Track maintenance critical year-round, not just during inclement weather

With cancellations due to poor track conditions appearing to be on the rise, expert track builder Dan Coon said more attention and resources needs to be put on maintaining proper surfaces year-round.

by Brett Sturman

Tracks have seen accelerated cancellation rates of live race cards over the course of this winter. Many of these cancellations can be attributed fairly to forces beyond their control, but there remains an excess number of cancellations that could be perceived as less forgivable.

Such was the case last month when Yonkers lost nearly an entire week of racing due to an inability to timely remove snow from the track. Just this week, additional days of racing were lost at Monticello due to the thawing of the track as temperatures have predictably risen into March. The same reason was given for recent cancellations from Buffalo. The list goes on. Pocono lost its opening weekend in February. Even tracks that up until recent years wouldn't have canceled under any circumstance, such as Northfield Park, has canceled multiple cards along with fellow Ohio track Miami Valley at the onset of inclement weather.

With the cancellations has come a rising level of frustration. It's one thing to cancel the day of a major storm, but it's another to prolong the cancellations for additional days and perhaps even worse, then try to race only to have the card canceled because of poor track conditions. That too, has happened at multiple tracks throughout the winter.

No one knows more about racetrack design and the challenges faced by winter than Dan Coon. Dan and his brother Greg are sons of the late hall-of-famer Chuck Coon and have built or at some point maintained most tracks in the sport, as well as currently consult for tracks all over the world. Dan's expertise in racetrack maintenance is second to none.

For Dan, there's certainly an understanding as to challenges that arise throughout a winter. Though, I don't sense he would allow them to serve as excuses.

"Freeze-thaw cycles cause certain issues, but I came from a different era at Hawthorne Racecourse in Chicago in January," said Dan. "And they would stop at absolutely nothing to get to a live race card. If there's a foot of snow and you've got six hours to post, it can be dealt with, period. Back then, it would snow all day, and there would be racing at night. In Canada, Greenwood, Woodbine, Mohawk – there was a day when if you got a foot of snow, you got rid of it; simple. Whether it takes one loader, one grader and two dump trucks – or two graders, four dump trucks and four loaders in the afternoon – there are ways to deal with winter-time issues, but you have to make the financial commitment."

Issues seen at this time of year, aren't solely specific to when tracks need attention. A topic he speaks passionately about, Dan said, "If you're asking for my opinion, more attention should be given to the track condition in December, in March, in August and in November. It's not about winter or any particular season; it's all of the above. There's days in the middle of June where the track isn't perfect, and that's inexcusable."

As a builder known for both speed and for safety in racetracks, the latter remains of paramount concern for Dan.

Dan Coon (at Red Mile in 2017) said, "Obviously, safety is first and foremost. If a track is unsafe, I'll be knocking on the door saying that this isn't safe... (but if) I can delay for 40 minutes to see if we can improve things and make it safe, I think we ought to try it."

"Obviously, safety is first and foremost. Look, if a track is unsafe, I'll be knocking on the door saying that this isn't safe. If it's after the fifth race and there's washouts or frozen spots or some unsafe condition, then I'll call them. And likewise, if it's safe, I think we ought to go. And if it isn't safe but I can delay for 40 minutes to see if we can improve things and make it safe, I think we ought to try it."

He said he doesn't believe the cancellations are a result of a lacking skill; in fact, he feels quite the opposite.

"I think there are some very, very skilled and motivated track curators. But if they go to the grader that's 30 years old that they need to jump start and it takes 45 minutes to start, that's not their fault. They're very motivated and just like trainers and everyone else, they don't want to lose days. And now we're back to, 'How much do you want to spend to get this right?' There's a will out there, we've just got to focus."

One other topic that Dan said he takes exception to is the sometimes misleading track designation "sloppy" to the condition of a track.

"When it rains maybe an inch in two days of soft rain, it makes the track soft. But when it rains an inch in a half-hour the track gets hard. But they still call it sloppy. That doesn't make sense to me. What it should be is wet-fast. How do you call a track with no cushion sloppy. If you're a gambler and the Meadowlands comes up sloppy and they're still going in 1:49, something's up. It's counter intuitive to call it sloppy when it's really wet-fast."

Asked about the role that track surface plays in fast times seen by horses today, Dan said, "I think the tracks that are elevated properly and the tracks that maintain the correct cushion, are the ones that are not only the fastest but the safest."

"Many people confuse hard with fast, and that's a mistake. And we've proven that every day at Lexington, it's surface is like a carpet. I own and operate the starting gate at the Red Mile, so I'm in every race. And if it's too hard I'm pretty sure that I'm going to find out from the horsemen. They're a valuable fountain of information. These are people that have a lot at stake and I consider it my job either as a consultant at different racetracks around the world, or as an official at places like the Red Mile or Delaware at the Little Brown Jug, to get their input. And most times they will tell you the truth."

After this winter, a hard look should be given into what commitments and resources are needed to reduce lost days in upcoming seasons.

Loewe warns tracks will soon have difficulty finding qualified employees

The recently-retired Penn National executive and former horseman said few people are qualified for specialized racetrack work and few are in the pipeline. He also has strong beliefs about who should pay to market the sport and the role of publicly-traded casino-run tracks.

by Dave Briggs

On the long list of horse racing's problems, Mark Loewe said one few people talk about is the lack of qualified people to work on the racetrack side of the business.

Loewe, 63, is the rare person with the experience to view the industry from both a horseman and racetrack executive's perspective. He was in the game for 42 years in total before retiring in December of 2020 as the vice-president of racing for two of Penn National Gaming's tracks – The Meadows near Pittsburgh and thoroughbred's Mahoning Valley in Youngstown, OH. Loewe has also been a director with the United States Trotting Association (USTA) for three different districts.

"I've been preaching this for the last 15 years. Everybody keeps talking about their concern with the lack of horses or horse population shortage and I've always said that won't be an issue as much as the lack of qualified people to do the jobs on the racetracks, from track maintenance to driving a starting gate or being a charter. You don't see people lining up every day saying, 'Pick me, I want to do that,'" Loewe said. "I don't want to talk too much thoroughbred, but it's even worse on the thoroughbred side. You've got valets, you've got people that have to stand in a starting gate with a 1,000-pound animal trying to knock their head off. I don't see young people lining up saying, 'Hey, that's a great job.'"

"We've even reached out a couple of times to universities, trying to get into the agricultural departments. It's tough."

Loewe also has strong opinions about the role of casino-owned racetracks and who should be responsible for marketing horse racing.

"I have to give (Penn National) credit, and I know a lot of people don't believe it, but I still think that they are one of the few casino companies that does care about racing, but they also care about the economic model and bottom line. As a publicly traded company, they have responsibilities and have to make some hard decisions," Loewe said.

"They wouldn't have (Penn National's vice-president of racing) Chris (McErlean) still there and myself working there that many years and hiring good people on the racing side if they didn't have some faith in it. I had a racing budget and the casino had its budget. I had to work to make my numbers work and sometimes they did and sometimes they didn't, but they certainly just didn't ignore racing and let it fall into disarray."

Loewe said what people need to realize is that most casino companies that own racetracks are publicly traded and have stockholders.

"Most of the stockholders don't care about the racing, probably, but it's a question of doing what they have a responsibility to do from a fiduciary responsibility while trying to continue to let racing be a part of their portfolio," Loewe said.

That said, Loewe believes horsepeople should pick up the tab for marketing.

"This may be controversial, but it's their product. As a permit holder, yes, we make some money and we're able to have a casino, but we give you a venue for you to be successful and make money," Loewe said. "Should there be some partnership involved? Yes, but it's now different than when I was at a meeting in Ohio with the thoroughbred breeders. I said, 'Okay, let me ask you a question, I'll give you $100,000 right now, what are you going to do with it?' And it's 'I don't know.'"

Loewe said the money spent to market the casino must always be justified.

"They will only spend it if it generates enough revenue to justify it," he said.

"If I invest $100,000 in marketing and strictly on a racing venue and I've got a blended takeout of 20 per cent and after taxes and everything I'm getting about eight per cent... how many more pari-mutuel dollars am I going to get to justify that $100,000 investment and how many do I need? Am I going to get a million dollars more in handle in the building to justify that $100,000 investment?"

On the opposite side, Loewe said tracks are very much responsible for providing a safe environment for the horses.

"If you're going to make changes, you can't make changes that are going to have a negative impact on the horse population or the welfare of the horses," Loewe said. "We were fortunate and (during the lockdown) I was able to fight for keeping my staff in those areas pretty much status quo... The last thing you want is catastrophic injuries and (have horsepeople) say, 'Well, you haven't taken good care of the track.'"

Loewe graduated from St. John's University in 1978 with a degree in government and politics and two days later was working as a groom for Bill Popfinger. That fall, Happy Escort won the Little Brown Jug and his caretaker, Mark Loewe, was by his side in the winner's circle.

Later, when training his own stable, Loewe had stints conditioning such standouts as Threefold and Goalie Jeff. He was also the original trainer of Fake Left, who was sold at the end of his 2-year-old season and went on to win the 1992 Little Brown Jug for trainer George Sholty and driver Ron Waples at 3.

By the end of 1991, Loewe had already moved on from training to become a TV handicapper at Pompano Park. He worked on the management side in the 30 years since, spending time at nine racetracks in all — Pompano (for 13 years), Prairie Meadows and seven tracks once he was hired by Penn National in 2010.

Loewe's decision to retire came after a challenging 2020. He was furloughed for two months during the early days of the pandemic and then, once he returned to work, he had to deal with managing two racetracks with a skeleton staff.

"There were some real times of concern: what's going to happen to Penn? How long can this go on? It's not just in Mahoning Valley or Dayton or The Meadows, it's 42 properties nationwide, with 13 racing facilities. If you shutter that for an extended amount of time, people get nervous and rightly so.

"There was a challenge of trying to keep the horsemen in business and giving them the opportunity to keep their horses fit and trained up and keeping backside open without any revenues coming in to offset the expenses involved. Then, furloughing a lot of people with a lot of those people not coming back because... on the casino side, they were able to reopen but with limited capacity. So, obviously, you don't need as many team members working if you don't have any many poker tables open or restaurants open and things of that nature."

All this while Loewe was mostly living apart from his wife, Janet Terhune, the executive director of the Harness Racing Museum and Hall of Fame in Goshen, NY.

"I had a life-changing event in 2018 when I married Janet," Loewe said. "Living apart for a while was okay and then having the ability to spend two months at home when I was furloughed, it created a lot of dialogue as to whether this was the right time to step away. There's so many other things going on in the business and how things are working and (issues concerning) the future (of the sport)... the check marks all seemed to line up that this was the right time."

Most recently, while still working for Penn National, Loewe lived in Youngstown, OH, 10 miles from Mahoning Valley and a little more than an hour north of Pittsburgh. More importantly, Youngstown is about 400 miles from Goshen where Terhune lives.

"I can do it between five hours and 30 minutes and five hours and 45 minutes," Loewe said of his many trips back and forth in his one-time, long-distance marriage. Today, he's happily living in Goshen with Terhune.

Loewe has seen a lot of change in his 42 years in the industry.

When he started at Pompano, the Florida tracks had a 1,000-seat dining room that required reservations on weekends if you wanted to get a table.

"I was fortunate to train when they still had the training side (at Pompano), as well as the racing side. You'd be on the racetrack every morning with (Stanley) Dancer and (Billy) Haughton and (George) Sholty. Those are some pretty good memories, to share the racetrack with those guys and how much I learned just by watching," Loewe said.

"From the racing side, obviously, when I first got involved there was no such thing as electronic eligibilities or electronic draw or any of the nuances that are available today just due to technology changes, so those are drastic change.

"Catch drivers also became a big thing during those years.

"Simulcasting was really in its infancy when I first got involved. As it turns out, what we thought was a great thing, wasn't such a great thing for the industry now because the business model doesn't work."

Loewe also played a key role in the dawn of the racino era.

"I started at Pompano when it was still owned by the Van Lenneps, when it was privately owned and I was there when the first casino company bought in, which was Isle of Capri. After that, it was Prairie Meadows racino and basically everywhere else I went there was a racino or there was going to be one eventually."

Loewe said he believes the horse racing industry will continue to shrink.

"I definitely think you're going to see more contraction in racing. Some of these small operations are really going to struggle to survive because of all these things we've spoken about," he said.

"By the same token, you can still have elite racing with great horses... Great horses will always bring people out... There's always going to be a small group of people that are passionate about it and as long as legislation doesn't make it more difficult to run racetracks – that's my big concern with the Integrity Act, there's so much of it that's unknown in terms of funding and things of that nature. If it really becomes an economic burden on racetracks... it's going to go through the racing commissions and they are going to decide and come up with some money to pay the bills.

"Going back to fiduciary responsibilities in gaming companies, if you start hitting them with more financial burden, I believe they will aggressively look to de-couple to get away from those expenses that aren't necessary, in their

Still, Loewe said it is "a great time to race horses" due to purse levels.

"It's a lot of money. An average $20,000 claimer can make $80,000 or $90,000 or $100,000 and it's a pretty good time to own a horse if you have the ability to do that," he said.

As for his career, Loewe said he is most proud that he had integrity and "always did things the right way" as a trainer. On the executive side, he said he is most proud to have learned from some brilliant men.

"I probably had the smartest racetrack executives to mentor me, first it was John Cashman (at Pompano) and then it was Chris McErlean.

"Then, the ability to build two new racetracks (Ohio's Dayton Raceway and Mahoning Valley) from the ground up and be involved from day one in construction and design and getting feedback," Loewe said. "I don't want to beat my chest, but most people will tell you that Dayton paddock is the best paddock in the country."

On a personal front, Loewe joked he spent January sleeping, but is now looking forward to enjoying all he loves about the industry with his wife by his side.

"Things are looking up that maybe we'll be able to start going to racetracks again," he said. "I definitely want to enjoy maybe having the opportunity to spend a week or two in Lexington and go to the sales again and look at horses, things of that nature."

Gino Toscani (two slots)
Steve Heimbecker

The owners of the slots are not required to declare a 2-year-old trotter for the race until entry time and the slot is an entity that may be sold, traded or subject to lease. Each slot owner was required to submit $50,000 per slot by the Feb. 15 deadline. The remaining $50,000 is due by June 1.

The Mohawk Million will take place along with the $850,000 Metro Pace for 2-year-old pacers on Sept. 25, putting the sport's two richest races for freshmen on the same card.

The $540,000 Shes A Great Lady for 2-year-old pacing fillies will also take place on the Mohawk Million card, which will feature total purses of more than $2.6 million.

Fans can track the march to the Mohawk Million by following @WoodbineSB on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram. The official hashtag of harness racing's richest race for 2-year-olds is #MohawkMillion.

Jessica Otten to be the host Saturday on In The Sulky

In honor of International Woman's Day, the Big M broadcaster will have her first turn in the In The Sulky broadcaster's chair and will interview trainer Julie Miller.

by Debbie Little

For the first time there will be two women on The Meadowlands' "In The Sulky" live pre-game show segment.

In early recognition of International Women's Day, The Big M's Jessica Otten will be the host of the Saturday night (March 6) spot and interview trainer Julie Miller.

Jessica Otten will play host on In The Sulky this Saturday to interview Julie Miller.

When Miller was approached by Otten to do the interview, she thought it would just be a 30-second interview in the paddock between races, until Otten told her to show up early before the card.

Miller is honored to be chosen to be interviewed in recognition of International Women's Day and the fact that Otten is doing the interview just makes it more special.

"It just shows the progression of the sport," said Miller. "It's nice to see her come out here from the Midwest and how she's blossomed and she's doing a super job up there. It just shows you when you're driven and focused what you can do."

The pre-game show gets underway at 5:27 p.m. and "In The Sulky" is part of the first block.

This will be Otten's first time playing host on "In The Sulky" and only her second time playing host to the pre-game show since coming on board at The Meadowlands in 2018.

"I'm a little nervous, but I feel like I'm ready for it and I'm really excited," said Otten. "I will host the pre-game show with Brett Risi and then once the pre-game show is over, [Dave] Brower will jump in the host seat."

Otten will then take her usual spot in the paddock for the race card, where she will continue to interview women trainers competing that night.

"I know Nancy [Takter] has one in," said Otten. "We can talk about the horse she does have racing and what she's looking forward to this year since she's the 2020 USHWA Trainer of the Year."

"Sofia Zingale has a horse in and she actually does a lot of riding hunter-jumper horses, plus the standardbreds. Not a lot of people may know who she is because she's a little bit newer and younger so I'm excited to get her face out there and talk about her and what she does."

Otten, who splits her time at The Meadowlands as both a marketing coordinator and TV talent, also contacted a few women handicappers across North America that will be giving out best bets and price plays in graphic form on Saturday night. In addition, she will be posting content to social media.

"I run all the [Meadowlands] social media platforms – Instagram, Twitter and Facebook – so what I'll do is take short video clips and photos of the women that are back there and post them throughout the night. And on International Women's Day, which is Monday, March 8, I'll post stuff throughout the day."

At this time last year, Otten celebrated some of the track's female drivers and trainers by asking five of them the same nine questions and then posting their answers with photos in magazine-style layouts on social media, but this year Otten and Director of TV Oz Colon wanted to up the stakes.

Colon remembers talking with Otten about what she did last year for International Women's Day and that the two of them put their heads together and came up with this year's format. Colon also mentioned that he is happy with the work Otten does for TV.

"I think she's doing great," said Colon. "I think she's progressed well. She's really passionate about the game and she wants things to work out for the industry as a whole for the future."

Otten grew up in Lennon, MI, about 10 miles from Sports Creek Raceway, where her dad, Peter, always had 20 to 30 head at their family-owned farm.

As racing declined in his home state, Peter had to move horses over the border to Canada to compete on a regular basis.

Seeing her family have to live apart to do what they loved was upsetting to a teenage Otten, who decided to do something about it.

"[I said] I'm going to write the governor a letter," she said. "Why can't we get the help we need? Why can't my family do what we love and my dad run his business and all of us be in the same place?"

Otten never mailed the letter since she wasn't sure if the governor would ever read it, but at that same time an Extended Gaming Bill that would help generate extra revenue for purses for the State of Michigan was being brought before the State House and Senate.

So, a 14-year-old Otten went to plead her case.

"I told them my story and I read my letter," she said. "I testified in front of the senators and then a week later I testified in front of the house of representatives and the bill passed both of them. And then the governor vetoed it, so that was pretty upsetting. But it was a really cool experience."

About five years later, Otten was hired to work on the Post Time with Mike & Mike podcast.

"She came to work for us at the Breeders Crown, I believe it was 2016," said Michael Carter, one half of Mike & Mike. "She was super nervous when she was first going to do [an interview] and she didn't know what to ask per se and I just told her be yourself, don't try to be something you're not."

"It's amazing to see her progress over the last four or five years. One thing I love about Jessica is she can just kind of roll with the punches. She doesn't let things get her down and she's never going to give up on something."

Otten is grateful to her Meadowlands family – especially Jeff Gural and Jason Settlemaier – for giving her this opportunity.

"When you work with people like Brower and Dave Little and Ken [Warkentin], they make you better and they're always there for advice, always there for critiquing," said Otten. "And I love critiquing because I'm not perfect and I've only been doing this for two years. I'm learning every day."

"Michael Carter has taught me so much about the structure of an interview even if our interviews are only two-and-a-half minutes long, if that. He's taught me so much. Don't ask point-blank questions where they can say yes or no or a one-word answer. Make it conversational, have them have a conversation with you. That way, you can actually talk back and forth. You don't want to be in the spotlight, you want them to be in the spotlight."

Even with all she has learned and progress she has made, Otten knows that there are plenty of haters on social media who don't know her background and knowledge and simply judge her by her appearance.

"She only has this job because she's a pretty girl' and I don't want people to look at me like that," she said. "I've always been huge into following this sport. I was born and raised in it. It's in my blood. I love, love, love the horses."

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Preston Shaw - Ontario's triple threat

by Chris Lomon

If the shoes fit, you can thank Preston Shaw.

Busy might not even be the best word to describe a typical day in the life of a horseman that counts driving, training and shoeing as his standardbred racing roles.

But for the jack-of-all-trades, the demanding workload is hardly unwelcome. In fact, it's just what he prefers.

"I'm not a person that can handle spare time very well. If I'm sitting around, I just want to go do something. I love what I do and that's what makes me the happiest," Shaw said.

A native of Airdrie, AB, Shaw's passion for racing comes naturally.

His father, Doug, also a driver/trainer/farrier, and his grandmother, Marie Stone, who was in the race bike into her late 60s, have each made significant contributions to Canadian harness racing.

Nearly 10 years ago, Preston launched his training career, winning one race and posting five top-three finishes from 20 starts in 2012.

He recorded his first training victory – at the age of 18 – on Nov. 16 of that year at Northlands Park when pacer Pymadre, a pacing son of D M Dlinger (ON), rallied to win a three-way photo over Best For Blues and K B Hercules in 2:00.2.

Bred by Maximracingstableinc, Pymadre returned $33.50 for the victory.

In 2015, Shaw added driving to his repertoire, winning 15 races in his rookie race bike campaign. At season's end, he was honored as the Rising Star recipient in Alberta.

Nearly two years ago, he moved his tack to Ontario.

While it took time to build up his barn and farrier work, business is booming for Preston these days.

Catch driving, training a stable, and shoeing dozens of horses each week when racing is in high gear, the 26-year-old has settled in comfortably in his relatively new surroundings.

"It's about all I can handle," he said of his three racing gigs and a busy schedule helped considerably by his girlfriend, Emily Leak. "I do a lot of different things, but I have a lot of good people around me. Emily is a big reason I'm able to do what I do. She does 80 per cent of the barn work, which gives me the time to train and drive. She's a big part of us having a barn. She owns two of the four horses we have. I also have a friend of mine, Colton Griffin, who came from Alberta, and he's learning to shoe. He's helped me a lot. The two of us shoe every day."

Preston said he sees the shoeing side of his career as a huge benefit to his other roles.

"There are lots of reasons shoeing has helped me as a driver and a trainer. It helps in all aspects because if I can watch how that horse – not necessarily one that I'm shoeing – is doing something out of sync, maybe cross-firing, hitting a knee, or this or that, it means I've seen them do it at high speed, and it helps me when I'm shoeing. I think there's an advantage with training because we usually buy horses that have some type of issue. That's what I base my horses off of – having something to fix. That helps my training.”

see all of our contributors here

He takes great pride in being able to correct foot issues and seeing the subsequent results on the racetrack.

Fortunately for Preston, he had the ideal mentor to learn from.

“That's how my dad was. He was a driver, trainer and did shoeing, too. I watched my dad and how he went about everything. I do more shoeing than he did, but it's something that I've really worked hard on over time. It's great for a lot of reasons, including the ability to have a steady income. On a slow week, I'll shoe 30 horses, and on a good week, it's around 50. I shod quite a bit in Alberta and B.C., maybe about 80 or 90 a month, but now since I've come to Ontario, and people have got to know me, business has really taken off.”

Courtesy Preston Shaw

Shaw said his shoeing business has increased in recent years since moving to Ontario from Alberta.

While it can be admittedly hectic at times, Preston has worked diligently to perfect the art of time management.

Getting to that point, however, wasn't without its share of hits and misses.

Having a team he can count on, he noted, has been the difference maker.

“I'd say time management and getting out of bed were the two biggest challenges I had to conquer,” he said with a laugh. “Once I get going, I'm unstoppable, but getting out of bed on certain days, that can be a little tough. On a race day, I have to have a certain amount of horses shod before I go to the track. If I'm catch driving, it's an hour from my place [Cambridge, ON] to London. It's all about time management. It's something that I've been able to do well at, especially here. If you slack during the week, you don't get a day off. Luckily, I have Emily and Colton, who make what I do possible. They are a big part of what I do. Having help – and good help – is a huge plus.”

Preston's on-track goals for 2021 aren't unlike any other horseperson's wish list.

When he looks at his stat line at the end of the year, he'll be hoping to see increases over his 2020 season.

Last year, he won 10 races, along with 20 top-three finishes from 48 training starts. He posted 26 victories and 59 top-three results from 201 starts in the sulky.

“More wins as a trainer and more wins as a driver, that's what I would see as a successful year. With the shoeing part, it's just about me staying healthy, and keeping my clients happy.”

A strong year at the races would also mean a few more horseshoes to work on.

“If I were to have a good 2021, that would hopefully mean the opportunity to add a few horses to our barn, perhaps some higher quality stock. I'm enjoying every part of what I do, and even though it can get busy at certain times, I'm happy with that, for sure. Having lots of work is what I like.”

A perfect fit, Preston Shaw might say.

Paris' winter meeting ends this Saturday

by Thomas Hedlund

The winter is over in France. At least if the meeting in Paris, at Vincennes decides when a certain season begins and ends in the country. Saturday's (March 6) race card with the $241,000 Prix de Selection for 4-, 5- and 6 -year-olds will traditionally close the racing at Vincennes for a while and champion Face Time Bourbon (Ready Cash) is in the race, now paired with Eric Raffin.

Sébastien Guarato's trotter has been victorious in Prix de Selection the two previous years and it seems like the 6-year-old has a well suited task ahead of him even this year.

Last time Eric Raffin drove Face Time Bourbon was in April 2019, when the duo impressed a lot by winning $120,000 Prix Phaeton in a mile rate of 1:54.1 over 1.3 miles.

Björn Goop, who got fired as driver behind Face Time Bourbon after the runner up performance in Prix de France in February, has, among several other races, driven Sébastien Guarato's horse in two consecutive Prix d'Amérique victories.

Gerard Forni

Etonnant (Anthony Barrier) was the 69-1 upset winner of the 4km $482,000 Prix de Paris at Vincennes on Sunday (Feb. 28).

Big upset in $482,000 Prix de Paris

Four kilometers — two laps on Vincennes' hilly track — is the tough conditions that faced trotters in the $482,000 Prix de Paris at Vincennes on Sunday (Feb. 28) and this year's marathon produced a big upset winner.

Richard Westerink, the trainer of world champion Timoko, tried his luck with his 7-year-old monté specialist Etonnant (Timoko) and few believed that Etonnant would take a safe wire-to-wire win in this gruelling race.

Anthony Barrier let Etonnant open quickly and the duo hit the lead in the first downhill part of Vincennes track. Barrier kept the pace at remarkably low levels, which made Etonnant hard to catch for the horses at the back of the field.

The 69-1 upset winner claimed his biggest trophy in the career so far and he did what his father Timoko once did during his active career: winning one of the three Grand Prix-races in Paris. Timoko claimed the title in the 2015 Prix de France.

Ahead of the 2021 Prix de Paris, Etonnant's most prestigious victories were taken in monté races. The two biggest, the $145,000 Prix Olry-Roederer and the $145,000 Prix Legoux-Longpre, were both claimed in 2018.

First choice in Prix de Paris was Davidson du Pont and he went off stride at the back stretch during the last lap and Prix de France winner Delia du Pommereux ran out of power just before the home stretch.

Diable de Vauvert finished strongly as runner up and Moni Viking followed as third after an inside trip.

Jessica Carnochan retires after 17 years at Clinton Raceway

by Tony Elliott for Clinton Raceway

When Clinton Raceway opens its doors for the 2021 season fans will notice the absence of long-time marketing manager Jessica Carnochan.

After 17 seasons with the popular half-mile oval, Carnochan is hanging up her trackside microphone to spend more time with her family and on her other businesses, Marita's Fashion Boutique in Clinton and Bend Photo and Design.

"The last maybe two seasons, it's sort of been: was that it, was that the last one? It's been a long time, so is that enough? But then I'd always think, 'No, no, I still enjoy this.' And I really still do enjoy it, but I think after last season when things were so, so different — and probably this season again would look extremely different — that was when I realised," said Carnochan, whose favorite part of her work was the weekly interaction with fans. "That's what I love the most, so when you take that away it's kind of like well, 'What's going on here? This is what I love.' I know that's maybe not the best thing to base it on because I am sure there will be a time when the people come back and everything looks somewhat the way it used to, but I think it was just time. Change is good."

Over the course of her tenure as the marketing manager, Carnochan helped make Clinton Raceway's signature events, the biennial Legends Day and annual Charity Driver's Challenge, into can't miss events on the Ontario harness racing calendar and fundraising machines for the local community. Legends Day has raised more than $225,000 for the Clinton Public Hospital Foundation in its 10 iterations while the Charity Driver's Challenge has provided more than $325,000 to a variety of local organizations.

"Jess was around for I guess 18 or 19 driver challenges and would have been here for all the Legends Days — working for OLG (Ontario Lottery and Gaming) for the first one, but was here for all of them — and that's an event that really put us on the map for fundraising and branding our track for wagering," said Ian Fleming, Clinton Raceway's director of racing. "That helped us last year when we went to try and simulcast, especially in the States, people kind of remembered the place. So she was a big part of helping out with that."

Carnochan also built Clinton Raceway's "Day at the Races" fundraisers into a hot commodity in the local area. Each "Day at the Races" event offered non-profits and community groups a way to raise funds and awareness through barbecues, bake sales, silent auctions and more through the support of the raceway's staff and fan base. There were more applications for the 2019 program than there were Sunday afternoons available.

"Every Sunday there's a group interested and they bring people out and it raises some money for them and it raises awareness for the track," said Fleming. "It's helped attract horses to Clinton, too. We've got over 80 horses training in Clinton here. There's not many tracks that have 80 horses training at them anymore. It's got local people involved with ownership and training."

Once fans can safely return to the racetrack, Carnochan said she and her family will be trackside for their own day at the races, enjoying the fun-filled atmosphere she helped foster and reconnecting with long-time fans and colleagues.

"I'd love to go back as a fan. I think that would be so fun. I will definitely be there on some Sunday afternoons to take it in and just enjoy that side of it," said the Seaforth, ON resident. "I met so many wonderful people through these 17 years that I am sure I will stay in touch with."

Fleming said Clinton Raceway will not attempt to replace Carnochan for the 2021 season, given the uncertainty about fan attendance and the knowledge that her expertise is just a phone call away.

"Jess's focus at work was to get as many people onto the property here as she could; and when's the next time we're going to encourage thousands of people to come to the races again? At some point, but certainly not in the next little bit, so we'll just kind of play it by ear for this summer," said Fleming. "She doesn't live that far away so I am sure we'll be calling on her for some advice on things from time to time."

Carnochan said being at home during the May 23 season opener may feel a bit odd, but she will take the many lessons learned at Clinton Raceway — from Fleming, co-workers and fans — and put them to good use in the next stage of her work and family life.

2021 GENERAL RACING CONDITIONS

The Rules of Racing of the Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario (AGCO) in effect at the time the race is contested shall govern this race and any and all entries to the race will be received only with the understanding and on the agreement of the subscriber that the Rules of Racing govern, and that the following additional conditions apply:

1. At the absolute discretion of Woodbine Entertainment, the entries of any person (including this entry) or the transfer of any entry (including this entry) may at any time be refused and/or cancelled without either notice or reason being given and without liability except for the return of any subscriptions paid on an entry or entries refused and/or cancelled.
2. Subject to the said Rules of Racing, Woodbine Entertainment reserves the right to cancel the race without liability therefore upon repayment of all subscription fees, if any, paid on such cancelled race.
3. Woodbine Entertainment reserves the right to change the time and/or place of the race in its absolute discretion, subject, however, to the Rules and Regulations of the Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario.
4. It is expressly understood and agreed that the race may, if Woodbine Entertainment so determines in its absolute discretion, be conducted by a Racing Association other than Woodbine Entertainment, and Woodbine Entertainment shall have the right to assign, and transfer this entry and all monies paid to it hereunder to such other Racing Association and in such event all obligations, if any, of Woodbine Entertainment shall terminate.
5. Purse distribution: 50 per cent, 25 per cent, 12 per cent, 8 per cent, 5 per cent, unless otherwise stated in the conditions. Purse distribution for added money events may be held for a minimum of 15 days.
6. Woodbine Entertainment reserves the right to increase added monies at any time.
7. All races to be a distance of One Mile (1609 M) unless otherwise stated in the conditions.
8. If ELEVEN (11) horses or fewer declare to start, there will be no eliminations, and all declared horses will advance directly to the Final.
9. If TWELVE (12) or more horses declare to start, races will be contested with two or more eliminations. The finalists from the elimination will be those horses who finish highest in the official order of finish. Horses tied for the last eligible starting position or positions for the final event will be drawn by lot to constitute a ten-horse field. All horses that qualify will advance directly to the final. If eliminations are used to determine the finalists, post positions in the final will be determined by an open draw with the exception that the elimination winners, in an order determined by lot, may choose their post position for the Final. The owner(s), or designated agent, of each winner must select the post position by a time specified by the Racing Secretary, or that elimination winner will be placed in the open draw with the rest of the Final field.
10. For each series conducted (unless otherwise stated in conditions): the Final event will be limited to ten horses according to the highest money earnings in the series. All horses must declare in for the Final. If one of the ten highest money winners fails to declare in for the final, the next highest money winner declared will become eligible to the final. If the number of horses tied in money earnings for the last eligible starting position increases the field to more than ten horses, they will be drawn by lot to constitute a ten horse field. If enough money winners fail to declare in for the final, starters in the series that are not money winners and declared for the final may increase the field to ten horses, and such horses will be drawn by lot. If there is more than one division of the preliminary races, each division will race for 100% of the advertised purse. If there are more than 4 divisions of a preliminary leg, some divisions may be carried over to the next racing day.
11. One Also Eligible may be carried on the Final Event.
12. Ontario Sired means bred by a sire that was registered in the Ontario Sires Stakes program in the year of the breeding. **
13. U.S. Funds will be accepted at the fees designated on the stake conditions. U.S. funds will be converted to Canadian funds when deposited to the bank. U.S. funds will be converted at Woodbine Entertainment's internally published buying rate for US dollars.
14. Woodbine Entertainment may require all horses declared to its races to be on the grounds of Woodbine or Woodbine, Mohawk Park up to 48 hours prior to the race in which such horses are to start. These horses may be placed in a retention barn.
15. All post positions will be drawn by lot unless otherwise stated in the conditions.
16. In series races a leg or a race may be cancelled if less than five separate betting interests are declared to start or due to weather or track conditions. A cancellation of a leg will not affect the running of the remaining legs of the series.
17. All nominated or supplemented horses must be registered as twins that were carried by the natural mother to term, or the only foal of the dam in any given year, or if produced through embryo/ovum transfer, must be the donor mare's first born foal in any given year.
18. No Also Eligible will draw in to race after wagering has opened.
19. A breach of any of these General Racing Conditions and/or any applicable racing rules and policies of Woodbine Entertainment that are in effect at the time of racing may result in fines, suspension of privileges, the loss of any or all nomination fees, sustaining fees and/or starting fees, and/or eviction from the premises of Woodbine Entertainment.
20. Qualifying standards for all added money events are governed by the Rules of the Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario.
21. All nominating and all sustaining payments must be postmarked no later than due date. Failure to make a payment when it is due constitutes automatic withdrawal from the event. Woodbine Entertainment recommends that if payments are being mailed, that receipt of mailing is kept. It is suggested that payments be made by registered mail or be hand delivered to ensure safe delivery. Payment options are available online at www.woodbinentertainment.com/sbpayments.

Long Tom's book full and closed

Midland Acres has announced that the 2021 book for the multiple stakes winning Long Tom, a son of Muscle Hill, is full and closed.

Long Tom's oldest foals are 2-year-olds in 2021 and they will make their highly anticipated racing debut later this summer. He was the second leading trotting sire in yearling average at the 2020 Ohio Selected Jug Sale and the sire of the sale's top priced trotting yearling at $80,000.

A multiple Grand Circuit stakes winner at 2 and 3, Long Tom 3, 1:52.1 ($410,513) is by the sport's leading trotting sire, Muscle Hill and he is the second foal of Ilia, her first being multiple stakes winner Tight Lines 1:51.2f ($618,716). Long Tom is also a half-brother to Breeders Crown runner-up In Range 2, 1:54.1 ($411,003) and a full brother to Tippet, who sold for $400,000 at the 2020 Standardbred Horse Sale. Ilia is from the maternal family of Yankee Duchess, the third dam of Muscle Hill, thus Long Tom carries three doses of this modern foundation mare with a 4x5x5 cross.

Midland Acres extends a sincere thank you to Long Tom's shareholders and the breeders that have supported him over the past four breeding seasons.

First round of the M Life Rewards Gents Pacing Series held at Yonkers

Dragon Said and Retour Au Jeu picked up new lifetime marks in winning their respective $15,000 splits in the first leg of the M Life Rewards Gents Pacing Series on Wednesday night (March 3) at Yonkers Raceway.

Driven by Joe Bongiorno in the final division, Dragon Said moved out of the pocket to take the lead away from Sailboat Hanover (George Brennan) going to the :28.3 opening quarter. Dragon Said, sent off as the 8-5 second choice, continued on the engine to the half in 58 seconds and the three-quarters in 1:26.1, then drew off powerfully in the final quarter, widening to prevail by seven lengths in 1:53.1. Sailboat Hanover wound up second, and favored My Pal Joe (Alek Chartrand) had to settle for third after stalling out from first-up on the last turn.

Trained by Jenn Bongiorno for owner Robert Devine, Dragon Said is a 4-year-old Well Said gelding. This was his fifth career win, and he has now earned $38,732. Dragon Said paid $5.50 to win. The exacta was worth $20.00, and trifecta returned $28.00.

Retour Au Jeu (Jordan Stratton) raced in the second section, and he watched from fourth as Odds On Brexit (Tyler Buter), Rolling With Sam (Brennan), and Got The Mojo (Matt Kakaley) all had a turn on the front through a snappy 27 second opening quarter. Once the dust settled, Stratton guided Retour Au Jeu to the outside, and he was able to brush to the point before the 56.1 half. Retour Au Jeu then successfully withstood a first-over try from Odds On Brexit to the 1:24.2 three-quarters before he paced away to a 2 1/2 length verdict in 1:53.4. Rolling With Sam was up for second, and Trevor's Ace (Scott Zeron) got third at 64-1.

Dennis Laterza trains Retour Au Jeu, a 4-year-old He's Watching gelding, for owner Latz A Luck Stable. Retour Au Jeu now has a record of 8-5-6 from 24 lifetime starts, and he has banked $48,768. Retour Au Jeu, the 3-2 favorite, returned $5.00 to win. The exacta returned $19.80, and the trifecta kicked back $259.50.

Even-money second choice Scootnroll (Buter) turned a second-over trip into a 1:56.1 triumph in the first flight. He beat Panther Time (Joe Bongiorno), who led through panels of 28.2, 58.4, and 1:27.4, by a length and a half, and Gonnahaveonemore (Brett Holland) saved third after a pocket trip.

A 4-year-old gelded son of Roll With Joe, Scootnroll is trained by Todd Buter for owners Rick and Geoff Howles. Scootnroll is now an 11-time winner from 21 trips behind the gate, and he has pocketed $64,264. Scootnroll paid $4.20 to win. The exacta returned $10.60, and the trifecta was good for $18.00.

Rounding out Wednesday night's winners in the M Life Gents Pacing Series was Lou's Sweetrevenge (Brennan). After racing in fourth through stations of :27.1, :56.2, and 1:24.2, Brennan had Lou's Sweetrevenge off the cones before three-quarters. Lou's Sweetrevenge gained into third on the last turn, rallied past tiring leader Cigar Smoking Tony (Jason Bartlett) in the stretch, and hit the line a length and three-quarters to the good in 1:54. Diamondbeach (Zeron) advanced from last to second in the back-half of the mile, and Cigar Smoking Tony wound up third.

Lou's Sweetrevenge is a 4-year-old Sweet Lou gelding trained by Ron Burke for owners Burke Racing Stable LLC., Phil Collura, J&T Silva- Purnel & Libby, and Weaver Brussemi LLC. Lou's Sweetrevenge posted his sixth win in his 36th lifetime effort, and he now shows earnings of $98,403. Lou's Sweetrevenge, who returned $5.30 to win as the 8-5 second choice, headed a $21.80 exacta and a $51.00 trifecta.

The M Life Gents Pacing Series continues with preliminary round action the next two Wednesdays (March 10 and 17), and the final is slated for March 24.

M Life Rewards Ladies Pacing Series begins at Yonkers

The M Life Rewards Ladies Pacing Series kicked off on Tuesday night (March 2) at Yonkers Raceway with a trio of $15,000 divisions that were won by Flirty Forty, Dragon Roll, and Turnthefrownaround.

Flirty Forty (Matt Kakaley), sent off at 21-1 in the first split, sat third while 1-9 favorite Pettycoat Business (George Brennan) led through fractions of :28.1, :57.1, and 1:25.3. Sound Idea (Scott Zeron) stalked Pettycoat Business from the pocket and then tipped out two-wide before they turned into the lane, with Flirty Forty tracking Sound Idea's bid before going three-wide in the stretch. It was a thrilling battle to the wire, but in the end Flirty Forty had the best kick, getting up to win by a head in 1:55 1. Sound Idea was second, and Pettycoat Business had to settle for third.

Mark Ford trains Flirty Forty, a 4-year-old daughter of American Ideal, for owner Bay Pond Racing Stable. This was her fourth career win, and she has now earned $42,452. Flirty Forty paid $45.40 to win, the 2-1 exacta returned $171.00, and the trifecta kicked back $406.00.

4-5 favorite Dragon Roll (Jason Bartlett) dashed to the lead from post five and put up stations of :28.2, :58.3, and 1:27.1 in the next section. Despite the well-rated tempo, Dragon Roll had to dig in determinedly in the last quarter, initially to fend off a first-over try from Pray The Rosary (Brent Holland), and then to deal with a big close from Break The Deal (Zeron) through the stretch. Although she made the chalk players and her connections sweat it out, the wire came up in time for Dragon Roll to tally over Break The Deal by a nose in a 1:57.1 mile. Pray The Rosary held third.

Dragon Roll is a 4-year-old Roll With Joe mare owned and trained by Ricky Bucci. Dragon Roll now sports a record of 4-4-8 from 21 career tries, and she has pocketed $149,073. Dragon Roll returned $3.70 to win. The 5-6 exacta paid $29.00 and the trifecta of 5-6-8 was worth $357.50.

The last flight saw Somebeachsomefra (Zeron) pop out of the pocket to take over command from Special Achiever (Bartlett) on the way to the :28.3 opening quarter. Somebeachsomefra would continue to front the field to the half in 58 seconds and the three-quarters in 1:26.3, with even-money choice Turnthefrownaround (Brennan) vacating the cones out of third early on the last turn. Somebeachsomefra still had a clear advantage turning for home and responded when Zeron called on her in the lane, but Turnthefrownaround wore her down in deep stretch to prevail by a neck in 1:56. There was a dead-heat for third between Special Achiever and Off The Press (Jordan Stratton).

The winner is another 4-year-old by Roll With Joe and is trained by Ron Burke for owners Burke Racing Stable LLC., Weaver Brussemi LLC., and Phil Collura. Turnthefrownaround scored her fifth victory in her 30th trip behind the gate, and she has now banked $129,660. Turnthefrownaround returned $4.30 to win. The exacta paid $11.40, and the two trifectas kicked back $21.60 (Special Achiever third) and $39.40 (Off The Press third).

The M Life Rewards Ladies Pacing Series has additional preliminary legs on Tuesday (March 9) and Tuesday (March 16), and the final is slated for March 23.

The boys take their turn in the M Life Rewards Gents Pacing Series on Wednesday night's (March 3) 10-race card at Yonkers, competing in four divisions of their first round.

Big M hoping handle streak extends

Despite a month of crippling winter weather and the re-opening of racing in Ontario two weeks ago, betting at The Meadowlands has stayed on a roll. In fact, tonight (March 5) night, management is hoping to up the track's streak of wagering at least $3 million to an impressive 10th consecutive program.

"We say it often," said Big M chief operating officer and general manager Jason Settlemyer. "But horseplayers have really responded in a big way to our low takeout wagering menu. With six of our popular 15 per cent takeout wagers being offered every night, it has given players a more realistic chance to turn a profit, making The Big M the best place to play.”

The streak backs up Settlemoir’s words. After wagering on Friday, Jan. 29 was a rock-solid $2.93 million, every card since has seen betting of over $3 million.

Saturday nights in February were especially vigorous, with the four programs taking in a total of just over $15 million, an average of $3.75 million a night.

During February of 2020, betting was superb on Saturdays at $2.79 million per card, but still approximately $1 million short of this year’s returns.

Fridays during February were also fabulous, taking in an average of $3.1 million a card, which was a half-million more than was pushed through the windows a year ago, which saw just under $2.6 million.

The last eight Big M programs have seen average nightly wagering of $3.437 million and a per race of $249,987. A year ago, over the same span, betting was $2.695 million and $207,354.

“Low takeout is a horseplayers best avenue to being a winner,” said Settlemoir. “Take our 50-cent Pick-4, which has a 15 percent takeout. If you are playing the Pick-4 at another track that has a 25 percent takeout, you ask yourself: ‘All things being equal, if I switch to The Big M’s Pick-4, my winnings increase at least 10 per cent from the track with the 25 per cent rake. What reason is there to bet a Pick-4 with that takeout if I am serious about being a winning player?’”

WEATHERING THE WEATHER: “We have to acknowledge our track crew here at The Meadowlands,” said Settlemoir. “February was a terrible month weather-wise. Standardbred racing had an enormous amount of weather and track-related cancellations all over the Northeast during the month and we never missed a day of racing. Our horsemen had tough journeys on the road and always managed to brave the elements to put on the show for horseplayers around the world. We are proud of the work our track crew did and appreciate all that the horsemen do, which the entire sport appreciates very much.”

LITTLE TO ANNOUNCE: Big M TV’s Dave Little will take a turn in the booth up on the roof, and “Borrow Ken Warkentin’s Binoculars” by providing the race calls tonight. Warkentin will be back on Saturday.

RISI’S IN TOWN: Brett Risi, the Regional Racing Operations Manager at Tioga Downs and Vernon Downs, will be on set at The Big M this weekend and serve as co-host of the live presentation on both Friday and Saturday night.

FREE PPs: “Speaking of horse players,” said Settlemoir. “The Big M has stepped up and comped everyone a program every night through the Hambletonian Day card. The free program is available if players go to our website, playmeadowlands.com. We at The Meadowlands are grateful to all of our fans for their support.”

THE SCHEDULE: Live racing at The Meadowlands takes place every Friday and Saturday evening. Post time is 6 p.m.

The track’s live “Racing from the Meadowlands” pre-game show begins at 5:27 p.m.

GET SOCIAL: You can always check in with the team at The Meadowlands on Twitter.

For early changes, racing information and staff selections, go to @themeadowlands or #playbigm.

On race nights, stay in touch with the Big M’s Dave Brower (@eedoogie), Little (@DaveLittleBigM), Ken Warkentin (@kenvoiceover), Shades Demsky (@shadesonracing) and Otten (@JessicaOtten1).

CAN’T MAKE IT TO THE TRACK? There are several options for those who would rather catch the action from The Big M at home.

Racing fans can watch all the races live on the Roberts Television Network (rtn.tv). In addition, they can watch and wager by going to the Television Games Network (tvgn.com) or their favorite Advance-deposit Wagering site (ADW).

CHECK OUT THE PICKS: For those who need to get a leg up on the action, go to playmeadowlands.com to see track oddsmaker and analyst Brower’s selections and commentary. Click on the “handicapping” tab and go to “race reviews”.

Brower’s input is generally available 48 hours before every card.

Additionally, track announcer Warkentin’s blog is available on the site and offers his picks and analysis.

$100,000 GUARANTEED: Every night, The Meadowlands guarantees big green on both editions of its signature wager, as each 50-cent Pick-4 sports a $50,000 guaranteed pool.

Tritton and Balcerak trainees lead Borgata, Blue Chip Matchmaker nominations

A pair of new names have entered the most horses in the 2021 editions of the MGM Borgata and Blue Chip Matchmaker series to be contested at Yonkers Raceway throughout March and April. Both newcomers to the stakes scene, trainer Shane Tritton has seven horses between the two events and Neil Balcerak has five in the Borgata.

A total of 46 horses nominated for the 2021 Borgata (nee Levy) and 20 were made eligible to the Matchmaker. Both events were canceled last year due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

With four in the Borgata and three in the Matchmaker, the Down Under native Tritton is feeling good about his chances and excited about his first stakes action since arriving in the U.S. less than a year ago.

"I'm 100 per cent looking forward to the series. It is very close to the Inter Dominion back home where you have to go four runs in a row. It is a war of attrition, but it is good to have something to work through. I'm looking forward to the challenge," said Tritton.

Tritton's male quartet in the Borgata include 2019 Borgata champion Western Fame, Pat Stanley N, Bronx Seelster and Yayas Hot Spot N. His mare trio is formed by Lady Dela Renta A, Maczaffair N and My Ruebe Star N.

"This has always been the goal for these horses," said Tritton. "Western Fame, Bronx Seelster and Pat Stanley are starting to hit their stride at the right time and the mares have been racing at a high level. Yayas Hot Spot just needs more racing."

Neil Balcerak has been training horses on a limited basis since 2015 but is getting his first taste of stakes action in a big way. He paid the $5,000 nomination fee on five horses, all of which he owns in partnership with another newcomer to the game, Matthew Morrison.

"Matt is new to the business. He did well on his first horse and wanted to take a shot," said Balcerak about entering so many horses. "He is a fresh owner to the game. He really enjoyed owning his first horse (Jahan Hanover) and now he goes to the track a couple of times a week. Having a new owner is great for the game.

"We bought a couple of nice ones over the summer and we had a few others we just wanted to give a shot to because there wasn't much available for the horses to race for good money," continued Balcerak on entering five horses.

Balcerak, who said he started out small as a trainer with just some county fair horses, is hoping for good things from all five of his Borgata entrants. He has the highest hopes for Caviart Rockland and The Wall, who was fifth in the 2019 Borgata. The 37-year-old Pennsylvania native also has Indictable Hanover, Jahan Hanover and Esai Hanover in the series.

The Borgata, which begins on March 15 with the first of five legs raced in $40,000 divisions, is loaded with talent. The list includes 2019 Breeders Crown winner American History, who is standing at Walnridge Farm and is expecting to pull double-duty as a stallion and racehorse this year. Three-year-old Ohio standout Ocean Rock makes his first journey outside of the Buckeye state and is one of three newcomers to the Nancy Takter barn in the series.

Undoubtedly one of the favorites going into the opening round will be overseas import Let It Ride N. The Richard 'Nifty' Norman-trained 8-year-old has won all six of his starts since coming to America including an impressive 1:52 1/5 win at Yonkers on January 11.

"He'll be a handful for anybody," said Norman about Let It Ride N. "I'm sure others will be ready, but he proved he gets around the track very well."

Alexa Skye, who joined the Jeff Cullipher barn before a recent second-place finish at Yonkers in the Open Handicap, is certainly one of the favorites going into the March 12 opening leg of the Blue Chip Matchmaker. She has won three of five starts in 2021 and has never finished worse than second.

The Borgata and Matchmaker both feature five legs and culminate with finals and consolations on Monday, April 19.

A complete list of the eligible horses can be found here.

Some of the harness racing horsemen in the backstretch at Pompano Park Wednesday morning (March 3) received a pleasant visit from representatives of the Florida Chapter of the United States Harness Writers Association.

Whiskey Blu still unbeaten after The Meadows series score

Whiskey Blu stretched his career unbeaten streak to five with an in-hand victory in Thursday's (March 4) Dale McConnell Memorial Trot at The Meadows. Massive Stroke took the other $10,000 opening-leg division in the series for 3- and 4-year-old colts, horses and geldings.

The event honors the memory of Dale McConnell, who earned the nickname "Mr. Trot" for his success developing and campaigning trotters.

Unraced at 2, Whiskey Blu launched his career Jan. 21 and has waltzed through conditions; the Southwind Frank-Kendall Blue gelding has rolled up a combined victory margin of 15-1/4 lengths over those five wins. In the McConnell, Dan Charlino — his pilot for all five starts — sent Whiskey Blu to the point at the quarter. He drew away from The Funk late and defeated him by 2-3/4 lengths in 1:56.3. Laramie rallied for show.

Ron Burke trains Whiskey Blu for Burke Racing Stable, Kitefield Stable and Weaver Bruscelli LLC.

Palm Springs and Whom Shall I Love each took a $10,000 opening-leg split of the Mary Wohlmut Memorial Trot series for 3- and 4-year-old filly and mare trotters, which commemorates the long-time manager of the 2:00 Club at The Meadows.

Hammered down to 2-5, Palm Springs justified the support with a facile front-end score in 1:58 for Dave Palone, trainer Kevin Johnson and owner Richard Briskey. The 4-year-old daughter of Father Patrick-Hot Springs captured her second straight, defeating Elysian Promise and Friday Night Storm.

Whom Shall I Love provided the day's tote board theatrics, upsetting at 16-1 with a charge through the Lightning Lane for Aaron Merriman and trainer Charley Myers, who owns the 4-year-old daughter of Whom Shall I Fear-Bars Dutchess with Randy Stevenson, Dana Phillips and James Phillips. She prevailed in 1:57.1, with early leader Wonmyheart Hanover and Graymatter Hanover completing the ticket.

Palone collected five wins and Burke three on the 13-race card.
