An idea to broaden the ownership tent

Based on a suggestion by Eric Cherry, how one long-term condition sheet change might signal to the grassroots that the sport is open for business again.

by Dean Towers

BRUSH AND CRUSH

by DEAN TOWERS

My phone rang last week and it was someone many of you know – Eric Cherry. I am not sure how or why (as Cherry is pretty ubiquitous in the sport) but it was the first time I've ever chatted with him. He, like many of us, thinks way too often about harness racing, and I was privy to a long chat, filled with ideas. One of them made me pause, because it's a topic I've thought about a lot over the years.

We all know foal crops have been down for some time. We also know in some jurisdictions it's not primarily because of a lack of effort, or purse money, and there are glimmers of hope. Ohio's sires stakes program has done remarkably well with fair racing, the Buckeye Stallion Series and open Sires Stakes. Perhaps this is a big reason why Scioto and Northfield have little trouble filling cards. It's big tent; everyone can play.

But we have not seen similar success across much of this hyper-competitive, inflation spiraling market.

If we look at yearling prices, the top of the food chain appears to be fairly healthy. But the bottom – the mom and pops, the low-cost sire, the mare bred by one-time owners who can't afford Captaintreacherous – doesn't seem to be faring too well.

Helping them out is where Cherry's idea comes in.

What if there was purse money set aside for non-winners one and two, and maybe even three, restricted to horses sired by a stud standing for less than, say, $2,500?

At Mohawk that would be a nice-sized purse of $12,000-$18,000, something many people dream about with a small sire, or dam, who normally toil at the B tracks or Fairs. At the Meadowlands it would mean being able to race at the Mecca of the sport, for good-sized purses that can make most of your year's expenses.

Most importantly, these smaller-time trainers would not have to race a $600,000 Luc Blais yearling, or $800,000 Nancy Takter buy. In fact, since I don't think Luc or Nancy have had a horse sired by a $2,000 stud in their barns since, well, probably forever, they would not even have to race anything trained by them. In addition, Ron Burke is not heading to the sales to take advantage of this edge either. He's got bigger fish to fry.

Why this would have to be a long-term commitment is pretty obvious. It's likely the classes won't fill for a little while. But with the certainty this money is there, it could change the way a lot of smaller trainers and owners who have been priced out of the business think, and act.

Perhaps it could introduce some new sires. Maybe it could increase prices for broodmares at the low end, or for a partnership that owned a cheap mare that they enjoyed, it gives them a chance to get into the breeding game for a modest investment.

Why Cherry's idea makes philosophical sense, in my view, is because it allows harness racing to be exactly what it is.

This sport is not, and never will be thoroughbred racing. Our Triple Crown will not be covered on NBC or ABC. Sheiks will not have a large stable at Yonkers, and the Queen will probably not be starting up a trotting club. What harness racing has always had, is grassroots horsepeople in almost every state and province. Historically, it's the sport where a mom and pop with a broodmare could breed a horse and compete, and have a little fun; while paying the bills, and sometimes getting lucky with a home run horse.

That's the sport we all grew up with. That's the sport that I think we all know we've lost a piece of. And that's why I thought Eric Cherry's one little idea was worth writing about.

Diamond Creek purchases interest in Bulldog Hanover, will keep him standing in Ontario

by Caroline Vazquez

The owners of Bulldog Hanover, Jack Darling and Brad Grant, are excited to announce that Diamond Creek has purchased an interest in the stallion. His future plans will now include a stallion career on Diamond Creek's star-studded roster, while standing in Ontario in partnership with four-time Canadian Breeder of the Year, Seelster Farms.

Bulldog Hanover has made himself a household name with his world record breaking 1:45.4 win in the William R. Haughton Memorial at The Meadowlands. Prior to this record feat, he flirted with the world record a 1:46 victory in the Roll With Joe and wins in 1:46.1 (Graduate Series final) and 1:47. His 2022 racine year has been one lightning strike after another, while winning seven of his eight starts to date. He has an illustrious lifetime career of 21 victories in 29 starts and over $1.27 million (USD) in purses to date.

“Bulldog Hanover is as close to the perfect horse as I have ever been associated with,” said co-owner Jack Darling, “He is an awesome physical specimen with excellent manners and the heart of a champion. His speed, power and stamina are incredible.”

Bulldog Hanover (Dexter Dunn) setting the 1:45.4 world record on Saturday at The Meadowlands.

Bulldog Hanover has already proven to be a fertile stallion prospect for breeders. In 2022, while still in training, he bred a controlled book of 80 mares. Seelster Farms reported an exceptional 91 per cent conception rate on shipped semen.

He is a son of Shadow Play out of the multiple stakes winning Artsplace mare BJ's Squall, she a half- sister to the stallions Betterthancheddar (1:48, $1,636,086) and Courtly Choice (1:47.1, $1,432,697). Bulldog Hanover's pedigree contains no common ancestors going back four generations, which makes him an excellent cross for a wide range of broodmares.

"We have wanted to have a Canadian stallion for years," said Diamond Creek's Adam Bowden. "It has been a matter of trying to find the right fit. Bulldog Hanover is a tremendous horse, we are thrilled to be part of his story as it is being written."

Diamond Creek has already begun planning for Bulldog Hanover's stallion syndication and Seelster Farms will continue to handle all the day-to-day breeding management. Details concerning share purchases and service fee will be forthcoming in the near future.

"I am very excited to see what he can do as a sire. I truly believe that he will have a big impact on the breeding scene," Darling said.

~ Bob Brady

His first job involving standardbreds was working at Holly Lane Farm for Jerry Snyder. After graduating from UK, he rose to the position of farm manager at Holly Lane.

In 1982, he married Becky Crouch. They have four children, daughters Lyndsey, Meghan and Hannah and son Ryan.

In the mid-’70s all was seemingly well in the standardbred industry in Kentucky. There were several successful breeding farms including Castleton, Almahurst, Walnut Hall and Stoner Creek Stud. All of them were standing stallions. As it had been for almost as long as standardbreds had been bred and raised, Kentucky was at or near the top of the standardbred breeding in North America. Several states, primarily New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, had established successful sires stakes programs. Kentucky had none. In addition, shipping semen had become the norm. People were certainly less inclined to ship mares to Kentucky when it was easier and less expensive to simply ship semen. Business at the breeding farms in Kentucky was substantially impacted. The farms still bred and raised their own horses, but outside business was affected. In 1988, Brady was hired by his father-in-law Tom Crouch to manage Kentuckiana Farms. He has never left.

The farm has transitioned to the second generation being owned by Bob and Becky Brady along with Ken and Lisa Jackson. Brady is in effect “Mr. Inside” dealing mostly with the horses, the farm operation and clients. Jackson became “Mr. Outside” dealing mostly with the business aspects and the political ends relating to Kentuckiana Farms in particular and harness racing in general. Brady says that Jackson is one of the people most responsible for the renaissance and racing incentives enabled by the new Kentucky legislation.

“Since its inception, Kentuckiana has always strived to be a high quality farm in every aspect. Whether it be stallions, mare and foal care or in raising the best yearlings possible. As commercial breeders in a very competitive market place, we work hard every day to achieve that goal,” Brady said.

This scribe caught up with Brady just prior to the time when this year’s yearling crop will come in to begin the process of prepping them for the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale in October.

Q: You’ve been at Kentuckiana for 38 years. Tell me about that.

“I look upon myself as having had a wonderful career. We’ve raised lots of great horses. I’m not sure of the exact number, but we’ve raised and sold somewhere over 40 different horses who each earned in excess of a million dollars. The highest money earner was Mister Big who earned in excess of $4 million. Our newest addition to the list is Greenshoe.”

Q: You, Kenny, your wives and families represent the second and third generation of Kentuckiana. I understand the third generation is presently involved in running the enterprise.

“Our son Ryan is the farm manager. He’s doing a fantastic job. I can’t imagine running the farm without him. He’s smart, dedicated and has total respect from the crew. He never stops working or being involved in what is taking place. He is actually educated as an accountant. After some time, he decided sitting behind a computer, shuffling numbers was not what he wanted to do with the rest of his life. It’s very rewarding to be able to work with family and all be on the same team.”

Q: Has the new program in Kentucky tempted you to expand? With these new incentives more and more people are breeding and raising their foal in the Commonwealth.

"The short answer is a resounding no. The land and horses might be or become available, but the supply of people willing and able to do the work required just isn't there. When looking at the labor pool, not only is the supply of good help quite small, but the competition is very stiff. Lexington keeps growing. There is lots of industry. Not only is the pay often higher, but the benefits outside of working at a horse farm, especially the opportunity to have a five or even a six-day week are tough with which to compete. In addition, we are competing for help with the thoroughbred farms who are able to often pay better than we do. I consider ourselves to be quite fortunate in having the great staff that we have."

Q: What is your horse population like at present?

"We presently have 225 year-round resident mares, which is an ideal number for us. That, plus 160 foals, and 130 yearlings. We have been blessed to have many wonderful clients who have become great friends and remained with us for many years."

Q: What does your 2022 yearling consignment look like?

"I think it is very strong. Maybe as good a consignment as we've ever had. I suppose that's a familiar tune that most consignors sing. It's probably so. The breed is evolving and quite quickly. We have a wonderful group by Walner, Chapter Seven and Muscle Hill, as well as some from the first crop of Greenshoe. As time has gone on, I've found that our consignment has become more trotter oriented. I would guess that two thirds of the yearlings that we will be selling are trotters."

Q: Of the many yearlings that you've prepared, do you have any favorites?

"That's a very tough question. We've had so many good ones. I suppose that if you insist that I give you an answer, my choice for a trotter would be Lilly Stride, and for my pacer it would be Western Terror. They both were perfect foals that turned out to be pretty good."

Q: This is probably the calm before the storm. The breeding season is over and this year's yearling crop will soon be coming in for the yearling sale this fall.

"You can call it calm. I suppose in relative terms it might be. However, it's very rare at a functioning horse farm that we are not quite active. In our spare time, we have 150 acres of alfalfa to bale. It's now mid-July and we will begin bringing yearlings in around early August. The numbers can be fluid because occasionally the owners aren't quite sure if they want to keep one. I would say that we will end up having 105 to sell."

Q: Have you had any that performed poorly prior to the sale that turned out well?

"Occasionally, but not often. One that way was Ken Warkentin. He was so poor on his video that we had to piece it together. It wasn't so much that he couldn't trot well, but more like he didn't want to. I probably would refer to him as a contrary brat. Of course, as a 2-year-old, he was almost invincible. He was bought by Perry Soderberg and trained by Jimmy Takter. They must have seen something about him that made it worth their taking a chance with him."

Q: When do you start hearing from customers who want to come see the yearlings?

"I've actually heard from a few already. My stock answer is to stay away until they are civilized and looking good. It's unfair to look at a yearling two months before the sale. The yearling you look at in August is not the yearling that will be in the sales ring in October. They do change. A month or so can be very meaningful at this time of year. I get the feeling that's it's yearling time when Perry Soderberg calls to tell me that he would like to look at them. He is usually the first to show to each season. Ideally, I'd like to start showing after they've been shod and groomed and had their videos done."

Q: Let's switch gears and talk about a very special horse. Her name is Test Of Faith. How did you guys come to own her?

"All credit should go to Mel Segal. We have been friends with Mel for somewhere around 40 years. The plan was for us to one day own a horse together. The stars must have been shining down on us. Fortunately, that horse just happened to be Test Of Faith. We had her dam at the farm and liked her. Mel had been following her family for a long, long time. He watched her video and really liked her. He asked me to look at the video. I did and thought she looked good and traveled well. Mel had Brett Pelling look at her in person. Brett really liked her, so Mel bought her at Harrisburg for $92,000 and invited us to be partners. In my wildest dreams I would have never thought that she would turn out to become as good as she is. It's almost like a fantasy. Horse of the Year in 2021, and now a world champion as the fastest female ever. Dreams sometimes do come true."

Q: What are your thoughts on the sport and its immediate future?

"Right now I like where we are – certainly in terms of where the breeding industry is. Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana are doing great. There is improvement in New Jersey. So long as Pennsylvania and New York can retain their casino monies, they will probably be okay, also. We always have problems with our lack of exposure and attendance numbers, but with our purse levels what they are and to some degree our horse shortage issues, the opportunities are better than I've seen in many, many years."

THE ART OF BREEDING

with ALAN LEAVITT

An analysis of Rebuff and the success of the Swedes

by Alan Leavitt

Working off a knowledgeable man's ranking of leading Hambletonian contenders is an interesting exercise. The first thing that caught my eye was the recurring trainers' names at the top of the list.

The top contender, Rebuff, is trained by Lucas Wallin, who also has the colt ranked eighth. The next two, plus the colt rated seventh, are trained by Marcus Melander. Both Wallin and Melander are young, Swedish immigrants to the states, and obviously both are crack horsemen.

My path has never crossed Wallin's, but I did meet Melander when he brought the incandescent trotter Greenshoe to the Red Mile. Then, recently, he was very helpful in giving me an incisive insight into his great filly Joviality. So I have only warm feelings for him and his sister, Mikela, who is her brother's top groom.

I'm not close enough to either Wallin's or Melander's training routines to know what their methods are, but I suspect the use of a straight track, or Eurostrip plays some role.

It's no accident that these two transplanted Swedish horsemen are at the top of the game, because another Swede, Jimmy Takter, is for me one of the best trainers of all time. He not only trained and drove a Hambletonian winner, but he also trained a pacer to win the Little Brown Jug.

Jimmy and I have been good friends for more than 30 years, so I recently thought I would look up his daughter, Nancy, who has a string of horses at the Red Mile. Alas, I found her, but she was not available to talk because she was deeply involved in a cell phone conversation. I waited for a few minutes, in sight, but there looked to be no end soon, so I conceded defeat and left.

Pulling up Rebuff's five generation pedigree, you see some interesting things, some a little out of the ordinary. For starters, Rebuff is inbred, 3 by 3, to Valley Victory. That's determined by the definition of inbreeding, i.e. when the sum of the generations in which the same name appears twice is six or less, the horse so bred is defined as inbred to that common ancestor. When the sum of the generations in which the same name appears twice is seven or eight, that horse so bred is defined as line bred to the common ancestor. When there is no name that occurs twice within the first four generations, the horse so bred is defined as an outcross.

In the case of Rebuff, he is not only inbred to Valley Victory, he is also line bred, 4 by 4 by 4, to Speedy Crown. And while it is too far back to play a role in Rebuff's pedigree, Speedy Somolli, Speedy Crown's greatest son, appears three times in his fifth generation.

For those unfamiliar with these names, Speedy Crown won the Hambletonian himself, and sired three winners of the big dance. The best of these was Speedy Somolli, who like his great sire won the Hambletonian and sired three Hambletonian winners.

With a pedigree drenched in the blood of this father and son, we may have some clue to Rebuff's success on the racetrack. For those who mistakenly believe that great racing performance on the tail-mare, or bottom line, of a horse's pedigree, is the key to great production, Rebuff's pedigree gives the lie to that belief.

What is being confused here is the Phenotype, or living horse, including racing performance, with the Genotype, or genetic makeup. In the case of Rebuff, the individual earnings of his first five dams are; $31,633, $141,927, $14,640, zero, $10,902.

To understand a horse's genotype, one should think of a horse's genetic profile as a deck of playing cards, with a low card of "two" and a high card of "ace." Somewhere along that range is every horse's speed gene.

Rebuff is by Muscle Hill, who clearly is blessed with a speed gene that is a high card. Each parent brings 50 per cent of the genetic makeup of a foal at the time of conception. But what each parent brings is an entirely different genetic speed gene, and the two genes are melded at the time of conception.

Because Muscle Hill sires such a large percentage of fast horses, it's obvious he always brings a high card to every conception. In an ordinary conception, Muscle Hill's "jack" combined with the mare's middle range card, say a "seven", will average out to a moderately fast horse, but not a stakes winner.

To get a Rebuff, Muscle Hill brought his usual high card for his speed gene, and the mare, Meucci Madness, also came with a fairly high card, which was at the very top of her genetic profile.

I have no scientific explanation for how this happens, but by observation in more than 60 years of breeding horses it's a fact that the great sires somehow call out the best speed gene the mare has.

Meucci Madness has been an ordinary producer of ordinary horses except that once before, with Lucky Chucky, she produced Non Stick 3, 1:54 ($587,890). Now she comes with Rebuff, with Muscle Hill. I seriously doubt that she will ever again produce world beater like Rebuff.

But if I was offered a yearling brother or sister to Rebuff at a price I could afford, you'd be amazed by how fast I'd write that check.

BREAKING STRIDE

with TREY NOSRAC

Opportunities aren't knocking

by Trey Nosrac

"You want to know something weird?" I asked my pal Benny the Fly over brews and wings at the Tips and Sips Sports Bar.

He replied with a smile, "Weirder than normal?"

"Well, you tell me. Here's the deal. In almost 20 years of buying a yearling to race, never, not once, not a single time, has a trainer solicited me to train my yearling. In the real world, there is a constant stream of folks asking to handle my finances, power-wash my house, join their HMO, do my housecleaning and dozens of other services."

"Well, maybe those potential trainers don't know you, or, more likely, they do know you."

"Very funny. Look, I didn't know the trainers I hired. I just did a little research and made a few calls for recommendations. In each case, I approached them, introduced myself, said I had a yearling to train, asked the rate, and asked if they wanted the job."

"Did they all say yes?"

"They did, and they all were excellent trainers, but each time I was doing the asking. Shouldn't that train run both ways?"

Fly thought for a few seconds and said, "Most normal people probably already have a trainer lined up before buying a yearling."

"That's true, but my normal ship sailed years ago. I'm a cart before the horse kind of guy."

He added another thought, "Perhaps there is a code of conduct. Maybe potential trainers don't want to be labeled poachers. Sort of an old boys club."

"I ain't in no club. I would consider any age or sex to train my horse."

He said, "Well, horse trainer is a unique job, probably not one that is easy to break into."

I nodded. "And it's a difficult job, with plenty of disappointment, responsibility, and long hours." After a pause, I said, "True story, early on, I rashly decided to try to train my yearling. I didn't last a week."

"A week?"

"Driving to the track on day three, I realized that horse trainer wannabe was no type of work for a scatterbrained bon vivant. So, I immediately fired myself due to poor work habits and lack of knowledge."

"Probably a wise decision," Fly said.

I persisted, "Why hasn't any hopeful trainer, male or female, young or old, been interested in graduating from a second trainer or top groom, asked to train one of my horses?"

"Would you trust a valuable yearling to a novice trainer?" he asked.

"Me? Absolutely. Finding a fledgling trainer who demonstrated initiative, a decent resume, and a skill set would be cool. I enjoy reading the Grassroots Perspective column in HRU to get a feel for some new trainers who might come with advantages like lower training bills, more attention, and increased enthusiasm."

He asked, "So why not just ask around, find one of those unknown trainers?"

"Because I have no idea who is thinking about starting their small training stable. I can't read minds. I can't roam the barns, tap strangers on the shoulder asking if they are considering quitting their job, going out on their own, or training on the side."

He countered, "Well, in the same vein, potential trainers don't know you might be in the market for a trainer."

"They at least have some clues. They could begin with the sales results. They could see I bought a horse; they could do a little research on me. Newbies could take note of the retirements of former trainers. Tips and clues are all over the backstretches and paddocks. They look for a prospect and figure out an entrance point."

"Entrance point?" he asked.

"Dude, they are entering a business. Making connections are essential. Hustling up customers is step one of any business, for example, say I get this text:

Fellows barn off to strong start in OSS and looking to keep rolling

by Austin Stanton / OSS publicity

Baseball's midsummer classic is in the rearview mirror, and the Ontario Sires Stakes is approaching its own halfway point with the Gold and Grassroots entering leg three across all ages, sexes and gaits. As the midway point nears, trainer Rob Fellows sits second in the Johnston Cup standings.

"You don't ever really enjoy it while it's happening. You worry about the draw every day, who's driving every day, what the horses are eating, whether they're sound, and when to give them a break," said Fellows. "The leaderboard doesn't mean much at this point, but it is nice to have some early success."

The Rookwood, ON resident has harnessed 28 OSS starters to date, with a record of 6-4-0. His star pupils are a pair of rookies, Write Me A Rose, and Dowedealinandwhy.

Write Me A Rose (Sportswriter) is a Windermere Stable LLC homebred, and the first foal out of Bettors Delight race mare Caribbean Rose N. The pacer has two Gold wins, both coming from off the early pace in times of 1:52.4, and 1:53.3.

Dowedealinandwhy has a Gold win, and a runner-up. Fellows' wife, Yolanda, owns the trotter with Irene Carey. His win was saw him charge home in a :27.2 closing panel.

"They're healthy, they're sound, they drew well, and they've had some luck on their side," said Fellows. "Later in the season they need to stay healthy and sound, but also improve, because there are horses right now, we don't know which ones they are, but they will come from behind and get bigger and stronger and better towards the end of the year."

In addition to his three Gold wins, Fellows has a hat trick at the Grassroots level.

Kipper Whipr Snipr is one of three victorious trotters. The son of Royalty For Life is an Edward Wilson homebred, an owner Fellows has a long-time relationship with. Wilson gave Fellows his start in the horse business in the 70s, catching horses at the Port Perry Fairgrounds.

"He bred him and raised him and bred the mother. That kind of stuff you really appreciate," said Fellows. "It's a great relationship to have because it's not every year the mare produces a horse that makes it to the races. It's just a lot of fun to go for the ride with them. It's like their kids. They watch them foal, be broken, and get to the races. Then to have some stakes success is even better."

Three-year-old colt Resolving, and sophomore filly Rose Run Xcentric round out his winners from the young season.

"You're watching other horses in your division to try and figure out who's there, and then I am always thinking about who's driving my horse," said Fellows. "You worry about that every time the draw comes out, and it's just something that you get used to over many years of doing it."

Beach Glass, Pebble Beach storm to Adios elimination wins

by Evan Pattak for The Meadows Standardbred Owners Association

Three storms struck southwestern Pennsylvania during Saturday's eliminations card for the $400,000 Delvin Miller Adios Pace for the Orchids at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows. The first was an act of nature that blew up rain, swirling winds, thunder and lightning that forced a delay of about 15 minutes in the card.

The others were named Beach Glass and Pebble Beach, who each stormed to a 5-3/4-length victory in the eliminations. Those results set up a battle between the leaders of the sport's glamor division in the $350,000 Adios final, which takes place Saturday, July 30 and anchors a blockbuster card that features six Grand Circuit stakes. First post is 11:45 a.m.

Joining Beach Glass and Pebble Beach in the final will be Fourevery Boy, Nautical Hanover, Ario Hanover, Bythemissal, Quick Snap, Atlas Hanover and River Ness, who notched his berth by being the fifth-place finisher with the higher career earnings. The connections of Beach Glass and Pebble Beach will choose their post positions, with their order of selection determined by draw. All other post positions will be determined by random draw Wednesday.

The track had turned sloppy by the time Beach Glass faced the starter, and winning driver Yannick Gingras approached the first quarter cautiously.

"I was just letting them all settle," Gingras said. "I wanted him on the front obviously, but I just wanted to stay out of trouble."

Once on the point, the Meadowlands Pace winner widened steadily, scoring in 1:49 with a :27 final panel.

"He's better every week," Gingras said. "He was amazing in the Meadowlands Pace, and he was amazing today. We get to pick our post position? Awesome. You just made my day."

Brent MacGrath, who trains the homebred son of Somebeachsomewhere—Im With Her for Schooner II Stable, said he saw everything he needed to see from his colt and likely won't be making any changes.

"He's just learning how to do it, and he's coming into his own," MacGrath said. "We just need to keep him healthy, keep him out of trouble and give him to Yannick."

Chris Gooden

Meadowlands Pace winner Beach Glass (Yannick Gingras) won his Adios elimination on Saturday at The Meadows in 1:49.

Chris Gooden

North America Cup winner Pebble Beach (Todd McCarthy) won his Adios elimination on Saturday at The Meadows in 1:50.1.

Beach Glass pushed his career earnings over $562,000.

Pebble Beach had only a qualifier since his triumph in the June 18 North America Cup, but he showed no signs of being short. Todd McCarthy gave him a comfortable :56.3 half, and the son of Downbytheseaside—Santa Rosa prevailed in 1:50.1. The previously undefeated Bythemissal, who was facing elite competition for the first time, closed well for second, while Quick Snap earned show.

Noel Daley, who trains Pebble Beach for Laexpressfoderadeovolente, said he tried a rigging experiment with Pebble Beach in the elimination, an experiment Daley considers a failure.

"He runs in but doesn't like to wear a head pole," Daley said. "So we tried a Murphy blind today. We tried it in Canada; he ran off the track, but we thought he needed it on a tighter track. We'll take that back off. He won't wear anything, and we'll have to steer him. Everything else looked good."

Pebble Beach now has banked $815,650.

Crantini, French Wine PASS winners at Philly

by PHHA / Harrah's Philadelphia

Crantini won his second consecutive Pennsylvania Sire Stakes outing during the Thursday afternoon (July 21) card at Harrah's Philadelphia in 1:56.2, while French Wine broke his maiden while going three fifths of a second faster in capturing the other $75,816 division.

The International Moni-Peach Martini colt Crantini has already captured stakes at all three of Pennsylvania's pari-mutuel tracks, with a Sire Stakes win at The Meadows and a PA All-Stars triumph at Pocono joined by the Philly mile. Scott Zeron got to the lead with Crantini in :28.3, backed the half off to :59.1, then passed the three-quarters in 1:27.3 (aided by the day's backstretch tailwind) before outfinishing Once In A Lifetime by three-quarters of a length for trainer Megan Scran and The Stable Crantini Group while equaling his mark.

Though making only his second purse start, French Wine joined Crantini as a winning favorite, largely on the strength of being photoed out in 1:55.1 in his bow last Friday at The Meadowlands. Here the Bar Hopping-Creamy Mimi colt raced from far back for driver Andy Miller, moving after early splits of :28.1 and :58.2 and then going his own third panel in an amazing :26.3 to be challenging for the lead by the 1:26.1 three-quarters. French Wine kept going in the lane and was a length clear of 42-1 shot Kobe B at the finish for trainer Julie Miller and Andy Miller Stable Inc., Daniel Plouffe, Jean Christophe Plouffe, and Michael Cote Gagnon.

Driver Anthony MacDonald and trainer Tim Twaddle combined to win two of the four $20,000 Stallion Series divisions, both with favorites and one each with the two sires who also produced Sire Stakes winners. The International Moni - Brigham Dream colt Carter Michael Deo was on best behavior and showed a good rally from the pocket to win for the first time in 1:57 for Thestable Cartermichaeldeo. Thestable MacDonaldtwaddle also paraded back the front-ender Tailgate Buzz, a Bar Hopping-Twin B Alibi gelding, after the freshman won his third straight, here in 1:58.1, for owners Thestable Tailgate Buzz as their freshman became his division's only double Stallion Series winner.

The Southwind Frank-Southwind Maywood colt Sir Frank is now undefeated in two starts after recording his fastest time, 1:57.2, for driver Matt Kakaley, trainer Jenny Melander, and the partnership of Melander Racing Inc., Clark Stables LLC, and John Devito. The other StS section gave a clue as to why Tim Tetrick tops the drivers' standings here: he was sitting third early with the Father Patrick-Prettiestgalaround colt Alonso when the leader made a break and caused the pocket horse to make an "ix"; Tetrick calmly avoided trouble, went on to the lead, and got a 1:59.1 maiden victory with Alonso for the meet's top trainer, Per Engblom, and the ownership of Engblom Stable LLC, Wiesman Farms LLC, and R A W Equine Inc.

Ucandoit Blue Chip does it, completes NJSS sweep at Big M

by Dave Little / Meadowlands media relations

The Linda Toscano-trained Ucandoit Blue Chip completed a three-race sweep of the filly pacing division after taking one of four $240,000 New Jersey Sire Stakes finals for 2-year-olds at The Meadowlands Friday night (July 22).

Since missing a neck in her career debut in a mile that went in 1:52.2 on June 17, Ucandoit Blue Chip has been the queen of her class, winning both preliminary NJSS legs before Friday's easy 3½-length score in 1:52 with driver Scott Zeron calling the shots.

"What a good girl she is," said Toscano. "This was a new game for her, going to the lead. Scott told me he never popped the plugs. I'm pretty happy with her."

The daughter of Keystone Velocity—Molly Can Do It made the top while parked at the half, which was timed in :55.3, and sailed home from there as much the best. Lisa Lane finished second with Get Answers third.

Ucandoit Blue Chip returned $2.60 to win as the 1-5 public choice.

Oh Well got the evening started by displaying a big move on the far turn to collar leader Celebrity Bambino with a quarter-mile to go on the way to a safe three-quarter-length win over a fast-closing Up Your Deo in the colts and geldings trot. The Marcus Melander trainee missed a nose in his initial NJSS preliminary before taking the final leg two weeks ago.

"He's doing everything right so far, but you have to stay after him," said winning driver Tim Tetrick, referring to his colt's inexperience. "He's only going to get better. I knew from his earlier starts that he had a big motor. He covers too much ground to not be a nice horse. Last week, he earned that win, and he impressed me a lot. He keeps putting his nose out front."

A son of Muscle Hill—Fine Tuned Lady, Oh Well returned $5.40 as the 8-5 favorite after completing the mile in a lifetime-best 1:53.1. Up Your Deo was disqualified for causing interference around the first turn and was placed ninth. Finishing second and third in the official order of finish were Point Of Perfect and Celebrity Bambino, respectively.

Walner Payton used the rail to her advantage in taking the event for trotting fillies in a lifetime-best-equaling 1:54.1 for trainer Chris Ryder and driver Dexter Dunn.

Dunn moved the daughter of Walner—Lonely Lady to the top while parked at the quarter, and with 1-2 favorite Mambacita going a three-hole trip, had enough to hold that late-rallying foe off by a safe 1¼ lengths at the finish. Bubzarellie was third.

"She was the one filly I was going to buy," said owner Ken Jacobs of the $510,000 Lexington Select Sale purchase. "It proved to be a good choice."

"She's been very good," said Ryder. "A little tough to break, but she always trains well. She's been pretty straight forward. We're very happy with her."

As the 5-2 second choice, Walner Payton returned $7.80 to win.

In the most exciting race of the NJSS quartet, Voukefalas (Jordan Stratton driving) was nothing short of sensational in following up a pair of third-place finishes in the preliminaries with a sparkling 2¾-length win in the big-money final for pacing colts and geldings. The time for the mile was an impressive lifetime-best 1:50.

"We were not disappointed in how he did [in his prior two starts]," said winning trainer Mike Russo. "We got the worst trip both times. Jordan was right not to abuse him."

Voukefalas sat in the three-hole early on as 4-5 favorite Lifes A Puzzle hit the quarter in :26.4. Stratton then moved the son of Lazarus N—Innittowinafortune to the lead with a quick burst to the three-eighths.

The top two stayed that way to the far turn, when Lifes A Puzzle popped the pocket to come after the leader, but Voukefalas had no interest in letting the public choice go by, rebuffing that challenge without issue before going on to an easy score. Handlelikeaporsche outkicked Lifes A Puzzle for second.

Voukefalas (Jordan Stratton) winning the NJSS final for 2-year-old pacing colts in a lifetime-best 1:50.

Voukefalas, who paid $6.20 as the co-second 2-1 choice in the wagering, has had a lot to live up to since birth. "The name comes from Alexander the Great [the ancient Greek king]," said owner Michael Pagonas. "He had a horse named Voukefalas."

A LITTLE MORE: Tetrick, Dunn, David Miller and Yannick Gingras all recorded driving doubles... Gingras has 97 wins for the season, far in front of Dunn, who is second with 68... Ron Burke trained a pair to the winner's circle, upping his lead in the conditioner standings to 21 over Jeff Cullipher, who is second. Burke has 60 winners thus far this year... Soaring Now repeats in ISS action at Hoosier Park

by Emily Gaskin / Harrah's Hoosier Park

After an impressive 1:48.3 victory in his last start, Soaring Now was back in the Harrah's Hoosier Park winner's circle on Friday (July 22) after capturing the lone $97,000 Indiana Sires Stakes for 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings on the card. Driven by Andy Shetler, Soaring Now stopped the timer in 1:48.1 to record his second straight victory against stakes company and establish a new lifetime best in the process. The 1:48.1 final time is the second fastest mile of the 2022 season at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

Leaving from the rail, Shetler sent Soaring Now away from the gate firing to protect his position. Driver Trace Tetrack had JK Victory pointed to the front from post nine and Ponda Warrior and Jimmy Whittemore also wanted a shot at the early lead. Ponda Warrior and Jimmy Whittemore won the early battle for position and led the field through snappy first-half fractions of :25.2 and :53.1 while JK Victory opted for a pocket trip and Soaring Now sat third.

Unable to find a spot along the rail, Rip Wheeler and Brandon Bates pressed on to the lead and were applying pressure from first-over through the three-quarters in 1:21.4. Ponda Warrior was able to fend off Rip Wheeler but the rest of the field was closing in. JK Victory dipped down to the inside to make his bid at the leader while Soaring Now tipped outside from third. Using a :25.3 final quarter, Soaring Now surged past JK Victory and held off a late charge from The Longest Yard and Michael Oosting to get the win. Soaring Now returned $8.80 to his backers at the betting windows.

Owned by James Miller, the son of JK Endofanera—Sunflower recorded his sixth lifetime victory for trainer Aaron Stutzman. With the victory, Soaring Now has now won three of seven starts this season and pushed his lifetime bankroll to $154,300. The sophomore colt was bred by Luckiana Farms of Indiana.

Soaring Now (Andy Shetler) won Friday's Indiana Sires Stakes event for sophomore pacing colts in 1:48.1.

PONDA ADVENTURE CONTINUES WINNING WAYS

The Indiana Sires Stakes season pressed on at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino on Thursday, (July 21) as two $48,000 divisions for 3-year-old trotting colts and geldings highlighted the evening's 14-race card. The sophomore trotters have now completed the fourth preliminary round of their eight-round series.

Ponda Adventure continued to assert his divisional dominance as he was an open length winner in his split of the stakes action and extended his win streak to five in the process. With regular pilot Trace Tetrick in the bike, Ponda Adventure utilized his customary gate to wire tactics to score by open lengths in 1:52.4. With the win, Ponda Adventure remains undefeated in five starts this season and equaled his lifetime best mark.

Ponda Adventure has now amassed $402,218 in lifetime purse earnings for his ownership connections of Engel Stable, L A Willinger, and J D Graham. The gelded son of Swan For All—Wildflower was bred by Pond-A-Acres. Ponda Adventure's victory was one of three training wins on the evening for trainer Erv Miller and one of four driving victories for Trace Tetrick.

One of Tetrick's other victories on the program was in the first division of the stakes action with trainer Tyler George's Adamsville Road. Utilizing similar tactics, Adamsville Road went gate to wire in 1:53.1. Utilizing a :27.2 final quarter, Adamsville Road held off a late surge from Iwontbackdown As and John DeLong. With the win, Adamsville Road recorded his fourth win of the season and established a new lifetime best.

The son of Swan For All—She Wore Red has now won five of 15 lifetime starts while pushing his lifetime bankroll to $73,709. Adamsville Road is owned in partnership by Mel Rose Stable and Joe D Nesselroad and was bred by Joyce McClelland.

Sears and Melander have a grand slam day at Vernon

by John Horne for Vernon Downs

Driver Brian Sears and trainer Markus Melander combined for four wins including two New York Sire Stakes (NYSS) races as Vernon Downs played host to three divisions of the NYSS for 2-year-old trotting colts & geldings on Friday afternoon (July 22).

Kilmister (Brian Sears) took the $35,900 first division.

The Strawboss (Jim Devaux) got the first call but Some Kinda Crazy (Tyler Buter) spurted by just before hitting the first quarters in :28. He used a :30.1 second quarter and was first to the half in :58.1. Kilmister ($4.80) made his move heading around the final turn. Some Kinda Crazy was first to three-quarters in 1:27.4. As they made the turn for home Kilmister took over. The Strawboss became the major danger, but Kilmister was too strong and won in a lifetime best of 1:56.1. The Strawboss had to settle for second. Cecil Hanover Ake Svanstedt) finished third.

Kilmister is a colt by Chapter Seven—Treviso. Owned by Courant Inc. and trained by Marcus Melander. He is now two for two this season.

The Gruffalo (Tyler Buter) won the $36,600 second division.

Kilgore S (Brian Sears) led to the first quarter in :27.4. Country Dagger (Melvin Schmucker) made the first move going first-over to challenge. Kilgore S was first to the half in :57.3. The two kept battling as Kilgore S led to three-quarters in 1:26.1. As they made the turn for home The Gruffalo ($4.00) came charging three-wide and took over the lead. Second place finisher Upnaway Blue Chip (Wally Hennessey) went all out on the chase but The Gruffalo dug in and won in a lifetime best of 1:56.4. Kierkegaard K (Ake Svanstedt) finished third.

The Gruffalo is a colt by Chapter Seven—Clementine. He is owned by Racing Team of America, Deana Frost, Emma Patterson, and trainer Mark Harder. He is now two for two in 2022.

Crown (Brian Sears) captured the $36,600 third division.

Sevecheetah (Trond Smedshammer) led to the first quarter in :27.4. Night Star (Jim Devaux) took a short lead heading to the backstretch. Seven Over (Tyler Buter) took control just before hitting the half first in :57.0. Met Your Request (Andy Miller) was next to make a move going first-over as Seven Over led to three-quarters in 1:26.2. As they reached the stretch Met Your Request went on a break. Crown ($2.70) came flying to take the lead. Second place finisher Wild Bill Kelso (Wally Hennessey) used a late move to make it interesting but Crown had the jump and the win in a lifetime best of 1:55.3. Barney Goldstein (Brett Crawford) finished third.

Crown is a colt by Chapter Seven—Amour Heiress. He is owned by S R F stable and trained by Marcus Melander. He is now two for two in his young career.

Three Long Tom fillies and a Downbytheseaside trotter win in Buckeye Stallion Series

by Frank Fraas / OHHA

The curtain closed on the first leg of the Buckeye Stallion Series for 2-year-olds Thursday night (July 21) at Eldorado Scioto Downs as three daughters of Long Tom and Doc's Boo Boo, the first trotter by pacing super sire Downbytheseaside to find the winner's circle, were winners.

In the first of four $17,500 divisions for 2-year-old trotting fillies, Jeff Nisonger raced Doc's Boo Boo off the gate from the eighth post position to grab the lead at the first quarter and went gate to wire to win in 2:00. Doc's Boo Boo cut fractions of :29.1, :59.3, and 1:30.2 on the way to the win.

Mark Winter trains Doc's Boo Boo, who has hit the board in all four starts with two wins and two thirds. JR Stable LLP owns Doc's Boo Boo.

Lose My Mind AS was second with Crysta's Legacy finishing third.

In the second division, A Long Dream and Chris Page made it look easy, cruising to an 11-length victory in 1:59.2. The daughter of Long Tom exploded down the back stretch to grab the lead, never looking back to win her second in a row.

Vernon Beachy trains A Long Dream for First Up Racing Stable and Elise Kilmer.

Toms Royalty was second with Full Heart third.

Go Long Katie and Tyler Smith sat in the pocket until the final turn, swinging wide to grab the lead and charging down the stretch to win by a length in 1:58.3 in the third division. The win was the first of the year for the Jimmy Lupton trainee who is owned by Bartley Traditions Racing.

Kiss My Brass finished second with Pring Gal third.

In the final division, Twish with Chris Page in the bike grabbed the lead heading the half-mile and held the lead the rest of the way to win in by 1¼ lengths in 1:59.4. It was Twish's second win in three starts.

Dan Reynolds trains and co-owns the daughter of Long Tom with Gary Reynolds.

Finishing second was Hailstorm Maker with Mia Hill third.

Freshman filly pacers will begin the second leg of Buckeye Stallion Series Tuesday July 26 at Eldorado Scioto Downs.

Plainridge Park postpones Spirit Day race card to Monday

Due to excessive heat once again in Plainville, MA on Sunday (July 24) with forecast highs approaching 100 degrees causing heat emergencies to be put in place in several areas, Plainridge Park has postponed the Spirit Of Massachusetts day card of racing from Sunday (July 24) to Monday (July 25) and moved the race card originally scheduled for Monday (July 25) to Tuesday (July 26). Post time for both days is 4 p.m.

All originally planned Spirit Day activities are scheduled to still take place despite the change in scheduling.

French trotters highlight Monday sale

Seven French trotters, all with proven racing performance and significant earnings, sell among the eight lots being offered in Preferred Equine Online's Monday (July 25) Mixed Sale.

Bidding on horses in the sale opened Friday (July 22). The online auction starts Monday at 3 p.m., with bids closing in sequential order at that time.

The sale roster and catalog is now available at preferredequineonline.com, or by clicking here.

The listing of horses includes links to photographs, training videos, walking videos, and veterinarian reports. There is also a direct link to each horse's past performances and race videos courtesy of French racing's governing body, LeTrot. Also included is detailed information regarding racing with or without shoes.

The horses came to the online platform as the result of a recent trip to France by Preferred Equine's David Reid, along with delegates of the U.S. Trotting Association, where they met with leaders of LeTrot. It was agreed upon there to introduce a limited number of quality French racehorses to the North American buying public via an online sale.

"The LeTrot team worked hard to recruit the horses and provide the necessary details to be able to offer these proven racehorses," Reid said. "I think owners and trainers in North America will find this a unique opportunity to add a highly competitive trotter to their stables."

There is a single, set fee for buyers to have their purchases shipped to the U.S. For more information see each horse's owner's statement.

Gural shocked at lack of support from the industry

While it's nice to see so many positive comments about the racing last Saturday, the reality is our customers continue to die off and we know young people have no interest. But, worse yet for me, is the lack of support from the industry.

On Friday, we had approximately 100 2-year-olds making their first or second start in a pari-mutuel race at The Meadowlands and Trotters, the private club we built for owners, only had 20 customers. On Saturday at the Pace our dining room Pink was only about half full and while Trotters was crowded there were still empty tables for our signature evening card. Our net revenue on Pace elimination day this year compared to 2013 was down by $42,000 and our net revenue for Pace night declined from $252,573 to $175,677.

We anticipate losing about $5.5 million this year from racing up from a loss last year of $3.5 million and anyone who thinks the sport is healthy is fooling themselves. I anticipate the decline from our regular customers but, to be honest, I am shocked at the lack of support we received from the industry.

I know it is fun to go to Lexington for the sales and it is exciting to watch the baby races and see how you have done in your yearling selection, but it is also fun to watch these horses perform in person rather than on your iPad. As you might expect, our sports betting revenue is on the decline because of the fact that New York has now legalized online sports betting, but it would really be helpful if the industry would support us over the next two weeks. Trust me, it is fun to watch live racing especially when you see a world record performance like we witnessed Saturday.

I hate to be negative but not using 5 per cent of the slots money for marketing when we first began to receive it was a catastrophic mistake. The biggest joke for me is that the biggest concern that the horsemen have is the fact that we had one 11-horse race for 2-year-old pacing fillies rather than split it which is what we normally do.

Jeff Gural / owner Meadowlands Racetrack

Should we also pay horses at the half?

A lot has been said and written about the dire need to increase the amount of movement during our races to help offset speed bias, make the races more exciting to watch, and reduce the number of prohibitive favorites. All of which could lead to increases in betting handle.

Certainly I endorse this and I believe there is a relatively simple way to make this happen (in addition to Jeff Gural's mandates to drivers at the Meadowlands).

Consider paying 40 or 50 per cent of a race's purse based on horse positions at the half mile mark. So, for example, if a $10,000 gross purse, pay $4,000 of that purse to the first five horses at the half, using the same percentage breakdown we use now. Then, pay the remaining $6,000 based on finish order at the completion of the race. (A strong winner would still be rewarded with full purse share if they are in front at the half and the finish).

It's likely this will create much more early movement, especially during the second quarter, where at most tracks there is little or no movement. Too often, the second quarter approaches 30 seconds (e.g. Yonkers); or we see near scripted racing where the favorite and/or second choice are in the top three positions at the quarter mark (e.g. Harrah's Chester). This would likely be more effective on half and 5/8th tracks than on mile or 7/8ths tracks, admittedly.

If one or two tracks were to implement this on an experimental basis, we could determine if this leads to more exciting racing, fewer prohibitive favorites and increased handle.

And a last note... down the road, we might even consider enabling betting based on half mile results!

Steve Moss / Philadelphia, PA

Correction on LandMark fractional ownership

I would like to clarify a feature of the LandMark fractional ownership venture that appeared in a recent article. An investment of a $2,000 share in LandMark buys into each yearling that Landmark purchases and not into just one as it states in the article. In reality, my share this year bought me into a fractional ownership of six different yearlings. I think this is an outstanding feature of the Landmark fractional ownership venture that sets it apart from some other similar groups. Thank you for the opportunity to point this out.
