The Gural Rule at Woodbine Mohawk Park?

The reason behind Woodbine's decision to stop applying the rule designed to keep star horses on the track longer.

by Melissa Keith

Woodbine Mohawk Park does not determine stakes (in)eligibility based on Meadowlands owner Jeff Gural's "Stallion Restriction Conditions" (SRC), better known as the "Gural Rule", in place at his own racetracks. But there was a time when Canada's top track did abide by the restrictions designed to keep top 3-year-old colts racing at age 4.

Jamie Martin was executive vice-president of racing for Woodbine Entertainment Group (WEG) when the so-called "Gural rule" was discontinued there in 2015. "We had implemented it," he said of the rule that was first revealed by Gural in 2011. "I think we all [WEG, Hambletonian Society, Meadowlands] announced in 2013 that it would begin with foals in 2014 (for WEG) and 2015 (Hambletonian Society), which essentially affected stallion decisions in 2013. We announced it as a two-year pilot."

There was a specific superstar who motivated the movement to keep 4-year-olds on the track. "It all started with Somebeachsomewhere," said Martin. "As you know, Jeff's very passionate. Initially I was not too keen on supporting this rule, because my view has always been that there just isn't a horse that's going to make that big a difference in attendance at the racetrack."

The economics of keeping a would-be stallion prospect in competition an extra year were also considered.

"We had a board of directors who are horse owners and they had some nice horses too, a few of them," he said. "This actually impacted them personally, but they took the high road on it and said, 'We're going to support Jeff.'"

Martin told HRU that he always believed that the market would dictate which horses raced on and which retired to stud.

"We had Captaintreacherous right away as a 4-year-old, Father Patrick, so there were some horses that were impacted that raced as 4-year-olds," he said. "There were certain horses that got exemptions because they couldn't race as 4-year-olds," which was "tricky to track.

"So I decided, we're going to leave that up to you, Jeff: If you decide that a horse is unable to race as a 4-year-old and you say that's okay, then we're going to accept that," Martin told HRU. "So I sort of took that off our hands, because that's pretty subjective and it's a pretty small industry where everybody knows everybody."

Now the raceway manager at Grand River Raceway, Martin is aware of the need to boost the population of active racehorses, particularly top-class horses.

"I want them all to race," he explained. "But you know, is that my role to make that decision? Going back to Somebeachsomewhere, which is a big talking point: If I go tell Brent [MacGrath] and those folks to race that horse as a 4-year-old – he was pretty opposed to that anyway – or his offspring are not going to be eligible for our stakes... I didn't feel right about that. Sure, I would have loved to have him race, but he was sort of the catalyst for the whole conversation."

MacGrath is facing a parallel, but not identical, situation this season.

"The decision to race Beach Glass as a 4-year-old was not influenced by the Gural rule," he informed HRU. "The decision to race him as a 4-year-old was because he was lightly-raced at 2 and the family getting better with age."

He said Somebeachsomewhere presented a unique scenario: "I didn't see a way for him to improve his breeding career by racing at age 4."

The 2022 Meadowlands Pace champion has continued to improve as his sophomore season progresses, with a 1:51.1s romp in a Simcoe Stake division at Woodbine Mohawk Park last Saturday (Sept. 10).

"I believe there is some upside to racing Beach Glass at 4," said MacGrath, adding that comparing the careers of Somebeachsomewhere and the Schooner II Stable's current 3-year-old colt is "not quite the same thing, from where I sit."

The Truro, NS horseman noted that he could see another perspective on the Gural rule, "looking on as a fan or a bystander," but not as a stallion manager.

MacGrath agreed with Martin's view that keeping horses racing was essential due to the declining racehorse population in North America today.

"Our goal is to keep horses on the racetrack. There are other things we can do. If we all put our heads together and pull in the same direction, there has to be a solution."

He suggested that one answer may be found in protecting immature 2-year-olds, not star colts on the brink of age 4.

"It appears that young horses are dropping by the wayside a lot quicker," said MacGrath. "A number of things are at play here."

He noted that early in the freshman season, a tough question arises: "What will we do with the babies that are still on the farm?" From his point of view, allowing colts and fillies added time to mature can often translate into more productive, longer racing careers:

"The stake races starting in September would make a lot more sense than starting in June or July. Less stress put on young bones. If I had pushed forward last year to have [Beach Glass] ready for the first of June... I wouldn't have the horse I have right now."

Jamie Martin said that the Gural rule originated before other stakes programs began to improve over the past decade.

"I think what's happened too is, at the time, 2010-2011, The Meadowlands' stakes program and ours [at Woodbine/Mohawk] were pretty good, and everybody else's were just okay. I would say that a lot of the other tracks' stakes programs have improved since then."

When the Hambletonian Society did not opt to retain the Gural rule, Woodbine's then-VP of racing also opted to discontinue it.

"When I was at Woodbine, we wanted to work along with The Meadowlands, and we did. We did a lot of good things together when I was there. We didn't agree on everything, but most things," he said. "[Gural] is still very passionate about it, which I give him credit for. He believes it's the right thing to do... I actually think it's become a non-event, whether horses retire at 3 or 4."

Martin observed that starting in 2017, the Stallion Restriction Conditions were limited to 2- and 3-year-old stakes, rather than a "lifetime ban" on offspring of stallions who retired to stud without racing at age 4. The affected racetracks are Jeff Gural's: The Meadowlands, NJ; Tioga Downs, NY; and Vernon Downs, NY.

Woodbine Mohawk Park recently drew good attendance in response to a Bulldog Hanover t-shirt giveaway on Canadian pacing Derby night, when the 4-year-old world champion matched the all-time 1:46.4s Canadian record. Martin attended to watch the star in action.

"If you had a whole bunch of pretty lucrative 4-year-old restricted stakes, it might keep [more of] them racing," he said. "It's tougher with these older horses because they move around a lot. There's a lot of shipping. Stake fees are high because there's not many of them that pay into them, so a higher percentage of the purse is actually payment than it is for the younger horses. It's not inexpensive to race an older horse."

As for the Gural rule, Martin said he believes it may not be necessary for many of the best colts.

"I remember having this argument with a bunch of trainers, and I think if you look over the years, a lot of 3-year-olds become top 4-year-olds, and look at this year, right? But it is a risk, and I understand that. When you have the opportunity to go to stud and the breeding farm is putting pressure on you, I understand that."

Scioto Pick-8 pays out six figures in bet's inaugural try

by Brett Sturman

As the 2022 season at Scioto Downs concludes tomorrow (Sept. 17), it will do so after having posted the largest payout of any wager in the track's longstanding history. That's because last Saturday (Sept. 10), the track's Pick-8 wager was hit for a record amount of $108,961.

Over the course of the season that began on May 12, the wager was hit on four different race days by nine different ticket holders. What has made the wager unique more than any other in harness racing is that at the onset of the wager and after every time it's hit, Scioto Downs and the Ohio Harness Horsemen's

Association (OHHA) have jointly seeded the pool with what essentially amounts to a free $25,000 to bettors.

The Pick-8 wager which is a straight, non-jackpot bet, pays out in full regardless of how many 8 out of 8 winners there are, and pays out a 50 per cent consolation to anyone who simply has the highest number of winners. The wager was the brainchild of Caesar's director of racing, Gabe Prewitt, who got inspiration for the idea from a similar wager nearly 10 years ago from his days at Buffalo Raceway.

For a track that's seen healthy increases to handle in recent years, Prewitt wanted to offer something unique that would continue to get attention on the product in a crowded gambling market. In addition to seeding the non-jackpot wager with $25,000, Prewitt was also insistent on including a daily consolation.

"I've heard people say not to include a consolation in order to let the carryover build faster, but that's just unfair in my mind with a wager as volatile as the $1 Pick-8," said Prewitt. "If someone is willing to spend $300 or $400 or more, you've got to give them a chance to cash something."

The wager got off to a wild start, and if not for some luck, may not have even made it out of the track's opening weekend. On the first day of the meet, all 8 race favorites across the Pick-8 sequence won, leading to five different tickets holding all eight winners.

"We probably didn't do ourselves a very good service and this is definitely my fault, too, with the way the races in the sequence were structured," said Prewitt. "We lost a good piece on that first day, when there was only about $3,000 into the pool. But kudos to Scioto Downs management and the OHHA who have been a blessing in buying into this idea, they did not back down for one second and it was announced immediately that the pool would be re-seeded the very next day. Now, keep in mind that we were racing Thursday through Saturday when we first started this year, and then two days later on Saturday, the wager started off 7 for 7 and then Sectionline Bigry got beat by Gold Digger King in the final race, otherwise it would have been hit twice in the first three days and whether we would have bellied up again, I don't know.

“Oddly enough, the wager had about 25 to 30 per cent of its total handle built on-track every day, which is unheard of for any bet. Ninety-five per cent of our money is off-track. And having the on-track dollars helped us because Caesars and the horsemen now had those on-track dollars in play.”

“But the lesson learned there was that we now work on the races together and we go through and determine which races in a card are in the sequence, which ones are out, which ones are maybe, and so forth. And since then, it's made the wager more tough. At the same time, that can be a double-edged sword. If you've got a day with a couple of 1-9's in there, they'll bet $15 to $20,000 at it. But if you've got a day that looks impossible, you might draw only $2,000 into it. So, do you want to draw action, or do you make it tougher where the carryover survives with the guarantee?”

Interestingly, Prewitt notes the disproportionate amount of on-track money bet on the Pick-8 relative to total handle.

“Oddly enough, the wager had about 25 to 30 per cent of its total handle built on-track every day, which is unheard of for any bet,” said Prewitt. “Ninety-five per cent of our money is off-track. And having the on-track dollars helped us because Caesars and the horsemen now had those on-track dollars in play.”

What makes the on-track handle numbers even more impressive is the fact that Scioto had to switch to racing during the daytime since there are no track lights as the new grandstand is being built, and clearly there was a connection between the new wager and holding together its traditional relatively high on-track attendance.

“Another thing about the wager is that when the pools started getting up there, you don't necessarily have to win; you just have to be better than everyone else,” said Prewitt. “If there's $16,000 bet into it on any given day, you take out about $2,000 for takeout, and you're still left with $14,000, of which 50 per cent goes to whoever has the most winners, even if it's not all eight. The other neat thing is that because there's so many combinations, there's no computer aided work in the pools. You see all these pools take in 40 per cent in the last flash, and that hasn't happened because of the needed sophistication in these models to cover the sequence, so it's just us versus each other.”

Overall, Prewitt felt that the Pick-8 did what it was set out to do, in part by creating an on-track buzz and giving people the ability to achieve a home run-type score. “We wanted to give people that shot,” said Prewitt. “It's not necessarily easy, but if you do get lucky, you can hit a home run deal. And I just felt that as this business has drifted towards lower minimum wagers and diluting payouts – and not every bet needs to be $1 or $2 – but if you want to be able to take a shot for a home run, we wanted to cater to that, and I feel that was a mission accomplished. The cool thing too was all the buzz and daily excitement it created in a place that needed a little spark; and as it went on you could feel anticipation in it, especially as the pools started growing. It's been really fun.”

Prewitt said he doesn't know if the Pick-8 in the identical format will return next year, if it will be tweaked, or if it may be replaced by something like a seeded Pick-6. But one thing for sure is that the track will continue to innovate with bettor's interests in mind.

Tonight, The Meadowlands will be decked out in orange in support of Leukemia Awareness Month and the Dilloian Family.

by Debbie Little

When you watch the second race at The Meadowlands tonight (Sept. 16), there will be no need for color calibration on your TV or monitor. The horses really will be wearing orange equipment.

Orange is the color for September's Leukemia Awareness Month and the second race is dedicated to "Support of Children's Leukemia, Kensley Strong and the Dilloian Family."

The idea for the race came from horsewoman Sarah Lauren Scott, when she found out that her good friend Doug Dilloian Jr. was dealing with a grave family misfortune.

"We're oranging out the entire race," said Scott. "SLS equine and Divine Equine have come together and have donated the buxtons and browbands for the horses. I have organized and prepared for the drivers to wear orange arm bands in support.

"I really thought that it would be special for Doug and his family, they're such a loved family within this business, I thought it was important for them to see that we're with them. It's going to be beautiful and it's going to be very emotional."

Dilloian's daughter, Kensley, who will turn 2 in December, was diagnosed last month with Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia (ALL).

Leukemia is the most common cancer in children and ALL is its most common form, usually found in children between 2 and 4 years of age.

Dilloian spent Hambletonian Day at The Meadowlands with his long-time owners, Scott and her husband, Howard Perlmutter. That night at home, his daughter did a cartwheel and hit her arm, which resulted in a small fracture.

When Kensley had spiked a temperature for a couple of days, their pediatrician wanted to do bloodwork and they found her hemoglobin level was low and were told to get her to the emergency room.

"They did some further tests and that's kind of when the bomb was dropped on us and she was diagnosed with Leukemia," said Dilloian. "ALL is in the high 90 per cent to 98 per cent curable in her age group. To me that's a minor win in a really bad situation. The treatment is going to be 2 ½ years in total. After the 2 ½ years, as long as the bloodwork is good, they consider you cured. After the five-year mark, if it hasn't come back, the chances of it coming back are very unlikely.

"They say you have to get through the first two months, those are the hardest months. It's literally one of the most helpless feelings that I've ever felt in my life because I can't take her pain away. I can't take her treatments away. I can't do anything aside from be there."

Dilloian shared news of his family's situation on Facebook because he knew that people would notice a change in his typical routine, but he was not expecting the response he received.

"I'm really good friends with Shane Tritton," said Dilloian. "He instantly called me and said 'Doug, send me all your horses at no cost whatsoever. Go be with your daughter and then when you're ready come, pick them up.' Dylan Davis is another one and the Bongiorno's.

"Even people that I'm not crazy, crazy close with offered an outpouring of support saying, 'If you need your horses shipped or raced or trained or jogged, we don't want any money, go be with your daughter and we'll take care of it.' In a really s - - - y situation, it kind of restores your value in people and in humanity."

So far, Dilloian has not asked for help. His days and nights are plenty full between coaching his 12-year-old stepson Lucas' football team, running a stable, racing at Yonkers three or four nights a week and, of course, being at home as much as he can for Kensley and his wife, Jessica, who is pregnant and due in November.

“Even people that I’m not crazy, crazy close with offered an outpouring of support saying, ‘If you need your horses shipped or raced or trained or jogged, we don’t want any money, go be with your daughter and we’ll take care of it.’ In a really s - - - y situation, it kind of restores your value in people and in humanity.”

"I've kind of taken everything on and done it myself, but just knowing that you have people behind you, that when push comes to shove, are there for you is pretty remarkable in an industry where we're all trying to beat each other to make a living," said Dilloian.

A Leukemia Awareness race will also be held at Yonkers on Monday, Sept. 19.

"I can't thank The Meadowlands and Alex Dadoyan from Yonkers enough for stepping up and working with me," said Scott. "There was no hesitation at all, no pushback. It was what we can do and let's get this done. I cannot wait for Friday [at The Meadowlands] and next Monday at Yonkers because the support's been great from both marketing teams."

When the idea first came to Scott last week, she reached out to The Meadowlands' Jessica Otten, who she thinks is incredible and so amazingly helpful.

"I've done things with a shorter amount of notice than this, we can do it," said Otten. "I actually had a cousin pass away from Leukemia. He was only 20."

In addition to all the equipment from Scott, Otten has arranged for a blanket and a sign in the winner's circle and a bouquet of flowers.

"I really wanted Doug to know that the industry is right with him every step of the way," said Scott. "You can be super competitive and racing hard against someone in the business and they'll be claiming horses off of you but when it comes time when you need support this industry stands together like no other."

"My hope for the community and racing participants and racing spectators, I want them to see the goodness of the horse people. I want them to see that we are part of a community and I want them to know that we stand together and we also give back."

Since Kensley is still receiving chemo treatments every Friday, it is unlikely she would be able to attend, but Dilloian has every intention of being there to represent his family.

"I've been in this business since I was 16-years-old, I'm 38 now and I know how ugly and cutthroat it can get," said Dilloian. "Honestly, I couldn't be more proud to be part of an industry. This is my life. I had a full scholarship to Penn State as a football player, got hurt and this is the only other thing I ever wanted to do my whole life."

"Like I told my wife, don't worry about what's going to happen two weeks from now or five days from now, just win each day and if you lose one day, it's okay, come back and win the next day. If you stack up enough wins, we're going to beat this thing. I feel in my heart that we have a big, big support system behind us and everybody is rooting for my little girl and we're going to beat it. We're going to beat it as an industry and we're going to beat it as a family. I consider the racing industry as a family."

Quick Stop ready to go in NJ Classic

When trainer Anette Lorentzon bought trotting filly Quick Stop as a yearling at last fall's Standardbred Horse Sale Company auction in Harrisburg, PA, it was with an eye toward the future. But the eye on the present is pleased with the purchase as well.

Quick Stop has hit the board in four of five races this season, winning two, as she heads to tonight's (Sept. 16) $275,000 New Jersey Classic "A" final for 2-year-old female trotters at The Meadowlands. Quick Stop, who on Sept. 1 notched her first Grand Circuit victory by capturing a division of the Kindergarten Classic Series, is the 3-1 second choice on the morning line in a field of five New Jersey-sired fillies.

The inaugural New Jersey Classic Series, sponsored by The Meadowlands and the Standardbred Breeders & Owners Association of New Jersey, features "A" and "B" divisions for 2- and 3-year-old trotters and 2-year-old pacers. The finals for 3-year-olds were contested last week at The Big M and the eight finals for 2-year-olds are tonight.

Lorentzon bought Quick Stop, a daughter of Tactical Landing out of the millionaire mare Falls For You, for $72,000. She is a half-sister to Grand Circuit winner Mazzarati and her family also includes two-time O'Brien Award winner Armbro Officer and Dan Patch/O'Brien awards winner Armbro Monarch.

"We were trying to find a trotting filly we could keep as a broodmare, so I was looking for a broodmare prospect for after racing," said Lorentzon, who owns Quick Stop with her family's ACL Stuteri AB. "I liked the pedigree on her, and she was athletic looking. A lot of the Tactical Landings were bigger and heavier, and she wasn't like that. She was more a race type."

WHERE CHAMPIONS ARE MADE

Quick Stop won her debut in 1:55.3 on June 30 in the New Jersey Sire Stakes and followed that performance with a third in the second leg of the series and fourth in the final. She then headed to the Kindergarten, where she finished second on Aug. 5. Her victory in her most recent start saw her rally from fifth at three-quarters to score by a length in 1:56.2.

"We liked her from the beginning," Lorentzon said. "She's got a good attitude. She showed speed when we started with her, but I took my time because she could be a little bit aggressive. She had a little bit of an issue early on where she could get pacey, but we changed her shoeing and, knock on wood, she's been a lot better.

"She's been getting better every start. I was very happy to see her race from off the pace the last time. I prefer that the 2-year-olds early on get raced from off the pace."

In addition to the Kindergarten, Quick Stop is eligible to many of the remaining Grand Circuit events on the calendar, including the Bluegrass, International Stallion, Breeders Crown, Matron, and Goldsmith Maid.

"She has a lot of opportunities after this," Lorentzon said. "We just take one race at a time, see how she comes out of it, and go from there."

Quick Stop will start tonight's Classic final from post three with Todd McCarthy in the sulky.

"She trained good, and everything seems good with her," Lorentzon said. "You always hope to win, but it's always tough to do that. I'm just happy to have her in there. Hopefully, she gets a good piece of it."

Jim Campbell-trained Grand Fashion is the 2-1 favorite in the Classic final for 2-year-old female trotters. The daughter of Walner—Broadway Schooner is a full sister to Fashion Schooner, whose victories this year include the Hambletonian Oaks as well as the New Jersey Sire Stakes and Classic "A" finals.

In the $275,000 Classic "A" final for male trotters, Oh Well is the 5-2 favorite. The son of Muscle Hill—Fine Tuned Lady won the New Jersey Sire Stakes championship and finished second in the Peter Haughton Memorial. The colt is trained by Marcus Melander.

The even-money favorite in the $150,000 Classic "A" for female pacers is Ucanodit Blue Chip from the stable of Linda Toscano. The daughter of Keystone Velocity—Molly Can Do It has hit the board in all six of her races, winning four including the New Jersey Sire Stakes final.

Following tonight's fifth race, the $150,000 Classic "A" for male pacers will go as a non-betting event. The three-horse field is led by New Jersey Sire Stakes champ Voukefalas. Michael Russo trains the son of Lazarus N—Inittowinafortune.

Racing begins at 6:20 p.m. (EDT). For free TrackMaster programs for all Meadowlands cards, visit The Big M website here.

Verruso hopes to jet to World Championship title

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Tony Verruso loves to fly, but sometimes he likes to take off for a quick drive.

Verruso, who for the past dozen years has worked as a flight attendant for JetBlue, enjoys spending his free time competing in harness racing as an amateur driver. In 2021, Verruso had his best season to date, winning 23 of 84 races, and was named the sport's Amateur Driver of the Year by the U.S. Harness Writers Association.

Next week, Verruso will travel to Italy to represent the U.S. in the World Championship for amateur drivers. Drivers from 12 countries will compete at tracks in Rome, Turin, and Florence over the course of four days beginning on Sept. 21.

It will be Verruso's first appearance in the World Championship and the lifelong resident of Queens, NY, will try to become the first American to win the event. Hannah Miller posted the best U.S. finish in 2016, missing the title by a point.

"I've always thought it would be cool to represent the United States, and I'm looking forward to the opportunity," the 59-year-old Verruso said. "It's kind of hard to believe that a kid from Queens who never touched a horse until he was 35 could end up in this position, and I'm very grateful for all the help and support I've had over the years.

"It's great that I have something I really enjoy doing. I look forward to this every week. It's a big deal."

Verruso, who grew up going to the races at New York City-area tracks, has been driving since 1999 and has won 124 times. As an amateur, he receives no financial compensation for his driving. Most amateur drivers donate their percentage of any purse money earned by their horses to charity.

"When I first started, I had little to no experience at all except for watching races," Verruso said. "I watched my whole life. So, it was a matter of getting the experience of doing to match what I knew from watching. It took a while, but things started to fall into place."

“I was watching replays recently from the track in Rome, just to see what it looks like,” Verruso said. “European racing is different; I’m not too well versed in the way they race. The shortest way around (the track) is on the inside, and that’s the way I race a lot, staying on the inside. I’m not sure if that works there, but I’m going to do my best.”

Verruso, who has won 19 races this year, hopes things fall into place next week in Italy. He has raced in Italy previously, in “friendly” competitions but this will be a new experience.

The other drivers competing in this year’s World Championship include defending champ Piet Van Pollaert of Belgium and Dave Drew of Canada. The remaining countries being represented are Argentina, Austria, Finland, Germany, Italy, Malta, New Zealand, Norway, and the Netherlands.

In addition to the World Championship, there will be a series of Centennial Races to celebrate the 100th year of the Italian Amateur Drivers Association. Larry Ferrari will represent the U.S. in those events, facing drivers from six other countries. Ferrari, a 57-year-old resident of Ohio, started driving in the mid-1980s and has won 369 races lifetime.

SIRES STAKES

REPORT

Queen's Reign rules, Rollin Rosie remains perfect in ISS at Hoosier Park

by Jacob Rheinheimer

Indiana Sire Stakes action continued on Wednesday (Sept. 14) at Harrah's Hoosier Park, this time with the freshman pacing fillies stepping into the spotlight. Two divisions of the fifth leg of Indiana Sire Stakes action for the pacing fillies highlighted the 14-race card, with sire JK Endofanera once again completing the stakes sweep of the division.

The $68,000 first division kicked off the stakes action with Queen's Reign backing up her leg four victory in her last outing. With driver Michael Oosting aboard, Queen's Reign left alertly from post five, crossing over quickly to the lead to open things up with a :26.3 opening panel. Queen's Reign would relinquish the lead up the backstretch as Sleazy Mama and Trace Tetrack popped the pocket to lead the field to the halfway station in :56.2. Sleazy Mama and Tetrack maintained command on the far turn to lead at three-quarters in 1:25 as her stablemate and heavily favored Beauty N Grace made an uncharacteristic miscue while attempting to move first over, leaving a revved-up Queen's Reign and Oosting ready to strike from the pocket.

In the stretch, Queen's Reign popped the pocket with authority, motoring home with a :27.2 final fraction to open up and score by over two lengths at the line in a lifetime best 1:52.4. Polks Image and Peter Wrenn rallied up the rail to finish second with FeetmadeFordancin and Dale Hiteman getting up for the third position.

Trained by Ernie Gaskin, Queen's Reign picked up her second career victory in nine outings, having now gone back-to-back for owner and breeder Watermark Farm LLC. With the victory,

Dean Gillette

Rollin Rosie (Jordan Ross) remained unbeaten while winning her Indiana Sires Stakes division for 2-year-old pacing fillies on Wednesday at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

Dean Gillette

On Tuesday, Talent Scout (John De Long) posted a 19-1 upset in an ISS division for 2-year-old trotting colts.

the daughter of JK Endofanera out of the Riverboat King mare, Queen's Gold, pushes her lifetime earnings to $96,250.

The $68,500 second division immediately followed in the 11th race of the evening, this time with the unbeaten Rollin Rosie maintaining her flawless record. Getting away from post seven in the field of eight, driver Jordan Ross left aggressively, striking the front end to the tune of a :26.1 opening quarter. A parked out Plan To Tell and Jimmy Whittemore proceeded to push to the front end up the backstretch, before immediately facing pressure from JKs Lucky Lou and Trace Tetrack through a brisk half of :54. JKs Lucky Lou cleared heading into the final turn as Jordan Ross would launch Rollin Rosie once more from third engaging the leader at three-quarters in 1:23.

The two race favorites would slug it out from there down there stretch, with Rollin Rosie eventually wearing down a gutsy JKs Lucky Lou with a :28.2 final quarter to score the victory in 1:51.3 by three-quarters of a length. Always In Flight and John De Long would rally for third to round out the trifecta.

Now a perfect five-for-five in her young career, Rollin Rosie has now banked $145,250 for trainer Tyler George, who co-owns the filly along with Scp Stable and Gregory Samples. Bred by Mahlon Lambright, Rollin Rosie is sired by JK Endofanera and out of the Rockroll Hanover mare, Rock N Roll Baby, making her a full-sister to 3-year-old Indiana standout, JK's Rollin Baby.

FRESHMAN TROTTERS BATTLE IN PENULTIMATE LEG OF ISS

Indiana Sires Stakes action returned to Harrah's Hoosier Park with the penultimate leg of ISS for the freshman trotters on Tuesday (Sept. 13). Three divisions for the 2-year-old trotting colts and two for the trotting fillies highlighted the 14-race card on the evening.

The $45,500 first division for the 2-year-old trotting colts and geldings in the evening's second race kicked off the stakes action with a bang, as Talent Scout played spoiler to the tune of 19-1. Leaving from post six, driver John De Long put Talent Scout on the engine early through an opening quarter of :28. Talent Scout remained unchallenged on the lead through a half before Mike Oosting pressured the leader with the heavily favored Jailhouse Dance through three-quarters in 1:27.

Entering the stretch with his control on the lead still intact, Talent Scout and De Long powered away from his rivals to score a length and a half victory in a lifetime best 1:54.2. Jailhouse Dance held sway for second, Just Show Up and Trace Tetrack would round out the trifecta. Talent Scout returned $41.60 to his backers at the betting windows.

It was the fifth victory in 13 career starts for the Doug Rideout trainee who now boasts a six-figure bankroll of $101,708 for owners Julie Rideout, Alan White and Dave Gamble. Bred by Atlantic Trot Inc. and Steve Stewart, Talent Scout is a gelded son of Swan For All out of the Tom Ridge mare, Prettysydney Ridge.

The $46,000 second division would prove to be more formful as John DeLong would this time team up with race favorite Texsong Soprano to score the victory. Floating away from post three off the wings of the gate, Texsong Soprano would get away fourth in the field of eight as Tony Hall guided longshot Ahadi As to the front through an opening quarter of :29. Peter Wrenn and Ascent took command going to the halfway point in :59.3, leaving Texsong Soprano first over in second after following that cover to three-quarters in 1:29.2.

Texsong Soprano took control in the stretch following a miscue from Ascent at the top of the lane and refused to look back, using a :28 quarter to hold off a hard-charging Brookview Darius and Atlee Bender by three-quarters of a length in 1:57.3. Ahadi As and Tony Hall would hold for the third position.

Trained by Missy Essig, it was the fourth victory in seven lifetime starts for the Text Me colt who has yet to finish worse than second in his young career. Bred by Abraham Miller out of the Muscles Yankee mare, Muscling In, Texsong Soprano is a half-brother to the millionaire and O'Brien Award winning trotting mare, Windsong Soprano. Texsong Soprano has now earned $127,222 for owners Joe and Daryl Yoder.

In the third and final $46,000 division of stakes action for the trotting colts, it would be Full Strength and Ricky Macomber Jr. scoring a front-end victory. Unable to find the rail from post five, Full Strength and Macomber found themselves a parked out third as Facebook Official and Jared Finn carved out a :28.3 opening panel. Full Strength and Macomber continued their march to the front, clearing at the half in :57.3 before leading the field to three-quarters in 1:27.4.

With the support of a :28.3 final quarter in the lane, Full Strength and Macomber proved to be too strong for the field, scoring the victory in 1:56.2. Mohatu As and Tony Hall would rally for second, with Energy King and John De Long finishing third.

Trained by Jamie Macomber, it was a maiden-breaking victory in his fifth career start for the gelded son of Helpisontheway. Bred by Peninsula Farms Inc of Kentucky, Full Strength has banked $30,900 for owners M&M Racing and Doug Bixler.

Not to be outdone by their male counterparts, the freshman filly trotters provided fireworks and frenetic finishes in their two divisions of Sire Stakes action. In the $67,500 first division, it would be Yo Beth D and Trevor Smith recovering from an uncharacteristic mistake in her last outing to return to her winning ways.

Leaving from post one, Trevor Smith took full advantage of the rail position, sending Yo Beth D on her way to the tune of a :27 opening quarter. The duo would maintain their advantage over a gapped-out group of fillies with a blistering half of :55.3. The field began to converge on the far turn as Yo Beth D led the field to three-quarters in 1:25.2 with a two-length advantage.

In the stretch, Yo Beth D faced a two-pronged attack from a hard-charging Helpoftheseason and Peter Wrenn as well as a steadily gaining Naturdays on the far outside with Matt Krueger. However, Yo Beth D and Smith would hang on to the victory by a nose at the wire over Helpoftheseason in 1:55.1. Naturdays finished third a length behind the top duo to round out a Helpisontheway sired trifecta.

The Todd Luther trained filly has been victorious in five of seven for owners Black Magic Racing LLC. Bred by John Schmucker, Yo Beth D has raked in $133,250 over the course of her freshman campaign.

Upsets would bookend the night in Sire Stakes action as Semi Formal and Jimmy Whittemore would score the 14-1 shocker in the $68,000 second division. Navigating traffic from the second tier in post 11, Semi Formal and Whittemore would land in seventh in the early going as Ohhelpmehbaby and John De Long led through an opening quarter of :28.1. T's Pride and Trace Tetrack took their turn at the lead through an opening half of :57.3, before guiding the pack of fillies to three quarters in 1:26.4.

With nine lengths to make up on the leader at the three-quarter station, Semi Formal and Whittemore launched their move in the stretch with a :28.2 final quarter on the grandstand side to track down T's Pride and get up by a quarter of a length at the line in a lifetime best 1:57. Hanna Too Hanover and Tony Hall staged a strong late rally to get up for third.

Trained by Jay Hochstetler and owner by Homer and Connie Hochstetler along with South Of The Tracks Racing, Semi Formal picked up her second career victory in seven career starts and has earned $51,150 in 2022. Bred by Belmar Racing & Breeding LLC, Semi Formal is a Swan For All filly out of the Muscle Hill mare, Blk Thai Optional, making her a half-sister to the 2022 Hambletonian Champion, Cool Papa Bell.

Hall of Famer Ted Wing dead at 74

Ted Wing, 74, died peacefully on Tuesday (Sept. 13) surrounded by his family after a battle with Alzheimer's disease.

Wing was born on July 30, 1948 in Greenville, ME and came from a harness racing family. Wing's grandfather Harold raced in Maine before the turn of the last century and his father Morris also trained and raced on the Maine circuit. He started out in racing on skis and became an alpine champion as a young man, but his love of racing would lead him to his life's work and that began in 1964 at Aroostook Raceway, Presque Isle, ME.

Wing was a natural in the bike and quickly became the leading driver in New England from 1970-75. The following year, he made the move to the New York-New Jersey circuit to compete against the best in the business and his timing couldn't have been better as his move coincided with the opening of The Meadowlands Racetrack, where he drove in the first race there.

Some of his many career highlights include driving Jazzy Spark in the very first Meadowlands Pace in 1977, owning, training and driving Kerry Gold to a world record of 1:53.4 at The Meadowlands in 1978, training and driving Courageous Lady in 1979, winning the George Morton Levy final with Skip By Night in 1982 and also setting the world half-mile track record of 1:55.3 for older pacers at Yonkers that same year, defeating On The Road Again with The Butler GB in the 1984 Prix D'Ete, driving Desert Ruler in the 1984 Hambletonian, finishing second in the 1987 Woodrow Wilson Pace with Prince Royce as the owner, trainer and driver and winning the 1986 Battle Of Brandywine with Wilcos Data.

Courtesy Ted Wing

Wing sat behind a long list of great horses during his career including: Calvert, Cambest, Crown's Star, Forest Skipper, Gallo Blue Chip, Shady Daisy, Tarport Hap and Whata Baron and was a "go-to" guy for Stanley Dancer, Billy Haughton and Howard Beissinger for years when they needed a driver.

Wing was not only successful with stake horses, he was also known as a keen judge of overnight talent and made many successful claims during his life. His first year at The Meadowlands he took horses such as Fathers Image and Jewells Dream and moved them right up the ladder. Probably his best claim was Art Attack, who he took for $50,000 on Hambletonian Day in 2001 and went on to win 39 races and $650,000 over the next five seasons.

And Wing's sulky skills did not diminish with age as he continued to experience much success as he drew close to retirement. A week after turning 60, Wing drove Francam to a second-place finish behind With Anticipation, who won the race in the season's fastest pace time of 1:47.2. Francam was timed in 1:48 and Wing became the only 60-year-old driver to ever go that fast.

Accolades for Wing were many through the years. At the age of 38, Wing was the youngest person ever elected into the New England Harness Writers Hall of Fame alongside close friends and competitors Jimmy Doherty and Billy O'Donnell in 1986. He was also inducted into the Maine Sports Hall of Fame in that same year. But he gained his greatest honor when he was inducted into the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in Goshen, NY in 2019.

During his career, Wing won many races and as such, many driving titles. He was the youngest American-born driver to win 1,000 and then 2,000 career races. After his New England success he won his first driving title in the Metropolitan area at Meadowlands in 1978, and then went on to win many more at tracks that included Roosevelt and Yonkers, where he captured his 5,000th victory in 2007 with Pappy's Folly.

According to the USTA, Wing won races for 48 consecutive years and all tallied finished with 5,139 victories and $33,155,751 in earnings.

Wing will be greatly missed by his beloved wife of 48 years, Jackie Allen Wing, and his two children; Stacey Palazzotto (Vinny) and Ryan Wing (Lauren) and 4 grandchildren. He will also be missed by his devoted rescue dog Curly Sue.

Participants up for the Breeders Crown Charity challenge

The launch of the 2022 Breeders Crown Charity Challenge (BCCC), sponsored by the Libfeld-Katz Breeding Partnership, is at the post.

Established in 2019 at Woodbine Mohawk Park, the BCCC has raised more than $800,000 for local charities of each year's Breeders Crown host track. In 2021, the challenge set a new event record, raising over $400,000 for charities in The Meadowlands (East Rutherford, New Jersey) area.

This year's event is also shaping up to be something special.

The format showcases four teams, with each entry comprised of a prominent owner, their charity of choice, and a Woodbine leading driver, competing to net the largest donation amount from a minimum pool of $200,000.

The four teams are:

Team Brad Grant/Doug McNair – Charity: Milton District Hospital Foundation

Team Determination/Bob McClure – Charity: Kids Help Phone Line

Team Steve Heimbecker/James MacDonald – Charity: Pine River Institute

Team Libfeld-Katz/Louis-Philippe Roy – Charity: Toronto General Hospital Heart Research Centre - SickKids Hospital Toronto

Each team has pledged $25,000, which guarantees their charity of choice a minimum donation in that amount. An additional $100,000 has been raised through donations made by industry participants.

With a minimum $25,000 guaranteed to be directed to each charity, the additional monies will be decided through a Driver Challenge and Social Media Challenge.

"This is a great addition to an already exciting event," said Bob McClure. "It's one more thing that adds to the excitement of the Breeders Crown. I'm really happy to be part of it."

It is a sentiment echoed by reinsman Doug McNair.

"I'm looking forward to teaming up with my fellow drivers to help raise money for some very worthwhile charities," McNair said.

$50,000 will be distributed to the charities based on each driver's performance in the Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) Lampman

Cup standings. The team with the driver earning the most points in the OSS season will be awarded $20,000. The remaining $30,000 will be distributed as $15,000, $10,000, and $5,000, respectively, based on each driver's ranking in the standings.

$50,000 will be directed to the charities based on each team's social media engagement. The team creating the most engagement by using their team hashtag will earn $20,000. The remaining $30,000 will be distributed as $15,000, $10,000 and $5,000, respectively, based on each team's engagement numbers.

Supporters are asked to go on Twitter and use the hashtag of their favourite team and also include #CrownCharity22.

The 2022 Breeders Crown presented by Libfeld-Katz Breeding Partnership will take place on Friday, Oct. 28 and Saturday, Oct. 29 at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

"We are looking forward to putting on a first-class event and making this year's Breeders Crown one of the most memorable editions in its storied history," said Jim Lawson, Woodbine Entertainment CEO. "From a world-class night of racing, to raising money and awareness for deserving charities, to the support of so many passionate and caring horse people, this year's Breeders Crown is something we can all truly be proud of."

The Breeders Crown Charity Challenge would not be possible without the generous support of the following individuals and groups:

Tioga announces 3 p.m. post times

Tioga Downs has updated its post times for the final four live race dates of the 2022 season to 3 p.m. The change has been made due to technical issues affecting track lighting.

The dates impacted include today (Sept. 16), Saturday, Sept. 17, Friday, Sept. 23 and Saturday, Sept. 24. All four race cards will kick off at 3 p.m.

Saturday, Sept. 24 is closing day at Tioga Downs. In addition to the Purple Haze Standardbred Adoption Program Horseplay car giveaway, Tioga will play host to a special Fan Appreciation Day with additional prizes being given away throughout the card. The season will conclude with a fireworks show at dusk.
