Gingras' Redemption

Driver Yannick Gingras' Hambletonian victory with Karl in the pouring rain freed him from an 11-year prison sentence reminiscent of a very famous scene from Shawshank Redemption.

by Dave Briggs

WIRE TO WIRE

with DAVE BRIGGS

There is a famous scene in Shawshank Redemption when Andy Dufresne (played by Tim Robbins) finally escapes Shawshank Prison after 19 years of meticulously digging a tunnel inch by inch with a rock hammer. As he steps outside into a heavy downpour, he raises his arms in to the heavens, embracing the rain with his freedom.

I thought of that scene Saturday afternoon (Aug. 3) as driver Yannick Gingras punched the sky, did two wild arm swoops and then punched the sky again as buckets of rain fell on The Meadowlands. Gingras' charge, Karl, had just scratched his way to the wire first in the $1,050,000 Hambletonian in 1:51.3, releasing the Hall of Fame driver from his own 11-year prison sentence. That the emotions were now pouring out of him like never before was understandable given this was his first Hambletonian victory. They were more than fitting given the conditions.

Yet, mere seconds before, for a fleeting moment, he thought he was staring at defeat once again in a race where he has finished second three times in the last 12 attempts.

After 11 failed attempts and three second-place finishes, driver Yannick Gingras finally got to kiss harness racing's Holy Grail.

"At the top of the stretch I thought, 'Goddammit, this race is getting away from me again' when Highland Kismet kicked clear for a little bit, but I just had to wait," Gingras told Gabe Prewitt in the winner's circle. "I had to wait on mine for a couple of strides and there was tight quarters. I didn't want to do anything that would jeopardize that."

"Into the stretch of the Hambletonian, Highland Kismet with a big effort first over," said race caller Ken Warkentin, his voice rising. "T C I is trying to battle back and right there is Karl on the outside with a late lunge. Highland Kismet, Karl on the outside with a final surge. Yannick Gingras and Nancy Takter. He's king of the Hambletonian. It's Karl."

Minutes later, Gingras was overcome with emotions more than once in the winner's circle, dabbing eyes soaked from within, not above.

"This one's for my kids," Gingras told CBS reporter Michael Carter, the driver's voice shaking slightly. "You know, every year they leave a little disappointed because I've lost the race. I see the disappointment in their face for me. To be able to get it done and see the smiles and the tears in their eyes, that's what it's all about."

As far as family goes, how does one process the Takters? Nancy Takter just won her second straight Hambletonian as a trainer to go with the one she won last year with Tactical Approach. She is the first trainer since her father, four-time Hambletonian-winner Jimmy Takter, to win the Hambletonian in consecutive years since he did it in 2014 and 2015 with Trixton and Pinkman, respectively.

Six Hambletonians between father and daughter? Outstanding. Then there is Jimmy's wife and Nancy's mother, Christina. She has owned a piece of three Hambletonian winners, including Karl, whom she shares with Nancy, Barry Guariglia's Black Horse Racing, Bender Sweden and Karl's breeder, Crawford Farms (Al and Michelle Crawford).

Christina also owned a piece of Trixton and Pinkman.

But Karl may just be next level. The son of Tactical Landing—Avalicious improved to 15-1-1 in 17 career starts (6-0-1 in seven starts in 2024) and upped his earnings to just shy of $1.8 million with the win.

“I’ve said this about this horse, he knows what this is about,” Nancy told Carter, speaking of the hyper-intelligent Karl. “He knows what he is supposed to do and, obviously, he’s only lost two races in his entire life and the one race I don’t think he actually knows that he lost. So, he’s just an amazing horse. He’s so calm and chill.

“You know sometimes as a trainer you’re a little concerned about having [post 1] in a race like this because they’re on the track for so long before they actually go to the gate... But if any horse could handle post 1 it’s Karl. Just seeing him in the winner’s circle, there were a bazillion people. He just was standing there with his ears up. Nothing was phasing him.”

As for winning her second Hambletonian – third if you count 2010 winner Muscle Massive that she groomed – Nancy said, “It feels amazing. But, you don’t just show up on Hambletonian Day and win. It’s a big process to get this done. You have to buy the horse. Fortunately, we found this horse in Crawford Farms’ consignment. Michelle is a good friend of mine. Crawford Farms stayed in on him. It’s a great ownership group.”

For the Crawfords, it was their third Hambletonian as owners to go with the ones they won in 2018 and 2020 with fillies Atlanta and Ramona Hill, respectively. Though, Karl was the first Hambletonian winner the Crawfords have bred.

“It was a little bit hairy for a while when the skies opened up,” Michelle said. “But, we’re so excited as breeders and we just put so much love into this sport and to have [Karl] a [Hambletonian] winner now is just so special for all of us.”

That Karl has now won the rubber match of three showdowns with chief rival T C I hopefully is just the beginning of a year-long slugfest that now adds impressive Hambletonian runner-up Highland Kismet, who was just steps from victory.

That Gingras pulled this one out by one length – unlike his 2016 loss with Southwind Frank by a nose hair to Marion Marauder – was not only joyous, it was downright stressful.

“What a horse,” Gingras said. “[Karl’s] an incredible machine and I’m just fortunate to be the one driving him. But there also comes a lot of pressure with that too. I’m so happy we got the job done and I’m glad it’s over.”

On Monday, Gingras started the week by recording his 9,000th career driving victory. The Hambletonian was win number 9,008. Asked by Prewitt where it stood among the other 9,007, the driver didn’t miss a beat.

BRUSH AND CRUSH

with DEAN TOWERS

Hambletonian Day thoughts, minute by minute

by Dean Towers

About 12 hours earlier (Friday night), The Meadowlands' faithful suffered through a rain storm, a half hour inquiry delay and a recall because of a power outage. Things can only get better, right, so let's go!

Here are my thoughts on the Saturday (Aug. 3) Hambletonian Day card as it evolved:

Although the drivers and trainers may have been sleepy, the bettors are not. The Pick 6 pool, which usually attracts around $10,000 on a normal card, blew it out of the water with over six figures wagered in race 1. Dexter Dunn and Upallnight

Hanover took advantage of some stout fractions to capitalize in the Continental victory with a sweet trip. Off we go!

I'll save my criticism of the pacing Triple Crown for another day, but the horses and drivers in the Cane Pace didn't know it was a short field buried early in the card and they raced, with three lead changes before the half. Meadowlands Pace champion Legendary Hanover got the job done in a quick 1:46.2.

In the Muscle Hill, bettors again responded with a six-figure Pick-5 pool, so handle seemed quite good at this point. Trainer Per Engblom recently noted that he thought Supernova Hanover was coming along, and for sharps that listened it delivered a $34 mutuel. Driver Dunn has won two of the first three.

In the Continental victory for fillies, the Dunn bomb-show continued with Slip Sliding Away. How often do we see a $480 Pick 3 when a 1-5 shot kicks it off? The multi-leg Pick-5 and 6 are getting juicy for players.

Excitement is the order of the day thus far, and Rocket Deo scorched a big first-half to victory in 1:49 in the Shady Daisy. In five races we've seen only one favorite. They are racing!

Trainer Ake Svanstedt is known for winning races on big days, and in the rich New Jersey Sire Stake final for colts, he ran one-two, with the beautifully-gaited Nordic Catcher S getting all the chocolates. It appears there were only 13 or 14 winning tickets in the 20-cent Pick-6 which cashed for over eight large.

Gingras has won just about everything except the Hambletonian. He's one of the best I've ever seen and he's a friend to bettors, too, as he always gives your money a shot. I could not be happier for that man.

Oakwood Ardan IR continues to mow down his rivals with relative ease; this time at 6-5 for his backers. The gelded son of Sweet Lou is now 15-for-21 on this side of the pond. I've loved watching this guy develop over the winter.

Something tells me Sam McKee would've enjoyed the McKee, where Rocknroll Runa A charged hard and lit up the tote board. This Hambletonian Day is really shaping up to be quite interesting. Congratulations to Mark MacDonald with the slick catch drive.

In the Steele, all one can say is 'wow' with M-M's Dream. She looked beaten badly around the turn but found her best stride late. She is just all racehorse and I'm sure Ron Burke would like a barn full with heart like that. The crowd bet her like she was going to be very good today and she was. Finally, another favorite (or a co-favorite at least).

Sometimes a horse who loses is the story, and it was probably that with Southwind Tyrion in the Cashman. During an unscheduled downpour he went a whale of a trip, and may have made it mighty interesting if driver David Miller let him clear before the half. In the end, the Queen of trotting, Jiggy Jog S, popped off his back and set a stakes record in 149.2. The chalk is back on Hambletonian Day!

Okay. The big one just went off – the one we all came for, the Hambletonian. Since this is a real-time column all I can say first is: that might've been the greatest driver celebration I've ever seen! Yannick looked like he started whooping it up at the sixteenth pole.

Frankly who can blame him.

Gingras has won just about everything except the Hambletonian. He's one of the best I've ever seen and he's a friend to bettors, too, as he always gives your money a shot. I could not be happier for that man.

I thought it was a fitting win for Karl. Ever since he set foot on the track he's looked like something special. We all know how things go in this game with horses, and for him to fulfill his promise more than a year later is a great story. What a job by the Takter crew.

Speaking of good stories, if Highland Kismet would've held on it would've been one for the ages in this long and storied sport. Regardless, I'm certain the Etsell barn is proud of their charge. He was absolutely tremendous in defeat.

A quick look at last year's numbers tells me handle was better for this year's Hambletonian. Whether it was the timing, TV coverage, or happenstance, it looked solid. But it's nice to see because this day and this particular event is so important.

It didn't take long for Nancy Takter to head back to the winner's circle after a sparkling performance from Champagne Problems. Takter even ran second to boot.

This day at the Meadowlands continue to be nothing but interesting. The Oaks was a barnburner with a longshot winner in Warrawee Michelle, some traffic trouble, and sadly, a favorite who didn't seem to fire on such a big day.

The cream seems to always rise to the top, doesn't it? Warrawee Michelle was a juggernaut last year, and after a slow start (and well-reported surgery) she stars on the sport's biggest day.

To the owners (and bettors) of Date Night Hanover, that was a very tough break. And to Annie Stoebe who had Elista Hanover coming into the race as good as one can, I feel for you. My goodness, this game can be difficult.

The Lady Liberty is usually a grand race where some of the greats get to show their stuff. Right now, I am not sure there's a more dominant pacer in racing than Twin B Joe Fresh is there? Assuming Sylvia Hanover didn't have her best stuff today, she still romped away from the very good Prohibition Legal who was on her back, and everyone else for that matter.

I've always felt Chris Ryder was one of the sharpest trainers in the sport. He has that mare insanely good and it was a fitting close to a great stakes day.

I think this is my ninth or 10th Hambletonian Day diary for Harness Racing Update. Each and every one have been a joy to write, and if they're even 10 per cent as enjoyable to read I'm a happy columnist.

A sincere thank you to the trainers, drivers and horses – along with The Meadowlands and Hambletonian Society – for putting on such a magnificent day once again this year.

THE VIEW FROM WOODBINE MOHAWK PARK

with MELISSA KEITH

Andrew Harris optimistic despite Funtime Bayama drama

The horse tested positive for an EPO-like performance-enhancer in Ontario before being acquired by Harris and his co-owners.

by Melissa Keith

Despite facing a difficult situation with a recent stable acquisition, Andrew Harris is having a strong season so far in 2024. The 39-year-old trainer is based at Gaitway Farm in Manalapan, NJ, where his stable is currently home to nearly 40 horses, including the top older pacing stallion in North America, Abuckabett Hanover (p, 5, 1:47.2s; $1,512,866).

Harris began his training career in 2004, recording his first victory on Nov. 19, 2004 at Grand River Raceway with Dr. Huw Llewellyn's homebred mare Blotto (p, 6, 1:56.4h; $154,606). Blotto was previously trained by Harris' father, Jack. While his twin brother J Harris pursued a driving career, Andrew spent two years working for four-time O'Brien Trainer of the Year Bill Robinson, then made the move to work for five-time O'Brien Trainer of the Year Casie Coleman.

Andrew went on his own in 2015.

"I went on my own at the end of 2015," he said.

By 2019, Andrew was top trainer at The Meadowlands' fall meet. It was his stable's third consecutive $2-million season. This year, Andrew was off to another promising start with the support of co-owners Bruce Areman and William Pollock, both of Freehold, NJ. Unfortunately, a six-figure purchase quickly went sideways into a situation Andrew said, "is going to be a mess."

Funtime Bayama (p, 3, 1:49.1s; $322,108) debuted for new owners in a July 7, 2024 Meadowlands Pace elimination, finishing second to elim Nijinsky. It was his first start for new trainer Andrew, who co-owns with Pollock and Areman. The Canadian and Woodbine Mohawk Park track record holder for 2-year-old pacing geldings subsequently struggled late in the July 13 final, fading to a distanced 10th in the stretch.

“The Graduate Series is a great opportunity. The Kentucky Sires Stakes program for the 4-year-olds is a great opportunity. But I would love to see some other states, and Ontario even, throw a 4-year-old division together, and that gives more people a reason to bring them back. It makes them worth more money, because there’s an area for them to race.”

~ Andrew Harris

The AGCO (Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario) indefinitely suspended Funtime Bayama’s previous trainer, Richard Moreau, effective July 22, 2024. Funtime Bayama himself was also suspended (from June 24 to Dec. 24, 2024) after testing positive for the prohibited performance-enhancing drug DPO (darbeпоetin alfa) in a June 10, 2024 out-of-competition test.

Asked about the situation on Friday (Aug. 2), Andrew said, “I’m not allowed to comment, because that’s what I’ve been advised to do.” He confirmed that he received that advice from a lawyer.

Andrew was able to verify that Funtime Bayama had come out of the Meadowlands Pace unscathed, and the gelding was still stabled with him in New Jersey.

“Yeah, I still have him,” Andrew told HRU. “He’s still good.”

Despite the uncertainty about Funtime Bayama, Andrew remained optimistic about his stable.

Millie May Hanover (Bettors Delight–Mayhem Seelster) was about to make her fourth career start on Monday (Aug. 5) in the Battle of the Belles final at Grand River Raceway, in Elora, ON. A $300,000 purchase at the 2023 Harrisburg sale, the filly is also owned by Andrew, Pollock and Areman. She finished second at Mohawk in two Ontario Sires Stakes Gold legs before a show finish in her July 29 Battle of the Belles elim at Grand River.

Harness Racing Returns Friday, August 30

POST TIME 6:20 PM

"We bought her as a yearling," Andrew said. "She's got a royal family, and the OSS program is obviously one of the best in North America. So, she was one that we really liked, and Billy was actually one of the ones that really liked this filly, so that made it easier to go after her."

While still a maiden, Millie May Hanover drew well (post 3) for the "Belles" final.

"Last week, she came first up into some wicked fractions, and that's not her game," Andrew said. "She needs a target for a little bit longer than that, but she still hung tough and hung on for more than I thought she would, off that trip. I was happy with her."

"I think that we're racing her against the type of competition we want to be in with, and she's holding her own. I don't think she's had her kind of trip just yet, so I'm hoping that we'll see her [get that kind of] trip for the final. That would be amazing."

He also trains Twin B Fresh Bet, the 2-year-old Bettors Delight half-brother to superstar mare Twin B Joe Fresh (p, 4, 1:47.3m; $1,740,815). The colt was a $500,000 purchase at the 2023 Harrisburg sale, under original name Twin B Euchre. He is currently awaiting his third start at Mohawk.

"Yeah, he's a nice horse, but we've got Abuckabett Hanover, Seven Colors, El Rey, and other strong contenders, and we have some nice babies coming up," Andrew said. "We haven't had the best of luck with the babies yet, and I'm hoping that turns around here, but the first half of the year hasn't been what I wanted it to be, so hopefully we continue to grow and get stronger in that department."

The undisputed stable star is Abuckabett Hanover, who raced Saturday (Aug. 3) in the Sam McKee Memorial at The Meadowlands.

"Oh yeah, by far," Andrew said about the star pupil he co-owns with Pollock and Areman. The horse was purchased online for $530,000 and joined Andrew in late 2022.

The 6-year-old stallion had his first 2024 victory on June 8 in the Mohawk preferred handicap pace, and has followed it up with wins in the Dave Brower Memorial and William Haughton Memorial at The Meadowlands.

"I think what everyone would probably pick as his strength is his last quarter," Andrew said. "He's got such a wicked last quarter and closing speed. But I would say this year he's developed a bigger set of lungs, where he can be involved much earlier in the race than he was able to be before, so that has made him the overall weapon that he is now. You know, before he always had to get away eighth and ninth, and then come closing. This year, it seems that you can leave with him and still have a closing kick, and that makes him a very versatile weapon."

“ I can’t really complain. I’ve got a great team behind me, and I can’t thank Bill [Pollock] and Bruce [Areman] enough for giving me the opportunity, and hopefully we can capitalize for them, get them a few awards along the way, and everybody can be happy. ”

~ Andrew Harris

Following a nine-place finish in the McKee, “the Canadian Pacing Derby will be his next one,” Andrew said of Abuckabett Hanover. Eliminations are Aug. 24 at Woodbine Mohawk Park. “Abuckabett’s” stablemates in the older pacing division also have a busy schedule.

“El Rey [p, 3, 1:48.3m; $656,130] is in the Kentucky Sires Stakes and then going to the Dan Patch [Aug. 9 at Hoosier Park] next week,” Andrew said.

“I’ve also got Seven Colors [p, 3, 1:48.1h; $757,683] going to the Dan Patch next week, and hopefully the Canadian Pacing Derby after that, so we’re quite strong in that division. I feel like we’ve got a real good group in that division, so I’m pretty happy with those ones.”

World champion Seven Colors is getting over what Andrew called “4-year-old blues” issues.

“He’s a very nice horse and for the most part, I just think he’s been dealing with some 4-year-old things and adapting to the new type of racing, of not being able to just bully all the other horses around, and having to just learn to race a different style, a little bit,” he said. “But his speed is still there and he’s an excellent horse, just when he gets in with the [older] horses, you’re not the big, bad wolf. You’ve got to chase a little bit.”

Andrew said he would like to see more stakes races restricted to 4-year-olds, because of younger horses gradually adapting to the tougher older ranks.

“Against 4-year-olds, I think [Seven Colors] is as good as any 4-year-old in the country, but against [older] ones, I think it’s a big difference for him,” Andrew said. “For most of them, it is. The only one I haven’t seen it affect is Voukefalas. But other than that, all the other 4-year-olds have all seemed like they struggled against these aged horses.”

Andrew added that more for 4-year-olds would encourage more owners to keep young stallions racing.

“If people want to see them keep coming back to the racetrack, you’ve got to give them options,” he said. “If you want people to bring those type of horses back to the races, they can’t suffer through a 4-year-old year where they’re in too tough, and then they gave up a stud deal... In order to see these horses continue to keep coming back to the track, there has to be opportunity.

“The Graduate Series is a great opportunity. The Kentucky Sires Stakes program for the 4-year-olds is a great opportunity. But I would love to see some other states, and Ontario even, throw a 4-year-old division together, and that gives more people a reason to bring them back. It makes them worth more money, because there’s an area for them to race.”

Some years, certain divisions are dominated by stars who make it difficult for talented rivals to reach the winner’s circle. That’s the case with Andrew’s top 3-year-old filly pacer.

“I’ve got Asweetbeachhere [p, 3, 1:50.3f; $234,282] who’s been going really nice in the 3-year-old filly division, and she’s in with some bearcats, Geocentric and My Girl EJ,” he said.

The Ontario-born horseman said he is currently New Jersey-based because of his training center’s proximity to top tracks, including Mohawk.

“If you want to follow the Grand Circuit, then the best central location for that is really [New] Jersey,” Andrew said. “In the next couple of years, I think the central location will probably be more Kentucky, and people will start seeing more of the top stables move to Kentucky, but right now, it’s still Jersey, because you can still go right to Canada, you can go race in the Midwest from here, so it’s just been a central location.”

Despite inheriting the Funtime Bayama drama, which did not involve him, Pollock, or Areman, Andrew said he is otherwise having a good season.

“I can’t really complain,” he said. “I’ve got a great team behind me, and I can’t thank Bill and Bruce enough for giving me the opportunity, and hopefully we can capitalize for them, get them a few awards along the way, and everybody can be happy.”

TALES FROM THE CURMUDEON

with MURRAY BROWN

Don Marean is harness racing's Maine man

by Murray Brown

Don Marean and I share a great deal. We are both products of the same generation; less than two months in age separates us. We are both what we like to say “addicted” to the sport of harness racing. We both like to travel this great country, although Marean has been in it far deeper than me. Neither of us were born into the sport as so many previously have been. Marean came by his addiction when he first began going to the races at Gorham, ME, in the mid-1950s. It was pretty much love at first sight. He became an almost instant fan. It did take him some time before he decided to dip his toe into the water and become an owner. That happened in 1984. Ever since then he has never not owned at least part of a horse, whether it be a racehorse, a broodmare, a yearling, weanling or suckling.

You are a native Mainer. You were born, raised and still reside in Maine.

“Yes. My wife Linda and I live in Hollis, but I was born in the original home my father built in Standish, ME in the 1930s. My experience in the horse business mostly extends to our great state in which I’ve not only raced horses, but also bred them, raised them and eventually became involved in the politics relating to the sport and its future. I’ve not only been involved in the politics relating to the sport in Maine, but one might say in the entire sport because of my involvement with the United States Trotting Association.”

Let’s begin with your involvement with the USTA and then meander to the other aspects of your life, both in and out of harness racing.

“I have been a USTA director for 30 years and I am chairman of District 9, a post I have held for several years. I’m vice chairman of the USTA’s finance committee, the committee – with the possible exception of the rules committee – that I regard as being the most important one with which the USTA governs.”

There are those that say that the USTA is nothing more than a paper tiger. That it has no real power. It is the state commissions that have the real power and govern the sport. One might say that your state of Maine is one where this is most evident.

“I would respond that there is perhaps a degree of truth to that. Nevertheless, it is my strong belief that the USTA is the most important organization in the sport. It rules over all matters pertaining to breeding and record keeping, which is undoubtedly its most important responsibility. Before the USTA’s establishment as the sole record keeper of the sport, its records were a bit unorganized but today I would venture to say that the USTA together with Standardbred Canada are second to none, where not only its members, but also anybody interested in the sport can find just about anything relative to anything involving its horses and its human participants in it.

“With regard to racing, the state commissions do rule, however speaking with regard to my state of Maine, when a subject comes before its commission that is not covered in the commission rules, the commission defers to the rules of the USTA to assist them.”

My strongest memory of you was several years ago when you addressed the board saying that you felt that the greatest threat facing the sport was with regard to animal welfare. You spoke of the reality of horses being in some cases abandoned, starved and in other ways not treated properly. You said that it was only a matter of time before the animal rights people jumped all over us, if we did not do something to change their view of the way our horses were being treated.

“I spoke with Phil Langley, then USTA president about the situation. He asked me how much I thought would be needed to make a concerted proactive effort to not only change the view of some that our horses were being mistreated, but perhaps more importantly to come up with a positive plan to show that we were going to do something about it. I threw up the number of half a million dollars. Phil was a little hesitant at the suggestion, saying that it was a noble thought, but that the money was just not there. He said that I should put this before the finance committee for their consideration. I did put it before the finance committee. I didn’t get the half million dollars I was looking for but we did get $100,000. I might add that we have got that $100,000 every year since. It is certainly not enough. But I believe it to be a step in the right direction. Ideally if the money was there, I believe we would have more to give to help those horses that need it. Under the urging and efforts of the USTA a new aftercare 501C3 program was established and supported by a $5 fee on all horse transfers. The new group is known as the Standardbred Transition Alliance, whose mission is rehabilitate, retrain and rehome standardbreds.”

You were involved for some time as a market breeder.

“Yes, my wife Linda and I purchased a 58-acre farm here in Hollis, where we established a breeding venture. At one time we had more than a dozen broodmares, where we raised yearlings to sell at public auction. After 20 years, we realized that it was beyond our economic means and we just were not able to compete to the point where we were not losing money. We still own the farm though, and with us, still as a resident, is one remaining still solely owned horse, 31-year-old Lindons Rowe Me N. In December 2023 we placed the land in conservation, so that if it is ever used again, it will only be for agricultural means in perpetuity.”

Of all the horses that you have owned was there a favorite?

“That would have to be Armbro Blaze. Most people outside of Maine may not know him, but he was a wonderful, old warrior. He took us to places where we had never been before. He won invitationals and other fast class races. Today and for several years recently, we have owned parts of a few of the horses that Sam Beegle buys as yearlings and races mostly in Pennsylvania, both at the pari-mutuel tracks and at the fairs.

I believe you have been involved in politics in Maine.

“Yes. I served 12 years in the Maine legislature and another four years as a lobbyist. I would like to believe that I served my harness racing fellows well while being there. We have had losses and gains. We lost Scarborough Downs, but we still have Bangor and a new group has leased Cumberland Fair Grounds and both entities are doing fairly well, perhaps not thriving, but doing well. Handle is up at both places and the racing is good and to my eyes highly competitive.

“There is a movement to build a new all-weather track in the southern part of the state. It isn’t moving right now because interest rates are so high. But I believe when they come down, there is a good chance that this track will come into being. The breeding industry such as it is, has struggled, but I believe that it is also growing again. I presently serve on the Maine Racing Commission. It enables me to follow the happenings of the sport here from a birds-eye view. The one negative about that is that quite understandably, it keeps me from owning horses racing here because of a possible conflict of interest, although it is not a rule, I just think it makes good sense.”

What is life like these days for you?

“I would say pretty darn good. Aside from the infirmities of aging and more specifically a chronically bad back, I would say life is pretty good. I follow the horses and the sport. Linda and I love to travel in our motor home. We take at least one long trip every year. We have driven to all the states in the United States, with the exception, of course, of Hawaii. We have been to Alaska twice. We have been to all 10 Canadian Provinces and Territories. The only part of Canada to which we have not been is Labrador. But that is on our radar. This year we have plans to go to the part of the United States that we enjoy the most, the far west, Big Sky Country. We will hit Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, the Dakotas and wherever our trusty home on wheels takes us.”

AMONG OURSELVES

with FRANK COLTOLO

The Paris fiasco; no rest for 'la bande des outsiders'

by Frank Colto

Destination France, where Spanish entrepreneur and showman Joseph Oller created the pari-mutuel betting process in 1867. France, where harness racing features all trotting and the standardbred shares public acceptance equal to thoroughbreds.

I began to feel the weight of the 14-hour flight somewhere over Greenland. We should have been landing in Paris already but Wolfman insisted on taking a non-stop flight to Frankfurt on a Lufthansa jumbo jet because it offered First Class area bedding. I was in Business Class. It was more comfortable than Coach but only by the length of leg space.

I was exhausted when we deplaned at the Frankfurt airport. All attempts at sleeping in flight failed; so, I created fantasies of dancing on the apron of Hippodrome Paris-Vincennes racetrack while stuffing winning francs into my jacket. They appeared more like cartoons than scenes from a Francois Truffaut film.

The next stop was Paris and that meant flying east on a rickety shuttle plane sans luxuries while the two others on the Wolf team took a small jet. I did not have a seat (it was legal to stand on my flight to Charles de Gaulle Airport). The sole flight attendant offered drinks. I made the mistake of ordering coffee and spent 60 minutes in the air balancing its paper cup during the bumpy ride.

I took my first breaths of Paris from the limo driving us to the Hotel George V. The avenues were noisy and crowded and the side streets narrow; jet-lag weakness warped my consciousness but Jean-Marc – our French promotions man – taught me how to pronounce Champs-Elysees sans a Brooklyn accent.

"Tomorrow we will walk up and down the Champs-Elysees," Jean-Marc said, "and stop at each record store to promote the disc."

That reminded me why we came to Paris before the British pirate radio plan: a Rhino Records oldies album branded with Wolfman's name and image was released. Would we stroll by Vincennes? No. Could I get my hands on a French racing form. No. Traffic cacophony rattled my brain.

I settled into the best hotel room I ever inhabited. I knew only three things: I was sleepy and my throat was sore and I was running a fever. But I had to freshen up quickly for a casual dinner with French business friends.

"It's only jet lag," Wolfman's manager Don told me. "The best way to cure it is to stay awake until the next night."

I trusted the leader of our band of outsiders so I went to dinner in a daze not unlike being under the influence of LSD. At a restaurant near the hotel, I concentrated on acting normal while sitting among six local business connections. And a well-groomed canine.

"Dogs are allowed in French restaurants," said Mirabelle who was seated across from me. "You're from New York. So am I."

"Am I that obvious?" I said.

"No. But I recognize you. Fifty-seventh and seventh. Early seventies. You'd take-out coffee from the Horn and Hardart across from Eight-eighty-eight. Did you work there?"

"Not at Horn and Hardart. At Eight-eighty-eight. WMCA Radio. Did we meet there?"

"No. But I remember you."

Nonchalant indeed. I was bewildered. A gorgeous lady remembered me from years ago?

"Hard to believe I'd forget seeing you," I said. "Ever go to Vincennes?"

"I love the trotters."

"Maybe you and I can trot to the trotters this week..."

I was interrupted by Jean-Marc who said, "We won't have time for much more to see than Notre-Dame."

"And don't forget the Crazy Horse," Don said. "Can't miss that nightclub show..."

"Of course not," Jean-Marc said, "The great Serge is performing."

I looked at Mirabelle and ignored the cross talk and I cursed the lack of luck preventing a trip to the trotters with her. I leaned over and asked her, "How do you say, 'dam the fates' in French?"

"Barrage des destins," Mirabelle said with a somber smile.

The week's schedule made my plan to escape the band of outsiders and visit Vincennes impossible. Further complicating the adventure was my declining health. I was ordered to visit "une pharmacienne" and buy a 12-hour remedy and stay the night in my hotel room.

I passed time interpreting trotting articles from newspapers. The amount of harness coverage impressed me. The fields were huge. The drivers and trainers were outspoken about opponents; they voiced strategies and strong remarks about the competition. A lack of politeness – ala Muhammad Ali – created melodrama missing in North American harness reports. A lasting impression ensued.

I recovered just in time to fly to London for a covert mission involving radio broadcasts; a ghost ship floating on international waters in the North Atlantic; a secret map and convoluted steps to get aboard. It was my first of two visits to LDN and I was too busy avoiding arrest to search for standardbreds.

Note: Here's a link to my column on my second trip to London.

Flimflam in the fifth

by Trey Nosrac

EXTERIOR

EARLY MORNING: Silhouette of two men in a rowboat drifting on a small lake. Mist rises from the water. Insect sounds, light ripples, and soft nature sounds are the background for the conversation. The camera moves in on the men.

TREY

Why do fishermen start early in the morning? It's not like fish check the clock.

LAURENCE

Each fisherman has their own thing. Mine is an early start, coffee, donuts, three hours maximum, and I toss back every fish I catch. It's a meditative thing.

TREY

I'm sort of like that at the racetrack. I like the morning when horses are training. I find an empty racetrack or training center or pull my car up to the fence of a fairground. I'm not doing anything. It's just peaceful.

LAURENCE

Hey, I got an idea racing.

TREY

LAURENCE

Yeah. Last week, you carefully walked me through opening an account, depositing money, and wagering $50 on a horse named Flimflam in the fifth race on Friday at Freehold Raceway. You stated without equivocation that I would be glad I made this bet because the horse was a bomb waiting to go off and could not lose.

TREY

Sorry about that.

LAURENCE

No problem.

TREY

That trotting race should be the poster child for the worst trip in history. Flimflam traveled about a quarter of a mile more than the winner.

LAURENCE

Whatever. The part of the process that gave me an idea for the sport was watching my computer screen after the bugle and roll call of horses in the post-parade.

TREY

Yeah, what about it?

LAURENCE

There was no sound for about five minutes, no music, no voices, and no microphone to pick up hoofs or snorts. I kept looking for an unmute button on my computer.

TREY

LAURENCE

Mortally dead air.

TREY

You want to fill it?

LAURENCE

Me? No, but the people who put on the show should want to fill the dead air.

TREY

With what?

LAURENCE

When I went with you to the racetrack a couple of times, my favorite part was listening to people brag, boast, tease, and sometimes get steamed up about what happened in the previous race and what they KNEW would occur in the next race.

TREY

Yeah, we do get a little rowdy. We were sort of the forerunners of cable talk news shows. We would do anything for attention. We had our little tribes.

LAURENCE

I remember somebody throwing a handful of popcorn at you.

TREY

Horsereading does not have many of those grandstand characters anymore.

LAURENCE

Too bad.

TREY

(Smiles)

They were part of the ambiance involved in going to the races.

LAURENCE

So why not have a handful of know-it-all characters act like clowns during the dead air of the livestream after the bugle?

TREY

Would they be paid?

LAURENCE

I don't know.

TREY

Would they be real?

LAURENCE

Of course.

TREY

I mean, should they be performing, you know, like fake reality shows, or should they be ordinary guys or women yakking?

LAURENCE

That is an interesting question. It's somewhat esoteric and philosophical. I find human beings speaking intelligently without a script refreshing. Still, most of the world appears more interested in people who are naked and afraid and who shockingly find themselves in the jungle and need to build a water filtration system with a phony deadline.

TREY

Not a fan?

LAURENCE

No. If Americans banned fake reality programs and game shows, people would have time to return to the racetrack.

TREY

Easy Tiger, your snobbishness is showing. But your idea for filling the dead air between races is a solid recommendation. Filling the dead air doesn't even need to be official. Maybe tap into a live podcast for a pattering provocative panel of prognosticators or even a solitary loudmouth.

LAURENCE

The idea is undoubtedly an improvement over $50 on Flimflam in the fifth at Freehold.

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

Working for Burke is just as good the second time around for caretaker Inga-Lill Karlsson

by Victoria Howard

Perhaps Inga-Lill Karlsson's path and purpose in life started when her father, Bo, came to the United States to pursue his passion in harness racing.

Bo (Balén) Karlsson was a trainer, driver, blacksmith, and also an equine dentist. He and his wife Diane (Eakin) were both involved in the Grand Circuit; training horses on a farm in Sweden that conducted pony races on the weekends.

While other 7-year-olds sat on the back of a bicycle, Inga-Lill sat behind her first racehorse. Besides being involved in harness racing, the young girl attended riding school for English dressage and jumping horses.

"My parents taught me a lot... especially my dad," Inga-Lill said. "There isn't a day that goes by that I don't think of him. When I turned 19 my dad passed away and I came to the States. I set out to do what dad wanted me to do and got my trainer/driver license.

"My father told me to work for as many trainers as I could for not only does it look good on a resume, but you watch, listen, and retain the information; and to always ask questions for that's the best way to learn. He told me when I was ready to train on my own, I could use all the valuable things the other trainers taught me. Every trainer has their 'own way' and as far as I'm concerned if you take something from each of them, you're bound to come out on top."

Inga-Lill was literally 'born into the business,' as her mother was working for the great Stanley Dancer, caring for a horse named Snack Bar in Kentucky when she went into labor with Inga-Lill. The hospital in Lexington was full at the time, so her daughter was born in Versailles.

Tactical Landing - Miss Caviar by SJs Caviar

$240,000 NJSS Final winner for two-year-old trotting fillies, Aug 3 at The Meadowlands.

Owned by: Rojan Stables, Family Business, Patrick Hoopes, Caviart Farms

Trained by: Nancy Takter

Bred by: Dexter Dunn

Consigned by: Southwind Farms Llc

“My childhood was pretty much being around horses, but after attending hotel/restaurant school to be a chef, I decided I wanted to be a vet,” she said. “I studied all my dad’s books about horse anatomy and practiced [when I was in the ninth grade] at one of the largest vet clinics in Sweden. My biggest problem was that I can watch, learn and listen, but I get restless easily, so studying was not my strong point.

“Once I figured out that I could earn a living doing what I loved the most – working with horses – I quit school. I’ve had my trainer/driver license for 16 years now and never looked back.”

Today, many of harness racing’s top trainers and drivers have come to the States from across the pond in Europe to pursue their dream with each one making a huge impact; such as the Taktors, the Svanstedts, Nordin, Johansson, Jonas Czernyson, as well as those from Down Under, Noel Dailey, Nifty Norman, Chris Rider, the McCarthy brothers and Dexter Dunn, among many others.

2009, he has led all trainers in North America. Sadly, patriarch Mickey, Sr. passed away this year, but his two sons, Ronny and Mickey are carrying on his legacy. Karlsson has worked for the Burkes not once, but twice.

“In 2011, I got a job with the Burkes, while also training my own horse,” she said. “I was in Indiana at the time and Jamie Rucker was training some of Burke’s horses. I’m Bonanzera and Rev Me Up were two horses I cared for.

“I only worked for the Burkes for one season and when it was time to ship out, I stayed in Indiana for at the time I was a single mother raising three children.

“In 2019 I went to Florida and got a job working for Ken Weimer who trains and breaks all of Burke’s babies at their training center in Astor, FL.

“The Burkes and Kenny literally saved my life two times, and I am beyond grateful. Besides Ron and Kenny, Don and Rosie

“ In Sweden you can bet on the races in gas stations and grocery stores. It’s really neat because you can have the machine pick your tickets, kind of like Powerball. ”

~ Inga-Lill Karlsson

According to Karlsson, racing is different in the Nordic countries than it is in the States.

“Wow, it’s a LOT different,” Karlsson said. “In Sweden, we only race trotters, but there are two different breeds: warm and cold-blooded trotters.

“Over there we have three different distances of races: 1640m (one mile), 2140m (one and three-quarter miles) and 3140m (almost two miles). We also have two different start methods – gate start and in circulatory system – and the number of horses competing in a race could go as high as 15.

“I was there when approximately 100,000 people stood up to do ‘the wave’ at Solvalla when the horse Victory Tilly won the Elitlopp.

“In Sweden you can bet on the races in gas stations and grocery stores. It’s really neat because you can have the machine pick your tickets, kind of like Powerball.

“We have 33 racetracks there – I believe there are 35 here in the States, I think, but then every year there are more being closed down – and our country is 10 times smaller. Harness racing is SO big over there! It’s as big as football is here.”

The name Burke is one of the most prominent names in the sport as they have been listed as No. 1 in the training ranks, re-writing the definition of standardbred trainers by shattering records for trainers in wins and money. Ever since Ron Burke took over the lead role in the Burke Stable from his father Mickey in Eash have also been a second family to me.”

Of all the horses she’s cared for over the years, Karlsson has a few favorites.

“There are many, but the two that have remained in my heart are Celebrity Bambino and Ervin Hanover,” she said. “My all-time favorite would be Palmetto Hanover who is now in New Jersey.”

When it comes to caretakers and outriders being viewed as the backbone of our sport and deserving the respect and praise that drivers and trainers get, Karlsson agrees.

“Not enough people are humble and grateful today,” she said. “A lot of them forget that a groom puts his/her entire life into caring for the horse. It’s not an easy job and you have to love it. Your horse – although you may not own it – becomes YOUR horse and you treat it as such. You don’t get the money the horse earns but you don’t have to pay for the bills. Nonetheless, your horse means as much to you as if you were the owner.

“And all the females who are in the business deserve the glory as much as the men. Annette Lorentzon, Nancy Taktor, Jamie Rucker and Brooke Nickells, and all the others who put their time, blood, sweat and tears into it are all ‘superstars.’”

Knockonwood posts upset in Prix de Geneve at Enghien

by Thomas Hedlund

Knockonwood (Ready Cash) took the first win for his new trainer when the $100,000 Prix de Geneve was held at Enghien on Saturday (Aug. 3) afternoon. The 4-year-old Ready Cash son was sold at Vincennes in January and his new trainer Romain Christian Larue has frequently been in the bike. Knockonwood began with six consecutive starts without one single Euro in earnings, but in his race prior to Saturday's event, he was in better shape as runner up in Prix de Milan.

Yoann Lebourgeois drove Knockonwood at Enghien on Saturday and the duo hit the lead at an early stage, which proved to be the easiest way to claim the trophy.

The mile rate was a strong 1:56 over 1.7 miles. Replay here.

Three-year-old trotters chased the top prize in the $100,000 Prix de Berlin and heavy favorite Frank Gio, who entered the race with four wins in five lifetime starts, could never challenge leader Luciano Menuet (Feliciano), who was sent to the lead shortly after the start by Yoann Lebourgeois. Philippe Allaire's horse held Frank Gio behind him all the way and Luciano Menuet won in a mile rate of 1:59.4. Replay here.

ÅBY WORLD GRAND PRIX FIELD IS SET

Åby racetrack in Sweden plays host to one of the biggest harness racing events ever in Europe, at least when it comes to the purse for Saturday's (Aug. 10) $1,050,000 World Grand Prix.

This year's race has attracted 10 horses and Åby made a late decision regarding the number of horses in the race since late scratches were announced. Joviality declined two weeks ago. Önas Prince and Inmarosa both scratched on Saturday (Aug. 3).

Instead of 12 trotters in the 3,140 meters long race, Åby decided to let 10 horses battle for the big check and the last horse invited was Johan Untersteiner's Get A Wish.

Elitloppet winner Horsy Dream will defend the French colors. He starts from post 7, while the two top trotters from Sweden, Francesco Zet and San Moteur, drew posts 1 and 2, respectively.

Pennsylvania SIRE STAKES REPORT

Fashion Green becomes fastest freshman trotter ever at The Meadows; remains unbeaten

by Evan Pattak for the Meadows Standardbred Owners Association

Fashion Green became the fastest freshman trotter ever at Hollywood Casino at The Meadows when he blazed the mile in 1:53.2 in Friday's (Aug. 2) Pennsylvania Sires Stake. The time for the Greenshoe—Fashion Athena gelding eclipsed the previous track record of 1:54 established by the filly Dreamonhigh in 2021.

In the other division of the stake, known as the Florida Pro, Cheers Hanover established yet another track record when he triumphed in 1:54, knocking a tick from Captain Corey's mark of 1:54 for freshman colt trotters set in 2020.

Dave Palone floated to the top with Fashion Green in :27.2, a swift quarter that didn't concern Palone at all.

"He's as good a horse as you'll ever want to see," Palone said. "He has a perfect mind. Has anybody seen anything that could go where he went? I haven't, and a lot of great horses have raced here."

Fashion Green defeated the rallying Father TJ by 1¾ lengths, extending his career unbeaten streak to four, with Arrowhead Hanover third. Jim Campbell trains the homebred Fashion Green for Fashion Farms LLC.

Dismissed at 21-1, Cheers Hanover saved ground throughout, pouring through the Lightning Lane for Hunter Myers to edge favorite Meshuggah by a head. Elan Hanover completed the ticket.

Ron Burke conditions the son of Bar Hopping—Chez Lucie, who also has a PA All-Stars win to his credit, for Burke Racing Stable, Weaver BrusceMI LLC, Jim Simpson and J&T Silva – Purnel & Libby.

$80,000 PA STALLION SERIES 2YOCT

Hey Porter, Abraham Hanover, Munster Mash Trick and Scudo Hanover each took a split in Friday's sub-feature.

In only his second career start, Hey Porter steadily drew away from Bell Hall for Palone and soundly defeated her by 6¼ lengths in 1:55.2 to earn his maiden-breaker. I'll Have A Double finished third.

"I watched a couple replays of him, and he looked like a nice enough horse," Palone said. "He finished good in both races. I ended up caught on the lead, but he handled it well. When I took out the plugs, he knew what to do."

Tony Alagna trains the son of Bar Hopping—Chelsees A Winner for Steve Stewart.

Chris Gooden Fashion Green (Dave Palone) set the fastest 2-year-old trotting mile in the history of The Meadows when he won his Pennsylvania Sire Stakes test in 1:53.2 on Friday.

Indiana SIRE STAKES REPORT

Sabonis, Tellmeitmatters lead Indiana Sire Stakes winners at Harrah's Hoosier Park

by Jacob Rheinheimer / Harrah's Hoosier Park

Dean Gillette

Tellmeitmatters (John De Long) extended his win streak to six with a 1:49.4 win in Thursday's Indiana Sires Stakes event for sophomore pacing colts at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

Despite a delayed start to the card due to strong thunderstorms moving through Anderson, IN, the action on the racetrack was fast and furious on Thursday (Aug. 1) at Harrah's Hoosier Park. Two divisions of Indiana Sire Stakes for sophomore pacing and trotting colts on the 14-race card saw favorites deliver and Sabonis and Tellmeitmatters extend their lengthy win streaks in the glamour boy ranks.

Sabonis stepped into the spotlight first to win his seventh straight on the season in the $49,500 first division for pacing colts with regular pilot Joey Putnam aboard. Leaving from the rail, the 1-9 favorite got away third in the field of six while Shooting In Place (driven by Jordan Ross) led to the opening quarter in :27.1. Dale Yea (Marvin Luna) popped the pocket on the backstretch to take command to the half in :55 before leading to three-quarters in 1:23.3 while Sabonis tipped from third. Sabonis quickly powered alongside the leader turning for home before pacing away with a :26 last quarter to win by 1¼ lengths over Dale Yea in 1:50.

Trained by Aaron Stutzman for owner Pat Miller, Sabonis is now a 10-time winner in 11 seasonal outings. The son of Tellitlikeitis—Gypsy Bellevue was bred by Karl Miller and now boasts a career bankroll of $177,450.

Tellmeitmatters immediately followed suit in the very next race to extend his win streak to six in the $50,000 second division. Driver John De Long took the 1-5 bettor's choice back to fourth in the field of seven early as M-M's Bud (Jay Cross) cut the quarter in :26.4. M-M's Bud went unchallenged to the half in :55 before Tellmeitmatters began his patented first-over grind to move within a half-length of the leader at three-quarters in 1:23. Rocketing home in :26.4, Tellmeitmatters powered clear by 2½ lengths in the lane to stop the timer in 1:49.4 over M-M's Bud.

After finishing third in his 3-year-old debut, Tellmeitmatters has gone unbeaten since with the six-straight victories for trainer Roger Welch. The gelded homebred son of Tellitlikeitis—Art Matters has banked $342,050 lifetime for owners William and Patrick De Long.

Earlier on the card, Dashing Danny extended his current win streak to three at 1-5 to take the $50,500 first division of Indiana Sire Stakes for 3-year-old trotting colts. Driver Kyle Wilfong opted to change tactics and take back to sixth early as Trace Tetrick hustled CS Flying Co-Pilot to the front through a quarter of :27.3. CS Flying Co-Pilot remained a loose leader on the backstretch, leading to the half in :56.2 in the sloppy going. Muscleftastic (Robert Taylor) started the outer flow from third with Dashing Danny on his back second-over in pursuit of CS Flying Co-Pilot who led to three-quarters in 1:25.2. Dashing Danny catapulted off cover turning for home, trotting home in :28.3 to charge to a two-length victory in 1:54.4. Customer Support (Jay Cross) rallied at 63-1 for the place position.

Jeff Cullipher trains and co-owns the four-time winner in five seasonal starts along with Pollack Racing. The gelded son of Dover Dan—Sashay was bred by Steve Stewart and Black Creek Farm and has now earned $294,837.

Gruesome Twosome returned to Indiana following his first defeat of the season in the Stanley Dancer at The Meadowlands with an impressive front-end score in the $50,000 second division. Starting from the outside post 7, Gruesome Twosome and driver Daryl Bontrager found themselves parked to the quarter in :27.3 to the outside of Elhelpski (Pete Wrenn). Gruesome Twosome cleared on the backstretch before reaching the halfway point in :56.1. Knowyoucando (Kyle Wilfong) was the first to challenge the 1-5 favorite, reaching the leader's wheel at three-quarters in 1:25.2. Gruesome Twosome fended off the challenge before opening up by 2½ lengths on the line over Knowyoucando to score the victory in 1:53.3.

A winner in four of five this season, Bontrager trains and co-owns Gruesome Twosome along with Ira Steinberg. Now a 10-time winner in his career, the son of You Know You Do—All Set Lets Go was bred by Merle Yoder and sports career earnings of $336,456.

Minnesota SIRE STAKES REPORT

Flickadawrist and Delco Irene grab headlines Thursday at Running Aces

by Darin Gagne

The Thursday night (Aug. 1) program at Running Aces featured the Minnesota-sired sophomore pacers with three divisions going for a total purse of $42,500.

In the $17,000 male 'A' division Flickadawrist (Wind Me Up) stole the show and lit up the board with a career best 1:52.2 effort while dismissed by players as a 40-1 longshot.

Driver Jeff Hunt was patient in the early stages while heavy favorite Fast Larry (James Kennedy) laid down very fast fractions of :27.1, :55 and 1:22.3.

Hunt got rolling from fifth as they headed into the far turn and was third near the top of the lane but quickly drew close to the leader who was feeling the effects of the fractions.

Flickadawrist (\$82.00) strolled on by to take the lead and draw clear for a 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ -length victory while posting the fastest final quarter (:28) in the field. Celebrity Status surged late to get up for second over Fast Larry in a tight photo.

The winner is owned by Van Otterloo Stables and is trained by Bob Lems.

Delco Irene (Wind Me Up) refused to lose in the $17,000 fillies 'A' division, posting a gutsy performance to make it two in a row and post her fifth win of the season.

Driver Brady Jenson left intently from post 4 with the heavy favorite and they made the top before the quarter before yielding to Apple Juice near the three-eighths.

Jenson was not content to sit in with Delco Irene so he orchestrated the give-and-go to put his filly back on the lead and they regained control as they headed down the backstretch.

Deja Vu Babyboo (Todd Warren) was the next to take a shot at the leader and they battled stride-for-stride around the far turn with Deja Vu Babyboo taking the lead as they straightened in the lane before Delco Irene surged again in deep stretch and Apple Juice tipped wide to join the battle.

When the dust settled Delco Irene (\$2.60) had successfully thwarted defeat and she got home 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ lengths the best in 1:53.3 while Deja Vu Babyboo held second over Apple Juice.

Semicolon (Aracache Hanover) posted a sharp closing effort to capture victory in the $8,500 sophomore 'B' division in a career best 1:55.3 mile.

Dean Magee was patient early and was seventh by more than 10 lengths at the half before launching Semicolon into action as they headed into the far turn.

They made steady progress and then did their best work in the stretch, surging on the outside to clear the field and post a two-length victory over Bapa's Double Knot and Suddenly Famous.

It was the third career win for Semicolon ($3.60) for owner Rick Davelaar and trainer Eddie Hernandez.

Jenson led the Thursday program with three driving wins while and trainer Edwin Quevedo both posted doubles.

Live Racing returns to Running Aces for a big 12-race program today (Aug. 4) which will feature the $50,000 Dan Patch FFA pace as well as Pepsi Family Night with specials and Food Trucks, Trout Fishing, Sole Survivor Contest, Jog Cart Rides and more. First post is set for 6 p.m. (CDT).

New Jersey SIRE STAKES REPORT

Nordic Catcher S, Champagne Problems easily win NJSS finals

by Frank Cotolo / Meadowlands media relations

Nordic Catcher S and Champagne Problems dominated in their respective $240,000 New Jersey Sire Stakes finals for 2-year-old trotters at The Meadowlands on Saturday (Aug. 3).

In the colt final, Nordic Catcher S was driven to a steady trot early and was saving ground. He took a safe spot positioned on the rail as outsider Onajetplane left hard from the outside to rush for the front beside a quick-stepping move off the gate by Hidalgo, who left from post 10.

Yannick G Kemp and Sky Legacy sought good spots just as Hidalgo broke stride and bothered Tactical Dynasty, who went into a mild gallop and lost ground. Favorite Go Boom began maneuvering to attempt taking control by the :27.1 first quarter; he rocketed to the lead between panels and cut the half in :56.1.

Nordic Catcher S remained in waiting on the pylons while Go Boom battled Onajetplane passing three-quarters in 1:25.2. Trainer/driver Åke Svanstedt turned a second-over move with Nordic Catcher S into a catapulting 3¼-length lead for the youngster's second win, well ahead of Don't Ask For More, who finished second. Back on stride after the early misstep, Tactical Dynasty got up to claim the show spot.

Nordic Catcher S paid $7.80 to win.

Little E LLC and Svanstedt own Nordic Catcher S, a son of world champion Six Pack out of the Somebeachsomehere pacing mare That Woman Hanover. The colt has now won $138,750 in three starts, setting a 1:53.3 lifetime mark in the New Jersey Sire Stakes final.

"He's something special," Svanstedt said, making note that he bought the yearling with no regard to its being bred out of a pacing champion's female bloodline. As well, Svanstedt said he was not concerned with the race activity through three-quarters that found his colt in fourth. "He can race his best from the front or behind."

In the filly final, Champagne Problems left well over a track turned "sloppy" and settled into second as Kendra left best to take the lead while Lady Landia followed her into a :27.4 first panel. Rolling in line up the backstretch, driver Dexter Dunn pulled Champagne Problems from the rail to the outside and flew to the lead, slicing a :56.2 half and a 1:24.4 three-quarters.

The Tactical Landing—Miss Caviar filly was gliding to the finish line with ease while Spicy Nice revved up with late speed to finish best of the rest. Champagne Problem's 1:52.3 mile is a new speed badge. Kendra caught the third spot.

Rojan Stables, Family Business, Patrick Hoopes and Caviart Farms own Champagne Problems, who is trained by Nancy Takter. The filly has now earned $148,750 in her first racing season. She paid $5.20 to win.

"She is a super nice filly," Takter said. "I like the Tactical Landing-sired horses, and I was surprised [this one] cost so cheap." She said each of the four filly trotters she trains "look good" this season.

WEATHER WREAKS HAVOC AT BIG M

A 40-minute delay before the start of the program due to intense thunderstorms, another 40-minute delay due to an inquiry involving several horses, and, finally, a power outage that knocked out a portion of the lights as a result of all of the rain that fell just as the 10th race was heading to the gate, made for a tough Friday night (Aug. 2) at The Meadowlands.

Management decided just after 11:30 p.m. it was best for the horsemen, patrons and employees to pull the plug and end the scheduled 14-race program after just nine dashes were complete.

"It was a tough night from start to finish," said track chief operating officer/general manager Jason Settlemoir. "We felt it was best for everyone, especially with our huge Hambletonian Day card set to begin at noon on Saturday, that we call off the rest of the card when we did."

One of two New Jersey Sire Stakes finals were contested on the program, with the Brett Pelling-trained Reckless Abandon taking the $192,000 event for 2-year-old filly pacers in a lifetime-best 1:51.3.

The daughter of Cattlewash—Reclamation followed a live cover trip for a third-straight start, and delivered an easy victory for a third straight start, this one by 4¼ lengths to lift her lifetime record to three wins from four outings, good for earnings of $127,250. Worklifebalance was second with Beach Babe third.

Driver Todd McCarthy guided Reckless Abandon, who returned $2.10 to win as the 1-9 favorite.

The evening's other featured event, the $240,000 NJSS final for 2-year-old pacing colts and geldings, will be rescheduled.

A LITTLE MORE: Yogi Sheridan and Scott Zeron each recorded a pair of victories to lead the driver colony... All-source handle on the nine races totaled $2,013,875.

Karl rallies, Takter repeats in Hambletonian

by Mike Farrell for the Hambletonian Society

Karl won the $1,050,000 Hambletonian on Saturday (Aug. 3) at The Meadowlands as trainer Nancy Takter continued a family tradition and Hall of Fame driver Yannick Gingras scored his first win in the trotting classic.

Contested in a driving rainstorm, Karl closed resolutely to beat Highland Kismet by a length as the 3-5 favorite. No one in the winner's circle seemed to mind the raindrops falling on their heads.

Takter, a part owner of the 3-year-old colt, became the first trainer to win consecutive Hambletonians since her Hall of Fame father, Jimmy Takter, in 2014 and 2015. She was only the third female trainer to win the Hambletonian when Tactical Approach finished first last year.

"I was definitely a lot prettier in the winner's circle last year, and a lot drier," said a thoroughly-drenched Takter. "He's just an amazing horse."

The other female trainers who have won Hambletonians in the sport's 99-year history are Paula Wellwood, with Marion Marauder in 2016; and Linda Toscano, with Market Share in 2012.

Only three trainers have won the race in consecutive years: the Takters; and Per Eriksson, in 1991 and 1992.

"I don't think I've screamed so much in my entire life as I did the last eighth of that mile," Takter said. "It was really exciting, and I'm extremely proud of the horse and the entire team. I'm happy for Yannick for his first Hambletonian."

For Gingras, it was the end of a lengthy quest. He was winless in 11 previous Hambletonian finals, finishing second three times. Perhaps the most excruciating loss was the defeat by a nose to Triple Crown winner Marion Marauder in 2016.

Gingras was extremely emotional, twirling his whip in a victory salute roughly 50 yards from the finish line.

"It means so much," said Gingras who drove his 9,000th career winner earlier this week. "Especially for my kids. As they got older, I saw the disappointment in their faces every year. They're not disappointed that I'm not winning. They're disappointed for me because they know how much it means."

It means everything, especially when it finally happens.

Karl was away sixth in the early stages before tracking Highland Kismet into the outer flow down the backstretch. Karl needed several strides in the sloppy stretch before kicking into high gear to claim the trophy.

"Highland Kismet kept clear for a little bit but I just had to wait for a couple of strides," Gingras said. "It was tight quarters. I didn't want to do anything to jeopardize it. I just figured an eighth of a mile was enough to show what a champion he was."

The time was 1:51.3 for the mile.

Karl posted his 15th win in 17 starts for the ownership of Nancy and her mother, Christina Takter, along with Black Horse Racing and Bender Sweden.

Karl was sold for $135,000 at the 2022 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Karl, last season's Dan Patch Award winner, paid $3.40, $2.40 and $2.20. Highland Kismet returned $4.00 and $4.00. Amazing Catch paid $9.60 to show after surviving a judges' inquiry that determined he was not guilty of a penalty for racing inside the pylons.

Warrawee Michelle rebounds for Hambletonian Oaks win

by Ray Cotolo / Meadowlands media relations

Last season's Breeders Crown divisional champion Warrawee Michelle made swift amends from a tepid beginning to her sophomore season to bag gold in the $525,000 Hambletonian Oaks final on Saturday (Aug. 3) at The Meadowlands.

Trainer/driver Åke Svanstedt pushed off the wings with Warrawee Michelle out of post 2 to secure a seat in fourth as her stablemate French Champagne motored forward with Miss I La to take the lead after a :26.2 first quarter. R Melina followed French Champagne's brush to the backside and soon planted herself onto the lead all while Svanstedt sat cozy in fourth, but with even-money favorite Elista Hanover on his back.

R Melina strode by the half in :54.3 as Elista Hanover tried to get started on the outside, forcing Svanstedt's hand to lift Warrawee Michelle into action. Warrawee Michelle advanced from the flush through the final turn and loomed nearer to R Melina coming to three-quarters in 1:23.3. Rounding the bottom corner, Warrawee Michelle spurred forward to a lead that quickly widened as R Melina got hooked with the fast-closing Date Night Hanover to her inside and French Champagne to her outside. The added cushion proved enough for Warrawee Michelle, as she then evaded a late push from last year's Dan Patch divisional champ Buy A Round down the center of the track to win in 1:51.2 by a half-length. Allegiant rallied from third-over for third and Miss I La emerged around the stretch traffic for fourth.

The Oaks win for Warrawee Michelle, her first victory of the year in four starts. It was just her second start following a minor throat operation.

Warrawee Michelle (Åke Svanstedt) won the $525,000 Hambletonian Oaks final on Saturday at The Meadowlands in 1:51.2.

“She had some problems and we did the throat surgery,” Svanstedt said after the race. “After that, she was normal again. She raced good last time and today she was super. We were out early and horses were coming from behind, but I gave her full speed as we came through the stretch.”

Warrawee Michelle, who wrapped her freshman season with a win in the $700,000 Breeders Crown 2-Year-Old Filly Trot, became just the 11th filly in harness racing history to achieve the double, which was last accomplished by 2018 Oaks winner Manchego. Svanstedt scored his first victory in the Hambletonian Oaks.

A daughter of Walner out of the Yankee Glide mare Sound Check, Warrawee Michelle races for owners Åke Svanstedt Inc., Santandrea Inc. and Young Guns. She won her fifth race from 13 starts and has now earned $747,875. Off the sixth choice in the betting, she paid $29.20 to win.

Warrawee Michelle was bred by Warrawee Farms of Ontario and sold for $200,000 at the 2022 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Legendary Hanover dominates in Cane; Rocket Deo holds sway in Shady Daisy

by Jay Bergman for the Hambletonian Society

Legendary Hanover kicked off a huge day of stakes action on Saturday (Aug. 3) at The Meadowlands with a track- and stakes-record 1:46.2 performance in the $248,000 Cane Pace, for sophomores. James MacDonald guided the son of Huntsville from the Well Said mare Lillian Hanover to his second straight stakes-winning performance, following a blowout 2½-length victory in the Meadowlands Pace.

With just five horses in the field, MacDonald settled Legendary Hanover in third in the early stages as Captain Luke and Scott Zeron took control in the first turn ahead of Captains Quarters with Jody Jamieson. Following the :26.2 first quarter fraction, Jamieson sent Captains Quarters to regain command. MacDonald didn't waste time with the Tony Beaton-trained Legendary Hanover and quickly moved to challenge for the lead. Captains Quarters didn't yield easily, but Legendary Hanover cleared before reaching the half in :52.4.

Despite little in the way of challenges, MacDonald didn't ease up on Legendary Hanover, who paced a :26.3 third quarter to hit that marker in 1:19.2 with only Captains Quarters close enough to threaten in the homestretch. Those threats were short-lived as MacDonald called on Legendary Hanover, intent on posting a quick clocking. The colt responded in kind with a blistering

:27 final fraction, coming just a fifth short of Confederate's world record mark for 3-year-olds of 1:46.1, taken last year at Lexington's Red Mile.

Mirage Hanover rallied strongly for Tim Tetrick to gain second late over Captains Quarters as Captain Luke and Remember Alamo rounded out the order of finish.

Sent off as the 1-5 favorite, Legendary Hanover, bred by Hanover Shoe Farms, returned $2.40 to win.

Owned by Eric Good, West Wins Stable and Mark Dumain, Legendary Hanover was a winner for the fifth time in eight starts this year, capturing a leg of pacing's Triple Crown in the process.

"He's a special horse," said MacDonald in the winner's circle. "He has a never-ending set of lungs."

Legendary Hanover was sold for $260,000 at the 2022 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Rocket Deo and Andy McCarthy needed a long journey to gain control, but dug in bravely in the stretch to capture the $101,000 Shady Daisy for sophomore pacing fillies in a career-best 1:49 mile.

Legendary Hanover (James MacDonald) set a 1:46.2 track and stakes record while winning the $248,000 Cane Pace on Saturday at The Meadowlands.

The action was fast and furious from the outset in the Shady Daisy, with Stonecoldtreachery and Bob McClure hustling quickly past Miraculous Deo to take control at the :26.3 opening quarter. McClure saw immediate pressure when Canigetalooup and driver David Miller pounced on her off the opening bend to take control. McCarthy had followed the outer flow with the Brett Pelling-trained Rocket Deo, and the daughter of Captaintreacherous assumed command before completing the first half in :53.4.

McCarthy was looking for company on the final turn, and when favored Caviart Belle and driver Yannick Gingras went to the outside, she flushed the cover of Stonecoldtreachery. Rocket Deo hit three-quarters in 1:21.4 and tried to sprint free, leaving the door ajar for the pocket-sitting Canigetalooup, whom Miller angled out to challenge. A stretch battle ensued, but Rocket Deo kept digging in and gamely held off the closers, surviving with a :27.1 final quarter with Canigetalooup a head back in second and Lou Lou and driver Scott Zeron rallying strongly late for third. The Pelling-trained Sweet Gal came through for fourth with Miraculous Deo fifth.

Rocket Deo is owned by Morrison Racing Stables and John D. Fielding. She was a winner for the sixth time in eight tries this year. Rocket Deo paid $10.80 to win. Out of the stakes winning mare Rocklamation, Rocket Deo was bred by Deo Volente Farms and T L P Stable.

“I had pretty good faith in her,” said McCarthy. “I thought I was beat in mid-stretch. She’s a gritty girl.”

Rocket Deo was sold for $260,000 at the 2022 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Rocknroll Runa A stuns at 68-1 in Sam McKee Memorial

by Mike Farrell for the Hambletonian Society

Lisa Photo

Rocknroll Runa A (Mark MacDonald) shot up the inside and posted a 68-1 upset in the $220,000 Sam McKee Memorial on Saturday at The Meadowlands.

“The Bomber” struck for a colossal upset when 68-1 shot Rocknroll Runa A emerged victorious in the $220,000 Sam McKee Memorial for open pacers on Saturday’s (Aug. 3) Hambletonian Day undercard at The Meadowlands.

Trainer Larry Stalbaum, affectionately known as “The Bomber,” told everyone within earshot that Rocknroll Runa A had a big shot heading into the McKee, but it didn’t seem many were paying attention.

Rocknroll Runa A (Rock N Roll Heaven—Shes A Runa) slipped through a narrow opening along the pylons to pull the upset with Mark MacDonald at the lines. The time was a lifetime best 1:47.3 for the 7-year-old gelding, who earned his 32nd win in 87 career starts.

“I told everybody every time I bring him here, he’s got a big shot,” said Stalbaum, who doubles as the gelding’s owner. “He’s gonna love a big track, even though it looks like he loves a short track. He’s even better on a big track.”

Next time, more folks will be listening.

An upset was in the offering right from the start as 29-1 long shot Ruthless Hanover set a blistering pace though opening fractions of :25.4 and :52.3. That impossible clip seemed made to order for Abuckabett Hanover, the 3-5 favorite. The anticipated rally by the leading free-for-all pacer never materialized as he finished ninth.

That threw the race up for grabs, and it was Rocknroll Runa A who seized the day.

It was a moving moment for Stalbaum, not only for the victory, but to win the race named for McKee.

“When I first got going, I wound up going to Toledo, and Sam McKee was the announcer there (at Raceway Park),” Stalbaum said. “He’d been a good friend of mine his whole life.”

The race is named in memory of McKee, the “Voice of the Meadowlands,” who passed away in 2017 at the too-soon age of 54.

Back to the race, Rocknroll Runa A, who paid $138.60 to win, prevailed by a neck over 8-1 shot It’s My Show with Ruthless Hanover holding on for third.

Rocknroll Runa A was bred in Australia by K B Kennedy and Burns Golf Pty Ltd.

M-M's Dream collars Special Way in Steele Memorial

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

M-M's Dream rallied on the outside in deep stretch to win Saturday's (Aug. 3) $160,000 Dr. John R. Steele Memorial for older female trotters by 2½ lengths over Special Way in 1:50.4 at The Meadowlands. Pioneer As was third.

Special Way took the early lead and brought the field to the opening quarter in :27. She remained in front through a half in :57 and three-quarters in 1:24 while facing a first-over challenge from Call Me Goo.

M-M's Dream, who enjoyed a pocket trip behind Special Way, was guided to the outside by driver David Miller as they came out of the final turn. She trotted her last quarter in :26.2 as she won for the sixth time in nine races this year.

"When they started to get away a little bit on the turn, for a second I was worried," trainer Ron Burke said. "But I know one thing with this filly, it's never over until it's over. She's going to reengage late. About halfway down the lane, I knew she had momentum and was starting to pick it up. You just know her; she's going to finish the last sixteenth probably better than any trotter out there."

Added Miller: "She's got so much determination. She just never gives up until she gets them."

M-M's Dream, who started from post 1 and raced without shoes, won the Steele for the second consecutive year. The triumph followed her win last week in a leg of the Miss Versatility Series.

"Any time I can go for real money with her, I go barefoot," Burke said. "She's a way better horse barefoot. She can't do it back-to-back weeks, so last week, you're going for $50,000, it's not free money, but it's not this money. Today, off the rail, we knew we had a big shot. You want to do something special. She's just better with her shoes off."

M-M's Dream is owned by Eleven Star Stables, Frank Baldachino and Hillside Stables. The 5-year-old daughter of Swan For All—Trading Places was bred by Mervin Miller. She has won 31 of 45 career races and earned $1.66 million.

Sent off as the 6-5 co-favorite with Special Way, M-M's Dream paid $4.40 to win.

Jiggy Jog S sails into record books with Cashman win

by Ray Cotolo / Meadowlands media relations

Åke Svanstedt's generational trotting mare Jiggy Jog S took her shot in the $282,000 John Cashman Memorial and stood up to the task to not only beat male competition through a sudden downpour, but to also trounce the stakes and divisional track records at The Meadowlands on Saturday (Aug. 3).

Driver Dexter Dunn floated Jiggy Jog S out of post 3 and managed to catch cover from stablemate Southwind Tyrion as that one raced parked through the first turn. Southwind Tyrion towed Jiggy Jog S forward through a :27 first quarter set by It's Academic and stayed in tandem with the leader as the rainfall intensified to a :55.1 half. Dunn remained steady with Jiggy Jog S from second-over through the final turn while the tempo stayed hot in the storm to three-quarters in 1:22.3.

Upon straightening, Dunn unleashed Jiggy Jog S to the center of the track. Jiggy Jog S accelerated instantaneously and spurred by her stablemate Southwind Tyrion entering the final eighth. Jiggy Jog S cruised by the line to stop the clock in 1:49.2 on a track that was promptly downgraded to "good." Southwind Tyrion stayed strong through the parked mile to finish second, beaten 2¼ lengths, with Chapercraz holding third from late-charging Hasty Bid.

"I had such a good helmet to follow in Southwind Tyrion," Dunn said. "I knew it would have to be a big effort, but she just fills you in confidence when you sit behind her. She does her work so easy, and I was happy with the spot I was in."

Jiggy Jog S stayed unbeaten from just three starts this season. Her win in the Cashman, a lifetime-best effort, came just over a month since she last hit the track to win the $112,500 Six Pack, also at The Meadowlands.

“Amazing effort [by Svanstedt] to get her ready to go 1:49.2 on an off track and being off the pylons after 43 days,” Dunn also said. “She’s racing the boys this year; she has a long year ahead of her. [Spacing her races] is working great for her.”

Svanstedt trains and co-owns Jiggy Jog S, a 5-year-old Walner mare out of the Cantab Hall dam Hot Mess Hanover, along with Steve Stewart, John Lengacher and Hickory Hollow Stables. She has won 21 races in her career from 38 starts and has now banked $2,425,467.

Jiggy Jog S’s 1:49.2 mile beat the stakes record of 1:50, matched thrice by Gimpanzee in 2020, Crystal Fashion in 2019 and set by her stablemate Sebastian K S in 2014. She also lowered the track record for older trotting mares of 1:49.4 set by another Svanstedt pupil, Darling Mearas, and matched in 2021 by Manchego.

Sent the 1-2 favorite, Jiggy Jog S, bred in Sweden by Vestmarka Ab, paid $3.00 to win.

Twin B Joe Fresh soars in Lady Liberty

by Jay Bergman for the Hambletonian Society

Twin B Joe Fresh made a shambles of the $146,000 Lady Liberty Stakes, for older pacing mares, demolishing her rivals and scampering to a 1:48 blowout victory on the Hambletonian Day program on Saturday afternoon (Aug. 3) at The Meadowlands. The 4-year-old Roll With Joe mare from the Captaintreacherous dam Fresh Breeze was a winner for the sixth time in seven starts this year with the powerhouse performance, and she gave co-owner Dexter Dunn his sixth driving win on the card.

Dunn and Twin B Joe Fresh left from the outside but took a seat on the first turn as a few other mares were more intent on cutting the fractions. Silver Label and Scott Zeron left fast from the pole position but were overpowered by Grace Hill into the first turn. Always B Naughty and driver Yannick Gingras swept three-wide to gain control at the :26.3 opening quarter fraction. Tim Tetrick settled second choice Sylvia Hanover into a hole early, but past the quarter, he saw Grace Hill and Todd McCarthy making a second move and got on her back quickly. Sylvia Hanover had control of the action before the half in :53.3 with Dunn sitting chilly with Twin B Joe Fresh content to race from off the pace.

Dunn sent Twin B Joe Fresh in motion past the half, and the mare accelerated quite quickly as Tetrick anxiously tried to get Sylvia Hanover's attention going to three-quarters. Twin B Joe Fresh just blew by Sylvia Hanover like she was standing still and quickly drew distance following the 1:21.3 three-quarter clocking. With Dunn a passenger, Twin B Joe Fresh completed her mile with a :26.2 final quarter and won by 2¼ lengths.

The battle for minor spoils found Silver Label finally freeing herself from a bad shuffle on the final turn to rally stoutly for second with Zanatta coming from the clouds to finish third.

Co-owned by trainer Chris Ryder, Twin B Joe Fresh is also owned by partners Peter Trebotica and Barry Spak, and was bred by Brittany Farms.

"She's just been a better mare this year," said Dunn following the victory. "Sometimes she'd get a little weak towards the end of a mile last year, but this year she's just powering through the finish line.

As the 3-5 favorite, Twin B Joe Fresh returned $3.20 to win.

Twin B Joe Fresh was sold as a yearling for $50,000 at the 2021 Standardbred Horse Sale Company sale in Harrisburg, PA.

Hambletonian Day handle tops $7 million at Big M

by Dave Little / Meadowlands media relations

For the sixth time in the last seven years, all-source handle on the Hambletonian Day program at The Meadowlands topped $7 million, with the 2020 COVID-19 card the only one to fail to reach that plateau.

Despite several downpours during the course of the day, a total of $7,427,223 – an industry 2024 best – was wagered on the blockbuster 16-race program Saturday (Aug. 3) at The Big M, good for an average per race of $464,201.

“To wager over $7 million again on the biggest and best harness card of the year in North America is something we are proud of,” said track chief operating officer and general manager Jason Settlemyer. “And that total takes into account only wagers made in North America. When the totals from Finland, France, Denmark, Norway and Sweden are added to our North American total, our grand total will be well in excess of $8 million.”

Business was predictably brisk on the Hambletonian itself, as $1,115,982 was pushed through the windows on the 99th edition of “America’s Trotting Classic,” the third year in a row where betting busted the million-dollar barrier.

David Miller and Nancy Takter walked away as the top dash-winning driver and trainer, respectively, at the Winter-Spring-Championship Meet, which spanned Jan. 5-Hambletonian Day, a total of 61 race cards.

Hall of Famer Miller, 59, claimed his first-ever outright top-driver crown. In 2003, “Purple Jesus” ended up tied atop the standings with Luc Ouellette.

Miller finished with 86 victories, 14 more than runner-up Andy McCarthy.

Takter, 43, whose barn is normally associated more with quality than with quantity, walked away with the dash-win crown despite registering only 93 starts entering the weekend. Her students won 36 times as she claimed her first Big M crown. Per Engblom was runner-up with 31 tallies.

THREE WEEKS OFF: The Meadowlands will now go dark for three weeks before returning for its yearly “Mini Meet,” when live racing will be conducted Aug. 30 and 31 and Sept. 6 and 7 at the normal 6:20 p.m. post time.

Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association relieves Mancino of duties

The Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association today announced that it has decided to move in a different direction and has relieved Renee Mancino of her duties as executive director.

"I would like to thank Renee for her efforts over the last nine and a half years and her commitment to Ohio horsemen," said OHHA president Scott Mogan. "Renee was an integral part of moving the organization to where we are today."

Mogan said a national search will begin shortly to find the association's new executive director.

Somebeachsomewhere tops poll celebrating Ontario Sires Stakes' 50-year history

Somebeachsomewhere is the greatest horse in Ontario Sires Stakes history, according to an informal poll conducted as part of the program's 50th Anniversary celebrations.

Among the Lampman Cup-winning drivers, Johnston Cup-winning trainers, Hall of Fame breeders, renowned handicappers and iconic builders who were asked to provide their top 10 choices for the most influential horses in the OSS program's 50-year history, the son of March Three earned the most votes and most first-place rankings.

"It's quite the accomplishment to be recognized as the greatest horse in the history of OSS racing," said Brent MacGrath, Somebeachsomewhere's trainer.

Bred by Stephanie Smith-Rothaug of Saint Louisville, OH, Somebeachsomewhere was purchased by MacGrath for $40,000 from the 2006 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale. The colt was driven throughout his $3,328,755 career by Guelph, ON, resident Paul MacDonell and owned by MacGrath and Schooner Stables of Bible Hill, NS.

In 21 starts Somebeachsomewhere was only bested once, edged out by Art Official in the 2008 Meadowlands Pace, a defeat almost as memorable as his 14 sophomore victories which included the North America Cup, Messenger, Breeders Crown, Confederation Cup, Tattersalls, OSS Super Final and the Bluegrass, where he paced in 1:46.4, equaling the fastest race mile ever recorded at that time. For those exploits, he was awarded Horse of the Year honors on both sides of the border.

"From my perspective, [the race that stands out the most for me] was the race when he won the North America Cup," MacDonell said. "It was a local race and Ontario sired horse going into it as the heavy favorite and he completed the task. It was in front of home town, in front of family and friends and he delivered, so it was a pretty exhilarating moment.

"If you listen to the crowd at the North America Cup video on YouTube it's incredible. It's like a football game, and that's not normal for a horse race. So, that was certainly very exciting, but every one of his races were exciting."

As a 2-year-old, Somebeachsomewhere raced exclusively in Ontario, winning the Battle of Waterloo, Metro Pace and OSS Super Final, and sharing Canadian Horse of the Year honors with Tell All. He was inducted into the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame in 2009 and the U.S. Harness Racing Hall of Fame in 2015.

"At the time it gave me quite a bit of confidence," MacDonell said of Somebeachsomewhere's dominance over his career. "When you have a horse of that power it gives you confidence. It made my job a heck of a lot easier"

In his second career as a stallion at Hanover Shoe Farms, Somebeachsomewhere proved just as prolific as he had been on the racetrack. Then executive vice president of Hanover Shoe Farms, Dr. Bridgette Jablonsky called him the "greatest standardbred stallion ever" in a 2022 CBC piece profiling his final son, $1,189,416-winner Beach Glass.

Prior to his death in 2018, Somebeachsomewhere sired 1,106 foals, with 90 per cent of them racing and over half earning more than $100,000. Thirty of his offspring earned over $1 million, and his total progeny earnings currently stand at $212 million.

Here's a look at the top 10 horses in the 50-year history of the OSS, as selected by poll participants:

1. Somebeachsomewhere
2. Bulldog Hanover
3. Peaceful Way
4. Bee A Magician
5. San Pail
6. Goodtimes
7. Tattoo Artist
8. Arch Madness
9. Apaches Fame
10. Tall Dark Stranger

The Ontario Sires Stakes is celebrating its 50th anniversary with a celebratory tour at racetracks across the province. The next stop is at Georgian Downs on Sunday (Aug. 11), where you will be able to watch exciting Grassroots and Prospect Series racing, win prizes via giveaways, have your young ones enjoy free activity books and take in a timeline illustrating the 50-year history of the OSS.

The teams are:

- Team Gingras: Jenna Otten, Tony Alagna, Burke Racing/Weaver Brussemi
- Team Dunn: Jessica Otten, Nancy Takter, Courant
- Team Tetrick: Mary McDermott, Ake Svanstedt, Bill Pollock
- Team David Miller: Dawnelle Mock, Marcus Melander, Brad Grant

These are the charities that will be drawn on Aug. 30:

- SBH Health System, Bronx, NY
- enCourage Kids, NY
- New Jersey YMCA State Alliance
- Friends of Union County

Fans will get to vote for their favorite team, or charity, if they prefer, and are permitted one vote per person per day. That will help generate points for the final standings to see how much money gets distributed to the charities.

There will also be an influencer handicapping contest conducted over Breeders Crown Eliminations Weekend at The Big M on Oct. 18-19, which will also go toward a given team's point total.

Check presentations will take place after the final Breeders Crown race on Oct. 30.

During the first five years of the BCCC, over $1.5 million has been raised for local organizations where the Breeders Crown has been held, helping host tracks forge a bond with their communities while highlighting the benevolence of the harness racing industry.

Breeders Crown Charity Challenge back at The Big M

The Breeders Crown Charity Challenge, the brainchild of prominent owner Marvin Katz, is back for a sixth year and with the 12-race championship series being held at The Meadowlands in 2024, local fans and charities can get in on the action.

The goals of the challenge are to strengthen community and racing industry bonds and create positive relationships; raise awareness of the positive contributions harness racing makes in the Tri-State area; maximize social media engagement, awareness and on-track attendance at the Breeders Crown at The Big M; raise much-needed funds and awareness for participating charities; and maximize exposure for team sponsors and donors.

Teams for the challenge were chosen Friday night (Aug. 2), with each having a driver, an influencer, a trainer and an owner.
