With four of the 16 horses entered in this year's Hambletonian, to say that trainer Marcus Melander is well-positioned to win the trotting classic would be an understatement.

One of the horses that Melander sends out is Gimpanzee – the reigning divisional champion, last year's Breeders Crown winner and a horse to that this day remains unbeaten in his career. And he won't even be the favorite.

That distinction will go to barn mate, Greenshoe. A somewhat mercurial type of horse at age 2, Greenshoe has looked unstoppable this year as a sophomore and will open as the 4-5 morning line favorite in his elimination. Greenshoe raced most recently three weeks ago in a division of the Stanley Dancer in which he rolled to what might have been the easiest looking 1:50 trotting mile in history.

Likely in part because of some common ownership in addition to both horses being from the same stable, the Hambletonian will be the first time that Gimpanzee and Greenshoe will meet (provided that they both finish in the top 5 from their respective eliminations). According to trainer Melander, the decision to race them separately wasn't to protect one from having to race against the other, but rather to plot out the best course of action specific to each horse.

"It started out like that (running in different races), but then me and Brian (Sears) and the owners decided that we'd keep Gimpanzee in New York and race him there," Melander said. "We've been very happy with how we've matched the horses and raced them in the races that we did, so I'm super happy with they have both raced so far."

For his part, Gimpanzee has made easy work in three starts in New York banking $161,688 this year. Greenshoe has amassed $326,500 this year in five starts and it would have been close to a half million if not for coming up a nose short in the Beal.

Presuming that both horses make the Hambletonian final barring a break or something completely unforeseen occurring, the question becomes, if despite all his accolades, can Gimpanzee go with Greenshoe? In talking with Melander about it, there's little doubt as to he thinks the speedier horse is but that doesn't mean who wins the Hambletonian is a foregone conclusion.

"You never know in a second heat how each horse will take to that," said Melander. "If they were meeting in an elimination I don't know if Gimpanzee has the speed to do it because I don't think really that anyone has the kind of speed that Greenshoe has, but he has the capacity to compete in a second heat. But Gimpanzee's a fast horse too, a really nice horse. People seem to think he doesn't have that kind of speed, but he hasn't really been on the mile track and hasn't had to go faster than 1:52, yet."

In addition to partial common ownership and coming from the same stable, Greenshoe and Gimpanzee also share the same regular driver in Brian Sears. At this point Sears doesn't have to make a decision with the horses drawing into separate eliminations, but is there any way that Sears would opt off Greenshoe come time of the final? Melander said that it could be a tough call for Sears and that you never know. "It all depends on how they race (in the eliminations)," said Melander. "You don't know if Greenshoe is on his best day. I think he will be, but you never know. It's horse racing after all and there's so much that can happen. First of all, they both have to make the finals and if there's nothing wrong with them I think there's a good chance they'll do that."

If Gimpanzee is being overlooked due to Greenshoe, then another Melander trainee that's being overlooked even further is Green Manalishi S. He's last year's Breeders Crown runner-up to Gimpanzee and is the second highest money earner in the field, trailing only that same rival. He has a good chance in the Hambletonian coming off a sharp score in the Geers.

"He's never missed the board, that horse," Melander said. "He's another really nice horse and he's needed those couple recent races to step up into form. He's a big horse, long gaited and he needed his races and it feels like his last race really put him back in form and I think he'll be 100 per cent for Saturday. He drew a tough post but he's a strong horse and can do a little bit of work and can come from off the pace. I'm excited to see him race because he really stepped up in his last race."

Melander also sends out Gerry, though by any reasonable measure that one seems to be a step or two behind the top ones.

While the road clearly goes through the Melander trainees, there's a number of others who rate legitimate chances.

DON'T LET'EM shined on this day last year when he set a stakes and track record when winning the Peter Haughton in front end fashion in 1:51.4. Perhaps more importantly, he comes off an amazing 1:50:2 win here just last week and it came when starting from post 10 no less. At his very best I'm convinced he can give anyone in here – including Greenshoe – a run for their money.

MARSEILLE continues to get faster every race and I don't see any reason why he won't be going to the front once again. I hear people say that he keeps "stealing" races, but he's now beaten two of the best 3-year-olds and he's deserving of respect at this point.

PILOT DISCRETION and FORBIDDEN TRADE both sport similar resumes and ran 1-2 with each other in the Goodtimes at Woodbine back in June. I actually thought Forbidden Trade would have won that race if he'd gotten out a bit sooner and is a 3 for 3 since that race.

SWANDRE THE GIANT turned a massive corner when he powered first-over against Green Manalishi S to win in 1:51.3 two back, but then was overrun last out by Don't Let'em after being hard used to the front. He's looked much better of late and I'm sure Burke will have him primed; needs his very best.

SOUL STRONG isn't generally accustomed to this level of competition, but he did almost get to Marseille last out and has now closed in :26 and change in two straight.

The Guru handicaps the Hambletonian and Hambletonian Oaks

Fearless prognostication from our all-seeing, all-knowing mystic.

by Ron Gurfein

8th Race Hambletonian Elimination #1

GIMPANZEE – Undefeated colt finds himself in, by far, the weaker of the two divisions, with only his stablemate to beat. I always questioned his real speed so I wouldn't go crazy at 3-5. Melander has done exactly as I did in 1996, kept Brian Sears for the eliminations on both horses.

GREEN MANALISHI – Wouldn't surprise me to see him overhaul his partner in this field. He has definitely shown me more actual speed and has raced much better competition.

SOUL STRONG – Comes into this race with two bang up races with new driver Dexter Dunn.

SWANDRE THE GIANT – Would have picked him higher if the loss of Lasix wasn't a factor. He followed the winner in the Reynolds and was beaten by 5 3/4.

SUMMIT IN SITE – Although not worthy of consideration based on recent races, the connections are not the type to throw money away. The Millers obviously see something I don't and I respect that and place him with the last seat in the final.

CANTAB FASHION – Just never got back to his 2-year-old form.

MR VICTOR – Took money in the Reynolds but made a break. Was 32-1 against Gimpanzee from an inside post at Tioga, and lost by four with a two-hole journey.

OSTERC – Way too erratic, cannot recommend.

9th Race Hambletonian Elimination #2

GREENSHOE – There are few words to describe how much I loved this colt since his first baby race. He will dominate this group. The big mile by Don't Let'Em will make this colt 3-5 instead of 1-9.

PILOT DISCRETION – His two recent losses after winning his first six were both good performances. He should have been a much more realistic price on the morning line. I don't think he can win but should hit the board.

DON'T LET'EM – Miracle Mile in last outing. If the good boy shows up he will make the race interesting. Trouble is, that the bad boy shows up too often.

MARSEILLE – In top form, but in a field like this the post can hurt him. He is the only colt to defeat Greenshoe, but the circumstances of that event will not resurface here.

FORBIDDEN TRADE – I wish this colt had a start over the Meadowlands prior to the Hambletonian. The colt has a lot of talent and his connections are not the type to make an appearance unless they thought they belonged. He could be closer than where I placed him.

REIGN OF HONOR – Really surprised Nifty entered this colt and not Chin Chin Hall who seems to be getting on the right track at the right time. This colt is just looking for a check and may get lucky.

SUPER SCHISSEL – Love the connections, but the colt just doesn't have the speed to trot with these.

GERRY – With all the power in the Melander barn and three legitimate contenders, why is he here? Maybe the top Swedish driver can perform a miracle. Good luck.

her on my Road To The Hambletonian for about eight weeks. I never lost hope while she was playing practice at the Downs in Pocono. Now in against some great fillies I still give her the nod. She was awesome last week and will only be better off that effort.

EVIDENT BEAUTY – Last start was a beaut. No shame in losing to an undefeated filly. There will be more action in this race which will set up the come from behind style she is comfortable with. Could easily win it all.

MILLIES POSSESSION – Fabulous filly, hard to pick against but this won't be the walk in the park she is used to. Showed amazing guts holding off Evident Beauty last week. If they can beat her this would be the spot. Congratulations to Jules Siegel for breeding this great filly.

SOUTHWIND CASHA – John Bax didn't come across the border for nothing, the consistent Cantab Hall filly gets the fourth check.

QUEEN OF TRIX – Filly's last two were great. McCarthy finds a way to get her in position to get fifth money.

SONNET GRACE – Never returned to her great 2-year-old form. Top connections have been known to surprise.

SWEET CHAPTER – Simply not fast enough.

ASIAGO – Off form, but Tetrack on a tear, usable long shot.

PRINCESS DEO – Needed an inside post. Not from here.

MISS TRIXTON – Would merit more consideration if she was as fast as her dam.

Race 12 Hambletonian 94 FINAL

GREENSHOE WINS THE FINAL. I would predict a track, stakes, and world record, however the forecast as of this writing is for rain, so we will wait for the Kentucky Futurity.

PILOT DISCRETION – Will be second, although no threat to the winner.

GIMPANZEE – I select for third only because he is an unknown as to the speed factor being undefeated. He could surprise me and win or he could finish back, I really don't have a handle on his ability against real horses.

DON'T LET'EM – If the horse from last week shows up he will better my prediction, but with this fellow no one knows.

GREEN MANALISHI – Gets the final big check. 6-10 each get one per cent. Great day for "Baby Trainer" Marcus Melander.

The biggest and best 2019 Hambletonian Day numbers

by Bob Heyden

Important Hambletonian Day numbers:

- Nine out of the 24 track records listed in the Meadowlands program heading into Friday's card were set on a Hambletonian Day.
- Marcus Melander has four in the Hambletonian and five in the Peter Haughton final. Remember that the last million-dollar race (in U.S. funds) was won by Melander and Brian Sears-at better than 30-1 in the 2018 Yonkers International with Cruzado Del Noches. The combined record lifetime of the four-pack sent out by Melander in the Hambletonian is: 48 27-10-2.

- It will be the 94th Hambletonian and 39th at the Meadowlands.
- Pinkman, now 7, is 6-for-49 since his Hambletonian victory of 2015.
- Progeny of Muscle Hill make up six of the 16 in the Hambletonian elims and he is looking to sire his 4th straight Hambletonian Oaks winner.
- Three of the elimination horses for the Hambletonian have never been off the board: Pilot Discretion 8-8; Gimpanzee 12-12; Green Manalishi 14-14
- Tim Tetrick will look to extend his streak of being the only driver to win a Hambletonian elim at the Meadowlands three straight years.
- The last six Hambletonian Oaks have been the fastest ever, with the stakes mark of 1:50 coming in 2018 by Manchego.
- Twenty-one horses on the card are trained by a woman – Nancy Johansson leads the way with seven.
- The most money ever banked in a single trotting race was the $930,000 by the Ray Schnittker barn in 2008 when Deweycheatumnhowe won it and Make It Happen was third in the $1,500,000 race.

Swedish power

Look at how many different drivers the winning Swedish-born Hambletonian trainers have used:

1985 – Per Eriksson, Prakas used Bill O'Donnell
1991 – Per Eriksson, Giant Victory used Jack Moiseyev
1992 – Per Eriksson, Alf Palema used Mickey McNichol
1988 – Jan Johnson, Armbro Goal used John Campbell
1997 – Jimmy Takter, Malabar Man used Mal Burroughs
2001 – Stefan Melander, Scarlet Knight used himself
2010 – Jimmy Takter, Muscle Massive used Ron Pierce
2014 – Jimmy Takter, Trixton used himself
2015 – Jimmy Takter, Pinkman used Brian Sears
2017 – Ake Svanstedt, Perfect Spirit used himself

Other notes on Swedish trainers on this list include:

Prakas' 1:54.3 was the first sub-1:55 Hambletonian.

Giant Victory also won the Breeders Crown in 1991 and was a distant second to Precious Bunny in the Horse of the Year balloting.

Alf Palema did not win his prelim, but did capture the final as Per Eriksson became the first trainer to go 1-2 in the Hambletonian at the Meadowlands in 1992.

Armbro Goal won in 1988 and Jan Johnson became the first trainer to win the Hambletonian and the Hambletonian Oaks in the same season.

Mal Burroughs is the only amateur to win the million-dollar Hambletonian (1997 Malabar Man).

Muscle Massive became the highest priced yearling to win the Hambletonian in 2010 at $425,000. He defeated a $10,000 yearling by the name of Lucky Chucky.

Trixton was part of a powerhouse Takter trio of 2014, which included the favorite Father Patrick and the runnerup Nuncio. Oddly, even though John Campbell's first Hambletonian win was in 1987 with Mack Lobell the same year Takter sent out his first starter (Sir Taurus, sixth in elim no final), this was the first time they had teamed together in the Hambletonian.

Pinkman was driven by Sears for the first time in 2015 besting the post time favorite with Yannick Gingras Mission Brief and Ron Burke.

Ake Svanstedt's Perfect Spirit in 2017 became the second horse in three years to win the Hambletonian final after having post 10 in the elim (Pinkman).

Female sweep?

If Nancy Johansson trainee Don't Let Em wins the Hambletonian, it'll be a clean sweep of the North America Cup, Meadowlands Pace and the Hambletonian by female trainers.

Nancy Johansson won the NA Cup with at 4-1.

Linda Toscano won the Meadowlands Pace with Best In Show at 27-1.

Johansson was the caretaker for the 2004 Hambletonian favorite Tom Ridge, who dominated in his elim but faded badly (choked down, according to Ron Pierce) and missed the money that year. She made up for that big time with Muscle Massive and Pierce again in the 2010 Hambletonian, this time at 6-1.

Per Eriksson

Per Eriksson is doing color for Swedish TV for this year's Hambletonian.

He is one of three trainers to win at least three Hambletonians at the Meadowlands and finish 1-2 in at least one of them. (Jimmy Takter and Chuck Sylvester are the other two).

Eriksson drove in the 1983 Hambletonian at age 22.

He trained the first sub-1:55 winner in Hambletonian history Prakas (1985, 1:54.3).

He won three Hambletonians with three different drivers: Mickey McNichol, Bill O'Donnell and Jack Moiseyev.

He trained American Winner at 2 and a dispute cost him a shot for three straight Hambletonians.

All three of Per Eriksson's Hambletonians came before Jimmy Takter ever hit the board in this race – despite the fact they were born 17 days apart in 1960 in Sweden.

BETTORS BANQUET

Serious contenders, elim profits and a sharp shortcut for 2019 Hambletonian

by Frank CotoLO

Bettors Banquet's (BB) math and methods have a long history with the first Saturday in August at The Meadowlands. That means more than just a wagering relationship with the main events, the Hambletonian and Hambletonian Oaks.

The racing program highlighting those two trotting classics always presents a stream of stakes races that, by the very nature of their eminent classes, present betting opportunities on their own, as well as bet-backs reverberating in races for the future.

Our focus here, however, is on the glamor-boy-and-girl trotting events. They have particular value for wagering and, let's face it, they are as historic to wager upon as they are in the fabric of the sport.

BB's Hambletonian achievements through the years, however, have not been sterling in raw numbers. However, due to one aspect of the main event, and because of our sensible approaches to wagering, as we document in all of our BB columns, we have had satisfying profits.

The best aspect of the Hambletonian(s) for bettors is the same-day heat eliminations. Heat racing has been a marvelous tool for profits because it can present better prices to meet the demands of a personal odds line (POL). Mind you, there were Hambletonian heats, when they existed over the years that we passed on playing for POL reasons as well. Still, when meeting our estimations, the heats were more generous in their results than were some finals. Also, like in any other races wagered upon, luck and the lack of it comes into play for and against the bettor.

Two examples, in particular, come to mind. Thanks to the availability of elim heats in 2017, our POL directed us to a win wager on Perfect Spirit in the final, even after winning the elim heat that brought him to the final betting on another horse. It was, however, only due to the rare disqualification of the actual winner in the final that placed Perfect Spirit in the winning spot that we cashed on a double-digit price.

On the other hand, our POL measured considerable value on Father Patrick in the 2014 final, but his off-the-gate gallop rendered our bet worthless and the entire final moot to our bankroll.

Then, once in a while, a colt like Broad Bahn comes along and the crowd gifts a POL author with a double-digit win price far better than the POL demanded, and the race is clean, simple and a success from leaving the gate to the finish line.

Existential occasions aside, we won't be in the gamblers' hall of fame [sic] from a Brinks' truck worth of Hambletonian profits, heats of no heats. Our general win-wagering return on the Hambletonian (and Oaks) winners barely resembles the rewards of Ken Warkentin's brilliant call with 2003's Amigo Hall. Then again, that result had existential assistance as well.

This year, the Hambletonian is a POL spectrum. The first elim heat field is deep with talent already proven and some improving. The second elim heat field appears to be a mild prep for the final starring a frighteningly great trotter who 9.5 people out of 10 believe will be the 2019 champ.

Meanwhile, the "Oaks," sans elim heats, has two tiers of talent in its final. The Oaks — and other stakes on the card — provide enough information in their past performances for you to write POLs and find true value in strong contenders. This is not the case, of course, with the Hambletonian final, because of the elimination heats.

You may and should write POLs for the Hambletonian elim heats (because, obviously, there are past performances). You will not have the luxury of time, however, assigning odds (handicapping) for the final field. That does not mean you ignore wagering on the final. You can still get an edge to determine a play in the final.

How? BB offers a shortcut for writing a POL in the final.

It is a reasonably quick process that we have used in stakes with same-day elim heats through the decades (many other stakes races used the same-day heat methods before the format lost favor with the powers that be). The same-day elim-heat format was an edge for serious bettors. The week-before elims are fine, mind you, but there is a state-of-the-art gambling advantage to same-day elim heats that has benefited many a punter.

Now, back to the shortcut.

When the Hambletonian Final field is drawn, you should already have zeroed in on, at most, your three top contenders. This is because you have seen all horses coming into the final race already. Hopefully, some of your contenders from elim heats have made it into the final.

Even though the final field may include some unexpected entries, you must respect your original assigned odds for all horses — especially any horses you made contenders in the elim heats.

Writing a POL for the final should be a cinch once you establish your top three contenders. Instead of assigning every horse in the final field odds (percentages) to win using 100 per cent to spread over the entire field, use 80 per cent (give or take a point) for your top three contenders and make the remaining seven horses the "field," worth the remaining 20 per cent.

This does not break any mathematic rules. The final will include 10 horses. You will assign odds to three, those odds equaling 80 per cent. The other 20 per cent, those seven horses that are not your contenders, does not have to be specifically assigned odds.

For example, your three contenders could be assigned odds 2-1, 2-1 and 6-1 ($33 + 33 + 14 = 80$). Or, 9-5, 5-2 and 6-1 ($36 + 29 + 14 = 79$). Or 6-5, 3-1 and 10-1 ($46 + 25 + 9 = 80$).

These are the prices you demand, the same way you demand prices with any full-measured POL, and you wager when your demands are met based upon the public's opinions. The special circumstances here, of course, are that you may have already profited from wagers in one or both of the elims, so passing the final maintains your profit from the Hambletonian.

Crossing trotters with pacers, the value of earplugs and my most memorable Hambletonians

by Ron Gurfein

Tidbits: This weekend makes it all worthwhile. Usually a prohibitive favorite in the Hambletonian makes for less excitement and a shorter field. Neither of which seems to be the case this year. I have received so many emails in regards to what – till he proves otherwise – I will nickname “the Wonderhorse of my era.” People were not concerned as to the outcome of the race as to the performance of Greenshoe. However, with just a week to go, the Green Hornet (Yannick Gingras), who I was certain would be Melander’s choice to drive his undefeated Gimpanzee, went a miracle mile in the Reynolds with Team Johansson’s Don’t Let’Em stopping the teletimer in 1:50.2 after being parked the entire mile and winning by five lengths.

I have had the pleasure of sitting behind some of the greatest horses that ever lived and had many head scratchers but none compare to the ups and downs of this colt.

Looking back to my 12 editions of the Guru’s Road To The Hambletonian it seems that every week I was saying what a great job Nancy Johansson did turning this colt around only to reverse myself the following week and declare Nancy has to go back to the drawing board. If the obviously very talented colt can repeat that effort in his next two races he could well make the race a whole lot more interesting than I thought 10 days ago.

Do I think Don’t Let’Em has a chance to beat Greenshoe? Absolutely NOT.....

His high speed could create a scenario that would cause Greenshoe to trash the Hambletonian record with a sub-1:50 effort.

If you look elsewhere in this issue you will find my in depth handicapping of both the Hambletonian and the Oaks. GOOD LUCK!!!!

How’s this for a Harness Racing Update? Since the timely demise of team Josh Marks/Gareth Dowse, Thanks in part to my friend Ray Schnittker, the horses have been dispersed to a variety of new trainers. I have taken note that some of these horses have actually improved in their new surroundings. Change of scenery must be the only logical answer. Stay tuned, this could get interesting.

Congratulations to my friend Steve Starr announcing his retirement after almost half a century as racing secretary at Yonkers Raceway. In all my years racing there I always knew how I would be received when I walked through the doors of your office. You truly made life easier for many horseman. Enjoy your new life.

Andreas Jonsson (from Sweden) asks: How big a success has it been to cross trotting/pacing mares with trotting/pacing stallions. I know about Googoo Gaaga. But how difficult is it to succeed with this cross?

Today, it would be like being hit by lightning, not because it couldn’t work but the speed of today’s competitive trotter is derived from expensive blood. The champions all come from sires with high price tags, therefore it would be unusual to find a breeder that would experiment with a pacing mare on a big ticket stallion.

Back in “the day” it wasn’t an everyday happening, but it was far more evident. I remember John Patterson Sr. had an Overtrick mare named Trickery, she had some nice trotters. Keystone Sandal had Sandy Bowl. Glad Rags (Greentree Adios) had the great Swedish stallion Zoot Suit. In the reverse direction, La Pomme Soufflé was a Nevele Pride that had the good pacer French Chef. Doe Hanover had pacer Egyptian Pride and trotter Egyptian Candor. Sir Dalrae was a top pacer by the trotting sire Porterhouse. One of the foundation mares The Old Maid could throw either gait.

Speed is definitely the answer as to why this phenomenon no longer exists. In the time that these crosses existed, pacers were going in 1:57 and trotters 2:00. It was easier then.

I trained a Tar Heel filly out of Sara Black for Lew Williams one winter till she had been around 2:07 and finally put the hobbles on her.

My thanks to Bob Marks. Without his expertise I never would have tackled this question.

Frank Black asks: I asked the USTA to look into a particular race where the driver looked like he was kicking the horse. I was told that the driver was pulling the earplugs can you explain?

Earplugs are used to keep a horse calm in the post parade and going to the gate. When they are pulled the outside noise returns and supposedly give the horse a green light to go on. The plugs are either cotton or sponge and are attached to a string. The string is threaded through the harness and back to the driver where it is attached to either the handhold or the bike, a driver's preference. Most prefer the bike where they can lift their foot out of the stirrup and pull the plugs without using their hands. There is a big difference in the foot action of kicking and pulling the plugs. When a driver pulls the plugs his foot goes straight up in the air not pointed in any way toward the horse. When a driver kicks a horse it is much less evident as he will drop a leg and kick a hock (hind knee) or some part lower down as to not be seen by the judges. With the plethora of fines being handed out the amount of kicking has diminished a lot in recent times.

Paul George asks: You have been in the sport for a very long time. What are the most memorable Hambletonians you have seen?

I have seen almost every Hambletonian since Nevele Pride and to me they were all memorable. Being a part of the race history myself I am a bit prejudiced. I loved the dominant performances of Muscle Hill and Self Possessed, and the dead heat of Park Avenue Joe and Probe was truly exciting. Being petrified as Victory Dream went behind the gate in 1994, and going on to win my first Hambletonian was truly memorable.

However, the one that tops them all, not just in my mind but in the minds of most of the onlookers that hot August afternoon in 1996, was the stretch drive of Continentalvictory and Lindy Lane. The two best horses and two top drivers (Michel Lachance, and Bill O'Donnell) head and head, toe to toe the entire length of the long, long, long, Meadowlands stretch was a heart stopper. How my heart didn't give out is a question I ask myself often. People always ask me if I thought I was going to win at the top of the stretch and my answer was surely no. But as they got closer to the finish line my hopes became stronger with every stride as the filly was holding firm. Could she sustain it to the finish with her beautiful black tail in the air almost waving at the crowd going by? Yes she did, and to my amazement I survived that hundred and twelve seconds to talk about it.

Thanks to all of you for your kind words. You encouraging notes are what keeps me going. Please don't take the Meadowlands intermission in racing to think everything stops. The Grand Circuit moves west and south. The Red Mile meet is already under way and a visit to Lexington, I promise will serve you well. Please keep the questions coming in because without them I am out of work. Enjoy the big weekend of racing and have a wonderful week.

Strom happy with Hambletonian trio

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

After weeks of seeing his horses at the top of the Hambletonian rankings, Anders Strom is finally just a day away from watching his group race in the $1 million event for 3-year-old trotters Saturday at The Meadowlands.

Strom, who races as Courant Inc., co-owns Greenshoe and Gimpanzee – who sit in the top two spots in Meadowlands announcer/analyst Ken Warkentin's final Road to the Hambletonian ratings – as well as No. 4 Green Manalishi S. Greenshoe and Gimpanzee have occupied the top positions for all 11 weeks of the rankings.

All three horses are trained by Marcus Melander.

"It feels just great," Strom said. "Obviously, I hoped all three would stay sound and healthy for entry into the big race and here we are. Marcus has had a good plan for the three and, so far, it has worked out just fine."

Greenshoe has won four of five races this year, with his only loss a second-place finish by a head to Marseille in the Earl Beal Jr. Memorial. Greenshoe heads to the Hambletonian off a 1:50.1 win in his division of the Stanley Dancer Memorial on July 13 at The Meadowlands. The time is the fastest of the season for a 3-year-old trotter.

"He is the most capable and he has matured well this season and looked better for every start," said Strom, who owns Greenshoe with former New York Red Bulls coach Hans Backe, Lars Granqvist, and Morten Langli. "He lost in the Beal, but I just saw that as a minor bump in the road; the horse finished fantastically and looked really sharp."

New Jersey

"For me, he is one of those horses that there are only 10 of each century. Muscle Hill was the last one and I believe Greenshoe is of a similar caliber"

Gimpanzee is undefeated in 12 career starts and will try to become only the second unbeaten horse to win the Hambletonian. Deweycheatumnhowe accomplished the feat in 2008. Gimpanzee, owned by Courant Inc. and Lennart Agren's S R F Stable, was the 2018 Dan Patch Award winner for best 2-year-old male trotter. He is 3-for-3 this year, with all his starts in state-bred restricted races in New York.

"Gimpanzee is so smart," Strom said. "He has not put one foot wrong and it will be very interesting to see him in this situation on Saturday. Even if he doesn't win the Hambletonian, I think he will be one of the top horses when we summarize the 3-year-olds toward the end of the season."

Green Manalishi S has won two of four races this season. He heads to the Hambletonian off a win in a division of the Tompkins-Geers on July 20. He finished second in a division of the Stanley Dancer Memorial, behind Swandre The Giant, and third in the Beal Memorial.

Dave Landry

Owner Anders Strom of Courant Inc.

The colt has finished in the top three in all 14 career races, winning seven. He is owned solely by Courant Inc.

“Green Manalishi has been raced with one eye on the rest of the season; there is an option to ship him to Sweden for the $1.1 million Kriterium, which is 1-1/2 miles for Swedish-born horses that should suit him as a glove,” Strom said. “But we haven’t decided yet. He looks like he is trending upwards and I believe he can race well on Saturday.”

Sixteen horses entered the Hambletonian, so two eight-horse eliminations will be contested Saturday and the top-five finishers from each division will advance to the final later that afternoon. The Hambletonian Day card begins at noon. The Hambletonian and Hambletonian Oaks will be featured during a live 90-minute broadcast on CBS Sports Network from 4-5:30 p.m. (EDT).

“All three horses are very strong and sound, so two heats will normally work in our favor, even if you never can be sure if the individual horse is suited for racing twice on the same day,” Strom said. “Our horses have proven that they are more than able, but I have respect for the opposition; any horse can lose on the day. Fingers crossed!”

‘Class Clown’ Don’t Let’em has got all the tools

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Nancy Johansson is fond of her Hambletonian contender Don’t Let’em, even if the colt is not always the best student.

“He would be the kid in the classroom that’s always in the corner, the class clown,” Johansson said with a laugh. “But I’ve liked him since the first time he ever set foot on the farm. You know why? He’s always so happy.

“I think that’s why he gets himself in trouble.”

Don’t Let’em is the 4-1 second choice in Saturday’s second of two $70,000 Hambletonian Stakes eliminations at The Meadowlands. Greenshoe, this year’s fastest 3-year-old trotter with a mark of 1:50.1, is the 4-5 choice.

The top-five finishers in each elimination return for the $1 million final later in the day. The Hambletonian and $500,000 Hambletonian Oaks will be aired live as part of a 90-minute broadcast on CBS Sports Network beginning at 4 p.m. (EDT). The Hambletonian Day card starts at noon.

Don’t Let’em is in his first year with Johansson’s training stable after spending his 2-year-old campaign with her father, now-retired Jimmy Takter. Last year, Don’t Let’em dazzled on Hambletonian Day, winning the Peter Haughton Memorial in a stakes-record 1:51.4. He ended the season with four wins and a second (by a nose) in 10 starts. He went off stride in all five of his off-the-board finishes.

This year, Don’t Let’em has gone off stride once in four races. He has two wins and a second (again by a nose) and heads to the Hambletonian off a career-best 1:50.2 victory in the Reynolds Memorial last week at The Meadowlands.

“He’s fast,” Johansson said. “I don’t know if he’s as fast as Greenshoe, but we’ll see. If he can just behave, he can be right there. And he’s strong too. He was parked the entire mile in the Reynolds; he never saw the rail until the stretch. So, he’s got all the tools. It’s just all the puzzle pieces need to be put together in the right spot Saturday.”

Johansson, who was the caretaker of 2010 Hambletonian winner Muscle Massive, started her own stable in 2013. She was harness racing’s Rising Star Award winner in 2014, when she trained Horse of the Year JK She’salady. She trained two Don't Let'em and trainer Nancy Johansson.

Dan Patch Award recipients in 2018 and both will be in action on Hambletonian Day: Captain Crunch in the Cane Pace for 3-year-old pacers and 4-year-old Kissin In The Sand in the Lady Liberty for female pacers.

Her best finish in the Hambletonian came in 2014, when Resolve was fifth.

Don't Let'em, a son of Muscle Hill—Passageway, is owned by breeder Brittany Farms, Christina Takter, John Fielding, and Herb Liverman. All are past winners of the Hambletonian.

The most recent horse to win the Peter Haughton Memorial at age 2 and come back the following year to win the Hambletonian was Muscle Hill.

Johansson will go into the Hambletonian with an outlook to mirror her colt's sunny disposition.

"I don't really have any expectations because I can just be happy then," Johansson said.

Engblom's Hambletonian debut

Per Engblom is making his Hambletonian debut with his own stable, but is no stranger to the race after spending the past six years as the top assistant to now-retired Hall of Fame trainer Jimmy Takter. Engblom was part of two Hambletonian victories during that time frame, with Trixton in 2014 and Pinkman in 2015.

The 39-year-old Engblom will send two horses into the Hambletonian, 15-1 Osterc in the first elimination and 10-1

Super Schissel in the second. Osterc was the 2018 Pennsylvania Sire Stakes champion and Super Schissel won the 2018 Matron Stakes. Both were trained by Takter last season.

“So far, we feel good,” Engblom said. “I try to do what we always did here, taking it easy and don’t step too much out of the line. We try to follow the routine and do what we always do. Hopefully the program we put together for the horses will have them peak at the right time.

“I’ve been around enough to know we’re not going in as favorites. I know we’re going in to try to make the best we can.”

Osterc, a son of Cantab Hall—Oh Oh Hereshecomes, has won three of eight races this year including the Dexter Cup for breeders/owners Goran Falk and Christina Takter. He went off stride in two of his past three races, but Engblom attributed the miscues to shoeing. The colt enters the Hambletonian off a fourth-place finish in a division of the Tompkins-Geers on July 20.

“We went back to the old shoes and away we went,” Engblom said. “He’s a little tight gaited and if his timing is not right it makes a big difference for him. I think we’ve got him back on track. He’s just a great racehorse to be around. He always tries his heart out.

“The (Tompkins-Geers) turned into a sprint. He came home in :27 and that’s about as fast as he can come home, but he can take a lot of air. If the race sets up with different fractions, he’s going to benefit from that.”

Super Schissel, who has a conditioned win among six starts this season, heads to the Hambletonian off a third-place finish in last week’s Reynolds Memorial, when he started from post 12 in a 12-horse field and was timed in 1:51.4. Engblom plans to race the colt, a son of Uncle Peter-Bavarde owned by Al Libfeld and Perry Soderberg, barefoot on Saturday.

“We saved that all year, now it’s time,” Engblom said. “That’s going to clean him up (gait-wise) a little bit. If we take his shoes off, he can trot a little bit faster. He can leave the gate a little bit faster and be a little more in the game. He trotted (1):51.4 with a little road trouble so if we can make him five or six lengths better, he can pick up a check.”

Campbell on Cantab Fashion

Cantab Fashion got a late start to his 2019 campaign, making his seasonal debut on July 20 with a third-place finish in a division of the Tompkins-Geers at The Meadowlands. He returned to action last week and was fourth in the 12-horse Reynolds Memorial.

“He unfortunately got stuck behind a 100-1 shot, but I thought he raced really good,” trainer Jim Campbell said about Cantab Fashion’s most recent effort. “He showed some good trot getting out of there and held his own finishing after getting backed up a little bit.”

No 2-year-old trotter was faster than Cantab Fashion last season. Cantab Fashion put together a five-race win streak, including two stakes victories at Lexington’s Red Mile, during his seven-start campaign and tied for the season’s fastest time with a 1:51.4 mile.

Campbell won the 1995 Hambletonian with Tagliabue and the 2009 Hambletonian Oaks with Broadway Schooner. Both trotters were owned by the wife-and-husband team of Arlene and Jules Siegel. Jules Siegel was inducted into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in 2018.

Siegel’s Fashion Farms is the breeder and owner of Cantab Fashion, a son of Cantab Hall—Defiant Donato.

“I was happy (with the first race) and I think he was better and stronger last week,” Campbell said. “It’s not the ideal situation, but it is what it is. I think he’s got enough into him. It’s going to be an interesting day. There are a lot of good trotters out there. I guess it’s all going to depend how everything sets up.”

In addition to Cantab Fashion in the Hambletonian, Campbell will send Millies Possession (also undefeated, with eight wins) to the Hambletonian Oaks, Real Cool Sam into the Peter Haughton Memorial, and Crystal Fashion (last year’s fourth-place finisher in the Hambletonian) into the John Cashman Memorial.

LeBlanc anxiously awaits Hambletonian with Pilot Discretion

Plus, thoughts from Ake Svanstedt on his duo and Team Miller on trying to hit the Hambletonian board four years in a row.

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

In past years, when Robert LeBlanc went to The Meadowlands to watch the Hambletonian, he always thought how cool it would be to have a horse in the race. This year, he finds out.

LeBlanc, a retired vice-president at IBM who has partnered on horses in trainer Tony Alagna's stable for three years, is among the owners of Pilot Discretion. The colt competes in the second of Saturday's (Aug. 3) two $70,000 Hambletonian Stakes eliminations at the Big M, where the top-five finishers from each division return for the $1 million final later in the day.

Pilot Discretion will start from post three with Andy McCarthy in the sulky. He is 10-1 on the morning line. Greenshoe is the 4-5 favorite in the division.

The Hambletonian Day card begins at noon. The Hambletonian, the sport's premier race for 3-year-old trotters, and $500,000 Hambletonian Oaks, restricted to 3-year-old female trotters, will be featured during a live 90-minute broadcast on CBS Sports Network from 4-5:30 p.m. (EDT).

"As an owner, this is our race," said LeBlanc, a Canadian who now resides in Austin, TX. "Everybody wants to be in the Hambletonian. Having a horse that's good enough, it may never happen again. But I'm enjoying the ride. Tony and the team have done an amazing job with him. Tony has managed him very well and he just keeps getting better and better."

Pilot Discretion has won six of eight career races and never finished worse than third, earning $174,029. He was 2-for-2 in 2018 but saw his season end because of sickness. The son of Muscle Hill—Self Indulgent won his first four races this season, including the Goodtimes Stakes, before finishing second to Greenshoe in a division of the Stanley Dancer Memorial and third in a division of the Tompkins-Geers Stakes.

"We raced him in the Tompkins-Geers just to get him another race because he'd had a month break between the Goodtimes and the Dancer," Alagna said. "We wanted to race him and give him last week off. We raced him off the pace; we didn't want to put him on the front again in his last start since we put him on the front in the Dancer. He closed very well, :26.3.

"He seems great. He's very fresh. Even the night I warmed him up his last start at the Meadowlands, he was bucking and playing and kicking just going his first trip. He hasn't done that in the last couple starts. So, I think he's as fresh as a horse could be going into it."

For LeBlanc, who owns Pilot Discretion with Dave Anderson and John Fodera, it's been difficult to wait for Hambletonian time to arrive.

"I've got no more fingernails, I've bitten them off," LeBlanc said. "It's been a buildup every week. I'll be pretty wound up by Saturday. I'll be super excited. I've already told my wife that I have to watch the race outside (the grandstand) because I'll be the one screaming the loudest.

"If you see a lunatic screaming if he's coming down the stretch with a shot (to win) you know it will be me. Every owner will be a lunatic, absolutely. That's the fun of it. This is what makes this game so much fun."

Svanstedt's duo

Ake Svanstedt, who won the 2017 Hambletonian through disqualification with Perfect Spirit, will send two horses into Saturday's event. Marseille is 5-1 in the second elimination where Greenshoe is the 4-5 favorite, and Soul Strong is 8-1 in the first elim, where Gimpanzee is the 2-1 choice.

Svanstedt trains both horses and will drive Marseille, who is owned by Svanstedt, Stefan Balazsi's Order By Stable, and Howard Taylor. Dexter Dunn is listed to drive Soul Strong, who is owned by Cees Faber's Stable Why Not.

Marseille upset Greenshoe to win the Earl Beal Jr. Memorial on June 29. For the year, he has won three of five races and never been worse than third. The son of Muscle Hill—Order By Wish heads to the Hambletonian off a career-best 1:51.4 victory in a division of the Tompkins-Geers on July 20.

"He raced good the last time and he is training normal," Svanstedt said.

Marseille was limited to four races last year because of soreness. When he returned this year, his behavior left much to be desired. The connections considered gelding Marseille but decided to hold off and gave the colt another opportunity to show improvement. He finished second in a qualifier and then won his seasonal debut, which ended the discussion.

"Maybe he heard what we were talking about," Svanstedt said, smiling. "After he qualified and started racing, his head changed totally. He is not a stud when he comes to race. He has focus. He is a real racehorse and he wants to race. He is all business.”

Soul Strong was winless in eight races last year but has won three of six starts in 2019. He finished second to Marseille in the Tompkins-Geers.

“He was not so good gaited when we started but his gait is better and better,” Svanstedt said. “He was always a little sore and it was a balance how much we could train and race. But he has a good heart and has gotten stronger and stronger. We gelded him over the winter, and he is better now. He is older and stronger. He is going to be faster and faster.”

Svanstedt, like many others, considers Greenshoe the horse to beat.

“Greenshoe is No. 1 but behind him it’s wide open,” Svanstedt said. “In the Hambletonian, there is good money behind the winner also. Of course, I want to win. But I must be realistic.

“It’s tough to be (in the Hambletonian). Everything must be a hundred percent perfect that day. When all the horses are on the same level, it can be the post position and the horse must be a hundred percent that day. Everything must be good.”

Team Miller on keeping streak alive

Team Miller — the wife-husband duo of trainer Julie and driver Andy — has hit the board in the past three Hambletonians and is hoping for more of the same on Saturday with Summit In Sight. The colt is 20-1 on the morning line in the first elimination, where Gimpanzee is the 2-1 favorite.

“He is a longshot for the race but we’re going to give him a chance,” Julie Miller said. “We think we’ve got him sharp and ready. Basically, we need a lot of luck and hopefully he puts his best foot forward.”

Summit In Sight, owned by Natalia Stroy’s Stroy Inc. and the Andy Miller Stable, was limited to two races in 2018 after suffering a bout of colic in the spring. He began this year with a sixth-place finish before putting together a streak of six starts where he finished either first (four times) or second. The string was broken when he went off stride and finished eighth in the Beal Memorial final. He heads to the Hambletonian off a fifth-place finish in a division of the Dancer.

“We shut him down thinking he could be a nice 3-year-old,” Julie said about the son of Muscle Hill—Bluff. “We got him ready early and he flashed some talent. He had some unfortunate luck in the Beal with how the fractions of the race went; we really thought we had a good chance in there.

“I trained him at the Meadowlands on Saturday just to get a good mile in him. I’m hoping I’ve got it all into place. He really developed from (age) 2 to 3 maturity wise. His gait got more extended and he grew up mentally as well. He’s a more manageable horse, so however Andy chooses to drive him, suits him.”

Team Miller’s past three finishes in the Hambletonian were a second by Met’s Hall in 2018, third-placed second by Devious Man in 2017, and fast-closing third by Sutton in 2016.

“Hopefully we can keep that momentum going,” Julie Miller said.

A kiss for good luck

Wallin duo need to overcome outside posts in Hambletonian Oaks

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

After watching his two Hambletonian Oaks finalists on Tuesday draw posts eight and nine in the $500,000 event's 10-horse field, trainer Lucas Wallin, a 26-year-old in only his third season of racing his own stable, handled the outcome with the philosophical aplomb of a veteran.

"We could be happier after the draw, but someone has to race from eight and nine, I suppose," said Wallin, who sends Queen Of Trixs (post eight) and Princess Deo (post nine) into the sport's top race for 3-year-old female trotters Saturday (Aug. 3) at The Meadowlands. "There's nothing you can do. We just have to deal with it.

"Both horses came out of their eliminations very good. I couldn't be happier with them. We need a little more luck and hopefully (the field) races to the half so we can get into it. There are a couple of horses in there that can mix it up a little bit. It's hard from out there, that's for sure. But anything can happen."

Wallin grew up in Sweden, where he was driving ponies at the age of 8. Several years later, he began helping at his uncle Joakim Wallin's stable. In mid-2014, he was alerted to an opportunity to work for Ake Svanstedt's stable in the U.S. by childhood friend Oskar Florhed. Wallin spent two years with Svanstedt before deciding to go on his own.

Since then, Wallin's stable has won 59 of 362 races and earned $789,548 in purses. Saturday's trip to the Oaks will put him on harness racing's big stage, not only within the sport but beyond. The Oaks and $1 million Hambletonian will be broadcast live on CBS Sports Network as part of a 90-minute show beginning at 4 p.m. (EDT).

"It's very, very big for me," said Wallin, who is the only trainer with multiple horses in this year's Oaks. "You know you're doing something right. We're very lucky to get nice horses to work with.

"It's tough to describe how big it is. A lot of trainers have done this longer than me and have never been to the Oaks, so I'm very fortunate and happy to be there. The whole team has worked so hard, so it feels very good for everyone to get in the final like this. It gives you a real boost, that's for sure."

Queen Of Trixs finished third in her Oaks elimination, behind undefeated Millies Possession and Evident Beauty. For the year, she has won two of six races and earned $57,125 for Mario Mazza's Mazza Racing Stables. One of her victories came in a preliminary round of the New Jersey Sire Stakes. She finished sixth in the final.

"She got a little tough trip in the final," Wallin said. "These two last races, she's really improved. She is a really honest horse and very nice to be around. She is very small, but she's really, really fast. So, coming into this season we had big hopes for her. She always gives a hundred percent. When you look at her, she doesn't look like a top filly, nothing you would keep your eyes on. But she knows what to do."

Queen Of Trixs raced barefoot in her Oaks elimination and Wallin plans to keep the shoes off Saturday.

"That has been the plan for a couple of months, so we have prepared for that," Wallin said. "It should not be a problem. But now they say it is going to rain Saturday, so we'll see about the track. The track sometimes gets a little hard after the rain. But that's the plan at least now."

Princess Deo is a newcomer to Wallin's barn, having spent the beginning of the season with trainer Richard "Nifty" Norman. The filly has raced twice for Wallin, finishing fifth in a division of the Tompkins-Geers Stakes and third in her Oaks elimination, which was won by When Dovescry. Princess Deo started from post 10 in the elim.

"I have to thank the owners for giving me the chance to train this nice filly, they could send her to anyone," said Wallin, who trains the filly for owners Deo Volente Farms, Tom Pontone, and John Fodera. "Nifty did a really good job with her all winter. He's the one that trained her, we haven't done too much."

Princess Deo is winless in six races this year, but she was second in last year's Goldsmith Maid and Kindergarten Classic Series final.

Ken Weingartner

Trainer Lucas Wallin.

“You feel right away it’s a special filly,” Wallin said. “She has a very big personality. She wants things in her own way, you just have to listen to her. That’s what the groom has done and when we drive her, we let her be. She’s the boss. But you feel when you train that she is something special. She showed it last year.

“We probably got her at the right time. We haven’t done too much work. We do our routines, and she likes it. It feels like she is going to be better and better for each race. She hasn’t raced too much this year. I wasn’t sure if this race came a little too early, but she really showed that she belongs here.”

Racing begins at noon Saturday at The Meadowlands.

Real Cool Sam and driver David Miller.

Birth of the 'Cool'

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

When owner Jules Siegel gets ready to watch his horses race at The Meadowlands, he often can be found pacing the track's apron, isolated from friends and fans, walking off his nerves. One day as Siegel went through this routine, a man approached him and asked what he was doing.

"I said, 'I'm pacing, hoping that the horse is going to win today,'" Siegel said. "He stayed with me and every time after that, if I had a horse racing and he saw me down on the apron pacing, he came down and gave me some confidence."

The man was Sam McKee, the beloved Meadowlands announcer, broadcaster and Communicators Hall of Fame member, who passed away in 2017. That same year, Siegel's world-record-setting mare Cooler Schooner gave birth to a trotting colt by Muscle Hill. Siegel thought highly of the horse and decided to name him in honor of McKee.

Real Cool Sam.

"I really appreciated what Sam did," said Siegel, the owner of Fashion Farms. "I realize he did things for a lot of people, but to me it was a very personal thing. I know other people have done the same thing (naming horses in McKee's honor) but for me it was something special."

Siegel could remember his horses losing only once when McKee kept him company. Real Cool Sam is keeping the winning ways going. The trotter, trained by Jim Campbell, is 4-for-4 heading into Saturday's (Aug. 3) $324,550 Peter Haughton Memorial for 2-year-old colts and geldings at The Meadowlands.

Real Cool Sam won his Haughton elimination last week in

New Jersey

1:54.1, the fastest time of the season for a freshman male trotter. He starts Saturday from post four with David Miller in the sulky and is the 2-1 morning line favorite.

"Obviously, he's off to a real good start," Campbell said. "He's got a lot of talent. He's very versatile, he can race any way you want him to race. So far, he's been a true professional and hasn't done anything wrong. Pretty much right from the word go, he showed he was very athletic, very light on his feet."

Synergy, trained by Per Engblom, is the 5-2 second choice in the Haughton. He has won both his starts this season, including a 1:54.4 score in his Haughton elimination. Stay Close, trained by Joe Holloway, is 5-1 after finishing second to Synergy a week ago.

Real Cool Sam has won his four starts by a total of nearly 14 lengths. His start from post four in the Haughton final will be his first from a post inside of six.

"He's done everything we've asked of him, and more," Campbell said. "It's going to be a tough race when you put those good colts all in together. I'm not a forecaster. We just take one race at a time with him."

Siegel, who was inducted into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in 2018, will have ample reason to stroll the apron at The Meadowlands on Saturday. In addition to Real Cool Sam in the Haughton, he will send Cantab Fashion to the Hambletonian, Millies Possession (also undefeated, with eight wins) to the Hambletonian Oaks, and Crystal Fashion to the John Cashman Memorial.

"It's been a fun ride," Siegel said.

Horsepeople delighted Leamington is set to open

Veteran horsewoman Cathy Gaudreau calls racing at Canada's southernmost track, "a family affair. All the people that race at Leamington, we've pretty well known them our whole life."

by Sandra Snyder | Sponsored by Ontario Racing

Heading into the Civic Holiday weekend, the midpoint of Ontario's summer harness racing season, there are a variety of special events on the calendar for fans and horsepeople.

On Saturday (Aug. 3), Hanover Raceway hosts its marquee event, with the $64,100 Dream Of Glory final for Ontario-sired 3-year-old trotters slated for Race 9 on the card. Post time is 6:15 p.m. to accommodate fireworks after the last race.

Complete entries for the card are available here.

Grand River Raceway presents its annual celebration of the province's harness racing community on Monday (Aug. 5). Industry Day features the $157,500 Battle Of The Belles Final for Ontario-sired 2-year-old pacing fillies and the $239,000 Battle Of Waterloo Final for Ontario-sired 2-year-year-old pacing colts. Also on tap for the afternoon, which gets underway at 12:30 pm, are five Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) Grassroots divisions for the 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings. The Grassroots competitors kick things off in the first race, with the finals capping off the afternoon's festivities in Races 10 and 11. Complete details about Industry Day, including a program, are available here.

Monday also marks the end of the Dresden Raceway meet and the half-mile oval will thank fans and horse people with a free corn roast. The first race goes behind the starting gate at 1:30 p.m.

Dresden's finale means that local horsepeople shift their focus to Leamington Raceway for the next 13 weeks. Leamington kicks off its season on Aug. 4 and will play host to a Sunday afternoon card each week until Oct. 27, with a first race post time of 1:30 p.m.

Regulars at both Dresden and Leamington, Cathy Gaudreau and Jim Napper, always look forward to the start of the season at Ontario's southernmost oval. The pair has been racing in the Windsor-Essex, Chatham-Kent area for decades and enjoys the family atmosphere found at the Leamington half-mile.

"The thing that we like most about Leamington is, it's like a family affair. All the people that race at Leamington, we've pretty well known them our whole life. It's funny, you lose a race, you don't mind losing to your friend," said Cathy Gaudreau with a laugh. "We were racing in Dresden on Sunday (July 28) and we were in with Gord McDonnell, who we've known since back in the Windsor days and we said, 'Well it's your turn to win this week Gordie. We won last week, your turn this week.' It's competitive, but it's friendly. After the races the people say, 'Good job, nice race, see you next week,' kind of deal."

In spite of Gaudreau and Napper's best wishes, McDonnell did not get the win as Blissfullannmarie chalked up her second straight for the couple and partner Steve Girard of Thamesville, ON. The win was the Blissfull Hall-Tommy White Sox mare's 32nd lifetime and pushed her earnings to $105,617.

"She's kind of our pet of the stable. She's a sweet, sweet little mare. She's very small, and she tries hard," said Gaudreau. "We've had her since she was a yearling, we broke her and trained her and we just love her. She's like a pony though, she's maybe 14 hands. She's just borderline horse."

The 8-year-old mare has carried the load for her six equine peers so far this summer, although Gaudreau is hoping that she will get some help through the Leamington meet.

"I'm starting a maiden probably on Monday. Her name is Shes A Gunslinger (Dali-Kendal Bullet), and she's going to try racing in Dresden for the first time, and hopefully she'll be racing in Leamington for the rest of the summer. And then we're probably going to qualify a little Sportswriter filly called Eataam Sport (Sportswriter-Warranova) in Leamington on Sunday," said Gaudreau. "We'll probably have her ready to go for the next week, so hopefully I'm going to have at least two or three racing for Leamington every week."

That's what my goal is anyway."

All seven horses are a bit behind schedule due to the heavy spring rains which made the sand jogging track on the couple's Bothwell, ON area farm unusable for a stretch.

"It was kind of a funny production here. We had a lot of water this year and we couldn't jog at home. We had six or seven of them jogging, so we'd harness them all up and load the bikes on the truck and the trailer; I have a three horse trailer, so we'd take two horses and two bikes and go over to Bothwell, unload them, go our mile, and load them back up and bring them home and strip them. And we'd do that like two or three times a day. The horses got really good at standing outside to get hooked and they all load well," said Gaudreau, laughing. "It was good practise for the 2-year-old (Jim Who). And my one mare, that Gunslinger mare, she hadn't been off the farm since we bought her as a yearling so it was really good for them."

When Windsor Raceway was in operation Gaudreau and Napper had as many as 10 horses racing regularly, but they have scaled back in recent years as local racing opportunities dwindled and the calendar pages continued to turn over.

"One mare I have that was good last year, she can't race any more, and we were going to keep her for a broodmare and I thought, oh we're just getting too old," said Gaudreau. "Jim's 69 this year and I'm going to be 65, so I'm thinking, by the time we got the horse racing I'll be approaching 70. If we want one, we'll just go buy one."

Through her 35-year training career Gaudreau has amassed 447 wins and earnings of $1.7 million. Last season she finished fourth in the Leamington Raceway trainer standings with six wins, three seconds and one third in 17 starts, and while she does not expect to match those stats this season, she is still looking forward to the track's opening day.

"They've really tried hard to put on a good program," she said. "I'm really excited to be part of Leamington, to race there."

In addition to the nine races (entries here), Leamington has an action-packed afternoon planned. Local radio station Country 95.9 will be on site, there is face painting for the youngest fans and retired standardbred Lenny will be on hand to accept carrots and neck scratches from fans of all ages. There are also a variety of giveaways and prize draws on tap, both Sunday and throughout the 13-week season.

"It's a busy, busy season. We usually draw decent crowds, and they seem to like everything we do," said track manager Ellie Mayhew, outlining a roster of 13 events that range from Kids' Day to an Apple fest. "We're a small track and maybe we don't have the best grandstand — we don't even have a toteboard, we use televisions — but the atmosphere is what people really love, because it's like a big family atmosphere and everybody is friendly and joking and laughing, talking all day. They just say they make new friends all the time."

Strong Ontario connections competing on Hambletonian Day

In addition to attending all the local special events, Ontario racing fans will be keeping an eye on Saturday's Hambletonian card. Eight Ontario-sired horses will compete on the program, led by Hambletonian hopeful Forbidden Trade (Kadabra–Pure Ivory), who gets Post 1 in the second elimination. A total of 30 Ontario residents have horses racing on the rich card of racing, with Marvin Katz and Al Libfeld leading the way with an ownership stake in five horses each. Toronto resident Katz has three horses just in the James Doherty Final for 2-year-old trotting fillies, while Pickering resident Libfeld has two in the same race.

Ontario trainers Blake MacIntosh (Courtly Choice and Sweet Chapter), Casie Coleman (Mcwicked), Luc Blais (Forbidden Trade and Emoticon Hanover), Paula Wellwood (Marion Marauder), John Bax (Southwind Casha), Ben Baillargeon (P L Jill) and Rene Dion (Shower Play) and driver Bob McClure (Forbidden Trade and Emoticon Hanover) are all heading south with their charges to compete on Saturday's card.

New trophy for Riordan's star

by Thomas Hedlund

Jerry Riordan's Ringostarr Treb (Classic Photo) ended his 2018 season with two off stride performances, the last one in International Trot at Yonkers in October.

Now, the 9-year-old Elitloppet winner is back for real and on Tuesday night he won the $333,500 Hugo Åbergs Memorial at Jägersro racetrack in Malmö, Sweden.

Paired with German driver Wim Paal, Ringostarr Treb opened quickly from post one behind the gate and the duo seemed to keep the front position, until Uza Josselyn challenged on the outside in the first turn. Paal had to surrender and Uza Josselyn was in the lead when the first 500 meters was reached in mile rate 1:45.2.

Ringostarr Treb followed in perfect spot behind the French leader, but the tough opening should have made Riordan's trotter more or less out of the game.

The son of Classic Photo left his position at the back stretch and Paal trusted his horse when Ringostarr Treb had to race without cover during the race's last 650 meters. In the home stretch, the duo got control of the race and left their opponents with a couple of lengths.

It seemed like Ringostarr Treb would capture this trophy quite easily, but, obviously, his power started to fade from fourth over as Propulsion rapidly accelerated far outside. Propulsion was late on it and could never catch Ringostarr Treb when the wire approached.

Riordan can now look back at three straight years that Ringostarr Treb has won a big stakes race in Sweden. In 2017, he captured the $208,000 Sundsvall Open Trot and in 2018 the Elitloppet went to Riordan and his champion trotter.

The mile rate in the Hugo Åbergs Memorial was 1:51.3.

"It's been a while since he won the Elitlopp and he has had his physical problems since then. Last winter the horse was in Italy for breeding business and the owner called me and said that he was ready for training again, and he was right. Ringostarr Treb is a small guy, but acts like a Jack Russell terrier on the track. He doesn't care about the size of his opponents," said Riordan.

Ringostarr Treb was supposed to race in Finland in June last year, just after the victory in Elitloppet, but when he arrived in Finland it turned out that the horse was affected by an infection in a joint and he had to rest during the summer. The fact that he now, as a 9-year-old, can make such a comeback at the track is nothing more than spectacular and, in some ways, significant for Swedish harness racing. Big money can be earned even if a horse has been in the game for a long time.

Propulsion, who chased his fourth consecutive win in the race, finished second ahead of Pastore Bob.

The race card at Jägersro contained more diamonds than just the Hugo Åbergs Memorial. In the $125,000 Breeders Course final for 3-year-olds, Alessandro Gocciadoro's Acciaio (Love You) came to the lead after 500 meters and driver Örjan Kihlström had everything under control when the field of eight horses turned for home. Acciaio sprinted to safe win in 1:54.4 ahead of first over racing Ubiquarian Face and Arden Wise As.

Riordan had one more winner on this night. In the $41,500 Prix Cagnes-sur-Mer for 4-year-olds, American-bred Classichap (Chapter Seven) flew to the front for driver Thomas Uhrberg and when five out of nine contenders disappeared by going off stride, the victory was quite safe in 1:53.1.

This was the first victory for Classichap since he came to Sweden. Last year, the 4-year-old son of Chapter Seven finished 7th in the final of Hambletonian for trainer Trond Smedshammer.

In the $41,500 Stoeliten for mares, Donato Hanover mare Double Exposure scored, what seemed to be a penalty kick from three meters, from the lead and Daniel Redén's 6-year-old came home in 1:54.2.

STANDARD BRED TRANSITION ALLIANCE

Inspect - Accredit - Grant

The Standardbred Transition Alliance (STA) is a non-profit organization whose mission is to accredit, inspect and award grants to approved organizations that acquire, rehabilitate, train and re-home Standardbreds.

Funding is generated across the Standardbred industry, including regulatory agencies, horsemen's groups, tracks, sales companies, farms, and individuals who participate as trainers, drivers, owners, and breeders.

The STA provides partial funding to accredited groups serving Standardbreds, ensuring donor confidence by setting high standards for the equine care and business practices of accredited groups.

The accreditation process includes examination of:

- Program leadership and design
- Financial reporting and budgeting
- Adoption screening and protocol
- Horse health care and training
- Inspection of all facilities

Accreditation ensures that horses receive excellent care and donors have confidence in their support.

You can help support the STA and accredited programs with a donation.

Grand River Raceway's Industry Day celebration details and preview

by Kelly Spencer / True Nature Communications

A race card worth $500,000 and a forecast of sunny skies will deliver one of the hottest afternoons in Canadian harness racing during Grand River Raceway's 29th Industry Day celebration on Monday, Aug. 5.

Industry Day kicks off its festivities and broadcast at noon EST with first race going to post at 12:30 p.m. Fans and families planning to attend the event should note that parking and admission are free.

Activities will include a free kids' zone from noon to 4 p.m. featuring a petting zoo, bouncy castles and face painting. A summer prize pack (valued at $2,000) and a $250 dollar betting voucher will also be up for grabs. The Central Ontario Standardbred Association will sponsor a Caretakers That Care Competition in which $1,500 in prize money will be won by Industry Day caretakers, recognizing their commitment and dedication to the sport's equine stars.

A 50/50 draw will be offered by the Ontario Standardbred Adoption Society, and the Drive A Racehorse crew will provide free guided trips around the racetrack in double-seated jog carts, between the races, for a limited number of lucky guests.

The much-loved Drivers' Edition of the Bouncy Pony Stakes will headline the half-time show after race 5.

Eleven races will be featured on the Industry Day card with purses amounting to $540,850. The 11-race card includes five divisions of Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) for three-year-old colt pacers.

The $157,500 Battle Of The Belles and the $239,000 Battle Of Waterloo each showcase nine of the province's best Ontario-sired rookie pacing fillies and colts. The finalists earned their berths in elimination races contested on July 29 at the Elora, ON half-miller.

Featured in this year's Battle Of Waterloo is elimination winner Beach Blanket Book who leaves from post 4. Trainer Blake MacIntosh will look to score his second Battle Of Waterloo victory since winning with another son of Sportswriter, Sports Column, in 2016.

Beach Blanket Book won his elimination with a sweep of the field in a maiden breaking score in 1:56.4. The colt is owned by Mac and Heim Stables as well as Hutt Racing Stable who also teamed up with Blake MacIntosh in 2016 as partners on Sports Column.

The second Battle Of Waterloo elimination winner Aneto will leave from the trailing position 9 for trainer Tim Gillespie and owner Synerco Ventures Inc. The Bettors Delight colt (one of three offspring of Bettors Delight in this field) also broke his maiden with his elimination win and was a coast-to-coast winner in 1:55.4 with driver Bob McClure.

The 22nd Battle of Waterloo also features trainers of past Battle champions such as Carl Jamieson who endeavours to score his sixth Battle Of Waterloo title with Sports Obsession leaving from post 5. Local trainers Scott McEneny and Ian Moore are seeking their second Battle title with Better B Swift (post 7) who was second in his elimination for McEneny and Denali Seelster (post 3) who finished fourth in his elimination.

Young teamster Teesha Symes will send out Mach Three colt Wind Blown from the coveted rail position (post 1). He was second by a head to Aneto after a gritty first-up journey in his elimination race.

If Wind Blown finds the winners circle for Symes, she would be the first female trainer, and the youngest (at 30) to win the Battle Of Waterloo. The victory would also give J Harris his first Battle Of Waterloo driving title.

Wind Blown would also add his name to the list of Mach Three offspring that have won this race, joining Machapelo, Three Of Clubs and the immortal Somebeachsomewhere.

The 11th annual Battle Of The Belles will feature Alicorn, a daughter of Bettors Delight, from post 4. Alicorn, matched the track record for 2-year-old fillies with her elimination win in 1:54.2 and also holds the record for the fastest divisional mile in OSS history with her recent Gold Series win in 1:51 over Woodbine Mohawk Park.

With Louis Philippe Roy in the bike, Alicorn was missionized early with a bold first-up move before the half mile marker against Sound Idea (with Sylvain Filion). Alicorn then drew off from the field to a margin of three-and-a-quarter lengths for owners Windermere Stable LLC and Robert Muscara. Trainer Chantal Mitchell will also seek Battle redemption after finishing second to Bronx Seelster with Bettors Wish in last year's Battle Of Waterloo.

The Battle Of The Belles will also feature elimination winner Queso Relleno with driver Jody Jamieson and trainer Blake MacIntosh from post 3. Jamieson shoots for his fourth Battle Of The Belles title with Queso Relleno who broke her maiden in an elimination race victory where she breezed by the field in 1:55.4. MacIntosh co-owns the daughter of Betterthancheddar with Hutt Racing Stable, Sue Vernon Smith, and The Flanagan Sisters.

MacIntosh will also send out Betterbeasecret from post 7 in the final.

The local father-and-son duo of Gregg McNair and Doug McNair (both of Guelph, ON) will send out Karma Seelster from post 8 in the Battle Of The Belles final. She won the third of three elimination races on Monday night. Karma Seelster, who holds the highest yearling price of any horse in the Battle Of Waterloo or Battle Of The Belles ($127,000) is a sister to Kokanee Seelster, Kendall Seelster and Kylie Seelster and is one of three daughters of Sportswriter in the field.

Karma Seelster would give sire Sportswriter his fourth Battle Of The Belles winner. For Team McNair, it would be their second Battle Of The Belles title.

Also featured in the field for the Battle Of The Belles is Temagami Seelster, who leaves from post 2 and was second in her elimination to Queso Relleno. Temagami Seelster, driven by J Harris is trained by 2018 Battle Of Waterloo winning trainer, Wayne McGean.

Trainer Amanda Fine, who celebrated her first training win in early July will send out elimination runner-up Highland Salsa from post 5, who impressively fought a closing Karma Seelster down the stretch.

The five OSS divisions will feature Silas Seelster and Missile Seelster – the winner and runner-up (respectively) in the City Of London Series raced earlier this year at The Raceway at Western Fair District. Both are campaigned by trainer Ian Moore.

2018 Battle Of Waterloo finalists Prestige Seelster, Better Moonon Over, Fast N First and Sports Teen will also return to Industry Day for sophomore OSS Grassroots action.

Leading OSS Grassroots starter Sugartown will also race on Industry Day, hunting for his third OSS Grassroots win of the season for trainer Richard Moreau and driver Louis Philippe Roy.

Long-time Yonkers race secretary Steve Starr was celebrated in the winner's circle this week after announcing his retirement after 47 years.

Yonkers race secretary Steve Starr retires

by Frank Drucker / Yonkers publicity director

Long-time Yonkers Raceway racing secretary Steve Starr retired effective Wednesday (July 31).

Starr has been 'putting together' Yonkers races since early 1976 after serving an apprenticeship under both Ed Parker and Richard O'Donnell. Of course, at that time, New York-area racing alternated, with three-month stays at Roosevelt Raceway and Yonkers.

Before leaving and turning over the big chair to assistant Bob Miecuna, Starr looked back.

"When I first started, we had classified racing, A, B, C, and paper eligibility, so the race office had more control," he said. "It was in the early 1990's that we went to condition racing.

"It became easier. The horses classify themselves and you don't have to be as observant."

Ask Starr about his favorite horsemen and you get names such as Buddy Gilmour ("Straight shooter. Would give you the shirt off his back and the shoes off his feet."), Lucien Fontaine and Ted Wing ("Professionals").

"I didn't have a problem with anyone as long as they were good to talk to and had nothing to hide," he said. "Maybe it's me, but I think the horsemen worked harder back then. Today, there seem to be three times as many trainers, owners and drivers, so we see a lot more people."

Starr spoke fondly of the Rooneys, whose ownership of the Raceway essentially spanned his time as racing secretary.

"I can't say enough good things about (former YR president) Tim (Rooney), (former general manager) Bob (Galterio) and the family. They allowed me to do my job, paid me a good salary and I was able to get married and raise my own family.

"I guess the best thing I could say is that I enjoyed my job and was 100 per cent ready to go to work every day," Starr said.

"I know people who make a lot of money and are good at their jobs, but hate it. I have no regrets.

As for the immediate future, "Spending time with the children and grandchildren.

"I owe my wife (Denise) a lot of vacations, so we're going to travel," Starr said. "By car. I don't like to fly."

Flying wasn't needed when Starr's visited the winner's circle, where Yonkers' horsemen and racing officials stopped by and wished him well.

Guardian Angel As wins Spirit of Massachusetts Trot in record time

Shartin N shatters all-time track record in Barton on Plainridge Park's big stakes day.

by Tim Bojarski for Plainridge Park and the HHANE

Guardian Angel As lived up to his billing in the $250,000 Spirit of Massachusetts Trot as he led every step of the way en route to an impressive victory, setting a new track record in the process.

Tim Tetrick wasted no time putting Guardian Angel As on the point, seating everyone else in the process before he hit the quarter in :26.4. Tetrick then slowed down the pace in the second panel to :28.3, forcing an outer flow that brought Weslynn Dancer (David Miller), La Grange A (Andy Miller) and Mambo Lindy (Drew Monti).

The field made its way up the backside and Weslynn Dancer eventually drew even with Guardian Angel As before they hit three-quarters in 1:22.4. There Tetrick tapped his horse twice and he shifted gears and opened up by a length. Down the lane Tetrick reminded Guardian Angel As his work wasn't quite finished and he tapped the wheel disk a couple times more and the trotter closed it out on his own, winning by a length in 1:51.3.

The time was a new track record for older trotting horses, smashing the standing mark of 1:53.4 set by Kodak Lindy in 2016 and was only one-fifth of a second off the all-time trotting mark of 1:51.2 set by JL Cruze in the inaugural edition of the Spirit of Massachusetts Trot back in 2017.

Guardian Angel As ($3.00) has now won five out of his last six races and the winner's share of the purse boosted his 2019 earnings to $312,934 for owners Acl Stuteri Ab and

Tom Melanson

Kjell Johansson. Anette Lorentzon trains Guardian Angel As.

Two races before that track record breaking performance, Shartin N put on a show of her own when she broke two standing Plainridge records in the $100,000 Clara Barton Distaff Pace.

Once again, the hot-handed Tetrick vaulted Shartin N to the front and took that position unopposed and from there she was simply a pacing machine. As Tetrick had his hands full with his mare on the bit, Shartin N went to the quarter in :26.3, the half in :55.1 and the three-quarters in 1:22.1 with the field just trying to keep pace.

When they made their way around the last turn you could see Shartin N starting to pull away. Tetrick was sitting statuesque without urging the mare at all while she was accelerating on her own towards the record book. Shartin N pulled away to a two-length margin and was wrapped up at the wire in 1:49.1.

Shartin N broke the aged pacing mare record of 1:50 set by Youaremycandygirl (Yannick Gingras) just three races earlier on the card and also the 14-year-old all-time pacing mark of 1:49.2 set by Maltese Artist in 2005.

It was the 10th win in a row and 11th of the season for Shartin N ($2.20) and it raised her 2019 earnings to $655,765 for owners Rich Poillucci, Jo Ann Looney-King and her driver Tim Tetrick. Jim King Jr. trains the 2018 Dan Patch Award winning mare.

"It was a great day of racing at Plainridge Park and it was good to see such a strong turnout of racing fans throughout the facility," said Steve O'Toole, director of racing at Plainridge Park. "It was also great to see Massachusetts native Rich Poillucci and Shartin N win the Barton and also Massachusetts natives Jim Winske, Paul Kelley and Steve Michaels finishing second with The Veteran in the Spirit."

2019 Hambletonian Future Wager Pool #4 now open

The final Future Wager on the 94th edition of the Hambletonian at The Meadowlands is now open and will remain open until Saturday, Aug. 3 at post time of the first elimination and/or heat of the Hambletonian scheduled for Race 8 with a post-time of 2:55 p.m. [EDT].

A winning ticket pays the closing odds in the pool before the first elimination of the Hambletonian, Race 8.

This is the final of four pools opened in advance of the Hambletonian.

Of the 101 trotting colts eligible for the $1 million Hambletonian, just 16 entered to race.

The Marcus Melander trained quartet of trotters – Greenshoe, Green Manalishi S, Gimpanzee and Gerry – have earned a combined $1.9 million to date and it's no surprise that Greenshoe is tabbed the Future Wager favorite at 2-1.

The first Future Wager poll closed with Indiana-sired Swandre The Giant favored at 2-1, but the Ron Burke trained Hambletonian hopeful is now 12-1.

The second Future Wager Pool closed with a drastic shift to the lightly-raced Greenshoe, whose two winning efforts in NJ Sire Stake events were nothing short of dominant. The colt offered 3-5 odds at closing time. Greenshoe remained the favorite in Pool 3 closing at 8-5.

Wagering will be available at racetrack and online sites throughout North America and internationally.

Real-time odds, pool data and updates on field participants for the 2019 Hambletonian Wagers and current odds will be shown on various simulcast shows including at the Meadowlands Racetrack.

The 14 horses assigned odds in the pool are listed in alphabetical order. The mutuel field, No. 15, will consist of Reign Of Honor and Summit In Sight.

The minimum future wager is $1 and all future wagers are win only. The winner of each pool will be determined by the official first-place finisher in the 2019 Hambletonian final heat.

Hambletonian card offers endless betting opportunities

Harness racing's greatest day will offer some of its best wagering opportunities on Saturday (Aug. 3) when the $1 million, 94th edition of the Hambletonian for 3-year-olds on the trot serves as the marquee event on a 16-race star-studded, stakes-laden extravaganza that gets underway at a special early post time of noon.

"If you are hosting the greatest program in harness racing, it has to be the greatest program for the horseplayers as well," said Meadowlands' chief operating officer and general manager Jason Settlemyer. "And with a plethora of low-takeout wagers along with carryovers and the biggest pools of the year, the Meadowlands has created enormous value for the horseplayer to wager on racing's greatest stars on our biggest day."

There will be six wagers on the program that could bring huge payoffs that will offer a low 15 per cent takeout:

- 20-Cent Survivor Pick-6 (Race 1)
- 50-Cent Pick-5 (Races 3-7) with a guaranteed pool of $50,000
- 20-Cent Jackpot Super High-Five (Race 7), which has a carryover of $7,000 and will have an estimated pool of $25,000
- 50-Cent Pick-4 (Races 8-11) with a guaranteed pool of $100,000
- 20-Cent Jackpot Super High-Five (Race 11), which has a carryover of $53,000 and an estimated pool of $150,000
- 50-Cent Pick-4 (Races 13-16) with a guaranteed pool of $50,000

The two Super High-Fives will not be offered on tonight's program. Both will be on the menu and paid out on Hambletonian Day.

"The 11th race on the card is the Hambletonian Oaks," said Settlemyer. "And that $500,000 event will offer a $53,000 carryover on the Super High-Five. We will pay out more than the amount wagered to the winners if the final pool is under $400,000 given the carryover and the takeout. From a betting standpoint, that is the greatest value wager at any racetrack on Saturday and will bring added interest from racing fans around the world to wager on the Hambletonian program."

In addition to the award-winning live in-house simulcast show that the Big M will send out all day long to outlets around the country and the world, the CBS Sports Network will present a live 90-minute telecast beginning at 4 p.m. with host Gary Seibel, the Communicators Hall of Famer and track announcer at Cal-Expo, and co-host Dave Brower, the lead TV personality at the Big M and author of the handicapping book "Harnessing Winners".

CBSN will televise three live races during its broadcast:

- $280,000 John Cashman Memorial for free-for-all trotters (4:10 p.m. post time)
- $500,000 Hambletonian Oaks for 3-year-old trotting fillies (4:40 p.m.)
- $1,000,000 Hambletonian for 3-year-old trotters (5:14 p.m.)

For those not coming out to the track, free live streaming will be available on the Meadowlands Facebook Live page. It will also be available on the Roberts Television Network (rtn.tv), which is not a free service.

For those who want an expert opinion on the Friday and Saturday race cards, go to playmeadowlands.com for track oddsmaker and analyst Brower's race reviews.

2019 Hambletonian broadcast live on CBS Sports Network

CBS Sports Network will present a 90-minute telecast of the $1 million Hambletonian, live from The Meadowlands Racetrack, East Rutherford, NJ, on Sat., Aug. 3, from 4 to 5:30 p.m. [EDT] The Hambletonian is the first and most prestigious leg of the Trotting Triple Crown.

The broadcast will re-air Sunday, Aug. 4 at 8:30 a.m.

CBS Sports Network has been the broadcast home of the Hambletonian since 2012, and will showcase the $500,000 Hambletonian Oaks, and provide coverage of the $280,000 John Cashman Memorial Trot.

"The Hambletonian is the premier harness racing event in North America," said Hambletonian Society president John Campbell, the organization that owns and administers 136 of racing's most important events. "The Hambletonian has been televised for 40 years and with the support of our broadcast partners, The Meadowlands, and the U.S. Trotting Association that is going to continue."

The on-air team for the Hambletonian is a stellar trio of award-winning harness racing veterans.

Gary Seibel, a former host of racing coverage on ESPN, NBC, CBS and TVG, will anchor the coverage. A member of harness racing's Communicators Hall of Fame, Seibel will be appearing on his 26th straight Hambletonian broadcast, including a 13-year run on CBS and a 5-year stint with NBC. Seibel is a veteran horse racing broadcaster, who has been widely recognized as one of network television's premier harness racing authorities for nearly three decades. Seibel will begin his seventh season as track announcer and TV simulcast host at Cal Expo racetrack in Sacramento, California.

Dave Brower, one of harness racing's sharpest handicappers, will co-anchor. Brower, a staple of The Meadowlands airwaves, recently returned to "Racing from the Meadowlands" television program on SNY, and is an alumnus of Fox Sports New York, MSG Networks and TVG's "Drive Time". He is the author of the bestseller Harnessing Winners: The Complete Guide to Handicapping Harness Races.

Canada's Greg Blanchard will provide pre-and-post race interviews, along with information from the backstretch throughout the day. The Director of Racing at Ontario-based Western Fair, Blanchard has previously worked for Woodbine Entertainment Group in Toronto as a television commentator, hosting both network and simulcast broadcasts for both standardbred and thoroughbred breeds and also served as Manager of Media Communications for the standardbred division.

Emmy Award winner Mike Trager and the Trager Group have been executive producers of the Hambletonian broadcasts for the past 25 years. The award winning team will be led by producer David Bruner and director David Newman, both Hambletonian and harness racing broadcast veterans.

Meadowlands announcer Ken Warkentin will provide his racing expertise and race call.

CBS Sports Network, the 24-hour home of CBS Sports, is available across the country in more than 99 million homes nationwide. CBS Sports Network televises nearly 600 live events and over 3,000 hours of live programming every year including live college football, college basketball, and more from the MW, AAC, Big East, C-USA, A-10, Army, Navy, and the Patriot League. CBSSN is also the home to Professional Bull Riding and Big3 Basketball. For more information, and to access the CBS Sports Network channel finder, go to www.cbssportsnetwork.com.

Bates scores two stakes wins at Hoosier

Freshman pacing fillies were the featured attraction at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino on Wednesday, July 31 in four $36,000 divisions of Indiana Sires Stakes action. Heavy favorites Foxy Rigger and Grace Rocks played their part in delivering in their divisions, but it was driver Brandon Bates who came home with the most stakes wins of the night with winning drives on Western Sierra and Priceless, with whom he also takes the training title.

The first division kicked the night off with a win for Brian Brown trainee, Foxy Rigger who scored back to back stakes wins. Stopping the clock in 1:52, Foxy Rigger used a front stepping effort to establish a new lifetime mark.

Foxy Rigger and Trace Tetrack went straight for the lead when the race began to establish the opening quarter of

:27:0. Odds On Madison with Peter Wrenn also left alertly for position and were able to grab a pocket seat hoping to catch the leader. The fillies remained in their positions through the half in :56:1 and the third quarter in 1:25:3.

Turning for home, Foxy Rigger and Odds On Madison engaged in a full-on stretch battle. The fillies were matching strides to the wire, but Foxy Rigger utilized a :26.2 closing kick and dug ahead by almost a length, stopping the clock in 1:52. Odds On Madison's effort paid off in a second place finish while Rocksann with John De Long rallied in the stretch for third. Foxy Rigger paid $2.40 to win.

"She'll race well no matter where she's at," driver Trace Tetrack noted after the win. "She's a quality filly and they're doing all the right things with her. She was strong right down to the wire."

Foxy Rigger is the daughter of Riggins—Foxy Angel and is owned by Country Club Acres & L&H Management Services & Lombardo/Green Racing and Tim Lane. With tonight's win, Foxy Rigger now sports a lifetime bankroll of $41,250. She is undefeated in all three of her career starts.

The second division brought Priceless with Brandon Bates to the winner's circle for back-to-back stakes wins. Sent off as the heavy 1-5 favorite, Priceless went right to the front and never looked back to notch her second consecutive victory and establish a new lifetime best.

When the wings of the gate opened, Priceless defended her rail position and left alertly to grab the lead, followed closely by Always In Motion and Trace Tetrack. The field continued in straight formation through opening fractions of :26.4 and :56.3, where Priceless remained unchallenged by trailing horses.

Once the fillies hit the third quarter in 1:25.4, Priceless began to distance herself from her competition, opening up by nearly four lengths throughout the stretch. By the time she crossed the wire in 1:52.1, she had a six-length lead over the field. Always In Motion held on for second while Townline Adios with LeWayne Miller fought for third. Priceless paid $2.40 for her betting backers.

"She's a very tough and versatile filly," trainer, driver Brandon Bates revealed in the winner's circle. "She takes care of herself, lives her best and loves to eat. Her next start will be at the state fair next week but then she'll be back here for more Sires Stakes."

Priceless, the daughter of Rockin Image—Btwnyurheartnmine now boasts a lifetime bankroll of $36,000. She is owned by Kevin Miller and Bert Hochsprung and is now undefeated in both of her career starts.

Division three brought driver Brandon Bates to the winner's circle again when he guided Western Sierra to a maiden-breaking win. Slightly dismissed at 6-1, Western Sierra staged a big rally late in the lane to get the win.

At the start of the race, heavy favorite Flirtinwithtrouble with John De Long went straight for the lead while Western Sierra patiently took a pocket trip. Through opening fractions of :26.4 and :56.3, the top two pacers remained unchallenged while the rest of the field swapped positions.

After the third quarter in 1:25.3, Bates began to move Western Sierra to begin to apply pressure on Flirtinwithtrouble. By the time Western Sierra had crossed the wire in 1:53.2, she had established a three-length lead over Flirtinwithtrouble who held on for second. Full Moon Martha with Sam Widger paced evenly for third. In the slight upset, Western Sierra paid $15.40 to win.

"In the stretch, she had the bit in her mouth and she was up and ready to go," Bates said. "She has a real will to race — it's clear that she loves what she does and looks forward to it every week."

Western Sierra is trained by William Crone. The daughter of Straight Shooting—Sierra Blue Chip now sports a lifetime bankroll of $34,745 for owner John Barnard.

The fourth and final division brought home another favorite as Grace Rocks with Sam Widger powered home a winner for trainer Ronnie Roberts. Establishing a new lifetime mark of 1:52:1, Grace Rocks dug in gamely late in the lane to get the win.

When the wings of the gate opened, Seventimesacharm with John De Long took the leading position followed by Odds On Melanie with Peter Wrenn. By the opening fraction in :27.1, Kickin Up My Heels with Trace Tetrack moved into the lead with Seventimesacharm and Odds On Melanie following closely behind.

The field remained in straight formation through the half in :56.1. Grace Rocks began to make her move to the lead not long after the half and grabbed the front by the third quarter in 1:24.4. The stretch turned into a battle with the top four fillies nearly matching strides. With a :26.4 final quarter, Grace Rocks surged ahead of her competition, crossing the wire with a two-length lead. Odds OnMelanie grabbed the second spot and Kickin Up My Heels was third. Grace Rocks paid $2.60 to win.

"I always like to hear what the trainer has to say before the race," driver Sam Widger said in the winner's circle. "She's a nice filly who's well-mannered, which is important. She does what she's asked and she's versatile."

Grace Rocks, the daughter of Rockin Image—Cosmic Grace, is owned by Howard Taylor. She now boasts a lifetime bankroll of $31,750 and has won three of her four lifetime starts.

Favorites deliver in stakes action at Hoosier

Indiana Sires Stakes action continued at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino on Tuesday, July 30 featuring the freshmen trotters with two $65,000 divisions for the 2-year-old trotting colts & geldings and three $44,500 divisions for the 2-year-old trotting fillies. While favorites primarily delivered in performances from Tj's Top Pick, Givemeonemoretry and May Baby, the night also saw a minor upset from Swan In Motion and an 11-1 upset from Fear This.

The first division of stakes action for the 2-year-old trotting colts & geldings saw Tj's Top Pick with Trace Tetrack in the bike home a decisive winner in 1:54.2, tying the track record he previously matched a little over two weeks ago. Tj's Top Pick delivered as the heavy betting favorite to score his third consecutive victory in his young career.

In a talented field of 10, Osprey Hanover with Deshawn Minor wasted no time and went straight to the lead. When the field hit the first station in :27.4, After All Paul and Doug Rideout took over for Osprey Hanover while Tj's Top Pick sat patiently in third.

Tetrack gave Tj's Top Pick the green light down the backside and he quickly took the lead at the half to lead through middle fractions of :57.3 and 1:26.2. As the field turned for home, Tj's Top Pick was on top with a six length lead. Tj's Top Pick coasted on to the wire under a hand drive from Tetrack to finish eight lengths ahead of his competition. Dude Included with Verlin Yoder rallied for second and After All Paul held onto his spot in third. Tj's Top Pick paid $2.20 to win.

"I knew he'd have to be out a little bit to avoid the traffic trouble," trainer Jeff Cullipher said. "I've had a lot of nice horses but he's got to be right up there with the best of them so far. He's racing at the state fair next week and is staked to a few events in Lexington later in the year."

Tj's Top Pick, the son of Swan For All-J A's Ayd now boasts a lifetime bankroll of $70,250 for owners Pollack Racing LLC, Jeff Cullipher and Trace Tetrack. He is undefeated in all three of his lifetime starts.

In the second division for the freshmen trotting colts, the betting public was backing Emma Town Bud with Michael Oosting, but Swan In Motion and Ricky Macomber Jr. prevailed in the final moments of the stretch battle in a maiden-breaking win. When the wings of the gate opened, Emma Town Bud took the lead from the challenging post nine. Emma Town Bud continued to call the shots through first half fractions of :28.3 and 1:00.3 while by Classy Prince with Verlin Yoder followed in line second.

At the half, Ricky Macomber Jr. moved Swan In Motion out for the attack, settling him into the second spot at the third quarter in 1:30. The final quarter of :27 proved to be a stretch battle between Emma Town Bud and Swan In Motion with the trotters matching strides turning for home. Just before the wire, Emma Town Bud made a costly break and Swan In Motion stayed on stride to stick a nose in front and stop the clock in 1:57.3 paying $6.00 for his backers at the betting windows.

"We've always known he was a good colt, he's always done everything right," trainer Jamie Macomber said. "He's very patient and cautious — I believe — and am hoping, he'll just get better with every start."

The son of Swan For All—Keystone Sadie is owned by M&M Racing and Norbert Joseph Maza. Scoring his first career win, Swan In Motion brought his lifetime earnings to $42,000.

The freshman trotting fillies were up next and it was Givemeonemoretry who went gate-to-wire for back-to-back stakes wins for trainer/driver Robert Taylor. Sent off as the even money favorite, Givemeonemoretry looked every bit the part of an even money favorite and followed the wings of the gate to the head of the field. She established her lead through opening fractions of :28.2 and :58.2 while the rest of the field battled for racing position.

When Givemeonemoretry reached the three quarters in 1:27.4, the following horses had engaged in their own stretch battle while she began to distance herself from the rest of the field. Rock Swan with Trace Tetrack began to rally to try and take down the leader, but Givemeonemoretry was strong on the front and stopped the clock in 1:56.3, a new lifetime mark for the filly. Rock Swan's effort amounted in a second place finish while Phabaj with Jared Finn finished third. Givemeonemoretry paid $4.20 to win at the betting windows.

"She likes to get out front and she's quick off the gate," trainer, driver Robert Taylor stated after the victory. "She's really maturing mentally and getting better with every start."

The homebred daughter of Mr Cantab—Cameron Valley is owned by Kent Schenk, Taylor Racing LLC and Donnie Ray Taylor and now sports a lifetime bankroll of $50,950. She has won three of four lifetime starts.

The second division for the fillies brought an upset by Fear This with LeWayne Miller who made her stakes debut a winning one after utilizing a ground saving trip to score in 1:58.3. When the race began, Netties Girl with Doug Rideout grabbed the lead and held it through the opening quarter in :29.1, followed by the betting public's pick, Skyway Tinacious with Peter Wrenn. Just before the half, Wrenn gave Skyway Tinacious the go-ahead and she reached the front at the half in :59.2. Skyway Tinacious held onto the lead with Netties Girl following closely behind through the third quarter in 1:29.2.

Once the field hit the stretch, the race appeared to be wide open. With the leaders tiring on the front, Fear This found late racing room up the inside and surged forward to hit the wire first by a neck over Bluebird Ladyluck with Dan Shetler. Netties Girl held on to round out the trifecta. Fear This, the Aaron Stutzman trainee, paid $24.00 to win in the upset.

"After last week, I was really confident going into tonight," said LeWayne Miller. "I was hoping to get up close and get some room late and that's exactly what happened."

The daughter of Whom Shall I Fear—Enlighten Me is owned by trainer Aaron Stutzman and now boasts a lifetime bankroll of $22,500. Fear This scored her maiden breaking victory in just the second start of her young career.

In the third and final division, May Baby took home back-to-back stakes victories for trainer, driver James Yoder and established a new lifetime mark in the process. May Baby turned in a decisive, front-running effort to deliver as the heavy favorite.

When the wings of the gate opened, it was Act Of Faith with Dale Hiteman who took the lead while May Baby appeared to be in line for a pocket trip. Before the first quarter in 27.4, Yoder opted out of the pocket trip and had May Baby pointed to the front. Just after the quarter, Act Of Faith powered by to regain the lead, but May Baby grabbed it back just after the half in :57.4.

May Baby padded her lead and remained mostly unchallenged through the third quarter in 1:28. Collettes with Trace Tetrack came charging late but May Baby was too strong. Utilizing a :27.4 closing kick, May Baby trotted strong to the wire to stop the clock in 1:55.4, leaving Collettes to settle for second while La Nancio and Jared Finn finished third. As the 1-9 favorite, May Baby paid $2.10 at the betting windows.

"She's coming around really well," trainer/driver James Yoder said. "She's really versatile — she's mostly raced on the front but she also races off the helmet well too. That's how we trained her all winter."

May Baby, the daughter of Guccio—Free Wheeling now boasts a lifetime bankroll of $50,250 for owner Cheyenne Yoder. With the win, May Baby remains undefeated in all three of her lifetime starts.

Battle elims in the books

Despite uncertain weather looming over the Elora, ON oval, the talent was certain and impressive from freshman colts and fillies aiming for a spot in the $239,000 Battle Of Waterloo and the $157,500 Battle Of The Belles finals to be contested next Monday (Aug. 5) during Grand River Raceway's 29th Industry Event.

Battle of Waterloo Thirteen of the nation's finest 2-year-old colts battled for a spot in the track's coveted event with the top four from each division and one fifth place finisher advancing.

The first Battle Of Waterloo elimination saw Blake MacIntosh trainee Beach Blanket Book and driver James MacDonald blaze by the field to win by a head in 1:56.4. The elimination victory also doubles as a maiden breaker for the 2-year-old Sportswriter colt who is owned by Hutt Racing Stable and Mac And Heim Stables.

With Beach Blanket Book being the only Battle Of Waterloo starter for MacIntosh, the St. George, ON resident – who is coming off a record year – will look to score his second Battle Of Waterloo title since winning with Sports Column in 2016. Beach Blanket Book will leave from post 4 in the final.

Better B Swift finished second to Beach Blanket Book. The Scott McEneny trainee was driven by Sylvain Filion and dueled early with race favourite Denali Seelster (Doug McNair / Ian Moore). Upon clearing before the first quarter pole, a rough gaited Denali Seelster was out for the re-take. Denali Seelster then fronted the field to the top of the stretch where he was passed by Beach Blanket Book, Better B Swift and Sports Obsession (Jody Jamieson / Carl Jamieson).

Both Scott McEneny and Ian Moore will vie for their second Battle Of Waterloo victory (McEneny won with Simple Kinda Man in 2017 and Moore won with Wellthereyougo in 2009) while Hall Of Famer Carl Jamieson will seek his sixth Battle Of Waterloo victory.

Better B Swift will need to bring some swift skills to the table as he will leave from the outside post 7, while Sports Obsession and team Jamieson will battle from post 5. Denali Seelster will leave from post 3.

Betterthancheddar colt Mr Cheeseman scored the final ticket to the big dance for driver Bob McClure and trainer Scott McNiven. The pacer was randomly drawn from the fifth-place finishers and will leave from post 6. A victory in the Battle Of Waterloo would serve as the first Battle title for both McClure and McNiven.

In an exciting drive to the wire in the second division, Aneto and Bob McClure were able to fend off Wind Blown and J Harris. Aneto, trained by Tim Gillespie for Synerco Ventures Inc. was a $44,000 yearling and is yet another son of Bettors Delight to seek Battle glory. In a coast to coast mission, Aneto led the field from the word go to fractions of :28.4, :58.4, 1:26.4 with a mile time of 1:55.4 to hold off Wind Blown by a head. The elimination win is also the colt's maiden breaking victory. Aneto will leave from post 9 in the final.

Wind Blown is trained by Teesha Symes and was an impressive runner-up finisher after a first-up journey. A win in the Battle Of Waterloo would give the dynamic duo of Symes and Harris a first Battle win for each of them and would make Symes the first female trainer to ever win the Battle Of Waterloo.

The Battle Of Waterloo has been won by multiple sons of the late Mach Three including Machapelo, Three Of Clubs and the immortal Somebeachsomewhere. Leaving from post 1, Wind Blown could add his name to the list of Mach Three grandchildren to capture the Battle of Waterloo.

Betterbuckleup will also advance to the final for driver James MacDonald and trainer Eric Adams who will leave from post 2. Tabloid Writer will start from post 8 for the brotherly tandem of Mario and Ben Baillargeon.

Battle of the Belles

Twenty-two rookie freshman fillies contested three eliminations to determine the contenders for the Battle Of The Belles. The top three from each division will advance to the final.

The fastest freshman of the season thus far, Alicorn, was victorious in the first of three Battle Of The Belles eliminations.

Driven by Louis Philippe Roy (hunting for his first Battle Of The Belles victory) Alicorn is trained by Chantal Mitchell who is looking for Battle redemption after finishing second with Bettors Wish in the 2018 edition of the Battle Of Waterloo.

The daughter of Bettors Delight was missionized early with a first-up move before the half mile marker against Sound Idea (Sylvain Filion) who recorded the opening quarter in :27.2. Alicorn then fronted the field to fractions of :55.2, 1:25.2 to a mile time 1:54.2 where she won by a margin of three-and-a-quarter lengths.

In addition to an Ontario Sires Stakes record she set earlier this month at Woodbine Mohawk Park, Alicorn also matched the Grand River Raceway track record for 2-year-old fillies set by Right On Molly in 2012. Owned by Windermere Stable LLC and Robert K Muscara, Alicorn will aspire to give her connections their first Belles victory from post 4 in the final.

The rest of the first elimination was rounded out by Sound Idea, driven by Sylvain Filion and trained by John Balzer. She will leave from post 6 in the final. Preeminence, driven by Paul MacDonnell for trainer Marcel Barrieau will start from post 1.

Also advancing to the Battle of the Belles final is Blake MacIntosh trainee Queso Relleno who was fantastic in her elimination with a sizzling sweep of the field with Jody Jamieson aboard. MacIntosh co-owns the daughter of Betterthancheddar with Hutt Racing Stable, Sue Vernon Smith and The Flanagan Sisters. She was a $26,000 yearling purchase for the group. Queso Relleno scored her maiden victory in the second elimination division in 1:55.4 and will leave from post 3 in the final.

Joining Queso Relleno in the Battle of the Belles final will be Temagami Seelster (J Harris / Wayne McGean) who will leave from post 2 and race favourite All Day Sunshine (Sylvain Filion / Richard Moreau) who will start from post 9. Trainer Wayne McGean seeks his second Battle title after winning with Bronx Seelster in last year's Battle Of Waterloo. Harris, Moreau and Filion are all looking to score their first Belles title.

It wouldn't be Industry Day without an entry from the local father and son duo of Doug and Gregg McNair who have been victorious in the Battle Of Waterloo and the Battle of the Belles with stable stars such as Trail Boss, Three of Clubs, Magnum J and Lady Shadow. This year, the team will send out Karma Seelster, the winner of the third and final elimination.

Karma Seelster let the early action unfold before coming on to mark her first lifetime victory in 1:56.2 (after heavy rainfall degraded the track from a fast to good speed rating). Karma Seelster comes from the royal lineage of Kendall Seelster, Kokanee Seelster and Kylie Seelster and was a $127,000 yearling. She is owned by Eileen and Keith Waples and their daughter Karen Hauver and will eyeball a Battle Of The Belles victory for her connections from post 8.

Finishing second to Karma Seelster and advancing to the final is the Amanda Fine trainee Highland Salsa, driven by J Harris. Highland Salsa will leave from post 5 for her young teamster. Trainer Blake MacIntosh will have another shot of capturing the Battle Of The Belles title with Bettorbeasecret, driven by Robert Shepherd. She will leave from post 7.

With more local talent being featured in both the Battle of Waterloo and the Battle of the Belles, Industry Day 2019 could foresee many firsts for both veteran trainers and up-and-coming talent.

Post time for Industry Day on Aug. 5 is 12:30 p.m. EST The broadcast and festivities kick off at noon EST. Complete event details are available here.

Groovy Joe remains undefeated in NYSS at Batavia

As three $34,866 divisions of 2-year-old pacing colts and geldings went postward in the New York Sires Stakes (NYSS) at Batavia Downs on Sunday (July 28) with Groovy Joe putting in the fastest performance of the day allowing him to remain undefeated.

Sandy's Bolt (Jim Morrill Jr.) started from post one and led the majority of the race with Groovy Joe (Matt Kakaley) sitting in the garden spot. Morrill set quarters of :28.1, :58.1 and 1:26.3 and took his lead into the stretch. But Groovy Joe (Roll With Joe—Chotat Milk) popped the pocket and went right by Sandy's Bolt and then held off a late charging American Rebel (Tyler Buter) at the wire to win by a neck in 1:55, which was a new lifetime mark.

It was the fifth straight win for Groovy Joe ($3.10), all in NYSS action, and it took him to $96,795 for the year. Hutt Racing and Blake McIntosh own the colt with MacIntosh also doing the training.

Winbak Farm bred Groovy Joe.

The other two divisions ended up being the Ray Schnittker Show as they were both won by his trainees in career best outings.

First, Cigars And Port (So Surreal—Sweet On Art) grabbed the lead before the half and put in a strong effort from there. After getting to three-quarters in front by 1-½, Cigars And Port turned for home and opened up even more, eventually winning by three in 1:55.3, which was a new lifetime mark.

Schnittker drove Cigars And Port ($7.50) and owns in conjunction with Nolamaura Racing, Ted Gewertz and Steve Arnold.

Steve Jones bred the Cigars And Port.

In the last division Teton Sunset (American Ideal—Gray Ghost) sat a perfect trip behind Oreo Dream Xtreme (Jason Bartlett) who cut the mile and Level Up (Jim Morrill Jr.) who pushed the pace from outside from the half before finding racing room in the stretch to pull away from both of them and win by a 3-½ length margin in 1:57.1, The time was also a new lifetime mark.

Teton Sunset ($7.40) was driven by Tyler Buter for trainer/owner Schnittker and his partners David Pepin and Flintlock Farms.

The ownership trio bred the winner.

Rookies dazzle in Dream Maker

Capt Midnight and Allywag Hanover made it a first-round sweep of the Dream Maker Series for sire Captaintreacherous on Monday evening at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

A group of 16 2-year-old pacing colts and geldings were split into a pair of $15,000 divisions.

Capt Midnight delivered a :26.2 final-quarter to reach up just in time to defeat stablemate Captain Nemo by a head in the opening split. The Tony Alagna students sat first and third throughout, with 'Nemo' and driver Tim Tetrick cutting out fractions of :27.4, :56.3 and 1:24.3.

'Nemo' looked to scoot away in the lane and held a lead of more than three-lengths with an eighth of a mile remaining. Capt Midnight and driver Andrew McCarthy quickly closed in during the final sixteenth and stormed by at the line for a 1:51.3 maiden-breaking victory.

Day Delight, who got a two-hole trip, finished just over seven-lengths back in third. Esai Hanover was fourth.

A $350,000 Harrisburg Yearling purchase, Capt Midnight is the second foal out of New York Sires Stakes champion It Was Fascination. The son of Captaintreacherous is now one for three with $8,000 earned for owners Marvin Katz, Kenneth Jacobs, Brad Grant and Captain Kirk Racing.

Capt Midnight paid $6.90 to win.

Allywag Hanover and driver Sylvain Filion dusted their rivals by four-lengths in an impressive second division victory.

The Casie Coleman trainee floated away and patiently worked his way up to the top, clearing to command early in the backstretch. Filion got to dictate the tempo, posting middle-half fractions of :56.4 and 1:25.4.

Allywag Hanover proceeded to fire home in :26.2 to collect a 1:52.1 victory. Chief Mate finished second, while Captain Kirk and Choir Master rounded out the Superfecta.

A $95,000 Harrisburg Yearling purchase, Allywag Hanover is the fifth foal out of half-sister to millionaire Aracache Hanover. The son of Captaintreacherous is two for two and has earned $15,000 for owners Brad Gray and Dan Lagace.

Allywag Hanover paid $7.50 to win.

The Dream Maker Series continues next Monday with the second-leg prior to the final on Aug. 12.
