Linedrive Hanover is a natural

The 4-year-old gelded pacer is a perfect 9-for-9 at Woodbine Mohawk Park this year for a team that includes part-owner Casie Coleman and trainer Tony Beaton.

by Brett Sturman

Beyond simply his baseball-themed name, there's more than a few parallels between the 4-year-old pacer Linedrive Hanover (Betting Line—Lillian Hanover) and the protagonist Roy Hobbs from the baseball film, The Natural.

Like Hobbs striking out The Whammer, Linedrive Hanover showed potential brilliance young in his career, albeit only for a flash. And now, just like Hobbs, after missing earlier seasons to setbacks — though for obviously different reasons — some may be wondering where Linedrive Hanover has “suddenly” come from.

This year, Linedrive Hanover has raced nine times and has won all of them. Not fooling anyone despite being unraced since a lone start at 2, he's been odds-on in every one of those races while climbing up the class ladder at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Linedrive Hanover baby-raced in his second qualifier at Mohawk in July of 2020. In that start, he won by 18 lengths in a time of 1:53.2, which included a back half in :53.4 and a final quarter in :26.3. He then debuted in the Dream Maker, where he was sent off as the heavily backed 1-5 favorite.

“He's probably the fastest 2-year-old I ever trained,” said co-owner Casie Coleman, who bought and has trained Linedrive Hanover throughout his career. Coleman shares ownership of the winner of nearly $90,000 with Ross Warriner, Jim Fielding, Kevin McKinlay and Mac Nichol.

“When Jonathan Drury qualified him at 2, he told me that he was faster than his old man (Betting Line), and we were extremely excited about him. He was completely staked into everything. In his first start (in the Dream Maker) he was coming down the lane at Mohawk and was going to jog, and he jumped something on the track and made a dirty, nasty break. He came back pacing and still finished fourth after that, but when he pulled up, JD (Drury) came in with him and said that something wasn't right. It took a few weeks to figure it out, but he ended up having bone bruising on his hind ankle, and the only way to fix bone bruising is time off, there's nothing else you can do.”

After almost nine months off in which Coleman turned out Linedrive Hanover and trained him down in Florida, he qualified in May of his 3-year-old season and again, this time at Pocono Downs, another fateful scenario played out.

“At that point I still had him staked to everything because I thought he was the best colt I had ever trained,” Coleman said. “We qualified him with Matt Kakaley and he came back saying how this horse is a freak and was so excited about the horse. And then, the same thing. We got him home and the next day he was lame. Once again, we went for a bone scan and it turned out he broke his tibia, which is a very rare thing, and again he missed the whole season.”

Coleman typically won’t keep horses that don’t race early, let alone through age 3. But Linedrive Hanover was an exception, and thus far in the year, Coleman and team are being proved right. Having been gelded prior to this season, Linedrive Hanover has earned a 1:51 mark taken on April 9 as part of his 9-for-9 record this year. Tony Beaton has performed the training responsibilities during that time and is deserving of credit from Coleman.

“I trained him back, and then once it was time for me to ship to Florida in November, I left him with Tony when he was to qualify,” Coleman said. “Tony’s done a fantastic job with him. He’s kept him sound, happy, and healthy, and all through the way he is racing right now. He’s worked for me in the past and knows my program, and he’s also doing a good job with own barn. I’m still in Florida and I’ve sent my other 3-year-old’s up, so I have four horses with Tony right now. Last week, we had three wins and had another with an improved qualifier, and he’s been good for sure.”

After breaking his maiden in January, Linedrive Hanover raced the next two weeks consecutively as he swept through the Snowshoe, but since then, almost all other races have been spaced out by at least two weeks. After a win last week, Linedrive Hanover will have this week off before being entered next week. Coleman said the strategy is by design, as to continue to get miles under the horse and see what he is, without wanting to over-race him by the time stakes in the summer come around.

Coleman picked out Linedrive Hanover from the 2019 Standardbred Horse Sales Company sale for $75,000. He was the first foal out of the dam Lillian Hanover, who herself is a half-sibling to world champion Dealt A Winner. It’s the same family that also includes fellow world champion Timesareachanging. In what first drew her to the horse, Coleman said, “He’s very well bred, and I was looking for Betting Lines in particular, and Hanover Shoe Farms does a great job in raising a horse. I was out at the farm probably a month before the sale and just loved the way he was moving out in the field. He’s medium sized, he’s got a lot of muscle, a huge shoulder on him, a sharp head, he’s got a big white blaze on him and anybody that knows me knows

I have a thing for horses with white on them for some reason.”

Linedrive Hanover isn’t staked as heavily this year as he was in years prior, but he’s still been made eligible to some of the bigger dances.

“I didn’t stake him too heavily because he’s a 4-year-old that hadn’t really raced until this year,” said Coleman. “He’s in the Graduate series which he’s going to miss the first leg at the Meadowlands because I don’t want to ship before the Confederation Cup. He’ll race in the Confederation Cup at Flamboro in May, and then he’s got some Graduate legs, the next of which is at Mohawk in early June. I also put him in the Canadian Pacing Derby and the Breeders Crown since it’s at Mohawk this year.”

If all goes to plan, Linedrive Hanover will get his shot in those races against the sport’s best free-for-all pacers. And in a twist unlike when Hobbs resurfaced, Linedrive Hanover may just be getting started.

Lisa Giannelli doping trial underway in New York

by Robert Gearty

Jury selection kicked off Wednesday (April 27) in the trial of a Delaware woman who prosecutors say helped veterinarian Dr. Seth Fishman supply illegal performance-enhancing drugs to trainers who used them to secretly dope horses to win races.

By day's end, a jury of eight men and four women was sworn in to hear the case against Lisa Giannelli in U.S. District Court in New York.

Judge Mary Kay Vyskocil scheduled opening statements for Thursday (April 28). The government has two FBI agents lined up to testify as their first witnesses.

Giannelli was in court for the jury selection.

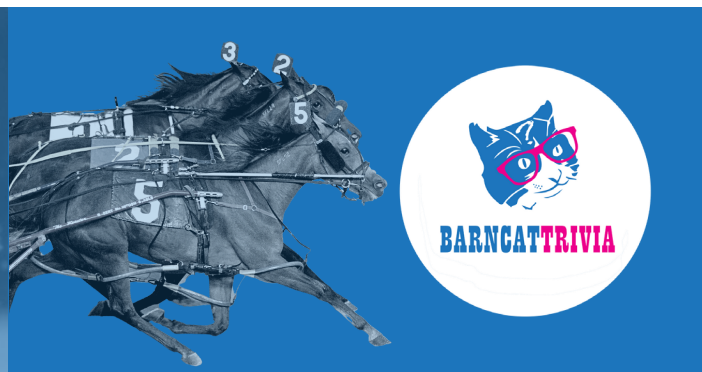

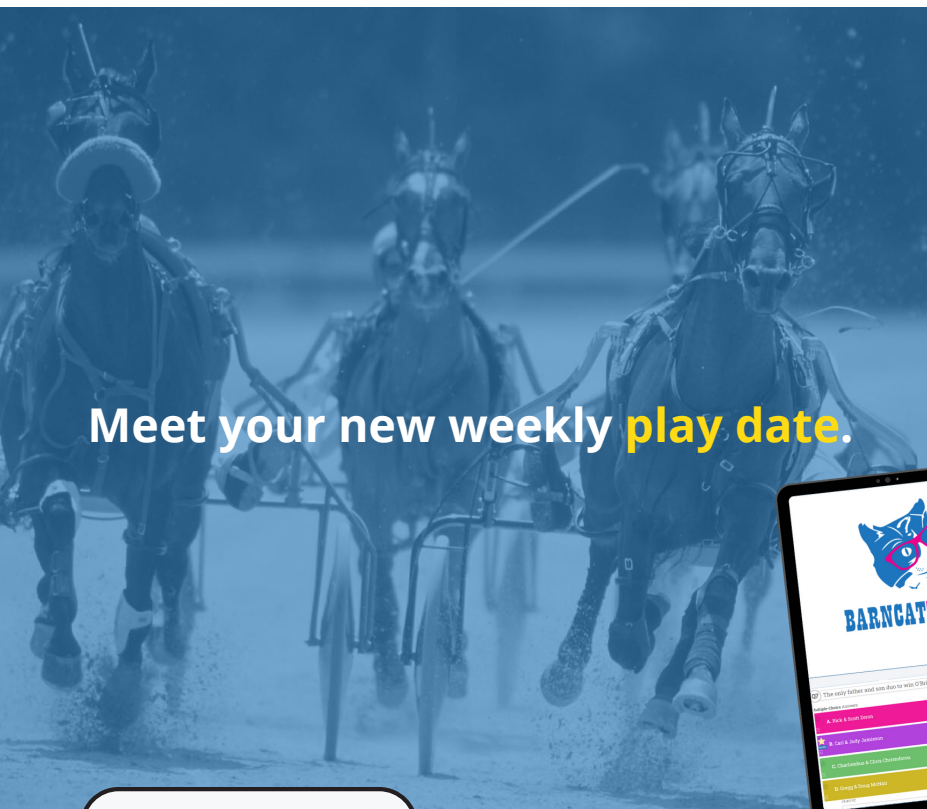

One of the jurors chosen is a 60-year-old woman who said during voir dire that she has attended the Kentucky Derby (Grade 1) "numerous times."

Giannelli, of Felton, worked for Fishman and his Florida company, Equestology, as a sales representative. They were arrested two years ago following a lengthy FBI investigation into suspected backstretch horse doping that nabbed more than two dozen others.

Those charged included prominent thoroughbred trainers Jorge Navarro and Jason Servis. Navarro pleaded guilty last year and was sentenced to five years in prison. Servis is awaiting a trial that has been pushed back to early 2023.

Giannelli's case is being heard in the same courthouse where Fishman was convicted Feb. 2 on two counts of conspiracy to violate adulteration or misbranding laws after an 11-day trial. She is charged with one of those crimes.

Fishman and Giannelli have been the only ones in the case to take their chances at trial. There have been nine other guilty pleas since the arrests, including Navarro's.

Giannelli was to be tried with Fishman, but after opening statements and testimony from the government's first witness, a mistrial was declared in her case after her lawyer Louis Fasulo tested positive for COVID-19, preventing him from proceeding. She faces five years in prison if convicted. She is free on $100,000 bond.

At a conference April 25, Fasulo said his client would be testifying in her own defense. He also said she would be his only witness. Fishman didn't testify, and his lawyers called no other witnesses. Fasulo told Vyskocil that he was "100 per cent certain" Giannelli would take the stand.

"I never make that commitment, but we know it's going to happen," he said.

In court papers last month, prosecutors spelled out their case against Giannelli.

They said she had traveled to racehorse training facilities in the northeast U.S., offering to sell Fishman's drugs "on demand, without regard to the existence of any prescription, the medical need for such drugs or the legality (or propriety) of selling such drugs directly to racehorse trainers."

In court papers, Fasulo has signaled his intent to put on a "good faith" defense.

"A person acts in good faith when he or she has an honestly held belief, opinion, or understanding that as part of her experience in the horse racing industry veterinarians were allowed to sell drugs they compounded or manufactured and it was the trainer's responsibility to follow withdrawal times, even though the belief, opinion or understanding turns out to be inaccurate or incorrect," Fasulo wrote in a proposed instruction that he wants the jury to hear before it begins deliberations.

At the previous trial, Fasulo sought to distance his client from Fishman, a tactic he is expected to take this time around.

"We sit here today after hearing the government's opening statement that Lisa Giannelli is a lone wolf in a herd of sheep," he said as he began his opening remarks to the prior jury. "This case will prove that Lisa was a sheep herded by the sheep master."

Fasulo said then that Giannelli had been a groom and a trainer before she went to work for Fishman. He said they had worked together for 18 years.

Fasulo said his client had no ability to create the products that Fishman manufactured and had no ability to label them.

"She took no responsibility as to the products as they were presented to her, other than they were presented by a veterinarian who was licensed in the states in which she was dealing," he said.

At the end of his remarks, he said they don't hide from the fact that Giannelli worked for Fishman.

"What the government found in her home were products given to her by Seth Fishman, the veterinarian, and you will hear that she believed those products to be okay to transport to others," he said.

The trial is expected to last two weeks.

Harness racing returns to Fox Sports 2 starting Saturday

Races from The Meadowlands will share the bill with thoroughbreds six times in 2022.

by Debbie Little

Just a week before the Kentucky Derby, all eyes will be on Churchill Downs and its entymate, The Meadowlands.

The Big M will share the spotlight for the first time with Churchill on Saturday night (April 30) as part of the "America's Day at the Races" broadcast from 7-11 p.m. on Fox Sports 2 (FS2). The two tracks will also team up on May 14 (9-11:30 p.m.) and June 18 (9-11:30 p.m.).

"I think for the first three shows, it was kind of a natural fit to say, 'Hey we're doing shows for Churchill, let us incorporate The Meadowlands in there and kind of go from there,'" said Eric Donovan, senior director of TV broadcast operations for the New York Racing Association (NYRA).

Donovan led the team that worked with The Meadowlands on the three shows – Meadowlands Pace, Hambletonian and Breeders Crown – broadcast on FS2 last year.

"[NYRA president/CEO] Dave O'Rourke and [Meadowlands president/CEO] Jeff Gural have a good relationship and we wanted to try and do a little more," said Donovan. "Unfortunately, we're not a TV network, we're a racetrack that does a lot of TV, so our ability to do a lot more is somewhat limited with the amount of manpower that we have."

For years, Gural has wanted harness racing to have a national TV presence and has worked hard to make it happen.

"I'm very happy," said Gural. "I think if we're honest with ourselves, we would recognize that no one knows harness racing exists, which is why it was so easy for the politicians in Florida to decouple at Pompano with disastrous results."

"I've established a good relationship with NYRA and they do a terrific job of getting their product on national television with Fox Sports. And fortunately, we were able to come up with a plan to get six of our major races televised on FS2 this year with the hopes that we can expose our product to the public."

NYRA's "America's Day at the Races" starts at 1 p.m. with coverage of Belmont Park, which leads into the Churchill/Meadowlands evening combo.

Just like with primetime TV show dramas, Donovan thinks the crossover can be beneficial to everyone.

"People that are watching Churchill might say, 'I've never seen a race at The Meadowlands, I've never seen harness racing, this looks pretty cool, maybe I should give this a look, too,'" said Donovan. "There might be some harness racing fans that aren't familiar with the thoroughbreds, that for some reason just stick with harness, so they get to experience a little bit of thoroughbred racing also. So, it works both ways."

The importance of these shows is not lost on Meadowlands' post-time coordinator Michael Antoniades, who will be responsible for making sure alternating the races between the two tracks is as seamless as possible.

"I think we showed on Breeders Crown Day that we could fit into the landscape fairly well," said Antoniadis. "I think it's fair to say that anybody that's playing thoroughbreds on Saturday night is going to be focused on Churchill. It's an honor just to be associated with Churchill just before the Derby on their opening night. That's the center of the universe right now."

"We had to defer to Churchill and do a couple of things that we normally would not do, but in all honesty, you're getting on a national telecast, so those little things you have to do are absolutely worth it. If we arrange those races properly, they will have more time for their talent, more time for commercials, a better flowing show especially if they know if we tell them the race is going at 8:42, it's going at 8:42."

In addition to the three double bills with Churchill, there will be shows on July 9 (Meadowlands Pace elims) and 16 (Meadowlands Pace night) and, of course, Aug. 6 (Hambletonian Day).

The back-to-back Pace-centered shows will air from 8-11 p.m., while the Hambletonian will be shown as part of NYRA's "Saratoga Live" telecast from 6-7 p.m.

Donovan thinks last year's Pace show, even with the horrible weather, was well received and is pleased that FS2 was able to fit it into their schedule this year.

"I know they had some other commitments, looking like they might not be able to give us time for Meadowlands Pace night but some things moved around, so we'll be able to do that and the Hambletonian," said Donovan. "Any time you can incorporate a major event at another racetrack or another sporting venue, standardbred or thoroughbred, you're going to get feedback. Not only from the industry stakeholders, but from the fans. You just hope it's positive and it was. I know there were some challenges last year on Pace night with the weather and the DQ but we were able to navigate around that. I think for the most part, it's been a big success."

Gural wants these live shows to be an opportunity for all of harness racing, not just The Meadowlands, to be seen.

"Hopefully, we can get industry people to run commercials on the program, because if you watch, the thoroughbred breeding farms run commercials throughout their telecasts," said Gural. "I'm hoping that breeding farms will take advantage and run commercials on the programs. I think it would be a good way to showcase their stallions."

Old fans, new owners

Fifty years after skipping out of Hebrew School to go to Brandywine Raceway, life-long friends Jeff Shore and Rob Barr are having the time of their lives as new owners in Stacy Chiodo's stable.

by David Mattia

Apart from finding that one great horse who makes millions, the best gift a dedicated harness racing trainer can hope for is finding great new owners who truly love the game. Conversely, the best thing potentially great new owners can find is an honest and talented trainer who suits them – even if it takes 50 years for the pairing to be finally realized.

Way back in the early 1970s, two kids from the Philadelphia area, Rob Barr and Jeffrey Shore, friends since junior high, nearly got themselves booted out of Hebrew School for skipping classes and heading to Brandywine Raceway. In a sense, the two boys jumped the racetrack fence; hoping to get a closer look at their real scholastic interest – harness racing.

Today with world champion woman driver Stacy Chiodo as their choice for trainer, Shore and Barr, still best buddies for life, decided to live out their dream of owning trotters and pacers. Why did this finally happen? Why did it take so long?

It took this long because the two kids who loved harness racing enough to ditch Hebrew School, had to grow up and get real jobs with guaranteed incomes. Shore is a dentist who has been in practice for 40 years. His son and daughter are both dentists, as well.

"I love animals, but I love horses first and foremost. I especially admire standardbreds. It's a way to relax and maybe make some money too," said Shore.

"Along the way, I even bought a greyhound so that I could get an idea of what it's like to be involved in a racing game. I also took a course in harness driving at Garden State Park. Rob and I did a lot of things together – anything to do with sports and especially horse racing. We loved to gamble, and we liked the action."

Barr, a sports-obsessed bachelor, is a real estate appraiser who reportedly has seven televisions in his mancave, and each is tuned to one sporting event or another and any number of live racing programs. He wears shirts to the races, each with the name of the horse who is racing printed upon it. That's what you call enthusiasm.

"My dad was a doctor, and that's where I was headed," said Barr.

I did a tour of St. Louis School of Osteopathic Medicine prior to admission, but when I saw a cadaver in an anatomy class, I knew that this was not going to work for me.

"Liberty Bell was my place to relax. After Brandywine and Liberty Bell closed, it got kind of quiet for several years, but when Harrah's (Philadelphia) opened, Jeff and I started thinking about making a return to harness racing. So, we began looking for a horse to buy. We started looking online for horses for sale.

"Jeff found a horse with some nice past performances. She showed a mile in 1:55. For me, 1:55 seemed incredible. I come from a time when a 2:00 mile was a big deal and then came along the modified sulky and they started going faster."

Modified sulky? When was the last time you heard that term?

These guys are fantastic. Imagine stumbling upon two aspiring owners; guys who reminisce fondly of horses such as Meadow Blue Chip (Shore's favorite) and Albatross (Barr's favorite) and a relatively obscure claimer named Ray Gazi. In fact, Shore's nickname is Ray Gazi. That's what his friends call him anyway. It's a time warp, folks.

The new owners in the Chiodo barn are throwbacks to the glory days of racing. Who says you need new blood in the game? The late Stan Bergstein should have conducted this interview, not me.

Keep in mind that Shore and Barr are not elderly guys running down their bucket lists. In fact, as far as age goes, they're just 60-somethings, but harness racing's clock has been running faster than theirs. It's also important to remember how young they both were when they became acquainted with the sport.

So, how did this all come together? Well, it started with a telephone call – six of them.

Shore assembled a list of six trainers and got their telephone numbers.

"Basically, I called trainers at random," said Shore.

"I didn't know any of these trainers from a hole in the wall. For the most part, they were all friendly, but we didn't connect for one reason or another. I think it was because most of them just saw it as a business thing. Stacy Chiodo was different because she liked our plan of being partners with her and she was genuinely informative and friendly. We thought it was a good idea to have Stacy as a third partner and our trainer because she thought it was a good idea too. She matched up with the way we wanted to do things at first, and she was very helpful."

Since pairing up with the Chiodo barn, the new kids on the block have had as many as six horses on rotation. Chief among their team is the bargain filly Beach Crazy that Shore and Barr found on OnGait.

"We paid about $15,000 for Beach Crazy, and in a little over a year she's earned well over $100,000," said Shore. "Rob was the one who liked her."

According to Chiodo, Beach Crazy not only earned some big bucks, but she made her presence known in some prestigious events. As a 3-year-old, she won the Pennsylvania Sires Stakes consolation, and she was second in the Adioo Volo. For now, Beach Crazy is the star of the barn, but there are others waiting in the wings. Included in the bunch is a 2-year-old named Stay Special, a filly by Stay Hungry that the guys picked out of the Harrisburg Yearling Sale.

"I took Rob and Jeff to that sale, and they had a blast," said Chiodo. "I don't think they'd ever been to one, but they had a great time looking at the babies. They were looking to build their stable and this was the best place to take them. They picked out some young ones and together we went over all their picks. I pointed out the pros and cons of some of the babies, but there were a few in their selections that I liked as well. So, with a process of elimination, we took one home and she's training great. It's too early to tell with babies. You really don't know how good they are until they actually start racing."

"When the guys ask me a question, it's not because they're questioning my horsemanship or my opinion. They ask because they genuinely want to learn. It's funny how they ask a lot of questions, but they don't interfere. I appreciate that and I think it's part of why we've had some quick success. Good owners, and I have other good owners too, build up your self-confidence and they bring out the best in the trainers they employ. I know this isn't always the case with some owner-trainer relationships, but in my case, I find it to be the key to success."

For now, Barr and Shore, with Chiodo giving them a leg up, have plans for the future of their stable. Their plans aren't grandiose, but their love for the horses, their quick successes, and their sincere devotion to harness racing is all so vintage and so classic that one can easily picture them in the winner's circle on Hambletonian Day. That's the kind of thing that can happen when a new endeavor begins so serendipitously.

Shore is quick to remind himself that he and Shore should not become spoiled because of their quick success. They both know that every horse they pick out of a sale is not going to be a quick cha-ching like Beach Crazy. According to the old buddies, their love for the horses is the most important thing. They sincerely love the horses they own and all horses in general.

"I love the animals. It's fun to win, of course, but the horses mean the most," Shore said.

"Being able to talk to my trainer and to learn about the horses is the best part of all of this. We don't expect every horse to be a winner, but we know they're all in good hands," said Barr.

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Iowa's Elvin Zimmerman on the passion that drives him from sun-up to sundown

by Chris Lomon

Elvin Zimmerman's first win as a driver and first win as a trainer required only a winner's circle photo.

She would make just 27 career starts and post a modest $6,475 in lifetime earnings, but on the day of June 27, 2017, at the half-mile track in Columbus Junction, IA, the diminutive bay mare Seelster Again delivered the young man sitting in the sulky a pair of treasured firsts.

The 2-year-old pace, with a purse of $1,000, had attracted three horses, including the brown daughter of Intrepid Seelster, who had finished fourth in her career bow 13 days earlier in Eldon, IA.

This time, the man who held the reins as the mare's trainer, put himself in the driver's seat.

"We went in 2:10 that day," said Zimmerman. "We went to the front and basically, we didn't look back. We kept on going. There were no pylons on the inside, just a dirt mound. Every time we'd go into turn, she'd go up on the dirt mound and I'd get her back on level ground again. From what I remember, it was a fairly easy win. She's a tiny filly, maybe too small to be a racehorse, but she had a heart the size of Texas. She just wanted to win, and that day, she did."

Hailing from Elma, IA, Zimmerman didn't get his start in standardbred racing until he was in 20s, when he went to work for trainer Justin Lebo.

"I grew up around the horse and buggy Mennonites," said Zimmerman, who'll turn 30 this August. "I never really had anything to do with racehorses until I went to work for Justin in Pennsylvania. He hung an ad in a local hardware store, saying he was looking for some help. That was around 2014 or 2015. So, I went to talk to him and ended up going to work for him, mostly as a groom."

It proved to be an eye-opening experience, a day-to-day lesson about the dedication needed to make a career in the industry.

Sound advice was never in short supply.

"I worked with Justin for a couple of years and it was great. It really taught me a lot and so did he. I think one thing that really stood out for me is that you always need to be willing to learn. Everyone has a way of doing things, and everyone's way has a way of working to a certain point. Keeping an open mind,

Courtesy Elvin Zimmerman
Elvin Zimmerman.

always watching and listening, those are the things that can really help you get better.”

Zimmerman set up shop on his own in 2016.

Although he went winless in 11 training starts during his rookie season, he never gave thought of throwing in the towel.

Now, some five years later, he has 16 horses in his barn, and has racked up 62 career victories to date.

“I’m working pretty much every day, from sun-up until sundown, trying to keep up with the horses. It’s definitely a seven-day-a-week job. There’s definitely no slacking off. You have to stick with it. Every day you are around the horses, you learn something new about them and yourself. It also goes back to watching and learning from others. You see what others did to come up with a successful program, and you can take something here or there from everyone, and then incorporate it into your own program. You figure out what’s best for you and you go on from there.”

It’s a formula that continues to serve Zimmerman, who now calls Pennsylvania home, quite well.

In 2020, he recorded a lifetime-best 18 training wins and seven driving victories. One year earlier, he set a personal-best mark with $119,096 in trainer purse earnings.

Soon, he’ll launch his 2022 campaign at Running Aces in Minnesota. The season starts on May 15.

“Running Aces is three hours away from home, and Humbolt, which is the closest fair, is about two-and-half hours away. We put a lot of miles in.”

When he does find himself behind the wheel, Zimmerman goes old school, music-wise, with his listening preferences.

“I love old country music. Alan Jackson is someone I really like listening to. I throw on the old country station on SiriusXM and it stays there the entire time I’m driving.”

Adding some more highlights to his young career would certainly be music to Zimmerman’s ears.

He’s optimistic he’ll be able to achieve that goal this year.

“I’m still looking for them [highlights]. We’ve won some races here and there, but we’re looking to get bigger and better. Last year, we had 14 in the barn and I did it all on my own. It was tough, but I got through it. This year, I managed to get some help, very good help, so it’s made a big difference. We also have some nice 2-year-olds, so hopefully, they pan out and we can have a big year. I honestly believe this will be the biggest year yet. There’s a lot to look forward to. We have high hopes, so we’ll see if it pans out or not.”

Zimmerman will have two biggest of his biggest fans along for the ride.

While they’re far too young to even consider a life in racing, there are signs his young daughters are on-track to have a lifelong association with horses.

“I love to hang out with my daughters. The oldest one is five and the youngest one is three. Everyone thinks they’re twins because they are practically identical. They have their own Shetland ponies, and I’m teaching them how to ride and drive. We just bought a pony cart and harness for them, so that’s something we are all excited about. I just want to make sure they get their horse side going. Everyone has a liking for horses in them. Some people find it, and some people don’t.”

Zimmerman is grateful to have found his.

There’s no doubt he looks the part of a successful horseman.

“I chose my colors based on Tim Tetrick. He’s one of my all-time favorite drivers and I copied his yellow and green.”

In this instance, imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

“Those colors have served him well, and I’m hoping they can do the same for me. He put in the hours and it’s worked out for him. That’s what I’ve always been trying to do. It’s a lot of work and you have to be willing to put in the sweat to get somewhere in this business. You want to show up every morning and put in the work the moment you step inside that barn.”

Finlandia-ajo set for Sunday

by Thomas Hedlund

Vermo racetrack in Helsinki, Finland will draw attention from harness racing fans in Europe on Sunday afternoon (May 1) when the track plays host to its biggest international event of the year – the $200,000 Finlandia-ajo.

Ten trotters chase a ticket to the Elitloppet and the probable favorite is Italian-bred and trained Bepi Bi, driven by Alessandro Gocciadoro. But Gocciadoro has declared that the next objective for Bepi Bi is the Sweden Cup at Solvalla on May 28.

Last week's Seinäjoki race winner, Willow Pride, got the last ticket into the Finlandia-ajo.

STACKED SATURDAY OF RACING

Saturday (April 30) offers some great races in Europe. The $105,000 Criterium de Vitesse de Basse-Normandie mile race in Argentan, France. Some interesting horses will go behind the gate. Title defender Ce Bello Romain starts from post 1 in the 15-horse field.

The same afternoon, Örebro racetrack in Sweden will play host to the last elimination for the Paralympiatriavet. Fans can look forward to a spectacular show as several horses – or actually trainers and drivers – will show off in the hunt for a ticket for the big mile race in late May. The race itself doesn't qualify the winner for the Elitloppet, but the trainers have a great opportunity to show that their horses are good enough to be invited to Elitloppet.

Önas Prince, Brother Bill and exciting starter Beads (Archangel) all put spice to the race on Saturday afternoon.

CLEANGAME AND DON FANUCCI ZET IN GREAT STYLE

Jean-Michel Bazire's top gelding Cleangame (Ouragan de Celand) was impressive when he claimed the fourth division of $95,000 Grand National du Trot, this time in Chateaubriant, France, on Wednesday (April 27) afternoon.

Cleangame started 50 meters behind the horses from the main distance of 2,975 meters and Bazire had lengths to capture as he let Cleangame follow three wide midway into the race. The duo landed outside the leader in the last turn and Cleangame seemed to have everything under total control already with a quarter of a mile to go. When he hit the wire, Cleangame recorded a mile rate of 1:55.3 over 1.9 miles, track record in Chateaubriant.

Elitloppet title defender Don Fanucci Zet (Hard Livin) tried France and was aimed towards the Prix d'Amérique during the winter meeting in Paris, but the 6-year-old colt got sick and had to cancel the France adventure at an early stage. On Tuesday night (April 26), the Hard Livin son made his comeback and from post 1 behind the gate, driver Örjan Kihlström hit the lead directly and Don Fanucci Zet solved the task without problem in 1:53.2.

Cleangame will not travel to Sweden and Solvalla in May, but Don Fanucci Zet showed that he's ready to defend the title in Elitloppet 2022.

Funatthebeach N upsets in MGM Borgata Pacing Series final

by Yonkers Raceway

Funatthebeach N, sent off at 15-1, sat off a serious battle for the lead, got into contention by following favored Leonidas A, and out-kicked that rival when the chips were down to take a wild $549,000 MGM Borgata Pacing Series final on Monday night (April 25) at Yonkers Raceway in 1:50.1.

Tattoo Artist (Dexter Dunn), Jack's Legend N (Matt Kakaley), and defending series champion This Is The Plan (Yannick Gingras) all left hard from posts one, three, and five, respectively, with Jack's Legend N getting past Tattoo Artist before the :26.3 opening quarter. This Is The Plan was up to immediately confront Jack's Legend N, and although Kakaley took a big hold of Jack's Legend N, This Is The Plan was unable to clear, and Kakaley elected to leave him out starting on the second turn.

While that was going on up front, Leonidas A (Austin Siegelman) had been able to land in fifth ahead of Funatthebeach N, and they would both vacate the pylons as Jack's Legend N and This Is The Plan continued their slugfest to a :53.4 half. Leonidas A would then go three-wide on the third turn to take up the chase, while Funatthebeach N remained two-wide on the bend and then followed Leonidas A after they entered the backstretch for the final time.

Leonidas A surged up on the outside to take command before the 1:21.4 three-quarters, then crossed down to the rail heading into the last turn. Funatthebeach N was also able to get into a two-wide position after three-quarters as Jack's Legend N backed away, boxing in Tattoo Artist and taking him out of contention. Also facing traffic woes were Semi Tough (Joe Bongiorno), who was caught two-wide behind the tiring This Is The Plan, Nandolo N (Jason Bartlett), who couldn't keep up with Leonidas A and Funatthebeach N after following their cover, and Pat Stanley N (Todd McCarthy), who also was stuck on the inside after trailing.

With all their rivals either spent or caught in compromising spots, Leonidas A and Funatthebeach N would face off in a match race on the far turn and into the lane. Although Leonidas A had the lead on the bend, it was clear that Funatthebeach N was going the better of the two coming into the stretch, and it would be Funatthebeach N going on to score by a length over Leonidas A. Semi Tough finally shook loose and was able to rally for third, followed by Tattoo Artist, Nandolo N, Pat Stanley N, Jack's Legend N, and This Is The Plan.

"That's really his bread-and-butter, that kind of trip right there," said Jordan Stratton, who stuck with Funatthebeach N over his brother Cory's horse Pat Stanley N before the last preliminary round after he showed the ability to rally past Nandolo N to win in the third leg. "In the open prior to this series, we were trying to make him do a little more work than he's accustomed to, coming from the outside and being first-over, but that's just not his game. When he gets towed in second-over and fans wide off the last turn, he puts in a really good effort.

"There were no slouches in the race at all, but I was definitely happy to see the half in :53. Even halfway down the stretch, I didn't know if I was going to stay by Leonidas A once I got by him. He's such a tough horse. Year-in and year-out he shows up. I feel bad that he didn't earn the win, but I'm happy I got it."

Georgia Panagi

Funatthebeach N (Jordan Stratton) winning the $549,000 MGM Borgata Pacing Series final on Monday at Yonkers in 1:50.1.

For his part in the pace duel, Kakaley said, "I wasn't going to choke my horse going for $549,000."

Jeff Gillis and Mark Ford are the winning trainer/owner combination behind Funatthebeach N, an 8-year-old Somebeachsomewhere gelding who they claimed for $75,000 on Sept. 6 of last year at Yonkers. This was Funatthebeach N's 29th lifetime tally, and he now shows a bankroll of $732,039. He paid $33.20 to win and headed a $100 exacta and a $1,034 trifecta.

IM SIR BLAKE A WINS CONSOLATION

Im Sir Blake A (Marcus Miller) went three-wide from second-over on the last turn and was able to get by Chase H Hanover (Kakaley) and Dean B Hanover (Stratton) late in the mile to win the $100,000 MGM Borgata Pacing Series consolation by a nose in 1:51.2.

Marcus Miller's father Erv trains Im Sir Blake A, a 7-year-old gelded son of Alta Christiano N, for owner Douglas Overhiser. Im Sir Blake A is a 20-time winner, and he has now earned $262,257. A 5-1 offering, Im Sir Blake A returned $12.20 to win and was atop a $65.50 exacta and a $194.00 trifecta.

DRAMA ACT CAPTURES BLUE CHIP MATCHMAKER SERIES FINAL

Drama Act was the leading point-earner in the Blue Chip Matchmaker Series preliminary rounds, and she backed that up by winning the $381,000 final on Monday at Yonkers Raceway in a close finish with Racine Bell. The time of the mile was 1:51.2.

Driver George Brennan fired Drama Act out from the pole position and led early, but Jason Bartlett wanted the front with favored Racine Bell, and he moved her from the pocket to the point prior to the :27.2 opening quarter. Racine Bell then backed down the half to just 56 seconds, with Easy To Please (Jordan Stratton) beginning a first-over move out of third past that marker. The tempo increased noticeably after Easy To Please tipped out, and while she was unable to get alongside Racine Bell, the three-quarters would go on the board in 1:23.4.

Racine Bell still had command around the last turn and into the lane after Easy To Please's bid stalled out, but Bartlett had to keep working on his charge throughout that period, and then she drifted out in the stretch, allowing Drama Act to come through without ever having to leave the pylons. Racine Bell did dig in and looked like she might be able to hold on, but Drama Act surged in time and got up to defeat the pace-setter by a nose. Easy To Please was third, followed by Best Head West (Matt Kakaley) and Miss You N (Dexter Dunn).

"I figured Jason would want to cut it, which was fine. I just wanted to sit close. I saw Jason asking his mare in the last turn, and then she drifted out in the lane," said Brennan. "Naturally, I'm looking to get out. I always want to go right if I can, but when she drifted out, there was plenty of room for me to get up inside. We took advantage of it.

"It was tight, but I thought I won. It was a great race."

A 5-year-old daughter of Well Said, Drama Act is trained by Ron Burke for owner/breeder The OK Corral. This was her 26th victory from 46 career starts, and she has now earned $693,112. She was the 3-1 second choice and paid $8.10 to win. The exacta was worth $13.60 and the trifecta kicked back $38.20.

GIA'S SURREAL WINS CONSOLATION

In a $75,000 consolation race, Gia's Surreal (Bartlett) dug in gamely on the lead through the stretch and held on to tally in 1:53 flat. Lit De Rose (Pat Lachance) was parked out and first-over the whole way from post seven but turned in an excellent effort to finish second, and Man Dontforget Me (Dexter Dunn) was third from the pocket.

Ed Hart trains Gia's Surreal, a 6-year-old mare by So Surreal, for owners James Graham, Edward Peron, and Lee Winters. She has put together a record of 28-14-12 from 88 lifetime appearances, and she boosted her bankroll to $578,125. Gia's Surreal returned $4.10 to win as the favorite and keyed a $27.40 exacta and a $147.50 trifecta.

The handle on Monday's 12-race program was $1,175,667.15, making it another "Million Dollar Monday" at Yonkers.

SEVENTIER STARS IN JOHN BRENNAN TROTTING SERIES FINAL

Seventier led at every call and was a dominant 1:56.3 winner in the $76,000 final of the John Brennan Trotting Series on Wednesday night (April 27) at Yonkers Raceway.

Driven by Jason Bartlett, Seventier went right to the point from post six and led Hat Trick Marleau (Tyler Buter) at the quarter, which went on the board in just 29 seconds. The pace remained slow to the half, which Seventier reached in just :58.4, but B Nicking (George Brennan), who had floated out from post eight and was unable to find a seat, had driven on and was able to advance into second as the horses raced under the wire for the first time.

B Nicking continued to apply some pressure to Seventier around the third turn and over to the 1:26.3 three-quarters, but Seventier accelerated entering the far turn and got rid of B Nicking for good. Hat Trick Marleau couldn't match the leader's speed either and gapped, allowing B Nicking to drop into a loose pocket as Seventier drew away en route to a 5 1/4 length victory. Hat Trick Marleau did come back on a bit on the inside in the lane and wound up second, with Lady Ann NO (Trond Smedshammer), the winner's entymate, up for third after sitting on the rail and getting shuffled back in the middle-half.

A 4-year-old Chapter Seven gelding, Seventier is trained by Smedshammer and owned by Purple Haze Stables LLC. This was his tenth career victory, and he has now earned $161,776. Sent off at 8-5, Seventier paid $5.30 to win and led a $14.00 exacta and a $21.00 trifecta.

Bartlett also won the $35,000 consolation with Plumb, who took command racing to the 27.4 initial quarter and never looked back on her way to a 1:56 tally. She defeated P L Oscar (Jim Marohn Jr.) by 2 1/2 lengths, with The Irishman (Jordan Stratton) third.

Jenn Bongiorno trains Plumb, a 5-year-old daughter of Better Caviar, for owners JB Racing and Frank Canzone. She is now a 15-time winner from 67 lifetime tries, and she has now pocketed $166,370. She was the 3-5 favorite and returned $3.40 to win. The exacta was worth $20.00 and the trifecta kicked back $78.00.

Yonkers will finish out this week with live racing on tonight and Saturday night, and then next week, the schedule will switch to a Monday/Tuesday/Thursday/Friday/Saturday slate. Post time is 6:55 p.m.

Toes In The Water wins Hackett final for sophomore filly trotters

by Gregg Keidel / Miami Valley

Brad Conrad

Toes In The Water (Trace Tetrack) winning Monday's $50,000 James Hackett Memorial final for sophomore trotting fillies at Miami Valley.

You can see the sparkle in trainer Tye Loy's eye when he talks about Toes In The Water. His dream of conditioning another Ohio champion might have seemed unlikely much of the daughter of Long Tom's freshman season, but looks like a distinct possibility now.

With Trace Tetrack in the sulky, Toes In The Water won the $50,000 James K. Hackett Memorial final at Miami Valley Raceway on Monday (April 25), upsetting defending Ohio Sires Stakes filly trot champion Gabbys C Note (Aaron Merriman) in the process.

Tetrack allowed eventual show finisher Stephanie Hill (Jeremy Smith) to briefly clear to the front from an outside post position, but quickly retook the lead as the pair trotted past the quarter in :28.4. As the field approached the :57.3 halfway juncture, Gabbys C Note took up the chase in first-over position on the outside. By the time the third timing beam was tripped in 1:26.1 Gabbys C Note was lapped on to Toes In The Water and the race to the finish was on! With Tetrack's urging, the winner maintained her slim margin down the entire stretch and prevailed by three-quarters of a length in 1:55.3, a new lifetime mark.

Loy chose a conservative approach with his $12,000 yearling purchase during the 2021 campaign. Toes In The Water made 10 starts, divided between Buckeye Stallion Series races and Ohio County Fairs. Her most lucrative race by far was the $60,000 final in the Buckeye Stallion Series in which she finished second by just a head at 12-1 odds.

"I knew she was a nice filly," said Loy, "and was worth bringing along slowly. She got some good experience winning five races as a two year old, but never really got up to speed until that last start in October."

BURKE SWEEPS TRIFECTA IN $50,000 HACKETT SOPHOMORE PACING FILLY FINAL

Despite drawing the outermost post, Cape Cod Hanover (Chris Page) captured the $50,000 final of the James K. Hackett Memorial for sophomore state bred pacing fillies at Miami Valley on Tuesday (April 26). The daughter of red hot sire Downbytheseaside led stablemates Coastal (Josh Sutton) and Twenty (Ronnie Wrenn Jr.) through the wire, giving leading trainer a sweep of the top three spots.

The winner paid $8.40, the $2 exacta returned $137 and the winning 50-cent trifecta was worth $559.95.

Page urged the winner out of the gate enough to drop in third during the initial :27.1 quarter mile. With even money favorite Cold Hearted Gypsy (Trace Tetrack) slowing the pace to the :55.4 halfway station, Page moved to the outside and raced on even terms with the leader past three quarters in 1:23.4. A :28.1 closing kick was enough to hold off Coastal and Twenty in 1:52. When You Kiss Me (Tyler Smith) and Cold Hearted Gypsy earned the minor rewards in the lucrative championship tilt.

The Hackett victory pushed Cape Cod Hanover's record to eight wins in 12 starts, to go with three place finishes including the $200,000 Kentuckiana at Harrah's Hoosier Park and the $300,000 Ohio Sires Stakes championship at MGM Northfield Park in 2021. The $20,000 yearling purchase from the Hanover Shoe Farms consignment to the Ohio Select Sale has now pushed her career bankroll to $305,467 in those dozen starts.

Burke Racing's partners on Cape Cod Hanover are Weaver Bruscelli, Rich Lombardo Racing and Ras Racing.

BEAVER BARN STRIKES CAVIAR GOLD IN HACKETT FOR SOPHOMORE TROTTING COLTS

The combination of trainer Chris Beaver, sire Triumphant Caviar and driver Aaron Merriman has done it again. Caviar Gold (Merriman) captured the $50,000 championship of the James K. Hackett Memorial for Ohio-sired sophomore trotting colts in 1:53.4, a new lifetime mark.

Although he was the even money favorite in last year's $300,000 Ohio Sires Stakes final, Caviar Gold was dispatched at 8-1 odds in the Hackett. After winning three of his first four Ohio Sires Stakes preliminary legs in 2021, the son of Triumphant Caviar made breaks in the OHSS final as well as the Ohio Breeders Championship two weeks later. He finished his freshman season with a sixth place finish in a $72,000 2-year-old stake at The Red Mile.

After a fall and winter respite, Caviar Gold returned to training at Beaver's Florida headquarters and seemed over whatever was ailing him at the end of his first campaign. After two solid qualifiers, one in Florida and one at Miami Valley, the gelding cut the mile in his sophomore debut—a Hackett elimination—before finishing second by a nose. That lead up encouraged Beaver and Merriman to race aggressively in the final, leading at every marker in the :27.4, :56.2, 1:24.4 and 1:53.4 mile.

Motto (Tyler Smith) was the runner-up with Rose Run Xtra (Josh Sutton) closing well to finish third. Rose Run Xander (Ronnie Wrenn Jr.) and Up Blueberry Hill (Chris Page) earned the final two paydays in the nine-horse field.

Beaver actually bred Caviar Gold sending his Holiday Road mare Gee O'Keeffe to his go-to sire Triumphant Caviar. Bill Manes, Leo Fleming and Steve Zeehandelaar, long-time patrons of the powerful Beaver barn, have since been added as co-owners. Now with four wins and two seconds in eight lifetime starts, their prize possession's earnings have grown to $119,000 with this triumph.

The results of Thursday's (April 28) $50,000 Hackett final for sophomore pacing colts was unavailable prior to press time.

Chulo tops PEO sale at $178,000

Chulo, who last year won the $150,000 Next Generation Trot for 2-year-olds at Scioto Downs, then followed that up with a Sire Stakes win the following week, topped the April 25 Preferred Equine Online Mixed Sale when he sold for $178,000.

Trainer Per Engblom made the purchase as agent for an ownership group within his stable.

\(View complete sale results\)

With the six-figure sale of Chulo, Preferred Equine Online's first five mixed sales have hammered down five lots for $100,000 and higher.

"Today's top seller showed how much demand there is for young, stakes-quality racehorses, especially if they're coming to the sale in great form," said manager David Reid.

Chulo, a 3-year-old colt by What The Hill, had just won a qualifier at the Meadowlands on April 16 in 1:55, defeating a quality field with a final quarter of :27.2.

"Since bidding opened last Friday, on Chulo alone there were 64 bids, and all it takes is a few locking horns to drive up the price. I thank Renee Spahr's Buckstone Land Livestock for entrusting us with his sale," Reid said.

Selling for $76,000 to Adriano Sorella was the Chapter Seven 4-year-old Vali Hanover, who came to the sale fresh off a career best 1:55.1 win on April 21 at Woodbine Mohawk Park. The ultra-consistent trotter was sold by Preferred as agent for Dean Lockhart, T M Racing and trainer Ted MacDonnell.

Another popular item at the April 25 sale was the Ontario-bred 3-year-old racing/broodmare prospect HP Rhapsody, who was sold for Jean Tourigny and purchased by Jim Casha for $36,000.

Eighteen of the 21 lots that were cataloged sold, with the three not attaining their reserve still available on a "make offer" basis.

"It's that time of year, as more tracks open and horses start to embark on their 2022 campaigns, when the market is ripe for selling quality racehorses," Reid said.

Preferred Equine Online's next mixed sale is scheduled for Monday, May 9. To enter horses or to sign up for an account, visit preferredequineonline.com.

Tony Morgan records career victory 17,000

Driver Tony Morgan, second on the all-time North American list of winningest drivers, achieved the 17,000th victory of his sulky career in the first race at Harrah's Philadelphia on Sunday afternoon (April 24).

Driving 14-shot Commander Hill, Morgan got his horse away third, stayed inside, then got room up the inside as Ain't It Fun vacated the two-hole head stretch to challenge and then pass leading Northern Baccarat. The race boiled down to Ain't It Fun and Commander Hill, and Morgan's horse appeared to have a slight advantage when Ain't It Fun went off stride just before the wire, putting paid to his chances and allowing for the milestone moment.

Morgan was the leading driver on the Chicago circuit for many years before coming over to the mid-Atlantic region, first in Delaware, when slot-helped purses brought winnings to new overnight highs. Morgan has led North America four times in victories, in the 1995-1997 period and then again in 2006, when he recorded 1,004 visits to Victory Lane. In doing so, he became one of only four North Americans to win that often in a season, the others being Walter Case Jr., Aaron Merriman, and Tim Tetrick, a Chicago competitor who made the migration eastward at approximately the same time Morgan did.

The 63-year-old Morgan achieved his 17,000th win in his 84,890th drive, giving him a win percentage just over 20 per cent in a career that started in 1974. Morgan-driven horses have earned in excess of $139 million over the years.

Dave Palone is the all-time leader with 19,924 driving successes. Meaning Pennsylvania has the two winningest drivers at the opposite ends of the state, as Palone has dominated the colony at The Meadows for several decades now.

Open letter from the Purple Haze Standardbred Adoption Program

We are honored to be accredited by the Standardbred Transition Alliance (STA). We thank STA for recognizing our program and for their financial support. We see this as validation that our non-profit is doing all it can to operate in a fiscally sound and transparent way. This should be the goal of every public charity, and having the chance to prove our merit by meeting the STA's accreditation standards was one we gladly welcomed.

Having an accreditation program that inspects and monitors adoption programs is important to ensure horses are receiving exemplary care while being safely and professionally transitioned into new homes.

Not only does it give our directors, staff and volunteers the positive encouragement that we are adhering to best practices in every sector; it also gives our supporters confidence their money is being used in the most beneficial way to help establish a better racehorse aftercare network.

As we worked through the application we found the STA's accreditation and inspection process to be clearly outlined in the application materials and direction was available when needed. The paperwork was labor intensive, as you'd expect with sharing all facets of your charitable business and horse management practices. While each program is different the document requirements remain essentially the same.

After the application was submitted there was a physical inspection of the horses in our care and the farm itself.

Another component of the inspection was a review of the professional ethics in our organization displayed both generally and in our promotion and publicity efforts. We (PHSAP) feel strongly that the best way to showcase how wonderful our breed is and to attract quality adopters is in conducting ourselves with the utmost honesty. We pride ourselves on being straightforward, honest and always available to provide support services for our horses and their new families.

In closing, we are gratified that Purple Haze Standardbred Adoption Program has met all STA standards for accreditation and we look forward to renewing our application next year!

We invite anyone to come to the farm for a visit, or contact us with any donation questions or adoption inquiries.

Hawthorne Products celebrates the 90th birthday of founder, Don Hobson

Hawthorne Products is excited to honor the birthday of owner and founder Don Hobson. He will celebrate his 90th birthday on June 26. It is a special year for Hobson, his family, and his friends as they celebrate not only his birthday, but also the 45th anniversary of the business.

Horses have been a huge part of the Hobson family for generations. So, it's natural that Don Hobson, founder of Hawthorne Products, would also be deeply involved and share the love of horses that his family had. Don's father Roy, and brother Larry, successfully trained thoroughbred horses. Chrystal, Don's mother and his brother Jerry, founded and operated Hobson's Turf Supply at Ohio racetracks. His sister, Marita was also involved in the horse business through Harold White's leg paint and the sale of horse coolers.

Don was a highly successful farrier during this time. He traveled the continental United States as well as Puerto Rico. During his many years as a farrier, Don solved hoof and leg issues with remedies that he had developed using common sense principles. Friends, family – and anyone who used his products – kept urging him to patent his products and start a company. Little did they know that had always been his goal. Don's dream came true when Hawthorne Products was born – a company that would provide top horse care products for the professional horse person and as well the amateur owner.

When Don started Hawthorne Products in 1977, he brought a lot of old favorites into the business as well as the products he had developed. Products such as Wind Aid, Sole Pack, and Cool Cast were developed by Don in his shop in Dunkirk Indiana. Many of their award-winning products are considered "must haves" for horse people all over the world.

In 2018, Don was elected and became a member of the Farriers Hall of Fame at the International Hoof Care Summit. He unselfishly donates products and his knowledge to farrier schools and to individuals across the country. Don has always been a leader – supporting, promoting and encouraging others in the hobby and sport that he loves.

"I've been blessed to live a life doing what I enjoy and being a part of the industry I love. The people and customers I've been honored to know have enriched my life." – Don Hobson

Since its inception in 1977, Don Hobson and Hawthorne Products, has been providing the best possible products for fair prices. His personal goal is to offer every available resource to all horse lovers so they can maintain good health for their horses. Don knows this can only be accomplished with effective products, fair prices, and great customer service. When Don is at the office, he's readily available to take calls and answer questions about hoof and leg care as well as general horse care questions. When not in the office he can usually be found at trade shows, racetracks, and anywhere you find horses. He is doing what he loves and does best – helping people care for their horses. Don Hobson is not just a business owner and trainer, Don is a true horseman.

Dexter Cup at Freehold draws eight

Eight horses were entered for the Dexter Cup, the first Grand Circuit event of the season for 3-year-old male trotters, making eliminations unnecessary this Saturday at Freehold Raceway. All eight horses advance directly to the Dexter Cup final, which will go for a purse of $150,505, on May 7 at the half-mile track in central New Jersey.

The eight horses entered are, in alphabetical order: Bar Coins, Brave By Design, Grizzly Bare, Justice, Paymaq, Pour Mea Double, Pretender, and T Rex Blue Chip.

Brave By Design, Grizzly Bare, Justice, Pour Mea Double, and Pretender are eligible to the $1 million Hambletonian Stakes on Aug. 6 at The Meadowlands.

Pretender was a winner on the Grand Circuit last year, capturing a division of the Kindergarten Classic Series, and finished third in the Valley Victory Stakes for trainer Nancy Takter. He won his 2022 debut on April 15 at Freehold.

Justice, trained by Ake Svanstedt, was a three-time winner in divisions of last year's New York Sire Stakes series and finished fifth in the final.

Lucas Wallin's Pour Mea Double won three races in 2021, all conditioned events, beating older foes twice. Brave By Design, from the stable of Jennifer Bongiorno, finished second in last year's New Jersey Sire Stakes Standardbred Development Fund final at Freehold.

Grizzly Bare, trained by Ron Burke, made his seasonal debut April 22 with a fifth-place finish in a 3-year-old conditioned trot and will be seeking his first career win in the Dexter Cup.

The draw for the Dexter Cup will be May 4.

Woodbine announces enhanced free-for-all that could top out at $65,000

Woodbine Entertainment has announced plans to offer an enhanced free-for-all in the coming weeks at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

With eyes on attracting top-level horses to compliment Woodbine's top preferred competitors, the newly written free-for-all will see the purse for each week's top-class calculated at $6,500 per horse in the field. The enhanced free-for-all will be offered for both pacers and trotters, with the possibility of a $65,000 purse should the class attract 10 entrants.

"We want to reassure our local owners and trainers that we are focused on getting our top-level horses raced as often as possible," said Tony O'Sullivan, Woodbine standardbred race secretary. "With the stakes scene picking up in the month of May, we're hopeful this new look Free For All will be enticing for those shipping horses up from the U.S. to also bring open level competitors."

The enhanced free-for-all for pacers will be written for May 7, 14, 21 and June 4. The free-for-all for trotters will be written for May 9, 16, 23 and 30.

Upcoming stakes in Ontario include the Charles Juravinski Memorial Cup (formerly Confederation Cup) on May 22 at Flamboro Downs and Camluck Classic on May 27 at The Raceway at Western Fair District.

Woodbine Mohawk Park's Grand Circuit stakes begin the first weekend in June with the Graduate Series for 4-year-olds.

Live racing continues every Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Woodbine Mohawk Park. Post time is 7 p.m.

NJRC licensing hours extended

As an added convenience for horsemen and owners, the New Jersey Racing Commission has extended licensing hours at the Meadowlands on Friday and Saturdays nights.

Beginning tonight (April 29) the new NJRC licensing hours will be 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

"We asked the New Jersey Racing Commission to extend its hours for our Championship Meet and the Commission agreed," said Jason Settlemyer, COO & GM of the Meadowlands Racetrack. "This will give owners and horsemen some extra time to get licensed on race nights."

Information regarding NJRC licensing can be found here.
