Episode 6

Welcome to the revamped Creekside Chat!

Hosted by Diamond Creek, Creekside Chat returns with a brand new format, talking about all things on the farm and in the industry.

Episode 6 live now on YouTube/Spotify/Apple Podcast

“Hunter was a rising star in our industry. The Meadows racing community, and the entire harness racing industry, are deeply saddened by this tragic event.”

The MSOA posted on its Facebook page that “Out of respect to the Meadows Racing Community the Meadows has cancelled racing for the remainder of the week.”

Myers, the son of trainer Michael Myers, began working with horses at an early age while growing up in Williamsport, OH. His family’s involvement in the sport spanned generations, going back to his dad’s grandfather and uncle. A cousin of his mother participated in racing as well. By the time Myers was a teenager, he was focused on becoming a driver.

He launched his driving career as a 16-year-old in 2014, winning 19 of 110 races while appearing at 29 tracks as he looked to establish himself on the Ohio fairs circuit. He got his first win with Uptown Dreamer, a horse trained by his dad, on July 11 at the Jackson County Fair in Wellston, and added two more victories before the day was over.

For his efforts that year, Myers was honored by the Ohio chapter of the U.S. Harness Writers Association with its Peter Haughton Memorial Award, given to “the young Ohioan who is an up-and-coming star among harness horsemen.”

Myers won 298 races over the next four years before notching his first $1 million season in purses in 2019, when he visited the winner’s circle 164 times. Two years later, Myers won 349 starts to begin a streak of four top 20 finishes in victories among all drivers in North America. Twice he was in the top 10, including last season when he won 455 races and set a career high with $4.59 million in purses.

Among his top victories in 2024 were the $100,000 Moni Maker Stakes and $52,355 Currier & Ives, two Grand Circuit events, with the season’s Dan Patch Award-winning 3-year-old female trotter Allegiant.

In addition to racing at The Meadows, he competed regularly at MGM Northfield Park, where he was among the track’s leading drivers.

He won 2,450 races and $21.7 million in purses during his career and was a three-time finalist for the U.S. Harness Writers Association’s Rising Star Award.

“The tragic news about driver Hunter Myers’ passing saddens all of us at the USTA and throughout the industry,” the U.S. Trotting Association said in a statement.

“The sport is in mourning.

“Hunter Myers was a driver, and a very good one at that. An Ohio native, he grew up in the sport and started driving in 2014. When he tragically died Thursday morning at the age of 27 following a racing accident at The Meadows in Washington, PA, on March 19, he had amassed 2,450 career victories in just under 11 years.

“The statistics and his obvious talent, however, do not begin to tell the whole story. He was a beloved son to his parents. A doting father to his toddler son. An adored partner to his fiancée. And a loyal, funny, generous friend to the legions in American harness racing who knew him.

“Hunter Myers was an integral, remarkable part of the fabric of the sport and he died doing what he loved. Now those who loved him – and there are many – are left to contemplate an unexpected and indescribable loss.

“The U.S. Trotting Association extends its deepest sympathies to Hunter Myers’ family and loved ones, and mourns a shining light dimmed too soon. May his memory be a blessing to all who knew him.”

Northfield Park also released a statement saying:

“MGM Northfield Park is shocked and saddened by the tragic passing of driver Hunter Myers.

“Hunter Myers has been a staple at MGM Northfield Park since he was 16 and was a respected figure on our backstretch.

“Hunter Myers was currently one of the top 10 drivers in North America and top five at Northfield Park.

Our thoughts and prayers are with his family, fiancé Chloe, son Hayden, and the entire harness racing community.”

All of us at HRU extend our deepest sympathies to Hunter’s family and friends, in particular, his fiancé Chloe Fisher, and son, Hayden.

If the U.S. imposes 25 per cent tariffs based on the stud fee of Ontario-based stallions like Bulldog Hanover (above) it will be a massive disincentive for U.S. breeders to continue to breed to Canadian stallions.

Arika Everatt-Meeuse, the second-generation owner of her family's Shannondoe Farm thoroughbred breeding operation near St. Thomas, ON, believes blanket 25 per cent tariffs would end the Ontario horse racing industry that supports more than 23,000 full-time equivalent jobs in the province, contributes $1.9 billion to the province's gross domestic product (GDP) annually and is responsible for more than $327 million in yearly Ontario tax revenue. Breeders and other horsepeople are responsible for 80 per cent of that GDP contribution.

"A 25 per cent tariff on the product we are raising will be the end of the thoroughbred business in Ontario," Everatt-Meeuse said via text. "We have to export and appeal to U.S. buyers to survive."

Currently, U.S. tariffs are due to be applied to Canadian goods on April 2. However, there is uncertainty about what will or won't happen.

In Canada, the federal government is ramping up a response with reciprocal tariffs on some goods. What's not clear yet is if the horse racing industry will be included in Canadian tariffs. The federal government is currently taking public input until March 25 about proposed countermeasures to U.S. tariffs. Industry leaders are strongly encouraged to submit input to better inform the government and request an exemption to Canadian tariffs for purebred breeding and racing animals. The form can be accessed here.

Even if Canada does not apply reciprocal tariffs on horses connected to racing, Canadian breeders are already facing a devastating financial hit from proposed U.S. tariffs of 25 per cent.

$4.5 MILLION IN TARIFFS ON CANADIAN YEARLINGS

In 2024, 157 Canadian thoroughbred yearlings were sold at U.S. auctions totalling more than $7.6 million (USD) in sales. On the standardbred side, Canadian breeders sold 110 yearlings at U.S. sales in 2024 for total sales of approximately $4.8 million. Combining thoroughbreds and standardbreds, Canadians sold 268 yearlings in the U.S. in 2024 for total sales of $12.4 million.

We're not exactly sure, yet, how tariffs might be applied and how border agents determine the true value of those horses – those are two major concerns. But, if breeders are forced to post a bond at the border on horses produced in Canada – regardless of whether the stallion is Canadian or U.S. – and then pay a 25 per cent tariff based on the eventual auction sale price of those horses sold in the U.S., that means those 268 yearlings would have been subjected to total U.S. tariffs of $3.1 million in 2024. At current exchange rates, that's about $4.5 million (CDN).

Also, yearlings are only a fraction of the horses being sold in the U.S. by Canadians. Weanlings, racehorses and broodmares are also routinely sold in the U.S. The tariff figure, when you factor in all horses connected to the horse racing industry, would be significantly higher than $4.5 million.

It's not as simple as saying those horses should be sold in Canada. Of those 2024 yearlings sold in the U.S. by Canadian breeders, more than 80 per cent of thoroughbreds and 56 per cent of standardbreds were sired by stallions standing in the U.S. That means they were made for the U.S. market and bring far more money selling in the U.S. where the horse-buying contingent is significantly larger. Canadian breeders already struggle with thin margins and high inflation and need to make every dollar to survive.

HORSE RACING HAS BEEN BORDERLESS FOR DECADES

The Ontario horse racing industry, much like the auto sector, is intertwined with its U.S. counterparts. In fact, horse racing has long been essentially borderless around the world. This is particularly true between Canada and the United States. Horses routinely cross the border to breed and race and have done so, tariff free, for decades.

“The horse industry knows no political or economic borders,” said David Anderson, president of the both the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society’s (CTHS) national and Ontario divisions and owner of the Anderson Farms breeding operation in St. Thomas, ON started by his father. “We are all driven by our shared passion for the sport and the industry we’ve built together. Implementing economic sanctions will only weaken the foundation we’ve worked so hard to establish. Genetic pools are tight enough for breeders as it is. We need to continually introduce new bloodlines from all corners of the world in order to evolve the breeds.”

Less than an hour east of St. Thomas in Embro, ON, Tammy McNiven is convinced tariffs would close her family’s standardbred breeding operation Twinbrook Farms. Standardbred rules allow a stallion to be located in one jurisdiction and still breed mares in another via shipped semen and artificial insemination. Twinbrook predominantly breeds its mares to U.S.-based stallions and raises the foals in Ontario. When foals turn one and become yearlings, Twinbrook sells those horses at auction in the United States.

McNiven said tariffs from the U.S. side would be devastating, but reciprocal tariffs from the Canadian government would completely kill her family’s business.

“If we start paying tariffs on [horse] semen coming into Canada and our yearlings going out of Canada, we’re done, because if the Americans have to pay [tariffs] on the stud fee, they’ll stop breeding in Ontario,” McNiven said. “People like us, who [have] 95 per cent American [bred horses], because there’s not enough people to buy horses in Ontario, it’ll put us out of business.”

Ontario is home to 10,000 horses connected to the horse racing industry. Blanket tariffs could place many horses at risk if those that care for them don’t have the financial means to do so.

BREEDERS WORRY POLITICIANS DON'T UNDERSTAND HORSE RACING ECONOMICS

Those that breed racehorses fear politicians and border officials fail to understand both how to properly value horses and how the economics of the industry works.

Early indications from when U.S. tariffs were briefly in place at the beginning of March before being paused show U.S. border agents could apply 25 per cent fees to shipped semen crossing the border and that fee will be based on the stud fee – the amount charged to breed to that stallion if, and only if, there is a live foal a year later.

For example, standardbred stallion Bulldog Hanover, the fastest horse in harness racing history, stands at Seelster Farms in Lucan, ON. His stud fee is $15,000 (U.S.). A 25 per cent tariff applied to his semen would be an added cost of $3,750 (U.S.) to U.S. breeders each and every time his semen crosses the border to breed a mare based in the U.S. It takes, on average, two shipments of semen to successfully impregnate a mare, but the number of shipments could be as high as nine. So, let's use three shipments as a slightly-above-average example. If tariffs are charged on each shipment, the total tariff fee for the owner of a U.S. mare that requires three shipments of Bulldog Hanover semen to produce a live foal would be $11,250 ($3,750 x3), raising the cost to breed to him by 75 per cent to $26,250 (stud fee of $15,000 + $11,250 in tariffs).

In 2024, combining the numbers from Ontario's three biggest standardbred farms that stand stallions – Winbak Farm, Seelster Farms and Tara Hills Stud – the number of U.S. clients each farm has ranges from 23 per cent to as high as 55 per cent depending on the stallion. That means significant U.S. tariffs already threaten the loss of between a quarter and half of those farms' customers almost overnight.

VALUE OF SEMEN CAN'T BE BASED ON STUD FEE

"You cannot value semen according to the stud fee," said Ann Straatman, the reproduction manager at Seelster, a farm owned by her family and started by her father and his siblings. "If you want to tariff the boxes of semen going across the border, there's definitely goods and services crossing the border which makes it possible to transfer Canadian stallion semen to the mare residing in the U.S. The value is approximately $100 Canadian – $45 for the packaging, $55 for the process and handling. And there's an invoice that goes with that... We would understand that kind of a tariff, but it's not fair or agreeable to charge a tariff on transported semen from Canada.

"The semen itself is worthless, and it's never sold... Those breeders receiving the stallion semen are not charged for it [on delivery]. Mares often require multiple shipments of semen. The service fee is only due when the mare produces a live foal, and only approximately 65 per cent of mares bred by artificial insemination actually produce a live foal which would trigger a service fee. So, to tariff 100 per cent of the service fee every time is impractical and unfair.

"They don't understand that our entire business is built, the breeding part, on 11 months ahead, and then, when you're selling yearlings, 18 months ahead. So, it's a long-term plan into the future that people are going to think twice about."

How horses will be valued at the border is a major concern. Everatt-Meeuse said it's a complicated issue.

"When will the tariff be imposed?" she asked. "When we somehow prove the value of the horse at border crossing or will they track and add additional tariffs at the time of sale, say for fall yearlings? For Ontario-bred horses already in the U.S. prior to the implementation of the tariffs, could they catch up to the horse as it sells and, if so, who is paying it then? All that confusion will further deter U.S. buyers from our [Ontario] product."

BREEDERS WORK YEARS IN ADVANCE TO PRODUCE PRODUCT

McNiven said changing to an entirely Canadian horse breeding operation simply won't work.

"To put all our eggs in one basket in Ontario, there's a ceiling of the amount of money being spent in Ontario," McNiven said. "It's not sustainable to run a breeding farm in Ontario right now on the averages that we get. That's why we're diversified on both sides of the border."

Even if Twinbrook did switch to only breeding horses in Canada and selling them in Canada, it would take upwards of five years to make the transformation. It currently has many years of U.S.-bred horses in the pipeline.

"It'll take us three to five years to switch our business model because of everything that's in line – the babies on the ground, the pregnancies, the yearling crop," McNiven said.

Then there are the ancillary businesses – the vets, the people that grow hay or make equipment, the truck and trailer dealers, the coffee shops and restaurants and hundreds of other businesses supported by horsepeople that earn their living from the horse racing industry on both sides of the border.

Genesse Valley Farm, located just across the border in Batavia, NY, has been shipping standardbred semen between the U.S. and Canada for 34 years. Jacquie Valder-Phillips who does the shipping said tariffs on shipped semen would deal a harsh blow to their business.

"It's been a good run, but maybe this is it," Valder-Phillips said. "I hope not. I've met a lot of nice people. It's really been a great business. It's seasonal. But I feel for some farms, like Tara Hills, probably 50 per cent of his clients are U.S. So, what's going to happen to him? I also ship for Winbak and Seelster. They will certainly be majorly impacted."

It's just another indication that tariffs will be damaging on both sides of the border.

“I don’t see horses as Canadian or American, I see them as North American, part of a unified effort to strengthen our breeding and racing programs,” said Anderson. “These barriers won’t just cripple the industry in Canada, they will also have significant economic consequences for our partners and friends in the U.S. I truly hope our countries can find a reasonable solution for the future of our sport.”

David Heffering, owner of Tara Hills Stud in Port Perry, ON started by his father, said action is needed by people in the industry on both sides of the border.

“I don’t like seeing Americans and Canadians against one another,” Heffering said. “What I really don’t like is pitting Canadian horse owners against American horse owners. We need to all unify on both sides.

“Horsemen need to be reaching out on both sides... It should be a last resort if we have to do reciprocal tariffs, but what we should all be working on is saying, ‘No, there should be no tariffs on any product coming up on both sides.’”

CANADIAN FARMS CAN’T SURVIVE 25 PER CENT TARIFFS

Heffering said his farm cannot survive 25 per cent tariffs.

“We would all like to have a five to 10 per cent margin, but that’s hard to achieve,” he said. “How can we expect to pay 25 per cent and survive?”

American Joe Thomson has a massive investment in breeding standardbred horses on both sides of the border. He operates Winbak Farm that has locations in Ontario, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware. Winbak’s Ontario operation in Inglewood is home to 10 standardbred stallions.

“My biggest concerns are that the two leaders [of the U.S. and Canada] can’t get together on fair and equitable terms on the tariffs,” Thomson said via text. “The impact will be terrible if [tariffs] apply to semen, yearlings and racehorses. Too often, I think the politicians don’t understand the horse terminology, or how the industry works. Right now, I think there’s too much noise for anyone to listen, much less get anything positively accomplished on tariffs for us. Plus, other than President Trump I am not sure who you would talk to. Did I mention it is a mess?”

WHAT IF TARIFFS APPLY TO HORSES CROSSING THE BORDER TO RACE?

Thomson mentioned racehorses. There’s a rising concern that tariffs will also apply to horses travelling across the border to race. For many decades, horses have travelled back and forth to race, tariff free, just like a hockey team going to another country to compete.

Veterinarian and standardbred trainer Dr. Ian Moore said it’s going to be extremely difficult for border agents to determine a horse’s country of origin. He is currently training young horses in Florida that will soon come to his main base in Ontario for the racing season. Those horses have a mixture of Canadian and U.S. breeding and owners from both countries – some purchased in the U.S., some in Canada.

“All of this would get very confusing for CBSA (Canadian Border Service Agency) officials very quickly and in my case would heavily penalize Canadian owners that have bought young U.S. horses last year to train into future racehorses,” Moore wrote in an email to politicians that he shared.

First of all, Moore said tariffs should not apply to horses purchased before those tariffs go into effect, but also, he’s worried tariffs will slow or completely eliminate horses travelling to Canada to race. That will impact the number of horses in each race, which decreases betting and eventually leads to lower purses (prize money) that sustains the purchase and training of horses. It’s a concerning downward spiral.

“I would not be surprised if the vast majority of American trainers with American-owned horses don’t go near the border if this goes into play,” Dr. Moore said.

Anderson, a part-owner of Canadian-sired Breeders’ Cup winner Moira, said had 25 per cent tariffs been in place in 2024, her owners would have been hit with more than $1 million in tariffs.

Pennsylvania-based standardbred trainer Ron Burke operates the largest stable in harness racing. He routinely races in both countries, but said tariffs just might have him keep his horses in the United States.

“It’s going to be a serious issue,” Burke said via text. “I have no desire to post a bond to race my horses. As with everything else, we will cross that bridge when we have to, but I really don’t think we would want to come [to Canada to race]. Also, how do you value the horse?”

That point was mentioned by many – is a racehorse’s worth what it cost to produce that horse, what it originally sold for, what it has earned on the track, what it could be sold for or something else? It’s not clear.

For an industry that has endured inflation that has greatly increased the operating and breeding costs – which came shortly after rebounding from widespread closures and loss of revenue caused by the COVID-19 pandemic – tariffs represent the greatest concern to Ontario’s horse racing community since the province cancelled the successful Slots at Racetracks Program a little more than 10 years ago.

“It feels like when they pulled the Slots [at Racetracks Program in Ontario] and I was in such turmoil for weeks,” McNiven said. “It feels the same to me, except I’m older and I’m more fragile.”

Blue-collar I C Caviar begins final season with a win

by James Platz

As a 2-year-old, I C Caviar made six starts, reaching the winner's circle twice in his first season. Saturday night (March 22) the trotter will line up behind the Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing and Casino starting gate for the 344th time in a long and successful career. The Malabar Millennium gelding, now 14, kicked off his 2025 campaign with a victory last Saturday (March 15) for trainer Charlie Stewart and Lucky Label Stable LLC.

The 2025 season will be the third racing out of Stewart's barn. The diagonal-gaited gelding began 2023 competing for trainer

Joe Seekman before being claimed in late April of that year. I C Caviar had produced a win in six starts before the barn change.

"There was a claiming series at the beginning of the meet that year and I just kind of liked him," Stewart said. "He kind of stood out to me on paper. He didn't show much, but he just kind of stood out to me, you know, with all the back class and whatnot."

Prior to 2023, I C Caviar had shown that he could be consistently competitive. With the exception of his 3-year-old season, the trotter notched wins each year, banking over $430,000 in the process. Through the years, I C Caviar has taken seasonal marks while winning at multiple tracks including The Meadowlands, Yonkers, Harrah's Philadelphia, Scioto Downs, Miami Valley and The Meadows.

"I actually looked him up," Stewart said. "He's bred by some people in Michigan. He's Pennsylvania bred, but I think he was foaled in P.E.I. So, I think he's done a lot of traveling."

The well-traveled veteran has achieved success at a number of venues, but under the guidance of Stewart, I C Caviar has enjoyed a strong run at Hoosier Park. Outside of one start last season when the gelding was claimed, Stewart has sent I C Caviar to battle 57 times. The result? Seventeen trips to the winner's circle and just over $175,000 in earnings including his first six-figure season. Not bad for a $15,000 initial investment.

Dean Gillette
I C Caviar (John De Long) started his 2025 season off with a victory last Saturday at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

“ Well, my 2-year-old son usually loads [I C Caviar] on a trailer before he goes to race. My wife has a TikTok of my son last year going in the stall. He’s laying down and my son is hugging on him. He’s pretty gentle in the barn. When you hook him up, he’s a little rowdy, but everything else is pretty good. ”

~ Charlie Stewart

“He’s a barn favorite right now,” Stewart said.

As he should be. The conditioner said that he partnered with owner Eric O’Neill, the man behind Lucky Label Stable, five years ago. I C Caviar is the most successful horse the two men have had together during that time.

“He’s one of his favorites also,” Stewart said. “He’s owned quite a few horses and he always asks how the old man’s doing. I usually send him an update once or twice a week.”

Bred by Pine Creek Stables of Kalamazoo, MI, I C Caviar isn’t just a favorite due to his success on the track. The campaigner is easy to get along with around the barn.

“Well, my 2-year-old son usually loads him on a trailer before he goes to race,” the trainer said. “My wife has a TikTok of my son last year going in the stall. He’s laying down and my son is hugging on him. He’s pretty gentle in the barn. When you hook him up, he’s a little rowdy, but everything else is pretty good.”

Stewart said that I C Caviar’s primary issue on the track is tying up, which requires careful management during the summer months.

“He’s got a couple of issues, you know, like a typical trotter, nervous ones tie up, that kind of stuff,” he said. “So, we try to baby him on that end of it. I will give him a break when it gets warm, just for the fact of the tying up. I like to give him a little bit of a break in the summertime here and there, especially when it gets really hot. Soundness wise, he’s always been good. He’s just a project on the tying up.”

During Hoosier Park’s opening weekend, I C Caviar led off his final campaign with a resounding win. Steered by John DeLong, the 14-year-old sat second through a :57.2 opening half before brushing to the lead and opening up by seven lengths in the stretch. The winning margin in a mile clocked in 1:57.3 was 4½ lengths. The veteran was sent off as the heavy favorite on his way to winning for the 58th time in his career.

“We always try to make sure he’s in a class where he can compete,” Stewart said. “He’s pretty tough. You know, he can do it on the front end, he can do it out of a hole.”

Last year the trotter made 28 starts for his connections, hitting the board 16 times and collecting eight wins, all while raking in $70,864. I C Caviar missed a check only three times for Stewart in 2024.

“He’s sound,” the conditioner said of I C Caviar, now a winner of over $600,000 lifetime. “He’s pretty healthy right now. We just keep him trying to feel good all the time. You keep them old guys fat and happy, they seem to do pretty good for you. I honestly think he could have a year like he did last year.”

The trotter has drawn post 6 in Saturday night’s second race, an event for non-winners of $5,000 in their last four starts. I C Caviar isn’t a star attraction at Hoosier Park, but he is the kind of horse any trainer would want in their barn. He’s a blue-collar horse that has consistently delivered results for his connections, and hopefully he’ll reach the winner’s circle several more times during the 2025 campaign.

Randomly looking at Hambletonian Day through the years

by Bob Heyden

A lot happens on Hambletonian Day. In addition to America's Trotting Classic, plenty of top horses compete in other stakes. Here's a look at some standout performances through the years.

1948: Demon Hanover wins for hat manufacturer Harrison Hoyt who becomes the first of just two amateurs to win the Hambletonian (Malabar Man with amateur Mal Burroughs driving won in 1997). A $2,600 yearling Demon Hanover was the one who ended Proximity's 16-race winning streak that same year and Hoyt then found himself besieged with offers. But he stood his ground.

1983: Joe Thomson of Winbak Farm competes in the sports first ever seven-figure, $1,080,000, trot with longshot Super Spy who finished 12th and did not advance. Cam Fella, 4, makes his final Meadowlands appearance winning the U.S. Pacing Championship. Hall of Fame conditioners on that day's card were: Anthony Abbatiello, Ray Remmen, Billy Haughton, Doug Ackerman, Howard Beissinger, Glen Garnsey, Ron Waples, Jerry Silverman, Bill O'Donnell, Ted Wing, and Gene Riegle.

1984: Held on Aug. 4, just 12 days prior to the richest ever race, the $2,161,000 Wilson captured by Nihilator, Green With Envy won her 15th race of the meet and would later tie Genghis Khan at 16 for a single season best in East Rutherford. Cornstalk was fourth timed in 1:58.2 in his Hambletonian elim. In a few short weeks in the Midwest he'd set the new trotting mark of 1:53.4. The 1982 Meadowlands Pace winner Hilarion now 5, was also on the card. He was just eight-for-42 combined at 4 and 5 since his shining moment defeating No Nukes two years prior. Instrument Landing was also on the card as a 3-year-old competing in the Howard Camden barn. A decade later he'd retire as the winningest Meadowlands horse of all time with 47 wins. Aerobatic was also competing versus the open 3YOs. Two starts prior he had set the track record for sophs with a 1:52.1 new standard which doubled at that time as the fastest ever Herve Filion drive.

1987: Super Mario Baillargeon got some good money following Mack Lobell with Spotlight Lobell in the Hambletonian driving for Team Nordin. Can you believe that Jimmy Takter made his Hambletonian debut 38 years ago? Sir Taurus was sixth with Benny Webster driving.

1989: On the memorable Hambletonian Dead Heat Card was history's first horse to make over a million before competing in East Rutherford. Runnymede Lobell banked $1,108,355 as a sophomore in 1988 taking the rich North America Cup.

1990: Harmonious, in just his ninth career start, takes the Hambletonian for his first stakes win! Jeff Gural sent out Lady Genius in the Tarport Hap.

1991: A 2-year-old named Alf Palema is familiarizing himself making his seventh career start, all in New Jersey. This of course would be his day just a year later. Stanley Dancer's last six-figure driving win at The Meadowlands comes on Hambletonian Day 1991 capturing the Merrie Annabelle with a pot of $357,250 with Super Nice. Jack Moiseyev drives Giant Victory for the very first time and boom, wins the whole enchilada.

2001: Just 38 days prior to 9/11, Scarlet Knight wins the Hambletonian to go to nine-for-nine and Syrinx Hanover takes the Oaks to improve to five-for-five. A $1 million bonus was on the table that year for anyone who could capture the Grand Slam consisting of the Hambletonian, Kentucky Futurity, World Trotting Derby and the Breeders Crown. Gallo Blue Chip and Eternal Camnation meet for the only time ever in the U.S. Pacing Championship. He was second but she didn't cash. They would soon reign as the richest male and female pacers of all-time. Real Desire overcomes post 12 to win the Holmes. It was Joe DeFrank's final Hambletonian Day. He had been the race secretary since the track's 1976 opening.

2003: Adam Victor is the meets leading owner. Mike Lachance who had qualified Amigo Hall once drives him for the very first time in a race and upsets in the Hambletonian. Dave Miller takes superstar Kadabra in the Cashman leaving his prized Magician in Luc Ouellette's hands. Malabar Millennium was in action after winning his Hambletonian elim. Was there any pressure on him seeing that his parents won the Hambletonian (Malabar Man) and the Oaks (Gleam)? Who knows, but he didn't cash. 2001 HOY Bunny Lake was on the card. Six notables from that day no longer with us are: Jack Baggitt, Jr., Jim Doherty, Eric Ledford, Ted Wing, and of course, Dave Brower and Sam McKee.

2017: First ever New Jersey Hambletonian without John Campbell who had retired five weeks earlier. First 21st century Hambletonian without McKee who we lost on March 8. JL Cruze competes in the Cashman at age 6 and is still at it in 2025 at 14 now past $2 million. At 25, trainer Marcus Melander debuts in the Hambletonian, finishing third with Enterprise. First Sam McKee Memorial goes to upsetter Check Six.

2024: Top guys had tough posts. The four-time defending Canadian Driver of the Year James MacDonald and the five times in the last six years U.S. Driver of the Year, Dexter Dunn, got posts 9 and 10 in both the Hambletonian and Oaks. MacDonald got post 9 with Private Access in the Hambletonian and then 10 with Drawn Impression versus the girls. Dunn had post 10 with Amazing Catch versus the colts and post 9 with Date Night Hanover in the Oaks.

MANE ATTRACTION

with JOHN BERRY

Ain't that a shame

by John Berry

Many years ago, I had a radio show – the midnight to 2 a.m. slot – featuring big band and jazz music from the 1920s, 1930s and 1940s; once in a “blue moon,” a little more modern, like in the late 1940s or early 1950s.

That was a wild era with songs about pot and booze along with love songs where the words meant something; classics that still live today amongst my thankfully aging peers.

Among those grand compositions were Duke Ellington's Mood Indigo, Lionel Hampton's great Ring Dem Bells, Teddy Hill's Blue Rhythm Fantasy, and Andy Kirk's Ghost of Love.

But this week, a modern tune came to this aging brain done only about 70 years ago by Fats Domino, Ain't That A Shame.

They had qualifiers a few days ago at Sunshine Meadows and the deck was filled with my cronies from that grand era of greatness.

I got a chance to catch up with gentlemen – my peers – as they were the pioneers that laid the foundation for the greatness of our sport.

Tom Merriman, Murray Brown, Fred Grant, Wally Hennessey, Peter Blood, Bob Marks, Mike Murphy, a few of the thousands that made harness racing and the standardbred the king of all breeds.

All are, thankfully, aging these days – many don't have that privilege – and these historical conversations keep history alive but in danger of being forgotten as time goes by.

Merriman is about to celebrate his 82nd birthday and his white and maroon colors lit up winner's circles for many decades and, at Pompano Park in 1964, he was one of the first to show up in the winner's circle.

Merriman was a great athlete and could have pursued a career as a football player and a track star of another sort, the quarter mile dash in track and field events.

But he chose our sport and wherever he traveled, whether it be his homeland of Michigan or New York or New Jersey or Florida, he plied with trade as a great trainer and driver of the standardbred.

On this day, we remembered the greats Energy Burner, China Dragon, Noble Move and, of course, Senator Frost.

Merriman is an icon in these eyes.

Brown and I go back, probably, close to a half-century, and it was his association with Hanover Shoe Farms and the greatest broodmare sire of all time, Tar Heel, that brought us together.

Foaled in Canada, Brown is somewhere around age 29 Celsius and continues to serve and entertain harness racing via his outstanding written words for Harness Racing Update.

Without question, Brown is an encyclopedia in the breeding industry and, in today's world, his brilliance is beyond artificial intelligence.

His knowledge and stories are priceless, one of which was the tale of a trainer that bought a horse years ago for a couple of clients, with one of the clients ditching on the horse after the sale.

It took a while to get the mess straightened out and get paid for the horse; that happened to be the grand Muscle Hill, the winner of over $3.3 million with a mark just one tick within 1:50.

Working with the great Grant during the stakes seasons the last few years, these qualifiers gave me an opportunity to be next to a legend.

Now 74, the Nova Scotia native, who got his PHD in our sport from Stanley Dancer, had the fortunate task of taking care of, first, Silent Majority and, then, Handle With Care with Billy Haughton.

It's almost a half century since Grant went out on his own and developed Señor Skipper, one of the fastest sons of Meadow Skipper.

When I was asked to make prognostications for the USTA back over 40 years ago, my choice was Boomer Drummond one of the top pacers in 1984, under the care of Grant.

“ I've been fortunate to have a career like this. And I've won many stakes events [well over 250] including the Woodrow Wilson and Kentucky Futurity [twice], but Moni Maker has to be the highlight over her six years on the track. ”

~ Wally Hennessey

“ This colt was trotting so fast that the quarter horse couldn’t keep up with him. The video truck was going around 28 miles per hour and the young colt was probably doing 30. He didn’t have much of a pedigree and we thought he’d bring, maybe, [$10,000]. There were only a couple of bidders but they got into a war and he wound up going for $80,000. The horse, Giant Force, eventually became an international star and won well over $1 million, and all because of a quarter horse that couldn’t keep up with a yearling. ”

~ Bob Marks

We reminisced about Markim’s Pride, Seven O’Clock and, one of the gutsiest horses I have ever witnessed on the track, Guts.

He could, and still can, dissect the good, bad and the ugly of any horse under his tutelage.

While the amazing Hennessey, now 68, begins the year with a poker hand of “Aces and Eights” – 11,881 wins – it’s amazing that it has been over a quarter-century since the grand Moni Maker made her indelible impression on our sport by winning $5,589,256 during her career reaching the winner’s circle 44 times in 62 starts, including the Hambletonian Oaks, a trio of Breeders Crown events and the prestigious Nat Ray (whom we have forgotten) on three occasions, as well.

“I’ve been fortunate to have a career like this,” Hennessey said. “And I’ve won many stakes events [well over 250] including the Woodrow Wilson and Kentucky Futurity [twice], but Moni Maker has to be the highlight over her six years on the track.”

Blood will be 81 in a few days and remains one of the most articulate horsemen I have ever met.

“The thing that amazes me about this sport is the speed, which has been unbelievable over the last quarter century,” Blood said. “An example of that was a 2-year-old colt named Maximum Speed back in before the turn of the century [2000, the new century started in 2001].

“He won a [$58,500] stake for me at Rosecroft in 1:59.4. Over the last few years, I’ve had horses pace home in :26 and a piece get clocked way below 1:50 and not get anywhere close to winning or getting a check.

“It’s great to have a Boston Rocks [a $589,000 winner], but even a horse of his caliber has trouble competing with these 1:47 performers.

“I’m not complaining, though, it’s been a great ride over the years remembering horses like Firecreek and Currituck Vernon, that goes back 40 or 45 years.”

Marks, well known handicapper, pedigree expert and accomplished author, lamented the time, years ago, before yearling videos came into vogue, when a prospective buyer was looking for a colt and wanted to see him in the field, ponying him alongside a quarter horse.

“This colt was trotting so fast that the quarter horse couldn’t keep up with him,” Marks said. The video truck was going around 28 miles per hour and the young colt was probably doing 30.

“He didn’t have much of a pedigree and we thought he’d bring, maybe, [$10,000]. There were only a couple of bidders but they got into a war and he wound up going for $80,000.

“The horse, Giant Force, eventually became an international star and won well over $1 million, and all because of a quarter horse that couldn’t keep up with a yearling.”

Finally, Murphy, a gentleman I first met in 1983 when he loaned me a horse “bred to be a good one,” Top Line Collins.

I drove him in a media event at Pompano Park and Murph said to “go right down the road with him.”

I did just that and he got to the three quarters in 1:38 and a piece and was passed like he was standing still right after that.

The next morning, I was talking with trackman Ted Malloy and he was holding a broken bit found at the top of the stretch.

Funny thing, that’s exactly where Top Line Collins spit his out!

Yes, tales like this – some historical, many hysterical – gradually fade away as the inevitable catches up with all of us.

And, as Fats Domino sung so philosophically, Ain’t That A Shame.

MAY THE HORSE BE WITH YOU

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Bryce Gulbransen can't get enough when it comes to harness racing

by Chris Lomon

Bryce Gulbransen is a prime example of dedication and versatility in the horse racing world.

The amicable, articulate 19-year-old from Lebanon, OH, is anything but a one-trick pony when it comes to her standardbred racing.

Over the past eight or so months, Gulbransen has had several welcome reminders of the multitude of roles racing has to offer and how integral each one is to the across-the-board success of the sport.

"I am involved [in racing] now, but I want to get involved in different aspects of the sport," she said. "I would say that would be one of my short-term goals with racing, to take on new things and look at other roles in the industry.

"When you sit back, you understand there are so many other roles, important ones, that help this industry flourish."

Growing up in a racing family under her mother, Antonia Storer, and gaining hands-on experience with top trainers in Pennsylvania, Gulbransen developed a strong work ethic early on.

Storer, who started as a groom before launching her own training stable in 2018, has been an ideal role model for her daughter.

"I enjoy the long days at the barn, just spending time with my mom and the horses," Gulbransen said. "After everyone has gone, doing your own thing, putting on some music and just taking care of the horses – those moments are some of my favorite memories.

"My mom is the one who taught me everything. She encouraged me to go on with it."

Which is exactly what Gulbransen did.

Lessons learned from her mother led to opportunities in other barns in the Keystone State.

"I had some great opportunities to work for some very good trainers in Pennsylvania," said Gulbransen, who lists the hard-trying, ornery bay mare Bellacache, a daughter of Aracache

Courtesy Bryce Gulbransen
Bryce Gulbransen.

Hanover—Endora Hanover, as her heart horse. "They gave me a lot of responsibilities, which helped me learn and helped me grow in the business. I guess you could say they threw the lines at me and let me learn. That is a wonderful thing when you are trusted to that degree. It made me take a lot of pride in my work."

It also set the foundation for her life outside of the racetrack. Navigating long hours, paying attention to detail, mastering time management, pushing through tough moments – Gulbransen transferred those skills from the barn into life in the classroom. Currently attending Sinclair College in Dayton, OH, where she is studying Radiology, Gulbransen is planning to transfer to the University of Cincinnati soon.

“So, I tried the outriding, and it is the best of both worlds. You get to be part of racing, but you are riding at the same time. I have been busy lately, so I haven’t been doing it, but I hope to be doing it again in the future.”

~ Bryce Gulbransen

“You might not think there are similarities between what I am studying and what I do with horses, but I do see some, especially work ethic,” she said. “Working with horses has been so helpful in my studies.”

The two worlds met last year.

This past August, the Ohio Harness Horsemen’s Association (OHHA) awarded 17 scholarships, totaling $15,000 USD, to college students for the 2024-2025 academic year.

The OHHA Scholarship is available to graduating high school seniors and students enrolled in a degree or certificate program. Graduate students are eligible if they are enrolled in a harness racing-specific graduate or professional-level program. The scholarships are based on academic merit and must be used towards the cost and expenses related to coursework and a degree being pursued at a college or university. In addition, the applicant or a family member must be an OHHA member.

Gulbransen checked all the boxes as an ideal recipient.

“I still work for my mom,” Gulbransen said. “I ship our horses to the track and race them at night. I do my classes in the morning. My days are pretty much at school and then heading straight to the track and racing.”

Last summer, Gulbransen expanded the scope of her multifaceted standardbred skill set after an offer from a familiar face.

“I have been riding horses since I was little,” she said. “I used to show horses, so I have always enjoyed riding. Ashley Holliday is our outrider at Dayton [Raceway] and I have known her since I was young. She runs an outriding clinic and over the past summer, she said she would love to have me come by and ride, even if it wasn’t connected to outriding.

“So, I tried the outriding, and it is the best of both worlds. You get to be part of racing, but you are riding at the same time. I have been busy lately, so I haven’t been doing it, but I hope to be doing it again in the future.”

In between getting a leg up, staying on top of her course load, and ensuring her mother’s horses are race-ready, Gulbransen carves out time to enjoy the outdoor scene.

“I like to spend time outdoors, going on runs and hikes,” she said. “Staying healthy and active is important, which is something my mother always taught me. Other than that, I don’t have a lot of time.”

Not that she views that as a negative.

“If you enjoy what you are doing, it is never a bad thing,” Gulbransen said.

Guided by a strong support system from her family and mentors, Gulbransen is motivated to further her affinity for horse racing, while crafting a life filled with passion and purpose.

“Whether it’s with horses, school or anything else in my life, I have always had a great amount of support from so many people,” Gulbransen said. “They have all helped me reach my goals and keep striving for more. I think no matter what the future holds, I’ll be happy with how it turns out.”

First-foal Cannibal filly arrives at Diamond Creek

by Caroline Vazquez

This filly from the first crop of Cannibal arrived in late-February at Diamond Creek. The filly is the first foal out of Dance Number, an Always B Miki mare that is a half-sister to Sweet Lou gelding Cupid Shuffle that earned nearly $150,000 and had a mark of 1:49.3.

Brett Beckwith: From Rising Star to Stars and Stripes

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Brett Beckwith's penchant for winning races has already put him among the leading drivers in North America. Later this year, he will take aim at triumphing abroad.

Beckwith, the 2024 Dan Patch Rising Star Award winner, has been selected by the U.S. Trotting Association to wear the Stars and Stripes and represent America in November's World Driving Championship in New Zealand.

Since the beginning of 2023, Beckwith has posted more than 1,200 victories – a total exceeded by only three drivers in North America. He finished seventh in wins in 2023, third in 2024, and is third again so far this season.

For his career, Beckwith, who turned 22 in January, has won more than 1,550 races and earned $15 million in purses.

"In only his fourth year of full-time driving, Brett Beckwith is a 22-year-old up-and-comer who recently won the U.S. Harness Writers Association's Rising Star Award," said Russell Williams, president of the USTA, "and he topped the standings at Saratoga Raceway and Plainridge Park. His talent and enthusiasm are going to take him a long way, and he's excited to represent the United States in the World Driving Championship. So are we."

Beckwith said accepting the opportunity to compete in the WDC was an easy decision.

"Obviously, it's a huge honor to represent your country," Beckwith said. "Aside from the fact that you get to represent your country, and you're driving against seven, eight, nine of the best people in their respective countries, you're also getting the chance to visit other parts of the world. I work a lot, and I race a lot, and I always tell myself it's something I'm going to start doing – venturing off to different parts of the world when I get the time to. I'm grateful, and I'm looking forward to it."

The last U.S. driver to win the WDC was Dave Magee in 1995.

"I'll try to get a championship for America," Beckwith said. "I don't think of it as any pressure, I think of it as an added bonus. It's cool enough just representing your country, but to get the win for it, that would be huge."

The WDC will begin at Kaikoura Raceway, which will host the first two days of the 20-race event, Nov. 2 and Nov. 3. Cambridge Raceway, Addington Raceway and Central Southland Raceway will follow before the championship wraps up with a one-race return to Addington on New Zealand Cup Day, Nov. 11.

"I'm a pretty avid race-watcher," Beckwith said. "I've watched races from down there, I've watched the New Zealand Cup, so I've got a little bit of an eye for it."

Jessica Hallett
Driver Brett Beckwith.

Beckwith followed his parents, driver Mark and trainer Melissa, into harness racing, but the family's roots run deeper. Melissa's late father, trainer Jerry Silverman, was inducted into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in 2019 and her brother, Richie, was the first Dan Patch Rising Star Award winner in 1986. Mark's late father, Bert, was one of New England's most respected horsemen of the 20th century.

Brett got his first win in 2019 but didn't begin driving regularly until two years later. In 2024, he set career highs with 608 victories and $6.27 million in purses while capturing the driving title at Saratoga and sharing the honor at Plainridge Park.

This year, Brett has 152 wins and $1.08 million in purses. He leads the way in victories at Saratoga again, and he is also atop the standings at The Meadowlands.

"Everything has gone exceptionally well, which is hard to say because of how great last year went," Brett said. "I didn't really go into this year with any goals because I thought it would be slightly unrealistic to expect to win 600 races again in a year. That's hard to do, I don't care who you are. I hustled all year for that, and this year has started off better win percentage wise, and The Meadowlands has been really good to me so far.

"It's wild," Beckwith added as he reflected on his career. "When you're in the moment, you don't think about it. I've raced almost seven days a week for the last two or three years, so you don't really get a chance to look back and think on it. The times when it comes into your head, you're like, wow. You're reminded of a memory from three or four years ago, and you can't believe you came that far."

The caretaker, Chantilly and a cherished connection

by Chris Lomon / Woodbine Mohawk Park

Every time caretaker Candace Nivins and the imperturbable filly step out of the Woodbine Mohawk Park paddock and into the spotlight of the racetrack, they share an unspoken understanding of what that moment represents.

“She is the only horse that has ever showed me, ‘If you get me ready, I will take it from here,’” said the 27-year-old Nivins.

In her nine lifetime races, the undefeated Chantilly has delivered on her promise, impressing her connections: owner and breeder George Millar, trainer Nick Gallucci, and Nivins.

A daughter of Big Jim—Shiraz Seelster, marked by dark spots on her white hind pasterns, Chantilly has been flawless since her emphatic 4¾-length debut victory on July 9, 2024, at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Sent off at 2-5 in an Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) Grassroots Series leg, she paced the mile in 1:54. Chantilly came into the race off one qualifier, a 1:59.4 mile on June 28 at Mohawk.

One week later, Chantilly rallied from fifth at the half to win by 2½ lengths in 1:50.4, pacing the final quarter in :26.1 in her OSS Gold final.

Those performances left Nivins nearly lost for words.

“After the qualifier, I was blown away,” she said. “When there was no second qualifier and she debuted in the Grassroots, I was speechless. Then, after her Gold win, I was at a loss for words again.”

Nivins never saw it coming.

Fate played a part in bringing the pacer and caretaker together.

“I didn’t meet Chantilly right away,” Nivins said. “When she came down from the broodmare farm, she wasn’t assigned to me. Her groom left about two or three months before her career began, and that’s when Nick knew I had an open spot and gave her to me.

“She would sleep a lot. She was just very quiet. She wasn’t finicky at all. I had never had a horse who was so straightforward and easy to work with.”

Nivins, who has worked with several standout horses in the Gallucci barn over her four years as a caretaker — including Silver Label, Velvet Stinger, Power Train, Chain Gang, Win Me Back, and Bettorbuckleup — soon realized by the year’s end just how special Chantilly is.

New Image Media
Canada’s Horse of the Year Chantilly and caretaker Candace Nivins at Woodbine Mohawk Park in 2024.

After her two OSS crowns, Chantilly won her next seven starts, capped off by a 6½-length triumph in her season-closing OSS Gold Super Final event. Other wins included the $532,000 Shes A Great Lady final and the $110,000 Eternal Camnation final.

She went off as the mutuel choice in all nine races. Three of the victories came from post 8. Her purse earnings totaled $761,000.

At the 36th O'Brien Awards, Chantilly was named Canada's 2-Year-Old Filly Pacer of the Year and Somebeachsomewhere Horse of the Year. She became just the fifth 2-year-old – and only the third pacing filly – to be named Canada's Horse of the Year, joining Emilie Cas El, Whenuwishuponastar, Somebeachsomewhere and JK She'salady.

Chantilly's on-track success helped Millar Farms earn its third Armstrong Breeder of the Year award and the title of leading owner at Woodbine Mohawk Park. Gallucci won his first Trainer of the Year title, while James MacDonald, who drove Chantilly in all her victories, earned his fourth consecutive Keith Waples Driver of the Year award.

"Honestly, I never saw this coming," Nivins said. "Tilly' never shows anything during training. If the other horses went slow, she did too. It wasn't until the first Gold race that I thought, 'Wow... she's something special.' This has all felt like a dream."

A most unexpected one for Nivins.

"When I was in college, I did a job placement for a week or two," Nivins said. "I became good friends with [longtime harness participants] Heather and Ken Hofacker. I finished my schooling, had one caretaker job with a different breed that didn't work out and then moved on to work for a dairy farmer. I saw a post online for the groom job with Nick and Millar Farms, so I reached out to Heather, and she said they are awesome people and it's a great place to work."

That was something she discovered early on.

"You fall into a rhythm, and you watch these horses grow and develop," Nivins said. "You see the horses gain confidence and you do the same. I had a very good first year, the second year was even better, the third year topped that and here we are."

Where it leads and what comes next for Chantilly is to be determined.

On March 10, it was announced 69 3-year-old pacers have been nominated to this year's $1 million North America Cup (G1) at Woodbine Mohawk Park. The 42nd edition of Canada's most prestigious harness race is set for June 14.

The headliner of the impressive list of Cup nominees is Chantilly. She is believed to be the first filly ever nominated to the North America Cup.

"I try not to think too far ahead," Nivins said. "I'm excited, but I prefer to take things day by day with her. If she races in the Cup, it would be an amazing story and fantastic publicity for our sport... but it wouldn't change how I feel about her. She's a confident horse, and if she does race, I know she'll make us all proud."

"After every win last year, the superstitions and holding your breath start setting in. It's why I like to live in the moment with her and any of our horses."

When Chantilly does make the first start of her sophomore season, Nivins, who lives on the Millar farm, knows what to expect as the minutes before post time tick down.

"In the paddock, I'm a mess and she's as cool as can be," Nivins said. "She's chilling, just hanging out, I have my music playing, trying to drown everything out and stay focused."

Then, just as they've done nine times before, Nivins and Chantilly will walk together, both understanding the unspoken bond they share.

"Just before I let her go, she gives me a sense of calm," Nivins said. "She is telling me, 'Don't worry... I will take care of you for this part, and you take care of me for the other parts.'"

Noted horseman James R. (Jim) McDonald, 69, dies

Noted horseman James R. (Jim) McDonald, 69, passed away suddenly at Holy Cross Hospital in Ft. Lauderdale, FL, after a brief illness.

Born Oct. 12, 1955 in St. John's, Newfoundland, McDonald became one of the most respected and admired horsemen in both his homeland and the United States.

In his career with horses spanning over a half century, he began at Avalon Raceway as a youngster and began driving in his early teens – his roots taking hold through his father and grandfather.

"I really loved the horses but the purses were very low back then," he said, "so I thought I'd have to leave my homeland – which I loved – to try and make it where the purses might be a little better and the chances of success were a bit better."

Longtime horseman Archie McNeil said, "I was in partnership with Jimmy's uncle, Pat McDonald, and he asked me if I could use some help.

"Of course, I said 'yes,' and, the next thing I heard was that Jimmy was on his way down to Florida."

Jim's career in Florida began very humbly as he was, virtually penniless and when he landed in Miami, he slept on the airport grounds before finding his way to Pompano Park to begin his career with McNeil.

"From Day One," Archie said, "Jim proved his worth as a hard worker who learned the trade very quickly.

"One horse he worked on was a knee-knocker named Macatross, a real knee-knocker... just about every stride he took.

"Jimmy got him straightened out and we won well over $100,000... and that was back in the early [19]80s."

Years ago, in an interview, Jim gave all the credit to the iconic horseman Aime Choquette saying in part, "He gave me this book on working with problem horses and I really got into that book and it taught me just about everything I needed to know about problem horses."

Over the years, he worked with, mainly, overnight stock with some stakes winners like G's Independence and open horses such as Agedcheddar Hanover, to name just a couple.

During the off-season, he had a hand in the continuing success of horses like Hyperion Hanover and McWicked.

"One of my favorites was Macadream," he said. "I had him from start to finish crossing two centuries [1993-2004], who won 66 races and took his mark [1:52f] at Pompano Park, at age 12.

"He made around $330,000 just grinding away as hard as he could every single start [248 of them]. He was some racehorse."

USTA records from 1977 on show Jim won 1,021 races as a driver and 1,567 as a trainer, plying that trade since the year 2000, leaving the driving chores to Hall of Fame horseman Wally Hennessey.

In using Hennessey, Jim's reasoning came down to this famous quote, "When Wally is in your bike, he can't beat you with somebody else's horse."

Lauded for his generosity of knowledge to other trainers, Jim became an icon among his peers, as well.

As Hennessey said, "Jimmy Mac was a gentleman – a gentle man, to his family and friends, both human and equine – whose acts and deeds will be cherished always."

Survivors include his wife, Dona, mother Madeline, brothers Carl (Angie), Gordon (Chris), Gary (Sue), Doug (Gay) and Jerry, sisters Betty (Dave), Brenda (Paddy) and Sharon, sons Jamie and John and many nieces, nephews and friends.

Funeral and memorial details are pending.

Mohawk Million slot draw complete

The slot owners for the 2025 Mohawk Million are set following a draw on Wednesday afternoon (March 19) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

A total of 37 individuals/groups put in to purchase a slot in this year's Mohawk Million, which led to a draw to determine the 10 slot owners. Each of the 10 slots was priced at $50,000.

The winners of the slot draw are listed below:

Bud Hatfield

Diane Bertrand

Bill Pollock

Brad Grant

Allister Stable

Bruce Northover

Kyle Northover

Hunterton Farms and Partners

Casie Coleman

Kemppi Stable Inc.

Each slot is an entity that may be sold, traded or leased. Slot owners must declare a horse to race in their slot by Sept. 15 at noon.

The 2025 Mohawk Million for 2-year-old trotters will take place on Sept. 20 at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

New episode of revamped Creekside Chat now available

Creekside Chat, revamped, has just dropped episode six (the start of season 2). Creekside Chat focuses on going behind the barn doors, with farm news, and segments on the harness racing industry at large.

The goal of Creekside Chat is to approach all industry topics, even the controversial ones, and to promote harness racing to the public. The most recent video was streamed 28,000 times. Creekside Chat is fully funded by Diamond Creek Farm and produced by an Emmy winning production company. In 2024 we had over 350,000 views on our YouTube channel, growing subscribers at a rate of 100 per month, making Creekside Chat currently one of the most successful harness racing media shows.

The show can be streamed on YouTube, Apple Podcast and Spotify.

Revision to Beach Glass stud fee

In an effort to address tariffs and currency fluctuations, Schooner II Stables, in partnership with Winbak Farm, has changed the 2025 service fee for Beach Glass.

The 2025 service fee for Beach Glass is now C$7,500. For customers who bred to Beach Glass in 2024 and are breeding the same mare or number of mares again this year, the stud fee will reduce to C$6,500.

“We are happy with our Beach Glass filly and I like everything about her,” said Andrew Carss, Erinwood Equine owner. “She’s athletic with a great front end and amazing back end; just amazing conformation. If all his foals look like ours, then Beach Glass has a great future.”

Big M qualifiers give a look at what lies ahead

With spring having officially sprung early Thursday (March 20) morning, it’s now the time of year for some of the better horses to come out of their cold-weather hibernation and start to prepare for the 2025 racing season.

Followers of The Meadowlands know this is true, and those same followers know that qualifiers at the mile oval sometimes have more marquee performers than the pari-mutuel card that takes place later the same evening.

There will be seven qualifiers at The Big M on Saturday (March 22) afternoon, and there are several big names who will be knocking off their cobwebs in preparation for the upcoming year.

The qualifiers begin at 4 p.m., and can be seen live on The Meadowlands website (playmeadowlands.com) or rtn.tv (Racing Television Network). To see the entries, go here.

The biggest name qualifying is Grace Hill. The 7-year-old daughter of Always B Miki—Western Silk, who won the 2023 Dan Patch Older Female Pacer of the Year trophy, has won 37 of 82 lifetime starts, good for a bankroll of $1,933,458. She’s in the sixth qualifier and will depart from post 2 with Jason Bartlett listed to drive.

Grace Hill had a solid 2024, winning eight of 21 outings and banking over $191,000. In addition, she was the only female to defeat Twin B Joe Fresh during that one’s Horse of the Year campaign.

“She came out of last week’s qualifier very well,” said trainer Virgil Morgan, Jr. “I entered her to race at The Meadowlands this weekend but her race didn’t fill, so we are qualifying again.

“Her target first race of the year is the Matchmaker at Yonkers on March 28. She’s definitely right on schedule. She has a long year of stakes, so we will pick our spots. [Owner] Tom Hill is really good about letting me manage her as to when to race, when to give her weeks off, etc.”

Last year, Grace Hill raced at The Meadowlands in the FanDuel Open Mares, Breeders Crown, Lady Liberty and Dorothy Haughton Memorial, so seeing her perform at the East Rutherford track this year several times seems highly likely.

Facing Grace Hill is Lit De Rose, who has post 4 for Pat Lachance. A year ago, the 10-year-old daughter of Leader Bayama—Intense won eight of 29 outings, good for earnings of $349,460. Her big 2024 win came at Yonkers on April 22 in the $276,200 Blue Chip Matchmaker final.

Walkin On Sunshine, a winner of three straight $35,000 invitationals for fillies and mares at Yonkers, will be making her first Meadowlands appearance of the year for trainer Brett Pelling from post 6.

The Pelling-trained Rocket Deo (post 2) tops the fourth qualifier. Among her 10 wins from 17 starts during 2024 was the Shady Daisy at The Big M. In addition, the 4-year-old daughter of Captaintreacherous—Rocklamation recorded her lifetime-best clocking of 1:48.3 in the Glen Garnsey at The Red Mile.

MAD MAX IS BACK: The current best horse in training at The Big M is Mad Max Hanover, and on Saturday (March 22) night, the Jake Leamon trainee will be gunning for his fifth straight win in the 10th-race feature, a $25,000 winners-over pace.

The 6-year-old gelded son of Always B Miki—Mayhem Seelster, who is North America's fastest performer this year by virtue of a 1:48.2 clocking on Feb. 22, will depart from post 9 with driver Brett Beckwith calling the shots. In his last two starts, 'Max' took down arch-rival For Once Inmy Life. He doesn't face that foe this time around, but will not have an easy time of it. Write Me A Rose looked good winning from post 9 a week ago in 1:51 and will try to repeat from post 5.

A LOT OF LITTLE: Big M TV veteran Dave Little had a big last weekend (March 14-15), selecting eight winners on the Friday card before a pair of nice scores on Saturday.

Friday's eight-pack included Jaydens Pride ($8.60) in the third race; value play Go Long ($5) in the sixth; and best bet I'll Hunt You Down ($3.40) in the seventh.

On Saturday, Little didn't bring quantity, but did provide quality. In the eighth race, Little's value play, Warrawee Yankee, scored at odds of 8-1, paying $19.60 to win.

That winner covered the third leg of Little's Early 50-cent Pick-4 ticket, which came in and returned $184.15.

LOEB'S HAS GRAND NIGHT: Sean Loeb's was the winner of the third installment of the 2025 Meadowlands Monthly Handicapping contest, which was held on Friday (March 14). Loeb's won the competition, which offered $1,000 in prize money, by finishing the night with a bankroll of $640.80. Loeb's walked away with the first prize of $500.

Finishing second with $624.60 was Joe Barre, who cashed in for $250.

Loeb's and Barre have now qualified for the $10,000 competition that takes place in December.

Dan Gieck finished third with $597.45 to earn $150 while fourth-place finisher Michael Grib cashed in for $100 after finishing with a bankroll of $489.80.

The fourth edition of the 2025 Meadowlands Monthly Handicapping contest takes place on Saturday (April 19). The event, which takes place once a month, goes for prize money totaling $1,000.

For those interested in taking part, these are the details:

- There is a $1,000 prize pool and the top two finishers earn entry into a December invitation-only tournament that will go for $10,000 in prize money.

- Contestants must be on-site to participate.

- For complete information, and to enter, go here.

Speed fails at Pocono on Tuesday

It doesn't happen very often that the words "On the entire card, no horse with the lead turning into the backstretch was able to hold on to the wire" appear in a summary story from Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania, but such was the case on Tuesday afternoon (March 18), despite the temperature climbing from 48 degrees to 60 degrees during the 16-race program.

There were no fewer than 11 $9,000 divisions of the second prelim of the Game Of Claims Pacing Series for horses valued at $12,500 this week, and two of them added a second series tally to their wins last week. The fastest GOC winner this week, Captain Terminator, went 1:52.4 for driver Jim Marohn, Jr., but if he is going to make it three-for-three, he'll be doing it for another barn, as he was claimed again this week.

The other doubler, Stick With Cramer, managed to avoid being claimed last week, but this week he will be another to find himself in new surroundings after pulling driver Braxten Boyd to one of his three series wins, here in 1:53.2. They were the only winners claimed, but overall, seven horses went through the box Tuesday for $87,500, bringing the young meet totals to 81 and $1,419,000.

Boyd also swept the Early Double, first winning with series debutante Split Pot in 1:54.4, and then coming right back with Texas Miki, third last week and a 1:54.1 visitor to Victory Lane Monday.

George Napolitano, Jr. also notched three sulky successes on the day, with two coming in the Game Of Claims: with Southwind Dredge, claimed while finishing second in the first round and paying immediate dividends on the investment in 1:53.3, and with Cards A Flyin, who overcame a hard journey while stopping the timer in 1:54.1.

Cards A Flyin and Split Pot were joined as winners by four other first-time competitors in this GOC series, many dropping down from higher claiming levels and finding the company more to their liking. The victorious first-time starters in this company, who like the two already named can't go in the series finale ($17,500 on April 1) because they didn't start in all three legs, were: The Cruz (driver Matt Kakaley) in 1:53.3, Yonkers invader Forever Fav (Jim Pantaleano) in 1:53, and a pair of winners for driver Tyler Buter: Snap Test in 1:54 and Colonel Bayama in 1:53.2.

Those carefully counting know that this list so far contains 10 winners; the 11th was Hashtag Money, who tired in the first GOC round but got the job done Tuesday in 1:54 for driver Simon Allard while paying the most of all the series winners, $35.60.

The next card of racing at Pocono is on Saturday at 1 p.m., with carryovers galore for those “following the money”: in the first race Superfecta, in the Pick 5 starting in race 5, and in the last race High 5, this one a double carryover. Free Pocono program pages are or will be available at www.ppha.org.

Game Of Claims continues

Horses base-tagged at $20,000 on Monday (March 17) raced their third and final preliminary in their Game Of Claims Pacing Series group in five $12,000 divisions. No one had been able to win in both of the earlier prelim legs; here all five winners had previously taken one leg of the GOC, but one of them, the only undefeated series horse of that fivesome, won't be in the final, and one, the only winner in the second prelim who repeated Monday, will be changing barns after a claim for the $20,000 series championship seven days hence.

Ben Solo won two weeks ago, but then the Huntsville gelding was not entered in the second leg, which according to GOC rules made him ineligible for the final. Ben Solo, claimed out of the first GOC race, again overcame the outside post 7 in 1:56.1 for driver Jim Pantaleano and his new connections of trainer Jacob Pantaleano and owner Sam Dalia, and now has three straight winning starts.

After a second the first week, the Heston Blue Chip gelding Blown Smoke was victorious in the second leg while being claimed, and with Anthony Napolitano driving he added a 1:55.2 win Monday tying him for second round GOC speed honors, at the end of his brief stay with trainer Matias Ruiz (a conditioning doubler, both with “ANap”) and owner Jose Cervantes as the only Monday winner going to a new home.

The other 1:55.2 series winner was Tellitsabb, a Tellitlikeitis gelding who was claimed both after a win the first week and after tiring in the middle leg. Tellitsabb won at first asking for trainer Hunter Oakes (also a doubler) and owner Carmen Iannacone, and he was driven by three-time defending Pocono driving champion Matt Kakaley, who visited Victory Lane five times on the frosty card, including with both of Oakes's winners.

Kakaley was also behind the JK Endofanera gelding T J's Indy Pacer, who despite a first and then a second in the series was let go at 40-1, resulting in an un-Kakaley-like win payoff of $83 after he conquered his field from the outside post 8 for trainer Darren Taneyhill and owner Mark Jakubik. The 1:57 winner was one of two Monday winners unclaimed during the prelims.

Jim Pantaleano added a second GOC victory with another horse who did not change hands in the prelims, the Captaintreacherous gelding Shipshape, who after a first and then a fourth bounced back to winning form in 1:56 for trainer Justin Pirillo and owner Gianna Pirillo – who haltered the horse for $6,000 at The Meadows on Feb. 5 and have since earned $16,710 with him.

Striking Impact wins his Game Of Claims Series final

The front end was a good place to race Saturday afternoon (March 15) at Pocono Downs at Mohegan Pennsylvania despite it being a cool and windy day; that observation is perhaps best demonstrated by 11-1 shot Striking Impact, who won the $35,000 Championship of the Game Of Claims Pacing Series for horses starting out with a $25,000 tag.

Anthony Napolitano sent the Always B Miki gelding straight to engine command and yielded to no one in fractions of :27.3, :56.3, and 1:23.4 despite no fewer than four separate bids from horses challenging to claim the top spot in various points. Striking Impact had the lead turning for home, shook off first-over Real Surreal, then withstood a late charge from 2-holer Belmont Major N, who came clear between horses, by a half-length. Favored Lyons Surfing, winner in all three GOC prelims while beating :28 home each week, got a second-over trip but did not have as sharp a late kick this race, finishing another neck back in third.

Striking Impact was claimed in the middle prelim of the series by trainer Marta Piotrow and owner Debbie Avery. He won his final prelim, then held his form nicely to triumph in the championship. There is no claiming from the final, so Striking Impact will have the chance to add to the $26,000 he has already collected for his new connections.

Earlier the $2,293,115 winner Charlie May posted the fastest clocking of the young season at the mountain oval as he wired a field just below the top class in 1:49.1. Ron Cushing was in control through splits of :26.1, :55, and 1:22.3, sprinting home for trainer Heidi Cushing. The success was Charlie May's 31st in his career, but the first in the home state of owner Don Tiger.

A race after Charlie May's, Pocono also saw its fastest trotting mile of 2025, courtesy of the Walner gelding Chef Rocco, who made the lead early then held off the late charge of favored Green Pastures in 1:53.4. The Chef cooked up fractions of :27.2, :57.2, and 1:25.1, then held well to the wire to triumph for driver Simon Allard and trainer/owner Mark Akins.

Ron Burke, going for his fifth Pocono dash-winning trainers title in six years, sent out four winners on the Saturday card to vault to the lead in the 2025 standings. Two of them were driven by George Napolitano, Jr., who was the day's top driver to visit the winner's circle, going there three times.

Oak Grove ready to roll with impressive schedule

Oak Grove Racing and Gaming is readying for its 2025 season with qualifiers kicking off their extended pari-mutuel meeting from March 24 through July 16.

Racing secretary Kevin Mack promises a record-breaking year with a strong balance of lucrative stakes events and overnight aces, which include events for the USHDC (United States Harness Drivers Club), which according to Mack, “plays such an important role in our community to keep our sport in the limelight during the sunlight.

“Our lucrative stakes season gets underway with the 4-year-olds in the opening leg of the Kentucky Sire Stakes on April 21 going for $50,000 each for the mares and horses and geldings all vying for a spot in the $100,000 finals on May 11.”

The 4-year-olds will remain in the spotlight for a second round of action from late May through June with the $150,000 finals on June 24.

“The 2- and 3-year-olds will get their season underway in late June as well,” Mack said, “with a pair of $40,000 legs and the eight finals going for $100,000 each.”

There will also be eight $25,000 consolation events as the Oak Grove season nears its closing date.

Mack expects to present a strong overnight purse program during this season with many top stables gracing the racetrack with the track’s lucrative purse structure.

Yet another cause of optimism for the Oak Grove meeting will be the participation of the aforementioned USHDC.

As Mack said, “Maybe some don’t realize it, but the participation of the amateur club plays a significant role in the success here at Oak Grove.

“First, it gives our patrons a great understanding of our sport and what goes on to put a horse on the track.

“Rides in the starting gate and visits to the announcer’s booth bring new fans to our track and, to top things off, trips to our winner’s circle when donations are made to great causes, spreads a positive aura that covering many miles from the track... an incalculable amount of good will.”

Indeed, the USHDC has donated well over $320,000 to viable organizations since their inception and looks to vigorously add to that total during this meet.

As USHDC president Dein Spriggs said, “It’s all possible because of Kevin Mack and Cara Collins and their unwavering support for our club and its many members who unselfishly donate 100 per cent of their driving fees won in our races to charitable causes.

“By the way, all amateur drivers from any amateur club meeting the requirements of Oak Grove Racing and Gaming and their judges are invited to participate in our amateur events

“They are just an amazing part of our grand sport!

“Interested amateur drivers may contact Tom Eichas at 561-573-6123 for details.”

Rosecroft seeks female drivers for Grit and Grace Challenge

Rosecroft Raceway and the Cloverleaf Standardbred Owners Association seek two female drivers to round out the field for the Grit and Grace Drivers Challenge, scheduled for next Wednesday (March 26).

The two-race challenge will feature nine female drivers teamed with horses trained by female trainers who compete at Rosecroft, and the top driver at the end of the series will take the $500 winner’s share of a $1,750 prize pool.

Already committed are: Stacy Chiodo, Doreen Dailey, Alexandra Goldin, Lauren Harmon, Leslie Joyce, Stacey McLenaghan and McKenzie Sowers.

Interested parties are advised to contact CSOA executive vice president Gina Maybee via email at admin@cloverleafsoa.org or phone at 240-766-7869.

Iron Maiden Series returns at MGM Northfield Park

One of Northeast Ohio’s most popular late closer series, the Iron Maiden Series is set to kick off at MGM Northfield Park on Saturday (April 5).

The series, which starts off the spring season at the Home of the Flying Turns, is divided into four divisions by gait and sex. Conditions are the same for each division: “Non-winners of 1 pari-mutuel race (Ohio-sired N/W2) or $15,000 lifetime through March 31, 2025.”

There will be four $8,500 legs and a $20,000 guaranteed final for each division. The Iron Maiden Series does not require any pre-nomination or entry fees to compete, and horses can join the series in any leg they choose.

To qualify for the final, horses do not have to race in all four legs, including the opening leg.

Draws for the Iron Maiden begin on Tuesday (April 1) for the filly and mare pacers to be raced on Saturday (April 5); next is the draw for the colt and gelding pacers Wednesday (April 2) to be raced on Sunday (April 6); that will be followed by the colt and gelding trotters on Thursday (April 3) to be raced on Tuesday (April 8); and will be rounded out by the filly and mare trotters that will be draw on Friday (April 4) to be raced on Wednesday (April 9).

For more information, contact director of racing Dave Bianconi at dbianconi@mgmnorthfieldpark.com or by calling the race office at 330-467-4101, ext. 52300.

Post time is 6 p.m.

Pacing For The Cure high school senior scholarships

Pacing For The Cure is proud to offer five scholarships to deserving 2025 high school senior students looking to pursue higher education, either through college or trade school in 2026.

The scholarships, each valued at $2,500 will be awarded to five prospective graduates in New Jersey, Maine, Ohio, Delaware/Maryland and Pennsylvania.

The scholarships are being awarded in honor of people special to the Pacing For The Cure cause, including Mr. Bill Gesek (New Jersey), Ms. Jacqueline L. Graffam (Maine), Mrs. Barbara Carter (Ohio), Mr. Tom Tallman (Delaware/Maryland), and Mr. Jeff Altmeyer (Pennsylvania). Each of these people showed strength and dignity while dealing with the debilitating effects of their diseases and each had strong ties to the harness-racing industry.

In order to be considered for the scholarship, students must write a brief paragraph about key topics that provide the Pacing For The Cure board with insight into their character, qualities, and achievements. They are also required to fill out the online application related to the region where they live under the scholarship section on the PFTC website.

It is important to note that the applicant, their parent, or their sibling must have a chronic illness or disability related to mobility that requires or may eventually require a mobility device or medical services.

Applications will start being accepted on Monday (March 24, 2025), and are due no later than June 30, 2025.

All applicants will be contacted by July 11, 2025, by the PFTC board to inform them of their decision.

Pacing For The Cure is also available to help those with medical needs. Although, initially formed to help those with Multiple Sclerosis, the organization is available to help provide mobility assistance and medical services for individuals living with autoimmune and neuromuscular diseases (in particular for Multiple Sclerosis, ALS (Lou Gehrig's Disease), Cerebral Palsy, Rheumatoid Arthritis and Parkinson's Disease). The application can be filled out here.

'Rocket' blasts foes at Big M

Conventional harness racing wisdom tells us that when a horse is moving well unpressured on the lead in a short field, it should be a done deal that's the winner.

So, you could say that Rocket Man Hill's victory in the Saturday night (March 15) feature at The Meadowlands, a $17,500 high-end conditioned trot, was anything but conventional.

Making his fourth start of 2025 – all at The Big M – Rocket Man Hill displayed explosive late trot to win for the second time this season (he was second in the other two), and in the process, lowered his lifetime best to 1:54.

"The connections are very happy with him," said winning trainer Mike Russo of the 4-year-old gelded son of Muscle Hill – Drinking Class, who was acquired after his win on Feb. 28.

With a second in his first start for his new owner and trainer and a win Saturday, the early returns have been good.

The original field of eight was reduced to five after scratches, one of which was Rock My Universe, who would have been gunning for a fourth consecutive Meadowlands win. Finite, the 8-5 second choice, took full advantage of the rail and led the quintet past the quarter in :27.2 and the half in :56.1.

Just before the five-eighths, 6-5 public choice Luke's Bar, looking for his third victory in four tries, vacated the 4-hole and went up after the leader on the rim uncovered, providing a live tow for Rocket Man Hill as Finite hit three-quarters in 1:25.1.

At the head of the stretch, Rocket Man Hill swung widest of all, and fired home through the lane, catching Finite nearing the wire, besting that one by a half-length. Luke's Bar settled for third.

"The fractions were hot for this group," said winning driver Brett Beckwith. "Honestly, I didn't know how it would play out. He trotted a good last quarter so I have no complaints. It was my first time driving this horse but Russo gave me great info."

Russo said, "We had very dull cover, so he did well to trot home a winner. He'll have next week off and come back the following week."

As the 5-2 third choice, Rocket Man Hill returned $7.40 to his backers. He now has four wins from 23 lifetime starts for owner Rose Colangelo.

PICK-6 REPORT: A carryover of $3,795 motivated players to put $21,779 of "new money" into the 20-cent Pick-6 pool for a grand total of $25,574. After a sequence that saw winner's odds of 8-1, 5-2, 5-2, 6-1, 4-5 and 2-1, those with winning tickets cashed in for $3,141.96.

A LITTLE MORE: The top three drivers in The Big M standings all won three times on the program. Beckwith leads the way thus far in 2025 with 41 wins, followed by Jason Bartlett (37) and Dave Miller (33)... All-source handle totaled $3,067,122 on the 14-race card.

BGRA Youth Contests return in 2025 with Tom Rankin's support

The Bill Galvin Racing Alliance (BGRA) is pleased to announce that prominent standardbred breeder/owner Tom Rankin is once again supporting our Youth Contests in 2025.

Like last year, the BGRA is offering two exciting contests:

- Youth Literary Derby – Open to Ontario elementary students (Grades 3-8), who can submit a poem or short story about anything related to standardbred racing. Entries will be judged in junior (Grades 3-5) and intermediate (Grades 6-8) divisions.
- Youth Art Derby – Open to Ontario students (Grades 3-12). Participants can submit drawings or sketches with a standardbred theme, with categories for junior, intermediate, and a senior division (Grades 9-12).

Thanks to Tom Rankin's generous support, cash prizes will be awarded to the top three entries in each division. The deadline to enter is Aug. 31 at midnight.

For the past two years, Rankin not only sponsored the contests but also welcomed hundreds of visitors to an open house at his standardbred breeding farm in St. Catharines, where attendees met the broodmares and foals – an experience that inspired many contest participants.

"We're incredibly grateful to Tom for sponsoring these contests again and for his dedication to youth involvement in standardbred racing," said Karen Hauver, BGRA director.

Rankin said, "I'm thrilled to support the BGRA Youth Contests again this year. Encouraging young people to engage with standardbred racing – whether through art, writing, or hands-on experiences – helps foster a lifelong appreciation for these incredible horses. It's been wonderful to witness the passion and creativity that past participants have brought to these contests, and I'm also looking forward to welcoming the community back to our farm for another open house. It's a privilege to be part of something that connects the next generation to the world of horse racing in such a meaningful way."

Contest finalists aged 13 and up will receive complimentary access to Equine Guelph's Youth Horse Behavior and Safety online course.

Educators and youth group leaders – if you'd like more details or promotional materials, email info@bgracingalliance.ca. Full contest details and rules are available on our website.

Get creative, and good luck to all participants.
