was also placed on probation for the entire calendar year of 2022, along with being put on notice in the ruling that similar actions could lead to a full suspension or revocation of his Pennsylvania state horse racing license.

Is there more than meets the eye behind the seemingly wild excessive penalty? For his part, Rawlings certainly thinks so. According to his personal Twitter account, Rawlings says that the race 10 wave was directed to the judges in response to a $500 whipping violation he was to incur from the immediately prior race 9; a race in which he delivered a hard-earned win for 3-5 favorite Big Bang Bang.

If $500 seems like a lot for the violation, it comes from an inappropriate use of the whip ruling from Nov. 9 when judges stated they were increasing Rawlings' penalties for whipping violations from $200 to $500, due to the number of cited infractions.

Tweets from Rawlings also include a "bias and vindictive" description of a judge, and he indicates that he has retained an attorney in response to his treatment. Whether bias exists against Rawlings or not is another story, though recent rulings levied against him are at least noteworthy.

In 2021, Rawlings was issued 11 major rulings for driving violations, all of which were inappropriate or indiscriminate use of whip, with the exception for this conduct detrimental one. Those 11 major rulings are more than his major rulings for the prior four years combined and reflect nearly a third of all major driving violations since 2007. By comparison, nearly all other top drivers at The Meadows have had only one or zero major infractions last year.

To me, the issue comes when you actually take the issued ruling at face value. As support for the conduct detrimental infraction, the judge's ruling states, "Mr. Rawlings made a gesture that was unprofessional, unsafe and confusing to the wagering public, which reflects negatively on the sport."

Beginning with the unprofessional description, I suppose this is the one that could be debated most depending on who the wave was directed at. I could see it being a form of taunting if directed at another driver, but it wasn't. Drivers make similar poses all the time in larger moments, so what if Rawlings was filled with exaltation for any personal reason? Does it matter why?

Now, if Rawlings was waving towards the judges then I indeed would consider that unprofessional, along with poor judgment.

On the reason of unsafe, this one is less believable. Rawlings was the better part of a length clear of his next closest pursuer, the race no longer in doubt and mere yards away from the finish. He didn't do anything dramatically different than other drivers do when celebrating a win. Would his behavior still have been deemed unsafe if the same thing happened in the Adios instead of a lesser race the day before Christmas Eve?

The characterization of the gesture being confusing to the wagering public is the furthest reach of all. As a longstanding member of that public segment, I don't see at all where confusion arises. I see far more ambiguity in efforts of driver carelessness than I do with a driver celebrating a well-meant win, regardless of who the finish line theatrics were meant towards. Add arbitrary pylon infractions and inconsistent interference decisions to the list of more confusing race occurrences to the wagering public.

All told, the ruling stated that these actions reflect negatively on the sport. Do you really want to know what reflects negatively on the sport? When at the same track, the positive post-race drug test of a 3-year-old champion that occurred in June isn't released to the public until six months later. Which, by the way, that Class 3 positive came with the same $500 fine as Rawlings' harmless touchdown celebration.

It's hard to believe the ruling, fine, suspension and further threats are a precedent-setting decision against broader driver celebratory conduct, but rather a tit-for-tat response to whatever issues exist at the track between the judges and Rawlings that was further exacerbated when Rawlings waved. Provided that's remotely the case, then let's not use otherwise legitimate issues as cover for issuing a ruling when at the same time there are real issues detrimental to the sport that can be looked at.

The horse racing customer tells you what they're thinking

by Dean Towers

Participants betting against their own horses, curious qualifiers and Big M driver interviews highlight a few do's and don'ts of the past week.

We've seen several issues pop up over the last little while that illustrate how the customers of the sport and its participants are sometimes on the wrong or right page. I've always liked to examine what the reactions are on the other side of the pylons, good or bad, so let's go.

First up, we saw jockey Mychel Sanchez banned for 60 days by the Pennsylvania Horse Racing Commission for betting opposing horses in races he was riding. This is pretty basic – you can't bet against yourself – but what caused the betting customer the most consternation was: "Why is this suspension only 60 days?"

I hear them. In a game with $12 billion of annual wagering where the integrity of the betting pools is of paramount concern, two months seems like a slap in the face to the betting customer.

Even when Sanchez's attorney told the media his client has been suffering from "some type of depression," it didn't stop the criticism. Players were just left wondering why in 60 days they'll be betting on or against a jockey whose own attorney says has mental health issues. Everyone feels for people going through problems like Sanchez might be, but we're kidding ourselves if we don't admit customers have a point.

Over to harness racing, there's not much more frustrating for some of the wagering faithful than seeing well bet horses who might not figure.

Last Thursday at Mohawk, a horse making his first pari-mutuel start in about 18 months qualified from the back in 1:59.1 coming 5th by 10. The horse had some back class and could surely win the race, but off that charted line and long break I wouldn't excuse anyone for thinking he had three legs.

I doth protest too much. The colt was power brushed to the lead and won by six in 1:56 with a :26.4 kick home in -17 degree weather.

And he was bet down to a miniscule 70 cents on the dollar.

Whether the above poster is right or wrong on this particular qualifier is irrelevant.

It's not lost on me that these bet downs are much easier to see today because there is so little public money in the pools. And one of the reasons there's so little public money in the pools is exactly because of events like this. It shouldn't be lost on any of us.

The customers are asking the judges to do their jobs better. If something strange is happening in the betting pools, our judges need to call up the connections and let bettors know they are looking out for them. It isn't 1970 anymore.

Flipping over to the positive (no, the news is not all bad!), from what I see, the Meadowlands is on the horseplayer happy radar. Recently, as most of you know, the flagship harness track has expanded their use of live video with participant interviews during the card.

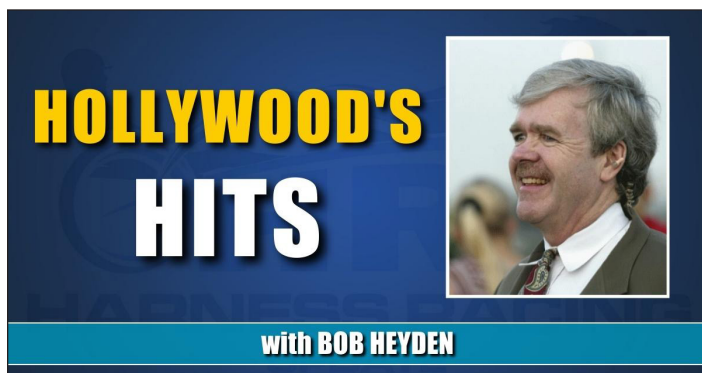

I think the drivers and trainers are providing excellent information to the customer on what their approach is, on the health of their horse, along with how or why the horse qualified. The response from people I speak with has been encouraging.

As well, the Meadowlands new "mic'd up" segment has been well received. Again, the customer is taken into the race, and if they wagered on one of the featured horses, they knew what the drivers were thinking while carrying their money.

This feature spawned some chatter that perked my ears up – some have suggested drivers be miked during the post parade and score downs. Yes, the logistics of such a thing are near impossible, but to me it illustrates how much information the harness racing customer craves. Even last weekend, if you were watching closely, driver Andy Miller gave JK Will Power a couple of one-handers and scored him out aggressively. The gelding won and paid $61. Hearing his commentary would've been eye-opening and refreshing (and possibly lucrative) to listeners.

Customers are a finicky bunch, but they're fairly consistent. When things they don't like occur, you can bet your bottom dollar they will let you know. When it's something they like, they'll let you know as well. The industry should always keep its ears and eyes open.

Forty years since the death of Meadow Skipper

by Bob Heyden

Meadow Skipper, the greatest, most influential horse of all time, died on this date (Jan. 28) in 1982 at the age of 22.

Both Albatross and Most Happy Fella were sons of Meadow Skipper, who was a racehorse from 1962 to 1965 and a sire from 1966-1982.

A son of Dale Frost—Countess Vivian, Meadow Skipper raced for Norman Woolworth of Winthrop, ME and trainer/driver Earle Avery.

He won $428,057 in his career — #8 all-time among pacers at the time of his retirement.

He entered the 1963 Jug with 50 career starts and was second and third in his two heats while Overtrick won it all.

His 2-year-old record of 27 15-6-2, $24,007 and his 3-year-old record going into the Jug was 23 12-3-5, $149,696.

As a sire, well, here's a look at some of the highlights from this truly amazing animal:

He had a Triple Crown winner from his first crop — Most Happy Fella 1970.

He had a Triple Crown-winning grandson named HOY in 1980 — Niatross.

He had a Triple Crown winner after he died — 1983 Ralph Hanover.

His son Albatross was the first $1 million earner over a two-year span (1971-1972).

The first $2 million career winner was his grandson Niatross.

The first $3 million career winner was his great-grandson Nihilator.

Albatross won the first ever Tattersalls in 1:54.4 — the first sub-1:55 race winner. Then at 4, he did it twice in one afternoon at the Red Mile, re-setting the record at 1:54.3. If that wasn't impressive enough, in 1974, Handle With Care took on the boys — and older boys, too — and became the first female to better 1:55, winning in 1:54.4 in California in a field that included the defending HOY Sir Dalrae. Oh, and she was a daughter of Meadow Skipper.

No other Triple Crown-winning sire had a Triple Crown Winner both before and after their death.

He led North America in siring earnings from 1975-1978. (He had 184 $100,000 winners. Remember, that was in his first eight crops when there wasn't a purse as high as $500,000). Then, his sons took over with Albatross, Most Happy Fella and Meadow Skipper making up the top three the next five years.

Meadow Skipper's sons won the first two editions of the Meadowlands Pace — 1977 Escort and 1978 Falcon Almahurst. These were the only two editions to be raced in heats and the final the same night.

It's now been 46 years since the last time a 2-year-old had the all-time speed mark — 1976 Jade Prince (1:54.1). He was a son of Meadow Skipper.

The first of two $2 million races was won by a 69-1 shot named Land Grant — a son of Meadow Skipper.

In 1977, Governor Skipper was the 3YOCP of the year — a stand-out son of Meadow Skipper.

Genghis Khan was the outstanding FFA pacer of 1982 and lowered his own world race record to 1:51.4 — the first sub-1:52 pacer. He was a son of Meadow Skipper.

Every 1980 Woodrow Wilson finalist — all 12-traced directly back to Meadow Skipper in history's first $2 million race held just three weeks after his grandson Niatross won the first ever $1 million event (Meadowlands Pace).

Meadow Skipper had horses racing until 1994 — and his $68 million still ranked fourth all-time as of 1990 — eight years after his passing.

His son set the single season money record in 1983 — Ralph Hanover.

Two great-grandsons won the last two Triple Crowns for pacers — 1999 Blissful Hall (Cambest) and No Pan Intended (Pacifi Fella).

The last pacer to be named HOY back-to-back was Cam Fella — a grandson of Meadow Skipper.

Chris Walsh still applying the lessons of his late father

by Chris Lomon

Dennis Walsh would no doubt be proud of his son.

Chris "Crit" Walsh can recall the advice, nearly verbatim, that his late father shared with him throughout their years spent together in horse racing. The words etched in the 32-year-old Pennsylvania horseman's mind are both comforting and inspirational, helpful and hopeful in their tone.

Courtesy Chris Walsh

Chris Walsh said he owes his career to his late father, Dennis.

"A lot has stayed with me. I'll be doing something and then I'll think about all the things that my dad told me about life and racing."

Dennis Walsh won 383 as a driver and 32 races as a trainer.

He also shared much of what he learned throughout his stand-ardbred life with Chris, eager to teach him the ropes and see him go out on his own one day.

"My dad told me to always the turn the page, that each day is a new opportunity, to never get too high or too low. He also taught me to understand that each horse needs to be treated differently, to work with them to bring out the best in them on the racetrack. He also shared that less is more, that you don't need to overtrain a horse."

In 2016, the younger Walsh, still working alongside his father, earned his trainer's license. He recorded a modest of number of starts in his first three years, winning one race from seven showings.

Two years ago, he went 2-1-3 from 11 starts, but stepped away from the sport after his father passed away on October 10, 2019, at the age of 78.

"We worked so closely and so well together," said Walsh, who also noted horseman Nick Ferriero Sr. as a strong influence on his career. "Looking back, I'm grateful not only for the time we were able to spend together, but for how he helped me in horse racing."

After taking the 2020 racing season off, Walsh returned to the harness scene, a decision that led to his most memorable year as a trainer.

The Pennsylvania native, born and raised in Laurel Run, a borough in Luzerne County, with a population just under 600, set a slew of career-best numbers in 2021, highlighted by 10 wins from 54 starts, along with $104,949 in earnings.

It was hardly an easy path to reach that level of success.

"I just took all the things that I learned from my father," said Walsh. "I worked so many years beside him and I made sure I listened to everything he shared with me. After he passed away in 2019, Pocono closed their barn area that season, and then Covid came. So, I took that year off in 2020 to decompress. To be honest, I wasn't really sure how things would work out for me, having to go to a training facility because I was always stabled at the track. As it turned out, 2021 couldn't have gone any better for me. It was a heck of year and I'm very fortunate and very blessed to have that happen, especially it being the first year out on my own."

While he runs a small operation, it was a horse by the name Indigo Art who delivered big results.

Bred by Robert Key, the 8-year-old son of Art Official was claimed for $12,500 by Walsh in May 2021.

Indigo Art wasted no time in delivering for his new connections, rhyming off two straight scores in his next two appearances, both coming at Pocono.

By season's end, the bay gelding had posted a record of 7-7-5 from 36 starts, the majority of those efforts coming in Walsh's barn.

The young conditioner is full of praise for the versatile veteran pacer, who posted his 1:50.4 lifetime-best mark at Woodbine Mohawk Park in 2020.

"He's the best horse I've ever trained and owned in my life. He was in some top barns and wasn't doing that well, so I decided to claim him. I got him and I got him to go up to the highest level of claiming, which was $30,000 to $40,000, handicap, up here. I had him in at $40,000 at the end of the Pocono season. He is, by far, the best horse I've ever had. He climbed the ladder. I'm so glad that I still have him. He's the only one I carried over from the winter."

Walsh is hopeful he can find other Indigo Art types to add to his stable.

"I'm looking to claim a few more at Pocono. I'm just really looking to build and to learn every single day. I think each horse is different and you try to find your niche in terms of what makes each horse happy. As long as you keep them sound and healthy, and on a decent regimen, I found that's something that has contributed to success for both myself and the horses."

When he's not at the racetrack and when the weather isn't bitterly cold, you can find Walsh enjoying the great outdoors, a way to step outside, literally and figuratively, the busy life he leads with the horses.

But he also doesn't mind putting his feet up to catch a football or basketball game.

"I like to do a little bit of everything. I love to be outdoors, although it can be tough to do that during certain points in the winter. I'm also in sports, so I like to sit down and watch a game when I can or watch something on Netflix. Really, it's about spending time with my mom [Anna, who goes by 'Weezie'] She's all I have left. She's in the horse business as well. That's how she met my dad. I just really try to spend time with those I'm closest to."

That list would also include the horses.

Hot summer days or howling winter winds, Walsh cherishes each moment he works with the pacers and trotters he coaches.

"They always put a smile on your face. They are all different, personality wise, but you always have that same happy feeling in helping them be the best they can be."

Walsh's goals for 2022 and onwards are simple but deeply meaningful ones.

"My goals this year are really about continuing to build on the successes I've had, in particular, what I was able to achieve last year. Most importantly, I just want to become a better person as well as a trainer, every day. I want to learn new things and build up my stable. Generally, I'd like to have about three horses because now, for the most part, I'm doing this on my own."

He is, however, paying it all forward. Just like his father did for him.

"I have one of my good friends, Drew Jenkins, helping me out and I'm showing him the ropes a little bit, teaching him what I learned from the days I started doing stalls to working on feet and legs, getting horses ready. The most important thing I want to do this year is enjoy the moment. We're not guaranteed anything, and I just want continue to work hard and be better at what I do."

Walsh is also eager to embrace the ones under his watchful eye.

"I want to enjoy that time with the horses, ranging from going to the barn in the morning all the way up to race day, and to hopefully have some success along the way."

Racing a rush for Roth

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

As the daughter of two former skydivers, it's no surprise Kim Roth enjoys an adrenaline surge. But rather than following in her parents' parachutes, Roth gets her rush from harness racing. Her parents, though, had a hand in that as well.

Roth trains a stable of 10 horses in her native Illinois. Two will be in action in the coming days at Hawthorne Race Course — Hello Sweetie Boy in tonight's (Jan. 28) $11,200 4-year-old open pace and Rockyroad Aldo in Sunday's (Jan. 30) $13,700 open trot.

Her participation in the sport goes back to her parents, Kurt and Marlyne, buying their first racehorse when Roth was around the age of 12. Kurt was a carpenter and Marlyne a beautician whose first involvement with horses was in the show world. After going to the track with a friend, Roth's parents added harness racing to their pursuits.

"My mom right off the bat started letting us jog," Roth said, referring to herself and sister Kelly, who is now a colonel and commander in the Air Force. "I couldn't get enough of it. I still can't. Then she started letting us train and I loved every minute of it. I think going fast is what hooked me. I showed horses too, but I converted to racing fulltime when I was 19 and never looked back.

"I love these horses, they're awesome animals. I don't know what I would do without them. I'll keep doing this as long as my body will let me."

Roth's parents, who still board a half-dozen horses at their farm, met through skydiving in the early-to-mid 1960s.

"They've got a little craziness in them," Roth said with a laugh. "My dad was one of the first people to take movies, videos, of skydiving. He mounted one of the old cameras on his helmet and took movies. He was in a skydiving club, and my mom was in a different skydiving club. He had taken the movies to show at the other club and that's where they met. They did (skydiving) for years. My dad competed and was very good at it.

"I never did try it. I was going to and never got around to it. It's hard to get away in this business, especially when you do your own barn. Now, I wouldn't do it. I'm way past that. Sitting behind a horse is plenty of adrenaline for me."

Roth, 54, has won 472 races as a trainer, with purses of $3.33 million. Her stable today consists of five 2-year-olds, three 3-year-olds, and the aforementioned Hello Sweetie Boy and Rockyroad Aldo.

Hello Sweetie Boy, a son of Aracache Hanoveer—Murvys Lady purchased under the name Hello Sweetie for $6,800 at the 2019 Michiana Classic Sale, has won $53,803 with four wins and a total of 13 top-three finishes in 29 starts. He won an Indiana Sire Stakes division at 2 before being sidelined by a leg injury after three races.

Illinois

This year, he had a win and a second in legs of the Winter Wonderland Series and was fifth in the final. He is the 4-1 morning-line favorite in Friday's 4-year-old Open Pace, leaving from post nine with driver Todd Warren.

"He's got a big heart," Roth said. "He's not a real big horse, he's just average size, but he loves his job, and he gives you what he's got.

"We spend a lot of time with these horses, I'm here more at the barn than I am at my house, and they become like family. You become attached to them, and they become attached to you. I've had multiple offers to sell him, and businesswise I probably should have. But I really like him. He's a real racehorse."

Rockyroad Aldo, a 6-year-old son of Guccio—Bars Dutchess, was purchased privately before starting his career. Unraced at 2, he has won 11 of 42 lifetime starts, hit the board eight more times, and earned $72,669. He has two second-place finishes in three starts this season, all in the Open.

"He was completely wild when we got him, but he has really matured," Roth said. "They say trotters get better with age and he's definitely getting better with age."

Watching horses develop and improve is what Roth most enjoys.

"I like getting a colt that doesn't know anything and teaching them to be competitive," she said. "I love everything about it. It is a challenge. I know not all of them can make it, but I try to make them the best they can be. I treat them good, and they usually give you everything they've got.

"I love coming to the barn. I'm a full-fledged horse girl."

And it all began with a couple of skydivers meeting at a club.

"I've got an amazing family," Roth said. "I'm very lucky with the parents I have, and my sister, the things she's accomplished in her life, I could never compete with. I'm very proud of her.

"It's crazy how things happen. I'm very lucky. I've had a great life. I really have. I wouldn't have changed anything."

Racing begins at 7:15 p.m. (CST) at Hawthorne. Free programs are available at the Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association website here.

Little, Waterstone, Burns, Cohen and WEG honored

HRU columnist Debbie Little – writing for Standardbred Canada's TROT Magazine – and Gordon Waterstone were named winners of the 2020/2021 John Hervey Awards for excellence in harness racing journalism while Michael Burns Jr. and Clive Cohen were named recipients of the George Smallsreed Awards for photography and Woodbine Entertainment Group was selected winner of the Sam McKee Award for broadcasting, the U.S. Harness Writers Association announced last week.

The winners will be recognized at the Dan Patch Awards banquet Feb. 20 at Rosen Shingle Creek resort in Orlando, FL. Meadowlands Racetrack chairman Jeffrey Gural is continuing his longstanding sponsorship of the awards by providing banquet tickets for the winners.

Little won in the feature writing category for her story, "The Legend of Walter Case Jr.," which appeared in the March 2020 issue of TROT Magazine. To read the story, click here. It is Little's first Hervey Award.

Waterstone won in the news/commentary division for his column, "First Over: Being Black in Harness Racing," which appeared in the June 19, 2020, edition of Harness Racing Weekend Preview. To access the issue, with the column on page seven, click here. It is Waterstone's second Hervey Award in the category and third overall.

Three stories that appeared in HRU garnered honorable mentions.

Honorable mentions in the writing categories went to Dave Briggs for "Judgment Day is Upon Us," March 13, 2020, in Harness Racing Update (HRU); Derick Giwner for "Those Wealthy Pennsylvania Horse Owners," Feb. 11, 2021, DRF Harness Digest; Jessica Hallett for "From Pompano to Tioga and Back During Pandemic," Dec. 18, 2020, Harnesslink.com; Bob Heyden for "Hey, Harness Racing: Grandma Died," May 31, 2020, HRU; James Platz for "The Greatest Gift," Dec. 20, 2020, HRU; and Jeff Robillard for "Redwood Candid on Past Addiction Issues," July 12, 2021, Horse Racing Alberta website.

The writing categories were judged by a panel consisting of sportswriter Lou Monaco of Gambling.com, Boston Globe Media sports editor Matt Pepin, retired long-time sports writer and two-time Hervey Award winner Brad Schmaltz, and Delaware State News executive editor and former harness writer Andrew West.

In the Smallsreed competitions, Burns won in the race/action category for his photograph, "Behind the Gate," which appeared Nov. 12, 2021, on the Woodbine Mohawk Park website. Burns is a three-time Smallsreed winner.

Cohen won in the feature category for his photograph, "Fall Fog," which appeared Oct. 7, 2021, on the Woodbine Facebook and Instagram pages. It is Cohen's third Smallsreed honor.

Honorable mention went to Amanda Stephens.

Judges for the photography categories were racetrack and newspaper photographer Bill Denver and former harness racing groom and long-time newspaper/magazine photographer Phil McAuliffe.

In the McKee competition, Woodbine Entertainment Group broadcast department was honored for its story "Flounder," which appeared Sept. 11, 2021, during the Pepsi North America Cup broadcast on the TSN television network. The piece highlighted the dedication and commitment of those working at Winbak Farm in Ontario and the story of one special foal.

The producer was Tammy Gillanders, director of photography was David Syrie, Rob Deluca and Paulo Macedo, and the editor was Lisa Germaney. The win gave WEG its fifth award in the broadcast division. To watch the piece, click here.

Honorable mentions went to Heather Vitale's feature on the horse Hyway Marcus, which aired May 9, 2021, on Post Time, and COSA-TV's coverage of last October's Breeders Crown, which appeared on industry media platforms in the U.S. and Canada.

Entries for the Sam McKee Award were judged by racing producer Tom Dawson, a former winner in the broadcasting division.

BarnCat Trivia launches Feb. 2 as a weekly gameshow

The cat's out of the bag: BarnCat Trivia is launching as a weekly event presented year-round starting Wednesday, February 2 at 7 p.m. EST. HRU is proud to be a sponsor.

BarnCat Trivia is a live interactive trivia gameshow for harness racing enthusiasts. It will be presented online one night each week, year-round. The show is offered on Wednesdays in February. The schedule switches to Sundays for the rest of the year starting February 27.

BarnCat Trivia is free to play on Feb. 2 and during Free Play Days (the first Sunday of each month). A subscription of $10/month provides access to all weekly games.

The concept was trialed for four shows at the start of the pandemic in 2020 as a response to the shutdown of racing across North America.

"Racing participants and fans were starved for content," said creator Kelly Spencer. "We slapped the program together very quickly to fill that void for fans. The feedback we collected from players indicated there was an appetite for more," she says. "We've refined the show and given it a permanent timeslot so fans can really sink their teeth into it week after week."

In this new permanent rendition of BarnCat Trivia, each game-show is 60 minutes and features 40 multiple-choice questions presented in four rounds. The trivia is 100 per cent harness racing content, with new questions presented each week. Players log into the game portal to watch the show and compete against fellow harness racing fans. Scores are tallied and presented to players in real time. Prizes are awarded randomly throughout each game and to the highest scorers.

An online show corresponds with each game featuring a host and interviews with special guests, including James MacDonald (Feb. 2) and Randy Waples (Feb. 9). The show and the game are presented together so players can access the whole experience from just one device.

A preview of the debut show on Feb. 2 is available here: <https://youtu.be/uokWnVhHxDU>

BarnCat Trivia is executive-produced by True Nature Communications Inc., which is owned by Spencer who also hosts and produces the show. Rachel Oenema is a co-producer.

The CoolCats Program is a feature of BarnCat Trivia which invites players to submit messages, photos and trivia questions to be used during the shows while providing support for the Ontario Standardbred Adoption Society and the Standardbred Transition Alliance.

NYSS announces 2022 schedule

The New York Sire Stakes (NYSS) has released the official approved schedules for the 2022 racing season, announcing that this season's Finals will be hosted at Tioga Downs on Sept. 10. Finals for the Excelsior Series will be held in Saratoga on Sept. 11. The full 2022 NYSS and Excelsior Series schedules can be found here.

"The New York Sire Stakes program is excited for the upcoming season as some strong finishers return to race, and a new crop of standardbreds begin to make a name for themselves," said Barry Sample, chairman, New York State Gaming Commission.

The Night of Champions will provide race purses of $200,000 each. Individual race purses for the Excelsior Finals have been approved for $50,000. All divisions feature seven preliminary legs.

The NYSS would also like to remind horsemen regarding the 2022 Horse Eligibility Payments. Payments for 2-Year-Olds and 3-Year-Olds must be made online or postmarked by Tuesday, Feb. 16. To make your payment online, visit www.nysirestakes.com.

If your payment is refused or returned for any reason, please save all documentation, and dated materials, including postmarks.

If you have any questions or concerns, contact with the New York Sire Stakes is to email info@nysirestakes.com. Keep up to date with news by visiting www.nysirestakes.com.

Meadowlands stakes notes

With the promise of another exciting summer stakes season looming, The Meadowlands reminds horsepeople that nomination payments for our 2022 stakes have a closing date of Feb. 15. All information pertinent to this process may be found on the Meadowlands website (www.playmeadowlands.com).

Brand new for 2022 is the New Jersey Classic Series for New Jersey-sired freshmen and sophomores. We are excited to add a mare division to the Graduate Series, hoping to give the gals the same transitional opportunity into open competition that the series has provided to horses in the past. It is also important to note that the Freshman Fall Final Four will revert back to an elimination and final format in 2022.

There are several "housekeeping" details to bring to your attention so far as the 2022 stakes and some changes of note within the conditions.

Previously announced was the "Win & You're In" to the Breeders Crown bonus for the Peter Haughton and Jim Doherty 2-year-old trotting stakes. This clause offers a lucrative incentive provided by the Breeders Crown for those competing in these top freshman trotting stakes.

Also previously released is the adoption of a new draw formula for the finals of stakes that require eliminations races. The goal is to reward more than only the winner of the elimination race with the chance to draw a preferred post and encourage more competitive racing in the elimination races. This new clause will be restricted to Meadowlands administered stakes.

The TVG FFA Championship now includes a clause that reads "Mare Buy Up" which states that: If, after all of the above conditions are exhausted there remain unfilled positions, mares that are eligible to the TVG Mare divisions may buy into and race in the TVG Open. To gain eligibility, the difference in payments between the Mare and Open divisions must be paid along with the Open declaration fee.

The Meadowlands and the Hambletonian Society have partnered to provide tiered entry fee discounts (as below) contingent upon nomination to other Meadowlands 2YO stakes to encourage participation in the first freshman Grand Circuit stake of the season, the June 17 Tompkins-Geers stakes.

Entrance fee: $500

- If a 2-year-old has made all payments to the Fall Final Four & Kindergarten Series, the entrance fee will be waived.
- If a 2-year-old has made all payments to the Fall Final Four only, the entrance fee will be discounted 50 per cent to $250.
- If the 2-year-old has made all payments to the Kindergarten Series only, the entrance fee will be discounted 25% per cent to $375.

Those staking are reminded of the Stallion Restriction Condition (SRC) which applies to all Meadowlands administered stakes and Hambletonian Society stakes raced at The Meadowlands that include the SRC within their conditions. The list of stallions and affected stakes is available here.

All Meadowlands stakes conditions will be available on the USTA website.

Billabong Beach crowned champion of Miami Valley's $8,000 claimers

A balanced field of nine, all of whom finished either first or second in the two preliminary legs, went postward Wednesday (Jan. 26) at Miami Valley in the $22,500 championship tilt of the Claim To Fame series for $8,000 male claiming pacers.

After a contentious opening half mile, it was Billabong Beach (Sam Widger) who closed from well back in the field to capture the final in 1:53.3.

Brigadierbronski A (Jeremy Smith) charged furiously out of the gate, as is his custom, and stopped the initial timer in :26.1. Overlord (Dan Noble), a winner of a division in each prelim but saddled with an outside draw, also left alertly but could neither reach the front nor find a hole along the pylons, thus forcing the action to the :54.4 halfway point. Despite the overland journey for Overlord, he was able to clear to the front and take a four length lead during a :28.4 third panel, but ran out of gas as the field rounded the final turn and headed for home.

Mild 2-1 favorite Trial By Fire (Trace Tetrack) was the first to collar Overlord but soon was joined by Billabong Beach as the finish line was in sight. Widger had watched from eighth in the nine horse field as the frontrunners slugged it out early, moved up to sixth on the outside just past the halfway point, then swung three wide with the most forward momentum going into the last turn. Ultimately winning by about a half-length, Billabong Beach—who only managed a second place finish in the first two legs—earned half the championship purse for owner Tessa Perrin and trainer Tony Rose.

The 11-year-old son of Somebeachsomewhere surpassed the $200,000 earnings plateau with his 28th triumph in 237 lifetime starts. The winner, who seems to be as good at his advanced age as he ever has been, paid $14.60 and coupled with Trial By Fire kicked back $58.80 in the exacta.

Supplemental entries taken for Blooded Horse Winter Sale

Supplemental entries will be taken for the Blooded Horse Winter Sale until 5 p.m. Monday, Jan. 31. The sale will take place on Tuesday, Feb. 8, at the Champions Center in Springfield, OH. Owners and trainers love evaluating the horses in person. Take a break and join horsepeople from 27 states and Canada as they converge at this 59th annual event to replenish their racehorses, look for young prospects and pick up broodmares. Visit www.bloodedhorse.com to enter the supplement or order a catalogue.

Likely negative takeout a big Pick-6 positive at Big M

Fans of the 20-cent Pick-6 at The Meadowlands will be out in force tonight (Jan. 28) night hoping to turn a negative into a positive when The Big M kicks off its 26-race weekend of live action at 6:20 p.m.

Last Saturday (Jan. 22), for a second straight race card, the Pick-6 failed to yield a winning ticket, so when racing resumes, there will be a carryover of $14,033 up for grabs. Those who had five correct were paid $672.72.

Pick-6 carryovers can create pools where the bettor gets incredible value. Take what would transpire this Friday, for instance. If $80,000 in "new money" is poured into the pool, there will be a "negative takeout", meaning bettors with all six winners on their tickets will get back more than what's wagered that night.

That $80,000 is subject to the low 15 percent takeout, which means $12,000 goes back to the operator, leaving $68,000. The carryover is not subject to the “rake”, so the total pool would be $82,033, which creates a “negative takeout”, where the return to players is more than what is bet live. In addition, the 20-cent minimum bet allows players to “spread” their tickets with multiple combinations, increasing their chances of hitting big.

The Pick-6 takes place on races eight through 13 and free past performances for every race of every Meadowlands race card are available by going to playmeadowlands.com.

GINGRAS THE GREAT: Harness racing’s hottest hands belong to Yannick Gingras, as the 42-year-old has left a path of destruction through The Meadowlands’ driver colony in the early stages of 2022.

The Hall of Fame bound pilot won six times on the Saturday night card at The Big M – including a victory in the feature with Covered Bridge – to up his driver-colony leading win total to 24. Joe Bongiorno is a distant second with 13.

Gingras has been remarkably consistent, winning at least three races on each of the six race cards conducted this year.

“It’s been horsepower,” said Gingras of his wicked winter. “Ronnie [Burke] is racing a little more this [winter] than last year and the horses are in the right spot. I don’t feel any sharper, honestly. I don’t get too up or down. I feel good right now. It’s just the way the cards are rolling.”

Remarkably, only one of “The Green Hornet’s” Saturday winners went off as the favorite.

LIVE RACING SCHEDULE: Racing at The Big M is conducted on a Friday-Saturday basis and has a first-race post time of 6:20 p.m.

The track’s live “Racing from The Meadowlands” pregame show kicks off nightly at 5:47 p.m.

OTTEN TO HOST: Big M TV’s Jessica Otten will take a turn in the host’s chair tonight, and on the pregame show, she’ll interview Lauren Harmon during the track’s popular “In the Sulky” segment, which begins at approximately 5:50 p.m.

Harmon is a native of Michigan who grew up in a racing family – her dad Don Harmon and stepmother Krista Williams Harmon have a stable in the Midwest. Lauren, the niece of long-time Big M horseman Rob Harmon, is second trainer at TheStable.ca in Ohio and drives in amateur events there.

WEATHER ALERT: With the possibility of bad weather hitting the area, those who want to make sure that there is live racing or simulcasting at The Meadowlands should check out the track’s website (www.playmeadowlands.com) or call 201-THE-BIGM before heading to the track.

BIG POOLS, SMALL TAKEOUTS: The Meadowlands is the industry’s handle leader, and much of the reason why is many of the bets the mile oval offers feature a low takeout of 15 percent.

Here is a rundown of those wagers for the upcoming weekend:

- Race 1: 20-cent Pick-5
- Race 3: 20-cent Survivor Pick-7
- Race 6: 50-cent Early Pick-4 ($50,000 guaranteed pool)
- Race 8: 20-cent Pick-6

- Race 10: 50-cent Late Pick-4 ($50,000 guaranteed pool)
- Race 13: 10-cent Pentafecta/Hi-5

WHO DOES BROWER LIKE? For expert selections and analysis of every Big M card, check out track oddsmaker Dave Brower’s race reviews.

DRINK FROM THE CUP: The $3 million Pegasus World Cup Invitational takes place Saturday at Gulfstream Park, and if you aren’t planning to hop on a plane and head to Florida in time for the race, the place to watch and wager is The Meadowlands in one of the leading simulcast facilities in the country.

Defending champion Knicks Go (6-5 on the morning line) and primary foe Life Is Good (7-5) have drawn post positions one and four, respectively, in the nine-horse field.

The program also features the $1 million Pegasus World Turf Cup and $500,000 Pegasus World Cup Filly and Mare Turf.

Saturday’s program at Gulfstream starts at 11:30 a.m. Post time for the World Cup – the last of 12 races on the card – is 5:34 p.m.

WARM UP WHEN IT’S CHILI: One of the more popular promotions at the track is the “Chili Cook-Off”, which has been rescheduled from its original Jan. 29 and will now take place on Feb. 5. Patrons can walk around and taste samples, or, if you have a chili recipe, come on out and participate. You might walk away with the $1,000 grand prize.
