Rocket Man

The story, so far, of rising star Edison Hatter.

by Debbie Little

Edison Hatter works for Rosecroft Raceway, Freehold Raceway, The Meadowlands, Woodbine Mohawk Park and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). So, I guess sometimes, you DO need to be a rocket scientist.

The 22-year-old Hatter, the newest member of The Meadowlands TV team, also has a full-time gig as an aerospace engineer for NASA.

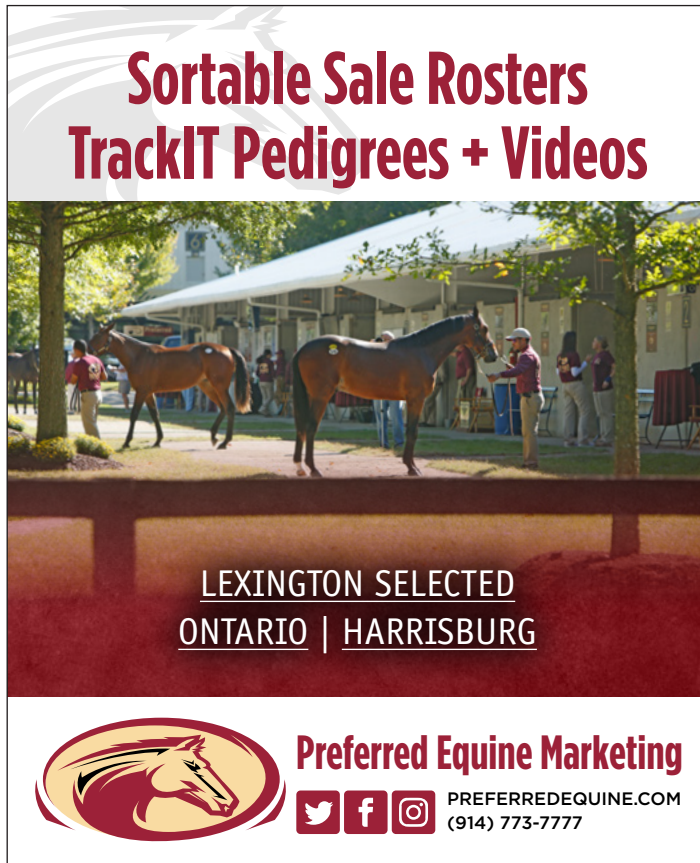

To say Hatter is an overachiever is an understatement when you consider that he completed his freshman and sophomore years at college during his final two years of high school.

The Maryland native took classes at Mount St. Mary's University near his home in Emmitsburg, which his high school credited towards his diploma.

"Running cross country was the only time I was actually at my high school," said Hatter. "When I started at the Mount, my real area of knowledge was mathematics. The first class I ever took [was full of] juniors and seniors and me, a 16-year-old high school student."

While in high school, Hatter also ran to be a member at large for the board of education.

"I lost that election but I got a position serving on the main subcommittee to the board and I served there for 2 ½ years. I've been asked to consider runs for state senator or state house or board of education again but obviously with my current schedule it's totally out of the question."

Hatter has no familial connection to horse racing, he just found it on TV one day.

"I followed the 2012 Triple Crown that year and I had a middle school graduation party the Saturday that California Chrome missed the Triple Crown," he said. "In 2017, I turned 18 and I said, 'Dad, can you finally take me to a race?' I went to that Preakness."

The following year he saw his first harness race at Ocean Downs.

"High school seniors in Maryland, when they graduate, usually go down to the beach for a week, so I decided to check out Ocean Downs on the drive down," said Hatter. "I probably thought it was thoroughbreds."

He transferred to the University of Maryland in College Park for his junior and senior years and in 2019, he went down to Rosecroft for the first time.

"I was watching it one night on TV and said, 'Huh, Rosecroft is only 30 minutes south,'" he said.

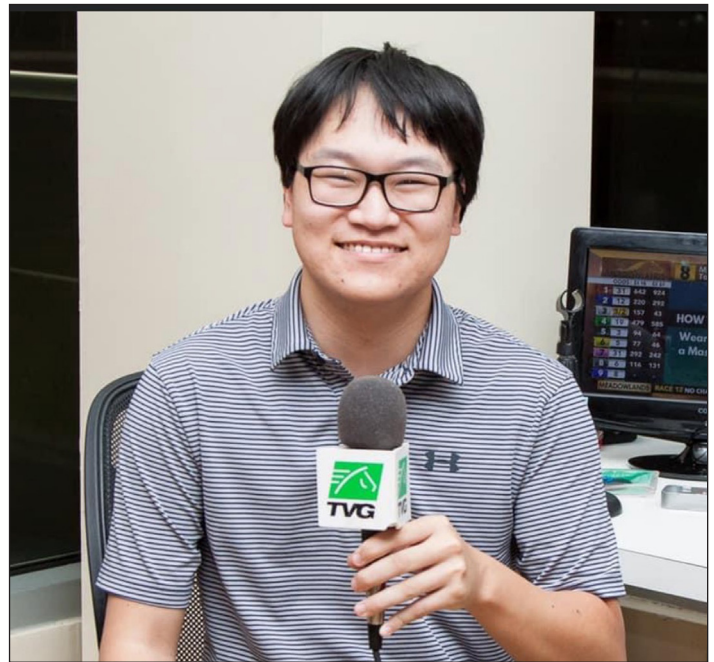

That September, the start of his senior year, he found out from a friend of a friend that they needed someone to call the races at Rosecroft.

"Edison was friends with Russ Adams and Russ used to be our photo finish guy here," said Pete Hanley, director of racing at Rosecroft. "Pete Medhurst is our regular announcer and he's a broadcaster for Navy sports, so there were conflicts. Russ said I know this guy Edison and he might want to do it.

"We had him do some qualifiers and practice so he'd feel comfortable. I've been in horse racing my whole life and I struggled to get opportunities when I was younger and I was always like, 'Dang, if I could just get a chance to do something and prove I could do it, that would be a good thing.' So, I'm more than willing to give somebody a shot."

Hatter had never called a race before and had no plans of ever doing it, but he was a quick learner.

"I just listened to [my first ever call] for the first time in a while the other day and it sounds pretty choppy, but overall, it's really not too different from the style that I use today," said Hatter. "I'm amazed. I don't know where it came from, but I actually said a horse is first over and a horse is following cover and I don't even know where those terms came from. I think I must have been listening to Pete and I must have heard the words and pieced it together. I know I said it but I don't think at that point I really knew what it meant. I don't know what in the world led our general manager to say give him a microphone and a program, but they did and I called that Wednesday."

Hatter learned plenty of new skills at Rosecroft, including being on-air talent, photo finish, charting and he even drove the starter car during qualifiers.

"I never realized that the starter controls the speed as well," said Hatter. "So literally, all you do as the driver is steer the car. I really thought I had to use the gas pedal. Oh my God, what speed am I supposed to go? So, I'm glad the starter does that. It was still a little white-knuckle experience but since I didn't have to do the speed, it calmed my nerves pretty quickly when I found that out."

Due to a change in his schedule, Medhurst was able to call both nights a week at Rosecroft with Hatter as a backup, but Hanley stepped in and helped out again.

"We needed an announcer, so I called around the industry to see who could help me out," said Freehold director of racing Karen Fagliarone. "I'm very friendly with Peter (Hanley) and he said 'Well, I actually do have a guy here.' I thought the distance was going to be way too far, I never thought he would come but he came up and he was thrilled.

"I wasn't expecting someone so young and when I put him up in the stand and I listened to him, I was like, 'Wow, this kid is really good.' I was just so impressed. Somebody so eager and so passionate about the industry is refreshing. He's going to go places, this kid. That's what I tell him, he's going to be a somebody."

On Hatter's first day at Freehold, he was offered the full-time photo finish gig at Rosecroft, which he obviously accepted.

Not long after that a chance meeting at The Meadowlands also went in Hatter's favor. He introduced himself to on-air co-hosts Dave Brower and Dave Little on a random Friday night down on the set and Brower was impressed.

"I didn't really know a whole lot about him," said Brower. "I think he had just started doing the Freehold announcing and there was a certain enthusiasm and confidence in the way that he conducted himself. I guess that was my lasting impression of the introduction.

"We decided to slot him for a TVG role one night and it couldn't have worked out any better. The reviews I got from anybody I asked was that he fit in like a natural and that came from the TVG people and the people watching TVG. I know how young he is but he acts like a polished professional."

As someone in his 20s, Hatter gives props to The Meadowlands for their events that bring younger people out to the track, like the under-30 handicapping contest, that gave participating 18- to 30-years-olds a free program, free dinner coupon, free entry form and cash prizes.

"I think the young people enjoyed it," said Hatter. "I talked to some of them and a lot of them will come back as racing fans going forward. So, I think a lot of the outreach in that way from the racetrack is good."

Hatter is appreciative of all the opportunities that have come his way, including the latest, part of the In The Money media network hosting the "First Over" podcast for Woodbine Mohawk Park.

"I've forever got to be thankful to Pete Hanley and Lisa Watts, our general manager at Rosecroft," said Hatter. "If it wasn't for them just blindly trusting me that night, I assure you I would never be in this industry at all, let alone at Freehold, The Meadowlands and Rosecroft.

"And for that matter, I have to thank Karen Fagliarone as well. I guess Pete Hanley gave her a decent recommendation for me but she didn't have a whole lot to work off of, either. And to Dave Brower as well. At that point I hadn't done a whole lot of on-camera work. I sit back and think on the last couple of years that have led me to where I am today and it's almost unbelievable."

The last line of Hatter's favorite song "Long Live" by Taylor Swift says, "One day we will be remembered." That appears to be an accurate prediction for Hatter.

The value of mentorship

Dr. Ian Moore, Dustin Jones and Blake MacIntosh are just three Ontario trainers eager to help educate the next generation of horsepeople.

by Sandra Snyder

Trainer Dr. Ian Moore is best known as a developer of young horses, including 3-year-old Ontario-sired pacing colt Lawless Shadow, who won this year's Meadowlands Pace and Max Hempt Memorial before suffering a season-ending injury earlier this month. The Prince Edward Island native has also done his part however, in helping young horse people develop successful careers in his adopted province.

A few weeks before Lawless Shadow's Meadowlands Pace win, Moore's former staff members Teesha Symes and Mitchell Tierney combined to win a trio of races at Kawartha Downs, prompting a Facebook shout-out from Symes to their mentor. (See the post here).

"I think that's great and I love it. We were side-by-side in the paddock there a couple weeks ago and I thought that was great," said Moore with a chuckle. "The older people like me aren't going to keep this sport going, it's going to be the younger people. And if older people can do their part in training them to do things what I consider proper anyways, then that's all good."

Having spent 13 years teaching at the Atlantic Veterinary College, Moore was long used to mentoring young people, so it was natural for him to transfer that mindset to his harness racing operation. The current resident of Cambridge, ON said he operates on the assumption that caretakers and assistant trainers would like to advance their careers in the industry and encourages them to achieve their goals.

"I don't know if he's just got teaching in his blood or what, but every day you just ask questions and he will not just give you the answer, but give you a complete explanation and a background," said Symes. "I remember, this is going back years ago, but he had one with a tooth issue or something and I just asked one question and he put the lamp on my head and he said, 'Well here, now you look...' Usually grooms are just standing there holding the twitch, but he throws you right into it, he wants you to learn."

PEI native Dale Spence is currently benefitting from Moore's mentorship and the trainer expects the young horseman and his fiancée Mackenzie MacInnis will be the next members of Team Moore to strike out on their own. The veteran trainer has also supported his son Tyler Moore through the development of his driving career, gradually gaining experience and achieving some success on the Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) circuit and at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Trainer Dustin Jones is in the same boat as Moore, helping both his son Tyler Jones and PEI native Ryan DesRoche launch their driving careers. The Waterdown resident said time, hard work and the repetition of sitting behind a wide variety of horses are essential investments for those hoping to enjoy long term success in the industry.

"They're working hard at it. Putting a lot of miles in, and showing up to the barn every morning, like 5:30 in the morning, and working, and then hustling for drives at night, so they're putting the effort in," said Jones, who said he mentors mainly by example, including that early arrival at the barn. "They have to put the time in if they want to get good. They've got to show up, and work, and learn. They don't want to put the time in, they're not going to get ahead."

When he decided to swap his career in youth-protection services for one in harness racing this spring, Tyler Jones reached out to his father's long-time friend Murray Brethour and the decision to make the trip to Kawartha Downs each Saturday to drive a few of Brethour's horses has given him an opportunity to learn from a wide-range of industry veterans.

"Every now and then (Brethour will) say some kind of a tip or little advice to move forward, and you definitely want to be a sponge," said Tyler Jones, who has also benefitted from watching drivers like Hall of Famer Doug Brown. "Just watching how they are composed and how they go about a race and sort of the little things they do in a race, and you just can tell he has had a lot of success, you can just tell. Guys like that are very professional and very good at what they do."

The younger Jones said his father is both his toughest and most helpful critic, but that other trainers and drivers, including those having success at the province's top level, have also been generous with their insight.

"I try to ask people that I admire questions after certain races, like 'I notice that you did this,' or just, 'Can you walk me through the process?' or 'What were you thinking at this time during the race?'; whether it be Sylvain Filion or James MacDonald," said Tyler Jones. "Just little tips, but mostly everything comes down from my dad."

Both members of the Jones family and trainer Blake MacIntosh said the ups and down of the business can make it a hard sell for young people looking to make it their career. MacIntosh expects that his current assistant trainers Jessica Fallon, in New York, and Jeff Courchesne, in Ontario, will soon be headed out on their own, Courchesne in partnership with girlfriend Gabriella Sasso. MacIntosh predicts that more of his female employees will make that leap in the future.

"It's a tough business. The ups and downs in this business are crazy. You can have a great year, have Courtly Choice one year, and the next year have nothing and you're back battling. You've got to love it, and I seem to find that the women love it more than the guys," said MacIntosh, who supports the career aspirations of his staff in concrete ways, by giving them space for their own horses in his barns and adding those horses to his training sets. "They love the horses and I think that's why we'll see more and more women trainers coming out. I think in the future you're going to see almost 50-50 women to guys, because if you look at it, it's the way it's going."

Symes agrees with MacIntosh's prediction, noting that on race nights at Woodbine Mohawk Park the majority of the people working in the paddock are women and pointing to young women like Sasso and Amanda Fine who are succeeding as trainers on the Ontario circuit.

"You look through the paddock and it's all mostly female grooms and I hope they'll go to the next step and jump out on their own because the people that are hands on are going to be your best trainers, because not only do they have the need for speed, but they have the care," said Symes, who is currently sharing her knowledge with a young woman who arrived in her barn with no harness racing experience.

"It takes a lot of patience, because you've got to slow down your operation to teach them the steps. You can't just say, 'Okay, get that one, that one and that one ready.' You have to take a step back and show them exactly what to do, but at the end of the day it's very rewarding to see how quick she's catching on and how much she's loving jumping on one and going to jog five or six miles."

By sharing her love of the horse and the harness racing knowledge she gained from Moore, Symes is ensuring that the life changing gift of mentorship is passed on to the next generation.

Extreme Speed

An extremely detailed look at the sport's 1:50 2-year-olds

By Philip and Jonathan Sporn

Back in April we did a retrospective of the 1:50 mile (full story here). Now that the stakes season is gearing up, here is a look at the elite 2-year-olds – 54 youngsters that have cracked the 1:50 or faster barrier. This list and the associated table are correct as of Sept. 15, 2021.

1998 STARTED THE BALL ROLLING

Since BADLANDS HANOVER achieved the first 1:50 mark – back in 1998 – a select group of 54 pacers are now in the 1:50 club, responsible for 71 individual magic miles. After Badlands Hanover, the record was reduced in 2004 by ROCKNROLL HANOVER (1:49.4); SOMEBEACHSOMEWHERE (1:49.3 in 2007); SPORTSWRITER (1:49.2 in 2009); BIG JIM (1:49.1 in 2010); SWEET LOU (1:49) the following year; and his daughter WARRAWEE UBEAUT (1:48.3) seven years later, in 2018. Her stablemate ELVER HANOVER equaled that mark in 2019, as did the newest member of the club, CAVIART CAMDEN in 2021.

A VERY GOOD YEAR

Of the 54 pacers, CAPTAINTEACHEROUS (2012) and PERFECT STING (2020) are tied for most 1:50 miles in a season, both with four. HUNTSVILLE (2016) is next with 3, followed by an 8-way logjam of A ROCKNROLL DANCE (2011), SWEET LOU (2011), HE'S WATCHING (2013), SOMESTARSOMEWHERE (2013), DOWNBYTHESEASIDE (2016), CAPT MIDNIGHT (2019), TALL DARK STRANGER (2019), SOUTHWIND GENDRY (2020) and FULFULLNMYDESTINY (2021), all with a pair of 1:50 efforts.

The other broodmare to produce a pair of 1:50 juveniles is the Apaches Fame mare GREAT MEMORIES. She turned the trick first in 2011 with WARRAWEE NEEDY (by E Dee's Cam) when he captured an Ontario Sires Stakes Super Final at Woodbine in 1:49.4. Then, in 2018, her daughter (by Sweet Lou) scorched the oval at Lexington in 1:48.3, winning the International Stallion Stakes.

THEY DON'T COME CHEAP

Looking at the 54 pacers by yearling sale price, the most expensive was CAPT MIDNIGHT ($350,000), followed by TALL DARK STRANGER at $330,000, CAPTAIN TREACHEROUS ($250,000) and WESTERN SHOOTER ($205,000).

At the other end of the spectrum, HE'S WATCHING was a mere $3,000 yearling buy. Other "four-figure" yearlings were ALL BETS OFF ($7,000), WESTERN VINTAGE ($7,000) and IN THE ARSENAL ($7,500).

Almost 50 per cent of the 1:50 yearlings (26) were sold at Harrisburg, while 13 were sold at the Lexington Select sale. Single yearlings were plucked from Tattersalls, Forest City, Canadian Yearling and Ohio Jug sale, while 11 were not sold at public auction.

THEY GROW UP SO FAST!

Here's a stat you've never seen. While all horses have Jan. 1 as their official birthday, who is the youngest 2YO to win in 1:50? Using their actual foaling date vs. the date of their 1:50 or faster win, HE'S WATCHING is the youngest...TWICE. A foal of June 13, 2011, his first 1:50 mile was August 9, 2013, making him a mere two years, one month and 27 days old when he won in 1:50f in a NYSS at Tioga Downs, lowering Rock N Roll Heaven's world record by two ticks. When he won in 1:50 at Vernon Downs (another track record) on Aug. 31, he was a more "mature" two years, two months, and 18 days old. Those are the two youngest performances ever by a 2-year-old.

After HE'S WATCHING, other precocious youngsters are SOMEBEACHSOMEWHERE and CAPT MIDNIGHT (two years, three months, seven days), PQ THREE (two years, three months, 14 days), PERFECT STING, LYONS SENTINEL and FULLFULLMYDESTINY (two years, four months, seven days), and SOMESTARSOMEWHERE (two years, four months, eight days).

On the other side of the spectrum, the "oldest" 1:50 2-year-old performer is JK FIRST LADY, who won the $411,000 Three Diamonds Pace on November 23, 2019, at the ripe old age of two years, nine months and 26 days.

TRACK-IT

While almost all the 1:50 2-year-old miles have been on large ovals, eight have been on a 5/8 mile track, the first by ONE MORE LAUGH in 2009 was at Chester Downs, and, most recently, SOUTHWIND GENDRY (2020) was at Dover Downs. Only HE'S WATCHING (2013), SOMESTARSOMEWHERE (2013), HUNTSVILLE (2016) and SOUTHWIND GENTRY (2020) have won in 1:50 or faster on both mile and 5/8 mile tracks. Even more impressive is that only one 2-year-old – DOWNBYTHESEASIDE – has won in 1:50h as a 2-year-old – in 2016, and then three weeks later, he equaled the mile track world record (1:49) at Lexington.

SUPPLEMENTAL ENTRIES NOW BEING TAKEN

Already in 2021, a pair of 2-year-olds have joined the 1:50 club. On Aug. 24, CAVIART CAMDEN streaked over the Red Mile in 1:48.3 to lower the colt record (and equal the gelding record). For those keeping score, he's a son of HUNTSVILLE, trained by TONY ALAGNA (his fifth 1:50 2YO) and driven by YANNICK GINGRAS (his 10th different 1:50 juvenile drive).

Not to be outdone, on Friday, Aug. 27, FULFULLMYDESTINY became a member of the club, winning an Indiana Sires Stakes event at Hoosier Park in 1:50, the first such mile in track history. He lowered that record two weeks later (1:49.2), also at Hoosier Park. A gelded son of TELLITLIKEITIS, he is trained and driven by JAMES YODER. He joins fellow geldings SHEER DESIRE, ONE MORE LAUGH, FEEL LIKE A FOOL, PQ THREE, LIMELIGHT BEACH, DRAGNET ALERT, NO MAS AMOR, ELVER HANOVER and FREEDOM WARRIOR and SOUTHWIND GENDRY on the 1:50 list.

So that's the story of the elite 2YOs to date.... 54 of them so far, with more to follow in the coming months and years.

Perusing the top 20 drivers and trainers

by Bob Heyden

Trainers:

Nifty Norman is making a strong play for Trainer Of The Year honors with a #6 ranking and a .343 UTRS. His record is 449 99-64-58 through mid-September. He just took the Peaceful Way on the heels of a Hambletonian Oaks win – both with undefeated ladies.

Jenn Bongiorno has vaulted from #19 to #3 in earnings this year from 2020.

Drivers:

Todd McCarthy is on the verge of doing what Dexter Dunn did last – vault from not being in the top 50 to cracking the top 10 next year.

Todd is #9 right behind brother Andy as of Sept. 14. Dunn went from not being ranked here in 2018 to #3 in 2019 and then #1 last year. The only driver past $10 million with an $11,154,638 2020 season. This year, Dunn has just gained the top spot from Tim Tetrick at $7.6 million to $7.5 million as we head into Jug week and beyond.

The same top 4 drivers from 2020 are there again in 2021

– Yannick Gingras and David Miller rounding out the quartet.

James MacDonald has now cracked the top 20. His huge night of four wins and two seconds-good for $282,238 on North America Cup night did the trick. Especially noteworthy was his second placed finish with Ritson from Post 10 at 97-1 in the $240,000 Goodtimes final.

But, he was not the winningest brother MacDonald on the card. That honor went to older brother Mark. His lone drive resulted in $320,000 in purse winnings with his fine steer behind Wellwood winner King Of The North. How many times have you seen brothers each making over $250,000 in purse money on the same night? Five of the 13 races went to a son of Fred MacDonald.

North America Cup Night recap

The top six favorites in the NA Cup finished in the top six spots.

Walner winning both the Wellwood and the Peaceful Way in his first crop with King Of The North and Venerable evoked memories of the very first offerings of Baltic Speed and Andover Hall.

In 1988, Valley Victory and Peace Corps both won their divisions and the Breeders Crown as freshmen – both offspring of 1984 Breeders Crown winner as a freshman Baltic Speed.

In 2007, Donato Hanover and Danae won the Hambletonian and the Oaks as son and daughter of 2001 freshman colt of the year Andover Hall.

Desperate Man had the lowest winning percentage for 2021 going into the NA Cup – 12.5 per cent.

Winning NA Cup trainer Kathy Cecchin only raced Desperate Man during the meet going into the Cup. That makes three straight NA Cups now to female trainers – Nancy Takter in 2019 and 2020 with Captain Crunch and Tall Dark Stranger.

Yearling prices for the check-getters in the NA Cup:

Yonkers NYSS recap

In its 33rd year there were eight $200,000 NYSS finals.

Chapter Seven swept the board in all four trots:

Joviality S $3.50

Molotov Cocktail $10.20 (third at 78-1 another Chapter Seven: Secret Rule)

Iteration $5.40

Sevenshadesofgray $90.50

Who would have thought that the longest-priced winner of the night would be a Chapter Seven and for Ron Burke and Gingras, no less?

Two finals saw Chapter Seven go 1-2-3.

Art Major, at age 22, showed he still has plenty on his fastball as Test Of Faith dominated in the 3YOFP category.

So Surreal and JD took the 2YOCP at 15-1 as Ray Schnittker trained the winner (his own Huntsville sired the show horse).

Veteran American Ideal is still quite a force siring the 2YOFP winner Gothegreenlight.

Think that Chapter Seven's night was historic? Yes, but Credit Winner sired the winners of the first six NYSS finals his progeny were in from 2004-05.

James Yoder's history-making nights

At Harrah's Hoosier Park on Sept. 9, 10 and 11, James Yoder, 27 – one of three sons of Breeders Crown-winning driver/trainer Verlin Yoder – had a tremendous weekend on three consecutive nights.

Sept. 9 – Lorraine Smoke was a $173.80 winner in a $68,000 feature Indiana Sires Stakes event for 2-year-old pacing fillies. It was the highest-priced winner of the card. James also won with a favorite earlier on the card: $6.80 Wonder Of Love in the third race.

Sept. 10 – Fulfullmydestiny 1:49.2 $2.80 was the lowest-priced winner on the card (and the lowest priced horse of any starter, too) This colt became the first ever sub-1:50 2-year-old in Hoosier Park's 27-year history by 3/5ths of a second, lowering his own mark from the previous start.

Sept. 11 – James Yoder had the highest-priced winner on Sept 9 and the lowest-priced winner on Sept. 10. Care to take a guess who had the highest-priced winner on the Sept. 11 card? James Yoder – $51.20 with Tahuyatakes Flight – more than twice as high as any other winner on the card.

By definition, the driver of a huge favorite almost never could even drive the longest shot and vice-versa. Of course, any driver who sits behind a 85-1 shot is unlikely to even sit behind a 2-5 shot, never mind win with both.

How unusual is it for a trainer/driver to set a historic freshman mark? The first sub-1:50 2-year-old winner was Rocknroll Hanover in the 2004 Metro (1:49.4) with Brian Sears catch-driving for Brett Pelling. The first freshman to win in 1:50 flat? Badlands Hanover in the 1998 Breeders Crown at Colonial Downs with Ron Pierce catch-driving for trainer Joe Holloway.

George Napolitano, Jr. records 11,000th career win

by PHHA / Pocono

Perhaps it was appropriate that it came in the 11th race on an eleven-race card on Tuesday afternoon (Sept. 14) at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono, but when George Napolitano Jr., Pocono's all-time leading driver, won the contest with Captain Romance in 1:51, it was the 11,000th victory of his career – a plateau reached previously by only 11 other North American drivers.

"George Nap" made two early moves with the Captaintreacherous sophomore gelding, then yielded the lead to Stellar Yankee. But the aggressive Napolitano tipped his favored pacer outside on the far turn, and inch by inch the pair got by Stellar Yankee to win by a half-length and set a new mark in the milestone victory. Robert Baggitt Jr. trains the winner for J L Sadowsky LLC.

Napolitano Jr., 55, has an incredible 31 Pocono horsemen's titles on his resume – 14 driving win crowns (including the last nine), 12 UDR championships (including the last seven), and five titles as winningest trainer – and George again leads Pocono in both driving categories this season. The majority of his lifetime

Curtis Salonick

George Napolitano Jr. wins the 11,000th race of his career with Captain Romance in the 11th race on an 11-race card Tuesday at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono. He now joins 11 other North American drivers who have won more than 11,000 races.

victories have come at Pocono and Harrah's Philadelphia, 100 miles south on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, where he also has earned many titles.

In getting to 11,000, Napolitano stands alongside Dave Palone, Tony Morgan, Herve Filion, Cat Manzi, David Miller, Aaron Merriman, Tim Tetrick, Dave Magee, Zeke Parker, George Brennan, and Walter Case Jr. as now a member of that very exclusive club. Napolitano Jr.'s family is scheduled to be at Pocono on Saturday (Sept. 18), the track's next day of racing, when George can be surrounded by family and friends and given a proper salute for this milestone.

Canadian Trotting Classic headlines another Super Saturday at Mohawk Park

by Mark McKelvie / Woodbine communications

A September to remember at Woodbine Mohawk Park continues this Saturday (Sept. 18) with the $606,500 Canadian Trotting Classic leading a $1.6 million card.

The stakes-filled program includes the $414,000 Elegantimage for 3-year-old trotting fillies, $176,815 Simcoe for 3-year-old pacers, $159,600 Ontario Sires Stakes Gold for 2-year-old trotting colts and geldings, $100,000 Mohawk Gold Cup Invitational and a pair of Shes A Great Lady eliminations for 2-year-old pacing fillies.

The Metro Pace did not require eliminations, as the 12 two-year-old pacers move directly to the $824,000 final on Sept. 25.

The Canadian Trotting Classic for 3-year-old trotters attracted 16 entrants. The highest 10 lifetime money earners qualified for this Saturday's rich final.

Woodbine's marquee race for sophomore trotters will feature a battle between various states and Ontario's finest, including New York's Ahundreddollarbill (PP1, Andrew McCarthy), Ontario's Fashion Frenzie (PP6, Louis Philippe Roy) and Ohio's Winning Ticket (PP10, David Miller).

The highest earner this season in the Canadian Trotting Classic field is Spy Booth (PP7, Dexter Dunn), who broke his maiden in style on Aug. 28 by winning the Zweig Memorial at Vernon. The Nancy Takter acquired over half of his $405,692 season's earnings with a surprising runner-up finish in the Hambletonian on Aug. 7 at The Meadowlands.

Fashion Frenzie enters with the hometown momentum after a dominating score in last Saturday's $240,000 Goodtimes. The Richard Moreau trainee is second to last year's Breeders Crown champion On A Streak ($913,600) for career earnings in the field, having banked $529,765.

Ohio Sires Stakes champion Winning Ticket is a perfect 10 for 10 this season. The Chris Beaver trainee will be making his

3-year-old Grand Circuit debut.

The $606,500 Canadian Trotting Classic is carded as Race 10 (10:45 p.m.)

The $414,000 Eleganimage for 3-year-old trotting fillies follows the same format as the Canadian Trotting Classic. A total of 14 fillies were entered for the rich event before being scaled down to the top 10 lifetime earners.

Bella Bellini (PP7, Dunn), HP Mama B (PP9, Sylvain Fillion) and Katies Lucky Day (PP10, Scott Zeron) were all supplemented to the Eleganimage.

Richard 'Nifty' Norman trainee Bella Bellini has made a complete 180-degree turn this season, earning over $500,000 in 13 starts after earning just over $4,000 in seven starts last year. The Hambletonian Oaks champion has won eight of 13 starts, including most recently the Pennsylvania Sires Stakes championship.

Ben Baillargeon trainee HP Mama B has three OSS Gold wins and a Grand Circuit victory as part of her six for nine 2021 campaign, while Katies Lucky Day has won eight of 16 this season and will make her first trip outside of Ohio for trainer Todd Luther.

Trainer Luc Blais, who is represented by On A Streak and Macho Martinin in the Canadian Trotting Classic, will also send out Dicentra (PP2, Scott Young) and Donna Soprano (PP5, Bob McClure) in the Eleganimage.

The $414,000 Eleganimage is carded as Race 5 (8:40 p.m.).

Following last Saturday's Pepsi North America Cup, three-year-old pacers continue their Grand Circuit action with a field of nine competing in the $176,815 Simcoe Stakes. Abuckabett Hanover (PP7, A. McCarthy) and Bettor Sun (PP9, Doug McNair) are the only two in Saturday's field that competed in the Pepsi North America Cup final.

Alagna trainee Abuckabett Hanover finished sixth in the 'Cup', pacing a :53 back-half, while Bettor Sun for trainer Gregg McNair was seventh.

The Simcoe Stakes is carded as Race 9 (10:20 p.m.).

After being put on hold in 2020, the Mohawk Gold Cup Invitational returns with a field of 10 older squaring off for $100,000.

Canadian Pacing Derby champion Allywag Hanover (PP6, Todd McCarthy) leads the field for trainer Brett Pelling. Other notable heavyweights in the field include Century Farroh (PP3, Fillion), Warrawee Vital (PP7, Trevor Henry) and Sintra (PP9, Jody Jamieson).

The Mohawk Gold Cup is carded as Race 8 (9:55 p.m.).

This Saturday's card will also include the Shes A Great Lady eliminations for 2-year-old pacing fillies. A pair of eight-horse $35,000 splits will be contested to determine the field of 10 for the $500,500 final on September 25. Prohibition Legal for trainer Nick Gallucci and Niki Hill for trainer Chris Ryder are the expected favourites in their respective eliminations.

The Shes A Great Lady final will be part of Canada's richest night of racing on Sept. 25, led by the $1 million Mohawk Million and $824,000 Metro Pace.

The Metro Pace did not require eliminations after 12 2-year-old pacers were entered. All 12 entrants advance directly to the $824,000 final. All starters in the Metro Pace final will receive money, with sixth through 12th receiving one per cent of the $824,000 purse.

The field for the $824,000 Metro Pace is listed below in alphabetical order:

Winning Ticket (Aaron Merriman) winning the final of the James Hackett Memorial on April 13 at Miami Valley.

Beaver roots for Winning Ticket in Canadian Trotting Classic

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Chris Beaver hit the jackpot with Winning Ticket.

A $4,000 yearling purchase, the now 3-year-old male trotter is 10-for-10 this season with earnings of $339,500 as he prepares to compete on the Grand Circuit for the first time in 2021 when he visits Ontario's Woodbine Mohawk Park for Saturday's (Sept. 18) C$606,500 Canadian Trotting Classic.

It will be the gelding's first trip outside Ohio this season. In his most recent start, Winning Ticket captured the Ohio Sires Stakes championship in 1:54.2 at MGM Northfield Park.

Winning Ticket was unlucky with the draw, getting post position 10 in the 10-horse Canadian Trotting Classic field. Entering Thursday, trotters had won 6-of-134 starts (4.5 per cent) from the gate's outermost spot.

"I hoped for a little better set up the first time out on the Grand Circuit, but I guess we'll see what happens," said Beaver, who trains and co-owns Winning Ticket. "I think he will actually be a lot better following (horses), and I would think he will definitely be following from the 10 hole.

"I don't really know what he can do because he's handled the Ohio horses so easily this year. It's really a question mark how fast he can go right now, but I think he should be able to go with the horses in that race."

Winning Ticket led at the first quarter in eight races this year and at the half in all 10. He was a heavy favorite in his most recent nine starts after being the 6-5 second choice in his seasonal debut. His best win time of 1:53.1, which came in a division of the Ohio Sires Stakes, established a track record at Eldorado Scioto Downs.

"What's amazed me is some of the quick speed he's displayed in the first quarters," Beaver said. "He doesn't do it training.

Ontario

He's quiet training, he doesn't seem like anything exceptional. But when he gets to the races, he does extra. That's definitely a good trait. I think a horse that takes care of himself is always preferable."

Winning Ticket won four of eight races as a 2-year-old. He went off stride in all four of his losses.

"Last year he was a little bit aggressive," Beaver said, adding that the horse was gelded this past spring. "His manners are really good this year. I thought he would probably be a real nice horse, but I didn't expect him to dominate like he did. He trained down good, but not any better than some of my other horses."

Beaver raced Winning Ticket four times from April 6 to May 3, with the horse winning the James K. Hackett Memorial championship and Scarlet & Gray Invitational along the way. From there, Beaver backed off.

"I was just trying to keep him tight enough to win the sire stakes, keep him good for the final," Beaver said. "So, he hasn't been on his toes all season. Because of that, we don't know how much faster he can go. He's never really had a horse push him any more than (1:53.1) either. I don't think that he's done, but we'll see."

Beaver owns Winning Ticket with Steven Zeelandar, Tim Homan, and Jim Burnett. He bought the horse, a son of past Beaver standout Triumphant Caviar out of Lotto Winner, at the 2019 Blooded Horse Sale.

No video was available of Winning Ticket, which Beaver believes was the primary reason for his bargain sale price.

"I know Triumphant Caviars really well and he couldn't be bred any better, the mare crossed absolutely perfect, so I was going to buy him even if he cost a lot more," Beaver said. "As it turned out, no one else wanted him."

Aaron Merriman drove Winning Ticket in his 10 races this year. David Miller will take over in the sulky in the Canadian Trotting Classic.

The field also includes: Fashion Frenzie, who last week won the Goodtimes Stakes at Mohawk for trainer Richard Moreau and driver Louis Roy, and Dr. Harry M. Zweig Memorial champion Spy Booth. Fashion Frenzie will start from post six. Spy Booth will leave from post seven with Dexter Dunn driving for trainer Nancy Takter.

Saturday's card also includes the C$414,000 Elegantimage Stakes for 3-year-old female trotters, featuring Hambletonian Oaks winner Bella Bellini and O'Brien Award winner Donna Soprano.

Atlanta aims to rebound in Armbro Flight

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

After coming up sick in the Maple Leaf Trot in her most recent race, Atlanta will try to return to her winning ways in tonight's (Sept. 17) C$233,000 Armbro Flight Stakes for older female trotters at Ontario's Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Atlanta headed to the Maple Leaf Trot, also at Mohawk, off back-to-back victories, including a 1:50.1 triumph in the Sebastian K Invitational that made her the fastest female trotter in the history of The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono.

She finished fifth as the 2-1 second choice in the Maple Leaf, where she got as close to the lead as second place on the final turn before losing ground in the stretch. Atlanta had won the 2020 Maple Leaf Trot in a stakes-record-equaling 1:50.4.

"Things don't always go perfectly, even with the great ones," trainer Ron Burke said. "Believe me, no one was more surprised. But she seems better, trained back great. I think two weeks was enough to get her all the way.

"I don't think she loves shipping, it's not her favorite thing. I think she likes going somewhere and getting set up there. Now, she's been (in Canada) a couple weeks, so I'm hoping that helps her, too."

Burke said Yannick Gingras, Atlanta's regular driver, was not thrilled with the way the mare scored down prior to the Maple Leaf, but when he moved her in the race from fourth on the backstretch toward the lead, he felt more confident. Momentarily. "He said, 'Ronnie, when I scored her down, I thought oh-uh. Then when I pulled her, for three strides I thought I was wrong. Three strides later, I was like, no, I was right,'" Burke said.

Atlanta, who won the 2019 Armbro Flight in a Canadian-record 1:50.2, has four wins and a second in seven starts this season. For her career, she has won 29 of 58 starts and $2.91 million. A two-time Dan Patch Award winner and one-time O'Brien Award honoree, she is owned by Crawford Farms Racing, Brad Grant, and Howard Taylor.

In the Armbro Flight, Atlanta will start from post seven in an eight-horse field. She is 5-2 on the morning line. Manchego, the 9-5 favorite with Dexter Dunn driving for trainer Nancy Takter, will leave from post eight.

Manchego is ranked No. 2 in the sport's weekly Top 10 poll. Atlanta is ranked sixth.

The remainder of the Armbro Flight field, in post order from the inside, is: Teddys Littleangel (15-1), returning champion Hey Livvy (8-1), Royalty Deal (15-1), When Dovescry (7-2), Hypnotic AM (6-1), and Sorella (10-1).

"We're going to all race, so we're going to have to go forward," Burke said. "Everybody is going to have to go forward and then figure it out from there."

Burke has won the Armbro Flight five times, three times with Hannelore Hanover and once each with Atlanta and Buck I St Pat.

Tonight's card at Mohawk also includes two eliminations for the Milton Stakes for older female pacers. Lyons Sentinel is the 4-5 favorite in the first and Rocknificent is the 8-5 choice in the second.

A magnificent equine, an unequaled promotional symbol – Part 3

by Frank Cotolo

Part 1 is here | Part 2 is here

Alternative Action (AA) comes to the final part of our series that supports a promotional campaign for harness racing centered on the true star of the sport – the standardbred.

Parts 1 and 2 made the case for this fresh imaging that could give veterans of the sport an awakening to its essential element as well as present it to novices with an exciting and modern focus that competes with any virtual exercise in gaming.

As promised, the finale to the campaign's alternative actions offers detailed suggestions for audio-visual elements in promo spots, expressing the strength and consistency of the standardbred foremost. Let us start with those equine qualities and explain how to hammer them into the consciousness of viewers.

In strong promotional material it is important to create a verbal repertoire; words and phrases which enforce images. "Strength" and "consistency" are two we will continually use in script copy.

There are many powerful action words that work describing the standardbred. But do not use any synonyms on a list; use those that are true to the horse's nature. The voice-over scripts are simple, always accentuating the repertoire words:

Strength = Force; Power; Electric

NARRATOR: Standardbreds use force when racing. They move with electric power. (PAUSE) Harness Racing.

Consistency = Tenacity; Reliable; Pursuant

NARRATOR: Standardbreds have tenacity in their blood. They are reliable, always pursuant of success. (PAUSE) Harness Racing.

In a video promo the actions have to demonstrate the words. There exists stunning footage of standardbreds in action. A director has an abundance of races to watch in video archives to match actions that define words, which then become harmony to the viewers' eyes and ears.

Such promos are soundbites that are, tops, 20 seconds long. First there is a visual, shot in stark closeups of the animal. Then the narrator speaks the line. Then there are another few seconds of action, showing the full body of the horse in motion (trotter or pacer, do not distinguish). Then the narrator says: "Harness racing." Fade to black.

Sets of such promos can be produced, each running the same brief time but using different angles, different short narration lines and archived races to elevate the standardbred image from "big horse that drags old men around in carts" into monster status – monster as in big and mighty and commandingly in control. It is all right and purposeful to make the standardbred look intimidating, if only to get the attention of Gen ZNS.

The short promos, in fact, are perfect for the current social-media platform Tik Tok, which recently passed YouTube in subscriber numbers. Opening an account that continually plays the promos, rotating a dozen or so, is free since it is not an advertisement. Do not ignore YouTube. An account is free there, too and you can label each promo for selection, preferably with the key words chosen for the narrator.

Another batch of promos should be produced to support the dazzling claims made in the first set. These promos should visually prove the standardbred is the tough, rugged beast we are presenting. Two racing situations win our case. The video-promo producer has to patiently audition events from the racing archives again, but this time searching for examples of "stamina" and "resilience."

Stamina promos show a horse winning late in the stretch two consecutive times (or a split screen for the two races). Maybe there is a freeze frame as they win, then:

NARRATOR: Two races in one day; two wins in one day. That is standardbred stamina. (PAUSE) Harness racing.

Resilience promos display the standardbred's amazing build as he or she rebounds from the kind of danger that can cause other racehorses to be put down. The producer must search for the spectacular collisions that can develop during a harness race. In this set of promos the narrator's choice of words are essential. Each promo shows a race accident or mishap and how the horse is not injured.

The famous Niatross spill could be in one resilient promo. Niatross and his driver freakishly fall over the inside rail. The second shot is Niatross and his driver safe and sound and back on the right side of the rail. After the shot of horse and driver safe from the accident:

NARRATOR: (PAUSE) Standardbred resilience. Able to race another day. Perhaps the same day. (PAUSE) Harness racing.

The thoughts about standardbreds will linger in the minds of all the promo viewers and with the breed's unfair image changing the stigmas will disappear and curiosity will lure the cats, the cool cats, the ones who used to be convinced the Sport of Kings owns the racetracks of the world.

HHYF commemorates 125th anniversary of Dan Patch's birth

The Harness Horse Youth Foundation (HHYF), in cooperation with the Indiana chapter of the United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA), recently participated in the 2021 Dan Patch Festival Parade to help commemorate the horse's 125th birthday in Oxford, IN.

Participants included Sonora and Jeff Dever, Bryce Nickells, Abigail, Lydia and James Platz, Chloe and Sandy Tetrick, Bob Heyden, Ellen Taylor, and Hoosier Buddy on loan from Harrah's Hoosier Park.

Pennants were designed highlighting the greatness of Dan Patch's racing feats and distributed to an eager crowd of parade watchers, both young and old.

Following the parade, the crew set up interactive activities in the kids area of the Festival. The "authentic" horseshoes proved to be the most popular handout among those in line to attend the upcoming rodeo.

Dave Palone passes $150 million in career purses

Dave Palone, harness racing's all-time "winningest" driver with 19,683 victories, added another honor to his Hall of Fame career Wednesday at The Meadows. When he piloted Lous Sassin to victory in a Keystone Classic, Palone passed $150 million in career purses. The win lifted his earnings total to $150,003,463.

Palone's success might not have been predicted as he had no harness racing in his background when his father Butch, a car dealer, introduced him to the sport as a fan at The Meadows.

"My dad barely knew the difference between a trotter and a pacer, but he loved the game, and he passed that along to me," Palone said. "When he took me to my first Adios, I was hooked. I was always competitive in sports, and I knew right away this was what I wanted to do.

"I wouldn't have dreamed my horses would earn $150 million. It would take me a long time to make that working at a convenience store, which is about all I'm qualified for except this. So I'm very appreciative."

After learning the trade from trainer Herman Hylkema and others, Palone began driving in 1982 when he earned a less-than-robust $1,955 in 14 starts. But as he gained confidence and attracted more competitive horses, the purses began flowing. Between 2008 and 2011 alone, Palone's mounts earned more than $41 million.

He's been the leading driver at The Meadows for 33 straight years — he's almost certain to wrap up No. 34 — but he's dramatically reduced his presence on the Grand Circuit.

"It was great getting those opportunities, and I cherished being in those big races and getting to drive the top horses," he said. "But I never, ever liked the traveling. These days, the fellas jump on a plane and travel together. I was always the only guy from The Meadows who had to find my way. It was hard for me to get to places. That makes for a long night if you don't do any good. Thankfully, we had a good run, and I'll never forget those times."

Palone said his most memorable wins came in the Little Brown Jug (P Forty Seven, 2005), the Adios (Washington VC, 1999), and the Breeders Crown (In Focus, 2008; Uncle Peter, 2011; Sweet Lou, 2011). But he also cites a lesser-known triumph with Dontellmenomore in the 1991 Beacon Course Trot (now the Stanley Dancer Trot), a Hambletonian prep at the Meadowlands.

"That was important," he said, "because it was a $400,000 race, the horse wasn't eligible for the Hambletonian, and I hadn't had much exposure racing against the Campbells and O'Donnells of our sport."

Although he's been driving a little less each year, Palone says he has no immediate plans to retire.

"My biggest fear is not being able to fill a day because I can't sit still. You can only play so much bad golf, you can only drive your wife nuts so much. I still love driving horses. I don't love the nasty weather or chasing at 30-1, but I still love being in the hunt. How many 59-year-olds get to compete with their sport's best?"

That $150 million in purses has meant $7.5 million in commissions for Palone, and he allows that has changed him in a way. For most of his career, the first thing he did each morning was check his "doubles," races where he'd been named to drive more than one horse and needed to make choices. That's no longer the case.

"The first thing I check now," he jokes, "is the stock market."

Dover In Motion keeps unbeaten streak alive at Harrah's Hoosier Park

Dover In Motion turned in another dominant performance at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino on Wednesday (Sept. 15) as the 2-year-old trotting colt sensation continued his winning ways in the co-featured event of the evening, a $66,000 split of the Indiana Sires Stakes. Divisional heavyweights Dover In Motion and Ponda Adventure lined up behind the gate together for the first time season — both with an undefeated streak on the line. With regular pilot Ricky Macomber Jr. in the bike, Dover In Motion grabbed the lead down the backside and was able to hold off the pocket-sitting Ponda Adventure and Trace Tetrack to get the win by three lengths in 1:54.2.

Leaving from post three in the field of eight, Dover In Motion settled along the rail in fourth while Ponda Adventure and Tetrack stepped out with the wings of the gate to grab the early lead. Macomber Jr. gave Dover In Motion the green light down the backside and he quickly ranged up to take command at the half in :57.3.

Reaching the three-quarters in 1:27, Dover In Motion was on top with an ever-increasing lead. Utilizing a :27.2 closing kick, Dover In Motion finished under a hand drive from Macomber Jr. and was two and three-quarters lengths to the good. Ponda Adventure was second while Racer Dan and James Yoder rounded out the trifecta. Sent off as the heavy betting favorite, Dover In Motion returned $3.20 to his backers at the betting windows.

"He's just perfect at everything he does," trainer Jamie Macomber noted after the victory. "From the beginning, he's been very easy and just good at everything he does. He's going to stay in sire stakes here for the rest of this year and we'll go from there."

The gelded son of Dover Dan—Keystone Sadie is now a perfect six for six this season. Owned by M&M Racing and Norbert Joseph Maza, Dover In Motion has now amassed $144,000 in lifetime purse earnings with the win. Dover In Motion was bred in Indiana by Lyle Dean Slabach.

Yo Mister and driver, trainer James Yoder were victorious in the opening division of the stakes action for two-year-old trotting colts and geldings. Stopping the timer in 1:55.2, Yo Mister turned a pocket trip into his third victory of the season. The 1:55.2 clocking was a new lifetime best for the son of Dover Dan—My Lady Lindy. Yo Mister is owned by Verlin Yoder and was bred by Noah Wickey and Amos Schwartz.

Two divisions for the 2-year-old trotting fillies were also featured on the evening's 14-race card. Jusmakinyalook and Jordan Ross staged a big rally late in the lane to pull the 11-1 upset in the opening division. Stopping the timer in 1:55.2, the Robert Taylor trainee scored her second lifetime victory and established a new lifetime best. The daughter of Pinetucky—Beldame Hanover tracked down her stablemate Luv Lorelei and Robert Taylor to get the win. Jusmakinyalook is owned by Devon Miller.

The second division was captured by M M's Dream and driver Sam Widger for trainer Henry Graber Jr. M-M's Dream employed a :27.3 final quarter to get the win by four lengths in a new lifetime best of 1:55.4. The daughter of Swan For All—Trading Places is owned in partnership by Eleven Star Stables, Frank Baldachino and Hillside Stables and has now won four of six lifetime starts.

Marsala Hanover returns to form, wins Keystone Classic at The Meadows

Recovered from a recent injury, Marsala Hanover regained her top form and scored a decisive victory in Thursday's (Sept. 16) $58,150 Keystone Classic for 3-year-old filly pacers at The Meadows.

Winning driver Scott Zeron noted that Marsala Hanover's physical issue was ill-timed, slowing her for the $253,000 Pennsylvania Sires Stake championship, where she finished eighth.

"She brushed a knee, and it swelled up a little bit," Zeron said. "It was enough that she had to back off on training. Now, she's back to her fitness level. She's come right back around. That was her normal self today, and it was good to see."

In the Keystone Classic, the daughter of Captaintreacherous—Marinade Hanover made it look easy, quarter-poling to the top and drawing off to triumph in 1:51.2, 2-1/2 lengths better than Lady Newton. Darby Hanover completed the ticket.

Linda Toscano trains Marsala Hanover, who now has banked $367,379 for owners Let It Ride Stable, Bottom Line Racing, South Mountain Stables and Little E LLC.

$69,550 Keystone Classic — 3-Year-Old Colt & Gelding Trot

Thursday's co-feature showcased a pair of trotters, Redwhite N Goo and Plumville Prince, winning their first stakes this season. For Redwhite N Goo, it was the initial stakes win of his career.

Zeron, who piloted Plumville Prince, indicated the son of Father Patrick—Lady Athens was meant to be a top colt until an injury sidelined him after five starts last year.

"He was a really talented horse — won an elimination of the Peter Houghton in 1:54 with his earplugs in," Zeron said. "I thought he would have a spectacular year. Then he broke a coffin bone. It was unlucky, but the talent was always there.

"My dad (trainer Rick Zeron) did a good job of giving him the right amount of time. I was happy that he delivered in only his third start back.

Plumville Prince trotted patiently along the cones in third, but when Zeron showed him racetrack late, he rolled past the leader, Whiskey Blu, to defeat him by 1/2 length in 1:54.1. Capstone was a ground-saving third.

Thomas Brice and Charles Receski campaign Plumville Prince. Redwhite N Goo had shown both flashes of brilliance and unruliness this year, winning some races for fun, making unforced breaks in others.

"He's done some impressive things, and (regular driver) Mike (Wilder) has a lot of confidence in him, so I thought I'd give him a crack," said Scott Betts who trains the Googoo Gaagaa—Redwhitenbluestone gelding for Tim Betts. "He likes to be turned out, likes to train the wrong way on the track. He kind of does his own thing. He's still learning."

In the Keystone Classic, he rated beautifully in the pocket for Wilder, then fired through the Lightning Lane to prevail in a career-best 1:55.1. Robbie Pev rallied for second, 1-3/4 lengths back, with Make Sure Its Cold third.

Live racing at The Meadows continues today (Sept. 17) when the program features a $79,313.23 carryover in the final-race Super Hi-5 with a mandatory payout. The Super Hi-5 jackpot usually is paid only if there is a unique correct ticket. However, with the mandatory payout, all holders of correct tickets will share the jackpot, which is expected to reach $250,000 or more.

On the racing front, the card offers a pair of Keystone Classics for 3-year-olds — an $83,700 stake for colt and gelding pacers and a $58,150 event for filly trotters.

The Sept. 17 card kicks off a series of 11 Friday programs with the special post time of 4 p.m.

McNair sweeps sophomore pacing colt Grassroots leg

Driver Doug McNair had the keys to the Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) Grassroots winner's circle at Woodbine Mohawk Park on Tuesday (Sept. 14), guiding 3-year-old pacing geldings Mustang Beach and Stonebridge Rex to victory.

"It's nice any time you win two races, especially with these types of horses," said McNair, the 2014 winner of the Lampman Cup as the leading driver in the OSS program, who is currently sitting fifth in the 2021 point race.

He made his first appearance in front of the track photographer with Mustang Beach, who got away third from Post 1 and watched division point leader No Plan Intended power out to a :26.1 quarter and favourite Cantstoplying take over through a :54.3 half and 1:22.2 three-quarters. In the stretch, as Cantstoplying started to drift right, McNair urged Mustang Beach up the pylons and the gelding sprinted under the wire a one-half length winner in a personal best 1:50.4. No Plan Intended finished second and Proline closed well for third, leaving Cantstoplying to settle for fourth. (replay here: Mustang Beach)

"He's one of those horses that I've just been getting really lucky trips with, and he's been firing hard in the stretch," said McNair, who also piloted the gelding to a late-rushing victory in overnight action at Woodbine Mohawk Park on Aug. 27. "He raced good."

In his other Grassroots appearances, Mustang Beach finished sixth, ninth and fourth, so he needed Tuesday's victory to extend his season through the Oct. 1 Grassroots Semi-Finals. With 61 points the Sunshine Beach gelding will finish 11th in the standings.

"Oh my god, I am so happy for the owner, he's just a fantastic guy," said trainer Duane Marfisi of Sault Ste. Marie, ON resident Frank Provenzano, whose horses compete under the Busi Racing banner. "He bought into the horse on the discretion that I would continue training him and I said, 'I don't think he's got those 1:51 miles in him.' And every time the horse bumps up his record he says to me, 'I told you he could go that fast.'"

The win was Mustang Beach's third in 10 sophomore starts and boosted his season earnings to $33,688.

"He's just an overachiever," said Marfisi. "He really is a tiny little horse, but he tries every time he goes out there. He loves to come off a helmet."

Starting from Post 4 in the second $21,800 division, McNair opted to control the pace with Stonebridge Rex, sending the fan favourite to the front soon after the :26.2 quarter. Unchallenged through a :55.2 half and 1:23.2 three-quarters, Stonebridge Rex had to shift into battle mode in the stretch to hold off pocket-sitter Century Hannibal, prevailing by a head in 1:50.4. Twin B Fighter was three and three-quarter lengths behind the dueling leaders in third. (replay here: Stonebridge Rex)

"(Jim) Ritchie's horse (Century Hannibal) made a great race out of it," said McNair. "Stonebridge Rex has just come right around since starting Lasix (Aug. 14). I used him up hard the last three starts and he's been racing really well."

The win was the Control The Moment son's second in Grassroots action, with the first coming Aug. 20 at Woodbine Mohawk Park. On Aug. 28 the gelding finished fourth in his Champlain Stakes division at the Campbellville oval after doing all the work up front.

McNair's father, Gregg McNair of Guelph, ON, trains Stonebridge Rex and shares ownership of the gelding with breeder Angie Stiller of Arva and Gary Colter of Mississauga, ON. With two wins, one second and one third Stonebridge Rex wraps up the regular season ranked third in the standings with 137 points.

The top 20 point earners will return to Woodbine Mohawk Park on Oct. 1 for a pair of Semi-Finals and the top five finishers from each Semi-Final will earn a berth in the Grassroots Championship on Oct. 9.

Complete results from Tuesday's races are available here and replays can be viewed on Woodbine Mohawk Park's YouTube channel.

Improving Lou's Sassin lunges late to win $63,750 Keystone Classic

When Lou's Sassin surged late to capture a $63,750 Keystone Classic for freshman colt and gelding pacers Wednesday (Sept. 15) at The Meadows, it was more than another step forward in the ongoing improvement of the Sweet Lou—Sassa Hanover gelding.

First, it topped a 1-2-3 sweep in the event for trainer Ron Burke.

Perhaps more importantly, it lifted winning driver Dave Palone above $150 million in career purses.

"It's cool for a lot of reasons," Palone said. "The horse is by my favorite horse on the planet. He's owned by the Burkes and Weaver-Bruscemi, my biggest supporters throughout my career. And my future son-in-law Sage was in the paddock taking care of him. So it was an awesome, awesome win."

Lou's Sassin won his last start in 1:51.2, but in the Keystone Classic, he trailed stablemate Birthday by 2 lengths in the stretch. Palone was confident he could get by.

"Ronnie's spot on about most of his horses, and he said this guy warmed up great and is starting to figure it out," he said. "At the sixteenth pole, my horse still had gas."

Lou's Sassin downed Birthday by a head, with Good Deal third. Panhellenic Stable also participates on the winner's ownership team.

$68,100 Keystone Classic – 2-Year-Old Filly Trot

Dreamonhigh is the fastest 2-year-old trotter ever at The Meadows and the Pennsylvania champion to boot, but she has been unruly at times behind the gate. That made driver Ronnie Wrenn's mission in the Keystone Classic clear.

"I kind of let her do what she wanted to do," Wrenn said. "I sat in the two path through the first turn and let her get comfortable. She's plenty fast, and she definitely laid over the field. She got really comfortable, and I wasn't worried at all about her running."

Dreamonhigh got away third but was out before the quarter to grab the lead. The daughter of Andover Hall—RC's Dream cruised to the expected victory by 7-1/2 lengths in 1:55.4, with Miss Principle and Woman of Power completing the ticket. Jennifer Bongiorno conditions Dreamonhigh for KAT Stables.

In the stake's other division, the chart will tell you that Phannys Matter scored a front-end victory in a career-best 1:58, but it won't reveal that winning driver Aaron Merriman reluctantly held the point only because 2-5 favorite Gumdrop Hanover broke while trying for the lead.

"Heavens no, I didn't want the lead," Merriman said. "I was hoping Mike (Wilder, with Gumdrop Hanover) would keep going. But my horse is well traveled, been to the fairs, so I knew she would be okay."

Gumdrop Hanover recovered and threatened Phannys Matter late, but the daughter of Explosive Matter—Phanny's Photo held firm to defeat her by a length for trainer Linda Schadel, who owns the homebred with Tony Schadel. Gingerzzz earned show.

Wilder and Palone each piloted three winners on the 13-race card.

September Saturdays are super at The Meadows

The Meadows has already played host to a pair of special events on Saturday nights in September – the Wiener Dog Derby and BeerFest – and this Saturday, The Big M continues its array of powerhouse promotions – accompanied by a great 14-race card of exciting harness racing – for fans to come and enjoy on a late summer/early fall night where weather forecasts are calling for a great night to be outside.

This week, patrons should bring an appetite for horse and sports betting, as well as an even bigger appetite for great food.

The sixth annual "Battle for the Best Burger" is a popular yearly event that takes place this Saturday (Sept. 18).

If you think you make the best burger anywhere, you can try to impress the judges for a chance to win $1,500. A total of $3,000 in prize money will be up for grabs.

The event takes place from 5-11 p.m. in the Backyard. Fans are welcome and are encouraged to come out, purchase and taste some of the best burgers anywhere. Admission is free. Fans can enter to win a spot at the judging table (one entry per person). Two fans will be selected to be judges. Entry forms will be available at the Players Club Desk.

For more information, go to playmeadowlands.com.

There will be many vendors on hand serving up some great eats, so don't miss the "Battle for the Best Burger".

CLASS IS IN SESSION: The Kindergarten Series for 2-year-olds of each sex and gait rolls on tonight (Sept. 17) night with nine divisions of Leg Three. The Kindergarten will have two more legs before the finals and consolations will be contested on Nov. 13 for purses that total an estimated $700,000.

Thus far on the trot, By The Book (45 points) and Stride The Hill (40) sit atop the point standings in the colt division while Just Bee Awesome (50) and Primadonna Deo (40) lead the fillies.

On the pacing side, Early Action's 37 points lead the colts, followed by Caviart Camden and Jo Pa's Warrior, who each have 35. Niki Hill tops the fillies with 70 points, followed by Don't Fence Me In and Gotthegreenlight, who have 35 apiece.

Last Friday (Sept. 10), the Chris Ryder-trained Niki Hill impressed all who saw her 3¼-length romp in 1:51.1 to stay perfect in three lifetime starts. The daughter of Always B Miki is taking this week off.

CARRY ON, CARRYOVER AGAIN: For a second consecutive week, there will be a Pick-6 carryover heading into tonight's card. The bet with the scant 20-cent base and low 15 percent takeout will start out with $3,576 in the pool and past performances for not only the Pick-6, but all races for all Meadows cards, are available by going to playmeadowlands.com.

Last week, the total pool was just under $40,000 and those who correctly selected all six winners walked away with a handsome $5,889.

CHECK OUT THE SHOW: On live race nights, tune in to Big M TV's "Racing from the Meadowlands" pre-game presentation at 5:47 p.m., which is generally available everywhere Meadowlands races can be seen.

The show provides notes, news, features, staff selections and a look at that evening's marquee races.

Live racing, as usual, will be conducted tonight and Saturday. Post time is 6:20 p.m. After next weekend, the track will go dark for the three weekends that follow.

TRICK OR TWEET: Everything Meadowlands is available by going on Twitter. You can check in with the Big M team for early changes, racing information and staff selections by going to @themeadowlands or #playbigm.

On race nights, stay in touch with Jessica Otten (@JessicaOtten1), Dave Brower (@eedoogie), Dave Little (@DaveLittleBigM), Ken Warkentin (@kenvoiceover) and Edison Hatter (@Edison_1999_).

WHO DOES BROWER LIKE? For expert selections and analysis of every Big M card, check out track oddsmaker Dave Brower's race reviews.

For Brower's input, which is generally available 48 before every card, go to playmeadowlands.com, then click on the "handicapping" tab and go to "race reviews".

HOW TO GET IN THE GAME: The best way to experience the rush of racing on the track and at the windows is to go to The Meadowlands, but for those who can't make the trip, they can still tune in and get their action.

One of the best ways to watch what's happening at The Big M – as well as all other races at venues around the country and the world – is to get a subscription to Roberts Television Network. All you need to do is go to rtn.tv for an affordable way to bring the action to your desktop, laptop, TV, smartphone or other device.

A good way to get your bets in is to use the Television Games Network (tvgn.com) or your favorite Advance Deposit Wagering (ADW) site.

Elizabeth Cheesman for Ontario Select Yearling Sale

A rising 'SEA' raises all boats in Ohio

With the phenomenal year that first crop pacing sire Downbytheseaside enjoyed on the racetrack, it's no surprise that the yearlings in his second crop are garnering a great deal of attention for today's (Sept. 17) Ohio Selected Jug Sale.

"We are super-excited for the sale as we have 20 per cent of all the 'Seasides' in the entire auction in our consignment," said Adam Bowden of Diamond Creek Farm, who also manages the stallion.

"While we are thrilled to offer some of our particularly nice individuals, we are over the moon about how well his first crop has performed this season."

Bowden also noted that the stallion himself is recovering nicely from his colic surgery while Down Under and is expected to return to the breeding shed this season at Woodland Stud in the Southern Hemisphere.

Enthusiasm for the Downbytheseaside offspring is certainly contagious as most of the consignors at the Ohio Select sale have some of their own to offer. Randy Haines, who is the manager of Cool Winds Farm, as well as the president of the Ohio Harness Horse Breeders is very optimistic about the climate for the sale.

"The Seasides will certainly drive the market," said Haines. "We expect a huge crowd for the sale and all the right players are here and actively looking. All the other sales have been up, and we have 44 by arguably the hottest pacing sire of the season."

Of course, with 280 yearlings in the sale, other sires are also well represented. Steiner Stock Farm bred World Champion Sea Silk p,2,1:51.2h-'21 ($340,000), the 2-year-old Ohio Sire Stakes champion pacing filly, as well as last year's Little Brown Jug winner Captain Barbossa p,4,1:47.1-'21 ($561,120). Farm manager Al Manke said, "The money is great in Ohio and all our horses have been attracting a lot of attention. We have a Fear The Dragon sister to Sea Silk that looks the part.”

The Mossbarger family has been breeding horses in Ohio for generations, and Dr. John Mossbarger still gets butterflies. “Well it’s September in Ohio – the Little Brown Jug and Yearling Sales. We’ve been doing this for 50 years, and I am still just as nervous as the first year.”

“We are very proud of our consignment, which includes a nice group from Hanover Shoe Farms. We have gotten good reviews on the Long Toms and Fear The Dragon had a good year. We look forward to having a good sale for all of our consignors,” added Mossbarger.

Robert Hershberger, who stands Enterprise at his Dublin Valley Farms noticed all the additional attention that his first crop sire attracted to his facility.

“We have never had so many people at our farm that have expressed so much excitement for a particular horse. For us, this attraction has been great. We are young and getting started, it’s very exciting. We never had this feeling coming into the sale.”

Mitch Nault of LMN Bred Stables said, “We are very excited for the first crop of Enterprise. We hope that Enterprise turns into another Walner, as they are both sons of Chapter Seven. Our consignment also has several nice individuals by the right sires: Downbytheseaside and What The Hill.”

Kevin Greenfield of Hickory Lane Farms is also keen on his What The Hill yearlings. “We are very excited for our group by What The Hill. He is sitting third behind Walner and Chapter Seven [2YO earnings], and right now ahead of Muscle Hill. He’s got the most 2-year-old winners in the state, and the most money. We are looking forward to a great sale tomorrow, and I think you will see more participation from outside the state with the Downbytheseasides and the What The Hills.”

Spring Haven Farm historically brings one of the largest consignments to the Ohio Sale, and frequently sells the sales toppers. When asked about her group this year, Senena Esty was quick to mention her Lost For Words brother to Heart Of Chewbacca p,3,1:48.4f’21 ($344,523).

“We have a lot to choose from. We have a lot of Downbytheseasides. We have a lot of Fear the Dragons... don’t forget the Fear The Dragons. On the trotting side the Enterprises are stand-outs. And What The Hills and the Uncle Peters... don’t forget the Uncle Peters!” Esty said emphatically.

“We have a couple of outstanding Uncle Peter colts, specifically.”

Mark Adams of Winterwood Farm concluded, “We can’t wait to see how these horses sell. There is an energy in the air and the buyers will be out in force.”

Clearly, all eyes will be on the Ohio Selected Jug Sale today (Sept. 17) at the Pickaway Ag Center.

Tickets available for Stable of Memories fundraiser

The annual Stable of Memories “Round Barn” fundraiser will be held Monday night, Oct. 4, from 5-8 p.m., at the historic Lexington icon adjacent to the Red Mile.

Tickets to the event are $40 and include cocktails and hors d’oeuvres. They may be purchased at Fennell’s Horse Supplies at 859-254-2814 or online at <https://stableofmemories.square.site/>

This year’s fundraiser, “Bids & Bites,” will include a one-of-a-kind framed stained glass art piece of the Stable of Memories. It was created by Dr. Robert Murphy of Aiken, SC, who used more than 200 individual pieces of glass in his design.

The silent auction will offer various items including equine artwork featuring both standardbred and thoroughbred horses: Framed Currier & Ives prints of Johnston, Allerton, Flora Temple, Trotting For A Great Stake, A Brush On A Country Lane • large framed trotter, vintage 1899 • framed pacer, very unique with sulky & driver made out of clock parts • Blessing of the Hounds print • framed “two-step pyrography on maple” • framed Richard Stone Reeves numbered print of Seattle Slew • framed Harry Bassett under saddle in 1871 • framed Thoroughbred stallion Edwin Forrest • Fred Stone poster of John Henry • framed oil painting of Bret Hanover & Frank Ervin • framed watercolor print of Niatross

In addition to its fundraiser, the Stable of Memories will be open to the public on days the Red Mile hosts Grand Circuit racing – Oct. 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, with the barn generally open from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Informed tours will be offered one hour before post time on Saturdays and Sundays, Oct. 2-3 and 9-10. Among the collections available for viewing are artwork, horseshoes of champions, and assorted memorabilia.

The Stable of Memories Inc. is a 501c3 non-profit corporation. All funds raised and donated are used to maintain the historic building and its collections and are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. Donations may be mailed to Stable of Memories Inc., P.O. Box 11073, Lexington, KY 40512-1073.
