Sweden's glorious Elitloppet set for Sunday

For the first time in three years, spectators will be allowed at Solvalla to witness one of the greatest trotting races in the world.

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

After two years of a global pandemic, harness racing fans are allowed to return to Solvalla this weekend for one of the greatest racing days in the world.

The $1,015,000 Elitloppet, to be contested on Sunday (May 29), is shaping up as spectacular as ever with 15 contenders chasing their spot in the final.

The draw, which was conducted on Sunday (May 22) afternoon and broadcast on Swedish television, leaves Elitloppet 2022 a very open affair.

The experience of Elitloppet weekend is very much about the weather and the total atmosphere around the track. As of Wednesday, Sunday was shaping up to be a wet event, just like 2019, the last time Solvalla opened its gates to spectators.

Besides possibly bad weather, Solvalla's race cards Saturday and Sunday feature many great races and horses and it will most certainly will be a nice show that take place around the oval outside of Stockholm.

Of course, if something is missing, it's the limited presence of foreign horses in the main event, the Elitloppet. When American-bred Back Of The Neck opted out of participating, time was not on Solvalla's side and the track's sports general Anders Malmrot couldn't find a replacement horse from America in such a short time. That's too bad and if Elitloppet will be considered as the best international mile race in the world for the older elite, more horses from outside of Sweden need to be invited at an earlier stage in the process of building the race.

But it's still an exciting weekend ahead of us and it's not only the main race that holds high class.

Saturday's card features the $122,000 Sweden Cup (three heats, nine horses in the final), $205,000 Harper Hanover's race over 3,140 meters and finals in all divisions of V75.

Saturday's race program available here.

Finals in two divisions of Breeders Course for 3-year-olds are on the race card Sunday, where the open class offers $102,500 to the winner. It is simply full of good races, as usual, when Solvalla arms for the biggest event of the year.

Sunday's race program available here.

Pink is the color this weekend. The color of the Elitloppet.

ELITLOPPET HEAT 1

Horse - Sire - Trainer - Driver - Country

1. Önas Prince - Chocolatier - Per Nordström - Sweden

Five-year-old Önas Prince claimed big titles last season and trainer Per Nordström has been clear about his goal with this talented trotter. If he could choose one post position in an elimination heat, he would have picked number 1. This will be Önas Prince's big examination.

2. Brother Bill - From Above - Timo Nurmos - Jorma Kontio - Sweden

Brother Bill, 6-years-old, has competed against horses such as Hail Mary, Power and Don Fanucci Zet throughout his career and even if he lacks a win 2022, Timo Nurmos' trotter has skills enough to be a serious factor in this heat.

3. Cokstile - Quite Easy - Erik Bondo - Christoffer Eriksson - Italy

Cokstile became the winner in 2020 year's edition of Elitloppet after Propulsion was disqualified due to a nerve procedure done in the U.S. The Norwegian-bred 9-year-old impressed in the Finlandia-ajo earlier in May and from a perfect number he should secure a spot in the final.

3, 1:54.1f-'22 ($51,050)

Father Patrick - Summer Savory

$30,000 PA All Stars division winner for 3-year-old trotting colts in a life best of 1:54.1f, May 22 at The Meadows.

Owned by Brixton Medical Inc., Christina Takter, Hatfield Stables, Fair Island Farm Inc.

Trained by Nancy Takter

Driven by Andrew McCarthy

Bred by Fair Island Farm Inc.

4. Perfetto - Majestic Son - Dagfinn Henriksen - Canada

The only American element in the Elitloppet 2022 and the most difficult horse to put into the race's context. A quick leaver who can, or will try, to hit an inside position at an early stage of the race. The wagering firms don't believe in the Canadian horse, but Canada has been successful in Elitloppet before. Billyjojobob won this race 30 years ago.

5. Click Bait - Cantab Hall - Stefan Melander - Ulf Ohlsson - Sweden

Click Bait secured his spot in the race by winning $80,000 Prins Daniel's race last Saturday. One of the quickest leavers in the game, at least in Europe, with some luck with the trip, the 6-year-old can reach the final.

6. Vernissage Grif - Varenne - Alessandro Gocciadoro - Italy

Powerful chestnut, bred and owned in Italy, trained and driven by Italian harness racing's total dominant Gocciadoro. Vernissage Grif enters Elitloppet after a weak performance at Solvalla, to say the least, but if he competes at his highest level, he can beat them all.

7. Etonnant - Timoko - Richard Westerink - Anthony Barrier - France

Richard Westerink really knows how to win the Elitloppet. Etonnant's sire Timoko took two trophies in the race (2014 and 2017) with Westerink as trainer. In Etonnant, the Dutch trainer has a super trotter who has shown great abilities not only in the longer races in France, but also in the mile race Criterium de Vitesse in Cagnes-sur-Mer. There might be an obstacle for him though. Etonnant is not too keen in starting behind the gate and how will he manage to perform on a 5/8 mile track?

8. Don Fanucci Zet - Hard Livin - Daniel Redén - Örjan Kihlström - Sweden

Just like 2021, Don Fanucci Zet starts his elimination from post 8 behind the gate and last year he eventually won the final. This homebred 6-year-old has looked brilliant in his starts 2022, but the post will open up for a spectacular performance to reach the final.

ELITLOPPET HEAT 2

Horse - Sire - Trainer - Driver

1. Snowstorm Hanover - Muscle Massive - Daniel Redén - Magnus A Djuse - Sweden

Snowstorm Hanover has reached new levels since he was moved from Stefan Melander to Daniel Redén. Melander was Redén's employer for 13 years before Stall Zet became the new boss and now the two trainers can lean back and enjoy a common participant in the prestigious mile race. Fun fact: Redén was a 19-year-old lad and caretaker of Stefan Melander's 1999 Elitloppet contender Lucky Po.

2. Admiral As - Ready Cash - Reijo Liljendahl - Per Lennartsson - Sweden

Six-year-old Admiral As was sold as a yearling in Italy and has always had some kind of mythical reputation. The hunger for winning surrounds Admiral As' essence and even if he now stands in front of his toughest task so far in his life. He cannot be counted out as a serious contender. Per Lennartsson replaces in the bike since Örjan Kihlström opted to drive Don Fanucci Zet.

3. Who's Who - Maharajah - Pasi Aikio - Åke Svanstedt - Sweden

Åke Svanstedt enters the Elitloppet and is entrusted behind one of the hottest horses in the race this year. Who's Who has lined up some really big trophies during his career and comes from a pretty safe win in Paralympiatriavet. Svanstedt will be very welcomed by the audience at Solvalla, that's for sure and he can win the Elitloppet this year.

4. Hail Mary - Googoo Gaagaa - Daniel Redén - Erik Adielsson - Sweden

The highly mentioned move from Robert Bergh to Daniel Redén during the fall 2021 put some sparks in Swedish harness racing forums and Hail Mary has only made one start for his new trainer prior to Elitloppet. Via an impressive first over win, Hail Mary has reached the level to become the first choice in Elitloppet this year. Interesting start, interesting horse.

5. Night Brodde - Up And Quick - Conrad Lugauer - Sweden

Night Brodde became the fans' choice last week and he grabbed the last spot in Elitloppet 2022. Conrad Lugauer's trotter was a strong bronze medalist in Paralympiatriavet and his ability to leave quickly can be a valuable factor for him.

6. Mister F.Daag - Conway Hall - Paul Hagoort - Robin Bakker - Belgium

Seven-year-old Mister F.Daag has been surrounded by good reputation ever since he entered the track in his early years and when he won Copenhagen Cup two weeks ago, the German bred trotter took a step closer to Elitloppet. Dutch duo Robin Bakker and Paul Hagoort is competitive basically everywhere they participate.

7. Vivid Wise As - Yankee Glide - Alessandro Gociadoro - Matthieu Abrivard - Italy

Last year's runner up in the Elitloppet has been successful in France during the winter and we know that Solvalla's conditions suits him well. French top driver Matthieu Abrivard get along great with the horse and Vivid Wise As has to be taken seriously even from a bad post.

8. Extreme - Chocolatier - Steen Juul - Björn Goop - Denmark

Extreme is scratched.

THE VIEW FROM WOODBINE MOHAWK PARK

Killer storm puts Mohawk in the dark for SBOA finals

by Melissa Keith

Editor's note: This marks the debut of what we hope will be a weekly column exclusively covering Woodbine Mohawk Park as a sister piece to our dedicated weekly coverage of the Meadowlands.

Saturday (May 21), an unusual weather event known as a derecho struck Southern Ontario and Quebec. Many in its path described it as tornado-like. The mass thunderstorms destroyed trees, vehicles, homes and powerlines, resulting in 10 known deaths, so far. Several harness racetracks were affected by the intense winds and rain: Flamboro Downs pre-emptively canceled its 11-race Saturday night card; Rideau Carleton Raceway had to call off their Sunday races because of power outages and a downed pole falling across the racing surface. Saturday afternoon, Ohio's Scioto Downs had also faced dismal conditions and canceled after two races.

Canada's biggest harness track was literally powerless leading up to its Saturday night card. Woodbine Mohawk Park lost electrical service across the property during the derecho, notably affecting the track's lighting. The rest of the facility was temporarily powered by generator, while Milton Power tried to restore service to Mohawk and surrounding areas.

Woodbine Communications issued a precautionary statement: "Racing officials have decided to proceed with tonight's card of live racing in hopes power will be restored. Should power not return, the card will be canceled once officials determine there is no longer enough daylight to race safely."

As race 1 assembled behind the starting gate, Ken Middleton announced: "Welcome to Saturday racing at Mohawk Park – we're good to go." And they were, for five races.

James MacDonald put 1-9 favourite Adare Castle on the front end just after the opening quarter in race 2, the $151,575 Standardbred Breeders of Ontario Association (SBOA) final for 3-year-old filly trotters. She opened up on pocket-sitting Resolving (Trevor Henry) on the final turn, leaving that rival behind as Sandra (Sylvain Filion) came on for place, still five lengths behind the 1:53.2 winner. Two for two in 2022, Adare Castle (Muscle Mass—Pacific Edge) is owned by trainer Mark Etsell, of Rockwood, ON; Robert Newton, of Walkerton, ON; Graham Hopkins, of Chesley, ON; and Peter Porter, of Port Dover, ON. Saturday's victory was Canada's fastest 2022 mile by a sophomore trotter and a new lifetime mark for the former $10,000 (US) Timonium yearling, whose career earnings have now reached $574,324 (Cdn).

In the $147,575 Three-Year-Old Filly Pace (race 4), 67/1 I Love Ongait (Louis-Philippe Roy) led to three-quarters before heavily-favoured 1-9 Silver Label (James MacDonald) reached her sulky wheel. The longshot put up a fight down the stretch, but Silver Label kept gaining, made front, and widened her advantage to a half-length at the wire. The career-best 1:51.1s victory was Canada's fastest of the year for pacing fillies, so far, and raised Silver Label's winnings to $415,513 (Canadian). The homebred Bettors Delight—Hidden Gem daughter is owned by Millar Farms of Stouffville, ON and trained by Nick Gallucci.

Skies were darkening by the time race 5 began. Highlandbeachlover (Jonathan Drury) drifted in deep stretch but held on for the 1:51s victory, the last of the abbreviated card, which still handled $1,081,926. At 8:28 p.m., Woodbine Communications notified participants and the betting public that race 6 would be delayed until power came back, with a 9 p.m. cut-off time declared by racing officials. Power did not come back. The remainder of the 11-race card was canceled, with SBOA finals for 3-year-old trotting and pacing colts and geldings postponed. Cancellation fees were paid to connections of all other horses on the program.

The male trotters returned to the Campbellville track before the regular Monday, May 23 card, at 6:30 p.m. (The Monday card had previously been drawn, so the SBOA final was conducted as a special non-wagering event). Twin B Archie (James MacDonald) led by three lengths at the top of the stretch, drawing away as the battle for place was settled by Esplosione (Jody Jamieson). The 1:53.3 win was a new personal best for Twin B Archie (Archangel—Affair Hall) and Canada's fastest winning mile of 2022 for his division. The gelding is owned by trainer Scott McEneny, of Puslinch, ON; Domenic Chiaravalle, of Hamilton, ON; Floyd J. Marshall of Jarvis, ON; and Martwest Racing Stable, of Mississauga, ON. The winner's share of the $121,600 purse sent the former $50,000 Timonium yearling's earnings to $358,316 (Canadian).

The $122,600 SBOA final for sophomore pacing colts and geldings is rescheduled for Saturday (May 28), as it was originally drawn and as a wagering race. #10 Mr Beast (15-1 morning line) provides James MacDonald with an outside chance to complete a driving sweep of the SBOA finals. John Pentland's #5 Stonebridge Helios (Bob McClure) is the 5-2 morning line favourite, on the basis of his 1:51.2 elimination victory May 13. He previously qualified at Mohawk May 6, easily setting a 1:51.1 Canadian seasonal record for 3-year-old pacing colts. "He probably could have gone :49 that day, but it wasn't necessary," said McClure after the colt's latest win. "I don't think I'd trade him for anything in North America right now."

Notes: Tonight's (May 27) Mohawk leg of the Miss Versatility Series for trotting mares has been canceled due to insufficient entries. Early Tuesday, the race office announced it was "extremely short" on entries for all classes next Friday and Saturday (May 27 and 28). The Mohawk schedule will expand to five days a week beginning the first week of June, with details of an upcoming Pop-Up Series for trotters, male pacers, and pacing mares released by the race office May 25. Each division consists of two preliminary legs (each with a $15,000 purse) and a $25,000 final and a $15,000 consolation. To enter, trotters and female pacers must be non-winners of $20,000 in 2022 or not averaging $1,250 per start in 2022 (minimum 10 starts); male pacers must be non-winners of $15,000 in 2022 or not averaging $1,250 per start in 2022 (minimum 10 starts).

BETWEEN THE LINES

with BRETT STURMAN

Western Fair stakes take center stage

Plus a testing of faith with the reigning Horse of the Year.

by Brett Sturman

After a hiatus, the Camluck Classic and Forest City Pace draw star power tonight (May 27) as attention turns to The Raceway at The Western Fair District in London, ON. Plus, a final word on Test Of Faith from last week's Meadowlands open.

THE RACEWAY AT WESTERN FAIR - $150,000 CAMLUCK CLASSIC RACE 11

The signature event at London makes its return for the first time since 2019 and draws a highly competitive field of free-for-all pacers. The race came up impressively strong, particularly when compared to the competing Commodore Barry Pace at Harrah's Philadelphia the same weekend for horses in the same older pacing division.

Except for morning line favorite Jimmy Freight (6-5), every horse in the Camluck Classic has raced exclusively this year in the states, up until a FFA at Woodbine Mohawk two weeks ago that a few of these used to prepare for this race. And representing the best chance from that U.S. contingency is that of Tattoo Artist (9-5).

Tattoo Artist looks for redemption following unfortunate circumstances when well-supported in the Borgata Pacing Series final at Yonkers one month ago. He returned to Woodbine two weeks ago and raced well, though narrowly defeated in a fast time. In that race, he yielded after making the front to American History and sat right in behind that horse through recent uncouth fast fractions of :54.1 and 1:21.2. He eventually breezed past that rival, but perhaps had too much taken out of him prior and had to settle for second; having the post edge on his primary threat could be decisive.

What an amazing comeback story that continues for the 7-year-old and former O'Brien winner, Jimmy Freight. This Jimmy has been as automatic the last two months as the Jimmy from Hoosiers, and in winning his most recent FFA, equaled his career best time of 1:48.1 taken from three years ago. He did benefit in that race by being able to sit well off a hot pace before launching his rally once ready, but he still needed a final quarter of :25.1 to get there and remains in sensational form; feel that he almost has to leave from post 5 in order to have his best chance.

Funatthebeach N (9-2) is just a couple of races removed from his upset win in the Borgata final and Stratton is the only U.S. driver that's made the trip up tonight for this race. Things did set up for him that night at Yonkers, but some form of a speed duel isn't out of the question in this race either; he was closing willingly last out alongside Jimmy Freight. This Is The Plan (2-1) seems like a wild card from the second-tier post 8. I thought he was somewhat hit or miss throughout that Borgata series and wasn't surprised that he was allowed to make front in that series final. He comes off a fast mile last Saturday at the Meadowlands when all the times were fast; was able to hang on for second in that race following a pocket-trip to the winner and figures to be given a good steer from Trevor Henry.

Poseidon Seelster (3-1) did win a Borgata leg in early April, though overall would seem a step behind the top couple. However, the rail here can obviously be a huge equalizer. Twin B Tuffenuff (4-1) is another that has the benefit of an inside post but this is a tall ask. Ocean Rock (8-1) upset in the Breeders Crown to round out last year and he was one of the best FFA horses in the sport at one point last summer; doesn't seem to be done any favors though from post 6 while making his first start since last November. The post would seem to be the final nail in any chances that American History (15-1) would have had.

Picks: Tattoo Artist, Funatthebeach N, Jimmy Freight

THE RACEWAY AT WESTERN FAIR - $50,000 FOREST CITY PACE RACE 10

In the open fillies and mares counter to the Camluck Classic, the $50,000 Forest City Pace returns to Western Fair for the first time in 10 years.

Gia's Surreal (2-1) won the Bluechip Matchmaker consolation three races back and overall has proven over the past three years to be one of the better open mare pacers in the sport. Likely the class of the field, the advantage of an inside post here cannot be overstated enough.

It's hard to knock the 2020 O'Brien winner So Much More (8-5), though she's going to have to be used early from this post. She was game last week in winning after being parked for nearly three-eighths of a mile to make the front, though I'll note that second-place finisher from that race Kickupyaheels N came back flat next out for what that's worth. Tough field tonight.

Dabarndawgswatchin (3-1) enters in decent form and will have her cause further aided by the inside post. She probably should have won last week after having first run to go past a longshot leader but was caught by She's Nun Bettor N (5-2) who had a similar carefree trip. That 1:50.3 win from She's Nun Bettor N ties So Much More for the fastest win in Canada this year by a mare pacer, these two may get into it with each other early.

Dream Dancing (8-1) is the other Moreau-trained mare in here (She's Nun Bettor N) though seems outmatched on paper. The same could be said for Snow Shark (10-1) who was in lower-level conditioned races not too long ago. Karma Seelster (4-1) took a fast mark of 1:51.1 at Yonkers a few races back when winning a Matchmaker leg (one of two she won in that series) but seems like she'd need a few things to break her way to have a chance. Major League N (6-1) folded last week as a longshot; I guess could be up close early from the second tier start.

Picks: Gia's Surreal, Dabarndawgswatchin, Karma Seelster

A TESTING OF FAITH

What occurred in last Saturday's $31,500 open for fillies and mares at the Meadowlands shouldn't be let off the hook without mention, as what transpired is inexcusable.

In the race, Test Of Faith – the reigning Horse of the Year – was sent off at odds of 1-9 and, from the onset, was placed in a highly disadvantageous situation. Having inexplicably taken back to last in a field of six, all she could do was close belatedly to just get up for second.

Last week, fellow HRU columnist Debbie Little wrote a column which is now ironically named, Bettors Beware. The column had to do mostly with the ongoing tuck/no-tuck debate at the Meadowlands, but that same column did touch on Test Of Faith.

In Test Of Faith's first race of the year on May 7, there was similar outcry when she was taken back to last in a full field of 10 as the even money favorite. The difference is that was her first start of the season. It's widely known that a horse in that situation will take a start to re-acclimate and anyone who knows anything will take that into account if they wager on the race.

But then, in her next start, which was a leg of the Graduate, Test Of Faith quarter moved to the front and won in 1:49.4. Now in her third start back on the heels of a Graduate win over better than what she raced against Saturday, what could possibly be the justification for not making any attempt to move forward off the gate as the 1-9 favorite?

To make matters worse, with hot and humid temperatures, the track was playing highly souped up. Times were lightning fast, and the winner of every race the entire night was won by horses forwardly placed.

It might be lazy on my part to try to make this correlation, but handle on harness racing this year is down over 13 per cent from last year. You see races like this, and I'm surprised it's not down 50 per cent. If there is going to be some predetermined strategy that clearly would go against any semblance of normal expectations, then that should be communicated to the judges and then to the public beforehand. Either that, or simply have the horse removed from the wagering for that race. In any case, this really shouldn't be allowed to continue.

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Chris Carrubba Jr. traded a successful life in Florida to return to horses

by Chris Lomon

No matter where he was and whatever he happened to be doing, Chris Carrubba Jr. knew he would one day return to the horse racing world.

As he stood in line at the bank in Florida, looking down at the check in his hands, the horseman-turned-businessman realized what he had always known.

"It was a Friday afternoon and all I remember was saying to myself, 'I wish I was driving horses tonight.' It was a good situation, with the jobs I had, the pay was very good, but it wasn't horses and horse racing. I always knew I'd come back to the horses."

Born and raised in Batavia, NY, Carrubba, a third-generation horseman, left the standardbred life behind 20 years ago, a decision based solely on money, specifically, the inability to make a decent living in racing.

"I was brought up in the business through my grandfather and father. I started cleaning stalls before I could walk. When I turned 15, I got my fair license and started driving there, and then moved on to the qualifiers from there. Before then, it was a lot of elbow grease, rubbing horses, cleaning stalls – starting from the bottom up. From the first time I jogged a horse, it was game over for me. I knew it was what I wanted to do. When I started qualifying, I got my other license. I knew it was what I wanted to do. My first year, I won some races with my dad's horses. It was even better because they weren't expected to win. I caught a little bit of traction catch-driving for some of the guys at Buffalo. But then in 2002, I decided to make the move to Florida.

Having graduated from the University of Miami, where he studied Business Finance, Carrubba soon found a job, a well-paying one, with a different type of horsepower.

"I was watching 20-year-old kids driving around in Ferraris in Florida and I called my dad, who had a barn full of horses, and told him that I wasn't coming home. I did a ton of real estate, and I was a finance manager at an exotic car dealership. I was there for 15 years."

His business savvy also enabled him to explore entrepreneurial opportunities, including buying and selling houses.

Whether it was luxury cars or in-demand dwellings, Carrubba reaped the benefits of his hard work.

Yet, in spite of all the advantages he was afforded, there was, at the very core, something missing from his life.

"I came back to racing two years ago. What kept me out was the money. When I got my P license, I started driving, but we didn't have any casinos. We were driving for $1,200 to 1,800, and when I went to Florida, my first job was as the finance manager at the car dealership. It would have taken me three months or more in racing to make what I was making in one month at the dealership. No matter how much money I made through various avenues – I was able to sell some companies and did well through some other entrepreneurial work – I knew I would come back to the horses. When it's in your blood, it's in your blood. When the racinos came in around 2006, I had already been gone for about four years, it was a real eye-opener. I thought, 'Maybe we can go back and get racehorses again.' By that time, I was involved in a lot of business and knee-deep in the entrepreneurial world. It wasn't where I could snap my fingers and go back to racing, but I knew that I wanted to get back to doing what I love."

The timeline for that return picked up speed after another check was cashed, albeit not by Carrubba on this occasion.

"I can remember that day too. I was flipping properties, renovating them and selling them for a profit, and just before COVID started, I sold all my properties. I had a contractor that was doing some drywall work for me and the job should have been around $1,500. He charged me $3,600. When he handed me that invoice, I said, 'That's it. This is my last day of this.' So, I put all my properties on the market."

With everything sold, Carrubba then made another purchase.

He was back in the horsepower game.

"I bought a horse, Pet Sur Roc, one week after I sold my last property. I had him at a farm. He had just turned 3. They had just turned him out after his 2-year-old season. I bought him from Brady Galliers, who had trained him down to 2:20 as a 2-year-old. He wasn't going to make the Ohio Sires Stakes ranks in his first year of racing. I actually paid more than he wanted because he was staked to the Ohio Sires and Buckeye Series. They thought he would be able to come back and have a decent second year, so I offered more than the asking price. With COVID and the impact it had on racing I had more time to train him down. He qualified in July 2020 and I had Sam Schillachi in the bike. He said, 'He's green, but how much do you want for him?' Right then and there I knew I had a horse. Sam told me to take him to the fairs, get him some experience and bring him to the racetrack and I'll have a nice horse. So, that's what I did."

The man with a knack for making smart business decisions had made another one.

Now 5, Pet Sur Roc, a bay son of Pet Rock—Easter Surprise, has carved out a solid career for Carrubba, who handles the reins as trainer and driver.

The two recently teamed up for a neck win on May 11 at Buffalo Raceway, taking home the top prize of $2,750 for the victory.

"It took us a while to get things going. When I took him back to the fairs, he was green and so was I, having been out of the business for an extended period of time. I brought him back and in his first race at Northfield, he got parked the whole mile after getting shut out of the six-hole. At the half, he picked up some cover, tipped himself three-wide at three quarters, and won by 2 ¾-lengths, with Chris Page driving. I knew then that I had a good horse. I was lucky to have him come into my life. We went to a lot of racetracks together. And that's where that fun with racing returned. Any time you win, it's always the same feeling."

Now that he's back full time in racing, Carrubba has laid out a personal racing roadmap as to where he'd eventually like to find himself.

Spoiler alert: it's a famous spot in the Garden State.

"Your whole career, growing up in the business, The Meadowlands is the mecca of our industry. Everybody wants to race a horse at The Meadowlands. I was able to take Pet Sur Roc there and he went 1:53.3. I'd really like to end up there one day. I don't need a 20, 30 or 40-horse barn. If I could have somewhere between eight and 10 at The Meadowlands, that would be my ultimate goal. There's no feeling you can describe when you walk into the paddock there and see your horse's name in the program. My five-year goal is to make it there."

One of Carrubba's other main priorities is related to family.

"My dad recently had COVID and a few years ago, he had a heart transplant. I haven't been around as much for holidays and things like that, so now that I am back, I've been able to spend time with him. Being back at Buffalo now, it's been great to have those times with my dad and to be back in a sport I truly enjoy."

It used to be that...

by Bob Heyden

This is meant as a cautionary – perhaps educational – tale to the standardbred industry about where we are today. It is not an article that will offer the same old tired “solutions” or suggestions.

Today is time for us to be honest about the industry’s current status and stop dreaming about what could or should be.

This is also pointed to the 30-45-year-old who likely doesn’t have a full appreciation – or maybe none at all – about what the sport used to look like.

IT USED TO BE THAT:

1. Famous people used to attend regularly at the track. Not just on Derby Day or when a horse is going for a Triple Crown – harness and thoroughbred alike. Owned horses, too. Wilt Chamberlain, Arnold Palmer, Mickey Mantle, Jack Klugman, Mickey Rooney, Annette Funicello. Joe Namath, too.
2. Every track had a tote board. Today, not so sure. Every race card had an outrider and somebody holding the horse in the winner’s circle. Now? Never quite sure.
3. Gift shops were a staple at any track. Now they look like the 1975 stationery store in your town that closed and has not been touched since.
4. Entertainment – big time – often played at the track. Kris Kristoferson, Chubby Checker, Jay And The Americans. Boxing matches were also staged at racetracks.
5. Tote bags were on occasion handed out. Tote delays is about all you get today. Tote delays are the racing fans busy signal he gets when asking, “How did my horse do?”
6. There was once a time when restrooms were actually attended at racetracks. Now, you hope they are operating at about 2/3rds capacity.
7. Never did you see on a screen then what you do today – a dark, dank simulcast feed of a few tracks looking more like the opening to a Film Noir Festival than an invitation to wager.

8. If you singled a horse in a multi-wager play first leg and it was scratched, you got your $16 or whatever the wager was in total back. In 2022, the racetracks cannot fathom the thought of returning a single dollar to anyone willing to wager one. So, you get the favorite in your race with a single after the scratch and your bet stays. So, in review, the horse you singled is scratched and it is possible the very horse you bet against may now be the one you have to root for. In some cases, you have to wait until after the race to see who the favorite even was.
9. Nonsensical giveaways to “card” holders – bonuses, incentives, etc. Well, in reality, they are very, very small and insulting. Scrunched up swag stuff. At one major track in standardbred racing, you get one penny for every $3 spent. Think of that for a second. A friend comes to the track for the first time today. He signs up for and gets his player card. He bets $1,500 on the thoroughbred races. That’s $5 in rewards. The total is not enough for him to buy the program the very next day ($6.50 simulcast book).
10. There was a time when horses were celebrities – Cardigan Bay made it to $1 million in September 1968 and was immediately on the coast to coast Ed Sullivan Show. Rambling Willie in Times Square signing “autographs.” But that was also a time of full-time public relations people aiming to please and appeal to a broader base.
11. “I love the horses, but hate the business.” How many times have you heard that? There’s a much bigger gap today from the bottom level workers to the top level – so to speak. People are in a business much more so today than a sport.
12. Today’s 2-year-old stars have a schedule at 3 that all look alike. But how much fun was it when we saw a horse such as Hot Lead in 1996 racing in the winter series and graduating to the Meadowlands Pace winner’s circle? Gallo Blue Chip battling in NW3 a few times, not even hitting the board, and then settling down to capture both million-dollar events in 2000 at age 3? There’s a certain randomness that is missing nowadays. The chance of a Rambling Willie staying with the same barn not as likely today as it was 30, 40, 50 years back.
13. Minutes to post in 1970, 1980, 1990 were actual minutes to post. Yes, it really once was the norm.
14. Mutuel clerks were abundant, self-serve machines unheard of. Of course, this is more a progress type of thing. But I have seen machine-only sections with customers looking for help on many occasions.
15. Buffets? Gone. A little too fan-friendly and not bottom line-friendly. Restaurants? Now they only open at primo hours and aren’t embarrassed at charging New York City prices.
16. Cordoned off areas. Yes, as the business gets smaller, the wide open areas become storage spaces – or are done over for another purpose altogether. Not a good look.
17. Concession stands are appointment only? It seems like that. Select few are open, the lines are longer and the service a crap shoot.

18. Periodicals available at the racetrack? Okay, I get it, magazines and such are not what they used to be. Everything is online. But, boy oh boy, what a way to get youngsters more interested. You know, the ones who do not go to sales, who don't know what a tack shop is. But they might like it if they did know. Back in the day, they served the novice as a great intro to the sport/business but seemed to gone the way of bell-bottoms.
19. T-shirts were on occasion handed out with your admission. You didn't have to elbow someone out of the way when they were shot out of a bazooka.
20. Two nights in advance programs were usually on sale, although they weren't official.
21. Elevators had operators. Restrooms had attendants.
22. You paid to park. Admission, too. Oh yes. Hey, in 1965 at Roosevelt Raceway they had 1,024 betting windows. And season parking passes were like gold.
23. Friendships were formed on the long betting lines – or even the one next to you. A 10-15 minute wait was the norm.
24. Information booths actually existed. Hey, isn't everyone a track first-timer once?
25. Potholes in the parking lot were non-existent. Now? They are everywhere. It's almost like management is saying, "Hey, potholes or no potholes, you are coming in either way... right?"

The current fan/attendee/bettor at the racetrack is not considered anyone special by management. They expect you to continue doing what you do... just don't die.

But what about the racing people who do care? There are a bunch of us, but we aren't collectively able to move the bulldozer that is slots/casino/apathy.

Racing is necessary (for casinos to be there) but not cherished. Even an annoyance of sorts. Casinos undergo huge renovations and harness racing fans are looking to where they can get a coffee on a Wednesday afternoon. The collective voices of those of us who want better is no longer drowning out those who are comping the casino regular. If it ever was.

Sometimes the smallest of stories can be the most telling. Let me take you back to 2001 on Meadowlands Pace Night. I was downstairs talking to some friends at the program area and some people I had met within the past couple of years were making their rare trip to the races. When asked who I liked, I told them to bet Real Desire to win the Meadowlands Pace. Good seeing them there.

We go our separate ways. Real Desires edges Bettors Delight and pays $6. I don't think about it again. A year goes by and I am again downstairs on Pace night. You guessed it, the same couple comes in. But they just tried to cash their ticket from last year and it was too late. Six months I guess was the limit. $30 south. They didn't even ask who I liked that night. They got their program and were on their way. Never saw them again. Did we lose two customers who innocently didn't realize they had to cash in their ticket in a specified time? Nobody is at fault here, but any way you look at it, it is not customer friendly. I wish I had done something in retrospect now. Did the sport lose two customers – however light they bet – that night?

Finally, harness racing finds itself to in 2022 as the 450-pound man. The one who desperately wants to get back to 180 pounds. But at least the man has a plan and, in theory anyway, a path there. If he follows this and that and sticks to it, it's at least a possibility.

Harness racing seems at the point of exasperation, hands in the air, white towel headed to the ring. The sport exists mostly today because they had the deeds to the land. We were here first, type of mentality. An adversarial, not brotherly, relationship exists between the casinos and racing. We can't attract the sharp, energetic, insightful 18-25-year-old anymore because there is so little for them down the road. Really good people have rerouted. The world goes on around us and it seems there are fewer and fewer of us trying to fend off the tsunami.

How long we can all hang on to the same rope remains to be seen.

Making her bones

After a lifetime in the industry, Laure Blomquist is now a racing office assistant at The Meadowlands.

by Debbie Little

As an anthropology major, Laure Blomquist studied the past, but it wasn't until she worked at The Meadowlands that she discovered her future.

At Montclair State, Blomquist majored in Geology, English and History before being fascinated by Anthropology.

"It was interesting because during my last semester I got to work at the Museum of Natural History putting together a model of a triceratops dinosaur," said Blomquist. "That was way cool. But to go on into anthropology you really need advanced degrees."

She eventually landed a job on Wall Street, but her heart wasn't in it after spending a summer around horses.

Blomquist didn't grow up in a horse racing family, but at a young age she fell in love with horses all the same.

"I've loved horses for as far back as I can remember," said Blomquist. "I think when I was 6 years old, I told my mother I was going to marry a horse. But living in Jersey City and Bayonne, there weren't any [horse stables] close by."

"Then one day, I was 9 years old, I think, I was flipping around on the TV and I saw Buckpasser win the [1966] Woodward. He came from last to first, right on the wire, and I thought that's the most incredible thing I've ever seen. And I fell in love with him and followed his career until he retired, unfortunately, the next year. But that got me interested in racing. Then I became a racing fan and started reading the [Daily Racing] Form when I was 9-years-old. But I never had any hands-on experience, I was just a fan."

The summer following her college graduation, her next-door neighbor got a job as a caretaker on The Meadowlands backstretch and one day took Blomquist with her and gave her the nickel tour.

"So, she took me around and introduced me and I was lucky enough to get on with [trainer] Steve Crevani. He needed somebody at the time and he was willing to teach me and had the patience to take on a neophyte. So that was huge. And I just stayed there for the summer and really enjoyed it and then I said, 'Okay, I have to go back to the real world, so I went and got a job on Wall Street and I hated it. I kept thinking I want to be back with the horses."

"So, then I said life is just too short. If you do what you love, you never work a day in your life, so I came back, but I came back in the throes of winter and I got frostbite. It was really rough, but I stuck it out and I'm glad that I did and here I am all these years later."

Blomquist was a caretaker for 11 years and loved every minute of it.

"I just couldn't wait to get up in the morning and go to the barn," said Blomquist. "When I got my first paychecks with Steve, I couldn't believe I was getting paid for doing this because I just loved it so much. I often laugh because if I'd stayed on Wall Street, I might have been able to own a horse instead of taking care of them. But I don't know if that would have been as rewarding."

During her time on the backstretch, Blomquist worked for several trainers, including the Campbell brothers, John and Jim. In fact, she was working for Jim when another job opportunity at The Meadowlands came her way.

"One day, I happened to see an ad in the paper, Stan Bergstein put it in and he needed an assistant for his office and I think at the time he was out in Morristown [NJ]," said Blomquist. "So, I interviewed with him and he was such a wonderful gentleman and he helped me immensely. And he said, 'I would hire you, but I'm really worried about the commute with you coming from Bayonne to Morristown every day. I know Joe DeFrank needs somebody in the program department [at The Meadowlands]. I'll talk to Joe. Go see Joe for an interview.' And here I am all these years later."

Jim Campbell couldn't say enough good things about Blomquist and even though he valued the work she was doing for him; he wasn't going to stand in the way of her new opportunity.

"She was very dedicated to her work and she was very knowledgeable about what she was doing and she always had a lot of good feedback to give you about a horse and how they were acting," said Campbell. "She was supposed to come back to work for me and I guess she had also applied for a job at The Meadowlands. Somebody from The Meadowlands called wanting a recommendation on Laure, so, I obviously gave them a very good recommendation and then she went to work for The Meadowlands and she's been there ever since."

"I've always told anybody's that worked for me, if they find a job that's better than working for me, then I'm happy for them."

And that's the way I felt with Laure. It was a good opportunity for her, so I was happy for her."

Blomquist started in the program department in 1990 and around 2007 then race secretary Peter Koch asked if she wanted to move to the race office.

Blomquist, 66, is currently a racing office assistant working with race secretary Scott Warren.

"She knows the place like the back of her hand," said Warren. "She's not my right-hand man, but she is my right-hand woman. She knows everything about The Meadowlands and does everything that she's called upon for and she's a very nice person. She is an amazingly kind person. There's not a mean bone in her body. She is helpful and will go the extra mile for anyone."

Campbell had a similar description for Blomquist – 99.9 per cent of the time – but that remaining tenth of a per cent could be likened to Bruce Banner's alter ego.

"Laure is the sweetest girl that you could ever meet, and she's small, but don't ever piss her off because if she gets pissed off, she turns into 6-foot-5 and mean," said Campbell. "And I know that because not intentionally, I pissed her off a few times and I saw a different side to Laure. She never lets her temper get in the way of her horses. She's sweet little Laure around her horses."

One of the best things that came out of Blomquist's job in racing happened in 1988.

"I would have to say my favorite horse of all time is the one that I actually ended up buying and making into my riding horse, Unobtrusive Bloom," said Blomquist. "Mr. Suslow owned him and he had quite a story that horse, but I ended up being able to retire him and took many wonderful trail rides with him.

"I'm the only one in my family that's horse crazy. I don't know where I got that gene from. Maybe way back in my ancestors because I have Swedish and Greek ancestors. It's always puzzled me because it certainly wasn't like I was exposed through my family, like so many people were in this industry. I pretty much just chose it for myself."

Linedrive Hanover storms to 1:49 track and Canadian record in inaugural Charles Juravinski Memorial Cup

by Standardbred Canada

Originally published here.

The inaugural edition of the $273,500 Charles Juravinski Memorial Cup was a race for the history books as Linedrive Hanover blazed around Flamboro Downs' half-mile oval to set a new all-age track and Canadian record on Sunday evening (May 22).

Formerly known as the Confederation Cup, Flamboro Downs' signature race for 4-year-old pacers was renamed this year in honour of the track's co-founder and Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Famer who died in February.

Looking for his fifth win on the card, the hot-handed James MacDonald sent Linedrive Hanover to the lead from post five into a :27 opening quarter with elimination winner and reigning Horse of the Year Desperate Man (Trevor Henry) gunning off the gate from the outside to secure a pocket trip.

It didn't take long for the favoured Bulldog Hanover (Jody Jamieson), fresh off his 1:49.3 divisional track and Canadian record performance in last week's elimination round, to make a move from third. He swept up to press Linedrive Hanover approaching the midway mark in :55.

However, Linedrive Hanover forged on to three-quarters in 1:22 leaving Bulldog Hanover hung out up the backside with Lous Pearlman (Yannick Gingras) behind the stalled cover and Charlie May (David Miller) forced to go three-wide.

Turning for home, it was Desperate Man who posed the biggest threat as he launched from the pocket, but Linedrive Hanover blazed home a winner in a career-best clocking of 1:49 to become Canada's fastest pacer on a half-mile track.

The time of the mile knocked one-fifth of a second off the Canadian record on a half-mile track set by This Is This Plan at Hippodrome 3R in 2019. It also bested Somebeachsomewhere's 1:49.2 all-age track record that Hall of Famer set as a 3-year-old in 2008.

Linedrive Hanover, who just missed by a head to Desperate Man in the eliminations for his only loss in a dozen starts this year, paid $6.80 to win as the 2-1 second choice. Desperate Man, off at 18-1, settled for the runner-up role on this night with 40-1 second tier starter Dean B Hanover (Jordan Stratton) third, five lengths in arrears. Bulldog Hanover ended up fourth while the other elimination winner, Rockyroad Hanover (Dexter Dunn), rounded out the top five.

"He was awesome," said MacDonald after the race. "He was coming a million on the end. I had to check him a couple times and then anyone that followed after the wire... he doesn't know where the wire is. He's still a really green horse, just learning how to race. I was really confident going in, but I knew I needed to find a great trip and the trip I got, I couldn't ask for a better one."

The lightly raced Betting Line—Lillian Hanover gelding, who has finally had a chance to show his talent on track after

Carter Gimblett

Linedrive Hanover (James MacDonald) set a 1:49 track and Canadian record while winning the inaugural Charles Juravinski Cup on Sunday at Flamboro Downs.

“He was awesome,” said MacDonald after the race. “He was coming a million on the end. More than doubling his bankroll, Linedrive Hanover boasts $265,200 in purse earnings and is now 11-for-13 lifetime.

Sunday’s undercard featured the $50,000 Margaret Juravinski Invitational Pace, a companion event for 4-year-old mares with Tom Hill’s homebred Awesome Hill making her Flamboro Downs debut a winning one in rein to Doug McNair.

Drury), who closed through the passing lane off a pocket trip, to prevail by a head in 1:53.4. Beach Moment settled for third a length behind.

Coming off a victory and close third-place finish in the mares preferred class at Woodbine Mohawk Park, Awesome Hill paid $3.30 to win as the bettors’ choice.

The Sunshine Beach—Taxi Hare Hanover mare now sports a seasonal summary reading 5-5-2 from 14 starts and has 10 wins lifetime racing from the Chantal Mitchell stable. The lion’s share of the purse sent her total earnings to $195,304.

Beach Moment fired to the front for driver Yannick Gingras and led the field of nine through :27.3 and :56.2 first-half fractions, but 3-5 favourite Awesome Hill went on the attack first-up from the four-hole as they passed in front of the grandstand the first time and was head-to-head with the leader at the 1:24.3 third quarter mark. Twin B Archie dominant in SBOA final

by Mark McKelvie / Woodbine communications

The wait to race was worth it for Twin B Archie in Monday evening's (May 23) $121,600 SBOA Stakes Final for 3-year-old trotting colts and geldings at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Moved from Saturday to Monday due to a power outage, the sophomore trotting colts and geldings battled in the SBOA just prior to Monday evening's program in a non-wagering event.

The likely favourite had wagering been offered, Twin B Archie took top spot in the second-quarter for driver James MacDonald and never looked back, posting fractions of :56.3 and 1:24.4, en route to a four-length score in 1:53.3.

Replay here.

"He's always got separation the group, but he's just kind of playing around," said MacDonald of Twin B Archie. "I just let him keep idling along and he just does it. If there was a challenge or someone was coming, I think he had lots left."

MacDonald continued his hot streak by steering the gelded son of Archangel to victory for trainer Scott McEneny. MacDonald also won Saturday's SBOA Finals with fillies Adare Castle and Silver Label.

When asked about the start to his stakes season, MacDonald chuckled and replied, "it's been pretty good."

The runner-up position in Monday's event went to Esplosione, who rallied from sixth to pick off Duly Resolve. Sea Can crossed the wire fourth, while Tymal Tiggs completed the top-five.

Twin B Archie is now two-for-two this season and has already boosted his career numbers to six wins and $358,316 earned. Last year's Ontario Sires Stakes Super Final champion is owned by McEneny, Domenic Chiaravalle, Floyd Marshall and Martwest Racing Stable.

The only SBOA Stakes Final remaining to be raced is the $122,600 event for 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings. That event will be part of this Saturday's (May 28) card.

Gotthegreenlight sets track mark in NYSS at Buffalo

by Brian J. Mazurek for Buffalo Raceway

There was no tapping of the brakes for Gotthegreenlight at Buffalo Raceway on Wednesday afternoon (May 25) as she destroyed the track record for 3-year-old pacing fillies by taking her $58,100 division of the New York Sire Stakes.

It didn't come easy either.

Gotthegreenlight ($3.30) needed every split second of the clock as she nipped a very game American Ticket by a mere nose in 1:52.2 over the fast track. The time smashed the previous standard of 1:53.3 set by Mosquito Blue Chip in 2015 and Gia's Surreal in 2019.

Driver Jason Bartlett made it a clean sweep in the NYSS as he directed Joyride Hanover to a dialed down 3-3/4 length victory over Superbly in 1:55.3.

But the race of the day belonged to the defending 2-year-old NYSS filly pacing champ Gotthegreenlight and the heart broken American Ticket.

Watching American Ticket (Mark MacDonald) from third place through the opening half mile in :57, Gotthegreenlight started to attack first over down the backstretch the final time. With a 1:25 split in the books with a panel to go, it became a match race down the stretch between the pair.

Tough luck loser American Ticket was stubborn and didn't relinquish the lead until the final strides as Gotthegreenlight was able to stretch a nose in front, thanks in part to a :27.2 final quarter. Kele Kele (Tyler Buter) was 6-3/4 lengths back for the show spot.

"We had the middle of the (starting) car and knew there was speed on the inside," Bartlett said of sitting back in the beginning. "We didn't want to go out but wanted to stay in contact."

The play worked.

It was the first win in two starts in 2022 for Gotthegreenlight (American Ideal—Bet On Luck). Trained by R. Nifty Norman and co-owned by Patricia Stables and Kovach Stables, the victory jumped her season earnings to $31,802 and $278,456 lifetime.

In the second bracket, Bartlett found things to be a 'joyride' as he drove Joyride Hanover ($4.80) to the convincing wire to wire score over Superbly (Jim Morrill Jr.) with Fly Like An Angel (MacDonald) collecting the show check.

"She's a handy filly," Bartlett said of Joyride Hanover. "She's great gaited and gets around the turns really well. I knew with the rail we could push out really hard and we got the trip we wanted." Setting fractions of :30.1, :59.3 and 1:28.2, the final time was 1:55.3, more than enough for Joyride Hanover to take the win.

Owned by Eric Good and trained by Norman, it was the first win in three appearances on the season for Joyride Hanover (American Ideal —JK Higher Power). The win upped her winnings to $32,554 on the campaign and $217,512 in her career.

In the two $15,000 Excelsior A races, Time To Roar (Tyler Buter) captured a 2-1/4 length decision over Mini Rose (Leon Bailey) in 1:55.4 while A Girl That Twirls (Morrill Jr.) was a nose better than Twenty Grand (MacDonald) in a race that went in a snappy 1:54.2.

Morrill Jr. finished the day with four victories while Bartlett and Kyle Cummings had two each. Shawn McDonough topped the trainers with a hat trick with Norman getting a pair.

Gotthegreenlight (Jason Bartlett) set a 1:52.2 track record while winning her $58,100 division of the New York Sire Stakes on Wednesday at Buffalo Raceway.

Hambletonian-class trotters in Pocono All-Stars action

by PHHA / Pocono

In changing weather, three impressive 3-year-old males won their respective $30,000 divisions of Pennsylvania All-Stars action during the Sunday (May 22) twilight card at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono.

Over a "fast" track in the first division, raced before the rain came, Kosher Mahoney was let go at 7-1, was unbothered on the lead, and came home in :56.3 - :28.1 to win in a new mark of 1:53.3 for driver Andrew McCarthy, trainer Symon Spicer, and Keystone Stable. Favored S I P made a brief break in the pocket early and did not have enough to recover; closest to the victorious Explosive Matter gelding at the finish was Dandy, whose vaunted late kick was not suited to the speed-favoring situation at that time and came up 1¼ lengths short to the winner of $131,527.

Just before the second division the rain came, changed the track to "sloppy +1," lowered the temperature 13 degrees, and changed the wind direction 180 degrees from a stretch headwind to a stretch tailwind – but Andrew McCarthy still won again, here with the Father Patrick gelding Ducasse in 1:54.4. The Nancy Takter trainee used a wind-aided last quarter of :27.4 in keeping Nice Guy Eddie 1 3/4 lengths in arrears, winning for the fourth time in five seasonal starts for Brixton Medical Inc., Christina Takter, Hatfield Stables, and Fair Island Farm Inc.

The Bar Hopping gelding That Old Bar Stool, going for his fourth straight win in the third division, was patiently guided to the lead by Matt Kakaley in front of the stands and looked to have a safe lead approaching mid-stretch. But remember that wind shift and stretch tailwind? That may have helped propel Parola Hanover, last and 4½ lengths behind at head-stretch (after taking back early), to make a giant late move that came up a head shy. But That Old Bar Stool weathered the late storm and now has wins in ten 2022 starts for trainer Robert W. Clark and owners Clark Stables LLC and Tina Clark.

The stakes-winning drivers, Matt Kakaley and Andrew McCarthy, had the best nights among the drivers, each having three victories overall. Eleven of 13 favorites won, and 13 of 13 winners avoided the two-wide tier to start their second halves.

James MacDonald notches hat trick in OSS season opener

by Austin Stanton / Ontario Sires Stakes publicity

James MacDonald started the 2022 Ontario Sires Stakes season the way he finished 2021, in the winner's circle. The 2021 Lampman Cup winner won three of four $22,000 Grassroots divisions for 3-year-old pacing colts on Charles Juravinski Memorial Cup night at Flamboro Downs.

The Guelph, ON native kicked off the evening by driving Century Invictus to a gate-to-wire victory in race one. The son of Bettors Delight surged straight to the lead from the five post, and didn't look back, pacing a mile in 1:55.1.

"I raced (Century Invictus) last year in the Grassroots, and he is absolutely built for a half-mile track," said MacDonald. "He's a little guy, and has a rocket move off the gate. I was looking forward to driving him tonight. No matter where he drew, I knew was going to make my way to the lead."

Century Invictus, trained by Harry Poulton, moves to a record of 1-2-0 in five starts this season for his TheStable.ca owners.

MacDonald followed up with a win in the second Grassroots division, race three on the card. He piloted Coligny Hanover (Sunshine Beach) to victory in a time of 1:53.1.

"He's a good little horse, but he can be a little steppy at times. So the rail helped," said MacDonald. "I wanted to get him away clean, once we got through the first turn, we straightened up going (halfway), I moved him first up and he did the rest."

The first win of 2022 pushed the Anthony Beaton trained colt over $50,000 in career earnings.

Silk Road Smash helped MacDonald complete the hat-trick in race eight, the fourth and final Grassroots division of the evening. The Nick Gallucci trainee bounced back nicely from going off-stride two weekends ago in the Ontario Sired Spring Series Final at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

"Just another little horse that is a great half-miler. He always has a good step, and I had the vibe he wasn't going to do it again," said MacDonald. "He paced great tonight, and I was really happy with him."

MacDonald notched five total wins on the evening, including the $273,500 Charles Juravinski Memorial Cup for four-year-old pacing males, where he repeated his gate-to-wire effort from race one, with Linedrive Hanover leading all the way to score the victory.

"It's awesome to have a great night like this, because in this business there can be a lot of tough nights," said MacDonald. "So, it's just a great night."

Sports Advisor won the other Grassroots leg, race six, under a drive from Doug McNair. The Richard Zeron trainee sat in third position throughout, before making his move heading into the final ¼ mile and pulling away to win by two lengths over fellow Sportswriter son Twin B Raptor.

$3.5 million in sales since PEO's start-up

At the conclusion of the May 23 Preferred Equine Online Mixed Sale, the relatively new platform has already rung up total sales of $3.5 million for its online customers.

Sale co-toppers on May 23 — both at $50,000 — were a pair of racehorses that sold back to back as hip numbers 20 and 21.

Hip 20 was the royally-bred stakes winner by Somebeachsomewhere, Beach Party p,3,1:50.4. The 4-year-old half-brother to Tall Dark Stranger, with his 2022 racing season just underway, was consigned by Carmen Auciello through PEO as agent and was purchased by Lucy Belcher.

Beach Party took his stakes credentials in the Kentucky Commonwealth Series at the Red Mile last fall.

Hip 21, also hammered down at $50,000, was the lightly-raced 3-year-old Ontario-bred pacer Sunny Zip p,3,1:53.2-22, who was sold by PEO as agent for Martin Lachance. Anthony Montini was the successful bidder.

Sunny Zip has won two of three career starts with one second, most recently taking a conditioned pace at Woodbine-Mohawk gate to wire in 1:53.2, with a last quarter of :26.4. The Sunshine Beach gelding was sold as an up-and-coming candidate for the 2022 Ontario Sire Stakes program.

As for breeding stock, the broodmare prospect On The Hour sold for $42,000 to Vieux Carre Farms. The 2-year-old Huntsville filly, from the golden producer Must See, was a $100,000 seller at last fall's Harrisburg Yearling Sale. After an unfortunate injury kept the filly from racing, Ray Schnittker and his partnership decided to offer her at this online sale.

Also on the breeding spectrum, a 2022 breeding to New York's trotting kingpin Chapter Seven was sold to Travkonsulenten for $24,000.

Twenty-four of 25 lots offered were sold at the May 23 sale, for a gross of $424,000.

View complete sale results by clicking here.

"Not every sale is going to have a big six-figure highlight, but every sale has seen brisk trade and horses are bringing prices that consignors are very happy with," said manager David Reid.

"Not only are sellers happy, but buyers are as well. These horses have gone on to continued success after they've been sold. As of today, sale grads have taken 48 wins since they went through a Preferred Equine Online auction," he added.

The company's next online sale will be conducted June 6, with an entry deadline of June 1. For information or to enter horses, visit preferredequineonline.com.

Draws complete for 2022 revivals of Camluck Classic and Forest City Pace

The Raceway at Western Fair in London, Ontario conducted draws for tonight's (May 27) Grand Circuit pacing events: the $150,000 Camluck Classic and the $50,000 Forest City Pace. The Camluck Classic, sponsored by Seelster Farms of Lucan, Ontario, returns after a two-year pandemic-related hiatus. The Forest City Pace for fillies and mares was last contested 10 years ago; Mac Lilley Farms is the new supporting sponsor, to mark the Dutton, ON breeding and training facility's 50th year of operations.

The field for the Forest City Pace was revealed at the draw, with 2020 O'Brien Older Pacing Mare of the Year So Much More (p, 5, 1:49.2s; $935,958 (Cdn)) landing post #6. She's owned by Don Beatson of Granton, ON; Ken Beatson of Palgrave, ON; and Cole England of Exeter, ON. So Much More shares credit for Canada's fastest winning distaff mile of 2022 with Shes Nun Bettor N (p, 6, 1:50.3s; $233,555), owned by Brad Grant of Milton, ON. The New Zealand import took her new lifetime mark at Woodbine Mohawk Park on May 20.

Blue Chip Matchmaker Consolation winner Gias Surreal (p, 5, 1:49.3s; $645,742) brings high speed on a half, direct from Yonkers Raceway. She's owned by James Graham of Hamburg, New York, Edward Peron of Syracuse, New York, and Lee Winters, Medina, New York. North America's co-fastest mare on a half-mile track this year, Matchmaker Series leg winner Karma Seelster (p, 4, 1:49.2s; $822,016) is owned by Karen Hauver of Durham, ON. She sports a seasonal-best 1:51.1h mark that sets up for a thrilling revival of The Raceway's top event for pacing mares.

An eighth "Mystery Horse" to round out the eight-horse Camluck Classic field was announced at the time of Camluck Classic draw: Twin B Tuffenuff (p, 4, 1:49.4f; $598,228 (Can.)) drew post position #2. The 7-year-old stallion is owned by Patrick C. Morris of Charlottetown, PEI. His fastest half-mile track victory was a 1:52.2h Yonkers win in 2019; he captured his third start of the year at The Meadowlands, later winning at Yonkers and now scheduled to make his 2022 Canadian debut at The Raceway, following Saturday's cancellations at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Tonight's star-studded card kicks off at 6:50 pm (Eastern).
