Behind the recent payout bonanza at The Meadowlands

Brilliant race conditions, competitive fields and a great mix of participants has produced some significant payouts at The Meadowlands the last few weeks.

by Brett Sturman

BETWEEN THE LINES

with BRETT STURMAN

It's been quite a couple of weekends for the tote board at The Meadowlands. Going back two Saturdays ago, racing on Jan. 18 tested the tote's functional limits with the first ever triple dead heat in the track's history, which then coincided with a string of massive payouts utilizing all available real estate on the board.

Beginning with those races from Jan. 18, win mutuels included horses paying $74.60, $42.60 (82-1 odds as part of the triple dead heat), $150.60, and $95.60 (as part of a $27,861 trifecta). Payouts accelerated even farther from there, as this past weekend produced two winners over $100 on Friday (Jan. 24) and then two more winners over $100 on Saturday (Jan. 25). Also, there was a $90 winner thrown in there along with a few other "smaller" winners varying in between $30 and $60.

The high payouts produced haven't been entirely by luck. The setup of the races at The Meadowlands is conducive for making the potential of high-priced winners greater than at any other track.

Evenly-matched fields are the obvious reason there are fewer predictable winners, but going a level deeper, what's driving the parity? I believe it starts with the condition sheet.

The Meadowlands needs a detailed condition sheet in order to help fill races throughout multiple sets of qualifying criteria, but in that process, it also makes it far more challenging to handicap the races. Gone now are the days of having a condition like you'd see at Freehold that says N/W $3,000 L6 with an optional claim of $6,000.

Here is an example from The Meadowlands, using the condition for a recent race that produced the top three finishers with odds of 46-1, 22-1, 92-1. It reads: N/W $7,500 (N/W L2 $8,250)

The rub with the elite drivers in overnight races is that they all follow the same formula with little action. On the opposite end, the issue people have with the amateur races is that it's the wild west. With these drivers, you get a perfect blend. There are so many races where longer shot horses are forwardly placed, or where drivers aren't afraid to make an early move against a favorite. Most of the highest-priced payouts over the past couple weeks came where horses were essentially driven without regard for their odds, and you can see the contrast in results to when the most favored horses run the lineup.

in Last 4 Starts AE: N/W $1,750 P/S in 2024 (Minimum 15 Starts) (Winner of This Class or Higher in Last Start Ineligible – Class Cap N/W $12,500) AE: TM Rating 83.5 (N/W L2 84/2L4 84.5) or Less as of 1/14.

I don't know when having degrees in data science and statistics became part of the requirements to be a race secretary, but that's what it looks like is being utilized brilliantly in North Jersey. As mentioned, the patchwork on different conditions creates a real challenge to handicap.

In traditional harness racing, races have been simple to handicap because most horses race against the same horses week in and week out. When you can look at a program and in a field of 10 horses, see that eight of them have raced in the same race three out of the last four weeks, it makes comparison easy. But that's not the case in many of these conditions at The Meadowlands.

Common recent opponents are rare. Horses are coming into these races from different tracks, off different periods of time, coming off qualifiers, coming off amateur races and the list goes on. Even a listed condition of NW12500L4 can vary greatly from week to week because of all the underlying conditions, so it makes it that much harder to even tell who is truly moving up or moving down in class – it's impossible to know just by looking at the stated condition. As the fields become more difficult to interpret, the horses odds become more of guesswork and you get some of these higher prices.

The other part of this is the human factor, the drivers and the trainers. Both of those colonies look very different now in the winter months than they will as springtime approaches. What can you say about the group of trainers other than between some longer standing ones and some ones I've never heard of until recently – they're very evenly matched? Unlike during the Championship meet where most of the races are won by a select few, there isn't a strong lean towards one group of trainers – any of them can win.

Sure, you still have a couple of the bigger and sharper names racing there now, but that's somewhat offset by racing some of their lower stock against other trainers who are still more than capable. And just as it can be a crapshoot at times handicapping racing in the more complex set of conditions, I'd think the same holds true for trainers when figuring out where to even enter.

Similar holds true with the drivers. The colony at the moment is much different than the Grand Circuit colony, and that's not necessarily a bad thing. If anything, I find this current group is striking the right balance in how people want races to be run.

The rub with the elite drivers in overnight races is that they all follow the same formula with little action. On the opposite end, the issue people have with the amateur races is that it's the wild west. With these drivers, you get a perfect blend. Most of the highest-priced payouts over the past couple weeks came where horses were essentially driven without regard for their odds, and you can see the contrast in results to when the most favored horses run the lineup.

At the same time, favorites still win at The Meadowlands, too. Even though last Saturday produced winning horses in separate races that paid $146, $115, $37 and $29, that same card still produced seven winning favorites from 14 races. It shows another balance where the opportunity for high-paying winners is out there, but at the same time enough of the races can still be handicapped to form.

With full fields and similar race conditions again scheduled for this weekend, the recent trends of surprise results should continue.

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

Why I love the standardbred so much

by John Berry

Editor's note: It is with great pleasure that we announce that Hall of Fame harness racing writer, handicapper and personality John Berry has joined the HRU team and will continue his popular Mane Attraction column in this space. He begins with an introduction, as if he needs one...

First and foremost, it is a great honor to be on the HRU roster with such talented folk that share the same undying love for the standardbred.

It's amazing to think that my journey with the "potters and tracers" began on Aug. 22, 1959 when a gent who won a few bucks betting on my bowling skills – I was just 16 at the time – corralled me to Sportsman's Park (SPk) to witness what, for me, became the greatest sport in the world.

"Luke" knew everyone at the track and, from his trackside box – 41-A – had nightly conversations with many of the top horsemen at the track.

Of course, I didn't know then the likes of Del Insko, Harold Snodgrass, Don Busse, Jack Hankins or Glen Kidwell, among countless others that crossed in his path that night.

But it took, maybe, 2:04.4 to become hypnotized by harness racing's beauty and action... especially after Dr. Hyslop won and padded my coffers by $8.80 (on the advice of Luke).

Here it is, 65 years later, and my love for the sport has not waned even a "ns," as the charts might read.

Over those three-score and five years, I have had the great fortune of meeting many of my idols, first, on the Chicago circuit and, over the years, the North American circuit, and many from overseas, as well.

From locals like Edgar Leonard, Billy Shuter, Aubrey Petty, Dwayne Pletcher, Bob Williams, "Snake" Willis, the Grahams and Lou Rapone to the out-of-towners Gene Rieggle, Bob Farrington, Jim Dennis, Chris Boring, Bruce Nickells and Gene Vallandingham in the days of Battleship N.

They didn't have to be "famous," but all were in my eyes.

Yes, Nick and Edith Mouw, Bobby Knox, Leo Burns (who, by the way, won a race at age 97), Bill Roseboom, again, among countless others, were, to me, just as famous.

Luke introduced me to Curly Smart in the SPk paddock in the summer of 1961 after Smart won with the trotter Lloyd's Demon and we became close friends over the years.

Smart gave me his phone number in Delaware, OH, and, on several occasions, we had lunch together with his wife, Mildred, at their cozy home at 219 Fountain Street.

Smart was so down-to-earth and never flaunted his fame in the sport.

How famous was Smart?

One day, as I was traveling from Columbus north to Cleveland, I stopped at a pay phone off the highway in Delaware, OH, to give Smart a call, but I kept misdialing the number.

Finally, I dialed 411 – in the days of a LIVE information operator – and said, "I'd like the number of T. Wayne Smart, 219 Fountain Street."

Without hesitation, the operator said, "Curly's number is 363-5524."

I said, "Curly?"

She simply replied, “Everyone knows Curly.”

One doesn’t get much more famous than that!

Yes, from grand, memorable chats over the years with the aforementioned Edgar Leonard to frigid winter conversations with Dick Baker at the Freehold intersection of Main and South Streets to chats with Frank Ervin on the steps of the Horseman and Fair World in Lexington, KY.

That’s where I met, first, Stan Bergstein, then Elizabeth Rorty of that fabled Horseman and Fair World magazine and, also, through the years, Les Ford, Phil Pines, Walt Latzko, George Smallsreed, Bill Brown, Don Evans, Dave and Debbie Little, Dean Hoffman, Murray Janoff, Hollywood Heyden, Mark Hall – dozens of others – Murray Brown, Moira Fanning, Gordon Waterstone, Steve Wolf, Ken Warkentin and several Daves: Brower, Carr and, of course, Briggs.

It’s been a memorable time from start to where I am now – the 16th pole!

I am enthralled with the history of our grand sport; from the Narragansett Pacers in the 1700’s to Messenger’s arrival in 1788 to Yankee’s first recorded mile in 1806 to Conqueror’s world record performance for 100 miles – yes, 100 miles – in 1853.

The three-day, nine heat marathon comes to mind won by Alix in Chicago’s World’s Fair Columbian free-for-all in 1893.

And one cannot forget the great Dan Patch, and the chewing tobacco, cigars, washing machines, toys and dance steps named after that legendary pacer more than a century ago.

Of course, during this lifetime (1943-?), Su Mac Lad was the first “future” star witnessed by these eyes taking place on the aforementioned Aug. 22, 1959 night, driven by John Peat.

Of the other 50,000 plus races or so witnessed, Bill Popfinger’s drive in the final heat of the ’78 Jug comes to mind, the Its Fritz-Cam Fella race, Bret Hanover-Adios Vic classics, the roar of the crowd during the final quarter of Niatross’ epic time-trial achievement, and so many others.

But, probably, the ONE single race that emerges as my favorite was performed by a nondescript 3-year-old pacer named Scotsdam, driven by Ken Lighthill.

March 17, 1962, Maywood Park, the track a literal quagmire as winter and spring were in a weather war, you know, snow, sleet, rain, freezing rain with temperatures 31-32-33 degrees.

Scotsman won his ONE MILE race in 3:38.3 – no misprint – 3:38.3, the slowest winning pari-mutuel mile in history!

The horrible weather continued as Bob Farrington’s Great Northern won the next racing night in 3:35.3 – last quarter 1:03.

Farrington said that the horse was so tired after the race that he laid down in his stall for three days and didn’t even get up to empty out.

This grand breed has the durability like no other; records on the books for the aforementioned 100 miles, as well as 50 miles, 30 miles, 20 miles and dozens more lengthy events defining durability and defying the impossible.

Of course, durability can be defined in many ways and yet another meaning came forth as, before age restrictions went into effect, we had horses racing well into their 20’s – Abax being 26, Baldwin 24 and Ada Symbol being 23, among the many others.

Lord Sherbrooke, age 21, raced against his 5-year-old son one year, and beat him!

One of my BDHC – Broken Down Horseplayers Club – members quipped, “I guess he wasn’t too much of a racehorse or a sire!”

That mattered nothing to me as it takes all participants to crown champions with all others helping crown them.

Our JB’s Mane Attraction columns will cover a wide variety of subject-matter with the hope that it will last from the 16th pole to the wire.

If that seems like a short distance, many horses and drivers think it, sometimes, seems like forever to get to the wire in that final 16th.

May The Horse Be With You.

with GORDON WATERSTONE

The magic of Prix d'Amérique weekend

by Gordon Waterstone

With it being nearly four months since the Red Mile Grand Circuit meet concluded, I was getting antsy to write a new Backstretch With Gordon column. With input from my agents Amy Hollar and Nick Salvi, a deal was secured with Dave Briggs to do a special January edition.

Something happened though on my way to the nearby Red Mile as I must have taken a wrong turn somewhere because I ended up more than 4,000 miles east in Paris, France.

But that turned out not all that bad as I landed in Paris on Prix d'Amérique weekend.

Truth be told, this trip was planned well in advance, and while there were some hiccups in my first-ever journey outside of North America, I arrived on the continent early Friday morning (Jan. 24).

I can easily sum up my experience with one word: Wow! What a fun time it was watching in person the famed 1,000,000 Euro Prix d'Amérique trotting classic. And I'll get back to that in a bit.

I wanted to title this column with the French translation of Backstretch With Gordon but that became problematic as I learned no tracks in France – and there are a lot of them – have a backstretch. But let's pretend there were barns at the tracks. Hence, it would be something close to Les granges de l'hippodrome avec Gordon.

I had no idea what to expect in France and after a day on Friday getting acclimated and hanging with my primary travel companions of Tom Charters and Judy Davis-Wilson and her daughter Diane, I prepared myself for two days of harness racing activities.

Driver Clément Duvaldestin kicked up his legs in celebration Sunday afternoon at Vincennes as Idao de Tillard defeated an 18-horse field to win back-to-back Prix d'Amérique championships.

I met up with Tom early Saturday morning and we got an Uber ride to the famed Grosbois Training Centre where we were to meet the resident historian Alain. After a 30-minute trip we were met by a delightful young lady named Manon, which she said translated to Marie in our language. Speaking of language, I pretty much had no idea what was going on my entire time in France as I probably know only about five easy words in French.

Manon, who is Alain's assistant, told me she had to give up jump horses when she broke her back as a teenager. She spoke English pretty well as she gave Tom and I a private tour of the Grosbois museum. What a jewel the museum was as we were able to experience the entire history of French racing.

After we toured the museum amongst many other visitors, Manon took Tom and I into the cellar where the archives of books and racing programs dating back to the 1800s were housed. Picture yourself walking down a precarious number of steps into a cold, dark basement, and you will understand why Tom and I both were afraid we might never be seen again. We got a bit more nervous too when Manon told us they had a problem at one time with bats triggering the alarm system.

We then met up with Alain, who was with a trio from Quebec. We introduced ourselves and then Alain and Manon took us on a private tour of the castle, which included stops in huge rooms filled with hundreds and hundreds of books.

After a couple of hours touring, Tom and I headed to Hippodrome de Vincennes. Manon bid "au revoir" while Alain was our ride to the racetrack.

We made it to Vincennes just as the first race was ready to go. Alain had a private parking spot inside the bowels of Vincennes, and as we got out of the car, we were greeted by famed French horseman Pierre Levesque.

Tom, Alain and I made it to our table and we were soon joined by Henrik Lindell, who had made his way to France from Sweden, where he primarily works for a fiber optics company as well as serving as a judge at two Swedish tracks.

Trainer Jerry Riordan, who left the U.S. 20 years ago to ply his trade in Italy, also joined us. I hadn't seen Jerry in all those years and wasn't sure he'd remember me, but he did. He obviously remembered my days as publicity director at Hazel Park through the 1980s until the mid-90s when I left Michigan to work for Boss Kathy at The Horseman And Fair World, as he immediately started taking about the NBA's Detroit Pistons "Bad Boys" teams of the '80s.

Pierre Levesque came by the table to chat, noting to me that his father, Henri, won the Prix d'Amérique three times, following the five wins in the 1960s by his father, Henri.

Swedish agent Robert Lindstrom came over to say hello, and since I've already met him a couple of times in Lexington, it was nice to see him. Swedish trainer Jorgen Westholm also stopped at our table to say hello to Alain. Jorgen introduced himself to me and told me he had a horse racing on Sunday after the Prix d'Amérique. He also told me he thought Working Class Hero, the favorite in the race, would likely win.

After having lunch, Henrik, who has experience with attending the Prix d'Amérique, took me on a tour of Vincennes. I was stunned by how big the grandstand is. Henrik took me from one end to the other end, including a stop in the massive paddock.

Henrik noted that the horses racing were not segregated by race, but instead by trainer. I'm so glad I made the paddock trip on Saturday as Sunday was a different story. While we were heading back inside, Swedish photographer Adam Ström came running over to say hello.

My main group expanded on Sunday as fellow Kentuckian Elizabeth Caldwell, Callie Davies-Gooch, Norwegian Tina Brauti and Lisa Riordan joined us for the shuttle ride to the track. A lot of traffic near the venue told me that despite rain there would be a huge crowd.

I was correct as the place was packed. We were all seated in the dining room and after the second race there was an on-track show that U.S. racetracks should try and duplicate.

There were cheerleaders and bands and parading horses and fireworks. The 18 drivers in the Prix d'Amérique then arrived in separate cars to a huge ovation from the crowd.

Also coming out of a car holding the prized trophy was Teddy Riner, a five-time Olympic Gold medal champion in judo from France. He obviously is well known in France as he greeted the nearby fans with high-fives and handshakes.

One thing I should note here is that after every race a big clock starts counting down from 30 minutes until the following race. That timespan was about 90 minutes between races 2 and 3 as the entertainment continued.

I sat at a table with Callie and Paul Minore and his wife, Sharon. Paul had driven in an amateur race on Saturday, finishing eighth.

After eating lunch I made my way downstairs to go to the paddock and see the horses up close and personal. I squeezed my way through the masses but once I reached my destination it had started to rain harder. So, I traipsed back to the dining room, which again was not an easy trip.

As you know by now the Prix d'Amérique was won by the French owned and trained Idao De Tillard for the second year in a row. It was a huge effort for the trotter to win from the outside post 18 – which did not deter the bettors as late money made him the favorite – after a recall caused by horses hooking wheels at the start.

After the race, the celebration included the playing of France's national anthem. My group then fought its way through the masses to find our shuttle back to the hotel.

By the way, Tom Charters had also been told by the trainer to play Working Class Hero, so he stopped to make a wager on our way out. I wasn't smart enough to do the same as Working Class Hero indeed did win, returning $4.20.

We all later went to a restaurant which had been reserved by the Hambletonian Society. Yes, the entire restaurant had been reserved so our group of about 40 filled the place. Included among the attendees was more Americans, including Tom Grossman and Pete Spears, who served as co-hosts.

My table had a Bluegrass feel as joining Elizabeth and I were Steve and Cindy Stewart – yes, my gracious Backstretch sponsors for The Red Mile columns. Also at my table was Tina and Henrik. Sitting at the next table was the USTA's Mike Tanner and his wife, Gayle.

I was most impressed that several Trot Francais officials, including president Jean-Pierre Barjon and director of racing Emmanuella Morvillers were there. I had met Emmanuella earlier in the day and she came over to me to ask my impression of the day.

My answer was that same one word I noted earlier: Wow! I asked her the attendance and she said more than 36,000. As I write this, a couple days after, I'm still not sure of the betting numbers, although I saw races easily topping $1 million when checking my Twin Spires betting app.

As I wrote earlier, U.S. racetracks should pay close attention. Round up local high school cheerleaders and bands, paying them with a donation to the school. Horses for show should also be able to be found. And a small pyrotechnics display is easy.

I left Paris overwhelmed by the experience. I still can't stop hearing the announcer doing constant interviews with fans during the race card, and repeating "oui, oui, oui" over and over. And I keep hearing the horn blow whenever a horse made a break during a race.

Finally, it's time for the price of gas, or essence in French. It was 1.91 a litre, so with the conversion it translates to $7.53 a gallon in U.S. dollars.

I'll see you in September at The Red Mile. Merci for reading.

Idao de Tillard repeats in Prix d'Amérique

The French champion overcame racing three-wide over nearly every step of the 1.7-mile race to defend his crown.

by Thomas Hedlund

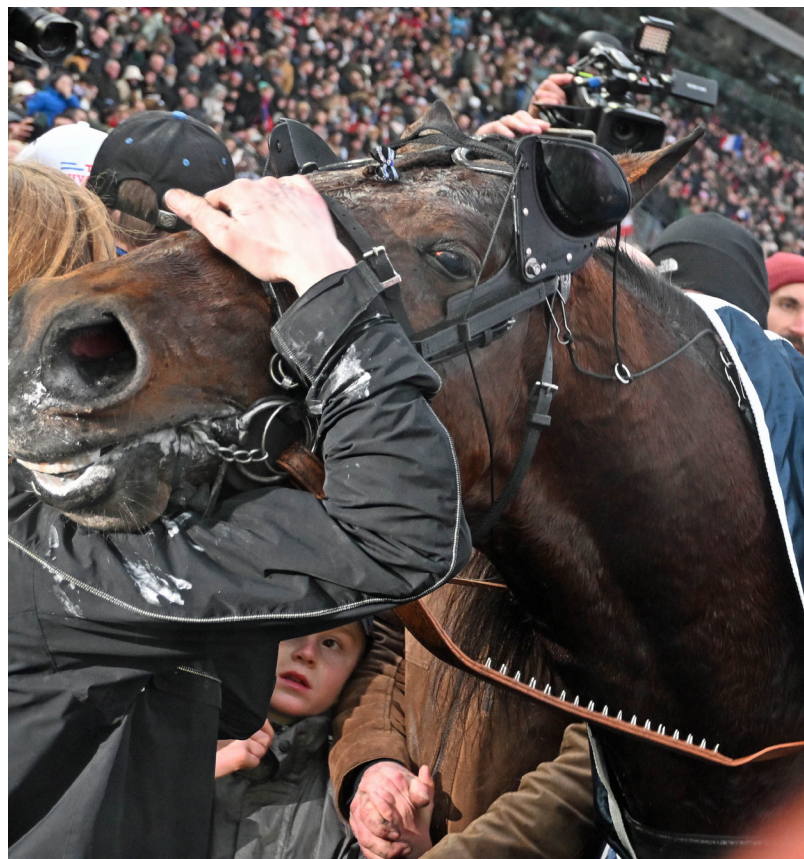

Idao de Tillard's repeat victory in Sunday's (Jan. 26) Prix d'Amérique in front of thousands of enthusiastic fans at Vincennes in Paris has placed the French trotter in legendary company. The trotter joins Varenne, Offshore Dream, Ready Cash, Bold Eagle and Face Time Bourbon in winning France's premier trotting race in consecutive years since the new millennium began.

Some dramatic moments took place in the first attempt to send the 18-horse field away with the race's unique turn-and-go start. Sweden's big hope, San Moteur, was everything but cooperative in the hands of his trainer/driver Björn Goop. San Moteur acted stressed and when Goop opted for a start far outside, between horses, San Moteur more or less ran away from his driver, nearly causing a serious accident as he ran into the sulky of the race favorite Go On Boy and Romain Derieux.

The situation caused a malfunction of Go On Boy's equipment and the start had to be delayed.

When Go On Boy was ready to race, the drivers kept calm and the field got away pretty soon after the mishap. San Moteur, one of the favorites, was way too fired up and Goop could not keep his horse from making a break.

With 17 horses left, the first 500 meters became a war of positions, as usual. Emeraude de Bais, Don Fanucci Zet and circle for the repeat champ.

The Prix d'Amérique winner's

Hooker Berry opened quickly and when leader Don Fanucci Zet gave up the lead to Hooker Berry in front of the grandstand the first time around the oval, Yoann Lebourgeois aimed for the front position with his Hussard du Landret.

It was not a big surprise that Hussard du Landret would be a leader. Opponents certainly entered the race with knowledge about driver Yoann Lebourgeois' favored tactics. Hussard du Landret would defend the lead if he reached it.

Further back in the field, Idao de Tillard (Severino) was given a safe start between horses and driver Clément Duvaldestin just let his horse trot in a calm pace, three wide in the middle of the field. Idao de Tillard never really got to rest since he had to continue his Prix d'Amérique adventure three wide. Mid-race, he also lost the cover of Justin Bold. That meant Idao de Tillard had to race the rest of the way uncovered and three wide. That would have been an overwhelming task for almost all horses in the world, but not for Idao de Tillard.

With 450 meters to go, Idao de Tillard landed outside of leader Hussard du Landret and immediately took control of the 105th edition of the Prix d'Amérique. Behind him, Just Love You followed after being covered by Idao de Tillard the whole race and favorite Go On Boy also loomed as a serious threat in the stretch.

They tried, hard to reach the title defender of the prestigious Grand Prix, but Idao de Tillard answered with his ears backwards and he wouldn't let anyone pass him on this day.

Seven-year-old Idao de Tillard, trained by Thierry Duvaldestin, and driven by his son Clément, claimed his second Prix d'Amérique in a row in a mile rate of 1:54.2 over 2,700 meters (about 1.7 miles).

Just Love You, driven by Alexandre Abrivard, fought well as the runner up behind Idao de Tillard. Favorite Go On Boy finished third.

Replay here.

Without a doubt, the best horse won the 2025 Prix d'Amérique. Idao de Tillard is the 18th repeat winner in consecutive years in the 105-year history of the Prix d'Amérique, joining:

- Pro Patria (1920-21)
- Passeport (1923-24)
- Uranie (1926-27-28)
- Hazleton (1931-32)

- De Sota (1938-39)
- Ovidius Naso (1945-47)
- Gélinotte (1956-57)
- Jamin (1958-59)
- Roquépine (1966-67-68)
- Tidalium Pélo (1971-72)
- Bellino II (1975-76-77)
- Ourasi (1986-87-88)
- Varenne (2001-02)
- Offshore Dream (2007-08)
- Ready Cash (2011-12)
- Bold Eagle (2016-17)
- Face Time Bourbon (2020-21)
- Idao de Tillard (2024-25)

Thierry looked satisfied and relieved as he captured his fourth Prix d'Amérique victory. He also trained Ready Cash, who won the French classic in 2011 and 2012.

Right now, Idao de Tillard is the best trotter in the world, especially since Horsy Dream is rehabbing after an injury last fall.

Looking ahead, Team Duvaldestin may travel to Solvalla in May to contest Elitloppet again. Last year, after making an early break, Idao de Tillard was incredible. A duel between Horsy Dream and Idao de Tillard has the potential to be something special.

Burke Racing scores an Owner of the Year hat trick

by Debbie Little

Officially, the members of Burke Racing Stable LLC, are listed as Sylvia Burke and Weaver Brusceci LLC (Mark Weaver and Mike Brusceci).

But the now three-time Norman Woolworth Owners of the Year said this honor reflects their entire team's effort.

"It's everybody," Burke said. "It's a Burke brigade. That's everybody that works for us and all our owners and our grooms and drivers, everybody."

Weaver said that around 2004, he became friends with trainer Ronnie Burke, who was still working for his dad, Mickey Burke, at the time, and eventually it turned into Weaver Brusceci becoming part of Burke Racing.

"At some point, it just kind of naturally happened that any horse that they owned we owned, and vice versa," Weaver said. "My relationship initially was with Ronnie, not necessarily Mickey and Sylvia, but obviously, over the years, I got to love both of them. And I probably talk to Sylvia as much as any person, multiple times a day as far as bookkeeping and new purchases. I mean, she is the glue that holds the whole thing together without a doubt."

Sylvia said the Burke Racing partnership with Weaver Brusceci has been "absolutely great," and that she does indeed speak with Weaver every day.

"It could be 8 o'clock, 9 o'clock at night, and he says, 'What are you doing?' And I say, 'You know what I'm doing, I'm working,'" Sylvia said with a laugh.

As happy as he is to be honored again, it's not the award that Weaver thought they would win for 2024. Burke Racing was in the running for both Owner and Breeder of the Year. They won the Owner award by one vote over Harvey Fried's Patricia Stable, but lost Breeder to Hanover Shoe Farms.

"I kind of don't feel like we should have been the winner, to be honest," Weaver said of being named Owner of the Year. "I think “I kind of don’t feel like we should have been [Owners of the Year], to be honest. I think the other stable, Patricia Stable, should have. With what they were able to accomplish with a fraction of the horses that we had; I think they were probably more deserving. But at the same time, I think the reverse applies to the Breeder of the Year. We won two Breeders Crowns as owners, but we also bred both of them, and I think we probably should have won Breeder of the Year.”

the other stable, Patricia Stable, should have. With what they were able to accomplish with a fraction of the horses that we had; I think they were probably more deserving.

“But at the same time, I think the reverse applies to the Breeder of the Year. We won two Breeders Crowns as owners, but we also bred both of them, and I think we probably should have won Breeder of the Year. Instead, it went to Hanover, who is kind of like Burke Racing, Weaver Brusceci as an owner. There’s power in numbers, and I’m sure they had a great year, just like we had a great year as owners, but I like to pull for the little guy, because I don’t think we’re ever going to breed two Dan Patch winners again, and for the Patricia Stable, it’d be hard for them to duplicate their success.”

Patricia Stable owns Dan Patch honorees Captain Albano and Sig Sauer, while Burke Racing owned and bred Breeders Crown/Dan Patch champions Louprint and My Girl EJ.

Burke Racing is also a member of the Sweet Lou Syndicate that owns Sweet Lou, who tied in the vote for the Dan Patch Pacing Sire of the Year with Bettors Delight.

“Sweet Lou has been a God,” Weaver said. “I mean, it’s just amazing what he’s done here and Down Under. He should have a book written on him, to be honest; just like what he’s been able to do. I mean, originally, we sold a share for $20,000. That’s what a lifetime breeding was, $20,000 in 2014, I think. And one just sold [last week] online for $112,000 and that’s after they got to use it for the last 10 years... I was talking to Eric Cherry the other day. He said he doesn’t know what’s gone up more, Sweet Lou or Bitcoin, in the last five years. And it really has been so great. It was almost like having another child, you know, having him and seeing him just keep getting better and better. And so, yeah, it’s been awesome.”

Unlike when they previously won Owner of the Year in 2013 and 2018, there is an important piece missing now with Burke Brigade patriarch Mickey passing unexpectedly in May of 2024. He and Sylvia would have celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in August last year.

“Mickey was a legend in the business,” Weaver said. “Nobody has any idea how much he did for people and horse aftercare. He was a tough man. You didn’t want to get on his bad side, but he was as giving as any person I’ve ever seen, and it’s not even close, to be honest.

“He started it off, and, yeah, he’ll always be the leader of the whole gang.”

When asked why Ronnie isn’t part of Burke Racing, Weaver said with a laugh, “Ronnie makes 5 per cent of $27 million a year, that’s enough. We kind of decided that he doesn’t need to make any more than $1.3 million. Anyone can do the math. That’s the arrangement. I mean, no one’s feeling sorry for him. He can get by on his 5 per cent.”

Burke Racing is also the Grand Circuit Owner of the Year for 2024.

“It’s been a little over 20 years,” Weaver said. “It’s so enjoyable being able to share it with good people, not just the Burkes, but all of our partners. We’ve been able to keep a pretty good group of people over the last 20 years. I guess winning kind of helps, but we don’t always win and I guess that’s kind of the icing on the cake, being able to enjoy it with a bunch of good guys; good people, I should say, because they’re not all guys.”

A 100th Hambletonian edition of 'Did you know?'

by Bob Heyden

Here are 10 fun facts about the Hambletonian that you might not know.

DAY BY DAY

The Hambletonian has actually been held on each and every day of the week. Go ahead and try to think of any other race that can say this.

Here's the breakdown:

Monday – twice (1926 and 1928); two of the first three ever contested.

Tuesday – three times (1927, 1929 and 1957), including the debut year in DuQuoin.

Wednesday – 36 times, including 14 in a row from 1932-45.

Thursday – four times.

Friday – twice.

Saturday – 51 times. The very first time was Speedy Streak in 1967. The next time, Bonefish (1975), started a streak of 50 straight which takes us to today, Karl (2024).

Sunday – only once, when Nevele Pride won on Aug. 25, 1968.

MONTH AFTER MONTH

The Hambletonian has been contested in three different months: August (88 times), September (10 times) and October (just once).

FIRST WHEN IT COUNTED

These four finished worse than 10th in a Hambletonian Day race yet still won the final! In 1953, Helicopter was 17-1-1, in 1956 The Intruder was 11-1-1, in 1958 Emilys Pride was 1-12-1, and in 1976 Steve Lobell was 14-1-4-1.

SLOW AND STEADY

In the first 21 editions of the Hambletonian there was only one sub :30 first quarter. It was in 1928 when they went :29 ½.

TOUCH OF GREY

The first sub 1:00 half came in edition #10 (1935) when Greyhound ruled the day. One of the two heats had a :59 ¾ half.

WHATTA GUY

The first winning Hambletonian sire Guy Axworthy, had an unspectacular racing career. A foal of 1902, he took a 2:08 ¾ mark at age 4. He lived a long life siring the 1926 and 1927 winners, Guy McKinney and Losola's Worthy and then, one more, Lord Jim (1934), from his final crop.

TROLLING THE WINNER'S CIRCLE

In both 1979 and 1980, Pat Troll was the caretaker of Hambletonian winners Legend Hanover and Burgomeister. Corinne Tripp was the regular caretaker of Legend Hanover, but was so nervous that she watched the race from the grandstand, thus giving Troll the call from off the bench.

SAVING HIS BEST FOR LAST

In the 1972 Hambletonian, in both of Super Bowl's heats, he motored home in :28.2, the fastest quarters on this record day when he won on 1:56.2, a new Hambletonian standard.

In order of finish, Duenna by Green Speed (1977), Winky's Gill by Bonefish (1975), Speedy Claude by Speedy Somolli (1978), and Joie De Vie by Super Bowl (1972) and Astro Hill by Speedy Crown (1971) that finished fourth in a dead heat. This turned out to be the lone time a son/daughter of Greed Speed ever got any Hambletonian money.

THRIVE AFTER FIVE

The last check earners in the 99 editions of the Hambletonian might have been quiet and virtually unnoticed on that day, but a bunch made some noise after that day.

In 1954, Stenographer might not have gotten to the photographers stand, but was later named Horse of the Year.

In 1971, Quick Pride led the way in earnings at 3 ($231,210), just as he did at 2 ($179,514).

In 1976, Quick Pay turned the tables on everyone by capturing the Kentucky Futurity.

In 1977, Cold Comfort was not able to go with his stablemate Green Speed but later was a force to be reckoned with as a free-for-all star and Roosevelt International Trot winner.

In 1981, Banker Barker was favored twice in the New Jersey debut of the Hambletonian won by Shiaway St Pat, but still cruised to divisional honors.

In 1984, Baltic Speed won the first sophomore Breeders Crown and sired, from his very first offering, Valley Victory and Peace Corps.

In 2013, Spider Blue Chip was not a threat on the first Saturday in August, but got it together for a mini-Breeders Crown upset for Chuck Sylvester.

In 2014, Resolve was not a headliner come Hambletonian Day, but a couple of years later he resurfaced with Ake Svanstedt and took down the Yonkers International Trot.

In 2016, Bar Hopping was the public choice, but a Triple Crown winner named Marion Marauder ruled the day. Bar Hopping turned it around post career and sired Trotter of the Year Bella Bellini.

Cran Dalgety returns to Melton as a party of three

The New Zealand trainer, flanked by his wife/co-trainer Chrissie and son/driver Carter, seeks more glory in Group 1 Hunter Cup.

by Adam Hamilton

Decorated Kiwi trainer Cran Dalgety is loving his second coming. Dalgety, a key force in New Zealand for three decades, credits the stunning emergence of his son – top young driver Carter – with “stirring the fire in his belly” again to be a player at the pointy end of harness racing Down Under.

Carter, 22, recently spent almost two months in the U.S. and still returned to New Zealand to win the country’s leading junior driver crown. Around the same time, he won his second and third Group 1 races aboard the family’s current stable star, Republican Party, in the Invercargill and Auckland Cups.

And it is Republican Party who has united the family on another overseas adventure to chase the Group 1 Hunter Cup, one of Australia’s iconic races, at Melton on Saturday (Feb. 1).

“This trip feels really special,” Cran said. “As you get older, you certainly appreciate things more and for us as a family to share the recent success we’ve had and to take a top horse back to Victoria, it’s something else.

“Chrissie [my wife] and I train in a partnership and now we’ve got Carter doing such a great job as the stable driver. We were thrilled Carter chose to give harness racing a go, but we’re extra fortunate he’s doing so well and having so much success at it. It’d be tricky if that wasn’t the case.

“Sport is a cruel thing in many ways because you can’t stop the clock and age takes over when the young brigade comes through, but Chrissie and I can be part of that now with Carter.”

Cran can see the synergy in the timing of this year’s Hunter Cup tilt.

“I was pretty much the same age as Carter when I took my first good horse to Melbourne and Desperate Comment won two Victoria Cups for us,” he said. “Now we’re coming back as a family to try and win another of [Victoria’s big ones].

“Desperate Comment really kick-started my career and I’ve been lucky to have quite a few nice horses follow since him, but he opened my eyes to the great things about travelling with horses... the amazing people you meet, the things you learn and the satisfaction you get from winning away from home. He’ll always be a special horse.”

But Cran rates Christen Me as the best horse he’s trained. It’s a horse that long-time employee and close friend, Dexter Dunn, shared so much success throughout Australia and NZ.

“He was something else,” Cran said. “He made dreams come true. Growing up, I’d always dreamed of winning a Miracle Mile and Hunter Cup. He won them both.

“Christen Me won 14 Group 1 races, but none before he turned 4, so he won them the hard way in top quality and taxing open-class races. He won about $2.5 million for us.”

The story has been told how later in life Christen Me raced in the U.S. and Dunn’s connection with him was so deep he bought him out of a claiming race for $30,000 (U.S.) to ensure he would always have a good home.

“Just this year, Christen Me led out the Little Brown Jug field with John Campbell driving him,” Cran said. “That really gave the ‘warm and fuzzies,’ our wee guy from New Zealand leading out a race like that with my idol in the sulky.”

In and around the success of Desperate Comment and Christen Me, Cran has come to Melbourne and won five Breeders Crown finals, another Victoria Cup with Bettors Strike in 2009 and a string of other feature races.

“But it’s been a while between drinks, so I’m due,” he said with a laugh.

The last “mega” Melbourne win came when Christen Me won the 2014 Hunter Cup.

“Carter was just a kid starting to get interested in it all and with stars in his eyes for Dexter [Dunn], who was working with us at the time,” Cran said. “They obviously became great mates and Dexter has been such a massive influence on Carter’s career, as recently as the time he had in the U.S. last year.

“Chrissie and I would love to have gone over for that, but we purposefully didn’t so we could cut the umbilical cord, so to speak. We wanted Carter to have to do everything for himself and knew he’d learn a lot and mature for it.

“I think the success he’s had since returning home shows it certainly helped.”

So, is the 22-year-old Carter destined to follow in Dunn’s shoes and make the U.S. home?

“Maybe, quite possibly, but not for a while and that could be quite a while,” Cran said. “We were lucky enough to get Carter a couple of days with John Campbell when he was there last year and he’s really taken onboard something John told him.

“That’s to build a big CV at home and then hit the ground running when and if you try to make a go of it [in the U.S.]. I guess the model is Toddy McCarthy. He was a young star, who’d done so much in Aussie, before he hit the U.S.

“So, for now, Carter is all about knuckling down here, chasing big races and trying to turn a junior premiership into the most success he can have.”

That paves the way for a few big years for “Team Dalgety,” which races under the Kentuckiana Lodge moniker.

“I think we’ve got a lot to offer with the older established trainers in Chrissie and I, along with the young driver, who’s making a real fist of it,” Cran said. “I think we’ve opened ourselves to a broader market and hopefully that translates to the success we’re aiming for.”

Carter is walking marketing material for the clan. He just “gets it” and connects superbly with a young audience.

“He’s been taught since day one to smile at everyone and be happy,” Cran said. “Give your time to others and stay humble.”

Team Dalgety opened their Melbourne assault with Republican Party’s third-place in last Saturday night’s Casey Classic at Melton. It was a pipe-opener for tomorrow night’s Hunter Cup, where Republican Party drew the coveted barrier one.

“He’s ready for this trip now,” Cran said. “Through most of his career he’s been 5 per cent below the big dogs, but he’s gone to a new level in the past months, which we always hoped we would, but you can never bank on it.

“We campaigned him in Sydney as a 3-year-old and he came home better for it and he’s had this part full year in open-class, which has really toughened him up, too.

“He had that big third in the New Zealand Cup and has gone on to win the Group 1’s at Invercargill and Auckland. It was Auckland, where he really had to lift at a crunch stage to beat Merlin, which really sold us on this trip.

“That said, yes, he’s shown he’s up with the best Kiwis, but those two top Aussies, Leap To Fame and Swayzee, are another level up again. Thankfully we won’t have Swayzee to worry about in the Hunter Cup and I’ve always taken the approach you never dodge a race because of just one top horse because anything can go wrong on the night.

“It’ll be wonderful to get across as a family and bloody fantastic to catch-up with so many of the great people I’ve met across there over the years.

“And I really think we’ve got a horse who can be very competitive, too.”

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Balance is the key to Hillary Hartnett staying on stride

by Chris Lomon

Hillary Hartnett has keeping pace with a hectic horse-based life down to a science.

How the horsewoman — who calls Morris, NY, home — has managed to balance a full-time career, home life, and a modest, yet successful, racing stable, is somewhat of a marvel.

But that is precisely what Hartnett is doing, challenges and all. “It’s the life I chose,” she said with a laugh. “The life of horses.” They have long been a staple in her world.

Hartnett, who hails from Fairport, NY, a village suburb known as the “crown jewel of the Erie Canal,” found nine miles east of Rochester, earned her bachelor’s degree at Morrisville College.

“I went for their Equine Science and Management program, specializing in equine breeding,” she said. “I graduated in four years with my bachelor’s degree and started at Leatherstocking Vets, and that’s where I am now.”

Hartnett holds the reins of breeding manager at the large animal clinic in New Berlin, NY, a full-time role that keeps her busy throughout the year, especially during breeding season.

And then there is the standardbred side of her world.

“I got into harness racing — I couldn’t tell you the year — after I had done RUS,” said Hartnett, of Racing Under Saddle, a standardbred trotting race where the horse is ridden, not driven. “I made some connections through there and ended up doing a side job, helping out a trainer who had a small stable.”

All it took was mere seconds for Hartnett to fall in love with horse racing and its equine stars.

“One day I had the chance to sit behind a horse and ever since then, I have absolutely loved it,” she said. “I partnered with that trainer on a couple of horses. After a couple of years, I went out on my own and started a very, very small stable. With my full-time job, especially during foaling season, there isn’t much

“ I don’t want to get beyond my own horses. I love driving, but I don’t think I’ll ever be a catch driver. I don’t see myself leaving where I am now. Being able to have a full-time job and do the racing is very important to me. ”

time to do many other things. My boyfriend [Russell Hoagland] and I are the ones running the stable.”

It is a familiar face, one from before her standardbred days, a Dream Vacation mare, who would ultimately be a game changer for Hartnett.

“I ended up buying a broodmare, One True Friend,” Hartnett said. “She was my first RUS horse, and we won my first races together. She had the pedigree I always sought for a trotter. I breed her and we have had four foals out of her.”

One of those offspring, My Little Bee, has provided Hartnett with several highlights over a 51-race career.

The 4-year-old brown mare has eight wins, 30 top three finishes, and over $42,000 in earnings.

Numbers, however, aren’t what make My Little Bee special.

“As soon as she hit the ground, I knew she wasn’t going anywhere,” Hartnett said. “She’s very special. We’ve always had a bond, and she has never let me down. She was my first young horse. I didn’t break her, but I trained her to be a racehorse. She is the second foal out of One True Friend.

“One of the other reasons I kept her and trained her is because she will replace her mother as a broodmare when she is done racing. My Little Bee is my heart horse, through and through.”

The trotting miss is also a welcome reminder of why racing continues to be a cherished part of Hartnett’s life.

While her operation is anything but grandiose, the fulfillment she gets from sitting in the race bike and training her horses is enormous.

“I guess I do a little bit of everything, but on a very small scale,” Hartnett said. “I started driving in the fairs – I got my qualifying license and then my provisional license at the end of August last year – and that is a lot of fun. I love the thrill of sitting behind them. And I love challenges, which are the same with training too.

“Sometimes I get locked in or parked out when I drive, but it’s something new every time – you always learn something. It’s very rewarding.”

It is also a testament to Hartnett’s ability to manage multiple roles at the racetrack and a busy work schedule.

For now, and most likely well into the future, the humble horsewoman has found a winning formula for contentment.

“I don’t want to get beyond my own horses,” she said. “I love driving, but I don’t think I’ll ever be a catch driver. I don’t see myself leaving where I am now. Being able to have a full-time job and do the racing is very important to me.”

As are the horses who reside in her barn, even the ones who can be a handful.

Undeniable Truth, for instance.

The bay filly has four starts, including three for previous connections, on her stat sheet to date.

Her best result was a second, with Hartnett in the sulky, last August at Westport Fair.

“We sold her as a yearling but reacquired her last year,” she said. “I will drive her, especially at the fairs, but she is a lot to handle. She has a lot of rivers to cross, but I am excited about her. She has a lot of talent and hopefully, we can unlock that.”

And perhaps, one day, Hartnett can find time to reacquire herself with some of her treasured hobbies.

For now, they might have to be put on hold.

“I don’t have time for them anymore,” she said with a laugh. “I enjoy any kind of art, and I like to draw. I love playing the piano, but I haven’t done that in a while. I love the outdoors. I enjoy downhill skiing, but I haven’t done that in years.”

What she has done, and done very well, is stay stride-for-stride with two demanding, yet satisfying roles.

Hartnett, whose other racing mare, Soubrette, will soon be retired to become a broodmare, even has her own fan club, modest in number, but big in support.

“My co-workers are very understanding,” she said. “They follow me and they are always there for me.”

One more reason why Hartnett will drive onwards in harness racing.

“It’s hard to make ends meet in this business, but you have to love it, and you have to keep going,” she said. “That’s why victories, even the small ones, always mean so much.”

with FRANK COLTOLO

Caligula's horse racing mania can inspire harness racing growth, Part 1

by Frank Cotolo

I was 9 when I became enthralled by the chariot-racing scene in the 1959 movie Ben-Hur. That Christmas I got a Ben-Hur Playset. It included four durable miniature chariots each pulled by four plastic steeds and four action-figure charioteers. They were my favorite features. With them I created chariot races on my living room rug based on the film's glorious version of chariot races in a spectacular Roman amphitheater.

Ben-Hur was based upon the book written by Lew Wallace, who – according to David Álvarez (National Geographic History) – “meticulously researched classic texts to present chariot racing as accurately as possible.”

Wallace wrote, “These latter days tame in pastime and dull in sports have scarcely anything to compare to the spectacle [of chariot racing]... See the chariots, light of wheel and see the drivers [and the team of horses] chosen for beauty as well as speed.”

Years after I reigned over my broadloom playset racetrack, I became aware of the undeniable resemblance chariot racing has to modern harness racing. Deep dives into the history of standardbred racing fired my interest in the origins of chariot racing and that led me to Gaius Caesar Augustus Germanicus, known as Caligula.

From 37 to 41 AD, he ruled the greatest empire in the world. And he was only 24. Caligula became known for his unrestrained indulgence in sensual pleasures. Among a long list of them was his intense emotion for chariot racing. The popularity of chariot racing was enormous; more popular than gladiator fights. His genuine fancy for the sport was essential to keeping the fans enveloped in its splendor. And his participation in the sport made a personal connection with the public he governed.

Rome historian Corey Bennet said Caligula went to all the race meets. He “hooted and hollered with the crowd and placed vast amounts of bets. He visited the stables and rewarded the charioteers. He took professional horse racing in Rome to the next level and the people loved him for it. But Caligula was not content to be the greatest fan. He wanted to participate.”

The young emperor put thousands of people to work building a humungous new racetrack. When it opened, he increased the standard 12-races-a-day program to 24 races a program. And he decreed the standard seasonal festivals be obligated to hold chariot raced in their programs.

And then there was his stallion Incitatus. The horse had its own servants and was paraded around in a decorated harness. “The more Caligula spent on horse racing the more the people loved him,” historian Bennet said. Some scholars dispute the existence of Incitatus. They say the horse was nothing more than as a promotional device. A kind of mascot for the sport. If that is true then creating Incitatus is proof of Caligula's campaign to successfully keep his horse-racing fans excited and growing in numbers.

There is no denying that the dangerous factors of chariot racing were strong elements of its popularity. Ambiguous rules were not contested and major infractions – as were evident in the Ben-Hur book and movie racing scenes – resulted in severe injuries and deaths. Racehorse trainers used possible performance enhancers to give their equine teams an edge. Some touted experiments included using dried figs and wine potions and even strychnine.

Caligula's chariot racing enterprise was a product of his hubris and a number of exaggerated ingredients. But modern-day harness racing shares one particular element with Caligula's wild engagement with chariot racing and promotional enthusiasm. In Part 2, I will explain how the sport today can sensationalize that element.

Jason Bartlett scores career win 11,000

Jason Bartlett won four of the first six races on Monday night (Jan. 27) at MGM Yonkers Raceway, and the last of those victories was the 11,000th of his driving career.

Bartlett swept the early double with Flip My Chip (1:54.3) and Sport Secret (1:55.1), for trainers Nick Devita and Jeff Cullipher, then captured the fourth dash with trainer Scott Blackler's Heza Chartopper A (1:53.2). That set the stage for the milestone, and Bartlett got it in the sixth with Doug Dilloian, Jr.-trained Orlando Blue A (1:54.2).

This made Bartlett just the 14th driver based in North America to have 11,000 lifetime triumphs, joining Dave Palone, Tony Morgan, Aaron Merriman, Herve Filion, Cat Manzi, David Miller, Tim Tetrick, George Napolitano, Jr., George Brennan, Wally Hennessey, Dave Magee, Walter Case, Jr. and Billy Parker, Jr. Bartlett has also driven the earners of over $161.6 million.

Coming off a 2024 campaign that saw him take his 13th leading driver title at Yonkers, Bartlett has already opened up a double-digit win margin in the standings through just six programs at the oval this year.

In addition to sending out Bartlett's 11,000th winner, Dilloian, Jr. also took Monday night's featured $35,000 invitational pace with Finvarra A (driven by Yannick Gingras) on the front-end in 1:54.2.

An 8-year-old gelding by American Ideal, Finvarra A is owned by David Linker, Brian Loman and Robert Venable and posted his 18th lifetime tally. Finvarra A, who has banked $265,117, paid $6.40 to win and led a $33.00 exacta and a $138.00 trifecta.

MGM Yonkers Raceway is currently operating on a Monday through Friday live racing schedule with post time each night at 6:45 p.m. (EST).

Gunjan Patel joins Hambletonian Society

The Hambletonian Society is pleased to announce the appointment of Gunjan Patel as co-chief operating officer, effective immediately. Patel, who brings extensive experience in the standardbred industry, previously served as the social media coordinator and stallion syndication administrator at Hanover Shoe Farms, the world's largest standardbred nursery.

With a strong foundation in staking, breeding, and event coordination, Patel's expertise is a perfect fit for the Hambletonian Society. Her well-established industry connections and impeccable reputation will be valuable assets as she transitions into her new role. A Penn State graduate specializing in equine reproduction and animal sciences, Patel has gained hands-on experience at numerous breeding farms and veterinary practices. This includes managing record keeping and operations at some of the most prominent breeding farms in the industry, including Winbak and Hanover. Patel joined Hanover Shoe Farms in 2007, where she developed a broad and diverse skill set across all areas of the standardbred business.

At the Hambletonian Society, Patel will work closely with the team to gain a deep understanding of the Society's various functions. She will collaborate with key staff members, including John Campbell, president and chief executive officer; Moira Fanning, co-COO; Nadia Tarnawa, head of staking and event eligibility; and Polly Hartzell, head of accounting.

"We are thrilled to welcome someone with Gunjan's wealth of experience and knowledge to our team," said Campbell. "Her contributions will play a significant role in the continued success of the Hambletonian and Breeders Crown events, as well as in the day-to-day operations of the Society."

The Hambletonian Society manages 161 of harness racing's most prestigious events, held across 13 North American racetracks under seven state jurisdictions. This includes the $1M Hambletonian for 3-year-old trotters, which celebrates its 100th anniversary this year at The Meadowlands, and the $500,000 Hambletonian Oaks.

The Society is also responsible for overseeing the $7M Breeders Crown, the sport's premier championship series.

In addition, the Hambletonian Society is responsible for the oversight of more than $25M annually, in the administration of a wide range of stakes and early-closing races. These events are funded through eligibility payments from breeders and owners, as well as sponsorships from race tracks.

Patel's appointment strengthens the Society's leadership team as it continues to support the growth and success of harness racing's most iconic events.

Longtime judge, Bud Teeters, closed out career on Wednesday

Lester "Bud" Teeters has seen more live racing at MGM Northfield Park over the last four decades than anyone. On Wednesday (Jan. 29), he witnessed his final one from high above the Home of the Flying Turns when he judged his final race, before riding the sulky into retirement.

Teeters learned early the value of hard work and dedication, helping his dad train horses as a 14-year-old. By the time he was 16, Teeters was driving at the fairs, earning his first victory in 1977.

He moved to Northeast Ohio in 1983, it was a move he would never regret.

"I was fortunate enough to have raced some really nice horses, it was always a thrill to win," said Teeters. And win he did, earning 1,039 training and driving victories in his storied career with just shy of $3 million in earnings.

In the late '90s, Teeters started to get the itch to try something else, in August of 1999, he jumped at the opportunity to become an associate judge at a track he called home since the early '80s.

"I was starting to get burned out on the hardships of maintaining a stable," said the longtime judge. "It was time to try something new, so I jumped at the opportunity."

Teeters would continue to perfect his craft, and in May of 2005, he was hired by the Ohio State Racing Commission, taking on the role of presiding judge.

Part of Teeters passion has been watching some of harness racing's champions grace their presence over Northfield Park, however, he admits that the big races tend to be a little more stressful.

"Seeing the best in the business race is always fun, I have witnessed several really great champions over my time here," said Teeters. "While I don't normally get nervous, some of the bigger races brought on some nerves. You don't want to miss anything, and you want to get calls right, staying focused always is so important."

Teeters is one of the more familiar faces around Northfield Park, known far and wide by horsemen and fans of the Northeast Ohio facility. Teeters will be missed, not just by the horsemen who he has worked with for several years, but also track management and the Commission he has served for over 25 years.

"Mr. Teeters has been a fixture in the Northfield stand for over 25 years," said Chris Dragone, executive director of the Ohio State Racing Commission. "In that time, he has come to be known for setting the standard of how to be a judge with knowledge of the rules, judgement, fairness, and even temperament. The success and growth of Ohio Racing is owed to people like Teeters. Like so many others who have worked with him, it has been a privilege."

Northfield Park's director of racing, Dave Bianconi, echoed Dragone's sentiment, "Bud is incredibly knowledgeable, fair, and even-handed in the judges' stand. He understands all aspect of the game, is greatly respected by both horsemen and management. He always made sure the wagering public's interests were protected at all times. His steady oversight over the years has helped Northfield grow and maintain our spot as one of the leading tracks in North America."

Teeters has spent many long nights in the judges stand at Northfield Park, asked about what he is looking forward to most in retirement.

"I am looking to getting to bed before 2 a.m.," he said with a laugh.

In a sport that is begging for new blood, Teeters offered advice to the incoming generation of officials and horsemen.

"Always be respectful to your fellow man, it will go a long way, this applies to both judging and training horses," he said.

Teeters was honored following the sixth race on Wednesday evening.

"Bud will be sorely missed," said Bianconi.

Big M has been longshot heaven of late

The Meadowlands is historically known as a track where favorites can be vulnerable, the result of its mile circumference, competitive fast-paced racing and big 10-horse fields, but lately, even those who love it when bombs drop near the Jersey swamp must be a little surprised at how prolific these horses have been of late.

The last three race cards at The Big M (Jan. 18, Jan. 24 and Jan. 25) have seen a big handful of eye-popping results.

The laundry list of horses paying $50 or more over that span: Saturday (Jan. 18):

- Race 1, Captain Marvel, 36-1 odds, paying $74.60 to win
- Race 6, Genius Man, 74-1, $150.60
- Race 11, Lava Field, 46-1, $95.60
- In addition, 82-1 shot Spirit Of Truth won race 2, but returned $42.60 after being part of the first triple dead heat in track history

Friday (Jan. 24):

- Race 1, Heartlandbanysbro, 76-1, $154.40
- Race 2, Rockinwiththebest, 27-1, $57.40 (Daily Double paid $4,637.40)

- Race 5, Second Bruiser, 44-1, $90.20
- Race 7, Corsini A, 55-1, $112.80

Saturday (Jan. 25):

- Race 9, Sling Shock, 72-1, $146.40
- Race 12, Spirit Of Truth, 56-1, $115.40

That 42-race span saw nine winners pay over $50 (21 per cent) and five that returned over $100 (12 per cent). Ironically, chalk players weren't left out in the cold, as favorites still managed to win 18 times, a track-typical 43 per cent.

Over the span, the average win price was a hefty $31.83.

"We tend to have our share of big-priced winners," said Big M chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "It's not very often we go through a streak like this, but when we do, it creates a lot of excitement for our fan base. And on Friday, the longshot winners created a big carryover. Something our fans always go for in a big way."

Friday's fireworks festival led to a carryover of $28,744, which motivated bettors to pour an astonishing $183,943 of "new money" into the 20-cent Pick-5 pool for a grand total of $212,687.

Unlike the Friday night sequence that created the carryover, winner's odds Saturday were a more reasonable 6-1, 17-1, 3-2, 13-1 and 1-5. There were 66 winning tickets exchanged for $2,787.26 after the Ron Burke-trained, Yannick Gingras-driven Antognoni S scored as the heavy public choice in the payoff leg (race 5), ending what turned out to be a de facto Pick-4 for those who singled the 1-5 public choice.

PICK-6 CARRYOVER: One ends, another begins.

There were no winning tickets sold on the 20-cent Pick-6 last Saturday, creating a carryover of $5,153 for when racing resumes tonight (Jan. 31). The Pick-6 is offered on races 8 through 13.

Campbell, Collings crush on winter meet finale

It was triples all around for driver Marc Campbell and trainer Tammy Collings as the Winter Meet came to a close Saturday afternoon (Jan. 25) at Red Shores Racetrack and Casino at the Charlottetown Driving Park.

Collings kicked off her day winning race 5 in an open-length romp of 1:57 for Silver Spirit in line to O'Brien Award Future Star finalist Brady Sweet as the 2-5 favorite. Sweet is up against Todd Ratchford for the O'Brien Award at the national gala on Saturday (Feb. 8) in Mississauga, ON.

Ideal Jet garnered the services of Marc Campbell in winning race 7 for trainer Collings at 3-1, then the duo clicked again in race 9 with Brokeandoutofgas in 1:58.4 at 6-5 odds.

Marc Campbell also drove the Landon Campbell trained Fern Hill Indigo to victory in 1:59 at 3-1 odds for the start of his own driving triple in race 6.

Tony Too Tall (driven by Myles Heffernan, Sr.) won the $4,200 feature in a 1:56.3 mile for trainer Trevor Hicken and owner Perry Burke as the 3-1 second choice on the tote board.

Carnival Heart (Ryan Desroche) won the race 3 Red Shores Pace in a 1:59.1 mile as the 1-5 favorite for trainer Shayna Toll at the head of a $1,202.20 triactor ticket with Greystone Shad O (Norris Rogers) and Outrageous Song (Corey MacPherson).

Dusty Lane Zoro won the final race of the season in a 1:56.2 trip at 3-5 odds for driver Donald MacNeill and trainer Ron Gass.

Live racing returns to Red Shores Charlottetown on Saturday (May 3), while Red Shores Summerside opens up on Victoria Day, May 19.

For Once Inmy Life wins again at Big M

Jordan Stratton is a low-key guy who stays away from being too boastful, but the driver who won four races to top the driver colony on the Saturday (Jan. 25) night card at The Meadowlands couldn't help but crow a little about For Once Inmy Life, whom he drove to victory in the $24,000 feature, a high-end conditioned pace.

"I think my horse is probably the sharpest horse on the grounds right now," said the 37-year-old pilot.

Big talk. But hard to argue with.

In a field reduced to six starters after one scratch, Chase H Hanover, Brue Hanover and For Once Inmy Life were all away from the gate alertly. For Once Inmy Life, the 1-2 favorite, had the lead while parked at the quarter in a soft :28, and offered no resistance as 2-1 second choice Spring Inhis Step A popped out of the 4-hole and with a quick burst of speed had the top at the half in :56.

There wasn't much action heading to three-quarters, which was timed in 1:24, but there was shortly thereafter. As the field straightened away for the final three-sixteenths-of-a-mile, Stratton moved For Once Inmy Life from the pocket and sailed past Spring Inhis Step A with ease on the way to a decisive 1¾-length score in 1:50.4 after sprinting the final quarter in :26.4. Spring Inhis Step A held second in a good effort in his first parimutuel start since Dec. 28. Chase H Hanover was third.

"I just kind of played [the trip] by ear," said Stratton. "I wanted to be close to the front. I was pretty confident [at the top of the stretch]."

"I think he was always meant to be a good horse. He's just coming into himself right now."

A 5-year-old gelded son of Downbytheseaside–Flyme To The Moon who is owned by Winters Racing Stable and trained by Stratton's brother, Cory, For Once Inmy Life, who has been first or second in seven Big M outings since his Nov. 30 arrival, returned $3 to his backers after winning for the 10th time in 45 lifetime starts. Victorious in two straight and four of his last five, he now has lifetime earnings of $366,365.

CARRYOVER CRAZY: A carryover of $28,744 enticed bettors to pour an astonishing $183,943 of "new money" into the 20-cent Pick-5 pool for a grand total of $212,687.

Unlike the Friday night sequence that created the carryover, winner's odds Saturday were a more reasonable 6-1, 17-1, 3-2, 13-1 and 1-5. There were 66 winning tickets exchanged for $2,787.26 after the Ron Burke-trained, Yannick Gingras-driven Antognoni S scored as the heavy public choice in the payoff leg (race 5), ending what turned out to be a de facto Pick-4.

A LITTLE MORE: Jordan Stratton's followers had two big hits on the night. Two of his winners went off at odds of 3-2 and 1-2 while the others were sent to the gate at 17-1 and 56-1... There were no winning tickets sold on the 20-cent Pick-6, creating a carryover of $5,153 for when racing resumes tonight at 6:20 p.m. The Pick-6 is offered on races 8 through 13... All-source wagering totaled $3,325,548 on the 14-race card, the biggest night of business thus far in 2025 at The Big M.
