Concealing business dealings with convict Nick Surick earns seven USTA members significant penalties

Dave Landry
Former trainer, and now convict, Nick Surick in 2017.

On Tuesday, the USTA announced fines of $97,500 in a case connected to the incarcerated former trainer.

by Dave Briggs and USTA communications

The U.S. Trotting Association's (USTA) board of directors has fined six people and one farm a total of $97,500 – among other sanctions – for what USTA president Russell Williams told HRU involved “concealing” business dealings with incarcerated former trainer Nick Surick.

Surick is currently serving a five-year-and-two-months prison sentence as part of federal horse doping indictments of some 30 people in the standardbred and/or thoroughbred industries. He is currently in the Federal Correctional Institution (FCI) in Lewisburg (PA). His release is scheduled for September, 2026.

“The problem was concealing Surick, not doing business with him,” Williams told HRU in an email. “The purpose of concealment was to either make a deal happen that wouldn’t have happened or get a better price than would’ve been obtained had Surick’s involvement been known.”

At its annual meeting on Sunday (March 9) in Columbus, OH, the USTA board voted to issue the sanctions to the parties judged to have violated USTA rules and/or bylaws.

“The problem was concealing Surick, not doing business with him. The purpose of concealment was to either make a deal happen that wouldn't have happened or get a better price than would've been obtained had Surick's involvement been known.”

~ Russell Williams

The board relied upon the results of a nearly year-long probe conducted by the Standardbred Racing Investigative Fund (SRIF), which earlier this year reported its discoveries. The findings of violations resulted from an investigation into misconduct committed in connection with former USTA member Surick. In accordance with USTA Bylaw 8.01, the disciplinary actions may not be appealed.

Carson Morris, a partner in Philadelphia law firm Montgomery McCracken Walker & Rhoads LLP that represents the SRIF, told HRU via email that, “The USTA and SRIF had reason to believe that Nick Surick remained active in the standardbred industry despite his legal troubles and USTA membership lapsing in September 2021. SRIF investigated whether this was true, and our investigation determined that certain USTA members had ongoing relationships with Mr. Surick involving registered standardbreds and may have engaged in misconduct in violation of the USTA's rule and bylaws.”

On Tuesday (March 11) the USTA issued a press release that said the USTA members penalized and/or otherwise sanctioned are:

Joel Benson (Pompano Beach, FL): Two-year suspension of membership and a fine in the amount of $50,000 for violation of USTA Rule 20.06 (Fraudulent Misconduct by Member); USTA Bylaws 1:04(a)(1), (a)(2), and (a)(5).

Adam Bowden (Lexington, KY): A fine in the amount of $28,000 for violation of USTA Rule 20.06 (Fraudulent Misconduct by Member).

Diamond Creek Farm LLC (Wellsville, PA): A fine in the amount of $5,000 for violation of USTA Rule 26.16 (Failure to Submit Information).

Yannick Gingras (Allentown, NJ): A fine in the amount of $5,000 and a written reprimand for violation of USTA Rule 20.07 (Conspiracy to Commit Violation of Rules) in conspiring to violate USTA Rule 20.06 (Fraudulent Misconduct by Member).

Shaun R. Laungani (Lexington, KY): A fine in the amount of $7,000 for violation of USTA Rule 20.06 (Fraudulent Misconduct by Member).

Debbie Surick (Freehold, NJ): Permanent expulsion of membership for violation of USTA Rule 20.06 (Fraudulent Misconduct by Member); Rule 20.07 (Conspiracy to Commit Violation of Rules); Rule 20.15 (False Ownership); Rule 26.16 (Failure to Submit Information): Bylaws §§ 1.04(a)(7); 1.04(a)(2), and 1.04(a)(5).

Elizabeth C. Yontz (Paris, KY): A fine in the amount of $2,500, the entire sum suspended, and a written reprimand for violation of USTA Rule 20.06. (Fraudulent Misconduct by Member).

Bowden told HRU on Wednesday (March 12) that he was reluctant to speak publicly at this time about fines totaling $40,000 issued to himself, his farm, Diamond Creek, and Diamond Creek's vice-president Shaun Laungani.

“We disagree with the way it was handled, we disagree with the sanctions, but we have no recourse and we paid the fines this morning so we can continue to do business,” Bowden said.

Otherwise, Bowden declined to comment further on the record about the case. It's fair to say he's not happy with the USTA penalties.

Gingras declined to comment on the case to HRU, texting, "As of now, I think I just want to put this behind me."

Morris said SRIF's investigations, "encountered a number of USTA members who had business contacts with Nick Surick and/or the individuals he was working with. Not all were alleged to have committed a violation, however, because contact with Mr. Surick alone did not in-and-of-itself violate the Rules. Rather, the Board found fault because the member(s) knew of the nature of Mr. Surick's involvement, with the added fact that his involvement was concealed from others as part of the underlying business arrangement(s). This concealment would facilitate Mr. Surick and his collaborators' ability to engage in the standardbred economy without others knowing he had a stake in the registered standardbreds in question. Not all the investigations involved this fact pattern, but the activity the [USTA] board concluded warranted sanctions involved the member(s) having a greater degree of knowledge and culpability."

Asked if the USTA was trying to send a message with the case, Morris said, "Because these sanctions were imposed by the USTA's board of directors pursuant to an investigation carried out on the association's behalf, any message conveyed by the sanctions came from the USTA and its membership, not SRIF. While the USTA can speak for itself on this, in my view, imposition of these sanctions reflects the commitment of the association's members to enforcing violations of their rules.

"The USTA is a member organization, and I have found widespread support among the membership for investigating and, when appropriate, sanctioning members who violate the rules that participants in the standardbred industry are required to follow. It is SRIF's role to uncover violations of the rules while ensuring that the USTA members we investigate are treated fairly and that the results we produce are balanced and reliable. Similarly, we work with the USTA to make sure the adjudication of a rule violation and the imposition of a sanction occurs in compliance with the association's rules and bylaws and respects the rights of the members in question."

In the USTA's press release, Williams said the industry can expect more investigations.

"These investigations are the first to be completed but they will not be the last," Williams said. "The alliance between the Standardbred Racing Investigative Fund and U.S. Trotting will enhance protection of USTA data integrity, including registration and transfer of horses. It will also encourage transparency and fair dealing among the membership. USTA staff handled these matters with the utmost competence. Our board made its determinations fairly and resolutely."

Morris told HRU that, "while Rule 20.06 contains somewhat open-ended language pertaining to 'fraudulent' conduct, it specifically forbids fraudulent or corrupt conduct that 'affects[s]... a false registration or any other act injurious to the sport.' The USTA is the keeper of the standardbred registry, and that is arguably where its greatest powers lie. To register a standardbred horse with the USTA, all owners must be members of the association. See USTA Rule 26.01 you can find a link to the USTA's Rules and Bylaws [here].

"Depending on the facts of a case, these and related rules prohibit the practice of 'bearding' or the false ownership of a registered standardbred by someone other than the actual owner. The same principles can apply to trainers and other actors in the industry. There are other rules related to the false ownership and registration of standardbreds. See, e.g., Rule 26.12 (Fraudulent Transfer), Rule 20.07 (Conspiracy to Commit Violation of Rules). There were also sanctions imposed for failing to provide records requested by SRIF/the USTA. See 26.16. Not all violations of Rule 20.06 relate to bearding but, according to the elements of the Rule/violation, they all involve fraudulent/deceptive misconduct."

Morris said it's important to note that the USTA, at last weekend's annual meeting, bolstered its enforcement and investigative powers.

We Accept

~ Adam Bowden

“The revised and new rules will go into effect on May 1, 2025,” Morris said, “and include, among other improvements: eliminating the $5,000 maximum fine per rule violation (note the $5,000 fines imposed as part of the recent sanctions); integrating the concept of a ‘person not in good standing’ into the Rules; adding aiding and abetting as an independent basis for a violation (a potentially important tool in discouraging USTA members from working with non or suspended members); rule changes focused on false or ‘beard’ trainers specifically; and strengthening the USTA’s right to demand records from its members, including by requiring the signing of an unsworn declaration under penalty of perjury in responding to a record request. These revisions were informed by SRIF’s investigations and further demonstrate the USTA’s institutional commitment to integrity and enforcement.”

Morris said more sanctions could be coming.

“SRIF has several investigations underway that we expect will render results, but I cannot comment on them, and we do not presuppose that the USTA will ultimately find a violation,” Morris said. “All our investigations are kept confidential, which is important to protect the reputations of those under investigation and instill a sense of fairness in what we do. It also (hopefully) encourages trust and cooperation by the USTA’s membership in SRIF’s investigations and is critical to our ability to carry out our work.”

As for whether this case indicated a sea change toward stronger integrity at the USTA, Morris said:

“From my experience with the USTA, I don’t believe the association and its members failed to take integrity seriously in the past. To the extent the USTA was not enforcing its rules in the same manner, that was primarily because of a lack of understanding and appreciation of the powers it had to investigate and enforce violations under its rules and bylaws, particularly in relation to the powers of state racing commissions.

“Through my discussions with officials at the USTA, I came to appreciate the problems in the industry. From my experience as a prosecutor and criminal defense attorney, and in collaboration with my colleague Vicki Humphries, who is SRIF’s lead investigator and a former FBI agent, we saw ways the USTA could investigate and enforce violations of its rules and bylaws that I don’t think the association realized it was capable of previously.

“Also, I grew up on a horse farm in Kentucky and was brought up in the commercial breeding industry, which influenced our understanding of what the standardbred industry is; particularly how the standardbred economy functions in relation to the ownership and registration of horses. That allowed us to put the pieces together and come up with what I think is a more effective enforcement model for the USTA.

“With a solid plan, investigative expertise, sufficient resources, and, most importantly – the will among the USTA’s membership to make it happen – SRIF and the USTA are better positioned to bolster integrity and in the standardbred industry.”

MIDWEST CHRONICLES

with JAMES PLATZ

Marcus Miller looks to capitalize on Midwest move

by James Platz

When Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing and Casino raises the curtain on its 32nd season of harness racing this evening (March 14), it will do so with a new, yet familiar, face among the driving colony. Marcus Miller, son of trainer Erv Miller, is returning to his Midwestern roots and will drive full time at the Anderson, IN oval. The catch driver spent more than a decade competing in Pennsylvania and on the East Coast.

"I kind of always knew that I would eventually move back to the Midwest," Marcus said. "I enjoyed my time in Pennsylvania, but it never really all the way felt like home. And then, you know, last year my sister had a baby girl and I have a couple of kids now. And then [brother-in-law] Atlee [Bender] got hurt, so I was spending a lot of time in this part of the country anyway, kind of filling in for him, and it just felt like I had one foot in the door already and I was enjoying my time back here. The age of the kids and everything, we just said, you know what, let's just go. It's where we want to end up. Let's just go that way now."

Marcus got his start in Chicago, developing into one of the top reinsmen on the circuit before making the move to the Keystone State in 2013. While he considered Pocono Downs his home track, opportunities allowed the 35-year-old to sit behind horses at venues across the United States and Canada. The price paid meant a lot of time on the road and away from home. Now Marcus is reshuffling priorities and staying closer to home.

"I raced everywhere, all over Pennsylvania," he said. "I did the New York Sire Stakes, the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes circuit, those two, quite a bit of Yonkers and New Jersey, all that. I feel like I learned a lot. I mean, I raced against every driver, every trainer you can think of out there. So yeah, I think it was good for me. Now that I have a couple of little boys, though, it was a lot of work, a lot of traveling, and I wanted to kind of be able to focus just in one spot. I think that's the opportunity that Hoosier presents; be close to home and not have to run around like crazy like I did out there."

Marcus said that he and his wife, Sara, had talked about renting a home in central Indiana at first, but decided to put their stake in the ground and purchase a home 30 minutes from the track. As he closes one chapter and begins another, Marcus is appreciative for his stint on the East Coast.

"I kind of always knew that I would eventually move back to the Midwest. I enjoyed my time in Pennsylvania, but it never really all the way felt like home."

“I was a little nervous about [getting drives for Hoosier’s Opening Weekend], but I think my main goal for this first little bit is to get on the sheet and just try to do the best I can with what I have, and hopefully it just goes from there. I was happy to be listed on quite a few horses for this opening weekend, so I think the opportunity is going to be there. I’ve just got to capitalize on it.”

in Ohio. The challenge is informing horsemen he is no longer in Pennsylvania while building his business in the Midwest.

“I think this year, I talk about the schedule being lighter, but I think this year I’ve got to take every chance I get this direction,” said Marcus, a winner of more than 4,700 races with earnings just shy of $62 million. “You know, right now I’m driving to Miami Valley. I’ve got three in over here tonight, so just whatever I can get right now, I’ve got to jump on everything I can until I’m fully established back in this part of the country.”

Tonight, Marcus is programmed in eight of the 14 races on the Opening Night card. Four of his drives are slated with Jeff Cullipher-trained horses. Cullipher finished fourth in the trainer standings last season. Marcus also has multiple drives in Saturday’s 14-race card.

“I was a little nervous about that part, but I think my main goal for this first little bit is to get on the sheet and just try to do the best I can with what I have, and hopefully it just goes from there,” Marcus said of securing drives for opening weekend. “I was happy to be listed on quite a few horses for this opening weekend, so I think the opportunity is going to be there. I’ve just got to capitalize on it.”

“I’m happy with how it went,” he said. “You know, I was hoping that I had some Grand Circuit success while I was out there. I was hoping there would have been more, but, you know, that’s the toughest part of the game is getting into those races. I had a lot of opportunities. I’ve driven a lot of really nice horses. It’s taken me around the world. I went to Australia and a few other places, all over Canada. I’ve raced in about every state in the United States that has racing except for maybe Maine. So, yeah, it’s been good to me. I can’t complain about it.”

Shifting focus to Hoosier Park, the driver will benefit from his father’s string of Indiana horses. Last season at Harrah’s Hoosier Park, the Erv Miller Stable finished second in wins, claiming 88 victories in 533 starts. The trainer led all conditioners with more than $1.8 million in earnings. He earned the training title at Oak Grove, and Bender was leading driver at the track despite sustaining an injury in early July that sidelined him the remainder of 2024. With Bender now back in the sulky, both men will share in the driving duties for the stable.

“He’s got a ton of horses for this year, and I think there’s plenty of work for both of us,” Marcus said. “I think there’s room there for both of us, so I’m not worried about it.”

In order to be successful, he will need more opportunities than the stable can provide. Marcus competed this winter at Hawthorne, and leading into the Hoosier meet he has driven

Gabe Prewitt hopes horseplayers “Send it In” at Hoosier Park

Hoosier Park’s season begins tonight, and here’s what horseplayers need to know.

by Dean Towers

On Feb. 21, Harrah’s Hoosier Park Racing and Casino announced that Gabe Prewitt was assuming the duties of vice president/general manager of racing.

The changes announced just this week were fast and furious, so I pinged him to talk shop from a horseplayer perspective, and he was happy to answer some questions.

I’m sure it’s a busy week so thanks for taking the time to answer a few questions for your fellow horseplayers. First up, have you made any horseplayer/customer related changes since you came aboard?

“We have made several changes, which I’m sure doesn’t come as a shock. Hoosier Park has always been known as a great spot for horseplayers, but we just wanted to add our own touch. They’ve already baked the cake; we are just trying to light the candles.

“That being said, we slashed the takeouts on the Pick 5 (21.5 per cent to 15 per cent) and Pick 4 (21.5 per cent to 12 per cent). The former Jackpot Pick 6 has been cancelled, we have gone to a traditional Pick 6 and also reduced the takeout (21.5 per cent to 15 per cent). We will attempt the 50-cent minimum with it as well. I have always been a huge fan of their signature 20 cent Hoosier Hi-Five with an industry low 12 per cent takeout in the finale, but we thought if one is good, two is better. We have added another 20 cent Hi-Five at the mid-point of each card with race 7. All wagers have carryover potential, and we will be the first track in North America, to my knowledge, to offer four 12 per cent takeout wagers on each and every card, all with 100 per cent carryover potential.

“Instead of paying consolations, we will switch to all 100 per cent carryover possibility with the exception of the 50-cent Pick

6 which will have 75 per cent added to the carryover, with 25 per cent paid to those with the most winners.”

As a horseplayer, what attracts you to play Hoosier Park? Does anything get you extra-excited for the 2025 meet?

“I’m excited for any racing day. I’ve said many times back in the day I was as jacked up walking into Pompano on a Tuesday night as I was walking into Lexington on Futurity Day. I’m excited to get back into the nightly battle fighting for market share. I really believe we will become the carryover capital of North America. I love the big fields, and we will see what eliminating the passing lane does as well for the racing style.”

You’ve always been in-tune with scheduling and the timing of races to get the most eyes and wallets on the product. What do you see in this regard for Hoosier this year?

“I will be rolling with our schedule as is, obviously, but I will be keeping one eye all year on any other night or timeslot where I think we could maybe do better for next season. The post time management I will take over 100 per cent, it’s like playing poker against the rest of the simulcast world every single night. I really enjoy it, and I’ll enjoy it even more if we get things rolling.”

What’s your broadcast team look like for 2025? What can customers expect when they tune in?

“It will be first class; Rising Star Award winner Jacob Rheinheimer will be a staple. We will rotate in many other talking heads as well, including Emily Ratcliff, Hollywood Heyden, Jenna Otten, and myself (when we are really desperate). Michael Chamberlin will handle the announcing duties.”

I’ve appreciated that Hoosier Park uploads qualifiers to YouTube. Will this continue? Are there any other horseplayer tools available?

“We will continue broadcasting the qualifiers on YouTube, and we have inquired about the possibility of live streaming the entire card potentially in the future as well. Free programs will be available on our website for every card, and opening weekend is available now!”

MEADOWLANDS MATTERS

with DEBBIE LITTLE

Right on time, or at least close

Both The Meadowlands and Woodbine Mohawk Park have adjusted post times in response to their customers.

by Debbie Little

For the last three weeks, The Meadowlands has been starting much closer to first race post time (6:20 p.m.) and ending earlier in the night, but according to The Big M's chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir, this was not done in anticipation of the temporary suspension of the post-time drag for the Championship Meet starting on May 2.

"I'm here until the last race goes official each live race night," Settlemoir said. "I send a nightly recap to Jeffrey [Gural] at the end of live racing. You know how much I like getting out of here after midnight? As much as I like looking around late in the evening and seeing no one here. It's not fun, it's not exciting."

Meadowlands president/chief executive officer Gural has told HRU on more than one occasion that he hated how much time it took to run race cards these days, and he reiterated it again last week.

"When I was younger, and the sport actually had customers [on track], I remember going to Roosevelt and Yonkers, and they would have 10 races that took three hours," Gural said. "Now, we have 14 races that take over five hours. And with the exception of the Hambletonian, I never stay past the ninth or 10th race."

Even though advertised post time for The Meadowlands has been 6:20 p.m. for quite a while, it was not unusual to see the off time for the first race closer to 6:35 p.m., with the 14th and final race on the card going off near midnight.

"When [mutuel manager] Mike Refinski and I took over doing post times again at the beginning of the new year [2025], I told Michael I wanted to move quicker and be done by 11:15 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. at night, not at midnight," Settlemoir said. "Additionally, I was noticing this year that the total handle on our last two races was brutally weak. So, I made an adjustment to our off time for the first race as well to go earlier. Since making Additionally, I was noticing this year that the total handle on our last two races was brutally weak. So, I made an adjustment to our off time for the first race as well to go earlier. Since making that move [three] weeks ago, we have noticed an uptick in total handle in the last two races.”

The Meadowlands' COO Jason Settlemoir.

“I will say we’ve heard loud and clear that people find our race cards too long, and we made an effort this winter. We’ve moved our post time [at Woodbine Mohawk Park] earlier, and we’ve made an effort to try and get our races over with in the winter by shortly after 10 o’clock through the week and before 11 o’clock on weekends and I think that’s been well received by the horsemen and our customers.”

that move [three] weeks ago, we have noticed an uptick in total handle in the last two races.”

Starting in mid-February, you can track the changes as the last race went off before 11:30 p.m., followed by the first race shifting closer to 6:20 p.m. on Feb. 28.

On March 1, it was obvious that the shift to an earlier start for the first race even caught Meadowlands guest co-host Derick Giwner by surprise, because he said so on the air.

As Settlemoir has told HRU in the past, The Meadowlands cares about their customers, employees and horsepeople, so when complaints are made, they take them seriously.

According to Settlemoir, there have not been any complaints so far about starting and ending a little earlier.

Also, in response to their customers, Woodbine Mohawk Park actually shifted its post time from 7:10 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the start of the year.

“I will say we’ve heard loud and clear that people find our race cards too long, and we made an effort this winter,” said Bill McLinchey, the vice president, standardbred racing for Woodbine Entertainment Group. “We’ve moved our post time earlier, and we’ve made an effort to try and get our races over with in the winter by shortly after 10 o’clock through the week and before 11 o’clock on weekends and I think that’s been well received by the horsemen and our customers.

“I mean, we still are dragging, but we are making an effort to try and get the races run off a little bit quicker.”

It’s too early for McLinchey to tell exactly how successful that move has been with the amount of cancellations they’ve had to endure this winter.

“We’ve been kind of lucky the last two or three years where our winters haven’t been that bad, but this year has been a good, old fashioned Canadian winter,” he said. “It’s been hard for track crews all over.”

McLinchey went on to say that timing is important not just for when the card starts and stops but for everything in between.

“The same people that complain that it takes too long to run a race are the same ones that complain when a Mohawk race lands on top of a Meadowlands race, so everyone’s trying to juggle and land where they’re not on top,” McLinchey said. “On a Saturday night, you’ve got Meadowlands, you’ve got Mohawk, you’ve got Turfway and Santa Anita and Northfield, and the thoroughbreds, I don’t think they’re too concerned about us, but we’re trying to make sure we don’t land on them.”

According to McLinchey, if you miss that sweet spot, you’ll know it.

“I can confirm that it is not great for your handle if you’re running a race at the same time as The Meadowlands,” he said. “Our goal is always to run a race 10 to 12 minutes after one of their races, and we’ve chatted with Jason about that, and his goal is to stay off us. But at the same time, you’re trying to make sure that tracks like Turfway and Santa Anita [aren’t close]. There’s a lot of wagering dollars tied up there, too, so if you can happen to do your best to make sure you don’t land on one of those, it’s better for everybody, too.”

Ontario-sired O'Brien Award winner Logan Park will represent Canada at Elitloppet.

ALL OVER ONTARIO

with MATTHEW LOMON

Logan Park is Elitloppet bound

The Rob Fellows trainee looks to follow in the hoofprints of Billyjojimbob and bring glory to Ontario.

by Matthew Lomon

“To go over there and compete in a race of that caliber – hopefully, we represent and do well – that’s a wildest dream,” said trainer Rob Fellows of Logan Park’s Elitloppet invite. “It’s something you wake up in the morning and you don’t even tell people you dreamt it.”

Even when the wildest of dreams become reality, somehow, they still don’t feel real.

The month of March, although young, has been a whirlwind for Fellows after his prized trotter Logan Park received an invitation to compete in the 2025 Elitloppet on the last Sunday in May.

“It’s one of the elite races for trotters in the world,” Fellows said. “In North America, we have the Hambletonian, and of course, the Little Brown Jug for pacers. Here in Canada, we have the Gold Cup and Saucer for aged pacers.

“These are races that are renowned, and everybody wants to be part of. Being over in Europe, we don’t even think it’s a reality for us in Canada – it’s something we watch other people do.”

When the son of Archangel–Rite Outa The Park lines up behind the starting gate on May 25 at Solvalla Racetrack in Stockholm, Sweden, he will become the first Canadian-based competitor to contest the one-mile dash for trotters since Perfetto, who finished fifth in 2022.

Fresh off his second straight O’Brien Award as Canada’s preeminent Older Horse Trotter, Logan Park will also endeavour to retrace the steps of Billyjojimbob, who in 1992, became the first Ontario-sired horse to win Elitloppet.

Simply being in the same conversation as the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Famer is beyond comprehension, even for a horseman of Fellows’ stature.

“It’s an honor,” he said. “Growing up in Port Perry [ON] and seeing when [trainer] Mike Wade and [driver] Murray Brethour went over there in ’92 and won it with Billyjojimbob, that stuff doesn’t usually happen to people you know; it never happens to you. It’s one of those wow moments. It’s really a ‘Is this real? Pinch me’ type thing.”

Since its inauguration in 1952, Elitloppet has been dominated by French and Swedish nationals.

France has produced 26 winners, including the last three (Horsy Dream in 2024, Hohneck in ’23, and Etonnant in ’22), while Sweden follows closely with 25 (most recent being Don Fanucci Zet in ’21).

In other words, the talent within the European contingent is remarkable. That, Fellows knows. What fascinates him most about competing abroad, however, is finding where Logan Park fits in this once-in-a-lifetime scenario.

“If we raced against these horses here every week and we knew that we were the fifth-best horse, we wouldn’t go,” Fellows said. “The unknown is why we’re going. Are we as good as them? We don’t know. As much as you want to win every race you’re in, everybody that’s ever been there that I’ve talked to has said it’s as much about the experience, seeing the people, and the event itself.

“You hope for great weather and good racing luck, and you hope everybody in the race gets a fair race. Selfishly speaking, you want to win it, but you want to do what’s best for the business too. You want to represent well and hope that people can be proud of Logan Park because he’s a special animal.”

“ If [Logan Park] raced against these [Elitloppet] horses here every week and we knew that we were the fifth-best horse, we wouldn't go. The unknown is why we're going. Are we as good as them? We don't know. As much as you want to win every race you're in, everybody that's ever been there that I've talked to has said it's as much about the experience, seeing the people, and the event itself. ”

~ Rob Fellows

The 7-year-old has been nothing short of a marvel for his ownership group, which includes Fellows, his Outofthepark Stable members Mike McAllister and Blair Corbeil, long-time owner Arpad Szabo, and breeder Reg Higgs.

Across 83 lifetime starts (36-11-6), Logan Park has accumulated purse earnings north of $2 million.

Getting up to that lofty standard, Fellows noted, involves Logan Park being in mid-season form for the biggest race of his life.

The plan, he said, is to get his trusty trotter qualifying in the next few weeks, and then build toward race shape.

Alongside conditioning and form-related tasks, Fellows will also have to navigate the logistics of shipping a racehorse nearly 4,000 miles from Rockwood, ON, to Stockholm.

He left no stone unturned in his pursuit of answers.

“I have sought advice from everybody I know that's been, has been, wanted to go, and will go because I've never done it,” Fellows said. “It's not just the racing over there, it's quite a journey to actually get there. In the last 45 years, I've talked to lots of people – some over there as well – to try to make the landing as soft as possible and to regroup after a few days of flying and trucking.

“Your main objective is to have them healthy. Hopefully, he's as fit as can be going in.”

When Fellows and Logan Park touch down in Sweden, they will be joined by Fellows' wife and Logan Park's caretaker, Yolanda, their two daughters, grandchildren, fellow owners and family friends.

Suffice it to say, support will by no means be in short supply.

Rob said his son Kyle, who co-trains Logan Park, might have to take one for the team and stay back to watch over the 45 horses at the family's farm.

But if the stars align, the father-and-son duo may very well be together in Stockholm.

“I've said this before, unfortunately, you only see one name in the program as the trainer, but it takes a village for these horses,” Rob said. “They aren't being trained by one person. It's the grooms, all the people that have had a hand in all the horses from the day they're born, from the breeders to the people that break the horses – I take mine up to the Shetler's in Wingham – everybody's had a step along the way.

“It has taken a village of people, and there are a lot of things that have had to go the right way to get him to where he is.”

Never at any point did Rob envision his $57,000 purchase at the 2019 London Selected Yearling Sale taking him on a ride this wild.

And while the demands of the job make it difficult to relish in the moment, he will be ready when that day comes.

“I've talked to other people that have had good horses, and they've said you really don't enjoy it while you're racing the horse because you're worried about every meal they did or didn't eat, every time they have to get on a truck, the draw, getting drivers, and the logistics of racing a horse,” Rob said. “Without sounding terrible, you don't enjoy it as much when you're living it as I think you will when it's all over and you look back and you go, ‘Wow, we did that.’”

Elitloppet is an invitation-only race where 16 horses first compete in two separate heats of eight. The top four finishers in each heat advance to a final where the victor receives a prize of five million kronor (approx. $713,000 Canadian at time of publication).

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

The urgency of a commissioner

by John Berry

Journalism can be very dangerous in the wrong hands.

If someone without a medical background was given an assignment of picking on the dangers of, say, a hospital's operating room, it could begin with the description of the doctor using a butcher knife in slicing some person's belly open, witnessing blood squirting all over the place before stitching the person up, and on to the next case.

That someone could then explain that thousands of patients die either on the operating table or in the hospital while trying to recover.

Yes, the butcher knife is, actually, a scalpel used for an incision to perform a lifesaving procedure before using sutures to close the incision... with the incidents of death just a minute percentage of the number of procedures done.

A study done involving 40,000 patients 45 years of age and up, as some headers read, undergoing non-cardiac surgery showed that only five passed away on the operating table.

Every industry has bad apples, from the medical professional to politics to sports and beyond and, when somebody is caught red-handed, it stains the entire profession.

When it lands in print, punishments from disbarment to license revocation to a lifetime suspension are imposed.

From our sport to baseball, football, boxing, hockey, soccer, cycling, weightlifting and more, illegal medications have taken a toll – some short term and some longer term – on the entire phenomena known as the sports world.

As long as the $2 bill is involved, some gambler will complain about disqualifications, doctored photo finishes, refs making bad calls, players shaving points, umps making bad calls, and a thousand more, when it comes to a $2 bill.

There is a difference, though...

More about that a bit later.

A few Mane Attractions ago, right here in HRU, the importance of headlines was stressed and the fact that we get so few of them outside of our own little bubble in the journalistic world.

And, when an uninformed writer with ties outside our bubble gets involved, the outcome can result in dark clouds hanging over our sport and industry.

Such was the case just days ago when the iconic New York Times published an article about our industry "Dead Athletes, Empty Stands..." complete with horses trotting up the ramp pulling their "chariots" with their "garish green and bright pink silks" (garish meaning crudely or tastelessly colorful) with just a few dozen spectators hanging around "slumped in faded orange seats."

Not a pretty picture.

The story goes on, "The result is a bizarre inverted pyramid of vice. The State is using one particularly corrosive form of gambling to keep another marginalized form alive."

The article stretches to include Maryland to prop up its racing industry, and Pennsylvania, and Kentucky.

Yes, other sports teams get tax breaks, as well, but, as the article says, "those other sports don't routinely kill their athletes."

The article also states that 11,000 horses have been "put to death" on American racetracks in the past 10 years.

It's no secret that our industry needs to police the medication issue in all aspects.

Now, here's the difference.

Other sports face the illegal medication issue head on with a commissioner; an official chosen by an athletic association to exercise broad administrative or judicial authority.

When articles like the one in the New York Times appear, it brings to light a problem that we cannot police ourselves, and it is a major cause as to the decline in the entire pari-mutuel industry.

We have yet to answer the Times article outside of our bubble, because we cannot.

We have no commissioner to defend us – either in words or deeds – again, outside of our own little bubble.

Yes, it goes up on our industry sites, but, then, we're preaching to the choir.

We complain about it, but we're helpless in doing something about it.

Policing the medication problem costs big money.

Our sport needs a commissioner that has the intestinal fortitude to tackle the problem head on, no matter the circumstances.

We need a no-nonsense commissioner that has contacts like an octopus has arms, reaching every aspect that we need to succeed, with a law background to media contacts, who can employ transparency without any favoritism to any side.

Every successful major sport has a commissioner, the NBA has Adam Silver, MLS has Dan Garber, WNBA has Cathy Engelbert, NFL has Roger Goodell, NHL has Gary Bettman, and MLB has Rob Manfred.

We have...

Hambletonian fun facts through the years

With less than five months until the 100th Hambletonian, here are a potpourri of fun facts about America's Trotting Classic.

by Bob Heyden

Garland Lobell was not in the Hambletonian in the early 1980s but his sons made a huge impact a bit later on. Andover Hall twice sired a winner: Donato Hanover (2007) and Perfect Spirit (2017). Conway Hall was fourth in the 1998 Hambletonian and then sired Triple Crown winner Windsong's Legacy. Then another of "Conway's" sons, Broadway Hall, sired 2011 winner Broad Bahn.

THE THIRD AGE

Scott Zeron had his third Hambletonian winner (Tactical Approach) at age 34 in 2023. Here's a look at the ages of others when they won for the third time: John Campbell (35), Henry Thomas (47), Brian Sears (47), Stanley Dancer (48), Del Cameron (48), Billy Haughton (53), Ron Pierce (54), Howard Beissinger (55), and Ben White (69).

LET'S GET IT STARTED

This year is the 80th anniversary of the initial Hambletonian with a mobile starting gate. First used in 1946 at Roosevelt, that very same gate traveled to Good Time Park for the Chestertown Hambletonian at Good Time Park. Steve Phillips was indeed proud of his invention.

THE NAME GAME

In 1969, Gallahad Hanover was renamed Lindys Pride, and in 1971 Headin And Healin was then changed to Speedy Crown as Hall of Famer Howard Beissinger won two of his first three Hambletonian drives.

FOUR THE HARD WAY

Who is the only driver in 99 years to win a Hambletonian heat/elim four straight years? Tim Tetrick.

In 2016 he had Bar Hopping ($3), who was fifth in the final; in 2017 Enterprise ($13.80), third in the final; in 2018 Crystal Fashion ($10) fourth in the final; and in 2019 Green Manalishi S ($20.60), fifth in the final.

BY THE NUMBERS

Host sites for the first 99 editions: The Meadowlands (44), Goshen's Good Time Park (26), DuQuoin (24), The Red Mile (2), Syracuse N.Y. State Fairgrounds (2), Empire City (1).

HOT THEN NOT

In 1967, Speedy Streak went two-for-two on Hambletonian Day and four-for-30 for the rest of his career.

DEAD HEATS

In 1945 there was a Hambletonian dead heat for fifth between Dr Spencer and Voltite, followed by 1983's fourth place finish for entrymates Joie De Vie and Astro Hill, and, of course, 1989's most famous dead heat for win in harness racing history between Probe and Park Avenue Joe.

IF ONLY...

If Tim Tetrick had gotten up with Crazyed over Deweycheatumnhowe in the 2008 Hambletonian, what would have changed? Tetrick would have posted the first and only $20 million single season for a driver. He finished at $19,752,066. First money was $250,000 more than his runner-up check.

MC ATTACK

It only happened twice in the first 93 Hambletonians, yet three times in the past six years, where a Mc driver won the Hambletonian. In 1931 Dick McMahon won with Calumet Butler, then there was a 61 year drought until Mickey McNichol won it with Alf Palema in 1992. The last half dozen Hambletonians have seen Bob McClure and Forbidden Trade ($31.80) in 2019, Andy McCarthy and Ramona Hill ($3) in 2020 and his brother Todd McCarthy in 2022 with $106 with Cool Papa Bell.

LEADERS UNITED

Only once has the top money leading driver (John Campbell) and trainer (Jimmy Takter) in Hambletonian history joined together in the race. Nuncio, who wound up second in 2014, was the common denominator.

FINALLY...

Here are a couple of Meadowlands March memories from 48 years ago.

- The very first Four Leaf Clover was on March 17, 1977 with Scott Wil winning for Ken McNutt over Cicero Seventy Six for Herve Filion with Jim Tallman and Lookout Red Clay getting the show dough.
- Earlier that same year on March 15, the first New Faces final was won by Hustling Time and Ron Waples emerging victorious over Solar System and Mike Gagliardi with Uncle Joe Butler third for Richard Kent.

Emeraude de Bais (Franck Nivard) winning the Grand Criterium de Vitesse in Cagnes-sur-Mer on Sunday.

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

In a battle of 11-year-olds at Cagnes-sur-Mer, mare Emerald de Bais got the better of Etonnant

by Thomas Hedlund

Sunday's (March 9) $200,000 Grand Criterium de Vitesse in Cagnes-sur-Mer on the French Riviera became a show with two 11-year-old trotters battling for the win.

Benjamin Goetz-trained Emeraude de Bais (Repeat Love), driven by Franck Nivard, was one of the favorites behind the big star Go On Boy and another E-horse made an interesting comeback at the track. Etonnant, winner of Elitloppet 2022, seemed eager to perform at a high level directly after his break and driver Anthony Barrier sent Etonnant to the lead in the mile race.

Rain in Cagnes-sur-Mer is rare throughout the year, but Sunday's card became a humid story with a track that avoided becoming sloppy. A hard track surface was presented, but the pace never reached world record levels and favorite Go On Boy had to struggle to get in contact with the front horses at the top of the stretch. Go On Boy's finish ended with a break mid-stretch and the fight for the win became a battle between leader Etonnant and outside trotter Emerald de Bais.

Etonnant was brave on the lead, but Emerald de Bais proved that she still has energy and moral to race as she disarmed Etonnant with 100 meters to go, winning in 1:53.4.

Replay here.

Etonnant was the runner-up in his comeback and Ampia Mede Sm followed in third after an inside trip.

Emeraude de Bais will not be allowed to race much longer in France and her career has been splendid. Approximately $1,170,000 in earnings and a 1:49.4 record mark closes her racing career and she is definitely considered as one of the best mares ever raced in France, even if big Grand Prix-trophies are missing from her career.

CANADIAN CONTRIBUTION IN ELITLOPPET IN MAY

Solvalla has invited a second horse for this year's edition of Elitloppet. French champion Go On Boy will get company from Canadian trotter Logan Park (Archangel), trained by Rob Fellows and this invitation is a welcome ingredient to Elitloppet.

North American trotters (trained in Canada or the U.S.) have been successful in many memorable editions of Elitloppet, but not lately. Åke Svanstedt's Resolve was runner-up in both 2016 and 2017, but the latest winner trained in America was Moni Maker in 1998.

Can Logan Park be the horse that repeats Billyjimbob's feat from 1992? The fans will at least have a very fast horse to cheer for as Logan Park is the fastest Canadian-bred trotter in history and his record was set in Lexington in 2024, when he claimed the $153,000 Allerage Farms Open Trot in 1:49.2.

"After over 40 years of horse training, this is the greatest honor we have ever experienced," said Fellows in a press release from Solvalla. "Representing Canada with Logan Park is a dream come true. Together, let's show the world the best athletes in our sport."

Barry Lefkowitz dies at 66

Barry Lefkowitz, 66, a longtime publicist and executive in harness racing and a driving force in the resurgence of the United States Harness Writers Association as the current chair of the board and immediate past president, and through his efforts involving the Dan Patch Awards Banquet, passed away overnight (March 10) after battling cancer for the last year.

Lefkowitz had recently attended the Dan Patch Banquet and USHWA's annual meetings held in Orlando FL, where he had actively taken part in the group's activities. He also had just been named to the screening committee for candidates for the sport's highest honor, the Hall of Fame.

Lefkowitz received an early education in harness racing publicity from a "Who's Who" of the industry's publicists and marketers centering around Monticello Raceway in the Catskills of New York, then worked at Jackson Raceway (MI), Roosevelt Raceway in his native New York City (where he handled the many complex tasks of having everything ready for the world-famous Roosevelt International Trot as a showcase event), Scioto Downs (OH), Batavia Downs (NY), and Windsor Raceway (Ontario). He then went into the insurance industry as his primary occupation and did very well in that field.

As first the treasurer and then president of USHWA, Lefkowitz was a spearhead in the Association's financial rejuvenation, reaching out to horsemen throughout North America to assist in keeping the annual Dan Patch Awards Banquet as a major event on the harness calendar. Few could resist the pitch of a person who made every deal a win-win proposition with his combination of personal rapport and demonstration of the solid investment in the sport that a sponsorship of a Dan Patch Weekend event could be.

In the recent past, Lefkowitz continued "growing" the sport's history by leading a two-year pursuit which culminated in gathering all of the available information about the horses and humans picked as top of their age-sex-gait divisions, including Trotter, Pacer, and Horse of the Year, for every year of racing since awards were inaugurated in 1948. He also was a prime mover in the digitization and restructuring of the Communicators Hall of Fame when that area of the Harness Racing Museum was running out of allotted room.

"Barry was a vital part of harness racing and the United States Harness Writers Association for many years," said Michael Carter, President of the United States Harness Writers Association. "His dedication to the organization is one of the major reasons it is in the position it is today. Barry's infectious smile, wit, and personality will be sorely missed by everyone."

There will be one service for Lefkowitz, and it will take place this coming Sunday (March 16) at 2 p.m. It will be held at the New Montefiore Cemetery, which is located at 1180 Wellwood Avenue in West Babylon NY 11704; the cemetery's phone number is (631) 249-7000. The cemetery is not far from the famed Bethpage Black golf course, and in "racetrack terms" it is just over a half-hour from the site of Roosevelt Raceway, where Lefkowitz was track publicist; New Montefiore is about equidistant from Yonkers and The Meadowlands, about 90 minutes away from either.

Lefkowitz is survived by his sister Helaine Beeber; he is predeceased by his parents Rudolph and Marilyn.

In lieu of flowers, those interested can make a donation in Lefkowitz's name to Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center (www.mskcc.org; 347-798-4213).

Horse owner Susan Laden dies

Susan Laden, a prominent horse owner of champions in the 1980s, died after a short illness at Englewood Health Care in New Jersey, not far from where she resided. She was 80.

During the 1980s, Laden, a petite blond, was a striking presence in winner's circles, especially at The Meadowlands. She owned many notable horses throughout the years, primarily racing as North Woodland Stables, including:

Central Park West p, 2, 1:53.3f ($534,863), a world champion, Breeders Crown winner and the 2-Year-Old Filly Pacer of the Year; JEF'S Spice 3, 1:55.2 ($951,469), a Breeders Crown winner at ages 2 and 3;

Supergill 3, 1:53.3 ($664,194), winner of the 1987 Peter Haughton Memorial Trot and early-season favorite for the Hambletonian;

Keyser Lobell 2, 1:58 ($610,965), winner of the 1988 Peter Haughton Memorial Trot;

Start The Fire p, 1:52.1 ($542,276), a multiple stakes winner and one of her favorites;

CPW p, 4, 1:49.1 ($651,738), a multiple stakes winner and a son of Central Park West;

Threefold p, 3, 1:51.1 ($643,004), a major stakes winner;

Big Brat p, 2, 1:53.1 ($402,177), also a major stakes winner and a favorite;

Nuklear Weapon p, 3, T1:53.3 ($271,435), a stakes winner and one of her first yearling purchases;

Nuke Of Earl p, 4, 1:52.1 ($404,532);

Third Straight p, 3, 1:50.1f ($317,778);

Omen Hanover p, 1:50.4f ($1,086,809), a stakes winner, now a successful broodmare, and also a favorite.

Laden's horses were primarily trained by Bob Bencal, Bruce Nickells, Ray Remmen, Mark Loewe, Doug Miller and Kevin McDermott. In 1987, just two years after she bought her first standardbred racehorse, she owned two starters in the rich Woodrow Wilson Pace for 2-year-old colts, Kingston and Threefold, who each won their elimination races.

"I really liked horse racing, but I didn't like going and watching other people's horses," Laden told racing writer Mike Farrell of The Record in New Jersey. "I've got a business of my own and I'm independent. I thought I would give it a shot."

Laden's business was a successful flea market that she established in Union City, NJ. Her approach to harness racing was hands on as she studied pedigrees in sales catalogs and then went to the yearling sales to personally inspect the horses she liked on paper.

In addition to her great enthusiasm for horses and harness racing, Laden bred and showed pedigreed dogs and was passionate about her own Grand Champion Golden Retrievers. She also continued to own a small interest in racing standardbreds.

Laden is survived by sons Eric Haber (Stacey) and Paul (Elena), and grandchildren Ashley, Matthew, Max, Sasha, Ellie, Evan and Olivia.

A funeral service was conducted on March 9 with a private burial on March 10. The family requests that memorial contributions be made to the National Kidney Foundation.

Undefeated filly Chantilly primed to take on the boys in the Pepsi North America Cup Standardbred owner George Millar is a man of his word. In December, he told Harness Racing Update that he was "a little over 50 per cent serious" about racing his undefeated homebred Ontario-sired pacing filly Chantilly against the boys in this year's $1 million (G1) Pepsi North America Cup on June 14 at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

On Friday, when asked how Chantilly, Canada's reigning Horse of the Year, was faring training down for her sophomore season, Millar told Ontario Racing, "Put it this way, I made her first payment to the North America Cup. But, I also paid her up for the Fan Hanover (3-year-old filly race) that is the same night."

Millar said he wanted to hedge his bets and he and his private trainer Nick Gallucci – the 2024 Canadian Trainer of the Year – will make a final decision about whether to race the daughter of Big Jim – Shiraz Seelster against the boys closer to June. No filly has raced in the open event since it changed its name to the North America Cup 42 years ago.

Chantilly was a perfect nine-for-nine with earnings of C$761,000 in 2024. She is one of 69 sophomore pacers that have been nominated to this year's Pepsi North America Cup.

Gallucci said he shook his head when Millar first broached the idea.

"It was just a little bit of shock," Gallucci said. "I don't know if he had been thinking about it for a while. When he brought it up to me, it kind of threw me for a loop. But, what am I going to say? It's his horse. Still, it's a pretty cool situation... we'll do our best. Looks like she could beat the colts, but who knows? I think, for now, there's a lot of dreaming."

Millar said he believes Chantilly will need to post a mile in the 1:48 range to be successful against the boys. He said he believes the filly is capable of such speed after a conversation with her driver, four-time reigning Keith Waples Canadian Driver of the Year James MacDonald. Millar said MacDonald told him Chantilly likely would have posted a mile in 1:49 and change as a 2-year-old if any horse had "stared her in the eyeball."

"So, it's just a matter of knocking off another second to get down to [1]:48 and change... it's quite possible that she can get in that range and, if so, she's going to be competitive in [the NA Cup]," Millar said.

Truth is, all this is more than just an indication of how much talent Millar believes Chantilly has – the depth of which he said the world hasn't seen, yet, because she was carefully managed during her rookie season. NA Cup dreams also speak to Millar's incredible passion for horses and his desire to promote the sport he loves.

"Do I think she'd go with [the boys]?" said Millar, who was named the 2024 Armstrong Breeder of the Year in Canada. "I don't think she'd be embarrassed... and it would make for a nice story.

"I don't want to hurt her, but I don't think it would hurt her... you can pay up and if you think you're just not right or whatever, then you can just not enter. I think she just took care of herself all year and the fact that she wasn't over raced really helped her out quite a bit."

Harrah's Hoosier Park unveils 2025 wagering menu

The stage is set for Harrah's Hoosier Park as the 32nd season of live harness racing is set to get underway tonight (March 14) at 6:15 p.m. When racing returns, the Anderson oval will greet bettors with its brand-new wagering menu for the 2025 racing season.

"Hoosier Park has always been known for full fields and great racing," said vice president/general manager of racing, Gabe Prewitt. "We look forward to refreshing our wagering menu, providing fantastic offerings for the Send It In Army and exciting wagering opportunities all season long."

When racing returns tonight, fans will notice the absence of the Harrah's Hoosier Park passing lane in the final eighth-of-a-mile of the homestretch. In partnership with the Indiana Standardbred Association, Harrah's Hoosier Park will conduct a 60-day trial period without the passing lane in efforts to promote more early movement and competitive racing on the seven-eighths-mile oval.

Updates and additions for the 2025 wagering menu include the following:

- Early Pick 5 sequence in races 1-5 with the Late Pick 5 being moved to races 8-12 – takeout lowered to 15 per cent.
- Pick 3 wagers throughout the card in races 2-4, 10-12 and last three races of the evening – carryovers enabled for Pick 3 sequences.
- Jackpot Pick 6 replaced with a traditional Pick 6 sequence in races 4-9 – should there be a carryover, 75 per cent of the pool will carry over to the next Pick 6 sequence, while 25 per cent will be paid to those with the most winners.

- Early Pick 4 sequence now in races 6-9 with the Late Pick 4 taking place in the last four races on the card – takeout lowered to 12 per cent, the lowest in the entire sport.

- An additional Hoosier High 5 added to race 7 nightly, to go along with the traditional Hoosier High 5 in the last race of the card – there is an industry low takeout of 12 per cent on both pools.

Beginning on Thursday (March 26), Harrah's Hoosier Park will once again offer the $10,000 guarantee each weeknight on the Late Hoosier High 5 in the last race of the evening.

"We anticipate offering multiple guarantees on each card in the future," Prewitt said. "Bettors can look forward to seeing nightly guarantees on not only on the Hoosier High 5, but our multi-race wagers as well."

A double-draw for the Opening Weekend cards was held on Tuesday (March 11). Harrah's Hoosier Park will once again be offering free online programs nightly for the entirety of the 160-day meet on the Hoosier Park website.

Harrah's Hoosier Park will operate on a two-day Friday and Saturday schedule for each of the first two weeks of the season. From there, Harrah's Hoosier Park will add Thursdays on March 26, before beginning a four-day Wednesday-Saturday schedule in April. Standard post time nightly for the 2025 racing season will be 6:15 p.m.

Keystone USHWA announces award winners

Evan Pattak and Pohla Smith, the husband-and-wife team who have been the "First Family" of Pennsylvania harness racing communications for over four decades, have been selected to receive the Mary Lib Miller Award, the highest honor annually given by the Keystone Chapter of the United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA).

Also, to be honored by Keystone USHWA are T C I, Pennsylvania Sire Stakes Horse of the Year; Todd Schadel, the Pennsylvania Trainer/Driver of the Year Award; Greg Wasiluk, the Unsung Hero Award; George Napolitano, Jr., the Special Achievement Award; and the Rocky Top Stable, the Small Stable of the Year Award.

Pattak and Smith were both horseowners earlier in their lifetimes, so both brought to their writing a special sense of the standardbred and the resources needed by the people who take care of them. This understanding, enhanced by their unique journalistic talent, brought each a John Hervey Award for News/Commentary Writing – Smith in 2002, Pattak in 2009. Both have remained members of the Keystone USHWA Chapter, and both are on the committee overseeing the judgment of the yearly journalism awards.

Pattak has most recently been a part of the publicity arm of the Meadows Standardbred Owners Association (MSOA) and writing a column for Hoof Beats magazine. Smith retired after a long career as a pioneering woman reporter in what can be a very "closed" world of major-league sports, including harness racing. The combined efforts of the two have helped Pennsylvania harness racing maintain a high profile on the national and international scene with their insightful reportage, and are honored for their accomplishments with the Mary Lib Miller Award.

T C I did what no other male trotter has ever done in the history of the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes – win his divisional Sire Stakes Championship event at both 2 and 3. (He's also only the second male to pull off the feat, joining pacer Satin Town's sweep way back in 1995-96.) T C I never lost a Pennsylvania Sire Stakes race, winning three preliminaries (he was the top prelim point winner) and the final at Pocono during a 2-year-old year where overall he earned a baby colt record $1,238,708, then winning two prelims and the final, again at Pocono, in his 3-year-old campaign.

Trained by Ron Burke for Burke Racing Stable LLC, Hatfield Stables, Knox Services Inc., and Weaver BrusceMI LLC and driven primarily by David Miller, T C I will stand at stud in 2025 at Midland Acres.

Todd Schadel has been the dominant force on the Pennsylvania Fair Sire Stakes circuit the last few summers, and in 2024 he drove 97 winners and trained 93 visitors to the fairs' winner's circle. These achievements contributed greatly in his topping the North American ranks for horsemen who had between 300 and 499 starts, with "batting averages" of .448 in UDR and .480 in UTR. And Schadel recently recorded the 2000th win of his driving career with Internationalcraze, a solid campaigner for him at 2 and 3.

Greg Wasiluk has been involved in harness racing for 60 years – ever since his father bought a horse when Wasiluk was aged 5. Wasiluk has run the gamut of racetrack positions, from trainer/driver (including horses for the Haughton Stable), starter, associate judge, and currently the horsemen's representative at Pocono. One constant in Wasiluk's career has been his positive attitude, his willingness to "go the extra mile," despite many years of caring for an elderly mother and a challenged daughter – anybody who can do his work consistently well in the face of adversity is a good guy for sure.

George Napolitano, Jr. has won 45 horsemen's crowns at the two eastern Pennsylvania tracks, Pocono and Harrah's Chester/Philadelphia, with 33 driving and training titles at Pocono in northeast PA and 12 more at the southeast Pennsylvania's Harrah's facility. This past season he finished second in the dash driving standards to two of the sport's stars, Matt Kakaley at Pocono and Tim Tetrick at Philly (at the latter oval winning 17 races on the last five cards to narrow Tetrick's final edge to two), and his combined 2024 victory total in Pennsylvania was 440, more than any other driver within the confines of the Keystone State.

The "Rocky Top Stable," more formally known as Brocious Racing Inc. as following in the standards set by the late Lefty Brocious while naming their horses with "RT" in the lead position, continued in a winning transformation mode during 2024. Trainer Tom Loughry, Jr. had his best campaign ever with 42 wins overall (35 at the fairs), earnings of $269,159, and a trainer rating of .373 off a 62 per cent 1-2-3 finish record – and Loughry, Jr. even recorded his first two driving triumphs in 2024.

The Keystone award winners will be presented their awards in trackside ceremonies during the Pennsylvania ovals' racing seasons.

What a thrill! Gill wins ladies' dash at Big M

Splitting horses late after cutting a circuitous path through the stretch, Vicky Gill, a native of England, guided 13-1 chance Trumps Girl to victory in the International Women's Day Mile at The Meadowlands Saturday night (March 8), a race that featured all-female drivers. The race, of course, was for conditioned pacing fillies and mares.

McKenzie Sowers had 80-1 longshot Anneliese Hanover on a speed mission from the outset, cutting out fractions of :27.4, :56.1 and 1:23.3 racing on an open lead, but the fast fractions proved too tough, setting it up for a closer.

"They were all going so fast out of the gate," Gill said. "I just thought, I'm not messing with these. I conceded they were all going to be wide around the first bend, so I thought the sooner I got to the rail, the better."

Gill had Trumps Girl along the inside sitting a 5-hole trip as the taxing action took place in front of her. She still had plenty to do at the head of the lane, but after angling off the rail at the head of the stretch, Trumps Girl weaved her way through the lane, with the second time she split rivals being the final surge that got her past second-place finisher Oakwoodjusiasnob IR (Lauren Harmon) by three-quarters-of-a-length in 1:54.3. Always In Flight (Alexandra Sarkine) closed for third.

"I got into a good position and a couple of the girls got parked going around the last bend," said Gill, who was making her American debut. "I was still sitting there with a good handful and I had to do some weaving in the home stretch but it all paid off in the end.

"I had a lot of horse. I just needed to get through and I wasn't actually sure if I was going to win because I thought something might come from behind [and catch me]. I'm very honored to be here. I'm just over the moon."

Trumps Girl, a Sam DePinto trainee who is a 4-year-old daughter of Always B Miki–Wind Damage, returned $28.40 to win after winning for the third time in 29 lifetime starts.

The other drivers who participated were Christina Grubich, Leslie Joyce, Marianna Monaco, Alexandra Sarkine, Vicki Stratton, Sarah Svanstedt and Lauren Tritton.

The ladies were fired up for the chance to drive.

"This is a big moment for me," said Sarkine. "I race on the fair circuit in Indiana. To have my second start at The Meadowlands is a pretty big deal to me."

Sowers said, "I'm a third-generation horsewomen. Women are so under-represented in the industry, so it's nice to get out there and show that we can do it on the big stage."

Grubich said, "My aunt owned standardbreds, so I started out working on her farm and I just kind of fell in love. I am so excited to be here. I think it's awesome that The Meadowlands puts this on for us."

THE COVERAGE: Some of harness racing's most visible ladies were at the track covering the action from every angle and location as The Big M celebrated IWD with Jessica Otten of Meadowlands TV serving as the host of the live simulcast presentation.

Otten is the sport's leading national TV presence with her many appearances over the last several years on FOX Sports' broadcasts of some of the biggest events in the game, such as the Meadowlands Pace and Hambletonian.

Joining her on the Sam McKee Memorial Broadcast Set was Emily Ratcliff, who is the director of sponsorships and marketing partnerships at The Red Mile. In addition, she is the co-host of the Hambletonian broadcast on the CBS Sports Network and is still part of the on-air talent team at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

Jenna Otten, the TV presence from Scioto Downs who has done several FOX broadcasts with her sister, Jessica, conducted interviews from the back paddock.

Melissa Keith, the track announcer at Rideau-Carleton Raceway, traveled from her home in Canada to be a part of things and called several races during the course of the night. Keith is the only full-time female race caller in harness racing.

Finally, Debbie Little, the associate editor at Harness Racing Update, was on hand, substituting for her husband Dave on the nightly “Little’s Late Double” segment.

Shooting pictures was Jessica Hallet, an award-winning photographer who is also currently a columnist at DRF Harness. She was on-site capturing the night’s event with her talented pictorial eye.

IN ADDITION: The evening included sizzle videos – short promotional videos also known as demo reels, highlight reels, show reels, promo videos, pitch tapes or teasers – and interviews with the industry’s top female trainers, drivers and grooms.

The Meadowlands sends a huge thank you to the event sponsors, Clinton Tractor, Mackenzie Strange with Mackenzie Made (providing gifts for the ladies), Terry Taufner from Corporate Images (winner’s circle blanket) and Oradell Family Dental.

OTTEN AWESOME: How could it have gone any other way on International Women’s Day?

Big M TV’s Jessica Otten selected eight winners on top on the 14-race program, including Fredneck ($9.80 to win) in the second race; Bonaparte ($12.40) in the sixth; Dance It Out ($9) in the seventh; and Jojo’s Place ($9.20) in the 14th.

Emily Ratcliff, who sat alongside Otten as the co-host of the simulcast presentation, tabbed six on top. She also gave out the Late Pick-4, and because she recommended a base bet of $2.50, gave her followers a return of $206.75.

A LITTLE MORE: Beckwith continued his scorching-hot ways. The 22-year-old pilot won five races on the card, becoming the fourth driver this year to accomplish that feat, joining Jason Bartlett, Dave Miller and Braxten Boyd. Over the last six programs, Beckwith has won 20 races and now sits atop The Big M driver standings with 37 victories... All-source handle totaled $3,293,373.

Jones captures International Women’s Day Race

Maggie Jones steered 4-year-old trotter Veracruz to a sweeping victory in Saturday’s (March 8) International Women’s Day race at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

A field of nine overnight trotters lined up for Saturday’s all-women drivers race to celebrate International Women’s Day.

Pam Forgie fired Derf Hanover out to the lead to post a :29.1 opening-quarter. The duo would show the way throughout but were pressed through the entire middle-half by Mister Magic and Anita Ouellette.

With the field stacking up at three-quarters in 1:28.1, the trotters fanned out five-wide coming off the last turn. Jones, who had taken Veracruz back to eighth early, sat fourth-over at the third marker. In the stretch, Derf Hanover was pushed hard by Forgie and showed his 11-year-old grit trying to hold on, only surrendering the lead in the final-sixteenth of the mile.

While it appeared So Not Cool and Natasha Day might have the victory in sight coming down the lane, they were overtaken by a powering Veracruz and Jones, who trotted off to a 2½ length score in 1:58.2.

“My plan was just to float away and get a spot,” said Jones post-race. “[Veracruz] was just really strong and really game and he just kept coming. He was amazing and never quit.

“[This feels] pretty amazing, I won’t lie. I was pretty happy when I could see the wire and thought we were going to get there.”

Veracruz and Jones went off at odds of 4-1 ($10.20).

So Not Cool and Day held second, while Eternally Hanover (Jesse Turenne) was third and Tymal Tarot (Marie-Claude Auger) was fourth.

Claiming series continues at Pocono

There were no repeat winners in the seven $12,000 divisions of the second preliminary of the Game Of Claims Pacing Series for horses base-tagged at $17,500 this week, but four of the winners were victorious after joining new barns via claim after the first round, and three of those went unclaimed on a spring-like Monday (March 10) afternoon at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania. Among that group was the fastest GOC winner of Monday, the Tellitlikeitis gelding Prefect Promises, who came first-over after fast early fractions to post a career best of 1:51 for driver Braxten Boyd, trainer Geovany Hernandez, and owner Josue Garcia.

Two other horses paying immediate dividends on a claim were 1:52.4 winners and returned to newly-familiar surroundings: Realrubies At Play, a Shadow Play gelding, who lowered his mark as the only true come-from-far-back winner of the day for driver George Napolitano, Jr., trainer Kevin Reynolds, Jr., and owner William Hartt, and the Rock N Roll Heaven gelding In Rock We Trust, adapting quickly to his new handlers, driver Simon Allard and trainer/owner Mark Akins.

The fourth Monday winner claimed last week exchanged hands again: the Big Jim gelding Springbridge Duel, who was driven by Anthony Napolitano to his second win in three 2025 starts while concluding his brief stay with trainer Cory Stratton and Stratton Stables Inc in 1:52.2. The other GOC winner on the day to be taken from the claiming box was the Heston Blue Chip gelding Blowin Smoke, never behind in a 1:51.4 mile for driver Matt Kakaley, trainer Darren Taneyhill, and owner Tessa Perrin. (Both of these horses went to the ownership of Jose Godinez.)

The other two GOC success stories were driven by Napolitano, Jr., who had five winners on the day, one more than the only other driver to win a Pocono dash crown since 2009, Kakaley. This duo of "GNap" horses, neither of whom started in the first leg, were Daamericansky, an altered son of American Ideal who has won four of his last five and was timed here in 1:51.4 for trainer Kevin Reynolds, Jr. (the only training doubler on the day) and owner Kathleen Napolitano, and the Mach Three gelding Rebellious, who recorded his 76th career victory while opening the card in 1:52.4 for trainer Bryson Dunning and P T Stable.

In all, nine horses were claimed on the day for $150,000, running the 2025 totals to 56 claims for $1,035,000 after just eight racing programs (with three of those contributing only two claims total).

Racing will resume on Saturday at 1 p.m., with the twin attractions of the $35,000 Game Of Claims Championship for $25,000 base-tagged horses, and the return of Chase H Hanover, who last Saturday went a 1:49.4 mile at a chilly Pocono, in the $25,000 fast-class feature. Unafraid of change, Big M to card a sprint

It's not something you see all that often in harness racing. After all, the word "standard" makes up two-thirds of the word "standardbred," and those standardbreds in what is probably 99 per cent of the races in North America go a distance of one mile.

Well, The Meadowlands is going to shake things up a bit this weekend, and, quite possibly, down the road as well.

Tonight (March 14), the 13th race at The Big M will be conducted at five-eighths-of-a-mile, which figures to test horsemen and handicappers alike.

Meadowlands' racing secretary Scott Warren said this is just a first small step toward what could possibly become something bigger.

"We've been kicking around the idea of a shorter-distance series," said Warren. "Rather than do that right away, I decided to do it with a race for a couple of reasons. One, when going a shorter distance, you worry about safety, as it's a different style of racing.

"Another reason is wagering on the product. That's the reason for this first week, the race was placed towards the end of the card where handle decreases some. I didn't want to put it in the heart of the program where wagering is strong. If we feel there is interest, I then wouldn't be opposed to moving the race to earlier on the program.

"If it goes over OK, I'm not opposed to writing more races or even a short series. We may also go in the other direction and write a longer distance race for trotters in the future."

The sprint for TrackMaster 68 pacers features a pair of horses with good early speed, so they figure to take plenty of action at the windows.

Sargeant Sonny is the 3-1 morning-line favorite and will depart from post 4 with driver Tyler Miller. The Jose Ramos student has led for the first three-quarters of three of his last four races and looks like a logical public choice.

John Novello trains 7-2 second choice Gaius Crastinus, who will leave from post 2 with Braxten Boyd in the bike. He's led at the half in each of his last two, so the action figures to be hot and heavy from the get-go in what figures to be an exciting dash.

"We are not now, or ever have been, afraid to try new things," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "The possibility of odd-distance racing is something we think our fan base might react well to. Our product has a level of unpredictability to begin with. When you add in races that are either shorter or longer than the one mile everyone is used to, you get an even more-competitive race where the outcome is tougher to predict. That's what our fan base likes."

THE LADIES LIT IT UP: How could it have gone any other way on International Women's Day (Saturday, March 8)?

Big M TV's Jessica Otten selected eight winners on top on the 14-race program, including Fredneck ($9.80 to win) in the second race; Bonaparte ($12.40) in the sixth; Dance It Out ($9) in the seventh; and Jojo's Place ($9.20) in the 14th.

Emily Ratcliff, who sat alongside Otten as the co-host of the simulcast presentation, tabbed six on top. She also gave out the Late Pick-4, and because she recommended a base bet of $2.50, gave her followers a return of $206.75.

Finally, Debbie Little took over for her husband, Dave, and gave out a winning "Little's Late Double", which returned $10.60.

CATCH THE SHOW: Check out the live "Racing from The Meadowlands" pregame show at 5:45 p.m. every Friday and Saturday when track announcer Ken Warkentin opens up the mic with a scene set and program changes.

In addition to Warkentin, the core group of personalities will be on hand, as Jessica Otten and Dave Little will be on the Sam McKee Memorial Broadcast Set, from where the duo will provide news, notes, selections and a look at the night's featured races.

Joe Romanelli, who first hit the harness scene as the track announcer at Freehold Raceway, is now in his third month on the Big M TV team. He will handle interviews from the back paddock as well as providing commentary and selections on the FanDuel Television (FDTV) feed.

A GRAND CONTEST: Calling all handicappers!
