Owner Richard Matthews lives on through champion Catch A Wave

Last Saturday, the pacer posted an emotional victory in the $1 million Miracle Mile near Sydney.

The late Richard Matthews (right) after his beloved Catch A Wave won the Breeders Crown Final in 2021 at Tabcorp Park.

Andy Gath won't forget a phone call he got back on Sep. 29, last year.

The outstanding 54-year-old Victorian trainer saw the name "Richard Matthews" come up on his phone and excitedly answered to chat with one of his favorite and most loyal owners.

But this was to be a devastating conversation.

"Richard rang to say he'd been given 48 hours to live," Gath said. "It wasn't a long conversation, sort of a goodbye, really, and thank you. But it was also an assurance. He wanted the horses I had for him, especially Catch A Wave, to race on. That I wasn't to let anyone in his family sell them.

"It's the most confronting call I've ever had. He was always a strong, composed man, but he was in tears, and it was hard to know what to say back, other than, 'Thank you.'"

Matthews, who had battled major health issues for many years, died less than 24 hours later.

The timing was tragically cruel given that Gath was starting to think one of Matthews' pacers, then 3-year-old Catch A Wave, was the best pacer he had trained through a stellar career of more than 30 years.

Catch A Wave (Kate Gath) winning the $A1 million Miracle Mile on Saturday at the Menangle track near Sydney.

Sure, Matthews had seen Catch A Wave win some big races, like the 2YO Breeders Crown and the 3YO Australian Pacing Gold Bullion final, but Gath had an inkling they were just a hint of what was to come.

And he was right.

Catch A Wave has since added three more Group 1 victories, most notably the huge Chariots Of Fire/Miracle Mile double at Menangle in recent weeks.

Gath continually tries to focus on the positives out of an obviously otherwise brutal negative: that the passionate, fun-loving Matthews hasn't been around to see Catch A Wave become the most exciting pacer in this part of the world.

"It's bittersweet, there's no doubt about that," Gath said. "You can't help but always wish Richard was there and how much it would mean to him. But the other side of it is that Catch A Wave has given Richard's wife, Pauline and the family something to hang on to him by.

"Watching 'Tex' (Catch A Wave's stable name) race in and win big races has brought the family close together around something Richard was so passionate about, through a very hard time for them all. It's wonderful to see the joy and happiness a horse like this can bring to the family when they are still hurting from losing Richard."

Pauline can't go to the races because, as she said: "It was our thing, something Richard and I always did together. It just doesn't feel right."

Matthews' son David was trackside for the Chariots Of Fire and Miracle Mile and admits he now finally understands why his father loved his horses so much.

"I just didn't get it," David said. "It wasn't my thing, but Catch A Wave has opened my eyes to it. I see it now. I get it."

And those eyes were popping as Catch A Wave blasted to the lead and beat Australia's best pacers in last Saturday night's (March 4) $A1 million Miracle Mile in a 1:48.8 mile around the 1,400 meter Menangle track near Sydney.

“It’s bittersweet, there’s no doubt about that. You can’t help but always wish Richard was there and how much it would mean to him. But the other side of it is that Catch A Wave has given Richard’s wife, Pauline and the family something to hang on to him by.”

~ Andy Gath

Remarkably, it was only Gath’s second Miracle Mile starter despite his distinguished career. The other, Hearts Legend, finished fifth in 2002.

And for his wife, champion driver Kate Gath, it was her first drive in arguably the best known and sexiest race Down Under.

Kate became just the fourth female to drive a Miracle Mile winner, following Natalie Rasmussen (Have Faith In Me, 2016), Jodi Quinlan (Sokyola, 2004) and Kellie Kersley (Norms Daughter, 1996).

She was already the winningest female Group 1 driver in Australia.

“It feels like it’s all just happened so quickly,” Kate said. “The Miracle Mile was never on the radar, but when he won the Chariots Of Fire so well, we had to have a crack at it. It’s so hard just to get a [starter] in the race. It’s only a field of eight and for so long there were only six.

“To have a drive in it was amazing, to win has blown me away. It’s just such a special win for us. We love this horse, have since day one and the connection back through Richard and now his family just makes it mean so much more. Sure we’d all love Richard to be here and enjoying it, but what a legacy this horse is providing for him and what amazing things he’s doing for us all.”

Catch A Wave, a son of Captaintreacherous, hasn’t been the easiest horse to train, including a tendency to over race and even a serious reluctance to want to turn around in the score-up behind the mobile start.

Just when Team Gath thought he had grown out of that, he almost ruined his Miracle Mile before it started last Saturday night.

As the field neared the release point, Catch A Wave was about 100 meters away, but had fortunately got a rein tangled and an attendant alerted the starter who called a false start.

In take two, he pounced on the lead and the rest is history.

“He’s got a lot better in so many ways, but he’s still got his quirks as he showed the other night,” Andy said. “But the fact he was able to burn a :25.5 first quarter to lead and then relax and back off to a :29.2 second split shows how far he’s come. Even six months ago, he would’ve just kept on trucking if Kate had [gone] a first split like that.”

Catch A Wave, who boasts 17 wins from just 22 starts and $A1,123,120 in earnings, now gets a break before another almighty challenge in the world’s richest harness race.

That’s the inaugural $2.1 million TAB Eureka at Menangle on Sep. 2.

In a promoter’s dream, it shapes up as an epic race with such a strong crop of 4-year-olds – headed by Catch A Wave, Leap To Fame and Captain Ravishing – heading the favorites for the race restricted to Australian-bred 3- and 4-year-old pacers only.

“The main reason we set him for the Chariots Of Fire to be honest was to give him some experience travelling away and racing at Menangle, where the Eureka will be run,” Gath said. “That plan certainly turned out to be so much more with him winning the Chariots and the Miracle Mile, we hadn’t even thought about it until he won the Chariots and that got him a ticket into the Mile.

“He’ll be back racing in late July I’d say for a couple of lead-up races we’ll give here at home (Melton near Melbourne) before we go back up to Menangle for the Eureka.”

Remembering Boulder Creek as an all-time best

by Brett Sturman

It's easy in harness racing to be nostalgic. A reflection of the changing times, a lot of conversation around the sport today consists of reminiscing of people and horses from ages ago. I don't have the perspective to go back as far as some, but in the case of the passing of Boulder Creek (Rustler Hanover) announced this week, I couldn't help but do some level of reflection.

Though no direct attachment to the horse — I can't even recall a story that involved cashing a ticket on him either — what first struck me was a video of the 2007 Ben Franklin Pace posted on the Tetrack Racing Facebook page the other day, which included Tetrack's commentary from that winning drive. Perhaps it was a throwback to the original Harrah's Chester simulcast graphics, the call of the race itself by original track announcer James Witherite (one of his best calls, by the way) or just the quality of the horses in that race; it had all the looks and feels of a classic. Though now over 15 years removed from that race, it seems like it was just yesterday.

In that inaugural Ben Franklin, coming in the first full calendar year of racing at Chester, a 7-year-old Boulder Creek tracked cover every step of the best aged pacer during that time, Lis Mara, and was able to just outfight him in a stirring stretch drive that included future Hall of Fame drivers, Tetrack and Brian Sears. That race set a then-track record of 1:48.3, equaled a world record and when put together with all other accomplishments throughout his storied career, it must be considered as to where Boulder Creek rates as not only one of the best pacers during that time, but as an all-time great.

With career earnings of over $3.4 million, Boulder Creek retired in 2010 as the 10th richest pacer ever. The only other pacer to have earned over $3 million lifetime while having more career starts than Boulder Creek (173) is Foiled Again. It speaks to Boulder Creek's ability of not just being great but being great for such a long period of time.

Whereas many of the sport's best race primarily in the spring through fall, Boulder Creek had seasons where he raced entirely around the calendar. As a 4-year-old, Boulder Creek started his season in the Willowdale winter series at Woodbine on Jan. 3. From there, he continued winter series racing at The Meadowlands in the Aquarius and kept going all the way through that year into November. He was one of those rare horses that could race throughout the early season winters and still beat the best of them in the summer.

A modest yearling sold for just $35,000, from the beginning of his career as a 2-year-old in 2002, there was seldom a time over the next eight years in which he didn't compete against the best the sport had to offer at those times. During a freshman campaign in Ontario that saw him winning over $300,000, he beat eventual 2-year-old O'Brien winner Sir Luck multiple times, including in the Champlain Stakes at Woodbine. As a 3-year-old, he made his first appearance stateside when he won his Berry's Creek elimination at The Meadowlands before losing by a head in the Berry's Creek final (Artesian). A Meadowlands Pace elimination winner shortly thereafter, it was obvious that Boulder Creek was here to stay as a top horse against anyone in North America. A talented sophomore, it wasn't until his 4-year-old season where his legend started to grow.

As an older pacer over the next few years, he threw down in the sports free-for-all wars. He repeatedly battled with the likes of, in no particular order: Artistic Fella, Shark Gesture, Life Source, Ponder, Primetime Bobcat, Holborn Hanover and certainly not least, Lis Mara and Mister Big. In a way, Boulder Creek was almost a bridge competing against some of the best whose careers started prior to the turn of the century, to some of the more modern crops that were introduced towards the end of his career. Take Life Source as one of those examples. Regarded as one of the higher quality horses from the early-mid 2000's, he began his career in 1999 as a 2-year-old. His career numbers as far as starts and wins are almost identical to Boulder Creek. Both have the same number of 173 career starts, with Boulder Creek having just two more wins (42 to 40). But for perspective, what Boulder Creek did by racing at the highest levels for as long as he did was nearly double the lifetime earnings of Life Source. Boulder Creek's two highest earning years came in his 4- and 5-year-old seasons, but more important than those earnings were the quality of horses that he beat those years to do it. In winning both Open Breeders Crowns back-to-back as well as all other stakes won during that time, you could argue that the quality of that aged pacing group was as good as any other group from top to bottom in recent times. I'd put up Mr. Big and Lis Mara alone against any two older pacing horses from the same year and that's the type of competition that Boulder Creek almost always fought against.

The richest race Boulder Creek won was the 2004 Breeders Crown at The Meadowlands. Upsetting in that race at odds of 20-1 with Ron Pierce aboard, an interesting footnote to that race was that while he paid $42 to win, Boulder Creek paid close to $150 to place, and would have paid even more if not for a dead heat for second. It was the result of 1-9 favorite Four Starzzz Shark coming up shockingly empty, ending his long winning streak coming into the Breeders Crown. The next year, however, saw order restored. And when Boulder Creek returned to the Breeders Crown, this time at Woodbine, he was the 4-5 odds-on favorite and delivered with the aid of a perfect second-over trip given by Brian Sears. He would win Dan Patch honors that year as well.

Whereas many of the sport's best race primarily in the spring through fall, Boulder Creek had seasons where he raced entirely around the calendar. Marie-Claude Auger: Big track comeback

by Melissa Keith

On Aug. 15, 2022, Dark Moves wired the field in going-away style at Woodbine Mohawk Park (WMP), taking a new 1:54.3s personal best that remains the 5-year-old pacer's lifetime mark. Marie-Claude Auger was in the sulky that night, taking part in a special race for female drivers. Although Dark Moves was the 6-1 fifth choice on the morning line, bettors were clearly familiar with Auger's resume from Rideau Carleton Raceway and Dark Moves went off as the 8-5 favorite in the field of nine.

After the Mohawk victory, Auger suddenly went dark as a driver, her moves coming to a concerning standstill. She finally returned Nov. 10 at Rideau Carleton, her popularity as a catch driver undiminished by the absence.

March 9, she returned to pari-mutuel action on Canada's biggest stage, taking part in her first race since the 2022 Rideau meet concluded on Dec. 18. Auger said she was thrilled to be back for Thursday's International Women's Day events, driving Always N The Money (race 1) and The Devil You Know (race 3) in the two races for female drivers, each with an eight-horse field of $7,000 claiming pacers.

"It's a big deal for me to return to Mohawk for International Women's Day," Auger said. "Being at Mohawk, driving with the girls, it's twice as special. Expect a nice competition." (The Quebec native said she was most comfortable answering questions in French. Her responses were translated afterwards for this article).

Last year, favorite Mach My Kiss and driver Natasha "Nat" Day won Woodbine Mohawk Park's International Women's Day race, with 8-5 second choice Blink And Gone finishing second for Jessica Turenne. Auger closed for show with 13-1 shot Stargazing Cruiser. All three drivers were back in the 2023 renewals, competing in both races alongside Samara Johnson and Kayla Chappell. Maggie Jones, Julie Walker, Pam Forgie, T. Marielle Enberg, Anita Ouellette and Debi O'Brien Moran each had one drive (results unavailable before press time).

"I grew up in the world of harness racing, but my career plan had not been driving. I had one horse at the time. One day, on impulse, I decided to get my license, to be able to drive. The whole process was done quickly and I started to drive for other trainers afterwards."

~ Marie-Claude Auger

Now in her early 40s, Auger reflected on how she made the still-unconventional choice to become a catch driver. While she has trained horses professionally since 2000, collecting 258 victories in 1,731 starts, the Rideau Carleton regular has also won 524 of her 4,396 pari-mutuel drives over those years, winning $2,266,183 in purses since 2001.

"I grew up in the world of harness racing, but my career plan had not been driving," Auger said. "I had one horse at the time. One day, on impulse, I decided to get my license, to be able to drive. The whole process was done quickly and I started to drive for other trainers afterwards."

Auger started out on the circuit régional des courses de chevaux du Québec (CRCCQ), in a June 17, 2001 race, warmly recalled by her friend Ghislain Paquet, the multi-talented race caller, Passion Courses racing journalist, and Woodbine Mohawk Park handicapper.

"During my very first career race in 2001, in the sulky at St-Sylvere, I narrowly won the race with Marquisedevidence," Paquet said. "In the same race, Marie-Claude finished second with Cams A Lady Luck, while well-known owner Francois Morin [current owner of National Debt (p,3,1:49.4h; $641,006)] finished fifth with State Of Alarm. What a beautiful memory! I think it was the first lifetime drive for Marie-Claude too."

Cams A Lady Luck (p, 4, 2:00.1h; $21,215) and Auger teamed up again for her first winning drive, on July 15, 2001, in a St-Edouard circuit regional event. Her UDRS of 0.395 that year hinted at the career path ahead. By 2006, she had more starts as a driver than as a trainer, competing mainly in Quebec before becoming an established catch driver at Rideau Carleton.

When she hit the wire with Dark Moves at Woodbine Mohawk Park last August, Auger savored the moment.

"No, it wasn't my first win at Mohawk, although this win made me extremely happy," Auger said. "I have already won with one of my trainees."

That trainee was her own Sans Frontiere (p, 5, 1:52.4s; $219,567), who took a new lifetime mark at Mohawk on Sep. 28, 2012.

"Sans Frontiere is the mare who remains most special to me," Auger said. "We have always won races together and races that weren't easy. She was a hard worker. She is forever on my mind and in my heart."

Auger shared that her three-month absence from the racetrack in 2022 was connected to an earlier racing accident.

"A few days after my victory at Mohawk last year, I had a thrombosis [a blood clot blocking a blood vessel] near my collarbone, which caused problems in my right arm," Auger said. "I was hospitalized and I had to rest for three months."

"Which I found very long, by the way. The thrombosis would have been caused by an accident in which I was involved a few months before. Now I'm doing well."

Auger has enjoyed past success in the Mildred Williams Series, which honored the pioneering namesake reinswoman with a touring competition for women drivers. At this point in her career, she can look back on multiple milestones as a trainer and driver.

"There are many races that are memorable for me," Auger said. "The 'Les Cinq Mille' race is one."

She was referring to the famous five-mile race that used to be held at Hippodrome de Quebec, which has since relocated to the circuit regional.

Auger became the first woman to win the race in 2016, capturing the 106th edition at Hippodrome de la Vallée in Saint-Aimé-des-Lacs, QC with pacer Three Rockets. She described it as "a show and a race that's out of the ordinary," evoking "good feelings" in participants and audience alike.

Expect no less when Auger returned to the big track Thursday night, a triumphant return regardless of whether her horses won at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

The “image” of excellence

Terry Tauffner has become a security blanket for The Meadowlands and the Hambletonian Society.

by Debbie Little

You may not know the name Terry Tauffner, but you know her work.

Tauffner's company, Corporate Images, Inc., has been working with The Meadowlands for 20-plus years and although what she's provided has changed and increased over the years, the quality and attention to detail has remained consistent.

"She's done everything for us: t-shirts, long sleeves, hats, bags, jackets, [drinking] glasses," said Rachel Ryan, The Meadowlands' director of marketing and event operations. "Especially, things that we need to have a rush on. Lately it's been, 'I need this by the end of the week,' or 'I need this in two weeks,' and she comes through every time."

Tauffner, 59, a native of Dutchess County, NY, started her business in 1996 with an embroidery machine in her garage and built her way up to her current location in neighboring Newburgh, NY, which she refers to as her "barn."

"Every time we expanded to do certain things ourselves, it was so much better because it enabled me to be really sure of the quality control that I was getting," Tauffner said. "I would farm stuff out and get it back and it was unacceptable, so I really started wanting to have more control over the quality control end of it."

Courtesy Hambletonian Society

An example of the blanket work by Terry Tauffner's Corporate Images, Inc.

Tauffner's company is a WBENC certified women-owned business and according to the WBENC (Women's Business Enterprise National Council) website: "WBENC certification is the most widely recognized and respected national certification for women-owned businesses in the U.S."

As demand for different products has increased, Tauffner has changed with the times, adding screen printing equipment, a laser engraver, a sand carver, a vinyl cutter and heat presses.

In 1998, she started her relationship with The Meadowlands — then run by the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority (NJSEA) — working with the late Norma Campbell, among others, to provide gifts, including the annual Hambletonian commemorative glasses.

Moira Fanning, director of publicity/chief operating officer for the Hambletonian Society, had nothing but praise for her dealings with Tauffner, especially when it came to reliability.

"I never worry whether I give it to her three months or three days ahead of time that it's going to be there," Fanning said. "Sometimes she'll drive it up in her car, but it'll be there."

According to Fanning, Tauffner did some corporate gifts for the Hambletonian Society and when they were looking for someone to do their blankets, Tauffner stepped up.

"We were struggling for a supplier both in the U.S. and Canada because the companies we used just petered out," Fanning said. "In Canada, we used to use Victory Lane, which everyone did and they went out of business, I want to say, maybe 10 years ago. Terry's pretty much risen to the occasion of whatever we've thrown at her."

Tauffner has done blankets now for several different tracks, in addition to The Meadowlands, including Dayton Raceway, Woodbine Mohawk Park and Yonkers Raceway. It's something she did because there was a need for it and it wasn't easy to do at the start because it required research and effort.

"There's really only one manufacturer — they're manufactured domestically — and I was able to find that manufacturer, get the blankets, decorate them and give them what they wanted by building a relationship with the manufacturer," Tauffner said. "Because we decorate in-house, we can do that. We can establish relationships directly with manufacturers and cut out the middleman, so to speak, to be able to do everything here and cut down the cost."

"Twenty years ago, I think, she was paying more for the blankets than what I charge her today. The Meadowlands as well."

It's the special, personal touches that Tauffner provides that both Fanning and Ryan appreciate.

"She customized our Breeders Crown watches so they're not just a generic watch in a box," Fanning said.

The Crown watches, presented to the winning caretakers, are engraved by Tauffner and presented in a small tack trunk with the BC logo.

Tauffner also suggested an update to the Hambletonian and Crown blankets, which Fanning wasn't sure about at first.

"The blankets used to be satin, real satin, which was very heavy and very expensive and I think she's the one who talked us into doing a synthetic fabric which I didn't want to do," Fanning said with a laugh. "But she promised that it would look and feel exactly like satin and it did and she's modified the snaps to snap onto the bike."

"She's very accommodating, very flexible and a very pleasant person, which is always great in a vendor."

“It’s my business, so I have a personal stake in it and I want everything that walks out the door – whether it’s a $5 lapel pin or a $500 blanket or trophy – I want everything to look perfect and I guess that’s how I’ve stayed in business this long. I make a decent living doing what I do, and I don’t need to be ridiculous in what I charge customers, especially my existing customers that I’ve developed relationships with.”

~ Terry Tauffner

According to Tauffner, those blankets are still satin, but her knowledge of her business has made them better.

“[Moir] still gets bridal satin blankets so the quality is still the same,” Tauffner said. “What we did was step up the decorating process. The lady in Canada was making these big heavy bulky transfers and they were really thick and were printed with ink. Now what we do, is we actually dye the fabric of the blanket with her Hambletonian logo every year and we’re able to get it so that you could feel it and you would never even know there was a logo on there.

“Again, that goes back to our expertise and our experience in the industry and trying to find the best means of decorating and customizing for our customers.”

Although Tauffner did not grow up in the harness racing business she does have a connection to horses.

“My husband played polo and my daughter at 5, had her first little palomino pony, so we lived a little in the horse world and just have a real passion for it,” Tauffner said.

She does actually have a connection to harness racing, other than through her business, since Dr. Janet Durso was the veterinarian for the two thoroughbreds that Tauffner rescued years ago. And her husband, Karl, actually played polo with Durso in Newburgh.

What’s most important to Tauffner, whether she’s dealing with corporations like Aflac or PepsiCo or the world of harness racing, is that she puts forth the best product that she can and makes her customers happy.

“It’s my business, so I have a personal stake in it and I want everything that walks out the door – whether it’s a $5 lapel pin or a $500 blanket or trophy – I want everything to look perfect and I guess that’s how I’ve stayed in business this long,” Tauffner said. “I make a decent living doing what I do, and I don’t need to be ridiculous in what I charge customers, especially my existing customers that I’ve developed relationships with.

“And I know that they support me and come to me with other things whenever they can and that’s how I stay alive and I value all those relationships that I’ve developed with these customers for 20-plus years.

For Ryan, it’s that attention to detail and accommodating attitude that makes her relationship with Tauffner one she wants to keep.

“I have nothing but praise for her for getting stuff done,” Ryan said. “The fact that she understands [the business] and knows where she can go get the raw materials or the raw blankets that we need, makes it so much easier than to go to a vendor who’s not used to it or having to find the stuff for the vendor. She can do it from start to finish without us having to be the middleman or having to do some of the research on our own. So that’s why it was so easy to continue to use her for a lot of these things.

“The big thing is just the fact that she responds so quickly. When we send a question like ‘Can you do this for us?’ just responding within an hour, and I’d have to say usually less, usually it’s within five or 10 minutes, I think that says a lot about her.”

Horsy Dream won the Prix de Selection to close the meeting in Paris

by Thomas Hedlund

The Pierre Belloche-trained Horsy Dream (Scipion du Goutier), paired with comeback driver Eric Raffin, had the best power in the home stretch when the $255,000 Prix de Selection was held at Vincennes on Saturday (March 4) afternoon.

The Prix de Selection contained some of the most merited trotters from the ongoing meeting in Paris and first choice Idao de Tillard was one of them.

Idao de Tillard was the horse that gave cover to Horsy Dream down the backstretch as leader Juninho Dry tried to fire up the pace.

In the last turn, Joyner Sport found a spot between horses and attacked the leader. Idao de Tillard was interfered with by the move of Joyner Sport but was also beaten when he made a break in the home stretch.

With Idao de Tillard out of the race, Horsy Dream sprinted to a safe win in a strong mile rate of 1:53.2 over 2,200 meters. The Belloche trotter claimed his fifth win during the Paris 2022-23 meeting.

Raffin's comeback in the bike after his injury some weeks ago couldn't be better as he finished third among the drivers in Paris this winter.

Alexandre Abrivard was the most successful driver — and jockey — in Paris. He had 55 wins in the bike and 44 in the saddle for the meet.

Abrivard also had a great day at Vincennes on Saturday's card since he claimed the prestigious monté race: the $255,000 Prix des Centaures. With a 25 meter disadvantage, Abrivard rode the Laurent-Claude Abrivard-trained Hanna des Molles (Village Mystic). In mid-stretch as the front horses ran out of power, he made his move in a race where the pace was set high. The mile rate for Hanna des Molles was an impressive 1:53.2 over 1.3 miles.

Gerard Forni

Horsy Dream (Eric Raffin) winning the $255,000 Prix de Selection held at Vincennes on Saturday (March 4).

Jean-Michel Bazire continued to dominate among the trainers, with 49 wins in 267 attempts resulting in $2,840,282 in earnings.

Ready Cash was, as usual, the best sire in Paris this winter with 32 winners and a total of $2,495,200 collected in earnings from his offspring.

Ampia Mede SM, winner of the Prix de France and Prix de Paris and runner up in Prix d'Amérique, became the most merited trotter during the winter meeting with $703,341 in earnings.

SPARSELY AT THE FRENCH RIVIERA

One week after the end of the meeting in Paris means that Cagnes-sur-Mer outside of Nice in southern France will take over the focus of European harness racing, at least for a day. On Sunday (March 12) the $215,000 Criterium de Vitesse, contested at over one mile, is scheduled.

But the interest in the race is not that big this year and only 12 trotters remained on the list of horses after Wednesday morning's start declaration.

Title defender Etonnant will soon be back on the track, but the Criterium de Vitesse came too soon for the son of Timoko and instead, the race's winner in 2020 and 2021, Vivid Wise As, will most probably be the horse to beat. Alessandro Gocciadoro has four horses in the race and Matthieu Abrivard will be entrusted behind Vivid Wise As, as usual.

Gocciadoro himself will sit behind Vernissage Grif.

The final entries list for the Cagnes-sur-Mer's race card on Sunday was set after this article was written.

Boulder Creek dead at 23

Chris Coyle of Olive Branch Farm recently shared that Boulder Creek died last week from colic at the age of 23.

It's a tough loss for Coyle who said Boulder Creek was a "true champion" and a "very friendly horse that enjoyed people."

In 2004, Boulder Creek set his lifetime mark of 1:48.1 as a 4-year-old at The Meadowlands in the $552,500 Breeders Crown Open Pace.

He came back the following year to win the Crown again just a month after capturing the $375,000 U.S. Pacing Championship in an impressive stretch duel where he was passed but came back to win by a neck over Georgia Pacific in 1:48.4. Those impressive victories led to him being named the Dan Patch Older Male Pacer of the Year.

In January of 2022, Hall of Famer Brian Sears, Boulder Creek's regular driver for his 5-year-old season, visited the son of Pacific Rocket—Hayser Creek at Olive Branch Farm in Wingate, NC. According to Sears' girlfriend, trainer Jenn Bongiorno, "the horse was a sweetheart and couldn't have been happier to have visitors."

Boulder Creek, bred by Barry and Debbie Bird and Cyril Hayes, was the sport's 10th richest pacer and fifth richest gelding of all time with earnings of $3,425,857.

"The only one I ever had here who was richer was Foiled [Again]," Coyle said.

Pepsi North America Cup draws highest number of nominations since 2010

Woodbine Entertainment has announced 86 3-year-old pacers have been nominated to this year's $1 million Pepsi North America Cup.

This year's Pepsi North America Cup, scheduled for Saturday, June 17 at Woodbine Mohawk Park, will mark the 40th edition of Canada's most prestigious harness race.

The total of 86 nominees is up significantly from 61 last year (2022) and is the highest number since 2010 (89). The record for highest number of nominations is 133 (2009).

O'Brien and Dan Patch Award-winner Stockade Seelster leads the group of 86 nominees. The Dr. Ian Moore-trained colt won eight of 11 starts, including the $900,000 Metro Pace, to finish his rookie season with $917,470 in earnings for owners Sally MacDonald and Paul MacDonald.

The last horse to win the Metro Pace at age 2 and Pepsi North America Cup at age 3 was Tall Dark Stranger in 2020.

Other notable stakes winners nominated to this year's Cup include Ammo (Breeders Crown), Confederate (Kentucky Sires Stakes), El Rey (Governor's Cup) and Save America (Champlain).

The first sustaining payment for this year's Pepsi North America Cup is due March 15. Sustaining payments will also follow on April 15 and May 15. The eliminations are scheduled for Saturday, June 10.

The full list of nominees to this year's Pepsi North America Cup are listed below:

Ace Of Aces, Act Fast, Admiral Hill, All Attitude, Ammo, Annapolis Hanover, Ants Marching, Bamboozler, Barrett Hanover, Base Stealer, Blue Hunt, Blue Lou, Brookdale Miki, Brue Hanover, Bugaboo Lou, Calvary, Cannibal, Cant Stop Lou, Captain Awesome, Captain Q, Christchurch, Combustion, Confederate, Cruise Hanover, Day Trader, Downrightdelicious, Dupree Hanover, El Rey, Ervin Hanover, Full Horse, Fulton, Ghost Shark, Girdlad, Gung Ho, Handlelikeaporsche, High Voltage Deo, Hungry Angel Boy, Hungry Man, Huntinthelastdolar, Ikes Dream, Im Hungry, Its My Show, Just Bet It All, Kaptain Karlos, Kopi Luwak, Laz, Loubet, Lyons Surfing, Macs Delight, Mamba, Moment Is Here, Muskateer Hanover, Nazare, No Control, Notorious Hanover, On The Regular, Racing Rampage, Redwood Hanover, Santana Hanover, Save America, Seven Colors, Shadows Terror, Sheer Terror, Sounds Good, South Point, Stockade Seelster, Stormalong, Tarquinius Hanover, The Golden Jet, Thong Control, Tickertape Hanover, Tignanello, Time Stand Still, Tip Top Cat, Trumpster Blues, Twin B Nation, Twin B Seamonster, Verdun, Vici, Voukefalas, Warrawee Yale, Warrawee Yankee, Watchmaker, Whatchulookin At, Winmebak, Write Me A Rose.

Woodbine Mohawk Park releases nominees for 2023 major stakes

Woodbine Entertainment has released the full list of horses nominated to this season's major stakes races at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Woodbine's lucrative standardbred stakes program again saw strong support from owners and trainers for the Feb. 15 nomination deadline. From 18 major stakes requiring a nomination, half of the events saw numbers increase or remain the same.

The $850,000 Metro Pace for 2-year-old pacers saw the biggest increase from 180 nominations last year to 213 for this year's event. The filly counterpart, $540,000 She's A Great Lady, also saw nominations rise from 164 to 175.

The $640,000 William Wellwood Memorial for 2-year-old trotters remained popular with 188 nominations, down just nine per cent from 2022. The $400,000 Peaceful Way for 2-year-old filly trotters saw nominations rise by 30 horses with 165 trotting fillies made eligible.

The winner of the William Wellwood Memorial receives a free slot in the prestigious Mohawk Million. Since the introduction of the Million in 2020, the Wellwood Memorial has averaged 198 nominations, up from an average of 168 nominations the four-years prior (2016-2019).

The Canadian Pacing Derby and Maple Leaf Trot continue as the top open events in North America.

The Pacing Derby received 46 nominations, including 2021 winner Allywag Hanover and 2022 runner-up Tattoo Artist. A total of 37 nominations came in for the Maple Leaf Trot, highlighted by the returning Alrajah One IT, who was scratched due to injury from last year's race as the morning-line favorite. Superstar mares Bella Bellini and Joviality S are also among the eligible trotters.

Woodbine's top 3-year-old races saw three of four receive a bump in nominations.

As announced Monday, the $1 million Pepsi North America Cup saw nominations increase from 62 to 86, marking the highest number of nominations since 2010.

The $600,000 Canadian Trotting Classic for 3-year-old trotters received 70 nominations (up 13 from 2022). Breeders Crown champion Gaines Hanover and Dan Patch Award winner Volume Eight are among the eligible horses.

On the filly side, the $450,000 Fan Hanover for pacers jumped from 51 to 64 for 2023. O'Brien and Dan Patch Award winner Sylvia Hanover is the star eligible. The $375,000 Elegantimage for trotters dropped from 67 to 57, with Breeders Crown champion Special Way and O'Brien Award winner Righteous Resolve both nominated.

Big M weekend betting busts $8-million barrier

During a year where much has been made of the big betting numbers being put up at The Meadowlands, last weekend (March 3-4) cleared handle hurdles not reached in at least the last decade at the mile oval.

After wagering was an industry 2023-best $4.5 million on the Friday night card, betting remained robust on Saturday, as $4,062,855 was put in play on the 14-race program. The per race average wager was $322,789 on Friday and $290,203 on Saturday.

Back-to-back $4-million nights? Such records are not available, but has it ever happened since track president and chief executive officer Jeff Gural saved the track from possible extinction in 2011? No.

The weekend total of $8.5 million is noteworthy since only twice since the start of 2021 has the $8-million weekend plateau been reached, and those were both Hambletonian weekends.

Betting has now gone past the $3-million mark on all 17 Friday and Saturday night programs during 2023. A year ago, $3-million-plus was wagered 23 times over a total of 85 race cards.

A look at the top six tracks in terms of handle on Friday (March 3) shows how The Meadowlands stacks up against the best in thoroughbred racing. The Big M is the most prolific track in terms of betting handle at night, regardless of whether the subject is harness or thoroughbred racing.

Friday handle leaders: 1, Gulfstream, $8,287,706; 2, Aqueduct, $6,413,237; 3, Oaklawn, $6,126,396; 4, Santa Anita, $5,388,598; 5, Meadowlands, $4,519,050; 6, Tampa Bay, $4,209,878.

Competitive racing makes for higher handles, and five of the tracks listed above see their favorites win at a rate between 33 and 35 per cent. The only exception being Tampa Bay (41 per cent).

The two 50-cent Pick-4 bets at The Big M on Friday averaged just over $142,000, while the lone 20-cent Pick-5 took in a 2023-high $100,913. Exacta betting totaled $1.25 million on the night, almost $90,000 per race, while the trifecta pools averaged just under $70,000.

"The competitive nature of the races contested over the mile track has led to The Meadowlands continuing to do big business this year," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "The loyal support of horseplayers — as well as horsemen who continue to fill the entry box — resulted in an eye-popping $8.5-million weekend."

"With full 10-horse fields, all doubts about The Meadowlands' ability to create the type of competitive racing that can fascinate thoroughbred players and sports bettors to cross over and wager on the world leader in standardbred racing have been removed."

GIRL POWER: On Saturday (March 4), The Meadowlands celebrated International Women's Day with a night at the races that included a pair of dashes that featured all female drivers and a simulcast show that saw only those of the fairer sex on set.

"I am thrilled by the response we got to this event," said Big M marketing coordinator and TV talent Jessica Otten, who hosted the simulcast show with Ashley Mailloux by her side. "We had 19 girls face off in our two International Women's Day races, with some of our competitors coming all the way from Denmark to participate. This has been a great night."

Charlene Cushing and Lauren Tritton were the winning drivers in the ladies' events.

"We had girls come from all over to be here and every one of them is exceptional," said Cushing. "I was glad to be a part of it."

"I've been in a million of these races and never won one," said Tritton. "I am so glad to have been a part of this. It's such a good thing for women to be represented."

LOW BETS, BIG GREEN: Some hits that made the highlight reel from last weekend include the Friday night 20-cent Pick-6 ($6,411), 50-cent Pick-4 ($2,529) and 20-cent Survivor Pick-7 ($1,413).

On Saturday, those who cashed in on the Survivor ($2,479) and 10-cent Hi-5 ($1,130) had smiles on their faces.

THE SENSATIONAL SEVEN: These are the seven wagers The Big M offers nightly to the bettor that offer both a low minimum wager as well as a low 15 percent takeout. In addition, the two Pick-4s offer a guaranteed pool of $50,000.

The list:

- Race 1: 20-cent Pick-5
- Race 3: 20-cent Survivor Pick-7
- Race 6: Early 50-cent Pick-4 ($50,000 guaranteed pool)
- Race 7: Early 10-cent Hi-5
- Race 8: 20-cent Pick-6
- Race 10: Late 50-cent Pick-4 ($50,000 guaranteed pool)
- Race 14: Late 10-cent Hi-5

Tioga and Vernon Downs stall applications due March 15

Tioga and Vernon Downs' stall applications for the 2023 racing season are now available for download on the horsemen's pages at www.tiogadowns.com and www.vernondowns.com.

Both tracks are the only non-half-mile ovals in the entire Empire State and provide lucrative racing opportunities.

Horsemen are advised that 2023 stall applications for both tracks must be received by Wednesday (March 15). Forms must be completed in their entirety and signed to be valid. The backside at both facilities opens on April 1.

Applications should be sent to Andrew "Shades" Demsky at Tioga Downs (ademsky@playmeadowlands.com) and Scott Warren at Vernon Downs (swarren@VernonDowns.com).

Northville Downs 2023 meeting fast approaching

Northville Downs is set to open its doors for the 2023 race meet.

Racing will be contested each Friday and Saturday evening, beginning April 7, through Sep. 30, with a new first race post time of 7 p.m. each race night for the Michigan oval.

Qualifying races will be held at Northville Downs on March 16 and 23 with first post time for qualifying races at 11 a.m. each day. Condition sheets for qualifiers will be posted on the U.S. Trotting Association's website in the coming days.

It is important to note that the Michigan Gaming Control Board (MGCB) is instructing all horsemen and women, as well as all racing participants (including racetrack employees at all levels) to complete fingerprinting and licensing requirements before horses are entered to qualify and race. In doing so, this will allow ample time for the MGCB to receive said fingerprint results on-time prior to qualifiers and the race meet commencing.

In 2023, before you can be granted a license, you must get fingerprinted, and the results must be received by the MGCB Licensing Office. Please refer to the MGCB website for additional licensing and fingerprinting resources.

In addition to racing, returning to the Northville, MI, oval, track announcer Ken Terpenning has taken the reins of Northville Downs' social media marketing campaigns. Fans can tune in to fun and random videos and posts by Michigan harness racers on the TikTok page @GetYourHeartRacingMI, which has become the most followed TikTok page in all of horse racing with well over 4,200 followers. The videos featured have over 10,400 Likes and nearly 150,000 views (to date) since the account was established in mid-September 2022. A new Twitter account has been established for Northville Downs which can be found @TheVilleRacing. A new Instagram account named northvilledownsracing has also been created. The Northville Downs' Facebook account is now refreshed and updated regularly.

And finally, the Northville Downs' website has been updated and will continue to be updated throughout the year.

Standardbred racing at Fraser Downs continues to gain momentum

Life-long horsemen have their own way of saying “spring is in the air.”

Kelly MacMillan, president of Harness Racing BC, nails it when he said: “There’s been a lot of hard work done and those patiently planted trees are starting to bear fruit.”

MacMillan is referring to the sudden buzz that’s been created at Fraser Downs Racetrack in Surrey, BC. The March 3, 2023 Friday night standardbred racing card recorded the largest wagering handle since 2018. The nine-race card resulted in a total handle of $324,366.97 at the track and simulcast outlets.

Wagering is up 45 per cent since the start of the current Fraser Downs meet that began Feb. 2 and goes Thursday and Friday evenings through May 5.

“We’re finally rolling in the right direction,” MacMillan said. “I’m always cautious about being too optimistic but I can’t help but be thrilled with the additional interest our product is creating. I’m super excited for what we’ll be seeing in the upcoming months.”

Leading driver Brandon Campbell increased his spring season record to 28 wins on a night that included guiding Mach Steady to a thrilling down-to-the-wire victory in the featured eighth race for owners Randy Rutledge and Jennifer Dodsworth.

Kelly Hoerd and Scott Knight are tied for second with 18 wins in the driver standings.

Hoerd continues to reign as leading trainer with 19 wins in 71 starts.

Nichelle Milner, regional manager, racing operations, feels a definite upbeat atmosphere throughout the backstretch at Fraser Downs.

“We all try to put forth a creditable product and it’s working,” Milner said.

2023 Empire Breeders Classic payments due March 15

Tioga and Vernon Downs will again host the $1 million (est.) Empire Breeders Classic (EBC) for New York-sired 3-year-old pacers and trotters this summer.

Sustaining payments for the 2023 races, nomination payments for foals of 2021 to race in 2024 and the stallion eligibility payment on foals of 2022 to race in 2025 are all due (postmarked by) March 15.

The 2023 EBC will be raced as it has been for the past three years, a single event with no eliminations scheduled and the race will be divided with the purse and entry fee split equally by the number of divisions.

This year, the EBC trotting stakes will be raced at Vernon Downs on Friday (June 16) while the pacers are scheduled for Sunday (Aug. 27) at Tioga.

The EBC was conceived in 2007 by Jeff Gural to provide NY-bred sophomores an opportunity to race in a high dollar, state restricted stake. Over the subsequent 17 seasons, more than $15 million in purses have been distributed to those NY bred that have competed in the stake.

The purse is funded by an annual grant from the Agriculture & New York State Horse Breeding Development Fund, Tioga and Vernon Downs stakes purse accounts and NY stallion owners along with the payments made by the connections of competing horses.

The nomination form and all other pertinent information may be found on the track website.

Questions should be directed to 607.972.5500.
