A conversation with Dexter Dunn before a whirlwind Australia-to-Orlando weekend

The five-time U.S. Driver of the Year will compete in the Ladbrokes Ultimate Driver Challenge before immediately jetting to Florida for the Dan Patch Awards.

by Adam Hamilton

THE DOWN UNDER DIARY

with ADAM HAMILTON

Champion driver Dexter Dunn is recharged and raring to get back into driving in the U.S.

But the five-time Dan Patch Driver of the Year just has a couple of things to attend to first.

Dunn, who is nearing the end of an extended break back home in New Zealand for the past two months, is in Brisbane preparing for the inaugural and innovative Ladbrokes Ultimate Driver Challenge at Albion Park next Friday (Feb. 21) and Saturday (Feb. 22).

Dunn will compete against Yannick Gingras, Bjorn Goop, his great Kiwi mate Carter Dalgety and six of Australia's top drivers in the 20-race series across two race meetings.

Should he win, celebrations will be short and sweet with Dunn booked on an early flight Sunday (Feb. 23) to Florida so he can attend the Dan Patch Awards in Orlando, FL.

"I fly from Brisbane to San Francisco, then straight to Orlando," Dunn said. "All going well, I think I will get to Orlando about an hour before the awards start.

"I want to be there; I think I drove eight of the 12 divisional winners and having Twin B Joe Fresh, favorite to win Horse of the Year, is pretty amazing."

As he nears the end of the longest trip he's had back home since moving to the U.S. in 2018, Dunn reflects on his time Down Under, his epic 2024 and his goals for 2025.

How's the trip been back home and did you plan to stay so long?

"I've had such a great time. The past couple of years I've come back for about five weeks, but this is by far the longest. It'll be two months when I head back. Before I came back, I did toy with the idea of going back in early January for a few weeks then just doing hit-and-run for this Ladbrokes Ultimate Driver series, but the closer it got, the less it made sense."

What have you been up to here?

"So much. Most of my time has been spent in Christchurch with family and friends, but I have travelled around a bit. I got to Central Otago for some racing and that was a great chance to catch-up with the trainers and drivers I know down there. Then I got to Nelson at the top of the South Island for one of my favorite circuits. I didn't want to miss that. It's always one of my favorite trips. I also got up to Auckland and did a quick trip over to Sydney."

Why Auckland?

"It tied in really well to spend a week up there going to the big thoroughbred meeting they have, the Karaka Millions, and spend much of the week with my dad, 'R.J.' [Robert]. That was some special time."

And Sydney?

"Well, that came out of nowhere. Trackside [New Zealand's racing broadcaster] asked if I'd go over and do a sit down with James McDonald [the world champion jockey]. I jumped down the phone and said, 'Will I ever.' I sort of idolize 'J-Mac' and what he's done. He's one of New Zealand's great success stories. I can't believe I was lucky enough to be asked to have that time with him, it was really cool. J-Mac and I filmed this piece together about 13 years ago when we were both pretty young and just starting to have success. We watched it back together and cringed. It's amazing to think how far we've both come, especially James. The great thing is he still just seems a Kiwi-kid at heart."

You're heading across to Brisbane now for Ladbrokes Ultimate Driver Challenge. Excited?

"I really am. There's so much talk about it, especially now it's getting closer. It's a great concept. People were talking about it back in the U.S. before I left. I'm thrilled to be part of it."

“ [The Ladbrokes Ultimate Driver Challenge is] a great concept. People were talking about it back in the U.S. before I left. I’m thrilled to be part of it. It’ll be a bit sentimental for me, too, with Carter [Dalgety] and Kate and Andy [Gath] a part of it, too. They’ve been such big chapters of my life and to be part of this series with them is fantastic. It’ll be a bit sentimental for me, too, with Carter [Dalgety] and Kate and Andy [Gath] a part of it, too. They’ve been such big chapters of my life and to be part of this series with them is fantastic. They’ve done well, the Albion Park people, to get Yannick [Gingras] and Bjorn [Goop] to be part of it as well.”

Then it’s a mad rush back to the U.S. for the Dan Patch Awards?

“It sure is. I leave early Sunday morning. But I really want to be there, I need to be there, after the year I had. I’d love Twin B Joe Fresh to win the Horse of the Year and obviously she’s one of the main hopes.”

For all the great horses you’ve driven, she seems extra special?

“Obviously, I own a share in her as well as drive her, but it’s more about sharing the whole thing with Chris Ryder, who is like my ‘American dad.’ He and his wife, Nicola, have just been incredible to me since I first came over. And now we’re all together with Twin B Joe Fresh giving us the ride of a lifetime. Chris has always been close to our family. Dad [Robert] worked for Chris’s dad, along with Chris, when they were starting out. It’s really a fairytale story, this mare.”

What are the plans for Twin B Joe Fresh this year?

“She’s already back in work and will hopefully have another year or two at the top level. It’s still early, but Chris has mentioned there’s a chance she might take on the boys later this season. That’ll depend on how well she’s going at the time and we’d also have to weigh-up how strong the boys are.”

2024 will be hard to top, so how do you set goals for 2025?

“By trying to do even better again. I know it’ll be hard, but I’m a person who likes to set and chase goals. Over the past two years I’ve really managed my workload down from probably about 4,000 drives to maybe 1,300 or 1,400. I’ll be doing that again and focusing on the big races and best horses. My season gets jam-packed from the middle of the year through until November. It’s the travel that wears you down, so having two months off the grid like I’ve had is fantastic and important.”

As payments come due, can the stakes system be re-tooled?

by Brett Sturman

Most ordinary Americans dread April 15 when the annual tax liability comes due. But for harness people both in the U.S. and in Canada, an equally-dreaded deadline comes both one and two months earlier, on Feb. 15 and March 15, when the first set of stakes payments for the year come due.

For larger owners, the amount of money owed for stakes payments beginning tomorrow (Feb. 15) can easily balloon into tens of thousands of dollars. For smaller owners with a limited budget, selective decisions must be made as to which stakes are the most feasible to pay towards.

The way the stakes payments are scheduled in harness racing is a necessary evil. Payments ranging from less than $100 to over $2,000 per stake are required months in advance of the race date. In the case of staking 2-year-olds in March to major stakes which don't take place until their 3-year-old season, there's payments required for stakes that don't occur for another 18 months. On the other hand, it's this nomination process that almost single handedly funds the stakes, and with less stringent or delayed nomination requirements, it's universally accepted the stakes purses offered would never be as close to what they are today.

In a preferred world, harness racing would more closely mirror how its sister sport, thoroughbred racing, does its stakes nominations. On that side, with limited exceptions such as the Breeders' Cup, purses for stakes come predominantly from sources other than owners' stakes payments. As such, most times the only payments required are a small nomination a few weeks before the race, and a fee upon entering and starting. There, stakes purses are offered by the tracks, deriving funds from betting handle and casino sources. In addition, sponsors take more of an active role too, especially at tracks such as Keeneland. But in harness racing, for a track to host stakes races is often a financial liability.

Back to within the realm of the harness model, is there anything that could be done to alleviate far in advance stakes payments, especially with regards to the 2-year-olds? One option that is at least theoretically possible, would be to simply defer the stakes payments to a later date. However, if payments were deferred that would surely lead to fewer nominations once owners have a better idea of what type of 2-year-old they have. They might not nominate 2-year-olds that are farther behind in training down. Such was the case back in 2020 when COVID first struck, and it was hotly contested on all sides as to whether remaining stakes payments should be pushed out. Ultimately, the payment schedule was kept intact as it was acknowledged that delays in payment deadlines would decimate the stakes purses.

There may come a time soon when the stakes system is forced to change. As [Eric] Cherry noted, the proliferation of sire stakes events – especially those in Kentucky – are giving owners more economically sensible alternatives to costlier staking elsewhere.

In a preferred world, harness racing would more closely mirror how its sister sport, thoroughbred racing, does its stakes nominations. On that side, with limited exceptions such as the Breeders' Cup, purses for stakes come predominantly from sources other than owners' stakes payments. As such, most times the only payments required are a small nomination a few weeks before the race, and a fee upon entering and starting.

I was kicking around the topic earlier this week with owner and breeder Eric Cherry, who even as one of the sport's larger owners, has only sparsely nominated his 2-year-olds in recent years outside of sire stakes and a couple other major events. Never one short of ideas, one of Cherry's proposals I liked best had to do with paying a staking fee at time of yearling sale.

In this scenario, when you buy a horse at auction you pay a percentage relative to the sale price – call it 5 per cent as an example – and that goes directly towards a fund to be used for stake allocations. The thought process being that if you're already into a horse at sale for $50,000 or $100,000, what's another $2,500 or $5,000 at that point to be used for staking later. For a homebred, the amount could be a percentage relative to the stud fee. The point being, it's less painful of an added expense at time of sale than it is months later when you're compounding stakes fees that are on top of all the training bills already coming in.

With either case – at the time of sale or February/March as a 2-year-old – there's still no indication as to what kind of horse you'll ultimately have. It's one thing to be training down in two and a half minutes right now and I'm sure every 2-year-old come staking time is the best trained-down horse ever, but none of it matters at all for months. Only when baby races start and the best pacers go in 1:55 and then have their first race start in 1:52 and soon 1:50 thereafter, do you really have an idea of where you stand in terms of being able to compete in stakes quality races. For the 2-year-olds, it's impossible to make good decisions this early in the year because you don't even know what exactly you have.

There may come a time soon when the stakes system is forced to change. As Cherry also noted, the proliferation of sire stakes events – especially those in Kentucky – are giving owners more economically sensible alternatives to costlier staking elsewhere. With growing sire stakes events and purses, often those races alone can be good enough for the 2-year-olds, which would then have an adverse effect on the number of nominations outside of sire stakes races.

There isn't one perfect solution, but outside of the ultra-wealthy, the current system is a hindrance for most owners when payments come due this time of year. For not only their sake, but to also ensure the best horses have a chance to be nominated and compete in the best races, perhaps there is a compromise possible in the system.

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

There is a solution for that, Part 1

by John Berry

Recently, I was fortunate to spend some time with Wally Hennessey, Paul O'Neil and his bride of many years, Patti.

We spoke on many subjects about our industry – both the positive and the negative.

One of the positive moments was his filly, Soft Shot, winning the Jugette last season, a rare feat for the smaller owner winning over the dominant powerhouses in this industry.

Conversations with owners, trainers and drivers are common in this corner... but the most important conversations are with the fans, mostly ignored these days.

I speak with many of the BDHC (Broken Down Horseplayers Club) members along with the Send It In Army gang and they say that they are the ones being left at the post in this day and age.

Yes, there are many hurdles ahead for our sport and they aren't 100-yard sprints in a track meet but, rather, cleaning up the decay in the industry over the last, say, 40 years that really hasn't been addressed.

BDHC member Smitty said, "We used to be a spectator sport... great tracks in Chicago and, of course, in New York, specifically, Roosevelt [Raceway] and Yonkers [Raceway]... and The Meadowlands, of course, when they opened in the '70s.

"It was common to get 15,000 [fans] at Sportsman's [Park] for a Friday and Saturday card and Roosevelt had 25,000 just about every night.

"I hung out in the race office a lot all over the place – yes, I was a degenerate and still am – and the races were very competitive back then, say, in the late '60s, '70s and the racing secretaries hardly budged an inch to let a horse in or do a favor for someone.

"Either your horse fit [in a class]... or it didn't. Whether it was claiming or A-B-C [classes], you fit where you fit... and that was IT!

"This goes back to the days of Jerry Baier and Phil Langley in Chicago, Larry Mallar and Steve Starr in New York and, of course, Joe DeFrank when The Meadowlands opened and they insisted on competitive racing and the bettors came out."

R. Phil Stern agreed and chimed in and said, "Every time a [race] secretary finds a way to get a horse not eligible [to the original condition] in, that race is inviting an odds-on favorite and hurts the handle for that race.”

To Stern’s point, the larger tracks with their longer stretches seem to invite the better payoffs... as evidenced by the recent long-shot splurge at The Meadowlands but, yes, there seem to be more odds-on horses winning and a $2.60 mutuel is not going to attract new blood.

On the other side of the coin – er, $2 bill – if you like a horse, with the added one maybe being assigned the outside post, it may enhance your horse’s chance for a better price.

Only time will tell... but we must stop the pulverization of our sport and...

THERE IS A SOLUTION FOR THAT!

It all starts in the racing office...

The focus MUST shift to the fan, instead of the horsemen and horsewomen.

Five- and six-horse fields only help those on the track – not those few in the stands or those in simulcast seats or one’s sofa.

Remember, the median number – meaning WIN price – in a five-horse field in about 3-1 and, in a nine-horse field, it is, roughly, 6-1 and change.

It’s all about the value.

A “fill it or kill it proposal” to have, at least, eight, nine or 10 (or more) horses in every race on every size track would help.

Racing secretaries can expand conditions to make this happen and, at the same time, have fewer lightly stocked races and better purses with all starters getting, at least, expense dollars from their efforts.

The result could be less fewer races, higher purses, broader fields, healthier payoffs (a 12 horse field median number is almost 10-1) and a palatable last race post-time.

Next, getting the fans back to the track and...

THERE IS A SOLUTION FOR THAT!

It starts with an enhanced mutuel payoff on all bets offered at the track.

I had suggested zero takeout but, if that seems too extreme, maybe a 6 per cent takeout for on-track players would still be enough to entice a return to our racetracks.

That means that, in a win pool that has, for example, $20 with $2 bet on the winner, the payoff would be $16 off track and $18.80 on track.

In the case of exotic wagers, i.e., exactas, trifectas, etc. where the takeout is much higher (some more than 25 per cent), a winning ticket worth $750 off track would be worth $940 on track.

There is precedent here as shown in New York with different prices at OTB outlets as opposed to those on track.

Competitive casinos seem to have a rake of, roughly 5 per cent to as much as 10 per cent and they give gobs of money to their patrons in the form of free play and this would be somewhat of an equivalent for the BDHC folk, the Send It In Army membership and anyone who attends the excitement and beauty of live racing.

By the way, for those that must buy a program – whether it be for $1 or $5 – put some value in it with discounts at eating establishments, future programs or other features the facility has on property... maybe even $5 in casino free play.

Next, harness racing needs something exciting... “really exciting.”

THERE IS A SOLUTION FOR THAT!

Harness racing needs to form a wager that is as great as the “numbers racket” – now the lottery – with a multi – multi-million-dollar prize – a Perfect Pick wager.

It must be modeled after the lottery where, in the Mega Millions or Powerball, one has to select, say, six numbers (example 1-69) plus a Powerball number (1-26) to win (or share) the grand prize.

The odds against (remember him?) p, 5, 1:50.1, $1,403,938 in the Lotto are almost 300 million to one and usually seeded with $20 million to start with possible growth up to more than $1,000,000,000 (that’s billion).

Ours should be a National Harness Pick 8 with the requirement being the winning selection of races 1 through 7 at the host track and a trifecta in the finale to win – or split – the prize.

Minor prizes would be awarded if one selects four, five and six winners with major prizes offered for seven winners but no trifecta.

The takeout would be substantially less than the lottery with 50 per cent of the funds going to the winners with allocations going for horse aftercare, selected area youth programs – sorely needed – equine social security and, of course, purses.

This could create some great excitement and headlines for our sport when a multi-week carryover happens with a prize of a half-billion dollars, or so. Even $250,000,000 would be OK.

In Part 2 of THERE IS A SOLUTION FOR THAT, we’ll tackle other issues that currently plague us, including a safety issue – maybe two of them – and how a doorbell camera could play a huge positive role in our sport.

Clinton's new grandstand on track for opening day

by Matthew Lomon

While an active off-season is nothing new for the folks at Clinton Raceway, the half-mile oval's long-awaited grandstand renovation has made the eight-month lead up to its 2025 meet especially eventful.

Clinton stirred up some social media buzz this January when it posted a series of progress photos and a digital rendering of the grandstand project on its Facebook page.

The collection of images showed a glimpse into the progress that's been made since Raceway manager Ian Fleming told All Over Ontario last August that the tentative plan was to begin construction in September.

We caught up with Fleming, who shared the latest on the grandstand revamp, and more, coming to Clinton in 2025.

The 2019 Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame inductee said the new seating structure is beginning to take shape and is on track to be completed by opening day (May 18).

"We're excited about how the finished product is going to look," said Fleming. "A lot of the work was raising it up – that took a lot of time in the fall – so it didn't look like very much was happening. There was lots of work going on, but you really couldn't see any results."

"Now, it's starting to come together, and we're quite excited about opening day, that's for sure."

As Fleming noted in August, the new grandstand will be smaller than its predecessor. It will, however, be much more accessible and inviting for fans of all ages and racing experience levels.

The 400-bucket-seat viewing center also comes equipped with an elevator, pergola lounge area, and bar and marketing stations accessible from outside.

The patio area in front of the grandstand will now be at track level, whereas under the previous structure, it was a foot below.

Now, said Fleming, was the right time for an upgrade.

"The old grandstand had served us very well, but it wasn't many years away from being unfit to use," he said. "Lots of people helped us with this project – Ontario Racing, OLG [Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corporation], the provincial government.

If we waited three or four years, there might not be resources available to do it."

The new grandstand will be complemented by a new semi-permanent event tent, which will go up in the spring and come down in the fall, located north of the winner's circle.

Outfitted with televisions and betting stations, fans can also watch and wager on Clinton's live product from inside the tent space.

This project, like the improved grandstand, had been on Clinton's radar for a few years according to Fleming.

And the push to get it across the finish line gained significant steam last year following a visit from Hall of Fame driver Ron Waples.

"Ronnie went through the trouble of bringing 60 people up for lunch one race day, and it ended up raining," said Fleming. "We got a small tent out, and we were holding it down with cement blocks, but it ended up blowing over. Anybody other than Ronnie wouldn't have taken it that well."

"It all worked out, but it illustrated the fact that we need to do a better job if we want to get groups coming out, having lunch and watching the races."

Fleming and his team worked proactively to not only provide a solution, but one that can serve multiple purposes, while still keeping eyes on the racing product.

"Even with the old grandstand, there wasn't enough room underneath to sit 50 or 60 people," he said. "This tent will work well for that and serve as a gathering point for groups having silent auctions, get-togethers, and more."

"We're excited about how the finished [grandstand] is going to look. A lot of the work was raising it up – that took a lot of time in the fall – so it didn't look like very much was happening. There was lots of work going on, but you really couldn't see any results."

~ Ian Fleming

“ Our wagering [at Clinton Raceway has] been the highest of the small tracks for quite a while. We’re proud of that, but a lot of that’s off-track. The small tracks need to keep trying even harder to get new people out. We’re happy with the turnouts we have now, but we still want to get more. We want to cultivate new customers that are going to turn into regular customers, regular players. ”

~ Ian Fleming

“It’s great to have a dedicated space for them rather than hoping it doesn’t rain, and having an area roped off. This way, it’ll be a defined area.”

Fleming likened the tent area to the setup at Grand River Raceway, which worked diligently during its past meet to introduce new fans to the sport by hosting events on site.

Part of the hope with these new developments is that they will one: attract more people, and two: help drive on-track handle.

While wagering has been a bright spot for Clinton in recent years, Fleming and his team understand there is always room for growth.

“Our wagering’s been the highest of the small tracks for quite a while,” he said. “We’re proud of that, but a lot of that’s off-track. The small tracks need to keep trying even harder to get new people out. We’re happy with the turnouts we have now, but we still want to get more. We want to cultivate new customers that are going to turn into regular customers, regular players.

“We need to get more groups out, more people enjoying the afternoon, and we think a new grandstand, a new tent, and a new patio area will help us get new groups out. It’s going to be fully accessible, which it certainly wasn’t before.”

Fleming added that they’re paving a walkway up to the barn area as part of Clinton’s goal of greater accessibility.

Before signing off, Fleming lauded the efforts of his team and the construction crews who have worked tirelessly through difficult conditions to have the new grandstand on pace for the upcoming season.

“They’ve done an incredible job building this winter,” said Fleming. “It’s been the worst winter we’ve had in quite a few – snow and cold – and there’s a real dedicated team here trying to make it work and we sure appreciate them.

“Everyone put in extra effort to get us pushed over the line for opening day.”

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

Gerard Forni

Go On Boy (Romain Derieux) winning the $400,000 Prix de France at Vincennes on Sunday.

Go On Boy was the man in the Prix de France

by Thomas Hedlund

Sunday's (Feb. 9) big event, the $400,000 Prix de France at Vincennes racetrack, became a great success for a true champion who deserved to claim a Grand Prix-race in Paris.

Romain Derieux-trained Go On Boy (Password) was the heavy favorite in the Prix de France as the race included neither the winner nor the runner up from the Prix d'Amérique two weeks earlier.

With Idao de Tillard and Just Love You out of the game, the fans entrusted Go On Boy as the best shot defending the French colors in the 1.3 miles long race.

And it all developed into a very peaceful journey to victory for Derieux's trotter. The duo hit the lead quite early into the race when leader Inmarosa's driver Leo Abrivard opted for a pocket trip behind the big favorite. With Go On Boy in front of the field, the pace was allowed to be kept at a pretty moderate level, which made it difficult for the challengers further back in the field.

Derieux looked confident as he steered Go On Boy out of the last turn, with Don Fanucci Zet attacking three wide after his second over trip, but the leading favorite was never seriously threatened by any opponent.

Go On Boy more or less jogged to a safe win in a mile rate of 1:52.4 over 1.3 miles and Inmarosa held for the silver ahead of Don Fanucci Zet.

Replay here.

Go On Boy was third in the Prix d'Amérique two weeks earlier and in some way, Sunday's victory was logical and well deserved for the 9-year-old colt.

Romain Derieux told French media that Go On Boy's next objective most probably will be the Criterium de Vitesse in Cagnes-sur-Mer at the French Riviera in mid-March.

"Then we aim for Prix de l'Atlantique and later in the spring, Elitloppet," said Derieux after the prestigious win at Vincennes.

Go On Boy finished second in both the elimination and final of Elitloppet 2023, he won his elimination of Elitloppet 2024, but made a break in the final, where French trotter Horsy Dream won.

Sunday's race card at Vincennes also included the $120,000 Prix Ovide Moulinet for 5-year-olds and favorite Kokote (Ready Cash) proved that he belongs in the top of the French K-crop.

Mathieu Mottier served his horse a nice third over trip before the three wide attack was set in with one kilometer remaining in the race. With a half mile to go, Kokote connected with leader Kanto Avis and the latter fought bravely when Kokote shifted into the speed-gear in the stretch.

Mottier's horse safely disarmed Kanto Avis before the wire and collected her second big win in a row at Vincennes.

Replay here.

On Jan. 25 Kokote claimed the $325,000 Prix Bold Eagle for 5-year-olds and Sunday's win was taken in a mile rate of 1:57.1 over 1.6 miles.

21st century fabulous females

by Bob Heyden

With an eye towards Valentine's Day weekend and the announcement of the celebration of International Women's Day in harness racing, here's a timeline from the past quarter century highlighting the impact females have increasingly had in our sport.

2000: Jackie Ingrassia becomes the one and only female to drive the winner of a Triple Crown race when she captured the Yonkers Trot with Goalfish (15 3-2-2 on the year).

2001: Two ladies went 1-2 in the HOY balloting: Bunny Lake over Syrinx Hanover. Brooke Nickells almost became the first and only female Hambletonian driver when her Lavecster got fourth (driven by Mike Lachance) in the Classic. She then resumed driving the colt and was second and third in the Kentucky Futurity, the best showing for any lady in the oldest of all Triple Crown events.

2002: Linda Toscano trained Molly Can Do It to the Breeders Crown winner's circle; never before done by a female conditioner! Zero wins in the first 18 years for the ladies, with 34 wins currently for the fairer sex in just the past 23 editions.

2003: Karin Burgess is the caretaker for Hambletonian winner Amigo Hall, and she'd repeat that in 2006 for Triple Crown winner Glidemaster. Linda Wallis follows Toscano in the Breeders Crown with Burning Point in the 3YOF.

2004: 3-year-old pacing filly Rainbow Blue holds off Triple Crown winner Windsong's Legacy (119-98) in the HOY balloting. Sophomore pacing females reigned supreme for the second time in four years.

2005: Casie Coleman trained the new 3-year-old world record holder American Ideal (1:47.4).

2006: Brenda Teague captures the richest Canadian race with Total Truth who won the North America Cup and was voted Pacer of the Year. Kimberlie Miller gets the ladies of Canada on the board in the Breeders Crown with Charley Barley (2YOCP).

2007: Coleman has the rare last-to-first winner in capturing her first Breeders Crown with Moving Pictures.

2008: Coleman comes right back with another female pacer to take the Crown this time with A And G'sconfusion.

2009: Julie Miller gets her extensive Hambletonian career rolling with a fourth place finish with The Chancellor in Muscle Hill's winning year. Brenda Teague takes the freshman filly pacing Crown with Fancy Filly. Tracy Brainard captures both the Crown and the Messenger (the only female ever to win this triple crown event), with If I Can Dream. Coleman takes the Metro with Sportswriter and would double dip the following year with her first North America Cup. Brainard doubled up in the Crown with Yellow Diamond in clearly the best ever year for the ladies.

2010: Coleman's aforementioned Sportswriter retired in July 2010 as one of just a handful on either gait to average over $100G per start lifetime.

2011: Coleman wins both the Cane Pace and the Breeders Crown 3YOCP with Betterthancheddar. Toscano's Chapter Seven dominates in the male sophomore trotting Crown and carried that form over to 2012 and a HOY campaign.

2012: Toscano goes 1-2 in the HOY balloting with Hambletonian winner Market Share second to Chapter Seven. (First time done in 40 years). Coleman wins her first of three Jugs with Michael's Power, Vegas Vacation the very next year, and Betting Line in 2016. Toscano added Heston Blue Chip in the Crown, a year where she set a female single season best of three divisional winners.

2013: Vegas Vacation was driven by Brian Sears, meaning that each of Coleman's three Jug winners had a different pilot, with Scott Zeron in 2012 and then Dave Miller with Betting Line in 2016.

2014: Nancy Takter becomes the only winner of the Rising Star that trained the Horse of the Year the same year with JK She'salady. McWicked won the sophomore Breeders Crown four years before being voted HOY in 2018 for Coleman.

2015: Wakizashi Hanover trained by Joann Looney-King won the North America Cup roaring by HOY Wiggle It Jiggleit late. Looney-King is a true pioneer of the industry carving out a path in tandem with Jackie Ingrassia for other women to forge straight ahead.

2016: Betting Line dominated the sophomore set as Coleman's 12-year run continues; Paula Wellwood becomes the first female trainer to win the Triple Crown with Marion Marauder. Toscano sends out the dominant freshman Walner who has continued that off the track today as well.

2017: Miller wins the Yonkers Trot with Top Flight Angel and is second for the first of two straight Hambletonians with Devious Man followed by Mets Hall. Jamie Macomber wins the sophomore Breeders Crown with Beckham's Z Tam over division champ Downbytheseaside as the Breeders Crown invaded Indiana for the very first time. Atlanta and Manchego meet for the first time in the 2YOFT at Hoosier Park.

2018: Takter takes the 2YOCP Crown with Captain Crunch and duplicates that in 2019 with Tall Dark Stranger. McWicked edged to the doorstep of $5 million career with an award-winning year for Coleman.

2019: Down Under bred super mare Shartin N is named HOY for Looney-King and husband Jim, and to this day is the fastest female ever in 1:46 4. Takter wins both the Cane and NA Cup with Captain Crunch. Tahnee Camilleri joins in the fun with a stirring Breeders Crown score with Dancin Lou, over Pacer of the Year Bettors Wish.

2020: Takter becomes the first female to twice have a HOY with Tall Dark Stranger the winner of both the NA Cup and the Meadowlands Pace. Manchego repeated in the Mare Crown Trot for Takter with Peaky Sneaky thrown in the Crown mix for good measure.

2021: Kathy Cecchin joins the activities/fun with Desperate Man winning the North America Cup (Bulldog Hanover was in there too). Test Of Faith is a filly for the ages and cakewalks to the HOY title.

2022: The greatest rivalry ever – between magnificent mares Atlanta and Manchego – is now history. Remember they won the Hambletonian and Oaks, respectively, in 2018. Both won better than $3 million lifetime.

2023: Toscano doubles her fun with It's My Show in the NA Cup and the Jug and took the Jugette with Ucandoit Blue Chip for good measure. Takter overcame post 10 with Tactical Approach in the Hambletonian and a bad shuffle in the Kentucky Futurity to nail down Trotter of the Year honors.

2024: Takter goes back-to-back in the Hambletonian, the first time anyone has done this since her dad did so in 2014-15 with Trixton and Pinkman. Twin B Joe Fresh is the likely 2024 HOY and is returning in 2025 to try and duplicate what Moni Maker (1998-99) last did, win HOY consecutively. LADIES RULE!

SPEAKING OF THREE-PEATS...

Three-peating is tough. The Kansas City Chiefs just found out in the Super Bowl how tough it is to do, and it's the same in harness racing. Here's a look at some three-peat attempts through the years that ended – or might end – on the one-yard line.

NO PEACE

Peace Corps in the 1989 Hambletonian would have given John Campbell the only Hambletonian three-peat, but the great filly was not on top of her game that day and had to watch the dead-heat race off from the sidelines. Campbell had taken the 1987-88 Hambletonians with Mack Lobell and Armbro Goal, respectively.

UNSATISFACTORY BAR HOPPING

Jimmy Takter almost three-peated in 2016 Hambletonian. Fresh off his stirring score with Trixton in 2014 backed up by Pinkman in 2015, he did have the 2016 final favorite with the most impressive elimination winner, Bar Hopping. But he could only manage fifth in the Marion Marauder Triple Crown year. Takter's daughter Nancy will try for her three-peat in 2025 on the heels of winning back-to-back with sons of Tactical Landing, Tactical Approach and Karl, respectively.

AKE, OKAY?

Ake Svanstedt won the Hambletonian in 2017 with Perfect Spirit and then four years later with Captain Corey. Now it's four years later again.

OH BROTHER

Todd McCarthy won the 2022 Hambletonian with Cool Papa Bell and his brother Andy won it with Ramona Hill in 2020. Their brother Luke drove Muscle Hill to victory in 2009 in the World Trotting Derby. Since Luke has recently resurfaced in the U.S., is there any chance all three brothers could do this?

Abuckabett Hanover: 'He's the coolest horse I've ever been around'

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Andrew Harris figures he is likely to get emotional when the time arrives later this month for Abuckabett Hanover to be formally honored as harness racing's best older male pacer.

Purchased in October 2022 by Bill Pollock, Bruce Areman, and Harris, Abuckabett Hanover (aka Bucky) hit the board in 12 of 15 races, winning seven and earning a division-best $833,022 in 2024 as a 6-year-old. The stallion finished worse than second only twice in his final 12 starts and counted the William R. Haughton Memorial, FanDuel Open Pace Championship, Dayton Derby, and Dave Brower Memorial among his triumphs.

On Feb. 23 at Rosen Centre in Orlando, FL, Abuckabett Hanover will be among the horses and people honored at the U.S. Harness Writers Association's Dan Patch Awards banquet, presented by Caesars Entertainment.

"Growing up, I never thought I'd have horses like that," said Harris, a 40-year-old trainer who started his own stable a little more than a decade ago. "For me, it's huge. I'll probably get emotional about it because it is a big deal. I don't think people realize that there are probably 10,000 horses that start in North America, and 12 of them are getting awards at the end of the year. So, it's an amazing thing for the horse. It's absolutely gigantic.

"And I wanted it for the horse more than for me because he's so special. He's the coolest horse I've ever been around."

Making it additionally special is the fact Abuckabett Hanover was the first horse ever purchased by the partnership of Pollock, Areman, and Harris.

"How rare is it that [the first one] ends up being one that takes you all the way to the Dan Patch Awards?" Harris said. "It's super rare. They understand that, and they really appreciate it. Obviously, he's the best horse for us, he's kind of the franchise horse that we based everything off of. He leads the way, and he's always reliable."

Abuckabett Hanover has earned $1.1 million since joining Harris' stable. Lifetime, the son of Betting Line—All Tucked Up has won 22 of 74 races and banked $2.04 million.

Always known for his finishing kick — he has 21 sub-:26 last quarters in his career — Abuckabett Hanover benefited last year from being more forwardly placed early in races by driver Dexter Dunn, Harris said.

"He was more of a threat off the wings, and I think that translated into a more successful year," Harris said. "He's more mature where you can get him to leave now, and he doesn't get too rank. He lets you do what you want to do.

"It's tough in today's racing world when you're getting away seventh or eighth all the time. Dex did a great job placing him 90 per cent of the time within the top three and giving him less ground to make up. That parlayed into probably the best season he's ever had."

Abuckabett Hanover's other strength is one not easily visible.

"I think if we polled everybody, they'd probably say his last quarter burst is usually his best quality, but, that said, I think it's his heart," Harris said. "He wants it more than most horses, and that's what makes him pass horses so late all the time. He truly wants it. He's lost a lot of races, not of his own fault, but just because he had too far to come. So, to me, I think his heart is probably his biggest asset.

"But it's awfully nice to have an engine like he's got for the last quarter."

Abuckabett Hanover will return to the races in 2025 — in fact Tuesday marked his first training day back with Harris.

"He's getting ready for pretty much the same schedule he had last year," Harris said. "We're not really going to tweak it a whole lot because it seemed to work for him. We won't try to get cute, and hopefully he will be able to last all season like he did last year. It's a big accomplishment for the team that they were able to do that."

HARNESS RACING PRESS RELEASES, NOTES & ANNOUNCEMENTS

Big M cancellation was about safety first

With a forecast that called for a snowfall of four inches or more, accompanied by ice expected to make for treacherous driving, Meadowlands management made the decision to cancel racing last Saturday (Feb. 8) at approximately 9 a.m.

With a solid betting card that no doubt would have produced big business, it was a tough call to make.

Cynical fans might have questioned the decision, since there wasn't a single flake of snow until approximately an hour (7:30 p.m. or so) after the 14-race program would have started, about 10 hours after the cancellation was announced. But then the weather forecasters picked their own winner, as snow and ice blanketed not only the Bergen County area, but points north and south as well.

The cancellation was all about safety.

"It's true that getting to the track would have been no problem for our customers and horsemen," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "But we were concerned about what might have happened at the end of the night.

"Out of concern for our equine athletes and the people who are responsible to get them to the track and ready to race, we concluded it was best to cancel. We knew leaving the track after the races were over would not be safe, and the weather forecasters were correct, enabling us to make the right call. We did not want big horse trailers traveling over snow- and ice-covered highways. There's always a chance a storm will blow in one direction or another, but risking the safety of our horsemen is not one we are willing to take."

For locals who could take a look at the roads before making a decision, the track and its off-track betting facility, Winners Bayonne, stayed open for simulcasting.

In the event there is bad weather on a live race night, always check The Big M's website, playmeadowlands.com, for updates.

A TROTTING HAT TRICK? Antognoni S has been hot stuff since his arrival from Sweden in mid-January, and the Ron Burke trainee, who has won both of his parimutuel starts in the U.S., will leave from post 8 in the Saturday (Feb. 15) night feature, a $22,000 high-end conditioned event for trotters.

Dave Miller will drive the 5-year-old gelded son of Father Patrick—Bouncing Bax, who is the 9-5 morning-line favorite. Antognoni S has been nothing short of dominant in his two American betting outings, winning by 4 lengths as the 1-5 favorite in 1:52.4 on Jan. 25 before a 5½-length romp in 1:53.2 as the 1-9 public choice on Feb. 1.

CHECK OUT THE SHOW: On race nights, check out the live "Racing from The Meadowlands" pregame show at 5:45 p.m. when track announcer Ken Warkentin opens up the mic with a scene set and program changes.

This weekend, Dave Little will be joined by Standardbred Canada's John Rallis on the Sam McKee Memorial Broadcast Set from where the duo will provide news, notes, selections and a look at the night's featured races.

Joe Romanelli will handle interviews from the back paddock while Andrew "Shades" Demsky will provide commentary and selections on the FanDuel Television (FDTV) feed.

THIS GUY IS NO AMATEUR: In addition, catch Little and his guest, Yogi Sheridan, the 2024 Dan Patch Amateur Driver of the Year, on the next installment of "In the Sulky." It takes place tonight at approximately 5:50 p.m.

SHARPEN YOUR PENCILS: The second edition of the 2025 Meadowlands Monthly Handicapping Contest takes place tonight (Feb. 14).

The details:

- There is a $1,000 prize pool and the top two finishers earn entry into a December invitation-only tournament that will go for $10,000 in prize money.
- Contestants must be on-site to participate.
- For complete information, and to enter, go here.

OH YES, IT'S LADIES' NIGHT: The Big M will celebrate women in racing on Saturday (March 8), as the track hosts International Women's Day, sponsored by Clinton Tractor.

Jessica Otten and The Red Mile's Emily Gaskin will host the night's live simulcast broadcast while back paddock interviews will be conducted by Scioto Downs' Jenna Otten.

The night will include videos and interviews with the industry's top female trainers, drivers and grooms, plus a race with an all-female field.

SURVIVOR STANDS ALONE: A single 20-cent Survivor Pick-7 player scooped the pot Friday (Feb. 7) after being sharp enough to include 15-1 winner Rock My Universe in the eighth race. That lone ticket paid $6,699.52 for six correct selections.

The Survivor wager, which has a mandatory payout every time it's offered, is available nightly on races 3 through 9.

Very busy Monday as Pocono prepares to open for 2025

The trotters and pacers took their first 2025 spins around the five-eighths-mile oval at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania on Monday morning (Feb. 10). The conditions were not prime (mid- to high-20s, and a "good" track rated at "+1" and later "+2"), but several horses showed they are ready to get the season underway, with the first card Saturday (Feb. 15) at 1 p.m.

Most impressive among the qualifiers was Virgo, an Always A Virgin gelding who concluded a fine 2024 with a 1:50.2 victory on closing day (Dec. 31) at Harrah's Philly. He looks to extend his form into 2025, and off a front stepping pacing mile of :30, :58, 1:26.2, and 1:54.1 he seems well on his way to that goal for owners Mark Jakubik and Jason Darling. Virgo is trained by Darren Taneyhill, who doubled along with conditioners Lou Pena and Joe Skowyra, and he was driven by Jim Pantaleano.

Pantaleano (seventh in the standings here last year and a two-time winner during this session) was the only driver outside of 2024's top five dash winners to get home first on Monday. Braxten Boyd and Anthony Napolitano each had three triumphs (ANap drove the fastest trotter, the Canadian returnee Frank The Elder, who won in 1:57.3). Meet champion Matt Kakaley had two wins, and Tyler Buter and George Napolitano, Jr. each recorded a victory.

The busy morning (into afternoon) on the Pocono backstretch also saw Saturday's first program of the 2025 campaign drawn, with those horses entered for the 15-race card on the 15th starting the campaign at 1 p.m. The 10th race $25,000 fast-class feature pace gathers the kind of horses who could easily threaten 1:48 in summer weather — including Virgo, drawing the rail after winning his qualifier Monday.

Also on the Saturday card are seven $17,000 divisions of the popular Game Of Claims Pacing Series for horses with a base claiming price of $25,000 (progressing the next two weeks of the preliminaries). If past experience is any indication, horsemen will swarm to the claiming box in the preliminaries, trying to purchase sharp competitors who could take the $35,000 Championship on Saturday (March 8).

On Tuesday, Pocono drew for the 1 p.m. card on Monday (Feb. 17). Pocono will race two programs a week in February, then add Tuesdays at 1 p.m. in March.

Free Pocono program pages, along with replays of the qualifying races, are or will be available at www.phha.org.

Country singer Mitch Rossell highlights Dan Patch Saturday reception

Country music fans are in for a treat at the annual U.S. Harness Writers Association's Dan Patch Awards weekend as Dublin Valley Farms and North American Sales Co. proudly present rising star Mitch Rossell in concert as part of the poolside Diamond Creek welcome reception on Saturday (Feb. 22), at Rosen Centre in Orlando, FL.

Rossell, an award-winning songwriter who has toured as an opening act with Garth Brooks and had success on the TV show America's Got Talent, will perform during the second half of the two-hour welcome reception that gets underway at 5:30 p.m.

"We are so excited to include Mitch Rossell at Rosen Centre for our weekend gathering," said USHWA president Michael Carter. "In addition to his own songs, Mitch has written hits such as 'Ask Me How I Know' and 'Dive Bar' for Garth Brooks, and he was terrific when I saw him a couple years ago as an opener at a Garth Brooks concert."

All attendees to the Dan Patch festivities, which culminates in the awards banquet, presented by Caesars Entertainment, that will honor the best equines and humans of 2024, on Sunday night (Feb. 23), are invited to the poolside reception, which will take place from 5:30-7:30 p.m.

In addition, any horsepersons at the nearby training centers are welcome to attend the Saturday welcome reception, which will offer appetizers and open bar, in addition to Rossell's performance.

USTA welcomes newest ID technician, Doris 'Dee' Lineweaver

The USTA is proud to announce and welcome its newest ID technician, Doris 'Dee' Lineweaver, for Virginia.

Lineweaver is no stranger to harness racing. She is the eldest daughter of the late Winston W. Lineweaver and Eileen Lineweaver of Maurertown, VA. She is a third-generation horsewoman who owned her first horse at 13 when she started racing on the Pennsylvania Fair Circuit with her family. She has trained horses since 1995 and holds an associate judge's license as well as licenses for chart, clerk and program director.

Dee started her race office career at Colonial Downs under Craig Andow and most recently worked at Shenandoah Downs as the racing secretary and head of the racing and security departments.

With strong community ties and dedication to promoting harness racing in Virginia, she is often referred to as the "Face of Shenandoah."

Dee has overseen harness racing at the Shenandoah County Fair, her home fairgrounds, since the passing of Terry Lee Kibler in 2018.

In her spare time, she gives back to her community, receiving awards for 4-H Leader of the Year in 2023 and 4-H Family of the Year in 2024.

"Dee was the perfect choice for this opportunity," said TC Lane, USTA chief operating officer. "Her deep-rooted commitment to harness racing, especially throughout the mid-Atlantic region, made this decision a no-brainer. We are beyond excited to have her on the team. The USTA members in that territory will benefit by having a dedicated technician, so no more extended wait times."

Dee may be reached by phone at 540-333-4186 or by email at dzstangva@yahoo.com.
