New harness track and casino proposed for Chicago

A group of investors wants to build a racino south of the city, some 25 miles from Hawthorne. But will Hawthorne allow it?

by Neil Milbert

Illinois

A group of wealthy investors, the south suburban Chicago village of Richton Park and state senator Bill Cunningham are trying to extend a lifeline to the Illinois harness owners, trainers, drivers and breeders who are struggling for survival because of Hawthorne Race Course's stalled racino project.

Real estate developer Drew Daniels is a managing member of the group known as Greenway Entertainment Group and another member is Roy Arnold, one-time president of Arlington International Racecourse and currently chief executive officer of Endeavor Hotel Group.

Greenway's plans to build the combination harness track and casino on an 80-acre Richton Park site adjacent to Interstate Highway 57 became public during an Illinois Senate executive committee hearing on March 23.

Daniels also has notified the Illinois Gaming Board that it has the site under contract, has made initial design and engineering plans for a $300 million development and has had several meetings with elected officials of Richton Park.

Village manager Regan Stockstell issued a statement that said the village "is supportive" and "the racino presents a meaningful economic development opportunity [for] the south suburbs that should be allowed to proceed."

But there is a statutory roadblock: Hawthorne's right to veto construction of any competing racino within 35 miles of the racetrack. The proposed Richton Park racino falls within that boundary.

"We've been in conversation with Senator Cunningham and it was suggested that we go after the 35-mile rule [to have it eliminated by the legislature] and that's what we did," said Marty Engel, president of the Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association (IHHA).

"The whole issue is we've been waiting for years for the renovations at Hawthorne and a second track. When the [gambling expansion] bill was passed four years ago [permitting

“I know some in government think horse racing is a dead industry, but it's proven that it can be viable with a combination of racing and a casino. You can have a viable racing program which creates a lot of jobs. I know that from my experience racing in Indiana. The casino bill could have revived Illinois racing but nothing happened. We're letting a great opportunity slip through our fingertips.”

~ former Illinois Governor Jim Edgar six new casinos plus casino gambling at Illinois racetracks with a portion of the revenue earmarked for purses] people thought it might take a year or two, but everything was going to be good. Here we are four years later and we still are waiting for some sign of additional money.”

Senator Cunningham is sympathetic.

“Horse racing is dying while we wait for a racino to be built at Hawthorne,” he said. “So, I think we have to be open to other options.”

In his letter to the Illinois Gaming Board, Daniels also emphasized that the delays in Hawthorne's racino plans have created a “significant crisis.”

“We urge the Illinois Gaming Board and the Illinois General Assembly to consider the loss of revenue and the endless delays that the current Act permits and promote an alternative that allows this critical and meaningful revenue to commence without further inexplicable impedance,” Daniels said.

Exacerbating the crisis has been the closing of Arlington International Racecourse by its corporate parent Churchill Downs Inc. (CDI) following the historic and palatial thoroughbred track's 2021 meeting, leaving dual-purpose Hawthorne as the only racetrack in the Chicago metropolitan area.

After lobbying for many years for permission to conduct casino gambling at Arlington, CDI did an abrupt about-face following its 2019 acquisition of a majority interest in Rivers Casino, the state's most profitable casino. The track is located only five miles northwest of Rivers and obviously CDI didn't want Arlington to compete with the cash cow.

So, CDI shut down Arlington and sold the property to the Chicago Bears for construction of a football stadium and other redevelopment with the stipulation that there would be no racing or casino gambling on the property. Not only has this eliminated racino competition it also has eradicated nearby thoroughbred competition for Rivers for the gambling dollar and crippled both thoroughbred and harness racing in the state.

Consequently, the IHHA and the Illinois Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association (ITHA) entered into a time-share arrangement with Hawthorne that began in 2022 with the meetings divided in four segments and that is continuing in 2023 under a different format. This year, the thoroughbreds began their meeting March 4 and will continue racing through Sept. 4 after which there will be a Sept. 9-Dec. 31 harness meeting.

To control the damage inflicted by the long layoff Hawthorne and the IHHA have made arrangements to conduct non-betting races twice weekly from June 12-Aug. 31 at the Springfield State Fairgrounds, 175 miles south of the track. Purse money totaling approximately $780,000 will come from the horsemen's account at Hawthorne and Hawthorne is footing the $100,000 bill for operating expenses.

In 2020, Hawthorne began preliminary demolition work in preparation for reconstruction of the track into a $400 million facility that was scheduled to open in 2021.

However, the demolition project has stalled. As a Carey family-owned business with about 160 shareholders, Hawthorne had to restructure to make the Illinois Gaming Board's vetting process easier and then COVID-19 complications, supply chain issues, inflation and high interest rates have caused further delays. Now, although Hawthorne's president Tim Carey is struggling to complete a financing deal, he is making plans to complete the demolition work this year, construct the state-of-the-art racino and open in 2024.

"It's a big family and they want total control [rather than acquiring an existing gaming entity as a financial partner]," Engel said. "Most places [in Illinois] are doing temporary casinos [such as ones in downtown Chicago, Rockford and Waukegan near the Wisconsin border] but Hawthorne wants everything to be perfect when they open their doors. There's no doubt in my mind that the Carey family has nothing but the best intentions for the industry, but the problem is so many [horse] people are hurting and some want to get out of the business. Horsemen can't hold out much longer. They're desperate. The thoroughbreds are holding on by a thread.

"So many trainers are up there, age wise and they're thinking it's going to be years before something gets done and maybe it's time to retire. Two outstanding young drivers, Kyle Wilfong and Kyle Husted, have bought homes in Indiana. They've bought some Illinois-breds and their intent is to race them here this year, but I don't know if it's going to be full-time. The breeders' hands are tied. Do they go for a sure thing and breed for Indiana, or do they hope that things will work out here and there will be a strong demand for Illinois-breds?"

Former Governor Jim Edgar sees the situation in the same light as the IHHA president. Edgar, who was governor from 1991-1999, is a small scale thoroughbred owner and breeder and owns a 2-year-old and a 3-year-old harness horse in partnership with Kenneth (Doc) Walker, the state's largest standardbred breeder.

"I haven't read the [proposed] legislation [eliminating the 35-mile boundary] so I don't know the specifics, but I do know what the problem is," Edgar said. "Having only one track limits the number of days available for both breeds. Fewer dates make it extremely difficult for either of the breeds to survive. The last two years I have not foaled any thoroughbreds in Illinois. The number of foals in Illinois has gone down every year because people think they can't break even here with purses that don't compare with those tracks in other states offer.

"I know some in government think horse racing is a dead industry, but it's proven that it can be viable with a combination of racing and a casino. You can have a viable racing program which creates a lot of jobs. I know that from my experience racing in Indiana. The casino bill could have revived Illinois racing but nothing happened. We're letting a great opportunity slip through our fingertips."

IHHA executive director Tony Somone projects that casino gambling at Hawthorne would add as much as $12 million to the harness purse account at Hawthorne that currently is about $7 million.

The 2019 gambling expansion bill also allowed for a new harness track/casino to be constructed in one of seven south suburban Chicago townships but Richton Park is located in another township.

Later that year, it appeared the south suburban township racino would become reality when video gaming operator and developer Rick Heidner and Carey informed the Illinois Racing Board that they were partnering to construct the new facility in Tinley Park.

An inaugural 2020 meeting from Dec. 6-29 with racing on Sundays, Mondays and Tuesdays was awarded by the board at the dates' hearings.

But then the Chicago Tribune did what Edgar described as "a hatchet job" on Heidner, linking some of his business endeavors to a banking family with alleged organized crime connections and Governor J.B. Pritzger responded by denying a racino license and racing dates at the Tinley Park location.

Later Heidner was vindicated by the Illinois Gaming Board but by then the project was dead.

According to Engel, Carey anticipates a second track reopening with a casino after Hawthorne finally completes its reconstruction and begins casino gambling in 2024.

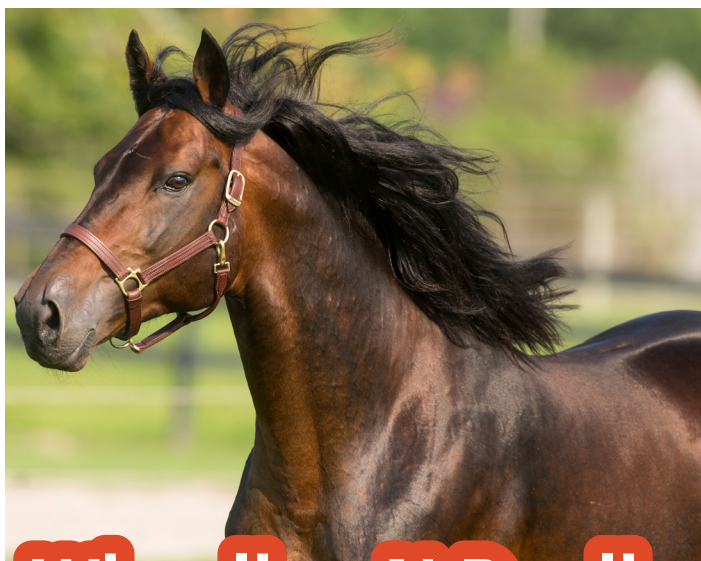

"We want the Careys to succeed," the IHHA president said. "We want them to resume construction. We like them. We trust them. We can work with them.

"But we just can't wait much longer."

New name, same club

The GSY Driving Club will now be the Meadowlands Amateur Drivers Club.

by Debbie Little

Effective immediately, the GSY (Gural Settlemoir Yarock) Driving Club will now be known as the Meadowlands Amateur Drivers Club (MADC).

“Jeff [Gural] and I just decided it was time for us to change the name of it to The Meadowlands Amateur Drivers Club and decided that now was the best time to do that,” Meadowlands chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir said. “We decided that it was in the best interest of The Meadowlands racetrack to actively take over the club and put together a board of directors that would meet after every quarter.”

The GSY recently made a $5,000 donation on March 17 in the winner’s circle at The Meadowlands to the Purple Haze Standardbred Adoption Program.

Future charity recipients of quarterly donations – which come from the five per cent purse earnings of the club’s drivers – will be chosen by the newly appointed club board.

The new slate of officers, chosen by Gural and Settlemoir, is:

Jessica Otten – president and board member

Gural – vice president and board member

Settlemoir – vice president and board member

Dave Yarock – vice president and board member

Dave Glasser – vice president and board member

Alex Figueras – vice president and board member

Scott Warren – race secretary and board member

Shakespeare wrote, in part:

“What’s in a name? That which we call a rose.

By any other name would smell as sweet”

That same view can be applied to this new club because it’s not about the name, it’s about the heart and soul of the club, which has not changed.

The GSY – founded in 2008 – has become the gold standard for amateur driving clubs. That is not to say that there weren’t highly successful clubs prior to creation of the GSY. However, they never rose to the level that the GSY has, by becoming a Friday night staple at one of the top tracks in the world.

The success of the GSY has inspired other tracks to embrace their own amateur clubs, as well as the creation of new clubs.

That legacy is a testament to club creator Yarock and all the members of the GSY that have supported it over the years to make it what it is today.

“I’m proud of how well the club has done over the years and how it’s grown to be an inspiration to others,” Yarock said. “I had no idea when I started it that this is what it would become.

“I am thankful for the support from Jeff Gural and Jason Settlemoir in allowing the club to race at The Meadowlands.

“These races have been very popular with our customers for some time. And while there has been a restructuring, the product has not changed, so I expect it to be business as usual.”

~ Jessica Otten

And I'd like to thank all the bettors that continue to support us. It's truly humbling to see something that you've worked so hard on become so successful.”

When the GSY started competing at The Meadowlands about 10 years ago, there was no way to know it would turn into the juggernaut it is today.

The GSY races are extremely well bet, due, in no small part, to their full fields and unpredictability, that leads to a low percentage of winning favorites. Their races also tend to have a lot of action, with horses moving early and coming from behind in the stretch.

Yarock is quick to point out that many people are responsible for the club's triumphs.

“It takes a village,” Yarock said. “I would also like to thank all the owners, trainers and drivers that have supported and continue to support our club. We wouldn't have full fields without them.”

Since this restructuring just happened, behind the scenes it's still a work in progress. However, according to Warren, “anyone who is a member of the GSY will be a member for the remainder of the year.”

As far as the bettors are concerned, there should be no difference, except for the name.

“These races have been very popular with our customers for some time,” Otten said. “And while there has been a restructuring, the product has not changed, so I expect it to be business as usual.”

Chad Rozema: Out like a lion

by Melissa Keith

March weather is traditionally said to be “in like a lion, out like a lamb.” March 25, didn’t follow the usual trend. Saturday night races at Woodbine Mohawk Park were canceled because of high winds. The New Holland Pacing and Trotting Series finals originally scheduled for that card have been moved to Saturday (April 1), with a special post time of 6 p.m.

When live racing resumes after the one-week break for annual spring maintenance, it will be without the familiar presence of Chad Rozema. The Woodbine Entertainment racing analyst/co-host of WMP’s simulcast show had also been filling in for racecaller Ken Middleton throughout March. Now, he’s moving on to Grand River Raceway in Elora, ON to begin in his new position as racing manager.

Rozema said that although his role will be different, relocating brings his career full circle.

“I grew up in Elmira, ON and we had our half-mile racetrack that was the big attraction in town,” he said, indicating the local precursor to Grand River Raceway. “You either delivered newspapers or worked at the racetrack and I did both. I started at Elmira Raceway in 1990 when I was 10 years old, following my mom and two brothers who all worked there prior to me, doing various jobs. That’s where I first fell in love with the game.”

He did not fall in love with the notion of the media side of the sport, at least initially.

“I never aspired to be an on-air commentator,” Rozema said. “I’ve wanted to do many things growing up, from being an accountant to a stand-up comedian, with lots of dreams in between. During my time at Elmira Raceway, I met and became good friends with Ken Middleton. He always tried to push me to take up announcing and I never did until I was about 21, when Ken got me a spot calling some qualifiers at Flamboro Downs.”

It was also Middleton who suggested Rozema approach his future employer.

“In early 2007, [Ken] informed me that Woodbine Entertainment was looking for an on-air commentator and encouraged me to apply despite having no on-air experience,” Rozema said. “I did and was hired that February as a host on HPItv, that’s where it all started for me.”

Chad Rozema has left his position as a Woodbine broadcaster and backup announcer to become the racing manager at Grand River Raceway.

Rozema’s race calling experience came in handy over the next 16 years with Woodbine Entertainment, although he has remained modest about his ability.

“I like to think of myself as a capable race announcer,” he said. “Ken [Middleton] is the best in the business. When he got me started, I called a little at Flamboro and Kawartha, along with some fair tracks in the area. When I applied at Woodbine, I had mentioned I can call races if needed and became Ken’s back-up relatively early in my career, so I’ve had plenty of opportunities over the years to fill in for him when he’s been away and I’m thankful they gave me a shot.”

Observers on social media have made frequent comments about Rozema’s ability to correctly call a close finish. In one memorable example from last October’s Ontario Sires Stakes Gold Superfinals, Hall of Fame driver/racing analyst Randy Waples convincingly argued that 32-1 longshot Snowpiercer had won a photo finish over quick-closing DWs Point Man in the 2-year-old male trotting event. Rozema, alongside Waples on the desk that night, disputed the close call.

“You don’t need confirmation, Chad,” Waples said with a laugh. “I just told you, I said the horse [Snowpiercer] won the race. I’m a driver, you’re an announcer. I mean, come on.”

When the result went official, Rozema was proven right.

“I love broadcasting and still hope to be visible from time to time, but I’m at a point in my life where I wanted a new challenge. I’ve expressed an interest in wanting to transition to a management role for a few years now. I was offered a pair of executive positions within the industry over that period, but they weren’t what I was exactly looking for; the racing manager role at Grand River was the right fit for me.”

~ Chad Rozema

“DWs Point Man got up, Randall,” he said with a laugh. “It keeps my Pick-5 hopes alive.”

Rozema said making such close calls involves risk-taking rather than perfectionism.

“I wouldn’t call it a skill, I think you just have to be confident in what you’re doing, and if it’s a tight photo then it’s your job to call it the way you see it. If you’re wrong, then you’re wrong; at least I took a shot.”

The popular racing analyst made a name for himself working alongside Jason Portuondo, who left Woodbine Entertainment last year to train towards a career as an AGCO racing official. A 2019 TROT magazine article by Rob Longley, Chemistry, Charisma & Trying to Cash Tickets, attributed some of the WMP simulcast show’s success to their entertaining and real rapport.

“Jason and I are as good of friends off the air as we are on the air and he helped me develop into the commentator everyone sees today,” Rozema said. “I loved every moment I worked alongside him but most of our memorable moments were off-cam, as we both had the ability to make each other crack up, sometimes losing our composure on-cam. There’s always lots of laughs when he and I are together.”

Rozema defined his career with Woodbine in terms of the exceptional horses he witnessed at their best.

“Somebeachsomewhere and I both started the same year,” he said with a laugh. “To watch him up close for two seasons was something I’ll never forget. I love the fan favorite horses like him, Bulldog Hanover, and So Much More. Hannelore Hanover was also very special. For being a U.S. based horse, she accomplished so much here in Canada, earning her Horse of the Year honors in 2017. Her owner Frank Baldachino and I met when she won her first of three straight Armbro Flight titles and we’ve been good friends ever since. I’ve covered plenty of thoroughbred racing too at Woodbine and I’d have to say getting to see Wise Dan win back-to-back Woodbine Mile trophies was incredible.”

It’s more difficult to narrow down his personal milestones.

“That’s a very tough question to answer as there are many highlights popping into my head right now,” Rozema said. “Although I prefer TV over announcing, one highlight for sure was when I got the opportunity to call the 2020 Canadian Pacing Derby and Maple Leaf Trot card with ‘J Mac’ [driver James MacDonald] upsetting again aboard Dorsoduro Hanover and the great Atlanta beating the boys. That night gave me chills upstairs in the booth.”

Whenever a well-known racing personality steps away from the spotlight, there is a sense of public curiosity about their decision. In Rozema’s case, a rare hometown opportunity just came along at a perfect moment for career progression.

“I love broadcasting and still hope to be visible from time to time, but I’m at a point in my life where I wanted a new challenge,” he said. “I’ve expressed an interest in wanting to transition to a management role for a few years now. I was offered a pair of executive positions within the industry over that period, but they weren’t what I was exactly looking for; the racing manager role at Grand River was the right fit for me.”

Rozema officially starts at Grand River Raceway on April 11, well ahead of the track’s return to live racing on Friday, June 2.

“I got to experience so many different aspects of the business and learn from many great leaders over the years,” he said. “I’m also very proud of the relationships I’ve built during my time there and I know that will serve me well going forward. I’m forever grateful for all my time at Woodbine Entertainment. They are the industry leaders for a reason, and I can’t wait to work with them and all the other racetracks in my new role.”

At publication deadline, no announcement had yet been made about who will be the new racing analyst filling Rozema’s role at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Note: Live racing returns to WMP Saturday (April 1) with a “super-sized” card that Woodbine director of standardbred racing Bill McLinchey called “as close as we get to an opening day at Mohawk” and “a great kickoff to our stake season, headlined by the two New Holland finals.”

It’s the first 15-race card in Campbellville since June 15, 2019.

Post time is 6 p.m. The regular post time of 7 p.m. will return on Monday, April 3.

Top horses on collision course through two legs in Borgata series

by Brett Sturman

Following Monday's (March 27) second leg of the Borgata Pacing series at Yonkers Raceway, only two horses remain unbeaten in the series. Both are Australian imports, neither of whom won on U.S. soil until just this year. They are former Australian champion Lochinvar Art A and at least based on international record prior to coming here, the far lesser heralded Idealsomemagic A.

A 9-year-old gelding, Idealsomemagic A is by NY-standing American Ideal and out of an Australian mare named Lifes Just Magic. Imported last year, his first win stateside was just over two months ago at Yonkers in what was essentially a bottom level NW5000L5 conditioned race. From there, the rest is history.

Co-owned by the VIP Internet Stable and Bukers Stable and trained by Cory Stratton, Idealsomemagic A has already surpassed all realistic expectations.

"Us and Ron Buker imported him last year, but it took a couple of months to get him racing," said VIP owner Tom Janes. "He had been off for a little bit of the time before he came over too and he actually got pretty sick after qualifying in November. Then he qualified back again in December and from there we raced him really easy once or twice and then after that he's just taken off.

I'm really happily surprised every week that he races. It's hard to tell where the bottom is for him."

After his first win on Jan. 18, Idealsomemagic reeled off four more straight wins, each enroute to climbing the ladder to the top of the Yonkers' condition book. His lone loss since his streak came in the open handicap at the end of February when he was raced from off the pace and was very strong in closing from well out of it to be second in a race won by Leonidas A.

As for exceeding expectations, "We certainly did not bring him over with anything like this in mind," Janes said. "There's difficulty in buying horses that are sound and good in the States; it can be challenging. So, like a lot of other people we've been dipping our toes into buying and importing horses and we thought this one looked okay and that hopefully he'd be a nice overnight horse.

"And after two or three wins, Jordan [Stratton, who drives Idealsomemagic A] told Cory that we might want to put him in the Borgata. And I was skeptical and kind of wanted to wait right up to the deadline and watch him race another time or two, but it came to the point where it was kind of hard to argue: this horse just looked really, really good. And even though we paid the nomination payment, we just didn't have any sense as to what kind of horse he is; he just keeps getting better and better."

With a leg three showdown coming up against Jimmy Freight, Idealsomemagic has passed every challenge thrown at him thus far.

"I think a big part of it is that he tries extraordinarily hard, it just seems like he's always charging through the stretch," Janes said. "In his first several races at Yonkers this year he went right to the front and looking back now he was clearly better than those horses, but we didn't know that at the time. And he just did it so easy.

"Maybe his first three or four starts I don't think Jordan moved a muscle the entire mile and the horse was all on his own drawing off. Even Monday in a race against Leonidas, once he got to the front, the horse was kind of on cruise control and looked like he had it well in hand."

"We certainly did not bring him over with anything like this in mind. There's difficulty in buying horses that are sound and good in the States; it can be challenging. So, like a lot of other people we've been dipping our toes into buying and importing horses and we thought this one looked okay and that hopefully he'd be a nice overnight horse."

~ Tom Janes

While enjoying a high level of success with Idealsomemagic A, the import game for VIP Stable has historically been tricky.

"It's always been hit or miss," Janes said. "Some horses would be good, some would be terrible, some come to us with problems and you just don't know for sure how they're going to be. You're at the mercy of a lot of factors we don't have control over.

"In this case, we brought Idealsomemagic over but also brought over two mares with him who have been training really well and should qualify in the next two to three weeks. And we actually just landed another horse last week from the same owner and trainer as Idealsomemagic A and he's just as high on this one as Idealsomemagic. Now, I take that with an enormous grain of salt, I don't think that's possible. But if he's even a third as good then he'll pay his way."

Elsewhere in the Borgata series, Lochinvar Art A put forth his most impressive race at Yonkers to date this past Monday (March 27). Raced in stormy conditions, he took back at the start and was next to last after a half mile in :56.4. Having to go wide off less than great cover into the final turn, it still looked hard to see how he would be able to reach, but once into the stretch he confidently went by everyone and won by an easier than it looked margin of a neck. Anyone surprised with his success or that of Lauren Tritton driving him, shouldn't be.

As documented here last month, the Down Under accolades of both horse and driver are impressive.

After a hiccup in his first start of the year two weeks ago, it looks like any cause for concern for Tattoo Artist was short lived. The winner of almost $900k last year came back with a vengeance in his second leg of the series on Monday. After leading into the stretch and finishing eighth by a couple of lengths in that first start, he crushed his Borgata competition in leg two to win going away by over three lengths in a time of 1:51.2; the co-fastest time of the night along with Idealsomemagic A.

Lastly, judges made the right call in the Borgata leg in which Jimmy Freight was victorious. Following his win, there was an inquiry as he went inside two or three pylons around the final turn, but judges kept him up as they determined the pylon infractions wouldn't have changed the outcome of the race. Because rules differ from state to state, this is in contrast to a similar situation I wrote about at the end of last year at the Meadows when the top two horses were disqualified for pylon violations, even though it had zero bearing on the outcome of the race. That win puts Jimmy Freight right back in the mix of the Borgata standings and well done for not disqualifying a worthy winner.

MGM Borgata Pacing Series continues Monday at MGM Yonkers Raceway

by Yonkers Raceway

The fields for the third leg of the MGM Borgata Pacing Series, coming up at MGM Yonkers Raceway on Monday (April 3) are set. A total of 26 horses were entered, requiring four $50,000 splits.

One of the competitors in the first division (race three) will pick up their first win in the series this year. This Is The Plan (post three, Yannick Gingras) is a former MGM Borgata Pacing Series champion and he'll take on the likes of Nandolo N (post four, Jason Bartlett) and Backstreet Shadow (post five, Matt Kakaley).

Lochinvar Art A (post four, Lauren Tritton) will look to stay undefeated in the event in the second Borgata battle (race five) and is five-for-five in the U.S., so far. The 8-year-old Modern Art stallion won on March 27 for trainer Shane Tritton in 1:52 4/5 over a sloppy surface.

A showdown looms in the third tilt (race seven) as Tattoo Artist (post one, Dexter Dunn), Hellabalou (post four, Gingras) and Leonidas A (post seven, Austin Siegelman) all have won a Borgata leg thus far. They'll meet up with defending series champion Funatthebeach N (post six, Stratton).

In the final section Idealsomemagic A (post three, Stratton), like fellow Aussie Lochinvar Art, has won both of his prelims to date. He faces Jimmy Freight (post seven, Scott Zeron), another one of round two's victors.

The MGM Borgata Pacing Series continues for three more weeks before a $200,000-added final estimated to boost the purse to $500,000 on April 24. That card will also include the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series final and consolation events for both races.

MGM Yonkers Raceway will also offer the MGM Borgata Pacing Series champion a win-and-you're-in opportunity to both the $200,000 Battle of Lake Erie at MGM Northfield Park on June 10 and the $200,000 MGM Aria Pace at Yonkers on MGM Yonkers International Trot Day (Sep. 23).

Stakes action will resume at MGM Yonkers Raceway on tonight's (March 31) 10-race program with three $40,000 divisions (races three, six and eight) of the third leg of the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series for pacing mares. The second of those events features Amazing Dream N, the only two-time winner in the series in 2023, Racine Bell, who went over $1 million in career earnings with a victory a week ago and defending champion Drama Act.

MGM Yonkers Raceway is currently operating on a Monday through Friday live racing schedule with post time at 7 p.m. (EST).

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

For Michaela Hemmes all that glitters is black and gold

by Chris Lomon

When the time came for Michaela Hemmes to pick out her standardbred racing colors, the horsewoman from Saylorsburg, PA, didn't have to mull things over for very long.

"My uncle, Douglas, he was one of my biggest inspirations and he still is," Hemmes said. "I might get teary sharing this. He was a wonderful man. He was a dreamer and always supported my dreams and everything I ever did.

"He was a cyclist. His favorite cycling suit was black and gold. He ripped it one day and I sewed it for him. He was so excited. He showed everyone that I sewed it for him. I was 12 and I remember it being so special for him. It rocked his world. He had always been my biggest supporter and unfortunately, he passed away. So, I figured it would be a nice, little tribute to him, something he always wanted to see me do."

He would, no doubt, be proud of his niece.

Hemmes, in her second year of training, wasn't part of the harness racing scene until 2018, when she saw an interesting posting on social media.

A quick glance at the job description piqued her curiosity.

"I was working in an optometrist's office," Hemmes said. "I was an optical manager and I got bored with it, the office work. I had riding horses when I was younger and I grew up with horses, but I got away from it when I became an adult. I saw a post on Facebook from Juliana Edwards, who was looking to hire a groom for [trainer] Carmine Fusco. I went and interviewed and Carmine hired me and got me in the business that way. That was in 2018."

Last year, in her rookie campaign, Hemmes went 4-4-5 from 33 starts, accompanied by just over $29,000 in purse earnings.

The 24-year-old, who wasn't expecting much from her first year, ended up with far better results than she had anticipated.

"I had a blast my first year," Hemmes said. "I got a nice horse named Keepamericagreat, a son of Shadow Play, who was sent to me. He was the first horse who I trained and brought to the races. I had trained others back before, but never brought them to the races.

"It took a little bit to get him right, but he gave me an awesome lifetime mark and first training win, which came at Tioga last Sep. 5, on Labor Day, which was fitting with the horse being named Keepamericagreat."

The bay, bred and owned by Lomangino Standardbreds of New Jersey, was sent on his way at 34-1.

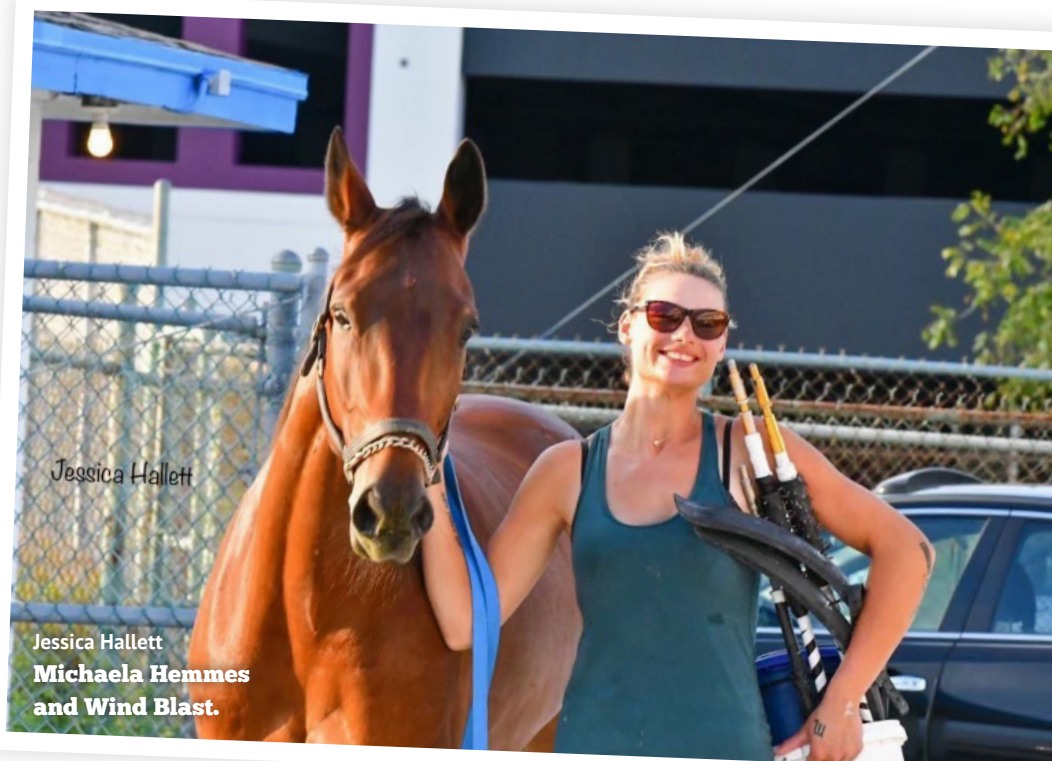

"I was sweating it to the wire," Hemmes said. "There were some really nice horses in the race and I thought, 'There is no way we are going to win this.' I was looking at the screen and someone said, 'You're winning!' Sure, as anything, we were able to win it."

Members of the welcome wagon offered up their own version of a serenade.

"When I was in the winner's circle — I remember it so well — and there was a group of guys having a blast," Hemmes said. "The horse went off at 34-1 and I figure they must have bet him because they were chanting, 'USA! USA!' and having a great time.

"I had a couple of other nice horses, but he was the cream of the crop that first year. He was the first horse I had at The Meadowlands. I had another nice one for a while, Dreamfair Helena. She ended up taking her lifetime mark at Monticello. She was a fabulous horse for me too.”

Hemmes is currently working on a few additions to her racing repertoire, which includes a possible purchase and the pursuit of a life in the race bike.

“My biggest goal... actually, I have three big goals,” Hemmes said. “One is to win at The Meadowlands and I’d like to get my license to drive. I’m working on that. I always thought, ‘Why not?’ There are plenty of women who drive, but not as many in the U.S.

“I took a little break from training because the winter was pretty tough. My next step is to buy one just for myself. I’m just taking my time, watching everyone race and keeping my eyes open.”

Even if the adage of hindsight being 20/20 is true, she has no regrets about the big career change she made five years ago.

“It’s a lot harder than it looks, for one,” Hemmes said. “And I realized I could do it, which is a pretty nice feeling. I honestly didn’t think I was going to do that well, so I felt that if I could put my mind to it, I could do it. It was a surprise, but definitely a nice surprise. I didn’t think I was going to win in my first year and I did. I do a lot of paddocking and shipping right now. I’m just rocking with it.”

And when she’s not, you’ll find the trainer getting the most out of the great outdoors.

Time spent on the couch is at a minimum.

“Surprisingly, even though I work outdoors all the time, I love being outside,” Hemmes said. “I love to kayak, hike: anything that gets me outdoors and active. Getting out in nature is so nice and relaxing. But I love my job. Even with all the ups and downs, I still have a smile on my face every day.”

All of which is why Hemmes is happy to stay the course, something her uncle would no doubt be proud to see.

Win or lose, every day at the barn, she shared, is as good as black and gold.

“A lot of people have told me to stick with it,” she said. “Yes, this business can be hard, but if I can stick with it and be good to my horses, I know they will be good to me. I love them. I adore them.”

Family ties make 'Cookie' a treat

Now, what starts with the letter C? Cookie starts with C. Let's think of other things that start with C. Ah, who cares about the other things. – Cookie Monster

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Given her pedigree, female pacer C Is For Cookie is good enough for Seth Rosenfeld. Her performances in the next several weeks might provide an idea whether "Cookie" could develop into a monster on the racetrack.

Bred and owned by Rosenfeld's Birnam Wood Farms, C Is For Cookie is the 13th and final foal from retired Hall of Fame broodmare Sweet Future. C Is For Cookie's siblings include 2014 Pacer of the Year Sweet Lou, two-time Breeders Crown champion Bettor Sweet and the dams of Dan Patch Award winners Youaremycandygirl (Sweet Lady Jane) and Captain Crunch (Sweet Paprika).

Unraced as a 2-year-old because of an injury, C Is For Cookie has posted a win and a second in two starts this season at 3.

"A lot of times with these older mares you get that last filly or two at the end of their breeding careers and most of the time they don't work out on the racetrack," Rosenfeld said. "Breeders are excited to have them and excited for their breeding career going forward, but on the racetrack, you don't see a lot of fillies that are the 13th foal that are the big success stories.

"So, to me, I was thrilled to get a filly and look forward to breeding her. Anything she accomplishes on the racetrack is pretty much gravy as far as I'm concerned."

That said, C Is For Cookie got the attention of Rosenfeld and trainer Linda Toscano when she won her career debut by four lengths in 1:51.3 on March 10 at The Meadowlands with driver Scott Zeron. She paced her final quarter-mile in :26.2 as she defeated eight rivals as the 8-5 favorite.

"Linda always liked her," Rosenfeld said. "She came back this year and has been very nice. We expected a solid performance in her first start, but we did not necessarily think she was going to pace in [1]:51.3. That was nice."

Ken Weingartner / USTA
C Is For Cookie.

Last week, at The Big M, C Is For Cookie made a strong move up the backstretch to get the lead in a :55.3 half, but was caught by 4-year-old mare Two Proud in the stretch, losing by a half-length.

"She raced well," Rosenfeld said. "That was a solid effort to lose to a 4-year-old who was a stakes filly last year."

Tonight (March 31), C Is For Cookie is the 9-5 morning-line favorite in the first of two $20,000 opening-round divisions of the Standardbred Retirement Foundation conditioned series for 3-year-old female pacers at The Meadowlands. She will start from post four in a field of seven, with Zeron in the sulky.

If all goes well in the weeks ahead, the Betting Line-sired filly will head to stakes events, both for Pennsylvania-sired horses and on the Grand Circuit, later this year.

"She's staked relatively heavily," Rosenfeld said. "She's got a lot to race for. We're hoping she can have a nice solid season."

Does C Is For Cookie share any similarities with others in her family?

"I think the biggest similarity is that she's got a lot of reach to her gait," Rosenfeld said. "I guess you could say all good horses have a nice reach, but the way she strides out I think reminds you a little of the better ones from the family."

"I'm not going to say she's going to be at that level, but she's a nice individual. She's correct, she's got decent size; she sort of seems to have the ingredients of a nice filly."

As for C Is For Cookie's name — a nod to the Cookie Monster-sung tune from Sesame Street — credit goes to Rosenfeld's wife, Alex, who is a music executive and three-time Grammy nominated supervisor/producer.

"She thinks in terms of songs, it comes naturally to her," Rosenfeld said. "People seem to respond to the name, so that's fun."

In the second SRF division for the filly pacers, Sweet Phenomena is the 9-5 morning-line favorite. She is making her seasonal debut after winning two of four starts last year for trainer Nancy Takter.

There is one SRF division for 3-year-old female trotters Friday. Sheer Faith, who is 2-for-2 this year and has won four of six races lifetime, is the 3-5 favorite for trainer Per Engblom.

SRF events for male pacers and trotters are Saturday (April 1).

Racing at The Meadowlands begins at 6:20 p.m. (EDT). Free TrackMaster programs for The Big M can be found here.

Dan Patch Award winners headline Jug and Jugette eligible lists

The 2022 Dan Patch Award winning Stockade Seelster and the Breeders Crown champion Ammo lead a group of 105 colts and geldings that remain eligible for this year's 78th edition of the Little Brown Jug.

Stockade Seelster won eight of 11 races last season and earned $686,268. The Ontario-bred State Treasurer colt counted the $666,000 Metro Pace and $162,000 Ontario Sires Stakes Super Final among his victories for co-owners Sally and Paul MacDonald and trainer Dr. Ian Moore.

Ammo scored one of the biggest upsets in Breeders Crown history with his half-length win in last year's $600,000 freshman colt pace final at odds of 52-1.

Ammo finished outside of the top three in just one of his seven 2022 starts, earning $391,095. The son of Sweet Lou is conditioned by Joe Holloway for Val D'Or Farms and Theodore Gewertz.

This year's Little Brown Jug number of eligibles represents a 30 per cent increase from last year's 73 eligibles. This year's Jugette numbers are up by 26 fillies.

The 2023 Jugette eligible list of 81 fillies is headlined by Sylvia Hanover, who won eight of nine starts last season on her way to sweeping the O'Brien (Canadian) and Dan Patch (United States) Awards as the top freshman filly pacer.

The Always B Miki lass is conditioned by Ontario based Shawn Steacy for the Hudson Standardbred Stable.

"We are truly excited to see these numbers increase," said Tom Wright, president of the Little Brown Jug Society. "With the increased eligibles and the hard work we are doing with sponsorships we are expecting this year's Jug purse to surpass record numbers."

The record Jug purse was $677,000 won by Wiggle It Jiggle it in 2015.

Horses that are not currently eligible to the 2023 Little Brown Jug or Jugette can still supplement into those events with a $45,000 or $15,000 payment, respectively.

The Little Brown Jug and Old Oaken Bucket will be raced Thursday, Sep. 21 and the Jugette and Buckette on Wednesday, Sep. 20.

USTA on FTC ADMC approval

The United States Trotting Association (USTA) released the following statement regarding Monday's (March 27) decision by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) to approve the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority's (Authority) Anti-Doping and Medication Control (ADMC) rules.

"In approving the rules, the FTC has shown, once again, that it is nothing but a rubber stamp for the Authority," stated Russell Williams, USTA president. "That is why we are in the process of appealing the decision from the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. We are confident that our legal arguments will win the day, and HISA will be ruled unconstitutional."

Timeline:

On Oct. 13, 2022, the Authority submitted to the FTC its proposed ADMC rules. On Nov. 18, 2022, a three-judge panel of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals unanimously ruled HISA unconstitutional. The court found that HISA violated the private non-delegation doctrine because the Act gave the FTC insufficient oversight over a private corporation that was tasked with regulating the industry. Shortly after, on Dec. 12, 2022, the FTC disapproved of the proposed rules, citing legal uncertainty and a lack of uniformity throughout the U.S. due to the Fifth Circuit ruling. On Dec. 29, 2022, HISA was amended by Congress in a failed effort to "fix" the constitutional defects. In early January 2023, the Authority resubmitted the exact same rules for approval by the FTC. On March 3, 2023, the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled against the Fifth Circuit's decision and found that HISA was constitutional. Today, the FTC approved the ADMC rules with no new notice and comment period and no changes whatsoever.

Woodbine Mohawk Park back in action Saturday with extra-large card

Following a cancellation and short break, Woodbine Mohawk Park is set to return to live racing action this Saturday (April 1) with an extra-large 15-race card.

Mother nature took out last Saturday's program with extreme winds, which extended the originally scheduled end of March break by an extra program. This week's break from live racing allowed for annual spring maintenance to be performed at the Campbellville oval, including the recently announced track light replacement project.

This Saturday's return comes with a special early post time of 6 p.m. and a unique 15-race card.

Take-Two for New Holland Series Finals

The New Holland Trotting and Pacing Series finals will finally be contested this Saturday after being postponed last week due to the extreme wind.

Both finals were carried over as originally drawn for this week's card. The $72,000 trotting series final will go as Race 5, while the $70,500 pacing series final is listed as Race 7.

The trotting event saw four different winners over the course of the preliminary legs. Carmen Auciello trainee Itstimetogohome (post one, Doug McNair) and Shawn Steacy trainee Ritson (post six, Scott Young) captured leg one divisions, while Per Engblom trainee Sermon (post eight, Bob McClure) and Harry Poulton trainee Locatelli (post nine, James MacDonald) took the top spot in round two.

The pacing finale will see Nautical Hanover (post eight, MacDonald) go for a series sweep after posting victories of 1:50.3 and 1:51.1 in the preliminary legs. The 4-year-old son of Captaintreacherous was acquired by owner Richard Berthiaume in November and joined the barn of trainer Ben Baillargeon.

"He's a monster right now," said Baillargeon to Woodbine Communications last week. "He's such a beautiful horse. We thought we'd have to pay $100,000, for what he was on paper, but we ended up paying more [$180,000] probably just because of his looks. He's a real good-looking horse. He has a perfect gait and he's a looker. Seeing him come down the lane [in leg two], he impressed."

The New Holland Series events were open to non-winners of $150,000 (fillies and mares $175,000) in 2022.

15 RACE CARD EQUALS ENHANCED WAGERING MENU

This Saturday's card will mark the first time since June 15, 2019, that 15-races will be offered on a single program at Woodbine Mohawk Park. A total of 143 horses are scheduled to compete on the beefy program.

With extra races carded, an enhanced wagering menu will be offered that includes three Pick-5 and three Pick-4 wagers.

Race 1: Early Pick-5 (Guaranteed Pool of $100,000)

Race 4: Early Pick-4

Race 6: Pick-5

Race 8: Pick-4

Race 10: Late Pick-5

Race 12: Late Pick-4

Race 15: Jackpot Hi-5

PEEK AT THE STANDINGS

With the three months of racing now complete for 2023, the Woodbine Standardbred driver and trainer standings have familiar names sitting at the top.

MacDonald leads all reinsmen with 79 wins and $1.1 million in earnings. He is the reigning two-time leading driver at Woodbine. Richard Moreau again leads all trainers in wins and earnings, having sent out 61 winners and starters earning $1.1 million. Moreau is currently on a seven-year streak of capturing the Woodbine training title.

Here is a glimpse at the current top-five drivers and trainers.

Top Drivers

James MacDonald – 374-79-52-48 – $1,142,665

Louis-Philippe Roy – 378-63-54-47 – $962,810

Doug McNair – 303-63-46-26 – $895,475

Bob McClure – 292-41-37-47 – $694,440

Sylvain Filion – 296-32-46-46 – $648,205

Top Trainers

Richard Moreau – 333-61-58-54 – $1,105,315

Carmen Auciello – 282-25-37-34 – $552,210

Jodie Cullen – 165-24-24-24 – $441,930

Kyle Fellows – 99-20-18-6 – $224,920

Shayne Barrington – 56-17-3-7 – $175,105

SPECIAL POST TIME

Racing participants, fans and horseplayers are reminded that post time for this Saturday's card is 6 p.m. The special start time is in place for only this Saturday. The regular post time of 7 p.m. will return on Monday, April 3.

OHHA executive director receives USTA president's award

Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association executive director Renee Mancino has been awarded the United States Trotting Association's president award.

The award was presented at the USTA annual meeting in Columbus.

USTA president Russell Wilson presented the award to Mancino for her, "Outstanding leadership and dedicated service to the standardbred horse and horsemen." The USTA cited Mancino for her exemplary commitment to the growth of the harness racing industry and her compassion for equine athletes.

Mancino says she is honored to receive the prestigious award.

"Being raised in the horse racing business and spending a lifetime of service to the sport, it doesn't seem quite right to get an award for something that comes so effortlessly for me, being a horsemen's representative and a horse lover," she said.

Mancino says all she ever wanted to do was be around these beautiful equine athletes.

Mancino was named the executive director of the Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association in 2014.

Tioga purses up this season

Tioga Downs will kick off the 18th season of live racing on the customary opening date of Kentucky Derby Day, which falls on May 6 in 2023. The live racing meet is scheduled for a total of 59 dates, racing Friday and Saturday evenings at 6:15 and Sunday afternoons at 1.

Purses for the upcoming meet will rise approximately 10 per cent this season over last, which translates to racing in overnights for a total of around $220,000 per weekend.

There is a lot to like about racing at Tioga and some new ideas are being incorporated into the meet, including a few late closers with attractive purses.

"Racing at Tioga Downs means summertime to me," said Jason Settlemyer, Tioga's vice-president of racing. "It's a wonderful place to race and great for fans to have fun and enjoy all that goes on there. Hopefully the purse bump will attract a few new faces and make for competitive racing this season."

Woodbine Mohawk Park race office encourages online entry

Woodbine Mohawk Park would like to encourage all horsepeople to enter their horses using Standardbred Canada's online entering service.

The race offices of Woodbine Mohawk Park, Clinton Raceway and Flamboro Downs have the goal of taking all entries online in the near future.

All three race offices will be sending reminders to horsepeople via text.

The Meadowlands notice on policies

As the calendar turns to April and more tracks in the region return to live racing, The Meadowlands is reminding competing horsepersons of the policies that are enforced during this time. The notes included on each weekly condition sheet are a good source for information on these details and policies.

All horsepersons intending to compete at The Meadowlands must fill out and sign the Racing Application before racing.

Horses that qualify at The Meadowlands are required to make their first start off that qualifier at The Meadowlands, unless that first start is in a stake at another track, or they contact and are excused by racing secretary Scott Warren.

Also, a reminder to those drivers competing at both Harrah's Philadelphia and The Meadowlands on Fridays to be aware of the time constraints and don't book drives in the last few at Philly and the first few at The Meadowlands to avoid late driver changes in the Pick-5. Our customers have made it clear that a significant driver change once the bet has been made is poor policy and to be avoided as best possible.

Beginning with the Friday, March 31 card, USTA licensed and ROAP accredited presiding judge Lou Haskell will be monitoring the races and enforcing Meadowlands' policies on behalf of Meadowlands' management.

Drivers will be required to reapply to race during the "Championship Meet" by April 29.

Truro Raceway announces racing analysts for 2023 season

Truro Raceway is pleased to announce that they have hired Melissa Keith and Grady Hachey as their on-air racing analysts for the upcoming season.

Keith is a Nova Scotia native and HRU columnist who is well known across Canada as both a professional handicapper for multiple tracks and an award-winning journalist. Her work includes working with Truro last season as our handicapper and providing her "Tips from @TheTriactor."

Hachey is a Fredericton, NB native and is a current columnist for Atlantic Post Calls, providing New Brunswick racing coverage. He has the distinction of having called his first race as a track announcer at 11-years-old. He also works part-time for trainer Charlie Miles.

"I had never met Ms. Keith until I arrived in Nova Scotia, but I have long enjoyed her work as a journalist and broadcaster," Truro general manager Steve Fitzsimmons said. "She is very well known across the country and respected in our industry. I couldn't be more thrilled to have her join our on-air team."

"Grady is a young man who has a lot of talent and knowledge and a great deal of potential. I've worked with several other talented young broadcasters who have been successful and I feel he has similar qualities to them. I'm looking forward to working with him and I know fans will enjoy what Mel and Grady will bring to them as our on-air team this season."

The racetrack will be adding a pre-game show this season, which will feature an interview each week conducted by marketing assistant Kaitlyn Wesley, as well as an in-depth analysis of that day's race card. Follow Grady Hachey on Twitter @grady_hachey and Melissa Keith @TheTriactor.
