O Captain! My Captain!

The first time Robert Lindstrom saw Captain Corey in person he fell so in love with the trotter he absolutely had to have him. Two years later, the colt, whose grandsire is a pacer, stormed to victory in the sport's ultimate trotting event - the 96th edition of The Hambletonian.

The day Swedish horse agent Robert Lindstrom saw Captain Corey trotting downhill in a paddock at Carter Duer's Peninsula Farm in Kentucky was the moment Lindstrom knew he absolutely had to have the colt.

"When he ran uphill he was okay, but when he turned around he could run just as fast downhill. All the other horses, they'd lose their gait a little bit on the slope, but he went right through with the stride that he had. Already as a yearling, he moved great," Lindstrom said. "Absolutely, he was the most beautiful horse in that sale. That's my opinion. You could have opinions about his pedigree, but he was the most beautiful horse."

Trouble is, lusting after the brown son of Googoo Gaagaa out of the Angus Hall mare Luv U All and actually acquiring him from the 2019 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale would prove more challenging than Lindstrom first thought. He couldn't afford him.

"I was thinking that I could buy him for between $30,000 and $50,000 because no one likes Googoo Gaagaa, but then it went up," Lindstrom said. When the bids approached $100,000, Lindstrom appealed to SRF Stable's Lennart Agren, a Swedish banker, for help.

"I said, 'I'm going to need money from you, because I'm going to buy a horse and I know I cannot afford it,'" Lindstrom said, laughing. "He asked me how much and I said, 'I think he's going to go for $100,000.' He said, 'Okay, I'll finance you. Buy him.' Then, when it reached $130,000, I had to get $130,000. He came over and said, 'Ah, it's getting expensive.' Then somebody bid $140,000 and I said, 'Can I be in?' Then, I bid $150,000 and we got the horse. Then we took in other partners. There were some friends with me that night and they were going to buy into a cheaper horse the next day, but I told them, 'Take a part of this one, it'll be much more fun.' I'm happy they did."

Nearly two years after he first set eyes on the colt, Lindstrom's Mensa-like equine IQ — and his rock-solid belief the trotter with pacer blood on his fraternal side would be star — paid off handsomely when Captain Corey won the 96th Hambletonian on a steamy Saturday at The Meadowlands Racetrack in New Jersey With 62-year-old trainer Ake Svanstedt at the controls, Captain Corey defeated longshot Spy Booth by one-and-a-half lengths in 1:51.

"When they came up to the half in :54 and the pressure was on (Captain Corey from Cuatro De Julio) in that third quarter, of course I was worried, but I know (Captain Corey) has the fighting spirit and fights like a lion, so as soon as we turned into the straight, I knew they were struggling from behind him, so then I was not worried," Lindstrom said.

Captain Corey also had an extra weapon on this day — all four shoes were pulled.

"I pulled his shoes and I tested him when I scored him down," Svanstedt said. "He went a little faster quarter, and he felt really good. All four shoes were off. I think it made a difference."

Lindstrom said the track crew at The Meadowlands had the oval in perfect shape.

"I've never seen the Meadowlands so good. I've been there a lot of times, but they've done a super job on the track. They helped us a lot, because we could go without shoes. We could never do that before, so they really helped us a lot with this win," Lindstrom said.

It was an all-Swedish victory for the Captain Corey team. Beyond Lindstrom, who owns the colt under his Midnight Sun Partners stable name, the trotter is also owned by Svanstedt, Knutsson Trotting and the SRF Stable of Agren and Jan Johnson that won the 2017 Hambletonian with Perfect Spirit and Svanstedt. Perfect Spirit was awarded the victory after What The Hill was disqualified for interference in the stretch. It was the first disqualification of a winner in Hambletonian history.

"I've been working as an agent to buy horses for other people for many years," Lindstrom said. "I bought Perfect Spirit for Lennart, so I've been doing well for my partners. Then, to pick another Hambo winner... I'm very proud of myself. I work really hard with the horses, checking everything and going to look at so many horses. So, when you get it right..."

That this year's Hambletonian victory was an uncontested wire-to-wire trip that defied a front-end speed bias – and it came 20 years after Scarlet Knight and Stefan Melander put Sweden on the moon with a stirring victory on behalf of a trotter-loving nation (full story here) – were both particularly poignant for Lindstrom.

"This day was 33 years since the first day since I was the first time in the United States to see horses," Lindstrom said. "I saw the Hambletonian win by Armbro Goal, with a Swedish trainer, Jan Johnson, who I know, and John Campbell driving. Now, 33 years later, I received the Hambletonian from (Hambletonian Society president) John Campbell. That's a nice touch."

This year was as dominant a performance by Sweden as there's ever been in the Hambletonian. Svanstedt's two other Hambletonian finalists – Ambassador Hanover (Scott Zeron) and Delayed Hanover (Yannick Gingras) – finished third and fourth, respectively, meaning Svanstedt horses collected $700,000 of the $1 million purse. Add in Swedish-born Nancy Takter's second-place finish with Spy Booth – thanks to a masterful drive by Tim Tetrack – and Swedes took home $950,000 or 95 per cent of the sizeable pot (Jim Campbell's Take All Comers, driven by David Miller, picked up the final check).

That the winner was sired by a trotting stallion (Googoo Gaagaa) that was sired by a pacer (Cam's Rocket) is just an interesting side story, Lindstrom said. A close look at Captain Corey's pedigree shows he comes from the same maternal line as Muscle Hill, one of the greatest trotters and stallions in the sport's history.

"But it wasn't that that made me like (Googoo Gaagaa). I met Staffan Lind, a trainer at the time in the States, and he said, 'Have you seen this good 2-year-old that won the other night?' I said, 'No,' but I started to follow him. Then when he won, I think it was Ocean Downs. Corey Callahan drove him and he took the turns and I've never seen a horse do it in that speed. At that point, I start following the horse," Lindstrom said.

Just like Captain Corey, there was something about Googoo Gaagaa that made Lindstrom simply need to have him.

Googoo Gaagaa was a trotting sensation that earned $665,339 in three years of racing including wins in finals of the Earl Beal, Jr. Memorial and Colonial. He first stood in Maryland and then Pennsylvania to a lukewarm reception. When Lindstrom couldn't convince the stallion's owner, Richard Hans, to export the horse to Sweden, Lindstrom did the next best thing.

"We ended up making a deal so I could freeze the semen and take it to Sweden because he was such a tremendous individual. I've been in the business for 30 years and when you see a horse... and you cannot put your finger on it, but you haven't seen it before, then you know it's something else," Lindstrom said.

Captain Corey (Ake Svanstedt) went wire-to-wire to win the 2021 Hambletonian.

Still, selling the trotting purists in Sweden on a stallion sired by a pacer wasn't easy at first.

"The first year that we bred in Sweden, I really had to convince partners or people that I had done something good for before. So, they trusted me. He bred 28 and got 25 in foal and we got 17 colts and eight fillies. They won the biggest race in Sweden for 2-year-olds. They won the biggest race for 3-year-olds and the biggest race for 4-year-olds. And now we've won the Hambletonian," Lindstrom said.

In 2019, based on the success of his offspring bred by frozen semen, Lindstrom convinced Hans to export the horse to Sweden and promptly filled his 2020 book with 150 mares.

"We priced him very reasonably, because I wanted everybody to afford to go to him," Lindstrom said.

So, Mr. Lindstrom, now that Googoo Gaagaa has sired a Hambletonian winner, will you raise his stud fee?

"No, we are not going to raise the price," he said. "I have such a good deal on him, I'm not going to be greedy. I'm going to be happy. Maybe the year after, when he gets older, we'll make him the right price, but that's nothing we're going to think of at the moment, anyway."

After all, for Robert Lindstrom, this wasn't as much about enriching himself as proving he was right about a horse.

There's nothing quite as affirming as winning the Hambletonian with files from Ken Weingartner and The Hambletonian Society

Family Matters

Owner David McDuffee is delighted his homebred Bella Bellini – part of a third generation of trotters he's bred – rebounded from a winless freshman campaign to win the $500,000 Hambletonian Oaks.

by Debbie Little

Even when Bella Bellini went 0-for-7 as a 2-year-old, owner David McDuffee kept the faith.

"She was a good filly last year, she just hadn't put it all together, but I knew she'd be a good filly," said McDuffee.

His patience certainly paid off as his homebred miss by Bar Hopping out of Bella Dolce won the $500,000 Hambletonian Oaks on Saturday (Aug. 7) at The Meadowlands by 2 ½ lengths over Iteration. Contested Hanover was third.

With the Oaks win, Bella Bellini pushed her career earnings to $386,983.

"I've had great luck with that family," he said. "I had Pizza Dolce, then her daughter, Bella Dolce. And I'm kind of driven towards the same family. If you watch a lot of my purchases, I like pretty much the line I like."

On McDuffee and partners also won the Jim Doherty Memorial for 2-year-old trotting fillies with Venerable. The owner won his first Oaks in 2013 as co-owner of Bee A Magician, but Bella Bellini's Oaks win was a little more special.

Adam Ström / stalltz

Owner and breeder David McDuffee (right) and trainer Nifty Norman help their beloved Bella Bellini drink from the Hambletonian Oaks trophy.

"It's like having one of your kids win a World Series game," said McDuffee. "The family has all been really good to me. [Pizza Dolce] was so special. One of my best friends in this business, Carter Duer, who I admire, said to me after Pizza Dolce won the Bluegrass down in Kentucky as a 2-year-old – after making a break and being 25 lengths behind when the race started – he said, 'Mr. McDuffee, I have been in this business 50 years and I don't know that I've ever seen anything better than that. That meant a lot to me.'"

Bella Bellini's trainer Nifty Norman always knew she was talented but didn't necessarily know she'd turn things around this year.

Bella Bellini (Dexter Dunn) won the Oaks by two-and-a-half lengths in 1:52.1.

"I wasn't sure she would," said Norman. "But one thing she always had was high speed. That's a talent you've got to have. It was up to Dave really. He decided to press on."

This was Norman's third Oaks win and a first for driver Dexter Dunn.

"It was a big thrill, especially with the connections – Nifty Norman and Dave McDuffee, two heroes of mine – so it was a big thrill for sure," said Dunn.

For caretaker Stephanie Petherick, this win stands out because she also took care of Bella Dolce.

"I had [Bella Bellini's] mom from start to finish, so it's pretty exciting to be able to take care of her daughter and do so well with her," said Petherick. "It's funny, out of all her foals, this one looks identical to her. We actually have a side-by-side photo of the both of them and other than the marking – Bella Dolce's marking is just a little bit longer – other than that they're both the same. They act the same. She's just so kind. I have two young kids and she's the sweetest to them."

Petherick was also the caretaker of U.S. and Canadian Horse of the Year Bee A Magician.

"Last time was more expected in a positive way because Bee A Magician was good her 2-year-old year as well as her 3-year-old year," said Petherick. "Where with [Bella Bellini] this was like, 'Wow!' We did not expect it. At the end of her 2-year-old year we didn't even expect to be here."

"Out of all of my horses, Bee A Magician was the biggest handful that I had. She was a tough one. She had her quirks in the barn and on the track. [Bella Bellini] is a walk in the park compared to her."

It could be déjà vu all over again for McDuffee next year with homebred filly Agro Dolce, a 2-year-old half-sister to Bella Bellini by Cantab Hall who is 0-for-3 so far this season.

"And she's not going to make any money this year," said McDuffee. "I'm going to keep her and I'm pretty sure she'll be good next year. So, we'll keep it going for a while longer. Maybe I can have a fourth generation. Wouldn't that be neat?"

Hambletonian Day handle up sharply from last year

by Brett Sturman

All-source handle from this year's 16-race Hambletonian day card totaled $6,487,839, up over $750,000 from the 2020 card. Handle for the Hambletonian final won by Captain Corey was the highest for the race in 11 years.

With wagering totals for the day up from last year, what makes that handle even more impressive is that it countered the trend from the Meadowlands Pace just three weeks ago. In comparing the track's – and industry's – signature trotting event to the Meadowlands' signature pacing event, the Hambletonian numbers prove even stronger, relatively speaking.

Handle of $4,520,213 from this year's Meadowlands Pace was down close to $500,000 from the 2020 race which cleared over $5,000,000 in all source handle and had one extra race on the card in 2021 to boot. Perhaps a dry Saturday afternoon played better for handle than the rainy mess from Pace night, but instead of a drop in handle for the day, Hambletonian Day handle surged to near $6.5 million for 2021 from a handle of $5,730,615 in a COVID-19-impacted 2020. There were 16 races on both cards this year and last.

The total race pool for the Hambletonian was $1,104,153, which marked the highest handle for any final/final heat going all the way back to the 2010 Hambletonian won by Muscle Massive.

In that number, handle for the 2021 Hambletonian race easily bested last year's final won by Ramona Hill by about $137,000. In 2020, the Hambletonian went earlier in the afternoon as race 12 as opposed to the second to last race this year, so the multi-leg exotics included in the pool totals are different. But a comparison of all standard pools between the races – Win/Place/Show, Exacta and Trifecta polls all show larger gains in 2021. With a heavy 2/5 favorite last year the total WPS money was $296,094 and this year with a more open field, WPS money was $322,301. Similar handle gains were seen compared to last year in the Hambletonian Oaks, won this year by Bella Bellini.

Analysis seems to show that the way the Hambletonian Oaks and Hambletonian were placed on the card played very much to the handle gains that were realized this year when compared to last.

Both cards began in similar fashion with stakes containing short fields and heavily-favored horses. With smaller handling races early in the card, handle cracked $100,000 in race 5 this year whereas that didn't happen until race 7 last year. However, this year, handle dropped back below $100,000 for a few races whereas last year there was a steady staying power above that $100,000 mark. Where much of the difference comes in is that handle last year dropped precipitously after the Hambletonian, which consisted of four more races. This year, handle continued to grow sharply in the races leading up to the Hambletonian, including $422,283 in the Hambletonian Oaks. By last year's final race, with the Hambletonian being long gone, WPS handle was just over $61,000. This year, the final race WPS pools were still strong at close to $93,000. Maybe that's something the Meadowlands will keep in mind for future years.

Early stakes races in the card were not kind for favorites. In back-to-back races, Fire Start Hanover lost at odds of 1-9 and then Dancinginthedark M lost at odds of 1-5. This year marked the second consecutive year that a 1-9 shot lost early in the cards, as Manchego finished third last year at those odds in the John Steele Memorial. This year, Manchego who is always a factor on this day – won as the 2-5 favorite in the John Cashman Memorial in a ding-dong battle to the wire with Beads. Perfect Sting was another odds-on casualty early in the day at 2-5, but following that, odds-on favorites roared back as the day went on. Beginning with Lyons Sentinel in the Lady Liberty, odds-on favorites won six of the next seven times those situations occurred on the card (Venerable, King Of The North, Manchego, Atlanta, Bella Bellini). The lone exception was Nicholas Beach who got caught by a neck at 1-2 odds to Catch The Fire.

In winning the Hambletonian at 6-5 odds, Captain Corey completed a favorite sweep of the Oaks and Hambletonian finals. Though favorites won those two races, exotic payouts were large due to huge longshots that finished underneath, which was a theme for many races throughout the day. In the Oaks, Iteration trotted second at 45-1 and she was followed by Contested Hanover at almost 100-1. It was similar in the Hambletonian where longshots Spy Booth and Ambassador Hanover ran second and third at odds of 55-1 and 41-1. By Spy Booth rallying late up the inside to be second for trainer Nancy Takter, it denied what would have been a 1-2-3 finish in the Hambletonian by Ake Svanstedt trainees.

Rockyroad Hanover collars Perfect Sting in Cane Pace

by Jay Bergman

Rockyroad Hanover and driver Dexter Dunn posted a mild upset in the $276,150 Cane Pace at The Meadowlands on Saturday afternoon (Aug. 7). The Tony Alagna-trained son of Captaintreacherous out of Romantic Moment rolled past favored Perfect Sting late in the mile to post a 1:48.1 career-best clocking.

The Cane had but six horses, but three of them left the gate with some velocity. Rockyroad Hanover got away quickly, but was looped out of the gate by a hard-charging Always A Miki and Yannick Gingras. American Courage and Matt Kakaley also mounted a wide move through the opening bend, and they seized control at the :26.2 opening quarter mile.

Rockyroad Hanover lost another spot after the quarter as David Miller hustled Perfect Sting to gain control, and that pair marched to a sensible :53.4 half over the lightning-fast racing surface.

Dunn pushed the go button with Rockyroad Hanover on a first-over grind past the half, and he towed One Eight Hundred and Summa Cum Laude with him in second- and third-over positions, respectively. Heading to the three-quarters, Messenger Stakes winner American Courage began to tire, ending his Triple Crown hopes as Perfect Sting and Rockyroad Hanover engaged in battle through three-quarters in 1:21.3.

In the homestretch, Rockyroad Hanover was asked to pace, and he responded in game fashion, getting to the favorite and then strolling by him in the shadow of the wire. A final quarter of :26.3 was necessary to seal the deal as Rockyroad Hanover, a 3-1 choice in the wagering, scored the victory. Perfect Sting finished second with Summa Cum Laude third.

Rockyroad Hanover is owned by Myron and Stephanie Bell's Riverview Racing, Brad Grant, Ken Jacobs, and Plouffe, Head & VJ Stables. It was the fourth win in 11 starts this year for Rockyroad Hanover, who, last Saturday, rallied to finish second in the Adios final at The Meadows after getting jammed up.

"We had a couple of races where he was very unlucky," said Dunn following Rockyroad Hanover's victory. "Perfect Sting is not an easy horse to get by. At the top of the stretch, I thought I had him, but my horse finished it off."

didn't have the lead for very long, as second choice Robertsin and driver George Brennan moved quickly to take control well before the half and were able to back down the pace to a relatively comfortable :56 half-mile clocking.

Mark MacDonald appeared to be in a very compromised position at the half, as Fast As The Wind and Dexter Dunn pulled to the outside but failed to move aggressively, instead waiting for Letsdoit S and Brian Sears to pull and provide cover. Sears accommodated the outer flow, but was in a grind as Brennan — behind Robertsin — continued to apply the brakes, waltzing to three-quarters in 1:25.2 and appearing to have the race pretty much at his mercy.

When the field fanned wide, King Of The North quickly made up ground on the leaders, but, in mid-stretch, the son of Walner got a bit rough gaited, forcing MacDonald to collect him and otherwise lose momentum at a crucial time. The Ray Schnittker trainee regained his composure, and MacDonald urged him forward to gain the lead in deep stretch. Scott Zeron and Classic Hill appeared to be a menacing threat, weaving through traffic and rallying to the inside of King Of The North, but would not pass. King Of The North arrived home on top with Classic Hill second and Fast As The Wind third. S I P rallied wide to finish fourth.

"He overcame it," MacDonald said of the treacherous trip. "It was maybe a little too far back than I would have liked. I should have used him a little bit more early, but when the gate opened, everybody was kind of going hard, so I just retreated. I got a cheap middle half, but he's such a good little horse (that) he just runs them down."

King Of The North was bred by Steve Jones and Ray Schnittker and is owned by Schnittker Ward, Arden Homestead Stable, Nolamaura Racing and Steve Arnold. He was purchased for $190,000 at the 2020 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Sent off as the 1-2 favorite, King As The North returned $3.00 to win. King Of The North is out of the stakes star Check Me Out, who won the Merrie Annabelle in her 2-year-old season.

Lyons Sentinel continues Tetrick/King dominance in Lady Liberty

by Mike Farrell

Four was the magic number for driver Tim Tetrick and trainer Jim King Jr., who teamed up with Lyons Sentinel to win the $191,050 Lady Liberty on Saturday (Aug. 7) at The Meadowlands.

Lyons Sentinel, the current queen of the older pacing mares, prevailed by one length over Rocknificent in 1:48.1. It was the fourth win of the season for the 4-year-old daughter of Captaintreacherous—Tutu Hanover, and the fourth straight Lady Liberty win for Tetrick and King, who captured the previous three coming with Shartin N, one of the sport's great pacing mares.

Lyons Sentinel is now carving her own legacy. This was her third stakes win of the campaign, following the Artiscape at the Big M and her record-equaling victory in the Clara Barton at Plainridge Park.

"To follow that up behind the last few races she's had, it's just been outstanding," King said.

Michael Lisa

Lyons Sentinel (Tim Tetrick) winning the Lady Liberty in 1:48.1.

Lyons Sentinel improved her career record to 16 for 38 as she eclipsed $1.5 million in earnings for Three Lyons Racing of Brantford, ON.

"She did really well from 2 to 3, but then we came across Party Girl Hill (last year). That was cruel," King said, laughing. "But you know (Party Girl Hill's) not around this year and (Lyons Sentinel) stepped up and it's been a very easy transition for her (to age 4)."

She earned this one the hard way with a first-over grind that wore down the pacesetter Gia's Surreal and let her sprint clear by two lengths at the top of the stretch. Rocknificent, the pocket sitter, narrowed the gap late to get second. Peaky Sneaky followed the winner's cover to finish third.

Tetrick scored his sixth Lady Liberty win as Lyons Sentinel paid $2.80 to win.

Lyons Sentinel was bred by Hanover Shoe Farms and sold for $55,000 at the 2018 Standardbred Horse Sales Company yearling sale.

The second Sam McKee division was won by Allywag Hanover (Todd McCarthy) in 1:48.

Catch The Fire and Allywag Hanover won their respective divisions of Saturday's (Aug. 7) Sam McKee Memorial, for free-for-all pacers, at The Meadowlands.

In the first split, worth $157,100, favorite Nicholas Beach left quickly from the outside to chase Backstreet Shadow and Catch The Fire, both of whom sought good early spots.

The first quarter action was swift as Backstreet Shadow cut a :26 panel, but Catch The Fire, driven by Scott Zeron, took over before yielding when Nicholas Beach shuffled him back to take over.

American History came first-over to chase the leader in a :53.2

half, but to no avail as Nicholas Beach maintained command through three-quarters in 1:20.3. The early speed shuffles were unkind to Nicholas Beach, who gave way late when Catch The Fire shifted to the outside and paced down the leader to win in 1:47.2.

Backstreet Shadow held for third with Workin Ona Mystery fourth.

Catch The Fire, a son of Captaintreacherous—Dream Outloud whom Todd Luther trains for his brother Greg Luther's Black Magic Racing and CT Stables, raised his bankroll to $879,065. He paid $9.00 to win.

Catch The Fire was bred by Dr. Fred Kruszelnicki and originally sold for $15,000 at the 2018 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

"He's shown up every week for us," said Luther. "This is the first time I've been here for the Hambo, and he showed up for us (again). I think we'll go to the Dan Patch next week, and hopefully he comes out of it good."

Zeron said, "I never dreamed heading into it (that) I would be able to have a two-hole trip, but Todd made a big change — a closed bridle — and he was a different horse behind the gate. He left out better than I thought, and it got me in a good position."

In the $158,500 second division, This Is The Plan shot to the lead off the gate, followed by Allywag Hanover and Cattlewash through a :26.2 first quarter. Cattlewash pulled out from third and rushed to the lead up the backstretch with Captain Barbosa at his tail, a move that shuffled Allywag Hanover to fifth by the half in :53.4.

The front four battled to three-quarters in 1:21.2 while Allywag Hanover shook free for Todd McCarthy, going three-wide to charge strongly down the stretch, catching This Is The Plan and

LINDY THE GREAT

Odds-on favorite Manchego and driver Dexter Dunn seized control into a quick clip and withstood a game charge from Beads to narrowly take the $269,750 John Cashman Memorial Trot on Saturday (Aug. 7) at The Meadowlands.

Beads (David Miller) crossed to the top past a :26.4 first quarter to pocket early leader Gangster Hanover into the backstretch while Manchego vacated her spot from fourth and marched for the lead. The Nancy Takter trainee cleared moving to the half while stablemate Ready For Moni ranged uncovered into a :54.3 half.

Around the final turn, Ready For Moni loomed closer to Manchego while carrying Lindy The Great in tow. Manchego clicked past three-quarters in 1:23 and drifted slightly off the pegs through the straightaway, opening a gap where Beads lunged through late. Beads took a slight lead in the final yards, but Manchego edged back to the front late to claim a tight photo in a 1:50.3 mile. Lindy The Great came off cover for third and Gangster Hanover took fourth.

"I thought it was maybe a dead heat, but a win by a whisker ... I'll take it," said Barry Guerriglia, owner of Manchego, after the race. "A good job by Dexter."

"I actually thought I got beat, to be honest," Dunn said. "I went back in the paddock there [and] thought David nettled me right on the line. I was a little worried at three-quarters – she just didn't give me the usual strong kick that she does, but probably her greatness showed through for fighting on the straight like she did. They know where the winning post is; she was certainly sticking her neck out there."

A 6-year-old mare by Muscle Hill, Manchego won her sixth race from seven starts this season and her 39th from 63 overall, earning $3,142,935 for owner Black Horse Racing. She paid $2.80 to win.

Manchego, bred by Brittany Farms, was originally a $120,000 purchase at the 2016 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

Grace Hill grabbed the lead by a :26.4 first quarter before yielding into the backstretch to Fire Start Hanover. The pair continued up the backstretch as the field strode single file by a :54.3 half with the outer tier starting to develop with a first-over move by Off The Record.

Off The Record made slight gains around the final turn while Fire Start Hanover cruised over her anxious stablemate to three-quarters in 1:22.4. In the straightaway, driver Andy McCarthy angled Grace Hill from the pylons and dug into Fire

Atlanta soars in Steele; Jujubee sets track record in Muscle Hill

by Jerry Connors

Atlanta advanced first-over after slow early fractions in Saturday's (Aug. 7) $187,400 Dr. John Steele Memorial for free-for-all trotting mares at The Meadowlands, but she pushed clear in early stretch and produced a :26.1 final quarter to win in 1:50.4.

The daughter of Chapter Seven—Hemi Blue Chip was just inside of rival When Dovescry on the first turn, and driver Yannick Gingras said, "I thought about going up with David's mare (When Dovescry), but then I decided that, even if the fractions weren't fast, she's such a sprinter (that) she would be able to go by these horses."

Gingras proved an astute handicapper as Atlanta surmounted slow splits of :27, :56.2 and 1:24.3, and as close as arch rival Manchego's victory was earlier in the card, Atlanta's margin of victory was 3-3/4 lengths.

Atlanta, the all-age track trot record holder at The Meadowlands at 1:49.1, has now earned $2,857,999 in her storied career, has won exactly half of her lifetime starts – 28 out of 56 – and she has been second in exactly half of her defeats. Ron Burke trains Atlanta for the partnership of Crawford Farms Racing, Brad Grant and Howard Taylor.

Bred by Order By Stable of Sweden, Atlanta, the 2018 Hambletonian champion, was originally purchased for $60,000 at the 2016 Standardbred Horse Sales Company's yearling sale.

The Dr. John Steele Memorial, formerly named the Fresh Yankee, is dedicated to the memory of the "Grand Circuit Veterinarian to the Stars," working with the sport's leading stables and horses, acclaimed as an expert diagnostician and an innovator with therapeutics. Dr. Steele was a particular fan of trotters and rarely missed a Hambletonian Day.

Jujubee roared out the pocket and overtook a breaking Dancinginthdark M in the final strides of Saturday's $50,000 division of the Muscle Hill Trot, setting a 1:49.4 track record for 3-year-old trotting colts in doing so.

Driver Tony Hall got Jujubee, who won for the 10th time this year, right to the lead, and the pair then yielded near the :27.1 quarter to Dancinginthdark M, who broke stride in his Hambletonian elimination last week. Dancinginthdark M set middle splits of :55.2 and 1:23 and looked to be going well coming to the stretch, but Hall eased Jujubee out of the hole and gained slowly but surely. Dancinginthdark M finally lost gait nearing the finish line, and Jujubee rewrote the record of one Åke Svanstedt trainee, the 1:50 divisional mark of Six Pack, and tied another, the 1:49.4 3-year-old track record of filly Plunge Blue Chip. Ethan T Hanover finished third.

"It was my dream trip," said Hall. "Very rarely does it wind up that way, but it did today. I couldn't have mapped it out any better."

Jujubee, a homebred son of Creatine out of La Cantera, is owned by Jon Erdner and is trained by Greg Wright Jr.

"He's trotted some good miles over some bad tracks, weather-wise," Hall said. "We always thought if he got on a mile track that he'd be able to stretch out, and he proved to us that the big track was a great thing for him."

Gural gives his annual state-of-The-Meadowlands address

FanDuel Sportsbook at The Meadowlands has been a track saver.

by Dave Briggs

Meadowlands Racetrack owner and CEO Jeff Gural gave his annual state-of-the-track address Saturday (Aug. 7) in a televised interview with Dave Little.

Gural told Little that The Meadowlands' FanDuel Sportsbook has been instrumental in the track's recent success. The sportsbook is an industry leader.

"I believe it's the number one sportsbook in the world," Gural said what Little mentioned it was the top sportsbook in the entire United States. "It's directly linked (to the track's revival) because we share in the profits with the horsemen, so a piece of the profits goes to the purse account for the horsemen. I think we may be the only sportsbook that does that. It helps me repay all the losses I've had for five or six years while we were trying to hang on. It's been amazing how successful it's been."

The sportsbook has been so successful Gural said it has lessened the pressure to bring a full-fledged casino to The Meadowlands.

"It's not as necessary as it once was, because of sports betting," Gural said. "I believe that when the casinos open in New York City, which I believe will be soon, in another year or two, people living in New Jersey will say, 'Why am I driving over the George Washington Bridge and paying $20 and sitting in traffic, when I could just go to the Meadowlands.' So, I'm just waiting for those down-state casinos to open in New York and see what the reaction is to people living in northern New Jersey."

Gural said another key to The Big M's success, of late, has been political cooperation from New Jersey Governor Phil Murphy.

"Without Governor Murphy, we'd be in big trouble. (Former) Governor (Chris) Christie made every effort to put us out of business and Governor Murphy has done the exact opposite. The legislature has joined with them – Craig Coughlin has been great, the senate leaders are great, so it's been a partnership that has made a huge difference. Our purses are good. We were getting crushed, we couldn't compete. We were racing mediocre horses for mediocre purses and we were hanging by a thread here without their help," said Gural, who added that Christie didn't support horse racing because he was, “a friend of the casino industry and he believed that you shouldn’t subsize a business that can’t stand on its own two feet. He didn’t buy into the argument that the casinos have made it more difficult for horse racing to survive because we can’t compete. By the way, the casinos are subsidized – they have a tax rate in New Jersey of eight per cent and in Pennsylvania the tax rate is 55 per cent. New York it’s 40 per cent. The biggest subsidy of all is to the casinos, but they create a lot of jobs also, so it’s the same argument.

“Thankfully... I developed a friendship with (Christie) and he didn’t have to allow me to buy the (Meadowlands from the state of New Jersey). He could’ve said, ‘Forget it, Jeff, we’re going to close it.’ So, I have a good relationship with him, but he just had a pragmatic view that if a business can’t survive on its own then it shouldn’t exist.”

Gural also addressed his recent meeting with Meadowlands drivers where he asked them to stop giving holes. Little asked him if that meeting will result in something noticeable to the betting public.

“It will definitely be noticeable,” Gural said. “The first day we tried it was a couple of weeks ago on a Friday and they closed the holes, with the exception of one or two.

“(The drivers) made an argument to me, which I try to be reasonable, that 2-year-olds, you know, you don’t want to cook them in their first one or two starts. So, I think that’s a valid argument. They also made an argument that you shouldn’t change the rules in the middle of the heart of our stakes season, so I said, ‘Okay, I’ll buy it, but I expect you guys to go along with the rule change when we open back up again in September.’ So, I would expect that people would see a different style. They are going to see the type of racing that I grew up with, because there were never any holes.

“Somebody said, ‘If courtesy is important to you, then you should become a maître’d and not be driving standardbreds at the Meadowlands’ and that’s the view.”

As for his own standardbred breeding operation, Gural said “the horse breeding business is okay. It’s not an easy business because things go wrong. Everybody thinks you breed a great mare to Muscle Hill or Walner and you get a beautiful horse, but, like I was telling you earlier, I had two mares that were in foal to Walner and when we rechecked them on July 1st, both of them had lost their babies.

“So, now they are empty and I don’t have two Walners to sell in two years. Obviously, it’s an advantage to have a farm in New York and Pennsylvania, but truthfully I use both of them as a place to go. New York is really where I spent almost the entire pandemic and then my kids came and it’s really a combination farm and second home. Pennsylvania is also a beautiful second home, but the casino is also up there, so I spend a lot of time when I’m up there. It’s worked out good from a quality of life standpoint – I’m not sure the economics (of breeding standardbreds is) that great.”

Dual-breed threat

Rob Tribbett on buying and selling both standardbreds and thoroughbreds.

by Murray Brown

Rob Tribbett oversees a combined total of 210 broodmares – 140 thoroughbreds and 70 standardbreds. There is likely no one else in all of horsedom who has the volume of so many horses of both breeds under his control. When you factor in the yearlings, weanlings and sucklings and a few racehorses, that adds up to a grand total of approximately 500 under his immediate responsibility. As Tribbett is quick to point out, the ultimate boss is owner Fred Hertrich III who owns the standardbreds under the banner Allamerican Harnessbreds and who together with John Fielding owns the thoroughbreds. Hertrich is quite active in both pursuits and together with Tribbett makes all the important decisions.

The association with Hertrich is a long and familial one.

Tribbett's dad Charles Tribbett was Fred's standardbred trainer for 30 years. Rob grew up in effect under Hertrich's umbrella. He began as a groom taking care of Fred's horses under his dad's control.

"I was a much better summer groom than I was of the winter variety," Rob said. "I had the excuse of going to school at the University of Delaware in winter. Nevertheless, I far much preferred working with the horses in the warm weather than I did in the cold. I also worked a couple of summers in the race office at Ocean Downs."

Rob's background related almost entirely to the standardbred as did Hertrich's.

Hertrich and Fielding became active in the thoroughbred sport through their friendship with the late Dr. Philip McCarthy, an equine vet and the former farm manager at Walnut Hall Farm who practiced with both breeds. Eventually, the thoroughbreds dominated. He convinced his friends Hertrich and Fielding to join him in a thoroughbred breeding partnership which they called Watercress Farm. Tragically, McCarthy was stricken with the cancer to which he succumbed at the age of 58.

By then, Hertrich and Fielding's investment in the thoroughbred game had grown substantially and had been blessed with a great deal of success from the get go. McCarthy was the brains in terms of knowledge of the thoroughbred breed and marketplace behind the operation. Who to take his place? Nobody could. But Fred Hertrich had this young man administering his trotters and pacers who he felt had more than enough smarts to learn on the job.

Learn on the job is what Rob Tribbett did. It is now 12 years later.

"Learn on the job is what I did and I'm still learning every day," Tribbett said.

How did it feel to be thrust into such an important role without a great deal of experience in the industry Rob?

"It wasn't near as 'cold turkey' an experience as it may sound. I had followed Fred's and John's thoroughbred holdings from the inception of their involvement and learned from Dr. McCarthy, who was one of the most astute judges of horses I have been around. I learned more in walking around one breeding stock sale with Phil than you could have learned in any book. There are differences between the two breeds and probably to a greater extent the business workings within them. Phil had built a great farm in Paris, KY. He had a terrific staff, so from a physical standpoint the place was able to go on without his direct oversight. It was in the managerial standpoint where his absence was most lacking."

What is the main difference between the two breeds?

"Physically, standardbreds are more sturdy and a bit more relaxed overall than thoroughbreds. Their temperament can be vastly different. The thoroughbred business is significantly more specialized than we are. Most of our trainers do most of the work, like perusing the catalogs, assessing videos, deciding which yearlings that they look at, having a big voice in which yearlings are bid on and the prices paid for them, breaking the horses and training them until they are ready to race and then usually racing them until such time as they are retired or they combined with their owners decide that they need a new address.

"With the thoroughbred breed there are several more steps and people involved. Many is the time when the trainer won't be involved with the horse until such time as it is ready to race. There are specialists who consult on matings (we have them too, but to a far lesser degree than them), those who strictly sell horses, those who represent owners at sales and buy for them, those who break yearlings and those who buy them strictly for resale.

"There are far more sales and sales opportunities for thoroughbreds. There are also far more buy backs because of the means to sell these same horses at a negotiated price at the sale or down the road at various in training sales."

Rob, you were raised in Delaware and you and your young family have spent the bulk of your lives there. You now live in Lexington. Is there any particular reason why?

"As mentioned, the thoroughbred sale calendar is much more extensive than the standardbred business which still revolves around the two major yearling sales. Because of that, I was spending 80-100 days a year in Lexington between sales at Keeneland and Fasig Tipton, and inspecting horses on our farm. My daughter is three now, and it was difficult being away that much. Plus, Lexington is a terrific place to live, and horses are such a part of the culture."

You said that you and Fred do most of the work and make most of the decisions related to the thoroughbreds. What part does John Fielding play in the makeup?

"Fred likes to say that John is in charge of entertainment. There is nobody better at it than him. Seriously though, he is a great partner and a great friend. John is very much a believer in letting everybody do what he or she is best at doing."

How do you decide where and how you sell your yearling crop with each breed?

"We use different methods. With the thoroughbreds we prep them ourselves, but then we entrust them to Taylor Made Sales Agency to sell them for us as agent. We use only Taylor Made to sell out horses. There are some breeders who may use more than one agent. But we are happy with the Taylor family, and our account manager Stuart Angus, and feel comfortable in their hands. We sell our horses at a multitude of sales and try to have a presence at most of the major ones.

"With our standardbreds we raise them at Fred's farm in Federalsburg, Maryland. We both prep and sell them ourselves. We sell pretty much our entire crop between Lexington and Harrisburg. We are market breeders and each of our yearlings goes to the sale to be sold."

I recall John Fielding telling me that thoroughbred yearlings are meant to be sold. If you are going to race, you've got a much better chance with standardbreds. Would you agree with that?

"The purse structures in the standardbred business, especially accounting for how often our horse can race, are really hard to beat. Racing standardbreds is going to be the profitable route most of the time. However, the upside of a top end thoroughbred surpasses that of even the best harness horse. The standardbred business could do well to follow in the footsteps of the thoroughbreds by making going to the races, especially on our biggest days of the year, more of an event and more enjoyable for owners, so it is not solely profit focused."

You are right now entering your busiest time of year.

“Yes. Right now after the Hambletonian, I’m off to Saratoga for a pair of yearling sales. After that it’s pretty much one sale after another, sometimes more than one at the same time for the rest of the year. Between sales and major racing events I’ll be keeping busy.”

We've concentrated mostly on selling. You guys are also buyers at a lot of sales.

“Yes. I think it is vital to always be bringing in new blood to the broodmare band, both in standardbreds and thoroughbreds, and we are always looking for ways to do that, from yearling sales, buying racehorses privately, or at the major mixed sales. The week of Harrisburg typically coincides with the largest thoroughbred mixed sale in the world at Keeneland, so that is a crazy week. I have often thought that commercial breeders could just walk around and inspect mares together at Harrisburg and save a lot of time – we are all typically interested in the same mares.”

Do you do much pre-sale scouting prior to the various sales?

“When we are buying, we try to come up with a list of mares that may make sense, but inspecting them at the sale is paramount, as their physical is the deciding trait for me. As a seller, more and more standardbred trainers are coming to the farm prior to the sales to see yearlings. I think it is one of the most important things a buyer can do. Obviously, the hectic race schedule makes it difficult, but there is a lot of knowledge that can be gained by viewing the horses in their natural environment and seeing them in the field.”

When deciding on your matings, do you have any particular people or venues as to which the subsequent foal will be best received?

“Maybe a little, but not too much. Our goal is to produce the best racehorse possible. We strive for a good-sized sound and athletic horse.”

Are you ready?

“Yes indeed. This is my favorite time of year. There is nothing I enjoy more than looking at horses, either on the racetrack or beneath a shedrow. After all of the effort we spend making mating decisions and raising the yearlings, it is rewarding to see our efforts pay off as they hopefully sell well and then go be what they are bred to do – be racehorses.”

ADDENDUM - In last week’s column on Tom Charters, I mentioned that I thought that Spitfire Hanover had brought less than $5,000 and certainly less than $10,000 as a yearling. His actual selling price was $3,500. What I didn’t realize is that Delvin Miller’s partners Arnold Palmer and Whitey Ford were not in from the beginning. Spitfire had raced a few times and showed stakes winning ability before Arnold and Whitey came aboard. As Paul Harvey would say, here’s the rest of the story. Miller instructed his long-time secretary Gloria Likar to add up all the expenses incurred on the colt plus his selling price. The total would be the price at which his two partners would come in. That was a pretty good deal. Buying a proven stakes-winning colt at a bargain price, who was worth many times the money spent on him, is unusual in any business, but not if your friend was Delvin Miller.

It's not a typo

by Alan Leavitt

Interesting pedigrees don't grow on trees, but unusual ones are getting so rare you can almost think of them as unicorns. That's because the breeding of the American standardbred has become so refined that it now follows pre-ordained paths, especially when it comes to the breeding of the two separate gaits, the trot and the pace.

So this kid, at first glance, thought it must be because of some typos that a 2-year-old trotter named Golden Wall AS was listed as by Walner and out of Golden Door Lindy, by Cambest.

It has been an article of faith that the pace is always the superior gait to the trot when you breed one gait to the other. Down through the years there have been numerous experiments in which one gait is bred to the other, and the result, unfailingly, has been a slow pacer.

However, there were no typos regarding Golden Wall AS's sire and dam. He's definitely by Walner, and out of Golden Door Lindy, who's by Cambest. His second dam, Special Soul, is by Artsplace. But then his Tail-Mare line takes a 180 degree turn, and from his third dam on back to Methuselah it's solid trotting blood, and excellent trotting blood at that. But, it's really too far back to be influential. We'll get to that, though, shortly (which, to any pedants out there, is the opposite of "longly").

The appearance of Cambest touches a particular nerve of mine. We had just started Walnut Hall Ltd. when Cambest time-trialed in 1:46.1, making him the fastest standardbred of all time. And, for the record, he kept that distinction for the next 21 years.

Cambest was owned by Danny Kramer and trained by Fred Grant. Freddie was then, and still is today, one of the best trainers who ever threw a line over a horse. As fate would have it, Cambest went from Springfield, where he went against the fence, to the Delaware, Ohio race meeting. The big attraction there was the Little Brown Jug. There was also a race for older pacers, the Senior Jug, and Cambest won it.

However, somewhere along the line there was a blood test with a primitive blood gas meter. It came out high. Needless to say, it caused quite a furor. And as you might have already guessed, the fact that the machine was soon found to be fatally flawed was totally left out of the equation that condemned Cambest and his record.

The plot continued to thicken, when the Hanover Shoe Farms announced immediately after Cambest took his record that he'd be standing at Hanover, starting with the next breeding season. Then came the high blood gas meter reading at Delaware, and suddenly Cambest was back out on the street. One of the contributing factors to his rejection was a series of phone calls to the Hanover office in which people asked if this was the right number for Dairy Queen.

At this point enter this kid, stage left. At dinner in town with Ronnie Gurfein and Myron Bell, the whole Cambest caper, as we say in the detective trade, was laid out in all its details.

Rushing home, I woke Geoff Stein to get Danny Kramer's home phone number. It wasn't an easy sell, but the bottom line, or if you prefer another cliché, at the end of the day, Cambest came to stand here at Walnut Hall Ltd.

Cambest was probably very close to being the perfect pacing stallion. He had a wonderful, chiseled head, with big, full, beautiful eyes, and sharp little ears that hooked in perfectly. His body was exactly what you would expect from a world class performer, and his coat was naturally a glistening brown that just glowed in the sun. I'd say more, but I don't want to start using superlatives.

His world record mile was one thing, but his potential as a sire was better defined, at least to me, by the 12 races he won at 2. You may remember that for me and my Italian pal, Federico Tesio, brilliance on the racetrack at 2 was and still is the best indicator of a stallion's future sire potential.

It clearly was true for Cambest, because at one time his progeny were three of the four fastest pacers in the four major categories. He was blessed with a genotype, his genetic makeup, that clearly was a stacked genetic deck. He moved up virtually every mare to whom he was bred, and if she just met him halfway genetically, the result was a very fast, successful pacer.

So there you have the sire of the dam of Golden Wall AS. Just to put him into perspective, he's made three starts to date, and won two of them. In his one loss, he made a break leaving, caught back trotting and made up a lot of ground to still finish fourth. In his last start, he won off by himself in 1:54.4. Not earth shaking, but showing enough to make you wonder, how high is up?

For the record, he was bred and is still owned by ACL Stuteri, and is trained by the indefatigable Anette Lorentzen.

That brings us to Walner, the sire of Golden Wall AS. By all rights, any trotter bred to a mare by Cambest, out of a mare by Artsplace, should produce a pacer. Yet here it didn't.

One can only conclude that Walner must himself have a genetic card deck that holds only top value cards. How else to explain how he could produce a trotter, against all that strong pacing blood, and a good trotter at that?

If you ever have a reason to read the Detective's Manual, you'll see that the first rule is this: There is no such thing as coincidence.

I fully subscribe to the maxim, and it certainly applies here, to Golden Wall AS. It is no accident that Walner has sired a good trotter here, against all odds. As a sire, he is a loaded shotgun, and as we all know, a loaded shotgun is dangerous in anyone's hands.

Maybe partly as an escape these days, I find myself remembering happier times from my long ago teenage years at the horse shows. One that still stands out was when I was 14. The show was at Elmira, NY, barely a wide place in the road, but for whatever reason it put on a good show, and all the good stables were there.

At the time there were two top-five gaited stallions who battled it out every week on the show circuit, and naturally they were both at Elmira. One of them, named Genius Firefly, was ridden by a native Kentuckian, Owen Haley. The other stud, King of Revelry, also had a transplanted Kentuckian trainer, Wendell Jones.

But once you got past the Kentucky part, there was no similarity. Owen was the original Kentucky gentleman, a polite, soft spoken model of good manners and decorum. Wendell Jones was at the other end of the scale. He was gregarious, with a gift for mimicry so you could hear several different voices in any story he told, and a drinker.

So, in they came on their two studs on the first night for the stallion and gelding class. It had rained for most of that day, and there were puddles actually standing on the ring's tanbark. Despite the heavy going, they were both flying at the rack and the trot.

Everything was fine the first way of the ring, but then the judge told them to reverse and trot. Going around a turn, Wendell had all his weight on his inside leg, when his inside stirrup slipped off the stirrup hook, and he came crashing down into a huge puddle.

I'd never seen anything like that before, but somehow it occurred to me that if you fell off, you'd be disqualified. But that wasn't the way it happened. Wendell's horse was caught, his stirrup was replaced, and he got back on and finished the class. And the judge tied him first.

Owen was clearly incensed, and although he kept his voice low and spoke politely, he informed the judge that he'd never show another horse in front of him.

There was an open, outside bar on the grounds, and for the next two days, Wendell Jones was its best customer. And at frequent intervals he informed all within earshot that he could fall off, get back on, and still beat Owen Haley. Which quickly got back to Owen, who was skulking in his tack room.

So the show concluded with the five gaited stake, which was no contest for Wendell and King of Revelry. But after he'd won the big stake, Wendell discovered that he'd lost his wallet.

So he knew exactly what to do. He found his fellow Kentuckian, Owen Haley, and explained his plight and the long and short of it was, Owen lent him $200 to get home on.

I can't say there were giants in those days, but there were definitely some who were larger than life.

What's in a name? Not enough in our case - Part 1

by Trey Nosrac

Every year, our sport has thousands of free lottery tickets available that we never scratch off. Spending money on lottery tickets is somewhere between stupid and wise; in my humble opinion, leaning toward stupid. Free lottery tickets are another story.

There are a million names you can select for your baby trotter or pacer. If the name is not in use, does not have over 18 letters, or is not profane, you control your brand.

Most of us fail to select names that promote the sport. Names we choose for our horses should not be frivolous. They should be reasoned, and each should at least have the possibility of recruiting new participants.

Driving down the main drag of my town, turning left at Burger King into the Industrial Park, and turning right for a cruise down the Business and Technological Parkway, I noted the names of factories, restaurants, services, manufacturing companies. Every mile or so, I pulled to the curb to jot names down in a notebook. In ten minutes, I had a page filled with 38 names. Here is a dozen that would make outstanding horse names for my newborn filly:

J Bella
Precision Cut
Great Escapes
Executive Estates
Ashley Oaks
Curnyan

House of Rock
Motivations
Grand Fiesta
Landmark
Instrumentors
Mulligans Grill

Why not use these names for a harness horse? Each is a possible window into our weird world of harness racing. Slapping the name of a business on a baby horse is a small step, but is not enough. The name itself is merely a desperate call in the wilderness. Each of us has opportunities to USE the name to nudge new participants.

Let's say you select a business with a name you find acceptable for a baby horse. Do not just use the name and run. Try doing something fun for you and possibly a recruiting tool for new members to join our rather exotic tribe. Just find an entrée, then go in slowly as not to scare off the business.

Dear J Bella,

Get ready for the strangest correspondence of the week.

Since you opened your doors, my wife and I are regular diners. Love the joint.

I raise and race trotting horses. It's a lot of fun. Each year, my broodmare (mother horse) has a foal (baby horse). She was a filly (girl) born in May. Soon I need to name this filly.

Every time I sit down in your restaurant to order my chicken marsala or lemon chicken piccata with a glass of house red, the thought crosses my mind that "J Bella" would be a nice name for a horse.

So, very simply, I am emailing to make sure that you have no objections to naming this baby horse J Bella. I do not need anything else, and this is not a scam, just a quirky, fun thought. I just don't want to step on any toes by using the name.

Please reply with an okay (or not okay).

Thanks,

Trey

That email would be an improvement over merely using the name. But we all could do more.

Assuming you receive a reply email with permission to use the name, send them a thank you note with a picture or framed photo of the filly. Casually tell the restaurant owners that if the filly eventually shows promise or makes it to the races, you will let them know. Then perhaps have a little chat with the owner on a future visit to the restaurant. Should the horse ever win a race, send or deliver a picture of J Bella in the winner's circle. There are many little nudges you can make without pushing too hard. You are not asking anything. You are giving.

Is the idea of naming a horse to someone outside of our choir a waste of time?

Maybe. However, this type of initiative costs nothing, and it can be fun for you and the business. The business will probably be flattered you used the name. You may meet new people and can paint our sport in a positive light. Nobody knows where the purposeful name may lead, but what is the downside?

Think of the idea like this — If 97 per cent of horse names are dead ends, that leaves 3 per cent that might be beneficial. Out of 1,000 purposeful horse names, if we find 30 leads, that's great. One could be a game-changer.

On the other hand, 1,000 horses with names like "Speedy Pete" or "Fast Dan" take the sport of harness racing nowhere. A slight chance is better than zero chance. Any chance that is imaginative and backed with enthusiasm has possibilities.

Next week: A plan to increase the chances of purposeful names.

Canada's Driver of the Year award renamed for Keith Waples

At the recent Standardbred Canada Board of Directors meeting, the O'Brien Awards Committee proposed a recommendation that the O'Brien "Driver of the Year" award be renamed the "Keith Waples Driver of the Year" in honor of Mr. Keith Waples, a Canadian driving legend, who died recently. The recommendation was passed unanimously.

The O'Brien Awards Committee recommended to the Board that Mr. Waples was a leading role model and influencer to so many drivers, old and young, and that this rare recognition be bestowed upon the great legacy that Mr. Waples has left.

Bill McLinchey, chair of the board, released the following statement: "This is not something that happens every year and it is a rarity that a sport comes across an individual that has done so much for the industry and the people involved in it. Keith was one of a kind and admired and loved by so many that the Board felt it was the least that it could do to recognize the extraordinary efforts and achievements of Mr. Waples."

Further details of the Keith Waples Driver of the Year award will be announced by Standardbred Canada soon.

In Range dominant in Big M feature

In Range finished sixth in his Hambletonian elimination last week, failing to qualify for the $1 million final. He took that frustration out on his foes in the $50,000 Muscle Hill for 3-year-old colts and geldings on the trot in the Friday night (Aug. 6) feature at The Meadowlands.

The colt by Bar Hopping—Ilia left alertly from post five in the eight-horse field and hit the quarter in a quick :27. Driver Tim Tetrick was then allowed to rate the second fraction in :29, leaving the 1-9 favorite plenty in the tank, as he trotted his back half in :55.4 to report home an easy 3-length winner in a lifetime-best 1:51.4 for trainer Marcus Melander. Zenith Stride was second with Goodashim third.

After recording his second win and sixth on-the-board finish in eight starts this year, In Range lifted his seasonal bank account to $123,044. Lifetime, he's earned $534,047.

"It didn't work out for him last week," said Tetrick. "I had the best horse tonight, so I wanted to race him [on the lead]. It was a good effort for him. He's a little lazy. He likes to look at butterflies. You have to yell at him to keep his attention, but when you ask him, he'll do it."

In Range paid $2.10 to his backers.

Another impressive winner guided by Tetrick – who had three on the card – was Misswalner Fashion (Walner–Sweet Love), who took the lead at the half and cruised from there to take a $40,000 division of the Garden State for 2-year-old trotting fillies by 1¾ lengths in 1:54.4.

"She's very talented and has a lot of high speed," said Tetrick. "When Dexter's [Dunn, driving 6-5 second choice Lilbitalexis] horse broke, it changed my outlook on the race. After I got away third, I thought it was a good time to try her on the lead. I think she could have done whatever I wanted her to. Down the lane she was like, 'Don't worry Tim, I got this.'"

Trained by Jim Campbell, Misswalner Fashion stayed perfect in two career starts and paid $3.20 to win as the 3-5 public choice.

A LITTLE MORE: All-source handle totaled $2,525,470.

Imextraspecial digs in for second Gold Series win

A personal best 1:53.3 effort at Woodbine Mohawk Park in Friday night's $158,800 Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) Gold Series division extended 3-year-old trotting filly Imextraspecial's win streak to three and moved her into a tie atop the OSS division standings.

Starting from Post 5, Imextraspecial got off the gate smartly and was sitting third when Dicentra tripped the quarter-mile timer at :28. Driver Trevor Henry of Arthur, ON soon had the fan favorite on the move and they reached the half-mile marker in :57.2. Imextraspecial maintained a comfortable lead through the 1:25.4 three-quarters and then dug in down the stretch for a one and one-quarter length victory as HP Mama B attacked from the outside and Up And Ready tried to sneak up the rail. (replay here: Imextraspecial)

"They're a tough bunch of mares when they're all on one gate, you never know what you're going to end up with there," said trainer Paul Walker of Owen Sound, ON. "It was kind of stressful from the half on there, once she cleared to the front. I didn't know whether that would be her cup of tea or not, but he got some nice middle fractions and she responded, so everything was good. She dug in deep.”

Walker said the Muscle Mass daughter’s toughness and versatility are her two biggest assets. She is quick off the gate, which can be a significant asset for a young trotter. As the field of 11 accelerated away from the gate in Friday’s contest, Dashing Muscle made a break in stride from Post 4, right beside Imextraspécial.

“She always was a good mare off the gate, it gets her out of a lot of trouble,” said Walker, who trains Imextraspécial for Keith Coulter of Mono, ON. “If we can continue to draw not too bad, she’ll be certainly tough to beat. She’s got kind of back on her game right now and if we can keep her that way she’s got some big stake races in September. I don’t how she’ll fare, she’ll be in with some Americans, I guess we’ll see what happens.”

The 3-year-old trotting fillies make their fourth Gold Series start at Grand River Raceway on Aug. 25 and then have three straight weeks of open stake competition at Woodbine Mohawk Park, the Casual Breeze on Sept. 3, Simcoe Stakes on Sept. 10, and for those that qualify based on lifetime earnings, the Elegance Final on Sept. 18. They will then wrap up their Gold Series regular season at the Campbellville oval on Sept. 28 and the top 10 point earners through the five legs will advance to the Oct. 16 Super Final.

“From here on in it’s trying to keep them sound and fresh, that’s all,” said Walker. “Now, if she races back in a week we don’t do too much with her, jog her a little bit, very, very light training, and she sees more time in the paddock than anything. We’re lucky, we have a farm, we keep her turned out a lot and we’ll try to keep her as fresh as we can.”

“As I said, she’s a tough mare and she’ll always give 100 per cent, so she’ll be fighting for some money anyway, every time I think.”

Friday’s win puts Imextraspécial in a tie for top spot in the three-year-old trotting filly standings with HP Mama B. Both fillies have two wins and one second in Gold Series action for 125 points. Through six sophomore starts Imextraspécial has tallied three wins and two seconds for earnings of $171,150. Lifetime the filly has earned $394,278, so by mid-September she could be among the lucky 10 who land a spot in the Elegance Final.

Gingras wins three stakes - all in different driving colors

Driver Yannick Gingras swept the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes (PASS) action for 2-year-old trotting fillies Friday afternoon (Aug. 6) at Harrah’s Philadelphia, winning with Pink Gypsy and Baptism, and added a Stallion Series division behind I’ll Have A Lindy.

While wearing three different sets of driving colors.

Gingras’ first appearance in Victory Lane was in his own familiar dark green-and-white colors, after guiding the 10-1 shot Pink Gypsy to her maiden victory in 1:55.3. The daughter of Father Patrick – Margarita Momma sat in the two-hole behind first round Sires winner Dreamonhigh, moved out in the stretch and went past by a length and a half, gaining into a :57.1 back half. Ron Burke conditions Pink Gypsy for Crawford Farms Racing.

While completing his PASS double, Gingras wore the white with diamonds colors of Diamond Creek Racing behind Baptism, a daughter of Southwind Frank–Fall From Grace, who also earned her first lifetime victory in 1:56. Baptism, an Åke Svanstedt trainee, moved in front of the stands to gain the lead and came home in :57.2 to withstand A Perfect Helen by 2¼ lengths.

In between Sire Stakes contests, Gingras donned the blue and black of Lindy Farms, the Antonacci family entity that races I’ll Have A Lindy under the Greathorse stable name. I’ll Have A Lindy, a daughter of Cantab Hall–Martini Lady trained by Domenico Cecere, is three-for-three in her brief purse career, after using pocket rocket tactics for Gingras to win in a lifetime best 1:57, leaving first-round StS winner Gumdrop Hanover two lengths behind.

Cantab Hall picked up a second Stallion Series sire credit with Young Michelle (dam Miss Michelle H), who took a maiden mark of 1:58.1 after serious closer Classic Kay made a break while getting closer and closer late. Corey Callahan drove the John Butenschoen trainee for Bay Pond Racing Stable.

The other three Stallion Series sections were all taken by daughters of Donato Hanover, with driver Dexter Dunn winning two of them in new marks of 1:56.4: with Dallas Bi (dam Octavia Bell), right to Philly off a win Sunday at Clearfield (PA) Fair and successful here for trainer/owner Mitchell York, and with Born On Third Base (dam Thehousethatruthbuilt), undefeated in three starts for trainer Chuck Sylvester and owner Steve Jones.

Completing the Donato Hanover triple was Design Fashion (dam Designable), taking a new speed badge of 1:57 and a winner of two straight for driver Tim Tetrick, trainer Jim Campbell, and Fashion Farms LLC.

A tough field of eight is set for today’s (Aug. 8) feature at Harrah’s Philadelphia, a $16,200 pace which finds Lyons Steel installed a 5-2 early favorite. Program pages for the 12:40 card will be available at <https://www.phha.org/harrahspgs.html>.

New Legacy sets track record at Plainridge Park

Sophomore trotter New Legacy had been racing well in limited action this year with two wins in only nine starts and a mark of 1:56.3 to his credit. But he really turned a corner on Friday (Aug. 6) in a $12,500 conditioned event for 6-year-olds and under at Plainridge Park when he led all but an eighth of the mile in a sparkling effort to set a new standard of 1:54 for 3-year-old trotting geldings.

Drew Monti put New Legacy on the point off the gate but relinquished the front to Dazzling Lindy (Bruce Ranger) at the quarter. The new leader was short lived as New Legacy immediately retook control in front of the stands and then never looked back again.

Monti hit the brakes to the half in :57.3 but got down to business after that. New Legacy was strong in control, tripping three-quarters in 1:25.3. But when they hit the last turn the gelding pulled away by two and at the head of the stretch, he swelled up and trotted away under no urging whatsoever to win by 6-1/2 lengths in his new personal best and track record time of 1:54.

The previous record of 1:54.1 was set by Blue Knight in 2020 who coincidentally was also driven by Monti.

It was the third win of the year for New Legacy ($5.00) but the first for his new owners Nickerson Racing, Joseph Hayes Jr., Steven Kouray and Donald De Luca who privately purchased him on July 18. The son of Father Patrick-Monarchs Sequel was a $130,000 yearling purchase at the Lexington Selected Sale in 2019.

The Wicked Hi-5 jackpot continues to grow. When live racing resumes at Plainridge Park on Monday (Aug. 9) there will be a $34,077 carryover for that wager in the sixth race. Post time for the first race is 4 p.m.

NYSS 2-year-old fillies trot into Tioga today

Tioga Downs plays host to the $106,200 New York Sire Stakes (NYSS) for 2-year-old trotting today (Aug. 8).

Unbeaten Gertrude (Andy Miller) is the 2-1 morning line favorite. Julie Miller trains the filly by Devious Man—Ophelia. She is two-for-two in her young career with NYSS wins at Batavia and Saratoga.

The Jeff Byron trained Bomb Hugger (Anthony MacDonald) and the Brett Pelling trainee, Just Bee Awesome (David Miller) should be her main Rivals. Bomb Hugger is a filly by Chapter Seven—Stylemaker. She is three-for-three with NYSS wins at Batavia and Saratoga. Just Bee Awesome is a filly by Chapter Seven—Please Beehave. She finished third at a leg of the Kindergarten Stakes at the Meadowlands in her only career start.

The eight-race card starts at 1 p.m.

Trotting sophomores set to spar in Kentucky Championship

On the heels of America's classic trotting race, The Red Mile will play host to some of the nation's top trotting sophomores as they begin their divisions of the Kentucky Championship Series today (Aug. 8).

The glamour boys open the 10-race card with a quartet going to post. Half of the field belongs to trainer Anette Lorentzon. She sends a pair by European sire Love You: Tangled Love, off a 1:52.4 win in the series' prep on July 26, along with Rattle My Cage, who enters off an eighth-place finish in the Hambletonian eliminations. Dexter Dunn retains the drive on Tangled Love while Andrew McCarthy steers Rattle My Cage. Uncle AJ, starting from post 1 for trainer Jack Gray Jr. and driver James Stiltner II, and Chris Beaver trainee Kildare King complete the competitors.

A full field of 3-year-old trotting fillies compete in their lone $40,000 dash, which includes two exiting the Hambletonian Oaks elimination. Beltassima, a filly by Trixton, starts from post 2 for trainer Tony Alagna and driver Andrew McCarthy off a sixth-place effort in her elimination and has earned slight favoritism on the morning line with a 4-1 listing. Dutiful also exits the Oaks eliminations but will go as one of the race's longshots for trainer Jonas Czernyson and driver Matt Kreuger.

The field also features Adirondack, a daughter of Father Patrick whose dam became the fastest two-year-old trotting filly over the red clay back in 2014. Adirondack enters off four on-the-board finishes including a pair of wins, one coming in an open event and the other in a $46,450 division of the Tompkins-Geers. Dexter Dunn pilots the Nancy Takter trainee from post 9 and is listed as the 9-2 second choice on the morning line.

Today's card also features four $20,000 divisions of the Kentucky Commonwealth Series with two for the colts and geldings and two for the fillies. First-race post time is at 1 p.m. (EDT).

Eliminating eliminations a dangerous precedent

Over the past few years, I've seen stake races reduced down to the top money earners of the past year or past two years. I've also have witnessed a trend to take the top 10 money earners lifetime for a stake. The is a move to supposedly eliminate elimination races as many feel they are not competitive and only race to make the final. This reduces the handle and it's a business to have the most betting possible. This move is definitely not for the owners and is a deterrent. They wish to race and find themselves written out of a race, in some cases, before the season even starts. This, of course, reduces entries which cannot be a good thing. Imagine you have one of the best horses in the country and are destroying the fields. However, the horse was sick or injured and has very little earnings from the year before. You have zero chance to enter the race for lifetime earnings. How can this be right? Eliminating the best horses to facilitate no eliminations is just plain wrong. It accommodates the track and the bettors and hurts the horsemen. Virtually every stake race has instituted these new rules. What's truly ironic is because they are in place the very horse that could not enter may again be unable the following year because he wasn't able to earn enough to again be in the lifetime earnings race.

We are accommodating the tracks and the bettors. Owners don't seem to count. Where will we be if owners disappear because there isn't enough money to race for?

If the reason is the track doesn't want to fund the elimination races then reduce the final. If it's because those races are not bet, then make the race competitive to induce betting. If need be, increase the entry fee to accurate the race purse. Make the elimination races similar to the Jug format. The winners get first choice as to their post, second place gets the second choices, third place gets third choices and so on if more than two eliminations. Now everyone is trying. Who races to just get in and be fourth when that means the 8 post or fifth means the 10 post? We shouldn't be eliminating horses who wish to race. It makes for less entries and sometimes the best horse. We need to re install elimination races.
