Rick Moore, vice-president and general manager of Harrah’s Hoosier Park, is pumped for tonight’s opening card of the Anderson, IN track’s 29th season.

by James Platz

Indiana

Harrah’s Hoosier Park Racing & Casino will lift the curtain on its 29th season of harness racing tonight (March 25). The Anderson, IN oval will offer a 13-race card, with a 6:30 p.m. first post to start the race meet.

Rick Moore, Hoosier Park’s vice president and general manager, will preside over his 24th opening night at the facility, and is excited for the return of racing.

“There’s nothing like opening night,” said Moore. “I’m excited to see folks that I haven’t seen for several months. Springtime is my favorite time of year, and it’s probably because the trees start budding and the horses start racing. I can’t wait for Friday night.”

Hoosier Park kicks off its 160-day meet this weekend with cards tonight and Saturday night. Week two will feature three nights of action before moving to a four-day calendar for the months of April and May, and expanding to five days in June, July, August and September. The 2022 calendar is the longest offered at Hoosier Park, concluding Dec. 10.

“I think we have maximized our assets, our horse flesh. The good thing is, everyone is getting plenty of racing opportunities, and at the end of the day, that’s what the horsemen want. They just want the opportunity to race, and race for some good money,” Moore said.

Tonight’s card features five contests with full fields. A total of 107 trotters and pacers will line up behind the gate opening night. Moore is encouraged by the response from horsemen for the meet’s first program.

“I think we’ve got a good card for opening night. We have several really good races,” he said. “We still have horses coming from Pompano. Some horses that are probably taking a week off after Hawthorne closed, and other horses still ready to qualify, so we have a contingent still to come. I feel quite encouraged to get off to a start with 13 races.”

Racing as a form of entertainment is predicated on disposable income. With record inflation and the soaring price of gas, it is more critical than ever that Hoosier Park excels at each touch point with customers.

"We're all feeling it, right? We all put gas in our cars, we all go to the grocery store. We all eat out. The dollar is being stretched. What does that mean? That means that when we get folks to come to Hoosier Park, we have to give them the very best customer service possible. The customer has many different options on where to spend disposable dollars, and we want to make sure it's Hoosier Park. That means having the best food, the friendliest staff," Moore said.

Hoosier Park will offer racing on Memorial Day, Independence Day (July 4) and Labor Day, creating events to attract the community. Moore also said that the track promotions will include nightly contests where patrons can win prizes. The objective is that, whether you are watching harness racing for the first time or a Hoosier Park regular, your experience is memorable. It is all part of an assortment of entertainment options at the facility. "I think we've got a little bit of everything for folks. We've got the horse racing, we've got great dining, we've got a sportsbook attached to the racing complex, we've got a casino. We're getting ready to undertake an expansion of the casino floor," he said. "Exciting times at Hoosier Park. Where other businesses are contracting, we are expanding, and it's always fun to be a part of a business that's expanding."

Just as Hoosier Park is committed to the customers that come through the front door, ownership is equally committed to the horsemen that enter through the stable gate. A number of capital improvements are in the works this season. Moore said that LED lighting has been installed in each barn, and the track is working on upgrading the sound system throughout the barn area. Larger television will be added to the paddock barns, and radiant heat will be installed in the paddock to provide warmth when the temperatures dip in the fall. Other initiatives include new HVAC units in the dorms and new appliances in the track kitchen.

season tonight.

"It's just a lot of things, but it's all designed to make life and work and living in our barn area the best that it can possibly be," said Moore.

One of the biggest upgrades for 2022 is the track lighting. Last year, two light poles were outfitted with LED lights, and the feedback was very positive. Hoosier Park will upgrade the remaining 46 light poles with LED technology. The price tag for the project is $1.5 million (inflation has raised the cost from the original $1.1 million estimate). Moore said the tentative plan is to have the upgrade completed by September.

Officials have made one change behind the scenes that will more than likely go unnoticed by most. After partnering with Trakus since 2013, Hoosier Park is now employing the services of TrackMaster for GPS tracking services. Patrons watching in person or online will still have the benefit of tracking their horses via the "chicklets" on the bottom third of the screen.

"Folks won't see a lot of differences. There may be some minor nuances going from one system to another, but our race replays will be available through Roberts Communications, and that is a first," Moore said.

Trace Tetrack and Tyler George are set to defend their 2021 titles when the season gets underway. Tetrack will attempt to earn an unprecedented ninth consecutive driving title at Hoosier Park. A successful title defense would produce his 11th leading driver award at the track. George, on the other hand, is riding the wave of two consecutive training titles at the Anderson oval. Last season he sent out 119 winners, equaling the single-season mark first set by fellow conditioner Jeff Cullipher.

Kyle Wilfong dethrones Casey Leonard as Hawthorne winter meet ends

Harness racing returns to the Chicago track in July.

by Neil Milbert

Kyle Wilfong went to the top of the Hawthorne Race Course driver standings when he drove the winners of six of the nine races on Feb. 18 and he stayed there for the duration of the winter meeting that ended on Sunday (March 20), ending the six-year reign of Casey Leonard.

Wilfong won 54 of the 234 races in which he drove, while Leonard was second with 49 winners in 243 outings.

"Kyle was right there (on the threshold) every year and he had a really good meet," Leonard said. "He's a good guy to drive with and a good friend of mine so I'm happy for him."

Casey's father, Terry Leonard, captured his fourth trainer title in five years, recording 29 triumphs in 163 starts. Gerald Hansen (16-for-59) and Brittney Dillon (16-for-83) finished in a second place deadlock in the wins column followed by James Eaton (14-57) and Kyle Wilfong's fiancé, Nicole Agosti (14-for-78), who tied for fourth.

Fox Valley Gemini, the 7-year-old gelding owned by Jim Ballinger, trained by Terry Leonard and driven by Casey Leonard, last fall extended his winning streak on Hawthorne's Night of Champions for Illinois-breds to five consecutive years, and he continued to stand out at the winter meeting by taking his last two races, giving him three triumphs, a second and three thirds in eight starts.

The meeting that began on Feb. 3 kicked off a year like none other in Illinois racing history. For the first time since thoroughbred racing returned at Hawthorne in 1922 after being outlawed in 1905 Chicago is a one-track town. Leaving Hawthorne to accommodate both the standardbreds and thoroughbreds.

The reason is because corporate overlord Churchill Downs, Inc. discontinued thoroughbred racing at Arlington International Racecourse following the 2021 meeting to eliminate competition for the nearby Rivers Casino — in which it holds a 62 per cent interest — and sold the property to the Chicago Bears for redevelopment.

Thoroughbred racing at Hawthorne will commence on April 2 with a meeting that will run through June 25.

The sulkies will return for a July 1-Sept. 11 meeting climaxed by the Night of Champions after which the thoroughbreds will reclaim the track for a Sept. 23-Dec. 11 meeting.

"The timing is right for some (horsemen) to go to Hoosier (which is scheduled to begin its meeting tonight (March 25)); others will lay off and start back at Springfield (in non-betting races) in June and go from there," said Tony Somone, executive director of the Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association (IHHA), addressing the hiatus of more than three months in the Hawthorne harness schedule.

"For the most part we don't like it but we'll do the best we can."

Kyle Wilfong's father, Brett Wilfong, has moved his racing headquarters from Illinois to a farm in Indiana near Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing and Casino and Kyle and Nicole have bought a home in Anderson, IN.

"We'll be racing mainly in Indiana and maybe come up to Hawthorne a couple of days a week during the summer," Kyle said. "Since that meet is so short we've had to look for another venue."

The Hawthorne winter meeting driver championship was the second title in two years for Kyle, who was No. 1 at the Oak Grove Racing and Gaming meeting in Kentucky in 2020.

“Even though this one was just a winter meet it was cool to get,” Kyle said. “This was a really good meet for both Nicole and me; we’re very happy about it.”

Kyle was especially pleased with the performances of He’zzz A Wise Guy, the accomplished 5-year-old pacer bred and trained by John Filomeno: “He was undefeated at Hawthorne and got written out of Illinois-bred races. He went to Ohio and won in open company (at Miami Valley Gaming) in 1:49 and was second in another race that went in 1:49. He’s just a really good horse and I love driving him.

“John has an Illinois-bred full sister to him named Kizzme Like U Miss Me and she won a series for 3-year-old filly pacers at Hawthorne”

Agosti teamed up with her fiancé to win the Winter Wonderland series final for open pacers with the 4-year-old gelding Time For Fun.

“That was the highlight for me personally,” she said, “winning the $22,000 final (in 1:54.3) from the nine-hole with my homebred after he had a fourth and a second earlier in the series.

“The meeting definitely exceeded my expectations – me winning that race and Kyle winning the driver title.”

Agosti’s career has been a study in upward mobility since she earned her trainer’s license in the summer of 2018, the same year she was the recipient of Harness Racing Replay’s Caretaker of the Year Award.

“I don’t ever plan on having a large stable for myself,” she said. “I absolutely love grooming and I absolutely love working for Brett.”

While Kyle Wilfong is staying active in Indiana, Casey Leonard is taking some vacation time.

“I’m going on a family vacation to Park City (Utah) to ski for a few days and from there we’re going to Scottsdale (Ariz.) to golf for a few days,” he said. “My son is on the high school lacrosse team here and when we come back I don’t way to miss any of his games. After that I’ll go on a little fishing trip and then be back racing at Hawthorne.

“My dad had a lot of horses at the winter meeting and they came on late. Fox Valley Gemini is not really a wintertime horse, the track was real bad, he got an infection that we had to deal with and the years are starting to catch up with him but he raced well in his last couple starts. We’ll race him at Hoosier a couple of times to keep him sharp and get ready for the summer.”

Horses trained by Terry Leonard made 163 starts at the meeting, by far the most for any trainer.

Now, according to Casey, the stable is doing some liquidating and sending horses to other trainers.

“Fortunately, my (trainer) brother Ross is doing very well in Indiana so unfortunately he can’t take a lot of our horses because his barn is about full,” said Casey, who is overseeing the horses while his father vacations in Hawaii.

“I’ve sent three of our 3-year-old homebreds to Trent Stohler, who does a really good job. I’ve got a 2-year-old with Robert Taylor and another with Mike Hollenback and two 2-year-olds with Rick Schrock at Springfield.

“It’s very tough to be a trainer in Illinois because if you want to keep all of your horses racing you’re going to have to drive a lot and with fuel prices the way they are you’ve got to weigh your options. You can’t drive subpar horses up and down the road trying to get checks.”

“It’s very tough to be a trainer in Illinois because if you want to keep all of your horses racing you’re going to have to drive a lot and with fuel prices the way they are you’ve got to weigh your options. You can’t drive subpar horses up and down the road trying to get checks.”

Somone is in complete agreement. “No doubt about it,” said the IHHA executive director. “If you ship it’ll cost you $200 in gas, plus wear-and-tear on your truck, labor and Lasix. Then, what if you draw the 8 or 9-hole.

“You’ve got to be 1-2-3 to turn a small profit.”

Michaela Schock goes to the teeth with standardbreds

by Chris Lomon

If there were an added hour in a day or an extra day in the week, odds are Michaela Schock would still be doing something horse related.

Her days are rarely the same, mostly long, and typically draining, but you'd never know it from the moment the 30-year-old from Dover, DE picks up the phone.

Exactly how many horse hats does she wear?

"A lot," said Schock with a laugh. "I groom in the mornings for Pat and Traci Berry, and I also own a few racehorses with them, then I have my show horses, which are retired standardbreds, and then I do teeth, and also some training when people have off-the-track standardbreds that they want retrained to ride. So, I break them and find them homes. I really do wear a lot of hats."

Somehow, the owner of Dover-based EquiDental manages to make all of them fit.

Challenges, as expected, can be numerous.

"Right now, it's hard to manage my teeth schedule with my racing schedule. I'm having a tough time juggling that right now. I've had to back off the teeth part a little bit, just to keep up with the racing schedule. It's hard because both are profitable, but I don't know how long my body can keep up doing the teeth. But I really do love doing everything that I do. I surround myself with the love of horses. It's what I always wanted to do, so I'm doing it."

Schock, who attended Lake Erie College and then went to Midwest Dental Academy, has developed a major affinity for pacers and trotters.

When she was endeavoring to make dentistry a full-time job, Schock worked at the racetrack, and quickly attracted several new clients. When she added groom to her repertoire, plying her trade at Dovington Training Center in Delaware, it took less than a week for her to be awestruck by the standardbreds.

Courtesy Michaela Schock

Michaela Schock fell in love with standardbreds seven or eight years ago.

"I come from a riding horse background, and I had never really dealt with standardbreds until about seven or eight years ago," said Schock, who played lacrosse at Lake Erie. "And when I did get to know them, I just fell in love with this breed because of their heart and determination. I think it's unmatched compared to other breeds. There is just something so special about them."

Through her connection with racehorses, Schock was introduced to Lightning Moon, a 2006 Western Hanover brown gelding. Their association would lead to yet another addition to her resume.

Bred by David Meirs and Hill View Enterprises, Lightning Moon raced 226 times and won 34 times. He ended his career running in the $15,000 claimers at Chester. Terri Lynch bought the pacer in 2016, after he experienced soundness issues. After he was retired from racing, he was sent to Schock for training in February 2018.

A patient hand eventually led Lightning Moon into the Rookie Division and Intro to Dressage at the National Standardbred Show, along with other successes.

"There's a lot of satisfaction that comes with leading horses into a new direction after their racing careers are over. When you see that transition, from one thing to another, it's really wonderful. When I take these horses from the racetrack and transition them into riding horses, their will and determination to please is what has really driven me to keep working with them.

She said she's grateful to have a vast array of opportunities to further those associations.

"It's awesome working on the racehorses and seeing them out on the track. Whether it's on the track or riding them, my passion for standardbreds is so strong. They work so hard. To see them out there, competing, it's a great feeling, as is working with the drivers and trainers. These horses, they always try their hardest."

Schock has learned, over the years, that there is a certain type of horse that holds great appeal for her.

Spoiler alert: it's not the easy ones.

"The problem horses, the ones that take a lot of time and effort, those are the horses that are the most rewarding to develop. You love watching them succeed. When I started working with the standardbreds, there was a horse called Believe This Bob. I guess he was quite a handful to jog. He had a hard mouth. But he was so simple to ride... you could ride him in a halter. Being able to help him was also really fulfilling."

It's yet another moment that typifies why long days, hectic weeks, and little downtime doesn't faze the hard-working horsewoman.

Any day with horses, she reaffirmed, is a good one.

"It really is. I wake up and go to bed happy knowing that I'm doing what I love. I go in every day and I'm happy. I love these horses and I love watching their personalities bloom."

So, it might not come as a huge surprise that the multi-skilled Schock is considering throwing another hat into the racing ring.

She's looking to possibly add a pair of new roles to her seemingly expanding list of achievements.

"I think I would like to own some horses on my own. I own horses with other people now, but I think it would be nice to get my trainer's license too. I have everything in the works to get it, I just haven't taken the test yet. I think that would be the next step, to get my license and train a few of my own. I think that would be fun."

In spite of the time constraints connected to her career, Schock is able to carve out some personal time throughout the racing season, including playing the role of fan for another form of horsepower.

She also books a couple of trips to sunnier climes each year.

One of the many hats Michaela Schock wears is as an equine dentist.

"My brother [CJ] races motocross professionally, so I'll take time to travel to watch some of his races, if they're close by. I do have a friend group, who don't have a connection to horses, so that can be a breath of fresh air at certain times. I do make time to have a social life, but it's very little. I also like to take trips every once in a while. I tend to go back to Mexico a lot, typically, Playa del Carmen. I went in December and I'm going back in May, to Riviera Maya. But I do look forward to getting back."

Back to her beloved horses.

"Every job I have, it's all about the love of these great animals. They really are the best."

OUR FUTURE DEPENDS ON IT!

Buon Appetito

The Meadowlands' executive chef Dennis Sammarone on a lifetime of loving to cook for people.

by Debbie Little

Thanks to executive chef Dennis Sammarone, The Meadowlands provides a feast for all of your senses, both on and off the track.

"People want to be happy when they're eating," said Sammarone. "The most important thing is you've got to get to their stomach. You have to make them understand: This is great food."

Sammarone came to The Meadowlands in 2015 and wants to keep the quality and experience the same as if you were dining at a top restaurant in nearby Manhattan.

"Jeff [Gural] is just swell. So is [his wife] Paula. Jason [Settlemoir] is great, too," said Sammarone. "I love working for the Gurals and Jason because they treat me very well and I couldn't be happier. If they didn't treat me well, I wouldn't be there."

"It's challenging to give the quality out and to keep the price in mind and make money. At the racetrack, we want to give quality to our guests. A lot of the meats we use at the racetrack you'd get at the best restaurants in New York City. I want the customer to understand you're getting your money's worth, if you come to our buffet, because it's giving you quality food. We take pride in what we serve because we are The Meadowlands and we're there to do the best job we can."

Sammarone is quick to point out that it's a team effort and that those who work for him are top notch.

"I'm proud of them," Sammarone said. "I think we have a great team. And I'm proud of what we have to offer."

Settlemoir said he appreciates Sammarone's mastery of different styles of food and the fact the chef is a leader.

"Dennis is great with service," said Settlemoir. "You see him out on the floor interacting with the people in the dining room, checking to make sure everything is good and that they're happy. We want to stand out for the food as well at The Meadowlands."

Cooking for Sammarone, 67, is a passion and something you could say is literally in his blood.

Courtesy Dennis Sammarone

The Meadowlands' executive chef Dennis Sammarone has had a fascinating life.

As a chef, Sammarone follows in the footsteps of his father, both grandfathers and both uncles.

"I'm proud to say I'm a child of immigrants and I'm first generation born here," said Sammarone. "My mother and father were both born in Italy."

The area of central Italy where Sammarone's family is from is known for producing talented chefs.

As a young boy, Sammarone loved cooking alongside his father, but in first or second grade, when he was asked what his dad did, he wasn't sure what to say.

In the late 1950s, women were the ones wearing the apron and cooking, while men wore uniforms.

"I said he was a 'chief' and the teacher said, 'No, your dad is a chef,'" said Sammarone. "He's a great chef. And I smiled and I never was embarrassed again to tell them that my dad was a chef. I was very proud to follow in my father's footsteps and I was very lucky to work with him."

Sammarone's first job out of high school was at Ponte's Steak House, the lower Manhattan staple, known for its famous and allegedly infamous clientele.

He worked there for three years with his dad and uncles before moving on to Giordano Ristorante, where his cooking got him noticed.

One night a couple walked into the kitchen wanting to know who made the lobster fra diavolo.

"And I didn't know who they were, but she gave me her card and said, 'I live on Park Avenue,'" said Sammarone. "She said, 'Would you like to come and teach my chefs at my hotels how to make this dish? It's just great.'"

That couple was real estate billionaire Harry Helmsley and his wife, Leona, aka the "Queen of Mean".

Sammarone said despite her reputation, "she was tough but never mean" to him and he went on to be their corporate executive chef for several years.

In 1985, Sammarone finally opened his own place, Serafino's Ristorante, named for his father.

It was a popular place in Englewood, NJ with a well-known clientele.

"Dizzy Gillespie was one of the hundreds of people that used to come to my restaurant," said Sammarone. "He got sick and his last week in Englewood Hospital, I cooked for him three times before he died. I made him chicken scarpariello, that he loved the most, because it reminded him of southern cooking."

Sammarone eventually sold his place to spend more time at home with his wife, Gina, and three children, Danielle, Christina and Michael. He now also has two grandchildren with a third on the way and a golden lab named Toby.

Sammarone first went to The Meadowlands as a teenager and loved the excitement. He was even given the opportunity to work there for the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority in 1995, but chose instead to be the executive chef and food columnist for the New York Daily News.

During his seven years at the tabloid, he believes he must have penned about 300 recipes in print.

During his time at The Meadowlands, Sammarone worked hard to make their buffet popular and was succeeding prior to the start of the pandemic.

Now that people are finally starting to feel comfortable about going out to dinner again on a regular basis, things are starting to pick up.

Sammarone has come up with varying menus from week to week, including some theme nights. Upcoming menus can be found on their website at www.playmeadowlands.com

Unfortunately, to keep up with the soaring price of food these days, The Big M was forced to raise their prices. But anyone who's ever watched Restaurant: Impossible on Food Network, can tell you that for a restaurant to be profitable, food costs must be around 31 per cent of revenue.

Sammarone believes even with the slight increase in price, The Big M buffet is worth it.

"I'll put it up against any buffet around," said Sammarone. "I believe when people cook from the heart and from the soul, it gives you love. When you put love into something, no matter what you're cooking, it's going to be great."

Scott McKelvie looks back on nearly five decades in the game

After more than 40 years at Woodbine Mohawk Park, long-time race secretary Scott McKelvie is retiring on March 31.

by Chris Lomon / Woodbine communications

It was a road well-travelled for Scott McKelvie.

Forty-plus years after his rookie season with the then named Ontario Jockey Club, McKelvie, currently the racing secretary for Woodbine Mohawk Park, will call it a career on March 31 after five decades of significant contributions to the Canadian standardbred racing industry.

It's an industry he has longstanding ties to.

"My dad owned some horses, and he was involved with the racetrack in Owen Sound back in the late 1960s," said McKelvie. "I was just a kid and I remember going to the races and enjoying it. I guess that would be my first job, charting races in Owen Sound when I was 12 or 13, something I did for a couple of years. I had the bug ever since I was a small kid."

His affinity for the sport continued to grow throughout his teenage years and beyond, eventually leading him to take over the leadership reins of the race office, where he has served as the long-time racing secretary of Greenwood, Woodbine and Woodbine Mohawk Park since 1992.

His influence and impact on the sport is respected and revered far beyond the Milton oval.

From creating a top-tier, year-round racing program and the establishment of Woodbine's highly regarded and lucrative stakes schedule, McKelvie, who has worked all 38 editions of the Pepsi North America Cup, has played a prominent role in making racing in southwestern Ontario a preferred destination for horsepeople across the globe.

A renowned industry leader who has contributed his time and effort to various boards and committees, McKelvie is a past president and current director of the American Harness Racing Secretaries Association and a current vice-president of the Grand Circuit.

"The integrity and competitiveness of our product over the years has been second to none," he said. "I don't think anybody can question that. No other track can rival what we've done the last 30-40 years. I think the product has maintained itself over the years. No matter who comes to the races, they always rave about the experience. We get that a lot, especially from the people who ship-in for the stakes races. They don't get treated any better than they do here, which is a testament to everyone who works here and who has worked here. It's been a great group of people I've worked with over the years."

Jessica Buckley, senior vice-president of standardbred and thoroughbred racing with Woodbine Entertainment, lauded McKelvie's many contributions to the sport.

"I would like to thank Scott for his tremendous contributions to our team and recognize his positive influence on harness racing in North America over the past 35 years," said Buckley. "Scott has served as a steadfast leader with an unwavering commitment to the integrity and success of our sport. He has helped develop a great team for the future of standardbred racing. We will miss his daily counsel, humour and calm approach to challenges. I wish him all the best in this next chapter."

One of those next chapters will be a familiar one for McKelvie, albeit in a different role.

On June 18, the date of this year's $1 million Pepsi North America Cup, he'll keep his consecutive streak of watching the race live, only this time as a racing fan.

New Image Media

Long-time Woodbine Mohawk Park race secretary Scott McKelvie is retiring on March 31.

"The integrity and competitiveness of our product over the years has been second to none. I don't think anybody can question that..."

— Scott McKelvie

"It's a world-class event," said McKelvie, of the race originally known as the Queen City Pace before it became the Pepsi North America Cup in 1984. "I think that put OJC, at the time, on the map, North American-wise. We always had Grand Circuit events, but that race really stamped our Standardbred racing product as a major-league player. I'm absolutely going to be there again for the race this year. I wouldn't miss it."

As for which editions of the Cup stand out as his personal favourites, McKelvie opted for a pair of memorable performances, one from 35 years ago and the other in 2008.

"Going way back, it would be the Jate Lobell and Frugal Gourmet race, with that amazing stretch duel that saw Jate Lobell come out on top. That was a big highlight and there have been so many great ones since. The one where Somebeachsomewhere won, the huge crowd and the atmosphere that night, it was just an amazing sight. It was quite a thrill to hear the crowd as he came to the wire."

Aside from his trip to be part of this year's Cup crowd, McKelvie will continue to track the successes of horses and horsepeople at the place that has become a second home.

"I've been very lucky to work with a lot of great people, both for the company and the thousands who work in the industry. There are a lot of good memories from over the years. I've always been a fan of the sport and I always be. I'm definitely going to be following along, and I'll be there to watch the races."

Whenever he does take the familiar route to Woodbine Mohawk Park to catch the pacers and trotters, McKelvie will be reminded of the road well-travelled, the one he has navigated with great success.

He's grateful for the journey.

"The horsepeople have been great to work with over the years. They have been tremendous to deal with, and there are a few that have been there right from when I started. Not a lot of them, but certainly some familiar faces from years ago. I'd like to think I've had a pretty good rapport with everyone, and I can say that I've truly enjoyed my time in racing. I've been very fortunate in so many ways."

New Zealand's new $900,000 slot event The Race set for April 14 debut

by Adam Hamilton

Slot racing is not everyone's cup of tea.

But it has certainly been a huge hit Down Under and now harness racing is about to have its first dabble.

Australian thoroughbred racing started it Down Under with The Everest, which is now in its sixth year and quickly established as one of the greatest races on the very strong Australian racing calendar. It even rivals historic and ironic thoroughbred features like the Melbourne Cup and Cox Plate for interest and coverage. This year's Everest in October will carry a thumping $A15 million purse.

Australian greyhound racing chimed-in with $A1.145 million The Phoenix earlier this year and it, too, was a tremendous success by every measure.

It is no secret talks are well advanced for an Aussie harness slot race, but while we await that, New Zealand will jump in first when the $NZ900,000 "The Race" is run at Cambridge, in NZ's North Island on April 14.

Even by the admission of those closest to it, "The Race" model isn't ideal, but the fact it has been so warmly embraced by slot holders and horse owners speaks to the interest and even fascination in slot races, especially in this part of the world.

It also speaks to the willingness of so many high-end players in harness racing to throw their support behind it when it both needs it and creates an exciting vehicle for them to do so.

With the bulk of the prize money coming from slot buyers, it's not far shy of a sweepstakes.

The man behind "The Race" – or at least the man who has to bring it to life – is Cambridge's young, innovative and passionate CEO Dave Branch.

Angelique Bridson Photography

The man behind "The Race" is Cambridge's young, innovative and passionate CEO Dave Branch.

The concept for the race was first suggested by the country's governing body, Harness Racing New Zealand, but that's essentially where they left things. Branch, his board and a few key supporters have been frantically working ever since. And I mean frantically.

The initial proposal was for a $NZ500,000 slot race with all prize money coming from the 10 slots at $NZ50,000.

Branch and others knew that simply wouldn't wash or go anywhere near doing the "The Race" justice. So managed to find a surplus injection of $NZ150,000 and boosted the slots to $NZ75,000 each.

With respect to the $150,000 "top-up," that's still simply not enough to make the concept viable in the longer term and Branch knows it.

"The plan is to get to at least $NZ1 million next year and over $NZ1.1 million in 2025. We know the extra investment over and above the money from slot holders is vital," Branch said.

"But for now, we're doing the best we can with what we've got and the time we had to make it all happen. It was just before Christmas when we announced 'The Race' and there wasn't much of a lead-in with the first running less than four months later.

"It's fair to say it's been a monstrous task and a real education process over here (NZ). There just wasn't a great understanding of how slot races worked.

"People said it wouldn't work or we couldn't make it happen in the time we had, but I like a challenge. The doubters just fuel my desire to make it happen and make it as big a success as we can."

The challenge was amplified big time with NZ's borders closed because of COVID-19 as lingering strict limits on crowds at major events.

"The borders thing hurt on a few levels, not the least being trying to attract Aussie interest, be that slot buyers or horses for the race. Things have improved as we've gone and the borders open a couple days before the race and that's helped," Branch said.

"But we are really restricted with crowds and that really hurts our bottom line and ability to make money from the event to try and build on the prize money for next year.

"When the race was first touted, we thought a crowd of about 5,000 was possible because we'd had 4,000 to the Harness Jewels, which is the other big event we've had at Cambridge.

"Now we're faced with waiting on (NZ) Government rulings, but probably a best-case of maybe a crowd of 2000. That doesn't just hurt with the general admission earnings, but what those extra 3,000 people would spend at the track on food, drink and wagering."

Pleasingly, five of the 10 slot owners are Australian-based or strongly connected to Australia.

"I've had the most amazing past 12 months and adding to it with my first trip to drive in NZ is incredible," 20-year-old Jack Callaghan said. "It's fitting it's on Alta Orlando because he's been such a special horse to me. He was the first real open-class star I drove and I ran third on him in the Inter Dominion (final) last December."

And three Australian-trained pacers are confirmed runners on April 14.

They include evergreen 10-year-old Alta Orlando from Australia's biggest stable, Team McCarthy. He is very close to topping $A1 million in career earnings.

The added "bonus" of Alta Orlando's raid is his driver. Australia's hottest young reinsman, Jack Callaghan, will drive for the first time in NZ when he partners Alta Orlando in "The Race."

"I've had the most amazing past 12 months and adding to it with my first trip to drive in NZ is incredible," 20-year-old Callaghan said. "It's fitting it's on Alta Orlando because he's been such a special horse to me. He was the first real open-class star I drove and I ran third on him in the Inter Dominion (final) last December."

There are also two mares in the race, Stylish Memphis and Spellbound, who will get the benefit of preferential barrier draws over the 2200 metres.

"That's a big reason we are running," Stylish Memphis' trainer Mark Jones said. "Cambridge can suit horses racing up on the speed and drawing one or two will give us every chance to be right up there."

Branch and his team have defied the odds and knockers to make The Race a reality and for that they should take a bow.

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

Police raid French trainers

by Thomas Hedlund

Police raided several horse trainers and veterinarians in Italy, Spain and France on Tuesday morning (March 22) according to Agence France Presse (AFP).

Twenty-three people were arrested when the doping raid was done and among the trainers, names such as Junior Guelpa (trainer and driver of Bahia Quesnot) and Yannick-Alain Briand were mentioned. Twenty-one of 23 people were arrested in France and the raid occurred due to suspicion of dealing with doping class substances and 80 police men attended in the raid. The well-known training camp Grosbois, outside of Paris, got a visit from the French police early on Tuesday morning and the entire operation seems to be large-scaled.

What the outcome will be from this extensive raid is hard to know right now, but it's clear that police authorities throughout Europe are starting to direct efforts at equestrian practitioners.

ONE IN, ONE OUT

Adrian Kolgjini-trained Tae Kwon Deo (Muscle Hill) made his first start after 11 months absence from racing on Tuesday (March 22) night, but the comeback ended in a probable career-ending injury. Tae Kwon Deo, who won the Sprintermästaren as a 4-year-old and participated in the Elitloppet as a 5-year-old in 2020, finished second to Night Brodde and trainer Adrian Kolgjini announced that this was the last start for Tae Kwon Deo, due to problem with a hind leg.

On the same day, French-bred Earl Simon (Prodigious), who won Elitloppet elimination in 2020 and has been out of racing since the Elitloppet final same day, made his second start of the year. Earl Simon traveled north, to Belgium and Mons where the Jarmo Niskanen trained trotter won in a mile rate of 1:58.2 over 1.4 miles. Earl Simon damaged a tendon in conjunction with the Elitloppet adventure two years ago.

Favorites reign in MGM Borgata Pacing Series opener

by Yonkers Raceway

It was a chalk-filled start to the 2022 MGM Borgata Pacing Series on Monday night (March 21) at Yonkers Raceway, as the public choice won all five $50,000 divisions for free-for-allers, starting with defending champion This Is The Plan scoring in 1:51.3.

Making his 7-year-old debut, This Is The Plan (Yannick Gingras) had to work a bit to clear Chase H Hanover (Dexter Dunn), but was able to do so well before a :28.2 opening quarter. From there, This Is The Plan maintained command and stayed clear through a :57.1 half and a 1:24.2 three-quarters, and he would sprint home in :27.1 to beat Chase H Hanover by 2 3/4 lengths. Sonny Weaver N (Tim Tetrick) was third after a mild first-over bid in the last three-eighths of the mile.

Ron Burke trains This Is The Plan, a gelding by Somebeachsomewhere, for owners Burke Racing Stable LLC., Weaver Brussemi LLC., J&T Silva- Purnel & Libby, and Larry Karr. This Is The Plan is now a 21-time winner, and he pushed his bankroll to $2,587,969. He paid $4.20 to win and led a $12.60 exacta and a $48.40 trifecta.

Dragon Said (Joe Bongiorno) would then get the job done at odds of 2-5 in the second flight, prevailing in 1:52.3. Starting from post six, Dragon Said hustled to the early lead, but he would let a two-wide None Bettor A (Tetrick) clear before the :27.3 opening quarter. Not wanting to race in the two-hole, Bongiorno then immediately re-moved Dragon Said back to the top, and he would go on to reach the half in :57.1 and the three-quarters in 1:24.4.

Bongiorno and Dragon Said would open up a gap on the rest of the field on the final bend, and Dragon Said couldn't be caught after that, tallying by a length and a half over None Bettor A. Elver Hanover (George Brennan) wound up third after an extended first-over grind.

A 5-year-old gelded son of Well Said, Dragon Said is trained by Jenn Bongiorno for owner Robert Devine. Dragon Said now has a record of 15-11-6, and he has now put away $279,162. Dragon Said returned $2.90 to win and was atop a $14.00 exacta and a $57.00 trifecta.

The third section saw Western Joe (Dunn), a two-time preliminary round winner in the MGM Borgata Pacing Series in 2021, deliver in 1:51.4. Western Joe got away in fourth from post one and watched as Nicholas Beach (Bongiorno) and Covered Bridge (Gingras) both left hard. Covered Bridge forged his way past Nicholas Beach after the :26.4 opening quarter and would continue to show the way at the :55.4 half and the 1:24 three-quarters. Meanwhile, Western Joe was sent first-over on the third turn and advanced into second at three-quarters.

Covered Bridge was able to keep Western Joe at bay around the final turn and into the lane, but Western Joe finally wore him down and went by in mid-stretch en route to a one length victory. Covered Bridge held off Nicholas Beach to finish second.

Western Joe, an 8-year-old Western Ideal gelding, is trained by Chris Choate for owners Anthony Ruggeri and Richard Tosies. Western Joe picked up his 38th lifetime win, and his earnings now stand at $980,123. Western Joe, dispatched at 6-5, paid $4.50 to win. The exacta kicked back $14.60 and the trifecta $45.80.

Leonidas A (Austin Siegelman), who went four-for-four in the MGM Borgata Pacing Series preliminaries a year ago, turned a pocket trip into a 1:50.3 triumph in the fourth split. Leaving from the pole position, Leonidas A settled into the two-hole behind a fast-leaving Tattoo Artist (Dunn). It looked like Siegelman wanted to try and loop to the point before the :26.4 opening quarter, but quickly relented on that bid and elected to stay put.

After control of the front-end was decided, Tattoo Artist blazed away through a :55.1 half and a 1:22.1 three-quarters and opened up a couple of lengths on Leonidas A as they raced in the backstretch for the final time. Leonidas A wasn't done, though, as he steadily reeled Tattoo Artist back in through the last turn, angled out in the lane, and went by Tattoo Artist to tally by a length and a half. Tattoo Artist had to settle for second, and Semi Tough (Brennan) collected third.

The victorious 7-year-old gelding by Mach Three is trained by Sheena Cohen for owner Jesmeral Stable. Leonidas A made his 37th appearance in the winner's circle, and he has now pocketed $549,187. The even-money choice, Leonidas A returned $4.00 to win. The exacta and trifecta were worth $7.80 and $48.20, respectively.

In the final MGM Borgata Pacing Series showdown, Diamondbeach (Brennan), Lyons Steel (Dunn), and Bee Two Bee (Gingras) all showed speed, with Bee Two Bee getting to the engine from post seven after a quick :26.3 opening quarter. Bee Two Bee then backed down the tempo to just 56 seconds at the half, with Nandolo N (Jason Bartlett), the 1-5 favorite, commencing a first-over bid out of fourth nearing that marker.

Bee Two Bee managed to withstand Nandolo N's brush to the 1:23.4 three-quarters, around the last turn, and into the stretch, but Nandolo N wouldn't be denied, surging by Bee Two Bee with about a sixteenth to go and then keeping clear from a second-over Pat Stanley N (Jordan Stratton) to win by a length and a half in 1:51.4. Bee Two Bee wound up holding on to finish third.

Shane Tritton and Team Tritton Inc. are the winning trainer/owner combo with Nandolo N, an 8-year-old Betterthancheddar gelding. Nandolo N now has 16 career victories, has stashed away $313,211, and paid $2.40 to win. He also fronted a $12.80 exacta and a $90.00 trifecta.

MGM Borgata Pacing Series action will roll on for four more weeks, with the final preliminary round scheduled for Monday, April 18. The final will take place on April 25. That card will also have the final of the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series, along with consolation events for both the Borgata and the Matchmaker.

SARANAC BLUE CHIP STARS AGAIN IN MGM REWARDS GENTS PACING SERIES

Saranac Blue Chip will have a chance to finish off a sweep of the MGM Rewards Gents Pacing Series after he won his third straight $20,000 preliminary round event on Tuesday night (March 22) at Yonkers Raceway.

Driven by Jordan Stratton in the second of three divisions, Saranac Blue Chip went to the lead from post three and carved out fractions of :27.3, :57.2, and 1:24.4. Makin Some Noise (Tyler Buter) made some headway after going first-over out of third heading to three-quarters, but he stalled out approaching that marker, allowing Saranac Blue Chip to turn for home on a clear lead. He wouldn't relinquish it from there, hitting the wire three-quarters of a length ahead of pocket-sitter Barrywhite Hanover (Austin Siegelman) in a 1:53.2 mile. High Baller (Scott Zeron) rallied from second-over to take third.

A 4-year-old American Ideal gelding, Saranac Blue Chip is trained by Dan Morrissey for owner Leona Morrissey. This was his ninth win from 41 career starts, and he has now earned $125,485. Sent off at odds of 9-2, Saranac Blue Chip paid $11.00 to win and was atop a $264.50 exacta and a $685.00 trifecta.

Back in the opening flight, 25-1 shot Samson Blue Chip (Jason Bartlett) gunned to the point from the outside post seven and chopped out panels of :26.4, :56.3, and 1:24.2, but 1-5 favorite Perfectboy Hanover (Stratton) angled out of the pocket on the final bend, and his bid was followed by Bottle Rocket (Mike Whelan). In the stretch Perfectboy Hanover forged his way by Samson Blue Chip, but Bottle Rocket gained to Perfectboy Hanover's outside and got by him at the wire to tally by a nose in 1:53. Samson Blue Chip ended up third.

Walter Whelan trains and co-owns Bottle Rocket, a 4-year-old son of Rock N Roll Heaven, with partner Christopher Nicol. Bottle Rocket has compiled a record of 2-6-7 from 25 trips behind the gate, and he pushed his bankroll to $97,818. A 7-2 offering, Bottle Rocket returned $9.70 to win and keyed a $13.00 exacta and a $94.50 trifecta.

Bet On Blake (Bartlett) backed up his win in last Tuesday's second leg with a 1:54.2 decision in the final section. Bet On Blake led his seven foes through stations of :29, :58.4, and 1:27, then sprinted a :27.2 last quarter to score by 2 3/4 lengths over pocket-sitter Bali Beach (Stratton). Jet Ace (Joe Bongiorno) collected third.

The victorious 4-year-old gelded son of Betterthancheddar is trained by Dennis Laterza for owners Albert Sperling and Latz A Luck Stable. Bet On Blake is now a seven-time winner from 36 appearances, and he has pocketed $113,629. The 1-2 favorite, Bet On Blake paid $3.10 to win. The exacta was worth $7.80 and the trifecta kicked back $35.80.

The $50,000 championship of the MGM Rewards Gents Pacing Series will headline next Tuesday night's (March 29) card at Yonkers. There will also be a $30,000 consolation event.

Miller eyes Matchmaker and milestone

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

A dozen years ago, Marcus Miller began driving a female pacer named Mystical Victress, who provided Miller with some of the biggest wins of his early career. As the 32-year-old Miller approaches 4,000 lifetime victories in the sulky, he is now picking up triumphs with one of Mystical Victress' daughters, Mystical Carrie.

Miller and Mystical Carrie won an opening-round division of the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series for pacing mares last week at Yonkers Raceway and will go for another in the second leg of the event tonight (March 25) at The Hilltop. Mystical Carrie got post one in the fourth of four $40,000 divisions and is the 3-1 co-second choice on the morning line.

The 5-year-old Mystical Carrie is trained by Miller's father, Erv, and owned by breeder Mystical Marker Farms. She has won 17 of 50 lifetime races and $419,278. She was a Grand Circuit winner in 2020, the same season she finished second to Priceless in the Indiana Sire Stakes championship for 3-year-old female pacers.

"I drove Mystical Victress in Chicago," said Miller, an Illinois native now living in Pennsylvania. "She was one of the first really good Illinois-breds that I drove consistently from season to season, so it's kind of special to drive (Mystical Carrie) now in some stakes races as well.

"It also makes me feel a little bit old," he added with a laugh. "I see that happening more and more, where I remember a horse's mom."

Miller won a number of state-bred stakes with Mystical Victress in Illinois. He has three wins with Mystical Carrie since she left Indiana, where she was driven by Trace Tetrick, in the fall.

"They are different horses," Miller said. "Mystical Victress was a big, rugged grinder. This filly is a little smaller and maybe a little snappier than she was. The one thing they have in common is they both try really hard."

Mystical Carrie is one of four horses from Erv Miller's stable in the Matchmaker this week. Marcus also drives the other three — Lucky Artist A, La Bella Vita N, and Bolt Of Beauty. Lucky Artist A is making her first start in the series while La Bella Vita N and Bolt Of Beauty both had third-place finishes in the event's first leg.

"None of the divisions are going to be soft; there are a lot of nice mares in there," Miller said. "I think I've got four horses that are very competitive. They're not going to be slam dunks, but they're all very competitive. I think if I can draw good (in the series), I've got a shot to come out of it OK."

Miller is driving in the Matchmaker Series for the first time in his career. He spent the winter driving more frequently at Yonkers, where he has won 19 times this year to sit in 11th place in the standings. He is only one victory from joining Dan Dube and Scott Zeron in a tie for ninth.

"I think I've been holding my own," said Miller, who has driven in 395 races overall this year compared to 211 starts at this same time in 2021. "I'm happy with how it's gone so far. It's kind of picked up. I'm glad I made the decision to try to stick it out through the winter."

Miller, who was the 2016 Rising Star Award winner from the U.S. Harness Writers Association, entered Wednesday needing 34 wins to reach 4,000 lifetime.

"It's something I'll be proud of when it happens," Miller said. "It represents a lot of hard work from a lot of people other than just me, that's for sure. It takes a lot of people to win one horse race. And it probably touches more people than any of us are able to understand.

"I feel fortunate that I'm able to get up into these numbers. It's definitely special."

The Blue Chip Matchmaker Series features five preliminary rounds from which the eight mares with the highest point totals are eligible to return for the final on April 25.

Morning-line favorites in tonight's four divisions are, in race order, Scarlett Hanover (7-5), Dragon Roll (5-2), Miss You N (8-5), and Karma Seelster (9-5).

First-round winners in addition to Mystical Carrie were Dragon Roll, Drama Act, and Easy To Please.

Racing begins at 6:55 p.m. EDT at Yonkers. For tonight's complete entries, click here.

Jillian B Miki finds wide path to victory in $20,500 Meadows series final Pinned along the cones into the final turn, Jillian B Miki found late room in the center of the track and roared to victory in Wednesday's (March 23) $20,500 championship of the Donna Dunn Memorial Pace for 3- and 4-year-old fillies and mares at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows.

Jillian B Miki was fifth when Jim Pantaleano angled her off the pylons for clearance. She found it in the widest path and got up to defeat Irish Daydream by 1-1/4 lengths in 1:53.3 over a "good" surface, matching the lifetime mark she established in last week's series leg.

A 3-year-old daughter of Always B Miki-Sir Jillian Z Tam, Jillian B Miki had only three starts last year, all at Pennsylvania Fairs. But she broke through early this season for trainer Tye Loy, who owns her with Rich Gillock.

"I was worried about finding room because she wasn't keeping up to her cover into the turn, and I could see the horses in front of her tiring," Pantaleano said. "I knew I would have to angle her out. I was surprised when she surged the way she did halfway through the stretch. That was pretty gritty for a green horse."

"If she continues to develop, she could make a nice stallion series horse at the least — just because she acts so much like a racehorse."

Dave Palone and Pantaleano each enjoyed three wins on the 11-race card.

Farwick Memorial produces upset winners at Miami Valley

The Dr. Dan Farwick Memorial Series, one of seven "Lebanon Legends" late closers at Miami Valley Raceway this year, kicked off on Wednesday (March 23) with three $17,500 divisions.

Trotters with fewer than six pari-mutuel wins or under $60,000 in lifetime earnings were eligible to nominate to the series.

The fastest winner was Royson's Punch (Brett Miller, $28.40), who triumphed in 1:54.2 over Wixx Hanover (Chad Clark) and stablemate L Dees Patrick (Anthony MacDonald). A 4-year-old son of Chapter Seven, the winner was a $100,000 winner as a juvenile in New York but earned his initial 2022 victory after starting the season in conditioned events at Woodbine Mohawk in suburban Toronto. He is owned by Thestable Roysons Punch fractional investment group and trained by Jason McGinnis.

Stay Close ($8.40), another McGinnis trainee owned by Thestable Stay Close Group, captured the first split with MacDonald in the sulky. The 5-year-old Father Patrick gelding topped favored Magical Muscle Man (Trace Tetrack) and Justa Hintof Spice (Miller) in 1:55.1. It was the third seasonal success for Stay Close. The winner has already raced at The Meadows, The Meadowlands, Woodbine Mohawk and now Miami Valley in 2022.

The third and final split of the Farwick resulted in another upset win when Fox Valley Britzka (Tetrack) avoided a plethora of breaking horses in the early going to secure a 1:57.4 win and pay $31.60. Heavily favored Sly Little Fox (Miller) recovered from a break in the first quarter to rally for a place finish, while early pacesetter SM Count On Me held on to salvage a show showing. Ross Leonard trains Fox Valley Britzka for owner Michael Roche. The 4-year-old son of Whom Shall I Fear won for the sixth time in his career with lifetime earnings increasing to $53,020.

UPDATE

New date for Canadian Western Regional Driving Championship

Century Downs, in consultation with the Alberta Standardbred Horse Association (ASHA), and Standardbred Canada, has rescheduled the Western Regional Driving Championship from Saturday, June 4 to Sunday, June 19, Father's Day.

The decision was made to ensure a healthy horse population for the competition races.

Earlier this month, Standardbred Canada announced the host tracks and dates for the 2022 Regional Driving Championships and National Driving Championship, which will determine Canada's representative to the 2023 World Driving Championship for harness racing to be held in Italy in conjunction with the World Trotting Conference.

Regional events will feature either eight or nine drivers who will compete in a minimum of eight races. Drivers will receive points based on their finishing position and the top two point earners will advance to the National Driving Championship, scheduled for Thursday, November 24 at Century Mile in Edmonton, Alberta.

Here are the locations and dates for the events (in chronological order):

REGIONAL DRIVING CHAMPIONSHIPS

- Wednesday, May 11 - Ontario Regional Driving Championship - The Raceway at Western Fair District; London, ON
- Saturday, June 11 - Atlantic Regional Driving Championship - Red Shores Racetrack & Casino at Charlottetown Driving Park; Charlottetown, PEI
- Sunday, June 19 - Western Regional Driving Championship - Century Downs; Calgary, AB
- Sunday, June 26 - Quebec / Eastern Ontario Regional Driving Championship - Hippodrome 3R; Trois Rivières, QC

NATIONAL DRIVING CHAMPIONSHIP

- Thursday, November 24 - Century Mile; Edmonton, AB

Past winners of the NDC title include Doug McNair (2018), Brandon Campbell (2016), Jody Jamieson (2014 & 2011), Brad Forward (2009) and Gilles Barrieau (2007).
