Happy 70th birthday to the Harness Racing Museum and Hall of Fame

The museum, which opened on June 30, 1951, will play host to the 2020 Hall of Fame inductees' ceremony on Sunday evening.

by Bob Heyden

The Harness Racing Museum and Hall Of Fame in Goshen, NY celebrated the 70th anniversary of its opening on Wednesday (June 30), four days before the 2020 class of Hall of Fame inductees will be officially enshrined. The museum was established in 1949, but officially opened to the public on June 30, 1951.

One of the great places to visit, let's take a look at some of the standouts – and standout numbers attached to – the Hall of Fame, the best of all institutions in standardbred racing.

1. When Tim Tetrick is officially inducted on Sunday night (July 4) it will mark 46 years since the last time a driver went in who owned both the single season wins and earnings records. Tetrick set the dash record in 2007 with 1,189 wins and the earnings record in 2008 with $19.5 million. In 1975, when Herve Filion was inducted, he also held both the dash record (637 wins) and earnings record ($3,474,315). Both were set in 1974.

2. Speaking of Filion, he was 35 when he was inducted, making him the youngest ever enshrined to that point. At the time, he was the only member of the 5,000 win club. He won nearly 70 per cent of his lifetime races after being enshrined.

3. John Campbell became the youngest inductee in 1990. Like Filion, Campbell was also 35, but was several months younger than Filion. At the time of his induction, Campbell was past $86 million in his career and wound up with a record setting $299 million plus – meaning he too won over 70 per cent of his career earnings total after his induction.

4. For the first time ever, there's over a century from the first born Hall of Famer to the most recent. Bi Shively (1878) - Tim Tetrick (1981). Tetrick is the only Hall Of Famer born in either the 1970s or 1980s. Eight Hall Of Famers were born in the 19th century.

5. Has there ever been a horse born who had it better than Savoir? He retired after 1978 with earnings of $1,365,140 after a career from 1971-1978. That money total was number one all-time among North America-bred trotters. He even got a single vote in 1978 for older trotters in a division won by Green Speed. Savoir was the 1975 Horse of the Year (HOY) and 1971 Hambletonian runner-up. The secret? All four of his trainers were Hall of Famers —James Arthur, Del Insko, John Chapman and Billy Haughton.

6. From 1968-1972 all 11 Hall of Fame inductees were trainer/drivers. As a matter of fact, the first time an inductee was listed as only a "driver" was Campbell in 1990. Even Buddy Gilmour

7. Stanley Dancer was the only 1960s or 1970s Hall Of Fame inductee to live into the 21st century (1927-2005).

8. The years 1973, 1976, 1978, 1983 and 1998 saw no inductees.

9. Greatest class? Can anyone top 1968 when Billy Haughton, Frank Ervin and Del Miller were inducted?

10. And finally, the best for last. How about a vote for the most decorated, colorful, full lifetime award to Bi Shively who went in in 1967. Can anyone match his record – in any sport – for being battle tested? Born in 1878, 13 years after the Civil War, Shively was a soldier during the 1898 Spanish-American War. He was training horses during WW I and WW II (after dreams of being a jockey had long since been squelched). Shively trained HOY Rodney in 1948 (a 1:58 world record performer), three years after WW II ended and two years before the Korean War began. Shively won the Hambletonian at age 74 with Sharp Note during the Korean War. He retired at the end of the 1950s during the infancy of the Vietnam War and was inducted into the Hall Of Fame in 1967 at the height of the Vietnam War. Shively died at age 91 in February, 1970 with the Vietnam War still several years away from completion.

Bettors' checklist

I had a recent chat with a half dozen bettors who wager two or three times a month and are Saturday afternoon types who stay over for the nighttime card if they are winning. The following is a summary of their likes and dislikes:

1. Bathrooms. What on earth is the excuse for not having workable rest rooms?
2. Readable graphics. Chances are that the casual player is not spending much time reading graphics. They want to hear the changes.
3. The greatest two words in 2021 racing - "No changes"
4. No more 5-6 horse lineup races, please.
5. Air conditioning. Yes, put it on. Now. If someone wants to roast in July they can go sit on the curb.

6. Comfort. Seats that don't feel bony.
7. REAL carryovers. $1,615.43 is NOT a carryover.
8. If anyone gaps from post 1 for the first eighth and allows 4-5 charity seats – fine or suspension. Tough to handicap when the entire race complexion changes due to either an unfit horse or incompetence.
9. Water bottle giveaways, t-shirt tosses have outlived their usefulness.
10. MPH? What? Why is this on the screen? Clutter. Any track that puts up MPH is suffering an instant credibility issue. Really? Have you ever once heard someone talking to someone after a fast race or a fast half and not referred to fractions but instead MPH? Of course not.
11. Show the pools. The less likely a track is to show the pools the less money is bet into it. It's that simple.
12. Magnifying glasses supplied at tracks. Years ago they had binoculars that could be rented at thoroughbred tracks. With the average age 65 and likely climbing, have a couple dozen available. Free, too.
13. Scratches. Absolutely nothing destroys the momentum of a betting card – and most especially for those who did their work well in advance – than scratches. Of course, some are unavoidable. But please, please, please do not think about entering your horse if you might not race or if he/she is unfit or on the fence. Remember, that person sitting there with $250 in his pocket waiting for the first at Monmouth or Santa Anita has options.

Scratches and LATE scratches are a major turnoff.

14. Elimination racing? Boring you say? The top five make it and it's only a seven-horse field? Okay, then write in the conditions that there is 5 per cent or even 10 per cent bonus to that horse who wins the elim and the final. It is not only an enticement to do both – it is a detriment not to try and do so.

15. Carryovers, guarantees – put these in bold type on the TV screens. Many people playing Woodbine are not following the west coast, but they might if they see a big carryover into Sunday. Especially if the bet is an added one, or a new one. A Pick-7 for the Breeders' Cup back when they raced only seven for instance. Loud and clear.

Jeff Gural's passion for harness racing knows no bounds

As Jeff Gural prepares for his official induction into the Hall of Fame on Sunday, he said he would like to be remembered for saving The Meadowlands racetrack and trying to rid the sport of drugs.

by Debbie Little

Jeff Gural's integrity has given harness racing a stronger foundation.

"The people who went to school, went to the trotters at night. The people that cut school went to the flats during the day," said Dave Stolz, who met Gural in junior high school.

Lucky for harness racing, Gural had class, otherwise The Meadowlands wouldn't be here.

As teenagers, Gural and Stolz spent a lot of time at Roosevelt Raceway, and knowing the pain of losing that historic track, Gural didn't want to see it happen again, especially to a venue like The Meadowlands.

"The place was 48 hours from being closed by the governor and I think that had The Meadowlands closed, I doubt if I'd be a breeder or an owner anymore," said Gural. "I really think that I saved the sport. Most of the major guys buying these expensive horses want to win races at The Meadowlands.

"Unfortunately, most of the people are too young to have experienced what I did in the heyday of the sport. It was so much fun. I didn't belong to a country club. I played golf but that wasn't my thing, it was harness racing. I used to go to the track all the time."

With such a deep love of racing in New York, it's no surprise that Gural wanted to be front and center in helping the state get Video Lottery Terminals (VLTs).

When the legislation passed in October 2001, the New York City chapter of the U.S. Harness Writers Association reached out to Bruce Hamilton, executive secretary of the Harness

Dave Landry

Meadowlands owner Jeff Gural has always been a harness racing fan at heart.

Horse Breeders of New York State, to find an Unsung Hero to honor at their upcoming banquet. Hamilton said Gural was that person.

Gural had a lot of political contacts that were a great help in the fight and was extremely enthusiastic and was constantly contacting Hamilton asking what he could do to help.

Gural's dedication to the cause was admirable considering he didn't have skin in the game other than being a fan.

"My wife [Paula] said to me, 'You're working so hard on this and you don't own a racetrack,'" said Gural. "That's what motivated me to buy a racetrack, even though it wasn't hard to push me into buying a racetrack."

Gural bought Vernon Downs in 2005 and the following year opened Tioga Downs, built on the site of an old quarter horse track.

In 2006, on the recommendation of Stolz, Gural hired 28-year-old Jason Settlemoir as his vice-president of racing and simulcasting for Tioga and Vernon Downs. Settlemoir is currently the chief operating officer and general manager of The Meadowlands, as well.

After 15 years together, Settlemoir has nothing but praise for Gural.

"He's one of the most loyal people I've ever met in my life," said Settlemyre. "The loyalty part means a lot to me because that's how I grew up. And all the charity stuff that he does. Those are the important things that really matter in life. Nobody knows everything that he does."

Anthony MacDonald, founder of TheStable.ca, knows firsthand of Gural's generosity and has been the beneficiary of it not once, but twice.

In 2014, when MacDonald was a rookie candidate running for Progressive Conservative representative for Guelph, Ontario, he invited Gural to speak at one of his events.

"I literally called his office every day for three weeks until he finally took my call," said MacDonald. "He said, 'I don't know who you are but I don't think you're going to go away without me taking the phone call, so what do you need?'"

The politicians that MacDonald was working with didn't think that this huge real estate tycoon (chairman of Newmark Grubb Knight Frank) with ties to horse racing would literally fly to Ontario to speak because he was a rookie candidate. So, it meant a great deal to MacDonald when Gural accepted his request.

"It mattered to me that Jeff Gural took an entire day out of his schedule to fly to another country to speak to politicians that he didn't know anything about and wouldn't accept any money for doing it," said MacDonald.

The following year when MacDonald was starting TheStable.ca, he reached out to a number of breeders, one of them being Gural with Allerage Farm, prior to the Harrisburg sale, to explain to them what he was trying to do.

"I think [Gural] was very skeptical about the way in which we were going to do it, but still said 'Listen, I'll tell you what I'll do. If we end up retaining any of these horses, I'll send a horse or two to you,'" said MacDonald. "And it was the damndest thing, he sold every horse. I came to him and said I appreciate the offer. Thanks very much and I think he understood that I was probably a little deflated from it, but at the same time understood that that's the way it goes. And he said, 'You know what, I'll tell the sales office that you're going to be buying a couple of horses. Just buy a couple of mid-level horses and we'll see how it works out.'"

"So, it did literally go from him offering to put a couple of Allerage's horses into The Stable to literally purchasing two horses with his own money to put in TheStable.ca."

According to MacDonald, the first two years TheStable.ca was in business, Gural would email him regularly and very bluntly say he really didn't understand how TheStable.ca was still in business.

"Being in business with people of credibility means a lot," said MacDonald. "It was important to have horses with him. He has three horses in our barn right now that did come from Allerage that he did keep a piece of. Jeff's always been a very polarizing person so people can have mixed feelings about him, but nobody can say he doesn't love horse racing."

As a breeder, owner and proprietor, Gural has accomplished much in this sport, but by far his biggest disappointment is not being able to convince the horsemen to take 5 per cent of the slot revenue and use it for marketing.

"We would have been on TV, because we have a better product than the thoroughbreds because our horses race so often," said Gural. "I think the leaders of the horsemen have made a decision that they don't want to do it. I think if you put it to a vote of the horsemen, they would all vote that we should take 5 per cent and form a major marketing effort. I actually had asked the [U.S. Trotting Association] a couple of years ago to poll the members and I would pay for it. And their response was, 'We're not going to do it because we know what the answer is.'"

"I just feel sorry for any of the young people in the sport. Honestly, I don't see them having a great future. I hope I'm wrong, but you saw what happened at Pompano. Casino companies want to get rid of [racing] and it's going to be harder and harder when our customer base dies off. There are very few young people that we have as customers."

Gural's Hall of Fame induction will take place on Sunday, July 4 having been delayed a year by COVID-19. He feels the timing for his election couldn't have been better since there is finally progress being made in the fight against drugs in harness racing.

"I want to be remembered for getting rid of the drugs in the sport," said Gural. "I'm just an honest person and I just feel that there's no grey area when it comes to integrity. And most people fall into this gray area where they'll use as an excuse that they wanted to be competitive and they felt in order to be competitive they had to use a drug trainer. That's what I used to hear all the time. I just don't see it that way."

When Gural took over The Meadowlands, the first thing he wanted to do was clean up the drugs.

"I just didn't realize how difficult it would be," he said. "I would be talking with people socially and it was obvious to me that they knew what was going on and they don't speak up. It's a cultural thing that people look down on someone who's a snitch. And I think it applies in almost every facet and the mystery is the people that are cheating are taking money from the honest people. So not only are these people not helping you, but they're ignoring the fact that they're taking money out of their pockets by cheating."

At 78, Gural shows no sign of slowing down because he still has things he wants to accomplish.

"I breed horses, I buy yearlings, so, yes, I'd like to win a Hambletonian,” he said. “That would be a thrill. I’ve never won a Breeders Crown race. I’ve won a lot of other stakes, but those two have eluded me. What’s that saying? If you buy yearlings, you’ll never want to die because you’re always dreaming. You spend two years maybe more deciding who to breed the mare to. Eleven months gestation. Eighteen months of raising the horse. Nine or 10 months of training the horse. And now the horse is behind the gate and in two minutes you’re going to know if this horse is any good. And that’s it. So, it’s kind of exciting.”

Gural responds to Bongiorno story

by Jeff Gural / owner Meadowlands, Tioga Downs and Vernon Downs

In response to the story you wrote about Joe Bongiorno (full story here), I want to make it clear that as a result of complaints from several of the drivers before the accident we were planning to bring him in and give him a warning that his driving style had to change as it was considered dangerous by the other drivers. Then the accident occurred and we did bring him in to give him a warning that he would be permanently banned if he continued to drive in a dangerous fashion. We then learned that the judges were holding a hearing after the accident and that Joe was being given a 20 day suspension beginning June 25.

We thought the fair thing to do was to notify Joe that we were planning to suspend him for 20 days and that it might make sense for him not to appeal the suspension so as not to end up possibly being suspended from driving at my race-tracks for 40 days. He opted to appeal, which is his right, and we opted to suspend him for 20 days, which is our right as our number one priority is to insure the safety of all of the drivers and horses.

Hopefully, Joe will learn from this experience but we thought it was important to take immediate action once the other drivers made a complaint and the judges seem to agree.

Needless to say, Howard Taylor has threatened to sue us for trying to keep Joe and the other drivers safe. Hopefully we will not have to spend too much in legal fees defending our decision.

HARNESS RACING UPDATE

Breaking down this weekend's top races

by Brett Sturman

Top races this weekend include a pair of $580,000 races on Friday (July 2) at Yonkers — the Yonkers Trot followed immediately by the Messenger Stakes. Then, Saturday (July 3) at the Meadowlands features five major stakes in two divisions of the Roll With Joe, the Crawford Farms, the Artiscape and the Joie De Vie. Here is how I see the races playing out.

Yonkers — Friday, July 2

RACE 8, YONKERS TROT

AHUNDREDDOLLARBILL rates 4-1 in the program but will likely be the favorite come race time. Now 4-for-4 on the year, he brushed strongly to the lead past the quarter pole after getting away fifth and never faced an anxious moment. There's a bunch of Svanstedt trainees to his inside, though, and he may face a difficult road to the top if McCarthy tries that route early; possible play against. JOHAN PALEMA has developed nicely from 2 to 3, though probably a touch of class relief has helped, too. He was able to capitalize last week in his elimination off a pocket trip to stablemate AMBASSADOR HANOVER and is one of the obvious shorter priced contenders. The latter drew the rail and I'd expect Ake to be aggressive with that advantage. IN RANGE was too far back in his elimination but you'd have to think Tetrick will blast in this position. He was able to show speed to take them all the way in a PASS win his first start back; he was one of the more talented 2-year-olds last year and I like. ON A STREAK hasn't come back super-fast but don't forget he won the Breeders Crown last year at 2. Wakes up on the move inside?

RACE 9, MESSENGER STAKES

This time a week ago I think that most thought this stakes would be a walkover for ABUCKABETT HANOVER. He did win his elimination as expected, but between the mile put up by AMERICAN COURAGE and the ensuing post draw, the Messenger final is up for grabs. American Courage put the field on notice with his near track record mile. It seemed like Kakaley had him well in hand through the finish and while post 6 isn't ideal, at least it's better than his chief rival in post 8; my pick to win. Abuckabett Hanover moved at the five-eighths last week and won going away by a measured length at odds of 1-9, but the post is unfortunate and I don't think he's going to be able to overcome it. CHARLIE MAY was used early in his elimination to secure position and had noticeable pace up the inside when free too late. The morning line of 2-1 seems a tad ambitious but he's a real contender nonetheless. I'LL DRINK TO THAT was stubborn on the lead in his elimination.

Meadowlands — Saturday, July 3

RACE 5, CRAWFORD FARMS OPEN TROT

The great MANCHEGO enters this race as the near unanimous #1 horse in the sport and there's not much else I can add that hasn't already been said since she's returned this year. As good as ever, she steamrolled similar in her last pair. Dunn has to be careful not to be too far back assuming the pace ends up slow in this seven-horse field, but even that may not matter. IT'S ACADEMIC held off Ready For Moni twice in a row and will almost certainly be the one to track down for Gin-gras and Burke. LINDY THE GREAT tracked along in the Maxie Lee and was able to get second to Manchego; may look for a similar trip to round out the exacta. FORBIDDEN TRADE will be well positioned from the rail; would have a shot on his best day. REIGN OF HONOR worked his way back up the ladder quickly in New York.

RACE 6, ARTISCAPE MARES OPEN

LYONS SENTINEL should appreciate being able to get away from Racine Bell who races today (July 1) at Yonkers. A 1:48.2 winner four back, Lyons Sentinel raced gamely from first over her last two starts and was resurgent late in her most recent; seems best. Betsy Ross winner KEEP ROCKIN A had little chance in her last pair at the Meadowlands to close from off the pace; this is a far more reasonable spot. ROCKNIFICENT had dead aim from the pocket two back against Racine Bell and then coasted last week against lesser as the big favorite; speed will be coming again. Both Takter trainees in here JK FIRST LADY and PEAKY SNEAKY are yet to come back to their 3-year-old form; improvement is possible from either. SOHO BURNING LOVE A is likely to show her usual speed but may not be as sharp now as she was in May; at least will offer a price to those who want to take a shot.

RACE 8, ROLL WITH JOE OPEN PACE

THIS IS THE PLAN was second in last week's open as the 2-5 odds-on favorite, and as was pointed out by Gabe Prewitt on social media, he is now just 1-for-16 lifetime at the Meadows. Though not a bad try, that was race still tough to figure when compared against that ridiculous 1:47.3 world record mile two back at Northfield. CAPTAIN BARBOSSA had ample pace when he shook free late in his most recent Graduate mile to finish third in a blanket finish. He established a lifetime mark two races back and I'd rate him as a deserving favorite. ANGERS BAYAMA should have never been 21-1 on the tote board last week and that was some charge down the lane to the tune of a :25.1 final quarter to win rather easily in the end. CHIEF MATE was a big longshot last out but I'd expect him to be put into play early from the outside; almost worked out four back against similar. CENTURY FARROH comes in following two races at Woodbine and is no stranger to these.

RACE 9, JOIE DE VIE MARES OPEN

ATLANTA and RAMONA HILL faced each other in a qualifier two back at Gaitway and that finish was almost as exciting as any actual race. Atlanta got her in the final stride that morning, though both returned to the races impressively in their seasonal debuts. Last week, Atlanta was able to wear down When Dovescry with a :26 final quarter, despite that one setting a :30.3 second panel on the lead. Similarly, two weeks ago Ramona Hill angled off the cones around the final turn and closed to just miss against a well-rated winner in Beads; no disgrace there. HYPNOTIC AM might be an alternative to the top pair. She beat Beads two back in 1:50.3 and last week was trapped in behind It's Academic through the stretch and it looked like she had trot. FELICITYSHAGWELL S is usually in contention against these but is just 1 for 14 over the past two seasons. WHEN DOVESCRY has been generously rated in two of her last three starts; will have to contend now with the second tier starting position. NEXT LEVEL STUFF is always game and will offer a price from post 9.

RACE 10, ROLL WITH JOE OPEN PACE

Despite the outside post it would seem like BACKSTREET SHADOW has a grip over this field. Not only is he the class, but he also enters in some of the sharpest form of his career. He crushed two weeks ago here in the preferred and was flattered when runner-up in that race, Angers Bayama, came back to win last week's open over This Is The Plan. CAPTAIN KIRK didn't seem like he was going to offer much from his third over trip last week even halfway through the stretch, but then somehow was put into high gear and flew. I still don't think he's up to the likes of #9 but he did have success as a 3-year-old against some of the sport's best, including a runner-up finish here in his Pace elimination last year to Tall Dark Stranger. WARRAWEE VITAL seems like a logical choice to attract attention. He rode Captain Barbosa's cover to be second two back in a 1:47.1 mile. STARS ALIGN A is slated to pick up Sears.

Bunnell has never lost as an owner heading into $150,000 Next Generation

The fan, bettor and now owner will send out unbeaten Fear Our Fayth in Saturday's Next Generation event for 2-year-old filly pacers at Eldorado Scioto Downs.

by Jay Wolf

Despite his young age of 26, Lane Bunnell has seen a lot – from dusty construction sites to countless complaints from coaches and parents. The one thing that Bunnell hasn't seen has been a defeat as an owner. He hopes his undefeated streak continues Saturday night (July 3) in the $150,000 Next Generation for 2-year-old filly pacers at Eldorado Scioto Downs.

Bunnell is the co-owner of Fear Our Fayth from the first-crop stallion Fear The Dragon. He co-owns the filly with Benjamin Ackley, Shawn Grooms and Steven Armstrong.

A native of Wellston, OH, Bunnell started in the sport by betting $2 exactas at the Jackson County Fair, then becoming a regular at Scioto Downs.

"I am 100 per cent a fan first and a handicapper at heart," said Bunnell.

Last August, Bunnell was a part of a small group that claimed Big Bad Arcster at Scioto Downs for $7,500. The following week, the Big Bad John gelding came first up and won in a lifetime best 1:52.1, but was claimed back by his previous owner. One race as an owner, one win for Bunnell.

Bunnell is a construction estimator by day and was a part-time basketball official for six years where he met Ben Ackley, whose father, John, was the conditioner for the Grand Circuit star Catch The Fire. The younger Ackley is now the head coach for the Miami Trace High School boys' team, after several years as the Panthers girl's coach.

"We knew each other through basketball, but we started sitting together at Scioto Downs," said Bunnell. "We had a common interest in harness racing. I got to ride along with the Ackleys and Catch The Fire. We went to Lexington (for the Kentucky Sire Stakes), the Ohio Select Sale and then the Lexington sale."

It was at the Ohio Select Sale when Bunnell would get back into horse ownership. He was a part of the group that paid $8,000 for hip #249, the Fear The Dragon—Maggys Art filly by the name of Fear Maggys Odds from the Midland Acres consignment.

"We had a few yearlings picked out, but everything seemed to be going for two to three times more than we could pay," said Bunnell. "She came into the ring and bidding stalled at $7,000, we bid $8,000 and after some awkward, silent seconds, we got ourselves a horse."

"We are just a bunch of nine to five guys – Steve is a realtor; Ben runs an auto detailing shop and Shawn is in human resources. We are run of the mill, average guys," said Bunnell.

The ownership team changed their filly's name from Fear Maggys Odds to Fear Our Fayth.

"We weren't a big fan of her previous name," said Bunnell. "We've got a lot of faith in her, if you want to look at it that way."

Fear Our Fayth would make her uncharted debut at the May 23 Matinee at Washington Court House, winning in 2:08.2.

They sent the filly to Scioto Downs on June 14 for her first qualifying effort. Patiently driven by Tyler Smith, Fear Our Fayth used a :27.4 last quarter to finish second by 1 ¾ lengths in 1:55.2.

In her second qualifying effort a week later, she was third by 2 ¼ lengths and was individually timed in 1:56.1, last quarter in :28.

"The second qualifier was more about getting a good foundation under her while still protecting her. We wanted her passing horses and finishing well," said Bunnell.

The Next Generation are a quartet of $150,000 races for 2-year-old Ohio-bred, colt and filly pacers and trotters.

The concept of the Next Generation is similar to the Mohawk Million and requires nominators to pay $10,000 on March 15 to claim a spot in the nine-horse field for any of the four events – two trotting races on Friday (July 2) and the pacing events on Saturday (July 3).

"We floated the idea (of buying a spot) back then, but being small time guys with just one horse, $10,000 back in March was a lot to ask for," said Bunnell. "A lot of things can go wrong between March and July.

"She's been good since the word 'go.' She's done everything we have ask of her. The first of June we were wishing we had a spot. We saw one come available and we were able to purchase that one.

"She's done everything right so far, so we thought we should give her a chance to be as good as she can be."

Charlie May (colt pace) and Winella Hanover (filly pace) won the inaugural Next Generation races. This is the first year for the trotting side.

The 13-race Friday card and the 14-race Saturday card both start with a 6:15 p.m. post time.

GRASSROOTS PERSPECTIVE

with CHRIS LOMON

Third generation horseman Ryan Guy on path to career year

by Chris Lomon

Ryan Guy knew he wouldn't receive a reply, but that didn't matter at all.

As they crossed the wire a whopping 11 ¾-lengths ahead of their nearest rival, the driver from South Mountain, ON, thanked the veteran pacer, the one who delivered him his first win in what was his first pari-mutuel start in the race bike.

Four years and over 130 wins later, the modest reinsman is thankful for the efforts of the brown gelding on that night, an evening that brought out his own personal cheering section to take in the action.

"I can still remember it, very much so," said Guy. "It was a horse called Dali On Up. I was very happy to get a nice horse like that to drive for my first race. It was really special, I had my whole family there, and it was something I had always dreamed about. It was a great start to my career. I couldn't ask for anything more."

And, as Guy noted, it was as easy as it looked on the chart line.

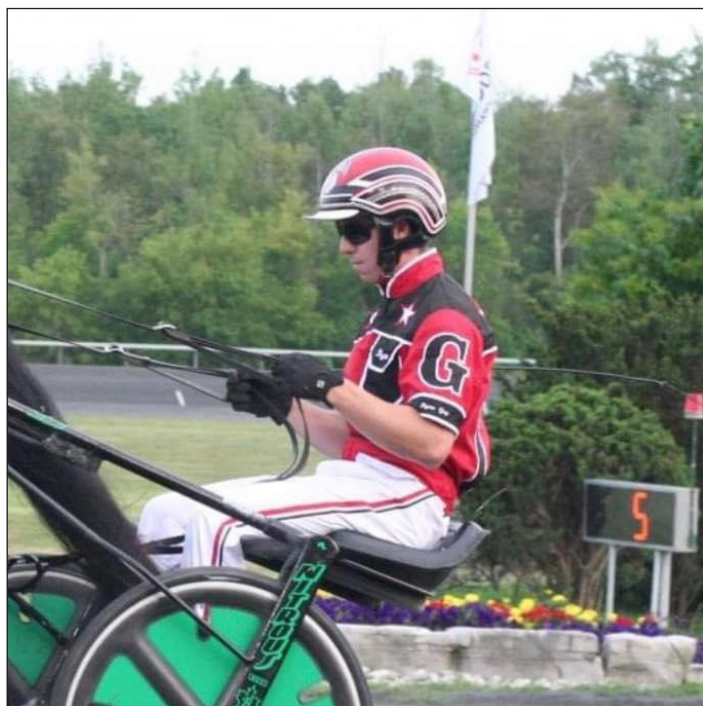

"The horse pretty much did the work. I went to the front, cut the mile, and didn't look back. He was just awesome. I made sure I gave him a big pat and thanked him for what he did."

Although plenty has changed for Guy since that debut, his gratitude for standardbreds, trainers, owners and his support group, remains unchanged.

As does his winning attitude.

In the midst of a breakout year, Guy is very much the same person who won that first race.

In his rookie season, he recorded 25 wins and 102 top-three finishes from 341 starts. After 30 and 35 wins in 2018 and 2019, respectively, Guy posted 22 victories in a pandemic-shortened 2020.

Courtesy Ryan Guy

Young driver Ryan Guy at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

This year, he's well on his way to establishing career-best marks in every category.

Not that you'd ever know it.

"It's about taking one race at a time. Things can change very quickly. You can have your good years, bad years, good nights, bad nights – you just have to find a way to turn the page and stay confident. Whether you win or lose, you always want to make the next drive your best one."

On June 17, he did that, times four.

Guy won four straight races, capping it off with Reys N A Rocket, who won her fourth consecutive dash and paid $10.60 for the victory.

"Normally on a race night, I try to maintain a steady focus on that upcoming night of driving. I like to come into the evenings with a clear and positive mindset to be able to give that horse, trainers and owners, my 100 percent."

Studying, before and after races, is also a must, offered Guy.

"I read the program, how the horses like to race, what class they're racing in, post position – it's about forming a good idea, a game plan, so I know what to expect from the horse. That said, anything can change from the time you're on your way to that first turn. For as much as you prepare, you also have to be able to make quick decisions."

Winding down after he arrives back home isn't always a simple task.

On occasion, Guy will go over his drives for the evening and then take notes.

"The blood is definitely still pumping after you head home."

It's tough some nights to go to sleep quickly because you still have that adrenaline flowing. There are times when I'm back home where I'll watch replays of that night. Whether it's good or bad, you can learn something."

For now, his biggest highlight in the sulky was his first win on the Woodbine Entertainment circuit, which came in 2018.

He's hoping to add more Mohawk Park victories to his stat sheet sooner rather than later.

"My main focus is to keep driving live horses and hopefully, people keep listing me on them. I want to stay healthy, and stay safe. We'll see how things go this year and hopefully in the next little bit, I can make my way to Toronto, bring some horses of my own and try to make a go of it there."

There's no doubt those he's closest to will support him whenever he happens to race.

Guy is happy to carry on the family ties to the sport.

"My dad [Ron Guy], he's been in it for years, and so is my grandfather [George]. My aunt, Sharon Christie, really got me kick-started with the horses. She had a small stable and I've been going to the barn since I was old enough to walk, taking off bandages, things like that. I owned my first horse when I was nine and jogged my first horse a year before that.

"A lot of people helped me out. They taught me how to rate a mile, read a watch, how to sit in the bike – all of that stuff. Through the years, it progressed. I drove in some fairs and some great learning experience. Then it was on to the amateurs. I would warm up all kinds of horses at Rideau Carleton and when the time came where I was old enough to get my [harness] driving license and I had friends and family to stand behind me and help me out. I'm very fortunate. I wouldn't change anything. Being a third-generation horseman, I'm proud to carry on that tradition."

Even if he has a different racetrack look than his father did.

Father and son both see red, so to speak, whenever Guy takes the reins of a pacer or trotter.

"I've always been a fan of red, so that was going to play a big part in my driving colors. My aunt, she was red, and so was my grandfather. The funny story is that my dad is blue. I get a lot of backlash on that because he's a Toronto Maple Leafs' fan and I've always been an Ottawa Senators fan. It's red, black and white, and I'm happy with that."

And thankful for everything and everyone – human and horse – who helped him get to where he is these days.

It's evident in the way Guy conducts himself on and off the racetrack.

"It's important to be polite, to be respectful and be kind to everybody. That goes for wherever I find myself. I feel very grateful to be where I am and I hope it shows."

Rocky road to relevance

How smaller Canadian tracks are jockeying to become standout summer racetracks as they embrace simulcasting out their races.

by Melissa Keith

Small town summer harness racing is like ice cream: A seasonal treat that's as perishable as it is refreshing. Last weekend's Horseplayer Interactive (HPI) wagering menu was stocked with more of these Canadian tracks than ever, tempting bettors to try new "flavors" or return to familiar favourites. The options on the afternoon of Saturday, June 26 included Ontario's Hanover Raceway, Kawartha Downs and Hiawatha Horse Park; Northside Downs and Exhibition Park Raceway in the Maritimes; and Miami Fair, Manitoba. On Sunday, June 27, Clinton, Dresden, Truro, and Inverness Raceways shared the afternoon.

You could say Clinton Raceway was the chocolate ice cream on that menu, handling $67,714 for a 12-race card featuring Kin Pace eliminations. It outperformed the previous Sunday's 11-race card, which saw $48,121 move through the virtual windows. This makes Hanover Raceway the vanilla of the weekend small-track options: Handle for 11 Saturday races reached $41,472.

The two most popular flavors had the advantage of familiarity. Clinton joined the only legal Canadian ADW's offerings in 2014; Hanover was an early adopter, first streaming races via HPI in May, 2009. Other weekend tracks joined the platform more recently, like Inverness Raceway, new this year, or have lately become available to a wider swath of HPI customers (Hiawatha, Kawartha). Can they transcend regional-speciality status? COVID-19 restrictions keeping casual horseplayers away have forced the question.

Key players at these venues know it's a rocky road, to invoke that ice cream comparison one more time. Trey Colbeck calls races at Miami Fair, which struggled last Saturday.

"First, the camera was missing. Then there was a temporary fix, where we were able to livestream off a phone," he said. "Then the camera showed up. It was in transit from Winnipeg." Post time for the first race was 3 pm (Central).

"We have to go on the weekends because all the drivers have 9-to-5 jobs during the week."

Colbeck said post time was adjusted to tap into the existing afternoon harness market on HPI, because in theory, "all of these small tracks should help each other out." How they affect each other remains unclear: 2020 was Miami's HPI debut.

On-track handle sustains fair tracks, but the pandemic upended that business model. Colbeck said attendance rule changes hit hard on June 26.

"We couldn't get a definitive answer from Manitoba Health, but the way we read it was we could have up to, I think, 25 people. Then during the race day, we get a call saying it was an illegal gathering, so everyone that wasn't supposed to be there had to leave," Colbeck said.

The Manitoba track will stick with late Saturday afternoon post times.

"I think for our time being, it's okay," said Colbeck. "I'm assuming that the plan would be to maybe look at different days next year, obviously when the Winnipeg track comes into play." (Red River Exhibition Association plans to open a new harness track there in spring 2022.)

Why play Miami?

"Everything is hopefully good to go" for the 10-race card at the Manitoba fair July 3 said the announcer, including the $12,670 Lady Crocus Stake for 3-year-old filly pacers. Last year's Manitoba filly champion, Follow Your Nose (p,4,1:53.4f; $55,029) has since won at Pompano and Pocono. A Pick 4 has been added. With local fans still barred this Saturday, horseplayers may want to invest a few dollars online as a show of support. There were also some surprisingly generous prices considering the small fields last weekend.

Grassroots venues such as Miami contribute to the larger industry, he added.

"When people ask, I say we're almost like a breeding program. They do well here and then they go out and do whatever," like Marvtherat (p,9,1:54.1m; $48,854), who took his lifetime mark at Cal-Expo this year and has returned to his home province (in race 2, July 3). "Everything starts from the ground up, so if there weren't these small tracks doing this for the last 60, 70, 80 or more years, if we didn't have all these horses coming out, the breeding, and the guys and girls who do this as their passion, maybe there wouldn't be a Mohawk. If we didn't have junior hockey, we would never have the NHL."

Collaboration is key to success, said Colbeck.

"I understand that we all go up against each other, but I think there's a way, like Australia does, where there's multiple tracks but they never run over each other."

He cited multi-leg wagers across tracks, regions and even breeds as potentially attractive to bettors.

"I don't know all the gambling laws and if that would work interprovincially, but if a track in the Maritimes and Manitoba said, 'Hey, we're not going to run over each other' and then we do a crossover Pick 6, three races here, three races there," both tracks could see gains from new bettors.

Tony Elliott knows about these tracks needing to re-examine their place at the intersection of heritage and innovation. He's assistant general manager at Clinton and Hanover

Ryan Clements

Clinton Raceway handled $67,714 for Sunday's (June 27) 12-race card.

Raceways. "Historically, there's been a lot of fan attendance," he told HRU. "It used to be there was afternoon racing all the time, so I think it has more of the historical feel of how it used to be before it moved to evenings and nights. The small tracks seem to be able to capture that feel. As far as being family-friendly, it's key to have it in the afternoon, in case [customers] have young kids and aren't able to stay as long into the evening."

Elliott said afternoon post times "help in Ontario because the schedule is not as busy. We're not lining up with Mohawk and Georgian, some of the bigger tracks." Hanover migrated from evenings to afternoons in 2020, which "had a really positive effect on wagering." It currently has a 3 pm (Eastern) Saturday post time. Clinton's Sunday 1:30 pm (Eastern) post time hasn't been an issue, either.

"Clinton has proved that for the past few years, probably even capitalizing on having a less-busy summer last year and reaching out into the U.S. a little more. This year, it has certainly come back to more of a realistic level, but I still think some great exposure was gained from the US market and in Canada too."

He agreed with Colbeck's view that small tracks have a bigger mission: "Our goal is obviously generating revenue like anybody else, but our purpose is to grow the fan base. At the grassroots tracks, that's what our prime focus is."

Ontario Racing has structured three tiers of harness racing (Grassroots, Signature, and Woodbine Mohawk Park), which Elliott said promotes growth at all levels. "Last year, every small track took a big step up in terms of marketing and simulcasting, how to get your product out there, things like that," he said, citing the impact of the pandemic, which temporarily shuttered competitors. "I think long term, we're going to be in a lot better spot because of that. We have a focus on the online dollars and views, and now we're getting back to our bread and butter of fans on track, so we're in a lot better spot than we were two years ago."

Clinton and Hanover are carefully welcoming back fans and bettors.

"Even with limited capacity, we're going to be able to have a few hundred. Hanover's 317; Clinton is 500, so we're getting a fairly-decent sized crowd," Elliott said. "This week will be the tell-tale sign of how much [on-track handle] was actually converted [to online wagering] and how much wasn't: We did $67,000 on Sunday. If we do another $5,000 to $10,000 on track, which would be incredible, we'll know for sure how much wasn't converted. We'd know for sure there was a lot of money out there, waiting to come back to the track."

The measure of success remains long-term for these venues, and isn't easily reduced to a dollar amount.

"At the end of the day, we need to have fans at the track. That's our purpose: To grow the fan base and get people out, to get them to fall in love with the sport, not necessarily to wager on it," said the assistant GM. "We probably will never bet $200,000 a card, but if we can get 2,000 people out to the track every week, that's our greatest cause right there."

Weekend afternoons are therefore essential, with a less-obvious bonus for the tracks when fans bet with tellers or machines in the grandstand. "If our sole purpose is just to generate wagering, there are better spots during the week," said Elliott. "There's certainly been discussions about that, at the tracks I've worked at: If there's a better spot, without fans, it's worth looking at. For some tracks that aren't doing that well, it's certainly an option. But given the value of the on-track dollar, I think it's better to have races on the weekend. Even though the simulcast schedule is a lot busier, if you can handle $10,000 on track, that's equal to doing $100,000 off track: 20 per cent of $10,000 is two grand, so you would have to do $100,000 off track to generate as much as $10,000 on track."

Leamington Raceway joined HPI two years ago.

"I use Leamington as the perfect example," Elliott said. "They bet more than anyone else on track, so they were not happy with how some of their dates went last year. When they come back, they have the biggest betting fan base in the entire province. Even though some tracks aren't looking so good now, in terms of revenue generating, they are very, very valuable once we get full crowds back. I use that argument with people who say, 'Why do we need small tracks?'"

The $50,000 Kin Pace final for Ontario-sired 3-year-old pacing fillies will draw wider attention to Clinton July 4. "I think people are waiting for the stakes season and we're kind of kicking it off," said Elliott.

Even with Woodbine Mohawk Park drivers and stakes fillies, scheduling is "huge" when it comes to small-track visibility on busy weekend afternoons, according to Elliott. He works with Clinton GM and race secretary/Hanover race secretary Ian Fleming to ensure as little overlap as possible.

"We set post times for Hanover and Clinton; we try to avoid Woodbine thoroughbreds and the big players in the U.S. It's pretty obvious that when you don't, it hurts. If we run on top of Woodbine thoroughbred, our handle is definitely affected."

Elliott said he learned from the former manager of racing at The Raceway at Western Fair, Canada's overall most successful track after Mohawk.

"Greg Gangle would describe it as like a big game of chess: When you're a small player, they aren't looking down to see what you're doing. They don't care."

Avoiding rival signals just makes sense:

"Try to miss your top four or five tracks all day and you'll do well, especially in the afternoons," Elliott said.

Besides strategic timing, Elliott said small tracks can benefit from increased awareness of how they're seen on the wider ADW stage.

"That's something I learned from Greg Gangle as well: Everything plays into your product. What is your wagering menu? What is your racing product like? How are you distributing your signal?"

Elliott expects revenue, not just handle, to improve as re-openings expand this summer.

"It's hard to market to get people to wager online. It's easy to market to get people to come to the track."

Trey Colbeck

Miami Fair in Manitoba struggled to find a betting audience for its simulcast signal last Saturday (June 26).

Johan Palema.

Improved Johan Palema leads Svanstedt's Yonkers Trot trio

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Only one of the eight finalists in Friday's (July 2) $500,000 MGM Yonkers Trot was winless last season, but that horse – Johan Palema – experienced a transformation during the winter. When he returned to training for Ake Svanstedt, the 3-year-old male trotter was no longer difficult to control, but much better to drive.

Johan Palema, with Yannick Gingras in the sulky, won one of last week's two Yonkers Trot eliminations, beating stablemate Ambassador Hanover by a head in 1:54.1 at Yonkers Raceway. The colt is a nose from being undefeated in three starts this season.

"Last year, he was pulling all the time," Svanstedt said. "When the gate opened, you couldn't do anything else than leave fast with him. Now, he's nice. We have trained him behind horses and raced him from behind. We couldn't do that before because he was pulling so hard, he was so grabby. He's a totally different horse this year."

Johan Palema, who sold for $40,000 under the name Slob Kabob at the 2019 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale, is owned by co-breeder Bender Sweden Inc. He is by Bar Hopping out of Sobti Hanover, who is a half-sister to near-millionaire Spellbound Hanover, the dam of 2016 Trotting Triple Crown winner Marion Marauder. The Yonkers Trot is the first leg in this year's Trotting Triple Crown.

Despite not winning a race last year, Johan Palema earned $86,651 thanks to picking up a check in all six of his starts. His most lucrative payday came when he finished third in the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes championship.

The colt is one of three Svanstedt finalists in the Yonkers Trot, with Ambassador Hanover and Mon Amour, and will leave from post three with Gingras.

"I think he is the fastest one of the three horses," Svanstedt said. "He can leave very fast. Maybe he can go in the front (Friday), but it's up to Yannick, whatever he wants to do. He drove him for the first time last week and I told him he can be very grabby if you leave with him. But Yannick said he had no problem with him and that he was nice to drive."

Ambassador Hanover, who will have Svanstedt driving, will start Friday from post one. The Chapter Seven—Angel Eyes Hanover colt has won five of 10 career races and earned $221,519 for owners Ake Svanstedt Inc., Order By Stable, Howard Taylor, and Judy Taylor.

All five of Ambassador Hanover's lifetime victories have come on the New York Sire Stakes circuit. He finished second to Ahundreddollarbill in the Empire Breeders Classic on June 18 at Vernon Downs. Ahundreddollarbill is unbeaten in four races this season after winning his Yonkers Trot elimination by 1-1/2 lengths over Mon Amour in 1:54.2.

"Ambassador is getting sharper for every race he is doing," Svanstedt said. "I'm satisfied with him. He handles the short track good. He can leave fast and should get a good position here."

Mon Amour, trained last year by Per Engblom, has won three of 11 lifetime starts and $77,750. He had never raced on anything other than a one-mile oval before his Yonkers Trot elimination around the half-mile track at The Hilltop. All three of his wins have come on the New Jersey Sire Stakes circuit.

Andy Miller will drive Mon Amour from post four on Friday. The Muscle Hill—Mind Meld colt is owned by Al Libfeld, Marvin and Lynn Katz, and Sam Goldband.

"I was surprised he handled the short track so good," Svanstedt said. "He left fast, and he came home good also."

"We were lucky in the draw. We have good positions with all three of them and now we will see what happens, if they can beat Ahundreddollarbill. It looks like he is the horse to beat."

All three of Svanstedt's Yonkers Trot finalists are also Hambletonian eligible.

In addition to the Yonkers Trot, Yonkers on Friday hosts the first leg of the Pacing Triple Crown, the $500,000 MGM Grand Messenger Stakes for 3-year-old pacers, as well as the $150,000 Park MGM Pace for 3-year-old female pacers and $150,000 New York New York Mile for 3-year-old female trotters.

Racing begins at 7:15 p.m. (EDT) Friday at Yonkers.

Test Of Faith on a roll heading into Park MGM Pace at Yonkers

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

After finishing 2020 with seven consecutive wins, Test Of Faith has picked up this season where she left off. The 3-year-old female pacer is three-for-three and will look to push her victory streak to 11 in Friday's (July 2) $150,000 Park MGM Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

Test Of Faith was one of the event's two elimination winners last week. She captured her division in 1:52.1, the faster of the two splits, and drew post three for the final. David Miller will be in the sulky for trainer Brett Pelling.

The Park MGM Pace, for 3-year-old fillies, is one of four Grand Circuit stakes for 3-year-olds at Yonkers on Friday. The track also hosts the first two legs of the Trotting and Pacing Triple Crowns, the MGM Yonkers Trot and MGM Grand Messenger Stakes, as well as the New York New York Mile for female trotters.

Test Of Faith has won 11 of 12 starts in her career and earned $562,700 for owners Mel Segal, Kentuckiana Racing Stable, and Eddie Gran. The filly finished second in her lone defeat, which came when she made an interference break in a division of the New York Sire Stakes at Tioga Downs.

"She's come back really good," Miller said. "She grew up some from last year, she's a little bigger, but she's pretty much the same horse. She's always been real nice to get along with, and is a real professional at her job. Whatever needs to be done — leaving, ducking, sitting in — she does. That's a plus."

Test Of Faith was last season's fastest 2-year-old pacer thanks to her 1:48.4 win in a division of the International Stallion Stakes at Red Mile. She became only the third 2-year-old pacer in history to win in less than 1:49, joining filly Warrawee Ubeaut and gelding Elver Hanover, who both paced 1:48.3.

Her other Grand Circuit stakes triumphs last year were the Kentuckiana Stallion Management Stakes at Harrah's Hoosier Park and a division of the Bluegrass. She also was the New York Sire Stakes champion, winning the final at Yonkers.

Test Of Faith was not eligible to the Breeders Crown, so she was turned out following the International Stallion in early October.

"She ended up the year in good shape — sound, healthy — and usually that's a good indication (of how a horse might return)," Miller said. "The first time I qualified her back this year she seemed just as good as she was last year."

So far this season, Test Of Faith is the sport's fastest 3-year-old filly pacer, with a time of 1:49.1 in an open for 3-year-old filly pacers at The Meadowlands on June 19. She opened her campaign with a 1:52.1 triumph in a New York Sire Stakes division at Saratoga. The time was one-fifth of a second off the track record for a 3-year-old filly pacer.

In her Park MGM Pace elimination, Test Of Faith started from post six (moving in from post seven following the scratch of Fire Start Hanover) and got away fourth, where she remained until beginning a first-over move coming off the turn following the half-mile point. She took the lead at the top of the stretch and won by three-quarters of a length over Classicist.

"The other night was a bit of a test for her, I had to leave and then come first over with her, but she held strong," Miller said.

"You go to the races with her, and you figure you've got a real good shot."

In Friday's final, Test Of Faith will see seven rivals, including seasonal unbeaten Heart Of Mine, who won her elimination by one length over Darby Hanover in 1:54.2. Heart Of Mine, 6-for-6 this season, will leave from post one with Scott Zeron listed to drive for trainer Linda Toscano.

Heart Of Mine's wins this season include a division of the Reynolds Memorial at Yonkers and two divisions of the New York Sire Stakes.

Last year, Heart Of Mine won one of 11 starts, with the victory coming in a track-record 1:53.2 New York Sire Stakes performance at Saratoga. She finished second on five occasions, including to Test Of Faith in the NYSS championship.

"She's grown up a lot," Toscano told DRF Harness' Jay Bergman. "She was just immature, but I still thought she had a productive season."

Racing begins at 7:15 p.m. (EDT) Friday at Yonkers.

RACE 7 – $150,000 PARK MGM PACE FINAL

- 1-Heart Of Mine (Scott Zeron/Linda Toscano)
 - 2-Marsala Hanover (Scott Zeron/Linda Toscano)
 - 3-Test Of Faith (David Miller/Brett Pelling)

Hamptons Babe (Andy McCarthy) stopped the clock in 1:53.4, the day's best time for 2-year-olds during Monday's (June 28) final round of qualifiers at Gaitway Farm.

Alagna-McCarthy team for four winners at Gaitway

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

The final round of Gaitway Farm's qualifiers for 2-year-olds was held Monday (June 28), and trainer Tony Alagna teamed with driver Andy McCarthy to win four of the nine events for the rookies.

Among Alagna's winners were female trotter Pink Coco Chanel, a three-quarter-sister to millionaire world-record-holder Homicide Hunter, and female pacer Hamptons Babe, a daughter of multiple Dan Patch Award winning mare Anndrovette. Hamptons Babe stopped the clock in 1:53.4, the day's best time for 2-year-olds.

"She's come a long way in the last month," McCarthy said about Hamptons Babe, who won a qualifier at Gaitway on June 21 in 1:56.1. "She was quite good last week, and they made a couple of adjustments for this week and she's a little better gaited and a little stronger finishing. She went a big trip today. I think she's a very nice filly."

Hamptons Babe, by American Ideal, is owned by Crawford Farms Racing and was bred by Crawford Farms.

Crawford Farms also bred and owns Pink Coco Chanel, a daughter of Cantab Hall out of Evening Prayer. Pink Coco Chanel was making her first start in a qualifier and led at every point of call on her way to a 1:57.2 score.

"She's a very, very nice filly," McCarthy said. "She did it quite easily. She can carry speed so easily, she's quite exciting, actually."

Also winning for Alagna was female pacer Boudoir Hanover. A week after finishing second in 1:56.2, Boudoir Hanover (Captaintreacherous—Bedroomconfessions) won in 1:54. She is owned by Riverview Racing, Alagna Racing, Caviart Farms, and the partnership of Daniel Plouffe and Steven Head. She was bred by Riverview Breeding and Visionary Breeders.

"The same deal with her (as Hamptons Babe); she's come such a long way in a month," McCarthy said. "She was okay last week, but still a little green. This week, she had her mind on her job and feels like she's ready to race. She's a very nice filly."

Male trotter Gigondas (Trixtion—Magical Valentine) was the remaining Alagna winner. Making his debut, the colt sat second for most of the mile before taking the lead in the stretch and winning in 1:58.2. He is owned by breeders M T Pockets Stables and Victoria Howard.

"He's got some serious gears, that horse," McCarthy said. "He's definitely got a lot of speed. Once he gets a little smarter, he'll be a very nice colt."

No other trainer had more than one 2-year-old winner.

Tom Fanning sent out female pacer Miss Helen Hanover (Captaintreacherous—Miss Kitty Hanover), who won in 1:56.1, which duplicated her time from last week's second-place finish at Gaitway.

Male pacer McClelland Hanover (Captaintreacherous—Magic Starlight) made his third qualifier a winner, in a time of 1:55.3 for trainer Ron Burke.

Female trotter Quinnpatrickshea (Devious Man—My-momsablizzard) won in 1:59 for trainer Jennifer Bongiorno while male pacer Hunt For Cash (Huntsville—L Dees Val) won in 1:56.3 for trainer Julie Miller in his debut.

Male pacer Bounty Hunter (Huntsville—Stonebridge Sundae) also was victorious in his first time out, posting a 1:56.3 triumph for trainer Robert Cleary.

Pebble Beach (Todd McCarthy) winning his qualifier on Wednesday (June 30) at Magical Acres in 1:54.4.

Pebble Beach leads Daley Stable winners at Magical Acres

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Trainer Noel Daley took advantage of the final week of 2-year-old qualifiers at his stable base of Magical Acres to send out 13 rookies on Wednesday (June 30), with 11 horses in the group making their debuts.

It was one of the returnees, though, that caught the most eyes.

Pebble Beach, a son of Downbytheseaside out of Santa Rosa, won his qualifier in 1:54.4, with a :54.4 second half, for driver Todd McCarthy. A week ago, he won in 1:59.1 at Magical Acres.

The colt was purchased for $85,000 at the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale and is owned by Patricia Stable, Joe Sbrocco, Country Club Acres, and L.A. Express Stable. Pebble Beach's second dam is Hall of Fame broodmare Art's Vintage, who produced millionaires Vintage Master and Great Vintage.

Daley had three more winners, all in their first starts.

Male trotter Stamped By Lindy (Muscle Hill—Born Lindy) won in 1:59.2, the day's fastest trot for the 2-year-olds, for breeder/owner Lindy Farms Of Connecticut.

Female trotters Danznqueen Hanover (Donato Hanover—Dancing For Money), a full sister to O'Brien Award winner Dip Me Hanover, won in 2:00.3 for breeder-owner Hanover Shoe Farms and Palermo Hanover (Father Patrick—Personal Style) won in 2:04.3. Palermo Hanover is owned by Daley, Lenny Zelin, and The Gandolfo Stables. She was purchased for $45,000 at the Standardbred Horse Sale.

New Jersey

"My best one was very good," Daley said, referring to Pebble Beach. "A lot of the others were having first qualifiers, and they all got around, none of them made a break, which is really good. Some were surprisingly good, some were okay."

"If this wasn't the last week here, most of them would have waited a week or two. I just wanted to take advantage of it. But a few of them are still a few weeks away from where they really need to be. But in the whole scheme of things, the real good one was good."

Among Wednesday's other winners were female trotter Pauline Hanover (Father Patrick—Passageway) and female pacer Treacherous Dragon (Captaintreacherous—My Little Dragon).

Pauline Hanover, a half-sister to Grand Circuit stakes winner Don't Let'em, debuted for trainer Carter Pinske while Treacherous Dragon, a three-quarter sister to O'Brien Award winner Stay Hungry, debuted for trainer Brett Pelling. She was purchased for $260,000 at the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Brennan wins 11,000th career race

George Brennan became just the 11th North American driver to reach the milestone of 11,000 career wins thanks to a 1:55 tally with Jose Godinez-trained Dibaba N in Wednesday night's (June 30) fifth race at Yonkers Raceway.

Brennan came into the program with 10,998 trips to the winner's circle, and made his total 10,999 after a 1:56.3 decision with Scott Di Domenico trainee Party Queen in the third dash on the card. Two races later came the big prize, as he tipped Dibaba N two-wide from the pocket on the final turn, and she drew off after passing leader Amanderosa to win by a length and a half.

The 54-year-old driver shared top honors in the standings at Yonkers Raceway in 2019 with Jason Bartlett, and he's also been the top dog across the river at the Meadowlands during his career. He was second to Bartlett at Yonkers in the COVID-19 shortened 2020 Yonkers season, and he's currently runner-up to Jordan Stratton at the Westchester oval this year.

His best year to date overall came in 2011 when he finished second nationally in both wins (753) and earnings ($14,530,682). He has finished in the top 25 in season's wins by a driver ten of the last 11 years, and his charges have banked over $187.8 million, placing him eighth all-time.

Jackpot Hi-5 Mandatory payout Saturday at Woodbine Mohawk Park

Woodbine Entertainment has announced a mandatory payout will be offered on the Standardbred Jackpot Hi-5 this Saturday (July 3) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

The Jackpot Hi-5 carryover currently sits at $156,293 following Tuesday evening's card. The Jackpot Hi-5 wager will continue to be offered on each card leading up to Saturday's mandatory payout. Horseplayers have two more opportunities to hit the entire Jackpot on Thursday and Friday.

The Jackpot Hi-5 requires horseplayers to select the top-five finishers in order. A horseplayer can only win the entire jackpot if they hold the only winning ticket for that evening's wager. If there are multiple winning tickets, half the pool is paid out, while the other half is added to the carryover.

This Saturday's mandatory payout will see the entire carryover, plus new money wagered, paid out to all those that correctly select the top-five finishers in order. The Jackpot Hi-5 has a $0.20 minimum and a 15 per cent takeout.

The Jackpot Hi-5 mandatory payout will take place on this Saturday's final-race (Race 11). An overflow field of 12 pacers will compete in the $24,000 event for Non-Winners of $9,000 last 5 starts or $17,000 last 10 starts. Woodbine Mohawk Park recently moved post position 10 from a trailing spot to back on the gate, which allows for a maximum field size of 12 (10 on the gate, two trailers).

Live racing continues every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at Woodbine Mohawk Park. Post time is 7 p.m.

Hot Mess Express remains undefeated in stakes action at Harrah's Hoosier Park

Hot Mess Express continued her winning ways at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino after she captured the featured event of the evening, the single division of the $95,000 Indiana Sires Stakes for 3-year-old pacing fillies, on Sunday, June 27 with John DeLong in the bike. Stopping the timer in 1:49.3, Hot Mess Express claimed her fourth straight victory and remains undefeated in stakes action this season for trainer Tony Alagna.

Roll On Beauty and Brandon Bates dictated early fractions while Hot Mess Express found a spot along the rail in third. DeLong gave her the green light and Hot Mess Express made her game winning move down the backside, reaching the front just before the three-quarters in 1:22.2. Utilizing a :27.1 final quarter, Hot Mess Express was on cruise control to the wire and finished three lengths in front of Rollonbeauty. As the heavy 1-9 favorite, Hot Mess Express returned $2.20 at the betting windows.

"She's a professional in every sense," DeLong said. "She gets a little stronger every week."

With the win, the daughter of Panther Hanover—Myheartwasttrue recorded the fourth win of the season from four starts and eighth lifetime victory from 13 trips behind the gate. Hot Mess Express pushed her lifetime earnings to $263,815 for owner Samuel Bowie.

Also highlighting the evening's 13-race program were three eliminations for the $75,000 Hoosier Cup for Indiana-sired 3-year-old colt pacers. Joelsy Hanover and Trace Tetrack pulled the slight upset in the first elimination after getting up in the final strides of the mile to score in 1:51.3 over This Kit Rocks and Joey Putnam. My Wish Came True and Michael Oosting also staged a big rally late to finish third and advance to the final. Joelsy Hanover is trained by Melanie Wrenn.

Tetrack scored a victory in the very next elimination with the heavily favored Virgo for trainer Dylan Davis. Virgo found a :26 closing kick to win going away in 1:50. Rockinsomewhere and Michael Oosting finished a game second while Whiskey Wizard and Brandon Bates finished third to also advance to the final.

Rockin On Venus was the fastest elimination winner in the final split after turning in a dominant effort to score in 1:49.3. With Michael Oosting in the bike, Rockin On Venus made his move down the backside and never looked back. JK's Champ and Sam Widger finished second while Saddle Up and John DeLong finished third. The top three finishers from each elimination and the fourth place finisher with the highest seasonal earnings will return for the $75,000 final slated for Sunday (July 4).

Justice lays down the law in New York Sire Stakes

Quincy Market, Justice, and Cool Papa Bell began their respective racing careers by posting upset wins in the trio of New York Sire Stakes events for 2-year-old colt and gelding trotters that took place on Monday evening (June 28) at Yonkers Raceway.

Driven by Corey Callahan in the first $47,966 division, 7-1 shot Quincy Market led through fractions of 30, 1:00.2, and 1:30.2 on his way to a 2 1/2 length win in 2:00. Grand Spa (Scott Zeron) was the runner-up after going first-over from third on the way to three-quarters, and T Rex Blue Chip (Dan Dube) finished in fourth from post seven.

An E L Titan—Dance To Market (Balanced Image) colt, Quincy Market is trained by John Butenschoen for owners Harmony Oaks Racing Stable Inc., James Crawford IV, Berg Bros. Stable, and Yorwollahan Racing Team. Quincy Market, a half-brother to $766,455 earner Il Villaggio, was bred by Steve Stewart and Martti Ala-Seppala and was purchased at the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale for $20,000. He paid $17.60 to win and led a $24.10 exacta and a $226.00 trifecta.

Justice, driven by trainer Ake Svanstedt, moved out of fourth at the :29.4 opening quarter in the second $47,066 flight and took the lead away from Castle House (Yannick Gingras) before the 1:00 half. From there, Justice, who was dispatched at odds of 4-1, went on to three-quarters in 1:29.1 and fended off a first-over bid from favored Distance Learning (Brian Sears) in the last quarter to win by two lengths in 1:57.4. Molotov Cocktail (Zeron) advanced from sixth to third in the final panel.

Svanstedt also co-owns Justice, a Chapter Seven—Religulous (Muscles Yankee) colt, with partners Little E LLC., Torbjorn Swahn Inc., and Myfab Inc. Justice, bred by Diamond Creek Farm, was a $62,000 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale buy and is a half-brother to Apostles Creed ($217,125). Justice returned $10.20 to win and was atop a $12.50 exacta and a $61.00 trifecta.

In the final $47,966 section, Grey Clouds (Dan Daley) carved out fractions of :30.2, 1:01.2, and 1:31.3, with favorite Secret Rule (Joe Bongiorno) moving out first-up from third before three-quarters and 7-1 Cool Papa Bell (Tim Tetrack) coming out into the flow second-over. Secret Rule forged his way past Grey Clouds in the lane, but Cool Papa Bell was moving even better on the far outside, and Cool Papa Bell got up to win by a length in 2:00.4. Secret Rule was next, followed by Barn Bully (Jeff Gregory).

Trained by Jim Campbell, Cool Papa Bell, a Chapter Seven—Blk Thai Optional (Muscle Hill) gelding, is owned by Runthetable Stables. Cool Papa Bell, who is a full brother to Aela Jamieson, the runner-up in last year's New York Sire Stakes final for rookie trotting fillies, was bred by Belmar Racing And Breeding LLC. and was acquired for $100,000 at the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale. Cool Papa Bell paid $16.60 to win, the exacta was worth $20.00, and the trifecta kicked back $108.25.

Before the wagering card, 2-year-old colt and gelding trotters competed in two $15,000 splits of the New York Sire Stakes Excelsior A Series, along with one $6,600 New York Sire Stakes Excelsior B Series event.

Debs Prince Hall, a Conway Hall—Debs Princess T (Sir Taurus) colt driven by trainer Alek Chartrand for breeder/owner Richard Vale, won the first Excelsior A test in 2:01.1 from the pocket, and Unleash The Titan, an E L Titan—Quite Possible (Revenue S) colt driven by Yannick Gingras for trainer Ron Burke and owner/breeder Joseph Di Scala Jr., won the other tilt on the front-end in 2:02.4.

Middleman, steered by Brian Sears for co-owner/trainer D. Benny Eggers and co-owners Joseph Hess and Mary Abbot, won the Excelsior B Series race on the engine in 2:03.2. Middleman, a colt from the first crop of Devious Man and out of the Victory Dream mare Vivica Hall, was bred by Steve Jones and Fair Winds Farm Inc. He was a $24,000 purchase at the Goshen Yearling Sale.

USTA announces Standardbred Incentive Program

The U.S. Trotting Association announced Monday (June 28) the creation of a Standardbred Incentive Program (SIP) for horses registered in North America. The program will recognize horses who are participating in disciplines other than racing and provide awards for leading contestants.

"We are excited to announce the USTA's Standardbred Incentive Program as an expansion of our commitment started in 1996 to support off-track standardbreds," said the USTA's COO TC Lane. "Many people already know how great it is to have a standardbred, but we hope this program will get the word out even more that standardbreds excel at disciplines other than racing."

Participants (riders and drivers) who take a registered standardbred to a show will be able to submit results after logging in to their USTA MyAccount to accumulate points for year-end awards. A formula will determine the amount of points earned based on the horse's placing, the number of entries in the class and whether it is a standardbred-only or open class. The show season will run from Dec. 1 through Nov. 30 annually. There will also be recognition for those that trail ride/drove.

The USTA Information Technology department is developing the programming required for participants to enter their results.

"We are starting the design process to make SIP an online interface for users to self-report the shows they participate in," said the USTA's Director of IT Sherry Antion-Mohr. "This will allow participants to submit results at their own pace, 24/7 and not have to worry about paperwork being lost in the mail. Administrators will then verify show results to make them official."

Additional details will be posted on the USTA website as they become available.

The USTA is seeking founding sponsors for the launch of the Standardbred Incentive Program. Interested parties are encouraged to contact Heather Cason for more information at heather.cason@ustrotting.com or 614.224.2291, ex. 3217.

HARNESS RACING
UPDATE

Horsemen embrace additional standardbred dates

The reaction from standardbred horsemen to Kentucky gaining an additional harness meet has been overwhelming. Now the problem facing racing secretary Kevin Mack is trying to accommodate as many stables as possible for The Red Mile meet that will serve as a prelude to Kentucky's third harness track. The 12-date meet runs Sunday July 4 through July 27, with racing on Sundays, Mondays and Tuesdays over the famed Red Mile's red-clay oval in Lexington. Post time will be 1 p.m. EDT.

"I couldn't be more pleased with the response," Mack said. "We have an overwhelming number of stalls applied for – more than we have stalls. We're delighted with the response for a new meet. Looking forward to seeing all the horsemen and to hit the ground running coming July 4."

Ron Winchell and Marc Falcone, Kentucky Downs' majority owners and managing partners, are building a harness track in Corbin in southeastern Kentucky in partnership with Keeneland Race Course. The Kentucky Horse Racing Commission granted the owners dates at The Red Mile while the Corbin facility is being constructed. A satellite Historical Horse Racing gaming operation also will be built in nearby Williamsburg to create money for purses as well as jobs in the region.

"Marc and Ron believe in this industry and really want to make a big difference," said Ted Nicholson, Kentucky Downs' vice president for racing who will oversee the Corbin at The Red Mile meet. "This is the first step. We thank the racing commission for granting us the dates until Corbin can be up and running and can't say enough about The Red Mile for working with us."

Winchell said that he believes harness racing can mirror the growth that Kentucky thoroughbred racing has experienced since Kentucky Downs introduced Historical Horse Racing into the state in 2011.

"That includes expanding entertainment and job options in the southeastern part of the Commonwealth," Winchell said. "We so believe in this project and its bright future that we didn't want to sit out a year while building the track. By funding a 2021 Corbin meet at The Red Mile, we are showing our commitment to harness racing."

The meet will include two days showcasing Kentucky's county-fair circuit, offering racing for 2- and 3-year-old trotters and pacers. The Mercer County Fair races will be conducted at the meet on July 13. The highest point-earners from the seven-stop fair circuit will face off in the $200,000 series finals on July 20.

The Corbin at Red Mile meet also will include prep races for the Kentucky Sire Stakes Championship and the Commonwealth Series. Both series are for Kentucky-sired horses, as well as the foals of mares who spent at least 180 days in Kentucky in the year of the foal's conception.

The meet's regular races, not counting those funded by the Kentucky Sire Stakes program, is scheduled to average about $45,000 a card while being underwritten by the owners of the Corbin track.

"This is a much-needed boost to harness racing in Kentucky," Mack said. "We were down at one point to having only one track, The Red Mile, after some of the others closed. Then we added Oak Grove last year and now the new Corbin meet. It's giving Kentucky-sired horses better money to go for, and it's going to provide more days of racing in the state, which was desperately needed."

Entries for the July 4 opening card will be taken July 1.
