The glamor and prestige

Recalling a memorable 1968 Horse of the Year banquet.

by Murray Brown

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

Best of luck to all at the Dan Patch Awards Dinner tonight.

I voted for Bettors Wish as Horse of the Year, but if the award goes to Shartin N or perhaps Greenshoe, I wouldn't argue. May the best, or perhaps the most popular horse win.

Regardless, I expect the outcome to be pretty close.

Time for me to reminisce.

My first Horse of the Year banquet was in 1968. It wasn't yet called the Dan Patch Awards dinner.

In today's HRU

It was held at the Sheraton Times Square Hotel in midtown Manhattan. It was a beautiful black tie event with all the men dressed in tuxedos and the women dressed in their very finest.

I remember my late wife Marlene was offered a gorgeous mink coat to borrow by one of her relatives in Long Island. She said she felt like a queen. She also looked like one. If not all, then the majority of the women attending were dressed in furs. How things have changed.

Lawrence Sheppard was being installed in the Hall of Fame.

Mr. Sheppard was in very poor health and was unable to attend. He was to pass away shortly thereafter. John Simpson, Sr., his surrogate, was busy in Orlando at Ben White Raceway training his stable with his son John Jr and couldn't get away.

I was asked to attend and accept in Mr. Sheppard's place.

What an honor.

This punk kid, barely wet behind the years being asked to substitute for the greatest breeder and owner of his generation and maybe ever.

What would I do? What would I say?

To be quite honest, I don't recollect what I did say when Stanley Bergstein introduced me.

The Horse of the Year in 1967 was Nevele Pride, the first 2-year-old trotter to ever capture the award. He would then go on to win this honor for the next two years.

Although Hanover Shoe Farms was not Nevele Pride's breeder, I still felt a strong affiliation to him since he was sired by Stars Pride, a Hanover stallion, and was out of a mare by Hoot Mon, also a Hanover stallion.

In addition, although I had not even been at Hanover for a full year, I had developed a very close friendship with Stanley Dancer, Nevele Pride's trainer and driver.

Here's a little background on how Dancer came to purchase Nevele Pride.

Stanley's older brother Harold R Dancer (Joe Bongiorno's great grandfather) had trained Nevele Pride's dam, a mare called Thankful for Mr. & Mrs. Edward Quin, long-time clients of his. In simple terms, she was a witch. Lois Dancer Simpson, Harold's daughter, called her Little Evil. She was mean and nasty and very difficult to get along with.

Nevele Pride's unruly behavior and meanness was come by honestly.

The Quins decided to breed Thankful to Stars Pride. They got a beautiful colt that they named Thankful's Major.

They weren't in a position to train the colt.

They asked Harold if he had an owner who might be interested in buying Thankful's Major. I believe the price they were asking was $20,000.

He must have been a gorgeous colt, since Harold Dancer was likely the most demanding yearling buyer I've known in a lifetime in the sport.

Unfortunately, the time was before he had Bill Weaver as an owner. If Weaver had been around then, he almost certainly would have become the colt's owner.

If Harold, couldn't get the colt to train, he would recommend him to his brother, Stanley.

I believe it was sight unseen, but knowing that Harold was so particular, Stanley said that he'd buy the colt.

He approached Ben and Julius Slutsky, the owners of the Nevele Hotel, to buy Thankful's Major. They quickly agreed. They changed his name to Nevele Pride.

Down the road, their friend and neighbor Louis Resnick bought an interest in him.

As great a racehorse as Nevele Pride was, he wasn't quite as successful in the stallion ranks. I consider him to have been a good stallion, but not a great one.

Perhaps his influence is greater in Europe than it has been here in North America.

Nevertheless he made great contributions to the sport, both on the racetrack and in the breeding shed.

He was a well deserving recipient of the Horse of the Year honor.

Everything you need to know about tonight's Dan Patch Awards

Tonight we find out which horses will be named Horse of the Year, Trotter of the Year and Pacer of the Year.

by U.S. Harness Writers Association

The name of the 2019 Horse of the Year will be announced tonight (Feb. 23), at the annual U.S. Harness Writers Association's (USHWA) Dan Patch Awards dinner at Rosen Shingle Creek in Orlando, FL. But even if you aren't among the attendees you will be able to watch the announcement live via USHWA's Facebook page.

After a one-hour cocktail party, the awards ceremony will get underway at 6:30 p.m., and will be available via the Facebook page. At approximately 9:30 p.m., emcees Roger Huston and Jason Settlemyre will announce the winner of the E. Roland Harriman Horse of the Year trophy, which follows the revealing of the names of the Pacer of the Year and Trotter of the Year.

To access USHWA's Facebook page, please click here. The entire video will also be available on the U.S. Trotting Association's YouTube page the following day, Monday, Feb. 24, by clicking here.

Post time for the evening is 5:30 p.m., with a one-hour Red Carpet cocktail reception sponsored by Shartin N. Also starring on the Red Carpet will be Heather Vitale and Heather Wilder, with the two Heathers broadcasting live on their individual Facebook pages. It's your guarantee to see who's wearing what and what the attendees have to say about the festivities.

"If you can't make the banquet we are going to bring the party to you," said Wilder. "And it's going to be some party."

Vitale, who is the face of many of HRU's popular Twos in Training videos, has hosted two popular television shows: Post Time and PA Harness Week. In addition to her local weekly productions, the charismatic personality has covered the sport nationally on espn2, CBSSN and MAV-TV. Vitale loves communicating with standardbred enthusiasts around the world via social media and her unconventional interviews with a "when in doubt, add glitter" attitude has brought a unique sparkle to the sport and grabbed the attention of new fans. ## Improving horse racing is as easy as 1-2-3

by Marty Adler

The sport struggles with an identity crisis. It no longer has the monopoly on what the sport was created to do — provide a venue to gamble. In fact, modern day gambling opportunities have blown right on by like a dropped down invitational pacer in with nw of $1000 in the last 5.

Casinos now have found their back door into towns and cities by infesting the racetracks, and eating their young.

Some may say today's surviving racetracks are holding their wagering, but casino wagering at those tracks are blowing the roof off pari-mutuels.

And grandstands are empty compared to racing's heydays.

So what's the fix?

Racing needs to re-invent itself.

Once the leaders do it, the rest will follow.

I repeat, once the leaders do it — WEG and the Meadowlands — the rest will follow.

So what to do?

Start with the product.

1. Get rid of the modern day race bike.

A horse sitting fifth is not five lengths off the lead, but more like 8-9 lengths back, because of the longer shafts, and leaned-back driving style.

Not fair. Not pretty. And certainly not exciting.

Check out North American leading drivers to see how many front-end wins. And who are we kidding with race bikes that allow those heels touching horse hocks.

Not fair. Not exciting and pretty vanilla racing.

2. There needs to be more 'spectacle' albeit 'danger' in a race. Unrealistic, but think along the lines of Roman chariots with razor-edged daggers on the wheel hubs.

Or maybe Calgary Stampede-style chuck-wagon races.

CBS would love the 'Ben Hur' effect.

Current two-turn racing is boring when everyone is on the pylons by the first turn, and maybe a single horse coming first up down the backstretch. Can you imagine a file of thoroughbreds all sitting on the rail?

How about combining two races into one, shorten the charge to the first turn, and race two miles? How about some strategy in a race, with a coach (trainer) mapping out a play to victory?

Say what you will, drivers are not very creative, but then they don't have to be.

Just like today's specimens in hockey, football, and the like, horses need more challenges.

Today's harness horse, with its advanced breeding, is too big and powerful for simple mile events. With 20 horses, the outside 10 hole is back in play, because it is free to ramble, and lock in competitors, using strategy.

As for purses, double them too, with payoffs for the first 10.

And every class gets to play.

More spectacle on the track.

Not enough horses you say?

Eight race cards with horses that go to the post ON TIME!

Now, off the track. This one is simple — more 'creature comforts'. It's all about ME, and what am I going to get?

Casinos learnt this lesson, and master bodies in the seats at the slots. They give away tons. Gifts and meals and bet slips and rooms and tickets.

Long ago, the $4.99 prime rib dinner at Windsor was so successful, it required two nightly seatings.

Racing today dares you to come through its doors. Maybe a free program, but you print it out. Five programs, and you have to replace that $20 ink cartridge.

And finally, the television presentations have no entertainment value, or 'sex-appeal'.

Pre-race paddock driver and/or trainer interviews.

Possibly, post-race ticked off interviews make great copy.

In a nutshell, it is as easy as 1-2-3.

1. On the track, make racing a 'spectacle' with a danger element, (20 horses over 2 miles)

2. Off the track, creature comforts — not just hats.

3. Lastly, the big boys start the ball rolling with WEG/Meadowlands and TVC sex-appeal.

You may question the specifics, and have some of your own, but don't dismiss the strategy.

99 per cent of Alagna's 99 horses looked good Tuesday

by Ron Gurfein

This report is from Tuesday (Feb. 18) because of the USHWA Awards banquet this weekend.

It's hard to believe that the Tony Alagna barn trained 99 horses Tuesday morning and, what's more amazing, 99 per cent looked good. You would think 20 in 100 would be bad gaited or sore in the middle of February, it definitely was not the case.

NOTE: Maverick did not train due to a slight fever. This explanation is simply to avoid evil rumors!

Bali Beach (f Somebeachsomewhere—Hallie Gallie), Rita Captiva (f Captaintreacherous—Rita J) and Lady Midnight (f Captaintreacherous—My Lady Love) all looked solid in a mile around 2:40. They were in a set that had some setbacks due to illness.

Romona Hill the sensational Breeders Crown winner looked fabulous in her solo mile around 2:20. Captain Kirk looked very good in a comparable mile to the filly, also solo.

I am giving some times qualified by "around" because I gifted my mechanical stop watch to Donna Lee and received a digital in return that I was less than proficient in my ability to use it.

Next Odds On Whitney (f Somebeachsomewhere—Panera Hanover) the $400,000 sister to Papi Rob Hanover looked the part finishing on the wire with another nice filly Odds On Abba by Always Be Miki out of Classic Star.

On the trotting side, Simpatico, the $9,000 Cantab Hall colt who looked sensational in a heat last week against Maverick the sales topper for 2019, looked wonderful again going a mile in 2:35. He is from the Muscle Yankee mare Miss Otis Regrets. Also with him on the line were Roberts Hanover, another colt that looks like a bargain at $45,000, also by Cantab Hall out of Rule Of Hall and Cash Hudson, a homebred son of Chapter Seven—Crazy Grigio.

One that has looked great from day one is Cervi, an Always B Miki—Beachesof Cheyenne filly she was accompanied by Angel On Earth (f Artspeak—Heaven Forbid) and Notorious Pink a Captaintreacherous filly from She A Hot Mess going their mile in 2:34.

From Lindy Farms, two colts returning to the wars after suffering minor setbacks were Okalica and KingsCounty going a nice doubleheader. Both were sound and good gaited.

The homebred filly by Sebastian K out of Product Placement, Mouse Circus, went a good solo journey with Frode Fladen, Freddy Grant's assistant at the lines.

Abuckabet Hanover (c Betting Line—All Tucked Up), and Senor Cool (c Captaintreacherous—CPA) were at the finish together followed by Simon Says Hanover (c Captaintreacherous—Social Scene) and Pirate Hanover (c Captaintreacherous—Paris Hanover), all were well in hand. Abuckabet Hanover has been nothing short of sensational since he hit the Florida east coast.

From Team Zeron came a top group of 3-year-olds led by the 1:55 performer Solsbury Hill, a colt by Muscle Hill from Emmylou Who with Illdoitmyself a Chapter Seven colt from Dornello.

Two 3-year-olds that I really liked last year that ran into minor problems looked great from the Fred Grant barn. They were a filly Island Lily by Chapter Seven out of Upfront Hotsey and a colt Powerplay Goal by Muscle Mass from Finesse Hanover both trotting a quick 1:07 half finishing.

Back to the Alagna Barn a trio of nice trotting fillies went a mile around 2:35. They were Hello I Love You (Trixtan—Flirting Miss), Lovey Belle (Chapter Seven—Somebody To Love), and Plaid And Pearls (Father Patrick—Domestic Diva). The latter has been a favorite from day one.

I had to leave to let my dogs out and my new assistant Jerry Glantz texted me to add some more babies to the list of those that impressed.

They were all 2-year-old pacers.

Babs Jensen (f Racing Hill—Unsolved Mystery), Warawee Will (c Captaintreacherous—Warawee Quick), Themysteryisover (f Artspeak—Mystery Game), Keystone Catalyst (c Betting Line—Keystone Caitlyn) and Exploit (c Captaintreacherous—Time On My Hands).

My sincerest apologies to the Peter and Melanie Wrenn barn . I need a pair of binoculars to read your head numbers they are way too small. I will make some adjustments.

To Steve Condren who keeps yelling fictitious head numbers to me, it would be my pleasure to write about Casie's horses, but it is her choice to train without head numbers and her posting of videos on Facebook is far better than my quotes.

Two important questions:

One, a suggestion from a man who only described himself as Jim, but he had an important message. Can we start an Amanda Harris Cancer Fund? (details to come).

Two, it's crunch time with the 2-year-olds dropping well into the 2:20's and maybe the teens. This is when lameness rears its ugly head and you don't have time to waste figuring it out. I will cover questions about where to find the most common ailments and try to make your troubles lessen. The first will be hiking right hind in the turns.

Don't miss it.

Foal of the Week

This filly out of New Jersey Sires Stakes champion Hurrikane Empress ($219,902 in purses) from Hurrikane Kingcole and Hurrikane Schumma/Sweet Lou was born on Feb. 1 in Pennsylvania.

Hurrikane Kingcole, who was performing stud duty in Australia, tragically fell ill and passed away this fall but his legacy lives on. Hurrikane Kingcole and Sweet Lou raced against each other often and were great friends.

The filly is owned by Jonathan Klee Racing, Pegasus Investment Group, William Garafolo and John Mcdermott's Hurrikane Racing.

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

Norwegian super mare sold to Courant

by Thomas Hedlund

Courant Stable invests a lot in harness racing business and the red and yellow coloured stable has had great success on both sides of the ocean in recent years. Trotters such as Greenshoe, Gimpanzee, Green Manalishi belonged in the top among the 3-year-olds in America last season and even in Europe their horses race with success.

And thankfully for the sport, Courant Stable continues to invest in the game. This week they bought one of the most interesting mares in Europe at the moment.

Undefeated Hillary B.R. (Muscle Hill), who raced for Gundersen stable in Norway, had to quit her racing career due to a tendon injury last year and the owners Arne Sandbaek Jr. and Erland Åslund have decided to sell Hillary B.R. to Courant Stable.

Sabine Kagebrandt is CEO of Courant Stable.

“We’ve been looking for a well-bred Muscle Hill mare to use with Greenshoe and Hillary B.R. has everything we’re searching for. Unfortunately, she was injured when she was going to begin the fight against older trotters, but instead we now hope that she can produce offspring that are characterized by her. Hillary B.R. is one of the best mares we’ve seen at the tracks, so we are of course both happy and proud that we can use her for breeding”, said Sabine Kagebrandt.

Hillary B.R. did 15 starts in her career which resulted in 15 wins and a lifetime earnings of $417,500.

Last battle in Paris

The third and last of the big battles in Paris this winter is scheduled today (Sunday, Feb. 23) at Vincennes racetrack and the $378,500 Prix de Paris is not a race for timid horses. The race is held over 4,150 meters, approximately 2.6 miles, which means two laps on the black track of Paris.

Wild Honey recently foaled a colt sired by Propulsion.

Wild Honey has a baby

American top trotter Wild Honey (Cantab Hall–U Wanna Lindy) was bought by Stall Zet (Brixton Medical) in 2015 and the Cantab Hall mare had a great career in Europe for trainer Daniel Redén until her retirement in 2018.

Lindy Racing Stable bred Wild Honey was trained by Jimmy Takter in America and was successful in several big races in her native country. Altogether, Wild Honey earned $1,406,593 on the track and this weekend she foaled a colt by Stall Zet's top trotter Propulsion (Muscle Hill–Danae).

"This is very interesting for us and obviously a pleasure to have a foal when I've trained both the stallion and the mare," said Stall Zet's trainer Daniel Redén.

The colt by Propulsion is Wild Honey's first offspring as broodmare.

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

Anne Schlichtig – trainer

by Victoria M. Howard

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to train horses for a famous clothes designer? Well, ask Anne Schlichtig.

At one time Schlichtig and her life partner Tom Merriman trained for high-end fashion designer, Roberto Cavalli, in Italy. Two of their Italian stars were Nettare Dei, who won The Premio Renzo Orlandi at Cesena and The Premio Aste at Taranto.

They also had the 2-year-old filly Orata Dei who Anne drove and won her first Italian race.

Later, Merriman drove Orata Dei and was victorious in the prestigious Coppa Dell' Allevamento at Treviso. (see photo below).

The couple privately campaigned for Cavalli, racing at 14 Italian racetracks winning several Gran Premios.

It was at Montecatini that Schlichtig became the first American woman to drive a winner in Italy. Now, that's a hard act to follow.

Born into the business as a second-generation horseman, Schlichtig grew up on a small farm in Huntington, Long Island.

“My parents had a talented filly named Riverboat who raced at all the New York tracks in the inaugural Sire Stakes program. For three years my mother and I shipped Riverboat to all of her engagements. Luckily, I was never caught by the truant officer for missing school.

“I spent my youth primarily at Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceway where I got my start learning how to care for, shoe and train horses from Dick Baker of the Stanley Dancer Stable. I had the great fortune and privilege of observing, questioning and learning from some of the best trainers and drivers ever; extraordinary horsemen like Joe O’Brien, Howard Beissinger and Jimmy Cruise.

“I wanted to learn as much about the business as possible so I attended The Horse Science School when I was 13-years-old. I went to college at Tulane University majoring in biology and did graduate work in cardiovascular pharmacology. After graduation, I worked as a veterinary assistant to Dr. Raymond Cotter at Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceway.

“When I was 16, I drove my first race in Goshen and when I was 23, I opened my first public stable. In working with and observing many trainers over the years, I learned at an early age to be flexible and attentive to a horse’s needs.

“The main difference I see in today’s training styles is due to the ease at which young horses train down and the great gaits and attitudes that most possess. I attribute that to our refined breeding programs and expert handling and prepping. A good horseman will moderate the conditioning program with a balance of distance and speed.”

Tom Merriman, also a renowned trainer/driver, has driven many great horses. They met in 1977 at Yonkers Raceway where the two raced against each other. Several years later, they teamed up personally and professionally.

They trained for late owner Fred Monteleone, developing and racing the horses Monte Hall and Civil Action. Schlichtig was awarded credit for Civil Action winning the Peter Haughton Memorial in 2001.

Civil Action would go on to win The Townsend Ackerman the following year in a faster time than the Hambletonian on that same day. After earning a million dollars in two seasons of racing, Civil Action was sold to the Italians.

Monte Hall raced the circuit and joined the free-for-all ranks. He retired at the end of his 6-year-old campaign with earnings just shy of $1 million.

“Later on, I was the sole trainer of the horse Cincinnati Kid, who won The Campbellville at Mohawk in Canada in 2003,” Schlichtig said.

“Cincinnati Kid not only won The Campbellville (now known as The William Wellwood) but also set the Ontario stakes record of 1:56.1 – which was the fastest 2-year-old record that year. He shared the time with the great Cantab Hall, whom he would finish second to that year in The Breeders Crown.”

Schlichtig has owned and trained hundreds of horses and claims she has had several favorites.

“The one thing they all had in common was a generous heart and gave all they had to offer – regardless of their ability.”

Having been in the sport for over 50 years, Schlichtig has seen many changes in the sport.

“Throughout my career, I have raced in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Kentucky and Ontario. I see the declining interest in our sport and believe it is the victim of a society that demands a faster pace of entertainment and instant gratification. Sadly, I am not sure what one thing would remedy the situation.”

Today, Schlichtig helps train for the powerhouse Tony Alagna Stable during the winter at Sunshine Meadows Training Center.

In the summer, Schlichtig and Merriman go to The Meadows Racetrack in Pennsylvania where they are an integral part of The Norm Parker Stable.

I asked Anne if retirement was in the near future, and she laughed.

“No retirement here, folks. This is not a ‘job,’ but a lifestyle I cherish.”

BREAKING STRIDE

with TREY NOSRAC

The Illeist

by Trey Nosrac

"Trey was a pioneer," I said.

My pal rolled his eyes and asked, "Why do you always refer to yourself in the third person?"

"Trey says it's dramatic."

"It's off-putting and confusing. Did you know the technical term for a person who refers to themselves in the third person is an illeist? When Richard Nixon said, 'You won't have Nixon to kick around anymore, because, gentlemen, this is my last press conference,' that was an illeism."

I gave a return eye roll and said, "Trey says the only time a dude should use obscure terms is while trying to pick up a hot librarian."

"Yet another illeism. You're incorrigible."

"I'm consistent. Did you ever see the Seinfeld episode where Elaine accidentally agrees to a date with Jimmy, some smarmy goofball from her gym? When the sleazy guy said to her, 'You're just Jimmy's type.' Elaine thought he was talking about a different man, an Adonis from her gym."

He chuckled, "Yeah, funny show. And Dizzy Dean, the St. Louis Cardinal's baseball pitcher, always referred to himself as Ol' Diz."

I nodded, "Nice touch, not only the third person but third person with a nickname."

"Enough," he said, "What kind of pioneer?"

"Trey was one of the original gig workers. I met you driving Uber. Before that, I gigned as a survey taker, sign holder, lawn worker, bouncer, freelancer, dog walker, audience plant for a comedian, cat sitter, and golf caddy."

He said, "Next year, gig jobs will account for half of the workforce."

I sighed, "That ain't good. It's a hard-luck life for gig workers. Tomorrow's pink slip is only a day away."

"Are you auditioning for Annie?"

"No Mister Warbucks, but it's a vicious world when next week is always a guess and when you occasionally need food, a roof over your head, and doctors. All in all, gig work is like slavery with apps."

"The average gig economy worker earns less than $10,000 a year."

I circled back to my point, "Harness racing has a fair share of gig workers. The sport needs one more category – gig semen sales rep."

"And how will that work?"

"A stallion owner recruits me. He finds my name posted on one of the six thousand internet job posting sites using an ad."

"And what type of contract terms does a part-time semen salesperson command?"

"Trey says a base salary of enough to possibly keep one out from under a bridge. Say, $1,000 dollars over two-month increments."

"That's just over $100 a week. Would you work for that?"

"Yes. In fact, Trey would work hard, because part of my contract states that 40 per cent of each successful breeding that I am responsible for would be earmarked for me."

"Don't forget that until a live foal is on the ground, the

"Trey says this is excellent. I will not blow the cash immediately. This pregnant mare would be as close as I ever get to an IRA or hedge fund."

"Okay, let's say you get this bizarre gig. Where would you begin?"

"With data and inventiveness, followed by contacting susceptible relatives and close friends – sort of like selling real estate or life insurance."

"You drain that little pool of prospects quickly, then what?"

"I purchase an unlimited pathway account, round up every scrap of data from every state racing program, data from thoroughbred organizations, from farms that have training centers and breeding farms that do not have racing. I would create more lists than Santa Claus. My lists would be broodmare owners inside the business, plus potential clients outside the business. My first few weeks on this semen gig would be as much data collection as possible. Here's a shortlist:"

Jay Bergman, Joe Kyle on ballot for Communicators Hall of Fame

Two veteran harness racing journalists – Jay Bergman, long-time editor / writer / handicapper in the Sports

Eye/Daily Racing Form publication family, and Joe Kyle, a noted photographer / writer primarily associated with the Horseman and Fair World magazine, were selected to be ballot candidates for this summer's voting for entrance into Communicators Hall of Fame. Their selection was determined by the result of a vote of the Directors of United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA), the sport's leading media organization, at their annual meeting on Saturday.

Jay Bergman established his excellence in harness racing as the longtime editor and columnist for SportsEye, where he highlighted both the equine and human star performers of the sport, featured horses that bettors might keep an eye on for future profit, and also took to task those not adding to the forward movement of harness racing. He served as a freelance correspondent or columnist for many of the sport's major publications, and also did television commentary for a number of harness racing's top tracks and races. A 1984 winner of a John Hervey Award for writing excellence, Bergman is currently a columnist for DRF Harness.

Joe Kyle is primarily associated with the Kentucky-based Horseman and Fair World, and was its "go-to" man for both writing and photography when the Grand Circuit made its annual tour of the mile ovals at Indianapolis, Springfield and DuQuoin (IL), and the Red Mile in his publication's base of Lexington KY – a natural association for Joe, who grew up in the Midwest. Kyle saw, wrote about, and captured on film most of the sport's stars in many of the industry's top races, and he won the inaugural George Smallsreed Award for photography in 2001 for a picture of Hambletonian winner Scarlet Knight and trainer/driver Stefan Melander – himself a noted photographer in Europe.

Bergman and Kyle will be voted on by the membership of USHWA during midsummer balloting, which is held in conjunction with balloting for the sport's most prestigious honor, election to the Hall of Fame of the sport. Those Hall of Fame candidates will be determined by the Screening Committee of USHWA at a meeting held in conjunction with the previous year's Halls of Famers formal introduction into the Harness Racing Museum in Goshen NY the first Sunday in July.

Having conducted its directors' meeting on Saturday, USHWA will hold its annual General Membership meeting this morning. Tonight, USHWA will host the annual event honoring the sport's best and brightest, the Dan Patch Awards Banquet. The banquet will also be the first public gathering of the new crop of Hall of Famers – Tom Charters, Jeff Gural, Bill Popfinger, and Tim Tetrack – as well as Communicators HOFers Ken Weingartner and Phil Pikelný. The Dan Patch Banquet can be seen live starting at 6:30 p.m. at <https://www.facebook.com/USHarnessWriters/>.

Promote the heck out of harness racing

After watching the possible debacle in Pennsylvania, here is my suggestion: Harness racing better join with all other breeds to organize. Show them the impact racing has. Show the jobs. But better yet, quit sitting around and doing nothing. Start promoting the heck out of harness racing. Make it fun. Offer giveaways and show gamblers you are happy they came. Make it a nice experience.

—Shari Hazlett / Hillsdale, NY

Revive the Sweepstakes

I'm pushing 80 years of age and have followed and participated in the sport since I was 10 years old. Back in the '40s and '50s before casino and lotteries became the normal, if a person who had big dreams about being rich had to resort to trying to find someone who had a connection to distribute tickets on the IRISH SWEEPSTAKES. As I recall it was illegal in Canada to sell them. I never did buy one but I remember that the Irish had a very complicated solution to get a winner. Possibly we could use and modify their procedure and revive the "SWEEPSTAKES." Problem is now finding someone who could explain how it worked. Just a thought.

—Ted Steele / Blackacre Stable and participant with the LandMark group

What is wrong with the AGCO?

The past week there was an incident of a trainer harming one of his horses which the penalty took way too long to come out. Then we find out this same trainer has entries under his name during the suspension date. The AGCO (Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario) needs a total restructuring. The current regime cannot do the job properly. First off, the AGCO is funded through taxes and I don't believe that most of the people of Ontario realize this. I strongly feel that they should make public in layman terms the severity of all penalties and not just on the Standardbred Canada site that only horsemen know about. Every newspaper should publish fines and suspensions open to the public for viewing and this should be mandated by the government and paid for by AGCO which again is the public. Take this one instance, if this was made public knowledge I am sure that some animal rights group would see it and demand action and there's the rub. As it is now, it is not public, nothing if anything has happened and who is taking care of the horse and its health and safety? AGCO is totally out of touch or think that they are untouchable in the way they carry out their affairs and every honest horseman should demand to their government representatives that AGCO is held accountable for their rulings especially where multiple rules offenders are not banished from racing for good.

Hats off to Tim Finley

Hats off to Tim Finley for penning his thoughts on saving harness racing. Mr. Finley observed he's a futurist, made smart, forward-thinking investments; and warned of and offered to respond with assistance to harness racing's ultimate demise decades ago. In short, Mr. Finley offers to use his knowledge and skills to guide a group of Floridians to formulate a transferable success model, using PPK as an incubator. All of this while observing, "At one time, cowboy movies had the attention of almost every American." Ironically, neither Festus, nor Marshall Dillon or Ms. Kitty is coming back, and one has to ask whether harness racing ever will. In further irony, PPK may soon go as did Roosevelt Raceway, Freestate and Sportsman's Park. PPK, like Gulfstream Park, could have been the winter racing capital of the world. Disparate track ownership groups functioning through different corporate boards and values make a unified approach to harness racing near impossible. Any budding owner or bettor would much rather bond with Burke or Tetrack, than we must agree a midlevel trainer or driver. A concept Mr. Finley dismisses. True. Everyone can't be Takter, Gingras and here lately blue collar Surick. But thinking otherwise would be like asking potential investors to buy stock in Charlotte and bypass the Lakers and Heat. (As Mr. Finley surmised, would you rather be in Milwaukee or Miami? The fractional ownership concept has potential, but I don't see transparency in fixed costs and expenses without which most astute investors will never touch it. If Tony ever published an independent audit I would be on board, as I'm sure deep pocketed investors would follow suit, for investment is the key word on top of the fun of it. One writer proposes fixed odds. Certain bettors would have a field day. Go back and research Vegas bookmakers who dropped a dime on certain harness gamblers years ago. Then, the hardworking trainer toiling with overnight stock, troubled by vet bills, rising feed costs, the blacksmith, and owners needing at least a show finish to stay in the business. These folks fight the grind and keep the entry box full. They delegate to others to think and act on their behalf, without benefit of data or concern for it.

So then, how does the industry respond to Mr. Finley's offer of help? I, like he, believe in the power of data gathering and analysis. However, I'm afraid such effort would be useless without power brokers who own, manage and operate tracks at the table. Ultimately, they're the decision makers.
