Questions and observations coming out of Meadowlands Pace Night

by Bob Heyden

HOLLYWOOD'S HITS

with BOB HEYDEN

Twelve questions and observations about a terrific Meadowlands Pace card:

1. Real Cool Sam made a break in his Stanley Dancer division. The 2-year-old champion was debuting at 3 after a trio of qualifiers. Now we can see why there was a 25-year absence of the Peter Haughton winner in the Hambletonian winner's circle. In 2006-07 Donato Hanover the first to do so and the stake began in 1981. Oddly, Real Cool Sam won his first nine in a row at 2, the same number Broadway Hall won in 2002 — also for Jim Campbell and Jules Siegel. The 2-year-old Trotting Colt of the Year never raced again after his rookie year.

2. Post 11-12 and 13 all hit the board on Pace Night. Geez Joe (11) was third in the Haughton consolation. Soul Strong was third from post 12 in the Hambletonian Maturity watching Gimpanzee win it from post 13.

3. Ramona Hill and Sorella are both real candidates to try the boys in the Hambletonian. Both are daughters of Muscle Hill. If either or both go in the Oaks and one wins, it'll be the fifth straight year that Muscle Hill has sired the Oaks winner — 2019 When Dovescry, 2018 Manchego, 2017 Ariana G and 2016 All The Time. No other sire has done it more than two times in a row.

4. Ready Cash, a winner of well over $5 million lifetime, won both Stanley Dancer divisions as a sire. His racing career started in 2007.

5. Gimpanzee and his sire Chapter Seven have very similar career numbers.

Gimpanzee — 27 21-1-2, $2.1 million 1:50.1 lifetime mark at the Meadowlands.

Chapter Seven — 28 20-4-1, $1.95 million 1:50.1 lifetime mark at the Meadowlands.

Can Gimpanzee, 3-for-3 after Pace night with his romp in the Hambletonian Maturity, go on and be Horse of the Year and end the streak of never having a HOY trotter sire a HOY?

6. Bettors Delight winning the Meadowlands Pace in back-to-back years — his first two at age 21 and 22. Plus, he was 1-2 last year with Best In Show edging Bettors Wish. Can Papi Rob Hanover and Tall Dark Stranger continue this budding rivalry, maybe the best one since Real Desire and Bettors Delight in 2000-2001?

7. Nancy Takter had the Meadowlands Pace favorite two straight years. Captain Crunch last year (4th). The last trainer to do this was Brett Pelling in 2004 with Timesareachanging (2nd) and in 2005 with Rocknroll Hanover (1st). Takter and Pelling finished 1-2-3 this year.

8. Shartin N now 2 for 3 on the year in a game effort in the Dorothy Haughton getting edged by a 50-1 shot. The former is the defending HOY. The first horse to successfully defend his or her HOY title was Scott Frost in 1956 and he lost his first two starts before winning 17 in a row. The last pacer to win the HOY title back to back was Cam Fella in 1982-1983-and he started his final season 2-8-before reeling off 28 straight.

9. The startling stat of five-year Meadowlands Pace favorites that became the HOY may have struck yet again.

10. Is 2020 the charm for David Miller in the Hambletonian? In 1999, the driver made his Hambletonian debut. He's still looking for that breakthrough win. The second leading money-winner of all time won his initial Meadowlands Pace in 2018 with Courtly Choice.

11. Can Nancy Takter become the first trainer to win both the Meadowlands Pace and the Hambletonian in the same season?

12. It was nice to see the husband-and-wife team of Billy and Dottie Haughton each with their own Memorial races on the July 18 card.

64 years ago harness racing debuted on cover of Sports Illustrated

Thursday (July 23) marked the 64th anniversary of harness racing's debut on the cover of Sports Illustrated. Adios Harry, the 1:55 world race record holder, was on the cover.

Inside was a story on Belle Acton and Harry with a picture of Dottie Haughton (two months pregnant with Tommy) on the inset. Billy Haughton trained and drove Belle Acton.

The two main horses oddly retired a couple of years later $6 apart in lifetime earnings – $353,069 for Belle Acton and $353,063 for Adios Harry.

What else was going on that year?

Mickey Mantle won the Triple Crown in baseball.

Talented horsemen that flew under the radar, why Lexington is my favorite city and why I never trained thoroughbreds

All this and much more in this edition of harness racing's favorite advice column.

by Ron Gurfein

Tidbits: Even under a dark cloud, our sport is very much alive and well. Fabulous presentation of last Saturday's Meadowlands Pace card by the Meadowlands team and a wondrous night of racing with a $5 million-plus handle. It doesn't get any better.

Even TVG proved they can get it right. Well almost. With most of the big races they were on the money with the coverage, no forced lag. They even gave Mike Bozich a little more airtime to generate some business.

Tall Dark Stranger's race could be my favorite of all time. When in your lifetime in a major event have you seen a horse beaten at the top of the stretch and come back and win? Personally I cannot remember one. It does happen in cheap races once in a while, more often in the thoroughbreds when a horse is over-ridden to gain the lead and falters late.

Yannick Gingras' drive and the colt's effort is truly one for the ages. Let's not take anything away from Papi Rob

A logo for "WireToWireWealth". It features a stylized silhouette of a horse in motion, colored in shades of brown and gold. To the right of the horse, the words "WIRETO WIRE" are in a gold, serif font, and "WEALTH" is in a larger, bold, dark red serif font. Below this, the website "WIRETOWIREWEALTH.COM" is written in a dark red, sans-serif font. At the bottom, a dark red banner contains the text "Wealth Advice, Planning &amp; Management" in a white, italicized serif font.

Hanover. Overcoming the outside post and finishing that close took a supreme effort. I was not happy with social media where all were crowning TDS the Triple Crown winner and Horse of the Year. I am not saying it's impossible, because I love the horse, but I would like to see post positions reversed before I would be dismissing Papi Rob. In fact Allywag Hanover looms a clear and present danger in his own right. In my heart, I am a Yannick believer and if he says TDS is the best I will agree till something changes. It will be a very exciting year.

The closer we get to Hambletonian Day the more exciting the racing becomes. With COVID-19, and no fans in the stands earlier, the division looked very weak at best when racing resumed at the Meadowlands. Last Saturday dawned a new day.

Ready For Moni and Back Of The Neck we're both fabulous in their individual divisions and Maesteramon was sneaky good and with the "White Knight" anything is possible.

I would guess that the top showing of Ready For Moni and the horrid trip Sorella had to go, Ms. Takter will race her in the Oaks. That said, it would not shock me to see Tony Alagna enter the ever-ready Ramona Hill in the big dance. To say she was amazing from the 10 post for the "Down Under Wonder" Andy McCarthy would be an understatement.

What a difference an era makes. The New Jersey Sires program has come full circle once again. When I was a mere lad, you could buy a full field of NJSS colts or filly's for the price of a fancy car. I remember training Eric B's and Regal Picks. I sold a very nice Regal Pick 2-year-old filly to Stanley Dancer, qualified and ready to race for $40,000.

Then came Valley Victory and the ball game changed forever. But nothing like it is today with Muscle Hill returning to the state. There were five divisions of 2-year-old trotters Friday night. Using my own valuation of the homebreds, there was almost $8 million worth of 2-year-olds going to post. Thirty-seven of the 47 starters were by Muscle Hill. Only one of the 15 on the board horses was not a MH.

Green horses often do strange things. Authentic, the Bob Baffert trainee well on the way to the Kentucky Derby, got real lonesome on the front end in the Haskell at Monmouth Park as the 1-9 choice and nearly was beaten.

The reaction of the broadcasters was a poignant dismissal of his chances stretching out to 1 1/4 miles in the Derby.

I you have ever been to the Springfield, IL fair grounds and warmed up a horse it's frightful how much of the fair the horse sees. Continentalvictory won the Review there and was totally preoccupied with the rides during the entire mile. It was a less than stunning performance. John Cashman came to me after the race and said, "I thought she was a better filly than that."

I am not saying that Authentic will be a great champion, but for God's sake, give him a pass till he proves otherwise.

* * *

Wouldn't it be nice if there was some uniformity to harness racing programs? Yearling prices and trainers in previous races are conspicuously missing in many venues. Asking for a friend.....

* * *

Correction: Last week in my column on Austrian Racing I said Florestan was a brother to Florican. My learned friend Mr. Murray Brown pointed out that he was not. He was in fact a son of Stars Pride out of the great French mare Roquepine.

Rob Roberts asks: Tell me who you think were great horseman that sort of flew under the radar.

The answer could have been a novel so I narrowed it down to four that I felt that they were not only gifted horseman but had some effect on my life.

Doug Ackerman was always a big favorite of mine. He had it all. He trained, drove, bred and raised horses. On top of that, he had a great family and a wonderful personality. I was lucky to spend much time with him as he was one of the last of his generation to still be on the Grand Circuit in the '90s. He taught me about looking at yearlings, and introduced me to Mary's a great restaurant in Herrin, IL not far from the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds. I truly miss him. For much of my life I was more of a horse trader than horse trainer. The three remaining men all were a part of my trading years.

Bob Boni, Bob MacIntosh and Gene Riegler are all part horse, as far as I am concerned. Boni helped me from the time he was at Pine Hollow in the early '70s when I was bottom fishing for yearlings up to maybe three years ago when he advised a big owner with a problem high ticket horse to send it to me. I thank him for the assistance for a 50-year span. He is good at it all — knows what a horse should look like, and is a pedigree snob. He has been associated with the crem de la crem of the sport; names such as Finder, Guida and Nihilator are all in his resume.

MacIntosh and Riegler started out as a part of my life that I call "page turners."

When you buy horses for a living, who you buy from is of dire importance. That's why I call them page turners. When you go through the catalogue and you see their name, you turn the page. It was almost like climbing Mt Everest trying to improve a horse coming from their barns.

Both men were so successful because not only were they knowledgeable but both were workaholics.

I learned the importance of a horse carrying his head very low from MacIntosh and how to look at a pacing yearling from Riegler.

They were so good that Gene had one of the greatest 2- and 3-year-olds to ever look through a bridle in Artsplace and when Bob got him from Brittany Farm as a 4-year-old the horse just kept on rolling.

Phil Whitcroft asks: What do you think of Maverick now?

The question is phrased as if I was high on him and less so now. To be honest I was never high or low on the colt. I would love to see him do well.

That said, I liked him more this week making a break than before. To me it's the first time he showed some life. I don't know what Tony Alagna did, but the colt's attitude was entirely different than his earlier appearances. Maybe a bit too anxious, but he had plenty of trot the entire mile, and actually finished better than he had before.

I have seen a few young trainers make their colts go from too laid back to too hot this week. Now would be the time to adjust to a happy medium.

Bill Bigler asks: Why have you not tried training thoroughbreds? It's obvious you love the sport and you certainly have the knowledge and social skills to adapt.

Show Me The Money... that's what it comes down to. When I had my best years I had maybe $1 million to spend on yearlings. The big thoroughbred barns spend $30 million and lord knows what the value of some of the homebreds are.

Barry Abrams, Jerry Procino, Tony Quarterolo and Don Swick are the only crossovers I can think of in six decades of training. None of the above has won the Kentucky Derby. The transition is very difficult and it is all about money.

Pedigree is another major stepping stone. Sixty years training standardbreds and I am far from even a good pedigree expert. There is so much to learn about thoroughbred pedigrees, ours are simple in comparison. We have few stallions and all races are on dirt for a distance of one mile. They have horses bred to sprint, race distance race on turf or on dirt it takes a lifetime to be good at the mass of information you need to absorb.

Thanks for your testament to my abilities but at 50 it could have been a question, at 80 not so likely.

Beth Cone asks: Of all the places you have traveled you seem to find Lexington to be a special place, why not Paris, New York, Venice?

I love all three of those places. Actually they are my three favorite big cities in the world, but to me, for the long haul, there is something magical about Lexington. I was bitten by the bug in the '60s and feel the same way today. Whether driving or flying that first sight of the tiny skyline with the Hyatt, the Hilton and a few bank buildings I just smile.

With the exception of the wonderful years I spent on Paris Pike where I could watch the Thoroughbreds train while having coffee in the morning, I spent most of my years downtown. Most of my time was spent living in a condo I rented on the top of what was then the Raddison now the Hilton. The bar scene in Lexington is like cheers everywhere. There is very little industry so 90 per cent of the customers are lawyers, doctors or horsemen. It makes for interesting and oft-times volatile conversation.

A major factor in my love of the town is that my best friend Art Zubrod and his wonderful wife Leah live in Versailles – one town over.

I would stay in town from the day after Junior League left the Red Mile, around the middle of July till after the last day of the race meet, maybe the middle of October, because I rarely went back East, but shipped from the Red Mile to the Breeders Crown. That's three months a year in paradise.

Art and I loved A La Lucie, a popular eatery on Limestone. Many nights we would sit and drink with Lucy till closing. Lucy closed the place down so we could have an Art's 50th birthday party there. It was an unforgettable night.

It is not necessary to talk about the fabulous racing at the Red Mile I am sure that most horsemen have some of their fondest memories racing on the red clay.

There is no place on earth with a more beautiful countryside. There are gorgeous farms everywhere. You can literally drive for hours around the area and remain awestruck at the barns, the land and the fencing.

To those of you who have never seen the town, some sound advice: Be sure to have a good GPS or you could actually get lost quite easily for a very long time.

Unfortunately with the exception of the Holly Hill Inn about 20 minutes from Downtown there hasn't been what I would call a great restaurant in 50 years. The last one I recall was the Peppercorn Duck Club that was in the Hyatt Hotel, but closed in the early '70s.

Nowhere have I ever lived where there were parties like they serve up in Lexington.

Parties that were over the top start in our sport with Kentuckiana Farms' pre-sale parties that featured performers Such as Ronnie Milsap and The Oakridge Boys. I saw The Three Irish Tenors at Darley Stud and had the finest Bourbon you can find at the annual party at Botherum House, a home built around 1850 and beautifully refinished by Jon Carloftis and Dale Fisher. Carloftis has created some of the finest corporate and private gardens around the world, including the Google Garden.

If you haven't been to Lexington, it's time you planned a trip. For you horseman that have yet to race at the Red Mile I will tell you every year I landed in Lexington the first time I took a horse on the track and felt the fresh air and couldn't hear my horses feet hitting the ground, and looked at the grandstand and the round barn I thought I was in heaven.

Thanks to all my readers for the wonderful emails. Please keep the questions coming in. I will cover the Hambletonian more thoroughly in next week's column. Have a wonderful week.

Fresh off runner-up finish in Meadowlands Pace, Papi Rob Hanover headlines Adios

by Brett Sturman

I frequently hear that one of the best ever Meadowlands Pace performances from a horse that didn't win belongs to Always B Miki from the 2014 edition. For my money, Papi Rob Hanover's runner-up try from this past Saturday may have been even better.

Take absolutely nothing away from Pace winner Tall Dark Stranger, who was equally game, and his battling back in the stretch after being beaten is something that will be talked about for ages. But Papi Rob Hanover was parked wide from post 9 around the first turn and then was two-wide past the quarter. He was able to tuck ever so briefly in between calls before Miller's hand was quickly forced and he had to come first over into the fast fractions.

It almost seemed surreal that despite the trip he went by Tall Dark Stranger at the top of the stretch and even looked to have his measure halfway through the lane. I'm not sure if in the end it was Papi Rob Hanover having little left to give or an uncanny ability that Tall Dark Stranger evidently has to fight back – or the fact that I was live to the Pick-4 a few times with both horses and Papi Rob Hanover was paying five times better – but whatever the case that was a race in which performances from both horses won't soon be forgotten.

For Papi Rob Hanover, there's no rest as he headlines three Adios eliminations on Saturday at The Meadows. It's a race that, unlike the Meadowlands Pace which had limited spectators, there will be no spectators allowed due to the ongoing pandemic. For those interested, there will be patrons allowed indoors into the casino on premises, including the sportsbook, but no fans outdoors for racing; this is one smart virus.

In the second of three eliminations, Papi Rob Hanover will loom an overwhelming favorite while seeking his first win of the season. Captain Barbossa is one of five Alagna entrants in the Adios eliminations, and he ended up shuffled along the inside in the Pace final and had some late pace to offer once in the clear; wasn't bad either in his Pace elimination. No Lou Zing has shot right up the ladder in recent starts, going from the N/W 1 condition to an upset PASS score last out with Josert Fonseca driving for trainer Nancy Takter. The Sweet Lou gelding got the trip in that race but that was a decent foe in Captain Groovy that he beat; making the final from the outside post would be an accomplishment. Sea Of Life is another that scored a PASS upset last out. It seems like he wasn't as strong as some of Alagna's others last year, but he's been strong in his starts as a 3-year-old. Tru Lou and Sweet Truth go for Burke (another trainer with five horses entered), but would need to really step up.

In the first Adios elimination, Captain Groovy may have seen his stock fall a bit since that 1:48 score at the Meadowlands three back. I thought he probably should have won two back over the sloppy track at Philly, but last out he didn't have it easy when parked to that fast third quarter in 1:21.4. He's likely the best horse; no excuses accepted in this spot. Another one who has come up short of late is Chief Mate, who lost his last two starts at 40 cents and 70 cents on the dollar, respectively. The outside post against this competitive group isn't any easier. The Greek Freak proved his PASS upset two back was no fluke when he came right back to win another leg in a lifetime best 1:50.2 for Burke. All three inside horses Later Dudes, Roll With Jr and Sandbetweenmytoes sport similar profiles; they're a notch below the top one or two on paper but not without a chance of doing some damage.

In the final elimination, Elver Hanover comes out of a race at Scioto that resulted in a track record performance. Left for second place, seven lengths behind race winner Ocean Rock, the 1:48.4 clocking from that race eclipsed Gallo Blue Chip's 20-year-old Scioto record for 3-year-old pacing geldings. There's no disgrace in that performance and between that and his 1:48.3 mile from last year's Bluegrass, he will likely go off as a slight favorite. His main threat looks to be Capt Midnight, who never really fired in either his Pace elimination for final. He should be better than that and will have every chance to prove himself again in this more comfortable spot. Catch The Fire is another that exits a couple no-chance races in the Meadowlands Pace and he took a pretty good run three back in a race that was won by Allywag Hanover; Wilder likely to leave from the outside and work out a trip.

On Sunday, Plainridge Racecourse will have its moment in the sun as they play host to a few of the sport's very best horses. The rivalry between Atlanta and Manchego heads to Massachusetts as those two super trotting mares have split their first two races against one another this year.

In the $250,000 Spirt of Massachusetts, Atlanta will deserve the slightest of edges. She trotted in a 1:50 mile three back to just miss against Manchego in her first start of the year but avenged that defeat to that same rival next out in the Cutler. Both mares cruised at short odds since that time, setting up Sunday's rubber match. As for their male counterparts in the race, Lindy The Great was closing at the longest of odds two back in the Cutler and is no stranger to the FFA ranks. Eurobond finally put it all together last out at Philly for a solid win but this is a giant step up.

On that same card is the $100,000 Clara Barton, showcasing last year's Horse of the Year, Shartin N. Like a few in here, Shartin N was upset last week in the Dorothy Haughton by a 50-1 import in a thrilling edition of the newly-named race. She now makes her second start following the injured scratch due to a minor foot injury. Will warrant favoritism but I think she can be beat. Kissin In The Sand has come out blazing this year. She tired late in her last couple but given the trip she's more than capable for the Takter barn that can't miss right now. Soho Burning Love A, who actually beat Kissin In The Sand two back; is another that rates a chance from the same barn as Shartin N.

Taylor hopes for 'Groovy' time in Adios

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Howard Taylor's horses are keeping him up at night, but only for the best of reasons. Taylor, a long-time owner who has experienced his share of success over the years, is enjoying a month to remember and hoping the good times continue as the calendar advances.

Among Taylor's July highlights: Trotting mare Atlanta winning the Arthur J. Cutler Memorial over rival Manchego, 3-year-old pacing colt Tall Dark Stranger capturing the Meadowlands Pace after a dramatic stretch duel with rival Papi Rob Hanover, 3-year-old trotting colt Back Of The Neck winning consecutive stakes to stamp himself a prime contender for the Hambletonian, and a sparkling debut from 2-year-old female pacer Somethingbeautiful, who is a half-sister to Taylor's stakes-winner Shnitzledosomethin.

"I can't even believe it, it's like everywhere I look," said Taylor, who this year is third in purses among North American owners. "It's almost an embarrassment of riches; I'm on Cloud Nine.

"I don't want to go to sleep at night because I'm afraid that when I get up it will be a dream."

This weekend, Taylor will watch Captain Groovy compete in the first of three seven-horse eliminations for the Delvin Miller Adios Pace for the Orchids for 3-year-old pacers at The Meadows. The top-three finishers in each elim advance to the $450,000 (est) Aug. 1 final.

Owner Howard Taylor is on fire and now gunning for an Adios victory.

Captain Groovy, trained by Ray Schnittker and driven by Mark MacDonald, will start from post six in his elimination. The race includes The Greek Freak, who brings a three-race win streak to the event, and Meadowlands Pace finalist Roll With JR.

Last year, Captain Groovy started his campaign with four consecutive wins — three in divisions of the Pennsylvania Stallion Series and the other in a division of the Pennsylvania All-Stars. He was winless in his remaining five races, with three coming on the Grand Circuit, but was third in a division of the International Stallion Stakes at Lexington's Red Mile.

Captain Groovy opened this season with consecutive victories in conditioned races, including a 1:48 score over older horses on June 20 at The Meadowlands. That time is tied for second fastest among all 3-year-old pacers this year. He then finished second in a division of the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes at Harrah's Philadelphia and fourth in a PASS split last week at The Meadows.

"Last year, he started out like some sort of a monster," Taylor said. "Ray did the right thing, he put him in the Stallion Series to get him some education and not stretch him out expecting he would be real good at the end of the year. Then he sort of flattened out, but when he went to Lexington he raced real well.

"We turned him out sort of fresh, and when we brought him back this year, I couldn't believe how good he was. The second start, he came first up against some good older horses and blew them away. I was in shock. I'm just hoping it's not a repeat of last year. I don't know what to think about that horse. He's made me a liar every day, both ways."

Captain Groovy is a son of Captaintreacherous and first foal out of Lets Groove Tonite. He sold for $90,000 at the 2018 Lexington Selected Sale and in addition to Taylor is owned by Schnittker, Ted Gewertz, and Mary Kinsey Arnold.

Taylor has never owned an Adios winner, with his best finish of second coming in 2010 with Versado. Captain Groovy's driver, MacDonald, won the Adios in 2012 with Bolt The Duer.

"(Captain Groovy) has got the speed to go with anyone," Taylor said. "I'm hoping for the best. When he's on, he's as good as any. I'm hoping this is a good week."

The second elimination of the Adios features Meadowlands Pace runner-up Papi Rob Hanover as well as Pace finalist Captain Barbossa and recent PASS division winners Sea Of Life and No Lou Zing, who has won three consecutive starts since a second-place finish in his seasonal debut.

In the third elim, 2019 Ohio Sire Stakes champion and world-record-holder Elver Hanover will look to rebound from his first loss in 11 career races against a field that includes 2020 New Jersey Sire Stakes champ Rockin The Aces and Meadowlands Pace finalists Capt Midnight and Catch The Fire.

Racing begins at 12:45 p.m. (EDT) Saturday at The Meadows. The $25,000 Adios eliminations are races five, eight and nine.

Papi Rob Hanover has been installed as the heavy 3-2 morning line favorite in his elimination for the Adios. Also tabbed as morning line favorites in Saturday's eliminations are Sandbetweenmytoes (3-1) and Elver Hanover (5-2).

The first three finishers in each elimination return for the final.

The action-packed eliminations card also features a pair of stakes for 3-year-old filly pacers — a $188,682 Pennsylvania Sires Stake and a $100,000 PA Stallion Series event — and a $16,582.20 carryover in the final-race Super Hi-5.

THE O-ZONE

Ontario's Racing Scene

with SANDRA SNYDER

After some lean years, Dr. David Grant is thrilled Horse Trader is showing promise

by Sandra Snyder

It was a trotter that first drew Dr. David Grant to the standardbred game and it is still trotters that engage his interest 35 years after he watched Jayport Worthy Vic earn almost $100,000 on the Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) circuit.

"I've been a veterinarian since 1979 and in the late 1980s I met a fellow by the name of Maurice Danko, Jr. He trained standardbreds. He was a very smart guy," recalled Grant. "He ended up with a trotter, a 2-year-old trotter that was extremely talented, and I watched him race a few times and just the way he trotted, and other trotters as well, it was just an aesthetically pleasing gait to my eye. And for that reason I remember thinking that I would like to be involved with the sport, mainly because of that horse."

Over the next five years the Simcoe, ON resident and his father Ken Grant, a noted breeder and judge of Labrador Retrievers, learned as much as they could about standardbred pedigrees and started to assemble a commercial broodmare band. Between 1990 and 2012 they bred and sold horses with the Oaklea prefix and watched those horses go on to compete on the OSS circuit and join broodmare bands around the world.

Each year, the Grants would retain one or two horses that they would entrust to trainer Paul Walker and among the horses that provided them with the added thrill of success on the racetrack were half-brothers Oaklea Bluejay and Oaklea Julian. Out of the Noble Victory mare Apple Polish, Dream Of Glory son Oaklea Bluejay earned $381,368 and was a Gold Series winner at 2 and 3, while Lindy Lane son Oaklea Julian earned $647,792 and had a brief stallion career after his retirement from racing in 2004.

"We had some very nice colts. Oaklea Bluejay and Oaklea Julian were really good horses, they were really top class horses," said Grant. "We raced one (Bluejay) in the Kentucky Futurity and he finished second to Pine Chip and Oaklea Julian finished fourth in the Breeders Crown."

When his father retired from the business in 2012, Grant decided to downsize. With just a handful of broodmares he no longer sent any yearlings to auction and simply turned them over to Walker for training.

"I've had a few yearlings training for the last six or seven years, but we kind of hit a pretty good drought, like nothing really turned out until Horse Trader came along," said Grant. "Until Trader came along I was beginning to think I wasn't going to get another good horse, but he popped up there and it was a very nice surprise."

Horse Trader, a son of Wheeling N Dealin out of Oaklea Wand, made his debut in the Grassroots program last summer, winning at Georgian Downs in 2:00.1. In 11 more starts he would win one leg and the final of the Define The World Series at Woodbine Mohawk Park and finish third in two Gold Series Legs and a division of the Champlain Stakes. He wrapped up his freshman campaign in the Breeders Crown, where he made an early break that knocked him out of contention.

This season, the colt has tallied two seconds and one third in overnight action, and finished sixth and third in the first two Gold Series Legs, for a career total of $134,607.

"His problem is, he's a little bit too eager, so he uses a lot of his energy before the wings fold on the starting gate. If he could just be a little calmer before the signal is given to go, I think he would be able to trot a little bit further you know, but we're working on that," said the owner/breeder. "We're fortunate to have Trevor (Henry) to drive. He's a good driver and he's the perfect driver for our horse, because he's probably driven every kind of horse there is and he doesn't seem to get upset with a horse when he misbehaves. And he's got enough strength to sort of hang on to him as well when he has to, so he's done very well, we're very grateful to have him for our driver."

Since watching Jayport Worthy Vic compete in the 1985 OSS program, Grant has been all-in on trotters. He has never owned or bred anything other than a diagonally-gaited horse.

"Never bred a pacer and never owned a pacer. Some people say that that's masochistic," said Grant ruefully. "We just stayed with it. Like I say, the last six years before Trader came along was brutal. I gave one or two to Paul every year and they weren't the right kind, and he said, 'Well, one of these days you'll get another one.' If you've owned horses for any length of time, you're pretty used to disappointment and it makes the bright spots all that much better, and patience too, it will teach you patience. Owning trotters will make you patient in every part of your life, it seems. It's a good training technique."

Grant shares the ability to be patient with Walker, which is one of the reasons their partnership has stood the test of time.

"One of the reasons that I think so highly of Paul is that the horse is first, number one, no matter what. The horse is first 100 per cent, there's not a moment that goes by where that's not the case. It wouldn't matter if it was on the eve of the Breeders Crown, if you have to scratch the horse, you scratch the horse," he said. "I just find that in the long run it's obviously better for the horse and actually better for everybody concerned."

Grant's veterinary practice is dedicated to horses and he said he serves as Horse Trader's doctor when needed, which fortunately is not very often given the three and one-half hour commute between Simcoe and Owen Sound.

In 2014, Grant and his wife, Ann, sold their farm and moved down to Lake Erie. The couple rent a property to house the standardbreds, mares Oaklea Wand and her daughter Magically Hip and their offspring, along with Ann's riding horses. Recently, the couple were delighted to welcome a pair of newcomers to Norfolk County who share their enthusiasm for horses in general and standardbreds in particular.

"We acquired new neighbours this year in the form of Joe and Karen Hudon. They're fantastic people. They've got maybe seven standardbred broodmares that I get to look after and they are more into cutting horses now I think, western horses, so they ride a lot," said Grant. "They're very, very knowledgeable about standardbreds. Any time I have a question, the slightest little question about a standardbred – whether something happened in a race, breeding – basically their knowledge is encyclopedic. Karen, especially on the pedigree, is deadly. It's been a pleasure to have them next door."

Grant may have downsized, but his enthusiasm for standardbreds has not diminished. Last season he did not miss one of Horse Trader's races and he is looking forward to the rest of the colt's sophomore season whether he can be there in person or virtually. In October, he will send this year's youngster, Royalty For Life–Chippies Victory gelding Oscar Pine, up to Walker with the optimism amassed over three decades of breeding, owning and racing trotters.

Fondly remembering my first trip to Goshen

by Bill Heller

My first trip to Goshen was unforgettable. Driving into the village of Goshen felt like stepping into the past, a setting stolen from a century ago centered by a magnificent 300-year-old church and steeple. I'd left enough time to hit the Hall of Fame and Harness Racing Museum before an afternoon of high-quality Grand Circuit and New York Sire Stakes racing at Historic Track, the "Cradle of the Trotter," which was once the home of the Hambletonian.

The Hall of Fame was breathtaking. Then 17 years old and quite the harness racing neophyte, having only been to Monticello Raceway near my home in Liberty, I was ready to soak in all the incredible exhibits the museum offered — an actual sulky; an exhibit of a stable; stories and photos of legendary horses and horsemen. There was so much to learn and experience and enjoy. The museum brought the sport's past to life. I could have spent weeks at the Hall of Fame, but live racing at adjacent Historic Track beckoned.

Walking the short distance to the track, I saw the tree where Messenger, the progenitor of harness racing, once stood. An English thoroughbred born in 1780 and exported to the United States, he was the founding father of standardbreds as well as a great sire of thoroughbreds.

An historic sign revealed that U.S. Grant, the Civil War general before becoming the nation's President, had taken in the races at Goshen literally a century earlier. How cool was that?

On the way to the grandstand, you could walk right next to a handful of horses stabled close to the track. My mouth was wide open as I saw the colors of several iconic horsemen I'd learned about at the Museum. I was like a kid in a candy store. There were the colors of Billy Haughton, Stanley Dancer, Del Miller and Ralph Baldwin. You could almost reach over and touch the horses trained by many of the greatest horsemen in the sport.

Back then, there was pari-mutuel racing at Goshen, but Historic Track wasn't about betting and triples and Pick Sixes. An ancient tote board on the infield seemed to struggle to change odds. When the winning horse came back after a race, there was widespread applause from the entire grandstand. Not a boo was heard.

When the track's owner E. Roland Harriman died in 1978,

Dave Landry

The Harness Racing Museum & Hall of Fame holds a special place in the heart of author Bill Heller.

he stipulated in his will that pari-mutuel racing could not continue. Historic Track seemed likely to die with him, but a cadre of horsemen worked diligently to keep it alive, and they did as a track without wagering. Racing continued in Goshen and horsemen kept sending their top horses to compete in stakes, most of them New York Sire Stakes, which had rich purses. There was racing on a few weekends, but the focal point each summer was the July 4th weekend. Each Sunday night featured the annual Hall of Fame inductions before a gala of harness racing's most successful drivers, trainers, owners and breeders.

My son Benjamin, who is 31 now, was seven or eight years old when we began a regimen every July 4th weekend. We'd drive an hour and 45 minutes from our home in Albany to Goshen early that Saturday morning. At the track, we'd hook up with our dear friends, Virginia O'Brien and Ann Fobian, who had a box at Historic Track. Virginia, once the den mother of the press box at Saratoga Harness, had come out of retirement in Florida to take over as president of the Saratoga Harness Hall of Fame. Ann was a retired social studies teacher and department head with a love of harness racing.

Benjamin's love of harness racing was genuine. He volunteered at the United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA) annual awards dinner, and I believe he is the only person in history to have his Bar Mitzvah reception at a harness track (Saratoga Harness), and, thanks to the kindness of announcer Bob "The Bullet" Meyer, call a live race that evening.

At one point, Benjamin was the youngest member of USHWA and Virginia the oldest member. I was smack dab in the middle, 35 years older than Benjamin and 35 years younger than Virginia.

We'd always be joined by our friend Judy Johnson, a speech therapist in northern New Jersey who had attended the Hambletonian every year for decades. She volunteered at the Hall of Fame every summer, and frequently wrote bios in the dinner program on the horses and horsemen being inducted each year.

We'd enjoy the races that Saturday, and on Sunday, after a late morning meeting of the USHWA in the museum, head to the track. Before the races started, Benjamin and I would sit in the empty stands and watch an occasional late morning warm-up of a few horses who were going to race that afternoon. It was serene, simple and refreshing, watching in quiet before the crowd began to shuffle in.

There was no pari-mutuel wagering at Historic Track, but we conducted our own wagering every race: $1 and random selection of numbers. The one constant was the appreciation of each winner the crowd showed. It all just seemed so right at this special place, the way all horse racing should be.

When I became national president of USHWA for two years I had the honor and thrill of addressing the crowd at the Induction Dinner. I kept my message short and spoke from the heart how all the harness writers and broadcasters took the process of voting for the Hall of Fame inductions every year as a privilege, one we all took as a serious responsibility to the sport we all loved.

The most memorable dinner was when Mal Burroughs' Hambletonian winner Malabar Man was inducted and Mal brought his horse to the ceremony for a brief appearance. Malabar Man looked at us quizzingly and didn't say a single word.

Then came, for me, my greatest night in harness racing. Not only was I being inducted into the Communicators' Corner of the Hall of Fame, but so was our dear friend Virginia. Judy Johnson wrote my biography in the program and did a super job. In order that evening, as Virginia had requested, I did her introduction. After she spoke, Benjamin gave his introduction speech for his dad. I'd given him absolutely no input on what he was going to say.

When the time came, I stood next to my son, knowing that whatever he said would be wonderful, and he delivered big time, leaving me in tears, happy tears.

As I made my mercifully-brief speech, I tried to convey my appreciation for the sport and the wonderful people I'd encountered on the way from a star-struck teen-ager to this special moment. At this magical place called Goshen.

Lou's Pearlman extends career unbeaten streak in PASS at The Meadows

Lou's Pearlman charged through the Lightning Lane to score in Wednesday's $217,856 Pennsylvania Sires Stake at The Meadows and extended his career unbeaten streak to three for trainer Ron Burke. The event, known as the Albatross, was contested over four divisions, with Burke and Yannick Gingras teaming to take splits with Fulsome and Southwind Gendry. The Legend Hanover, a 37-1 bomb, captured the other division.

A Sweet Lou homebred out of Lucy's Pearl, Lou's Pearlman won his two previous starts with middle moves. In the Albatross, he left for Matt Kakaley but needed the late racing room the Lightning Lane provided to score in a stake-fastest 1:51.4. Captainofrocknroll was 1/2 length back in second, with Captain Sleaze third. Burke Racing Stable, Weaver Brusceci LLC, Elizabeth Novak and Howard Taylor campaign Lou's Pearlman.

That the Burke Brigade took three of the four Albatross splits is a measure of how quickly the stable's freshman colt pacers have started this year. Burke indicated he began the season with more than 20 horses in this division, and that all have made it to the races.

"We have a nice group," Burke said. "Even some of those that didn't win are nice colts. We have good depth this year. We have a couple of real nice Ohio-breds and Indiana-breds. We've spread it out."

Southwind Gendry rebounded from a break in his career debut, erasing a five-length deficit and triumphing in 1:52, 1-1/4 lengths better than Bayfield Beach. Crunch Hanover completed the ticket.

"That was just a little baby break last week when I was pushing him three deep in the turn," Gingras said. "I had to go three deep again today, but I was a little more careful. He's a really nice colt with good potential."

The Always B Miki—Gamblers Passion gelding races for Burke Racing Stable, Phillip Collura, Knox Services, and J&T Silva-Purnel&Libby.

While most attention was focused on the Albatross, the sub-feature, the Pennsylvania Stallion Series for rookie pacing colts, was not without drama of its own.

In his career debut, Whichwaytothebeach zipped to the point for Andrew McCarthy and prevailed in 1:51.4, knocking a tick from the previous stake mark held jointly by Jack Attack and Captain Groovy. Roland Mallar conditions the Somebeachsomewhere—Swinging Beauty gelding for Alan Johnson and John Craig.

Also exciting was the win from post 9 of Bazooka Hanover, who was dismissed at 59-1. The son of Captaintreacherous—Bittersweet Terror moved several times for David Miller and won in 1:54.1. Blake MacIntosh trains him for Steve Heimbecker.

"The 9 hole? That's not an easy spot, is it?" Miller said. "He went a really good race. He didn't race that well last week, but even with a tough trip, he rebounded today."

Live racing at The Meadows resumes Saturday (July 25) when the action-packed card features three eliminations for the $450,000 (est) Delvin Miller Adios Pace for the Orchids as well as a pair of stakes for 3-year-old filly pacers: a $188,682 PASS and a $100,000 PA Stallion Series event. The program also offers a $16,582.20 carryover in the final-race Super Hi-5. First post is 12:45 p.m.

Freshman trotting fillies featured at Hoosier

Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino played host to the first 2-year-old Indiana Sires Stakes event of the season on Tuesday (July 21) as the freshman trotting fillies opened their season in three divisions.

In the opening division, it was the undefeated filly, Country Girl Charm, who continued her winning ways to deliver as the 1-9 favorite. With trainer, driver and co-owner, LeWayne Miller in the sulky, Country Girl Charm bested her rivals by nearly three lengths in 1:57.1 over a track rated good.

After sitting fourth for the first-half of the mile, Country Girl Charm made her move just after the half and reached the front with authority. Using a :27.4 final panel, Country Girl Charm was able to hold off a late surge from Treasure Gems K and Trace Tetrack. As the heavy betting favorite, Country Girl Charm returned $2.20 to her backers at the betting windows.

"She has trained down great," Miller said. "She's done everything right up to this point and we are really excited about her future."

With the win, the daughter of Whom Shall I Fear—Tymal Tatiana recorded her third straight victory this season. Country Girl Charm has now bankrolled $24,750 for the ownership partnership of Ryan Raber, Darvin Wagler, LeWayne Miller and Susan Garrels. Country Girl Charm was bred by Daniel Frey.

In the second division of the stakes action, Trace Tetrack steered Swift Swanda to a decisive 1:57.2 score in her Harrah's Hoosier Park debut. Uninvolved in the early stages of the race, Tetrack was able to work out a perfect second-over trip and Swift Swanda used a :27.1 closing kick to seal the deal. Bad Shot and Marlin Fry finished second. As the 2-5 favorite, Swift Swanda returned $2.80 at the betting windows. Trained by Erv Miller, Swift Swanda is now two for two in her young career.

Owned in partnership by Anthony Lombardi and The Kales Company, the daughter of Swan For All—Cheetah Hall established a new lifetime best with the victory. Swift Swanda has now earned $18,700 in purse earnings and was bred by Lavon Miller.

The favorite trend continued in the third and final division of the stakes action as Four Under Par and Doug Rideout were victorious in 1:58. Four Under Par took control just before the half and never looked back. The filly cruised home in :28.1 to get the win by nearly three lengths over Real Diamonds K and Trace Tetrack. Sent off as the 7-5 second favorite, Four Under Par returned $4.80 to her backers at the betting windows.

"All winter I thought she was a very nice filly," Rideout said after the win. "Obviously, it took getting her here to really find out what we had but we are very happy with her."

Rideout also trains the filly who scored her second win from three lifetime starts. The daughter of Swan For All—Saucy is owned in partnership by Julie Rideout, Alan White, and Dave Gamble and has now earned $18,250 in purse earnings. Four Under Par was bred Michael Wilt.

Hambletonian and Oaks candidates in last pre-test this weekend at Pocono

The owners and trainers of premium 3-year-old trotters will get one final piece of information this weekend at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono before deciding whether to commit their horses towards Hambletonian weekend.

On Saturday afternoon (July 25), Pocono will play host to four $30,000 divisions of this group's Pennsylvania All-Stars event for fillies, along with a like number of All-Stars events for 2-year-old pacing fillies. And on the Sunday (July 26) twilight card, there will be two $95,367 divisions of the first prelim of the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes for these sophomore colts, along with five $20,000 Stallion Series divisions.

A pair of fillies from the omnipresent barn of Ron Burke will be looking for big performances Saturday to raise them to the main platform. Sans Default, a Muscle Hill miss starting from post four in her All-Stars cut, has been second in a Currier & Ives division and then third in her Sire Stakes action, not looking out of place against quality competition in either, and will be going for driver Joe Bongiorno Saturday. The Father Patrick filly Crucial, who will begin from the rail for driver George Brennan in another division, won her Currier & Ives race and was second behind the streaking Next Level Stuff in Sires action last time, and looks to be in prime form now.

In Saturday's All-Stars events for the baby pacing fillies, the best showdown could come in race nine, where double Sire Stakes winner Let 'Er Buck (Betting Line—Wild West Show) will square off against Continualou, also a winner in the Sire Stakes, and Podium Girl, a double Stallion Series winner.

The two males who will attract the most attention in Sunday's Sire Stakes races for the sophomore trotters both won over $500,000 at two. In race nine, the Muscle Hill colt EL Ideal bankrolled $551,309, including a victory in the season-ending Valley Victory stake at The Meadowlands. This year, EL Ideal had an encouraging third in the Reynolds stake, but then disappointed in his last start a division of the Stanley Dancer at The Meadowlands, by making a break as the favorite. Trainer/driver Åke Svanstedt will be looking to get the fast colt back on course.

The Father Patrick gelding Amigo Volo, who set four world records while winning $610,546 at two, will be the other principal focus of interest on Sunday, starting from post five in race ten for driver Dexter Dunn and trainer Nifty Norman. Amigo Volo won an All-Stars race here on July 11 in 1:54, but last week he set the pace in his Dancer division, then tired to finish fourth, though beaten only three lengths.

Avery Seelster wins $20,000 series final at Plainridge

After being narrowly defeated in the preliminary round, Avery Seelster bounced back with a statement victory in the $20,000 Freedom Trail series final for resident pacing mares at Plainridge Park on Thursday afternoon (July 23) after a deluge of rain delayed the races for almost 30 minutes.

Trainer/driver John Nason got away fourth from the pylons and stood pat until just past the :26.4 quarter where he pulled first-over and marched towards the front-running Go Sandy Go (Nick Graffam).

Avery Seelster hung third in the breeze until midway up the backstretch when the mare switched gears, advanced to the front and opened up a four length advantage. From there, Nason just kept her interested and she cruised home in 1:53 over the off track, equaling her lifetime mark.

Avery Seelster ($7.40) is owned by Katharine Nason.

Freshman pacing fillies debut impressively at Hoosier despite rain

It was a soggy, rainy night at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino on Wednesday (July 22), but the weather would not deter the 2-year-old pacing fillies who were making their Indiana Sires Stakes debut. Two $41,500 divisions highlighted the evening's 14-race card.

Hot Mess Express looked like anything but a hot mess after she turned in an impressive effort to capture the opening division of the stakes action with Sam Widger in the bike. Scoring in 1:53.4 over a track rated sloppy, Hot Mess Express made her Harrah's Hoosier Park debut a winning one and established a new lifetime mark in the process.

Leaving from the trailing post 10, Hot Mess Express settled off the pace in fourth while Odds On Dead Heat and Peter Wrenn dictated first half fractions of :28.2 and :58.2. As the field approached the three-quarters, Widger gave his filly the green light and she marched to the front and quickly grabbed command.

Reaching the three-quarters in 1:26.4, Hot Mess Express found another gear turning for home and simply paced away from her rivals, finishing three lengths in front of Odds On Dead Heat. Sent off as the 4-5 favorite, Hot Mess Express returned $3.60 to her betting backers.

Jamaica Patton conditions and also co-owns the homebred filly with her breeders Nick, Madeline and Ethan Giberson, Hot Mess Express is now two for two in her young career. With the win, the daughter of Panther Hanover—My Heart Was True has earned $23,250 in purse earnings

The fastest divisional winner of the evening was Somethingbeautiful in the second division of the stakes action. With LeWayne Miller in the bike, Somethingbeautiful utilized a decisive gate to wire effort to score in 1:53.

Sent off at odds of 1-9, Miller put his filly on the front and she strolled through fractions of :28.2, :57.4 and 1:26.2. Turning for home, Somethingbeautiful appeared to save her best for last as she kicked home with a snappy :26.3 closing quarter to get the win by five lengths. Baci Baci and Ricky Macomber Jr. found late racing room to get up for second place honors. As the heavy betting favorite, Somethingbeautiful returned $2.40 at the betting windows.

With the win, the daughter of Always A Virgin—Summer N

Sand established a new lifetime best and remains unbeaten in two lifetime starts. Dylan Davis trains the filly for the ownership partnership of H. Taylor, E. Gold, A. Basen, and R. Lomabardo. Something beautiful increased her lifetime bankroll to $24,500.

Indiana Sires Stakes action will continue at Harrah's Hoosier Park tonight (July 23) with four divisions for 2-year-old pacing colts and geldings. Tonight's 14-race card will also feature a $10,000 Guaranteed Pick-4 in Races 3-6 and a $10,000 Guaranteed Hoosier High-5 in Race 14.

Petro Dealin hoping for hometown advantage Saturday in OSS Grassroots

Two-year-old trotting gelding Petro Dealin will make his Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) debut at Hiawatha Horse Park on Saturday (July 25) and trainer Darryl Laver is hoping the youngster can hold his own in his $23,150 Grassroots division.

“I don’t know, I think he should be okay in there,” said Laver. “It’s his home track, and he’s a lot smarter than his mother was.”

Petro Dealin is a second generation member of Laver’s breeding program, out of broodmare Harleigh Ryder, who is a daughter of his good race mare Spare Time Rozie. Laver admits that the son of Wheeling N Dealin did not make much of an early impression, but with each step toward the races — starting with a yearling video last summer — the owner/breeder’s opinion of the trotter has grown.

“I had three, and I thought he was third,” he said. “Of the three I had, he ended up turning out to be the best one. I sold one and I kept two, and the other one he’s out in the field.

“He is very, very smart. He never trained with a horse; I trained him by himself all winter. The first day they had qualifiers in the morning (May 30), that was the first time he trained with a horse. He followed a pacer in the schooler, there was only two of us in it and it was a three-year-old pacer, and he sat on his back like he had sat behind a horse every day of his life. And he tipped out and he went by that horse in about three steps in the stretch. He went in 2:06, which was a big mile that day.”

Laver added that the fastest trotting qualifier clocked at Hiawatha Horse Park on May 30 was 2:03.4. “And then I qualified him in 2:02.3 the next week and he got interfered with that day and he just went around them like nothing, I didn’t even bother him. He’s a really smart horse.”

Since his June 6 qualifier, Petro Dealin has made two starts. The first came at his hometown oval on June 13 where he finished third with a 2:03.4 effort and the second was at Woodbine Mohawk Park on June 25 where he finished seventh in 2:00.

“I thought he’d trot in 1:58 when I took him to Toronto there that second start and he just come to a halt in the stretch and trotted in 2:00, but he was sick, a couple days later it was pouring out of him,” said Laver. “He missed the first stake, it was last Saturday in Georgian, he missed that one, but he’s got this one and Dresden next week (Aug. 3), two close ones for me.”

Petro Dealin will start from Post 6 in Saturday’s Grassroots test and Laver will hand the lines over to Garrett Rooney for the gelding’s Ontario Sires Stakes debut.

“I like to drive them myself for a bit, but he’s nice to drive, he’ll get along good with him,” said Laver, adding that Rooney has had his eye on Petro Dealin since the May 30 schooler. “Garrett really likes this horse. He was in the schooler with me and every time that we get talking he says, ‘I like that colt, just put me down on that colt.’ So I texted him this morning and I said, ‘You better check the entries out,’ and he come back, ‘Why?’ I said, ‘Because you’re going to be driving.’ ‘Oh cool,’ he says.”

Rooney and Petro Dealin face a field of eight in the sixth race on Saturday, including three colts that competed in the Grassroots season opener at Georgian Downs on July 11 and one that made his debut at the Gold Series level on July 9 at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

The trotting colts will kick off the 12:30 pm program in Race 1 and will also compete in Races 2, 4 and 6. Fans can watch all the action on the Hiawatha Horse Park live stream and programs will be available to download from the racetrack’s website.

Freshmen colts battle in Ohio Sires Stakes at Northfield

Three $40,000 Ohio Sires Stakes (OHSS) divisions will feature 2-year-old pacing colts on Saturday night (July 25) at Northfield Park. These contests are these contests are the second round of action in the four-leg series. Post time is 6 pm, ET.

A total of 22 youngsters passed the Northfield entry box for these OHSS battles. Ohio-registered stallions represented include four by first crop sire Racing Hill, three by Well Said and two each by McArdle and Pet Rock. Other stallions represented include Art Official, Cheyenne Rei, Domethatagain, Manhardt, Mr Apples, The Panderosa, Rockin Amadeus, Western Vintage, Western Terror, Woodstock and Yankee Cruiser.

In the first OHSS division (Race 1), seven freshmen sidewinders will line up behind the Northfield gate, including Leg 1 winner Laughagain Hanover, who captured his first OHSS in 1:54.3 for driver Peter Wrenn and trainer Laura Searway. The son of McArdle is owned by Cimaglio, Richardson and Gilmartin and has $22,248 in earnings.

OHSS Leg 1 winner Hardt At Work and Charlie May face off in the second division (Race 4). Owned by Brett Boyd Racing and Anthony Fomosa, Hardt At Work is a son of Manhardt conditioned and driven by Mike Micallef. This youngster scored a 1:55.1 triumph at Scioto Downs on July 11 and has two wins in two career starts with $23,750 in earnings.

Charlie May is a brown unaltered son by McArdle trained by Steve Carter for Don Tiger. This youngster won his Leg 1 event in 1:54.1 with Danny Noble at the lines in a wire-to-wire effort and sports a bankroll of $95,000 as he also captured the Next Generation Pace at Scioto in his first career start.

Odds On Pick Six is the clear standout in the third OHSS contest (Race 7), having won Leg 1 in 1:54.2 at Scioto on July 11. Trained by Melanie Wrenn for Odds On Racing, the son of Racing Hill has that win and a second place finish in the aforementioned Next Generation Pace and has accumulated $57,500 thus far in his brief career.

Dragon Roll took a slight lead in the stretch. Galleria Gal (Tyler Buter) came flying late on the outside with Racine Bell slipping through on the inside. They were three across the track at the finish with Racine winning by a nose in a lifetime best of 1:51.0. Finishing second was Dragon Roll just a nose over third place finisher Galleria Gal.

Racine Bell is a 3-year-old filly by So Surreal. She is trained by David Dewhurst for owners Dale and Chris Lawton. It was her second win this season and fifth career victory.

Hen Party (Andrew McCarthy) captured the second division.

Fashion Hill (Howard Parker) was the first one out of the gate but Petticoat Business (Tyler Buter) would take control before hitting the first quarter in :27.1. Hen Party ($3.10) made her move as they reached the top of the backstretch. She led to the half in :55.2. Alleyesonme AS (Scott Zeron) came first-over and put on the pressure as Hen Party went to three-quarters first in 1:23.1.

As they made the turn for home Hen Party and Alleyesonme AS were shoulder to shoulder. Hen Party found another gear in the stretch and took the win in a lifetime best of 1:50.2. Petticoat Business came up to finish second. Alleyesonme AS hung on for third.

Hen Party is a 3-year-old filly by Roll With Joe. She is owned by Crawford Farms racing and trained by Tony Alagna. It was winnumber three on the season. It was her sixth career victory.

John MacDonald drove four winners on the card.
