MOHAWK MILLION up next for Luther's million-dollar experiment

The Ohio owner will send his star Indiana-sired 2-year-old trotting filly Yo Beth D to Toronto to contest next Saturday's $1 million event.

by James Platz

Ohio

As Greg Luther embarked on his "million-dollar experiment" in the fall of 2020, the Ohioan did so with the singular goal of winning the Little Brown Jug. While building a sizable stable of horses trained by his brother, Todd, he has made it a point to acquire quality stakes horses to compete on harness racing's biggest stages. Next week, "Team Luther" will take a shot at the Mohawk Million, the biggest purse race for young trotters, with Indiana-sired filly Yo Beth D.

"She's got a spot for the Mohawk Million," Luther said after her latest win Tuesday (Sept. 13) at Harrah's Hoosier Park. "I'm excited about it. I know the team is excited too. It's a very unique opportunity, for sure."

Two months ago the Mohawk Million wasn't on the radar for the Blacklick, OH resident. He didn't have a horse capable of competing at that level, but an unexpected opportunity arose. Verlin Yoder, who owned and developed Yo Beth D, purchased a thoroughbred farm in Kentucky. The trainer began to liquidate several of his equine assets to generate cash for renovations. Luther was interested in the Helpisonthefreshman, a winner in three of four starts for Yoder, including a pair of Indiana Sires Stakes legs.

"I get a lot of guys that call me when they're selling big horses. Verlin, who is in my opinion one of the best trotting trainers around, bought a new farm and he's trying to rehab that farm. He needed to just cash out. I was able to acquire her so that he can use his cash elsewhere. She's basically building a farm out for them," Luther said. "He's definitely helped with giving us tips on what he knows about her. He's still shoeing her for us. He shoes his own horses. As good as she is, I don't want to change anything. I figured let's keep the same blacksmith. He's been kind enough to shoe her for us."

In her first start for Luther's Black Magic Racing, LLC, Yo Beth D romped by 11 lengths for driver Trevor Smith, kicking home with a 27-second last quarter and tripping the timer in 1:54.3. After the Aug. 17 sires stakes triumph, the owner began receiving calls inquiring about his interest in the Million.

"I had never really thought about it myself, but I had a couple of guys call me saying they had a spot and asking if I had considered. I had not really looked at her schedule, but sure enough, that's a week she's not racing," he said.

In a perfect world, the deal to secure a slot in the Mohawk Million would have been consummated shortly after Yo Beth D's second start for her new connections, a sires stakes event held Aug. 30 at Hoosier Park. Luck was not on Luther's side however, and the heavily-favored filly made an untimely break racing into the first turn. She would go on to finish seventh, and the negotiations were put on hold.

"We were going to sign for a spot, but she threw a shoe, which hit her in the hock and she made a break. Showing a break, that was a concern to some groups," said the owner.

$7 MILLION AND COUNTING

Yo Beth D's miscue is emblematic of the setbacks Luther and Black Magic Racing have endured in 2022. Last season, the stable counted 84 different horses that made a total of 863 starts, with 130 wins and purses of $2.58 million. Two of the key victories came in the $325,000 Dan Patch Stakes with Catch The Fire, and Katie's Lucky Day scoring an upset win in the $351,000 Kentucky Filly Futurity as a $75,000 supplement.

"For me the Dan Patch was huge with Catch The Fire. I think that was probably our biggest high," Luther said. "Last year was very good for us. We just compare everything to the state of Ohio, because that's where we're at. We won more Grand Circuit races than all the other (Ohio) trainers combined last year, so that was something to be proud of in our first big year doing it. We've had some bad luck this year with some injuries on several of the Grand Circuit horses, but they are all coming back now, and I think we'll make a little recovery."

This season, the stable is represented by 116 horses making 829 starts, producing 108 wins and just shy of $2 million in earnings. Since the beginning of his "experiment," Luther has

“Last year was very good for us. We just compare everything to the state of Ohio, because that’s where we’re at. We won more Grand Circuit races than all the other (Ohio) trainers combined last year, so that was something to be proud of in our first big year doing it.”

invested over $7 million to date. Because of the money he has poured into the sport, Black Magic Racing, LLC will be replaced by Greg Luther Racing, LLC on Oct. 1.

“Black Magic Racing disappears in two weeks. We’ll be a new LLC. The tax man said I’ve lost plenty of money, it’s now a hobby. I need to start over with a new business so that I can still get my tax write-offs,” said the real estate coach. “And maybe that gets rid of the black cat. Everybody said maybe it’s the name. We’ll go with a fresh new name October 1 for the last quarter and see if Greg Luther Racing does well.”

The on-track setbacks and off-track paperwork changes have not dissuaded Luther from continuing his quest to win one of the sport’s most revered races. He still intends to spend on yearlings this fall, although he will recalibrate on what he buys.

“We’ve learned a lot. You know, you win some, you learn some. For all divisions, we’re sticking with Ohio as much as we can, but my ultimate goal is to win the Jug,” he said. “When I go to Lexington or Harrisburg, I’ll probably get pacing colts in search of that dream, but everything else will likely be Ohio, maybe Pennsylvania or Indiana. We’re going to stay in the Midwest. We’re not going to dial back on the number, it’s just going to be more centralized on location.”

A FAMILY AFFAIR

All interested parties hoped to see Yo Beth D rebound from her uncharacteristic break last Tuesday, and the freshman responded with a solid effort. Starting from the rail for Smith, the filly received every call and held on to capture the $67,500 Indiana Sires Stakes division by a nose in 1:55.1.

“She trained like a monster. She actually trained faster than the Ohio Sire Stakes that we won last week. She trained a huge mile and she’s sharp right now. This is the perfect time as she’s peaking,” Luther said of the filly, now a winner of $133,250.

With the win secured, the owner turned his attention to picking a dance partner for the Million. Luther said his decision boiled down to making the race a “family affair” with his brother training and Smith in the sulky.

“It’s always been important to me to stay true to myself and my team. Some of these guys that are selling their spots for the Mohawk Million, they want Yo Beth D in the race, but they want one of the big drivers on there, or send her to a big trainer for the week. I’ve always wanted to stay true to my team and my roots. My brother trains the horse and Trevor Smith drives the horse, even in a million-dollar race,” he said. “Everybody called me crazy in the Kentucky Filly Futurity, and he (Smith) did well there. I always wanted people to give me a shot in life. When you’ve got somebody that’s aggressive and young, you want to try to provide a shot for them. I’m sure all the big guys will be available, but Trevor’s my man.”

Luther will utilize the slot purchased by Doug Overhiser and Sam Bowie. He said the cost was higher, but with fewer conditions.

“It cost me a little more money for the spot I took, but I’m able to use my driver, and that was really important to me to give him an opportunity,” Luther said. “I wouldn’t want to go to a race if I couldn’t use my team, if I had to play by someone else’s rules. Then it’s not fun for me. I did pay a little bit of a premium, but I can have Trevor drive and Todd train and we can go up there as a team and win on the big stage.”

Antonacci, Eriksson to Hall of Fame;

Roberts, Warkentin in Communicators' Hall

by United States Harness Writers Association

The United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA), in conjunction with the Harness Racing Hall Of Fame, is pleased to announce the election of owner/breeder/executive Frank Antonacci and trainer Per Eriksson to the greatest honor in the industry, membership in the Hall Of Fame.

USHWA has also elected veteran racing writer Bob Roberts and broadcaster Ken Warkentin to the pinnacle of their professions, membership in the Communicators Hall of Fame.

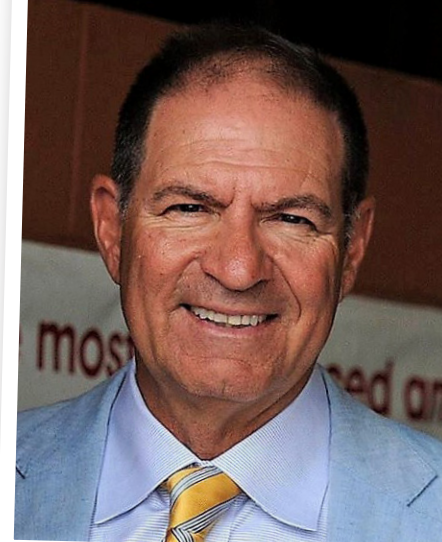

Antonacci, known as "Frank The Elder," is a second-generation member from one of harness racing's most famous and successful families. The family initially began operating Lindy Farms, a standardbred farm located first in New York and then in Connecticut, and as part of the Crown Stables, which include in its alumni such champion trotters as Lindy's Pride and Speedy Crown.

Frank and his brother Gerald (Jerry) have operated Lindy Farms of Connecticut since its establishment as both a racing and breeding operation. The Antonaccis have raced or bred nine millionaires – Moni Maker, Crazyed, Cantab Hall, Victory Dream, Lucky Chucky, Harmonious, Snow White, Mr. Feelgood, and Ready For Moni. They have won three Hambletonians, three Breeders Crowns, and the Prix d'Amerique among the innumerable races captured by their stars.

Stallions such as Lindy Lane, Walner, Harmonious, and Crazyed, along with many prized broodmares, have kept Lindy's credentials high off of the racetrack for years. Lindy was also instrumental in developing the frozen-semen market so that both North America and Europe could benefit from the best of each other's horses.

Frank "The Elder" Antonacci.

An operating partner and owner of The Red Mile and an owner of Tattersalls Sale Company, Frank has also served as a trustee of the Harness Racing Museum and Hall Of Fame since 2011, a director of the Hambletonian Society since 1993, and as a director of the U.S. Trotting Association from 2001 to 2019.

Per Eriksson came to North America as a caretaker in 1981 and returned to his native Sweden in 2000, but what he accomplished in those fewer than two decades still stands as a highly impressive body of work, and merited his inclusion in the Hall Of Fame since he “shipped east” over two decades ago.

At age 24 he won the Hambletonian with Trotter of the Year Prakas, a race he won on two other occasions with Giant Victory and Alf Palema, both of whom were also voted Trotter of the Year in their 3-year-old campaigns. Other horses who won divisional honors under his care include Giant Chill, Giant Mermaid, and Dream Of Joy.

Besides the Hambletonians and a Hambletonian Oaks with Lookout Victory, Eriksson was the trainer of five Breeders Crown winners, four World Trotting Derby winners, two Kentucky Futurity winners, and many of the sport’s other major races of his day, especially those for 2- and 3-year-old trotters.

Eriksson’s determination and work ethic obviously established itself early to allow him a meteoric rise in his early career, and he was also known as a thoughtful innovator, one example being the filly Davidia Hanover, whom he helped regained her championship form by having a caretaker ride her instead of going through the conventional jogging and training.

Antonacci and Eriksson will be joined in entrance to the Hall Of Fame by Lucien Fontaine, who was enshrined in the Hall through the special Veterans designation, and who died on Sept. 10; if one is selected and then dies before formal induction, the rules say that person is a Hall Of Fame member.

Roberts and Warkentin come from quite different backgrounds (although they have one brief intersection at Northfield Park near Cleveland), but both have excelled in their respective specialties to merit their selection into the Communicators Hall.

Bob Roberts is a “double-gaited” horse racing writer, having worked on both the standardbred and thoroughbred beats for many years. He began his career in 1970 in Cleveland, and worked for several newspapers in the Buckeye State, making most of his fame at The Cleveland Plain Dealer, for whom he worked some 30 years. He also served as publicity director at the Thistledown racetrack on the shores of Lake Erie. For a while he as a columnist for The Horseman And Fair World magazine.

Roberts has been honored several times in his career for his storytelling ability, most notably with a John Hervey Award in 2003. He also interviewed the star-crossed standardbred horseman Walter Case Jr. for his newspaper in a widely-read feature. On the runners side, he won a Golden Quill award for feature racing about the Waterford Park (now Mountaineer) racetrack in West Virginia, and his 1988 piece on the Preakness was judged the top story produced on that year's Triple Crown classic. Roberts has also won numerous state-wide awards for his coverage of racing on both sides, and has shown depth of perspective and extended knowledge in writing about both sports.

Warkentin started race calling in the Toronto area as a teenager, and progressed on to racing at higher levels of tracks, such as Flamboro Downs and Northfield Park, before joining The Meadowlands in 1991 in one of the most high-profile spots in the industry, sharing announcing, television, and publicity duties with the late Communicators Hall of Famer Sam McKee. There he has stayed for over three decades.

Warkentin has called something in the vicinity of 235,000 races, but his best-known two dozen calls have come for The Hambletonian, North America's premier harness race. He has worked for NBC and ABC, ESPN, CBS Sports Network, and Fox Sports during their coverages of the trotting classic. The prolific Warkentin also turns out numerous press releases, including his "Road To The Hambletonian" in the weeks leading up to that race, and conducts an annual Race Callers Fantasy Camp. He has been recognized for his work at the Elitloppet, Sweden's premier harness race, and frequently returns to his native Canada for guest appearances. Somehow he also finds time to participate in and referee ice hockey.

Frank Antonacci, Per Eriksson, Bob Roberts, and Ken Warkentin (who each got 93%+ "yes" votes in their recent elections), and Lucien Fontaine will be honored in two upcoming ceremonies. They will receive their first formal recognition at the U.S. Harness Writers Association's Dan Patch Awards Banquet, to be held at the Rosen Shingle Creek Resort near Orlando FL on Sunday, Feb. 19, 2023 (online reservations for this event can be made at Rosen Shingle Creek). The second event will, of course, be their formal introductions to their Halls at Goshen on the first Sunday in July 2023. More information on these events will be available on USHWA's website (www.usharnesswriters.com) in the upcoming months.

BRUSH AND CRUSH

by DEAN TOWERS

Where's the "Kentucky Downs" harness meet?

The Franklin, KY racetrack – fueled by gaming and Kentucky Thoroughbred Development Fund money – has become a jewel of the sport.

by Dean Towers

I finished wagering on the last race of the Kentucky Downs thoroughbred meet on Wednesday, and I was sad to see it go. The racetrack, situated just north of Nashville, represents something pretty special in the sport of horse racing.

Back in 2011, Kentucky Downs (formerly known as the Dueling Grounds) was really just another small racetrack in southern Kentucky. It raced a five-day all turf meet, and did attract some local talent, but it wasn't on the map; certainly, when compared to stalwarts like Churchill or Keeneland. Handle was about $900,000 a day.

In 2012, the new owners had an idea. With alternative gaming money possibly coming online, as well as sires stake money supporting purses, they decided to try and put this little track on the map. They immediately slashed takeout rates across the board to a North American low, and began promoting the meet to both customers and horsepeople.

At the time, track president Corey Johnsen said, "We want Kentucky Downs to be known as the 'horseplayers' racetrack. Providing value to the betting public drives every decision we make. Our goal is to present quality racing run over a safe, consistent race course with an attractive takeout structure and wagering menu."

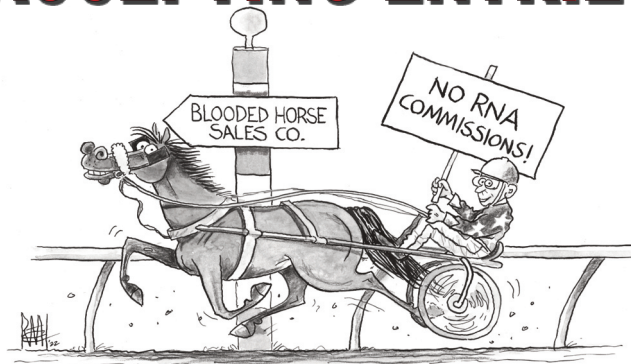

By 2014, the track was beginning to roll. Not only were top trainers entering strings to take advantage of the growing purses, bettors were flocking to the signal, where a single day handle record of over $4 million was established. The outdoor atmosphere of the racetrack attracted several thousand people, enjoying the unique turf course, creating even more buzz.

Just last week, over $21 million was wagered on a single card. This mind-boggling amount is what a Triple Crown prep or Saratoga card is expected to handle, yet there's Kentucky Downs, right with them. Purses grew again in 2022, up 11 per cent to $18 million, too.

Since then, things have just exploded. Just last week, over $21 million was wagered on a single card. This mind-boggling amount is what a Triple Crown prep or Saratoga card is expected to handle, yet there's Kentucky Downs, right with them. Purses grew again in 2022, up 11 per cent to $18 million, too.

Every year, the trend is clear: Growing purses, growing handle and more and more horsepeople entering (and presumably breeding to take advantage of future growth).

Over in our sport, the sires stake program in Kentucky has been a success, with purses in 2022 expected to approach $17 million. But other than large purses, there appears to be no plan regarding increasing betting demand, or creating something special for the sport to build on.

It's no secret stakes racing drives both eyeballs and handle to our harness cards. Big days at Mohawk or the Meadowlands are promoted, and this keeps the sport on the top of mind of important people that matter, like politicians that often hold the purse strings, and of course the betting public.

With the advent of the Kentucky Sires Stakes, lucrative purses have attracted owners and horses, which is great, but this has been partially at the expense of other events. These other events are broadcast far and wide, driving handle, and with a dearth of horses, some are not what they once were. This, in my view has a cost for the entire sport.

I believe it's incumbent upon Kentucky to maximize the worth of this generous sires stakes program. One way to achieve that is plan and dream a little, as Corey Johnson did at Kentucky Downs over a decade ago.

Create something unique, create something worth wagering on; worth going to; worth being a part of, beyond a purse amount. If a small track in Southern Kentucky can become one of the most popular signals in the racing world, perhaps you can, too.

FINES & SUSPENSIONS

THIS WEEK'S FINES AND SUSPENSIONS

HRU is providing links to publicly-available fines and suspension lists for convenience.

Readers are reminded that because a person's name appears on the list does not necessarily mean they are guilty of an offense. Many times, cases are not finalized and many of the accused are still entitled to due process.

Also, please note, for context, the first link is to the Association of Racing Commissioners International's classification system of drug penalties to give readers a sense of the difference between a Class 1 and a Class 4 positive.

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

Trottin' Trevor Ritchie on his long road to success

by Murray Brown

It's a very long road between being an eighth grade school dropout and reaching most of the attainable places at the height of your chosen profession. It's a road that very few have traversed in harness racing. One might mention Herve Filion in addition to this week's subject, Trevor Ritchie. No others come to mind.

Ritchie came from an upbringing that had nothing to do with harness racing.

He is the youngest child of Albert and Lillian Ritchie. He barely knew his father who left their home when Trevor was very young. His mother was left with the responsibility of providing for herself, Trevor and his three older sisters. The situation was similar to the song in the musical Annie. It was indeed a "Hard Knock Life." Trevor was pretty much on his own. His mom was too busy with the numerous jobs she had to work in order to provide for her four offspring.

"I was heading in the wrong direction," Ritchie said. "I hated school. I saw no use for it. I rarely attended. I was most interested in hanging out in the pool hall and doing a lot of things I shouldn't have done. When I was about 10 years old my eldest sister Judith, who baby sat for horseman Pete Thibodeau, got me a job doing odd things working on weekends for him. At the time, I had no interest in horses other than as a means to get enough money to satisfy my passion for slot cars. I gathered enough money which allowed me to buy one that I entered in many competitions." His other pursuit was followed in the pool hall where he played snooker and became quite proficient at it, something that Herve Filion did as well.

One might think that young Trevor might be unhappy without the benefits of school and a stable family life. The opposite was the case. He really didn't mind the fact that he was denied many of the pleasures of other kids. He relished his freedom and the ability to do as he pleased. On the relatively few occasions when he found himself in school, he was usually in trouble.

He managed to overcome whatever restraints he was experiencing. At the age of 15, he left home and moved into a now in the big time. After the stint at Greenwood, his working time with Gilmour elapsed. He then went to work for Dr George Boyce who at the time owned the sensational Super Wave.

He then went to work for horseman Don Corbett. After Corbett, came perhaps the most significant event of young Trevor’s life. He encountered Norm McKnight Jr. (now a top thoroughbred trainer) who had been working for Bill Herbert. McKnight suggested that Trevor go see Herbert about getting a job. He was hired. There began the most important part of Trevor’s career as a horseman.

“Bill was not only the greatest horseman I ever knew, he was the greatest person. There was nothing about a horse that Bill didn’t know. If he didn’t know it, it wasn’t worth knowing.”

Herbert and Trevor hit it off from the onset. Trevor worked hard and Herbert appreciated that. He quickly rose to become Herbert’s assistant trainer. Herbert became the father that Trevor in effect never had.

“There was nothing about his operation that Bill wasn’t good at. In addition to training and driving his horses, Bill also groomed them and on occasion shod them. Previous to them going into training, he bred and raised them. He was a true horse whisperer.”

Bill Herbert was indeed a monumental figure in Canadian harness racing. He bred raised and owned the first Canadian bred horse in the Roosevelt International, Sing Away Herbert, one of the first Canadian breds to race in the Hambletonian and Dean Herbert a Pacer of the Year in Canada. Bill was a much-deserved inductee to the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame in 1977, something that was to be emulated by his pupil and quasi son in 2019.

Q: After working for Bill Herbert for four years you went on your own? What was that like?

"Bill and I parted as the best of friends. We remained so for the duration of his life. But as the bible says, 'There is a time for everything.' The time for Trevor to sprout his wings had arrived. I continued to visit with Bill and his wife Ruth. I was a pallbearer at his funeral."

Q: Then what?

"I worked for and with Gary Payne for a while. I drove some horses for him and saved some money. That money was used to buy a cheap claimer. Jack Darling drove him in his first start. We put him in a class four levels above where he had been racing and he won. Jack went on to be a good friend and a partner of mine."

Q: Then?

"I started driving and also worked towards establishing a stable of my own. I became partners with a man named Ed Sahely. We began claiming horses at Windsor, Flamboro, Western Fair and occasionally Greenwood. He raced mostly at Windsor often going against one of the greatest driving colonies ever assembled. I held my own. He then decided to try his luck in the big time.

That was Greenwood in Toronto. He drove many a horse for Cal Campbell an excellent horseman who raced almost entirely in the overnight ranks. He became partners with London native Dan Smith. We started out buying and claiming racehorses and then Dan was focused on young horses, Grand Circuit types hopefully. We had some luck.”

Q: Through the years you raced against most of the great drivers of the modern era. Which ones do you think were the best?

“There are so many of them but to me John Campbell stands out. Most of the drivers on the Grand Circuit are very good. Otherwise, they wouldn’t be driving there. When I was very young I idolized Ronnie Feagan. I consider him to have been beyond great. Ronny Waples was another great driver back in the day. He had great instincts and always took great care of the horse he was driving. Of course Doug Brown and Steve Condren belong on the list. Today, I love watching Tetrick and Dunn and Gingras just to name a few but I could name 10 more that are their equals or very close to it. We have a very good group of young guns at Mohawk. Sylvan Filion is also top notch.”

Q: Let’s talk about some top horsemen. You’ve driven for and against all of them.

“If I were talking about the ones I drove for, there are three that are at the top of my list. Those three are Blair Burgess, Cal Campbell and Bob McIntosh. It’s no accident that two are members of both Halls of Fame.

“Blair has it all. He is a thinking man’s trainer. He takes care of all his horses. He is smart and careful. He isn’t afraid to take or give advice. He has made lemonade out of horses that the general public in relative terms thought were lemons. Horses the public didn’t think were much as yearlings and brought small money. Glidemaster, Real Desire, Frugal Gourmet, Amity Chef, and Amigo Hall come immediately to mind. You are not in two halls of fame, the trainer of innumerable classics race winners including two Hambletonian winners without being an extraordinary trainer.

“Bob McIntosh is another obvious standout. Bob trains, breeds and develops horses. He is still doing it these many years later. He uses some of the same methods I first saw when I was working for Bill Herbert, ‘Lower their heads and loosen up their hobbles.’ I’ve seen a good many trainers utilize it to great effect.

“Another one and a dear friend as mentioned above was Cal Campbell. He always had his horses ready. I drove a lot for him with great success. There are too many others to list but those three were very important in my career.”

“While I was on the shelf I interested myself in the stock market. I got so involved that I secured my traders license and began trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange floor on my behalf for several months. It was very stressful – much more stress doing that than driving in the Hambletonian. Just think of that – a kid who never got past eighth grade with a seat on the Toronto Stock Exchange.”

Q: Let's talk about numerous top horses that you've driven or been a part of.

"The horse that in effect put me on the map so to speak was Quite A Sensation. He was an over achiever. Fortunately, he was great when it really counted the night of the North America Cup. The same could probably be said of the Hambletonian winner Yankee Paco.

"One of the greatest I've ever sat behind was Peaceful Way. Her speed and rate of acceleration were breathtaking. Once you said 'go' to her, you and she were gone. She did have some issues though. Most of the races she lost were because she made breaks. But when she was good, she was scary good. She just might have been the fastest horse, trotter or pacer that I've sat behind. Like most great fillies, she could be temperamental. I was also fortunate to drive regularly or on occasion the likes of Andover Hall, Majestic Son, Eternal Camnation, Frugal Gourmet, Real Desire, Cameron Hall, Banker Hall, Rotation, Equinox Bi, Syrinx Hanover and quite a number of others."

Q: What have been your greatest thrills in the business?

"Without a doubt number one was winning the Hambletonian as far as races go. With pacers it was winning The Meadowlands Pace with Frugal Gourmet and as mentioned above Quite A Sensation winning the North American Cup. Not far behind was Peaceful Way beating the boys soundly in the Maple Leaf Trot. The night that three of my drives won Breeders Crowns was also a great thrill. Another great thrill was representing Canada in the Elitlopp with Armbro Agile. Of course, off track would be my induction into the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame."

Q: You've been retired since 2014 do you miss it?

"I certainly miss taking part in the great events of the sport, but to be brutally honest, I don't miss the day-to-day grind with overnight horses. I also miss both the comradery and intense competition that racing horses provides. Unless you've done it it's hard to describe."

Q: In 1986, you suffered your most serious of several accidents.

"I never wholly recovered from that. I was out of action for nine months. Even when I went back I wasn't quite the same. To this day, every step I take reminds me of that. Later in my career, I broke several bones in my neck and back in an accident. I suffered from insufferable back and neck spasms which often prevented me from driving. While I was on the shelf I interested

It was very stressful – much more stress doing that than driving in the Hambletonian. Just think of that – a kid who never got past eighth grade with a seat on the Toronto Stock Exchange.”

Q: When did you decide to stop driving?

“In 2014 I decided that I had enough. My body just couldn’t handle it any more. It was probably beyond the time that I should have retired.”

Q: In 2019 you were installed in The Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame. How did you feel about that?

“I was honored, humbled and thrilled. It was an incredible experience. I don’t know that I belong ahead of some drivers who have earned much more money and won many more races. Nevertheless I am very proud to be a member.”

Q: What are you now doing to keep yourself busy?

“I’m fairly active. A few years back I was asked by Dale Welk to evaluate the Ontario yearlings consigned to the Harrisburg yearling sale. Gemma, my wife and I drive the province from hither to yon. We looked at 83 yearlings this year. I should add that Gemma is an indispensable part of what I do, especially when looking at and evaluating yearlings. She has a great eye, sometimes I think better than me. Right about now we start our work looking at yearlings that George Segal has shown an interest. We have done it now for the last 18 years. In addition to looking for George, we also look for myself and a small group of friends interested in buying a yearling for ourselves. We spend the winters in South Florida, so our yearlings are trained at Sunshine Meadows. We live close by and get to see them whenever we want. I will occasionally take one for a spin. We’ve been pretty lucky with our buys. Among them are the Jug winner Captain Barbossa – I sold him too soon – and Komodo Beach. Of course there were some duds also. We will see what we can do this year.”

THE ART OF BREEDING

with ALAN LEAVITT

Of new good friends

by Alan Leavitt

Having stuck my neck out a lot further than I should have when I predicted great sire success for Rebuff, I now follow his 3-year-old racing career with interest. This despite the fact that only a colt's 2-year-old racing campaign gives me the answers to his potential as a future sire.

Here, a slight digression RE: the different contributions the sire and the dam make to each of their progeny. Stamina comes from the sire, and speed comes from the dam.

These are generalities, of course, but they tell you why a game stud on the track can succeed as a sire, and a mare who can go a much faster quarter than she can a mile can be a great producer.

This is also a good time to revisit the subject of the speed gene. I am not oblivious to the questions that have been raised to my use of that term, but looking at a horse's genetic profile as a deck of playing cards, from a low card of "2" to a high card of "Ace" gives a layman horse breeder a way to measure a horse's potential to produce speed, whether it's a sire or a dam.

Looking at a proven top sire's genetic deck, it probably starts with a 10 and goes up from there. Since the sire and dam contribute equally to each conception, although what each contributes is totally different from the other parent, a Walner can be seen as bringing a high card, say a 10 or even a jack, to every mating.

That means if even the mare in the mating comes up with only a low-to-medium card, say a six, the average of the two is high enough that the result is a reasonably fast raceway horse. Which is why even a Walner from a mediocre matron can still hold his or her own at the raceways and earn decent money.

So when it comes to Rebuff, I'm predicting that as a sire he'll be dealing from a stacked deck of high cards when it comes to his ability to pass on his speed gene.

All of which leads me to a 3-year-old trotting gelding named Double Deceiver, who just kicked Rebuff's patootie in a Kentucky Sire Stake. D² is by Cantab Hall, and out of Sarcy, a fast mare who won over a quarter of a million bucks, by Donato Hanover. To date he has a record at 3 of 1:50.2, with earnings of $503,479, and counting.

He's trained by Carter Pinske for his own Pinske Stables and Makenna Lynn Pinske, certainly a close relative. His regular driver is David Miller, who better than in the racing bike cannot be found.

When you start research on D² the first fact that hits you is his yearling selling price of only $17,000. How that happened became clear as a crystal when my old friend Robin showed me the horse in his stall.

He's a little guy now, and he had to be even smaller when he went to the Lexington Yearling Sale.

Which calls to mind the old saying that it's not the size of the dog in the fight, but the size of the fight in the dog. Although, personally, I think execution by firing squad would be appropriate for anyone caught dog fighting.

Double D's extended pedigree shows a 3 by 4 cross to Valley Victory and the same 3 by 4 cross to Garland Lobell. As a reminder, when the sum of the generations in which the same name appears twice is six or less, the horse so bred is defined as "Inbred."

When the sum of the two generation in which the same name appears twice is 7 or 8, the horse so bred is defined as "Line-bred."

If no name appears twice when the sum of the two generations is eight or less, the horse so bred is properly defined as an "Outcross."

The great majority of American-bred standardbreds are outcrosses. This bodes well for the immediate future of the two breeds, trotters and pacers, because inbreeding can and will result in a loss of heterozygosity, on the variability factor, which manifests itself as a loss of fertility in the males, or in our case, the stallions.

That happened some 30 years ago, when virtually all our trotting studs had troubled fertility. That's not the case today, but it does leave the field open for some judicious inbreeding. I'm talking about using two nearly-perfect individuals, both conformation and racing-wise, and going no closer than 3 by 3, for starters.

I came up under Jim Harrison, who forgot more than anyone else ever knew about standardbred breeding, and he told me that if a great breeder took the pains to inbreed the two right horses, the result would be a "Super Horse."

Harrison also predicted that crossing French studs on American-bred trotting mares would produce superior trotters, and that is exactly what has come to pass. Anyone who hasn't read his edition of The Care & Training of the Trotter & Pacer still doesn't have a complete education in harness racing.

And now, a personal note that shows once again how great things can happen when you're on the racetrack. I have a new friend, the kind of friendship that seems like its 30 years only after 30 days. My new friend is Besime, a wonderful horseman who completes the other half of Brett Pelling's operation.

But beyond his talent with horses, Besime is simply a great guy, and I'd like to thank The Red Mile for making it possible for us to meet.

Now, with the world again watching the Middle East as things are starting to heat up there, an Israeli story that gives you the whole book on that little country and its people:

A motorist in Tel Aviv asks a cop if he can park on the other side of the street.

The cop says, "No."

The motorist says, "What about all the cars that are already parked there?"

The cop answers, "They didn't ask."

BREAKING STRIDE

with TREY NOSRAC

Data, data, data, yada, yada, yada

How data can transform the fan experience in sports stadiums.

by Trey Nosrac

Sitting in my cluttered condo, Chez Trey, I fished out the remote hiding under my sweatshirt on the coffee table and pushed mute on the talking heads from the World Series preview show.

I nodded at the muted interview and asked Tom, my pal from the tech world, "Do you ever think my sport will be on a bigger stage?"

He took a sip of his Miller Lite, scratched his salt and pepper beard stubble, and said, "Once upon a time, racing horses was about head and heart. That is less true today and will be less true in the future. Another crucial element, data, is impacting your game. Data is good and bad, yin and yang, friend and foe. Data can enhance horse racing. But it can also doom racing."

I chuckled. "That's what I like about you. I ask a yes or no question and get a proclamation from the ghost of Steve Jobs."

"It's complicated. Young people face tidal waves of entertainment options. Racing needs a new playbook. You cannot continue to put out the same product and thrive. You need to offer immersive relationships and experiences based on data, or you will never find new participants, or, to put it bluntly, new money."

"Dude, I can do nothing about the fractured sport of harness racing, and, as you know, doing nothing is my forte, my wheelhouse, and my specialty."

He smiled. "Harness horse racing is like yacht racing regarding data. There is plenty available, but when engaging new fans, the opportunities are limited. Other sports have an edge in transitioning to new audiences. Everyone has tossed a baseball, so they have a baseline transitioning to a data world. Few have jumped into a sulky or opened a wagering account at a young age."

Nodding, I said, "And horse racing is from a bygone era. The sport's pulse beats on with old timers who found the sport and hung on for dear life. Their friendships in the game keep them alive. I have always believed people in harness racing were tough as old boots. The workers never seem to have time to be sick, and the gamblers face a new challenge with every racing program and still play despite the odds."

"I agree," he said. "Participants in horse racing are relics, but, in some ways, they are lucky. They found their passion and hung on. Today, old and young people live and die behind a computer screen."

I nodded. "That's nostalgia. It isn't gonna stop the slide or add new people."

He paused and said, "Your sport needs to get more data in new forms, and horse racing gamblers need to be more active and less passive."

"Mumbo jumbo, not a plan, not actionable. Give me something specific."

"Well, let's see, this is yearling sales time, with thousands of horses going to auction."

"Yes."

"What about a computer ranking for each yearling in a sale? Sort of along the lines of the power ratings on racetrack gambling programs. Use unbiased computer programs and artificial intelligence, inhale every scrap of data on the genetic and physical sides, then spit out the numbers, giving each yearling a numerical valuation."

"Cold hard numbers ranking yearlings in a sale?"

"That certainly doesn't mean the programs identify the best yearlings, but having a set of rankings available gives customers a baseline. Simply having a baseline gives the people something to argue for or against, which is useful on several levels."

"This computer stuff never seems to pan out in horse racing."

"Not yet, but digital fires spark to life with every passing day. People appear to enjoy diving into numbers. Participants feel like they are digging and finding nuggets that others miss. That's why the sports drafts are so addictive. Plus, today's technology is simpler to access and much more immersive than it was ten years ago when early attempts in racing tried to create audiences from data."

"What if the data shows that wagering on a horserace is a crappy idea? Then all your data works against us."

"Trey, that is a great point. Data will find your sport. I'm sure it already has in many instances. The key is to make the gamble favorable; your sport will be in the water with serious players, but one advantage you might have is wagering on animals. Animals make you different than the others in the pool."

"Growth from data feels like a big ask."

He nodded at the baseball interview on my TV screen. "Ten, fifteen years ago, there were baseball statistic nerds, but only handfuls. Today, everyone seems to be a baseball nerd analyzing launch angles, spin rates, WAR ratings, salary comparisons, and crazy minutia. More than ever, fans enjoy mining data for analysis. The betting line on a ballgame wager can change with each pitch. It's fun. But wait until they can easily gamble on the baseball games. The interest in hardcore oceans of data will explode."

I clicked the unmute and heard a talking head say, "The defending champions have a 61.75 per cent chance of repeating, but those chances go down to 58.37 if DelGatos' tenon flexor doesn't allow him to pitch in game three. The next batter is Manny Mullins, his chances of reaching first base on this at bat are 31.6 per cent, and his odds of swinging at the first pitch are 27.1 per cent."

I sighed and said, "So, you are saying racing should lean into the data?"

"Big time, in every way possible. I believe data would prove this theory."

Volstead filly tops Ohio Select Yearling Sale with record price of $170,000

by Chris Tully for the Ohio Harness Horse Breeders

A record price of $170,000 for a trotting yearling sold in the state of Ohio was set on Friday (Sept. 16) at the Ohio Selected Jug Sale at the Pickaway Ag Center, Circleville, OH.

The sale topper was hip # 103, Idas First Dance, who was a Volstead filly, first foal from a full sister to 2017 Ohio 3-year-year-old Trotting Filly of the Year Rose Run Sydney 4,1:54.1 ($597,703). Purchased by Thomas Svensen, Agent for Swedish interests, she was consigned and sold by Dublin Valley Farms, Agent, Fredericksburg, OH. She will be trained by Ohio-based trotting master Chris Beaver.

Robert Hershberger, owner of Dublin Valley Farms and one of a dozen breeders that own the sale, was not surprised by the high price.

"We had every confidence in Volstead, and clearly the astute buyers were willing to take a shot on a European champion son of Cantab Hall. We had a lot of interest in him as a sire earlier in the year, as well as his yearlings this fall."

Swedish Cup winner and European Champion Volstead 1:51.3f ($773,903), whose record is not indicated on the USTA pedigree pages, was able to overcome the missing data and top the sale in both highest priced yearling, as well as overall average.

"We are very proud that Volstead's yearlings averaged $67,333," said Hershberger. "His yearlings looked the part and were well received by the trainers and the buyers."

Chris Tully

Idas First Dance topped the Ohio Select Yearling Sale with a bid of $170,000. She will be trained by Chris Beaver.

The gross sales for 266 yearlings sold was $7,478,500, with this year's Ohio Selected Jug Yearling Sale enjoying as two per cent increase in overall average ($28,115) and a relatively flat gross for seven fewer horses sold over last year. The sale was conducted by the Lexington Selected Yearling Sales Co., on behalf of the Ohio Harness Horse Breeders Association, a consortium of Buckeye State nurseries that collectively own the enterprise.

Sons and daughters of What The Hill (33) and Uncle Peter (16) averaged $35,152 and $32,438 respectively, with each sire having a six figure yearling to their credit. Spring Haven Farm sold (hip # 98) a What The Hill half-sister to A Fancy Face 4,1:53.1 ($359,820) for $110,000 to Greg Luther, Blacklick, OH.

Hickory Lane Horse Farm sold (hip # 195) an Uncle Peter full sister to world champion A Real Legend 2,1:55h-22 ($81,300) for $105,000 to Joyce McClelland and Larry Wills of Zanesville.

On the pacing side, it was another banner year by Diamond Creek/Sugar Valley Farm's pacing sire Downbytheseaside, who continued to lead the way with 41 sold for a gross of $1.8 million and an average of $45,780.

The highest priced pacer sold was hip # 102 Cowboy By The Sea, a Downbytheseaside half-brother to Captain Cowgirl p,3,1:49.3f-'22 ($542,038), who brought $127,000 from TheStable.ca's Anthony MacDonald. Owned and consigned by Jeff and Senena Esty's Spring Haven Farm, the colt was one of four yearlings by Downbytheseaside that fetched six figure prices.

The Burke brigade was out in force at the Ohio Select Sale, and captured the first six-figure yearling of the day, (hip # 87) from the LMN Bred consignment. Bringing $120,000, the son of Downbytheseaside was the highest priced yearling Mitch and Laura Nault had ever bred and sold. "We bred and sold this colt's dam, Graceful Vision," said Laura Nault. "So this was a very special day for us. We are thrilled he is going to the Burke Stable."

Ryan Miller, Greenville, OH, signed the $115,000 ticket for the highest priced pacing filly sold. Also by Downbytheseaside, (hip # 275) she from a multiple stakes-winning half-sister to Sectionline Bigry p,1:48-'22 ($896,337). Consigned by Cool Winds Farm, it was the first six-figure yearling ever sold by Randy and Kim Haines.

Racing Hill had the second highest average of pacing sires with 10 or more sold, getting $28,182 each. Of the first-crop pacing sires, Dancin Yankee led the way with an average of $24,167.

SIRE STAKES

REPORT

Quick Stop, Oh Well take New Jersey Classic finals at Big M

by Dave Little / Meadowlands media relations

Quick Stop and Oh Well were the winners as the initial season of the New Jersey Classic for New Jersey-sired horses concluded with a pair of $275,000 "A"-level finals at The Meadowlands Friday night (Sept. 16).

During the evening, eight NJC finals were contested for horses of both the "A" and "B" caliber with purses that totaled $1.2 million.

In the division for 2-year-old trotting fillies, Quick Stop, who sat a four-hole trip before shifting to the outside at three-quarters, sprinted home to gun down even-money favorite Secret Volo by a head in a lifetime-best 1:55 for trainer Anette Lorentzon and driver Todd McCarthy. The daughter of Tactical Landing—Falls For You has had a solid season, winning half of her six starts and banking $190,300. Warrawee Yes was third.

"I thought we were too far back," said Ana Lorentzon, who heads up the barn's New Jersey operation. "But she always wants to come home. She's a very honest horse."

"We'll see how she comes out of this race, but she is staked to everything for the rest of the year. We are very pleased with what she has accomplished so far."

And the New Jersey Classic? "This is a great program," said Lorentzon. "It worked out for us. If they could somehow work out the schedule so it doesn't collide with the Kentucky Sire Stakes, that would make things easier. You have to pick and choose where you want to go."

Quick Stop, at 9-1 the longest shot in the five-horse field, returned $21.20 to win.

The Marcus Melander-trained Oh Well took the split for 12-year-old trotting colts and geldings in 1:53.4. On the strength of taking both the NJC and $240,000 New Jersey Sire Stakes finals, the son of Muscle Hill—Fine Tuned Lady showed why racing in the Garden State can be lucrative, as he's earned $360,880 from just five lifetime starts (three wins).

Driver Tim Tetrick put Oh Well on the point, and after reaching the quarter in :27.4, was able to back the second fraction down to :30, leaving more than enough to record an easy one-length win over Celebrity Bambino and Gates Hanover, who finished in a dead-heat for second.

"He's a great horse," said Melander. "We gave him a little break after the (Peter) Haughton (when he finished second on Aug. 6). He needed the break because there are a lot of races to go."

Melander didn't necessarily want his colt to race on the lead, but things changed after Purple Lord broke early.

"I think he's a better horse from off the pace. I thought that would be a perfect horse to follow. But he's very laid back and knows what he's doing."

Lisa Photo

Quick Stop (Todd McCarthy) rallied to take the New Jersey Classic final for 2-year-old trotting fillies at The Meadowlands on Friday.

Oh Well (Tim Tetrick) winning the New Jersey Classic final for 2-year-old trotting colts and geldings.

Melander said he is a fan of the New Jersey Classic. "It's an amazing program. It's good for the horse to race here and I really enjoy it."

He's also a fan of Oh Well, who was a $530,000 purchase. "You can't think like that," said Melander when asked if horses with a price tag that high gets special treatment. "When they start out, they are just another horse, but he was very talented from the beginning."

A LITTLE MORE: Niki Hill, the Dan Patch Award-winning 2-year-old pacing filly from a year ago, made her second start of the season in a mid-range conditioned event for fillies and mares, and looked good while rallying to get second behind Ys Tallia in 1:51. Her next start will likely come at the Red Mile on Oct. 1... McCarthy finished the night with a colony-best three driving wins... Ake Svanstedt led the trainers with a pair of victories, driving both... All-source handle totaled $2,275,843.

SIRES STAKES REPORT

by Jacob Rheinheimer / Harrah's Hoosier Park

Friday night (Sept. 16) featured fast pacing colts on the 14-race card at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino. Two divisions of the freshman pacing colts along with a single division for the 3-year-old colt pacers highlighted the card as they compete in the penultimate leg of Sire Stakes action before the $250,000 Indiana Sire Stakes Super Finals on Friday, Oct. 14 at the Anderson, IN track.

Frankie Frankie and Atlee Bender would kick off the stakes action on the night, scoring a mild 7-1 upset in the $69,000 first division for freshman pacing colts. Leaving from post four in the field of nine, Bender would guide Frankie Frankie into the fourth position off the wings of the gate as Hetolditlikeitwas and Peter Wrenn led the field through a :27 opening quarter.

Hetolditlikeitwas would lead to the half in :55.1 under pressure from Why Not Now as LeWayne Miller guided him first over at three-quarters in 1:23.2 as Frankie Frankie trailed the leaders by six lengths in sixth.

The stretch drive would prove to be a calvary charge to the wire, headed by Frankie Frankie as Bender navigated traffic and fed him racetrack on the grandstand side, surging with a :26.3 final quarter to get up by three quarters of a length at the wire over Why Not Now in 1:51.1. Henry The Horse and Jimmy Whittemore rallied up the rail to finish in the third position. Frankie Frankie retuned $17.20 to those who showed their support at the betting windows.

Owned by Rocco Ruffolo, Rick Howles and Bowie Racing LLC, it was the third win in eight career starts for the Erv Miller trainee. Bred by Victory Hill Farm, the gelded son of Tellitlikeitis out of the Somebeachsomewhere mare, Myplaceonthebeach has now banked $79,292 in 2022.

The $68,500 second division of stakes action for the 2-year-old pacing colts would go as the 13th race on the evening, where Art It Is would return to his winning ways. Leaving from the six-hole in the field of eight, driver Sam Widger opted to put Art It Is in the middle of the pack as race favorite J B Gram and Trace Tetrack cut out a :27.3 opening quarter. J B Gram had things his way up the backstretch through a half of :56 before Widger pulled the right line and sent Art It Is first over to engage the leader at three-quarters in 1:24.1.

Dean Gillette

Frankie Frankie (Atlee Bender) scored a 7-1 upset in the first of two Indiana Sires Stakes tests for 2-year-old pacing colts on Friday at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

Dean Gillette

Ponda Adventure (Trace Tetrick) extended his perfect record to 10 in a $48,000 division for the 3-year-old trotting colts and geldings on Thursday at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

With nothing between them at the top of the lane, Art It Is and J B Gram slugged it out the length of the Harrah's Hoosier Park stretch before Art It Is just edged clear with a :26.4 final quarter to score by a half-length over J B Gram in 1:51.2. Strengthfromabove and John De Long completed a Tellitlikeitis sired trifecta.

Trained by Mark P'pool, Art It Is has now picked up three victories in six starts over the course of his rookie season. Bred by Legacy Acres, Art It Is is sired by Tellitlikeitis and out of the Indiana Sire Stakes winning Dream Works mare, JNB N Me. With the victory, Art It Is pushes his bankroll to $104,720 for owners Dolne Farm Services LLC, Therese Defabis and Mark P'pool.

The richest race on the evening came with the $95,500 single division of Indiana Sire Stakes for the sophomore pacing colts where Soaring Now and Joey Putnam scored with authority. Leaving from the middle of the gate in post four in the compact field of seven, Soaring Now got away fourth as Ponda Warrior and Jimmy Whittemore went to the front in :26.4. Up the backstretch, Rip Wheeler and Brandon Bates popped the pocket to assume command halfway home in :55. Soaring Now began his move on the final turn, still with four lengths to make up on leader Rip Wheeler as he led at the three-quarter pole in 1:22.4.

As the field turned for home, Soaring Now made quick work of that four length gap as he gobbled up ground in the stretch with a powerful :25.3 final quarter in the stretch to get by Rip Wheeler and hold Sure Thing Herman and Atlee Bender at bay in 1:49.1. Sure Thing Herman would get up for place, with Rip Wheeler and Bates finishing third.

It was the fourth win in 10 starts in 2022 and lucky win career win number seven for Soaring Now. Owned by James Miller and trained by Aaron Stutzman, Soaring Now went over $200,000 on the season, now boasts a career bankroll beyond the quarter-million dollar mark with lifetime earnings of $258,840. Bred by Luckiana Farms, Soaring Now is a JK Endofanera stallion out of the Mach Three mare, Sunflower.

PONDA ADVENTURE, M-M'S DREAM REMAIN UNDEFEATED IN ISS AT HOOSIER

Indiana Sire Stakes action continued on Thursday (Sept. 15) at Harrah's Hoosier Park with the sophomore trotters competing in the seventh leg of eight. Two divisions for the 3-year-old trotting colts and geldings, as well as a single division for the fillies would highlight the 14-race card. All eyes were on Ponda Adventure and M-M's Dream as both entered with perfect seasons on the line, and both were poised to leave the night with their perfect records intact.

Ponda Adventure would be the first to extend his perfect record to 10 in a $48,000 division for the 3-year-old trotting colts in geldings. Leaving from the rail, driver Trace Tetrick left aggressively protecting inside position and getting to the lead through an opening quarter of :27.4. Up the backstretch, Ponda Adventure faced pressure from 2021 Indiana Sire Stakes Champion, Dover In Motion and Ricky Macomber Jr. as they moved to the lead at the half in :56.4. Dover In Motion and Ponda Adventure began to gain separation from the rest of the field on the turn to three-quarters in 1:25.

With what appeared to be an impending stretch duel looming, Dover In Motion made a costly mistake going off stride at the top of the stretch. Inheriting the lead from there was a revved-up Ponda Adventure and Trace Tetrick who powered home with a :27.2 final quarter to score by over three lengths on the line in 1:53. Swan Captain and John De Long would finish second, with Yo Mister and James Yoder rounding out the trifecta.

With the victory, the Erv Miller trainee pushed his career bankroll over half a million dollars, banking now $501,912 for owners Engel Stable of IL, Louis Willinger and Jerry Graham. Bred by Pond-A-Acres, it was the 10th victory in as many tries in 2022 for the Swan For All gelding out of the Muscle Hill mare, Wildflower, and career victory 18 in 20 lifetime starts.

Ponda Adventure would give driver Trace Tetrick the sweep of the stakes action for the trotting colts, as earlier on the card he would score with the Tyler George trained Adamsville Road. Getting away from the rail, Tetrick would steer Adamsville Road into the third position in the early stages as race favorite Late Night Hawk and Kyle Wilfong cut out the opening quarter in :28.1. Late Night Hawk remained unchallenged on the lead through a half of :57.2 before Tetrick made his move on the far turn with Adamsville Road, challenging the leader at three-quarters in 1:26.2.

As the field turned for home, Adamsville Road and Tetrick would scoot away from the field with a :27.3 final fraction to score by over a length in 1:54. Sweet Boy Ben and John De Long rallied for second, with Skyway Professor and LeWayne Miller staging a bold stretch move to finish in the show position.

Owned by Mel Rose Stable and Joe Nesselroad, Adamsville Road has picked up five victories in 13 starts in 2022, banking $105,140 in his sophomore campaign. Bred by Joyce McClelland, Adamsville Road is a gelded son of Indiana's leading trotting sire, Swan For All, out of the Yankee Glide mare, She Wore Red.

Not to be outdone by her male counterparts, M-M's Dream put on a gutsy display to score in the lone $92,500 division of Indiana Sire Stakes for the 3-year-old trotting fillies. Driver Sam Widger elected to float from post six in the early stages, unable to find a spot along the rail in fifth as Jusmakinyalook and Jordan Ross carved out a :28.2 first quarter. Having no luck finding the pylons, M-M's Dream began to forge to the lead, striking the front at the halfway station in :57.2, finally crossing over to the cones entering the far turn on her way to three-quarters in 1:27.1.

In the lane, M-M's Dream's perfect season appeared to be in jeopardy as Jusmakinyalook and Ross surged up the passing lane, however, M-M's Dream dug deep with a :27 sprint to the wire to hang on to the victory by a head at the line in 1:54.1. Bluebird Dove and Peter Wrenn closed from the backfield for the third position.

Trained by Henry Graber Jr., M-M's Dream has now visited the Winner's Circle in all eight of her trips to the racetrack in 2022 for owners Eleven Star Stables, Frank Baldachino and Hillside Stables. With the victory, the 2021 Indiana Sire Stakes Champion now boasts a gaudy bankroll of $510,962. Bred by Mervin Miller, M-M's Dream is a daughter of Swan For All out of the Classic Photo mare, Trading Places.

Red Mile offers richest card in its history with today's sire stakes finals

by Kimberly French for Red Mile

This afternoon (Sept. 18) the Red Mile will play host to eight Kentucky Championship finals worth $3.2 million, combined, for freshman and sophomore male and female trotters and pacers and two $100,000 Kentucky Commonwealth series finals for 3-year-old filly trotters and 2-year-old male pacers. The total purse value of $3.4 million on the 10-race card is the most lucrative in the history of the Lexington oval.

There are storylines galore as the fields vie for Kentucky crowns, but what follows are some of the highlights of today's action.

BOUDOIR HANOVER, I DID IT MYWAY SEEK FOURTH CONSECUTIVE VICTORIES IN SOPHOMORE PACING FINALS

Boudoir Hanover and pilot Todd McCarthy will attempt to extend the filly's three-race winning streak in the $400,000 final for 3-year-old female pacers with all three coming in this series.

The daughter of Captaintreacherous—Bedroomconfessions will leave from post position five in the field of six. She is 5-2 on the morning line in the first race.

Boudoir Hanover was bred by Riverview Breeding and Visionary Breeding. She is owned by Riverview Racing, Alagna Racing, Caviart Farms, D. Plouffe and S. Head.

Trained by Tony Alagna, Boudoir Hanover has now earned $503,001. Her record stands at 21 7-5-2.

I Did Myway will face North America Cup winner and defending Kentucky champion Pebble Beach in the $400,000 event for 3-year-old male pacers. Pebble Beach won the first meeting between the two in the first leg of this series on Aug. 7, but I Did It Myway has now defeated his rival in the following three legs.

Andrew McCarthy and I Did It Myway will begin pacing from post position four in the field of eight. He is 5-2 on the morning line in the fifth race.

Trained by Alagna, the son of Captaintreacherous—Flyme To The Moon has now earned $378,658 from a record of 20 10-1-3.

The colt was bred by Joe Sbrocco and is owned by Country Club Acres, Sbrocco, Don Latore and Alagna and Fodera Racing.

Pebble Beach will be steered by the younger McCarthy brother and was assigned post position four. Trained by Noel Daley, the son of Downbytheseaside-Santa Rosa is 2-1 on the morning line.

Pebble Beach has a record of 21 12-6-3 and has earned $957,650.

The colt was bred by Brittany Farms and is owned by Patricia Stable, Joe Sbrocco, County Club Acres, Laexpressfoderadeovolente.

ETERNAL LEE, REBUFF HEADLINE FINALS FOR 3-YEAR-OLD TROTTERS

Eternal Lee returns to Kentucky after a fifth-place effort behind Manon in the $253,000 Pennsylvania Sire Stakes final on Sept. 3.

Trained by Chris Ryder, the daughter of Southwind Frank—Charity Hall captured the first and third legs of this series on Aug. 2 and Aug. 23 but was fifth behind Kentucky champion Selfie Queen in the second leg on Aug. 14.

Eternal Lee was assigned post position one in the field of nine. She will be driven by A. McCarthy and is 7-2 on the morning line in the third race.

The filly competes as a homebred for Murray Ferguson Jr. She has earned $258,138 and has a record of 16 5-3-2.

Defending Kentucky champion Double Deceiver must overcome a formidable rival in Rebuff in the contest for 3-year-old male trotters.

Double Deceiver won the first two legs of this series on Aug. 8 and Aug. 16 but was sixth behind Rebuff on Aug. 28.

Trained by Carter Pinske, Double Deceiver will leave from post position two in the sixth race in the field of nine. David Miller will be holding lines behind the son of Cantab Hall—Sarcy, who is 3-1 on the morning line.

Double Deceiver has a record of 20 9-7-0 and has amassed $503,479 in purse money.

He was bred by Steve Stewart and Oakwood Farms and is owned by Pinske Stables and Makenna Pinske.

Rebuff and Tim Tetrick drew post position five and are 5-2 on the morning line. The son of Muscle Hill-Meucci Madness rebounded from a sixth-place finish in the Hambletonian on Aug. 6 in the third leg in this series on Aug. 28.

He was third in the fourth leg but was right there with Double Deceiver at the line on Sept. 11.

Trained by Lucas Wallin, Rebuff is the defending division champion and equaled the track record for his age, gait and gender on July 16 at The Meadowlands when he captured a $125,000 division of the Stanley Dancer.

Bred by Steve Stewart and Michael Andrew, Rebuff is owned by Kjell Magne Andersen, his trainer and Peter Delis.

The colt has a record of 17 8-8-2 and has earned $633,270.

SPECIAL WAY, KILMISTER LEAD THE WAY IN FINALS FOR FRESHMAN TROTTERS

Special Way and her driver/trainer Ake Svanstedt will leave from post position two and are 5-2 on the morning line in the event for female freshman trotters. The field consists of nine fillies and is the eighth race on the card.

The daughter of Walner—Special Hill has won all three legs of this series she has been entered in and has a record of 5-3-1.

Special Way competes as a homebred for Brittany Farms, Marvin Katz, and Al Libfield. She has earned $125,975.

Kilmister and Brian Sears will begin trotting from post position one in a field of nine 2-year-old male trotters in race four.

Kilmister suffered the first loss of his career in the fourth leg of this series on Sept. 4. The son of Chapter Seven-Proviso was a perfect five-for-five with one of those wins being the $337,000 Peter Haughton Memorial on Aug. 6.

In his last start, Kilmister broke stride as the heavy favorite behind the gate and was never a factor but should return to his 'A' game on Sunday.

Trained by Marcus Melander, Kilmister was bred by Moni Market Breeders and was purchased for $170,000 at last year's Lexington Selected Yearling Sale by Courant Inc.

He has earned $249,035 from his six pari-mutuel trips.

TWIN B JOE FRESH, CONFEDERATE SEEK CHAMPIONSHIP GLORY IN PACING FINALS FOR 2-YEAR-OLDS

Recently crowned a champion in New York by virtue of her triumph in the $200,000 sire stakes final on Sept. 10, Twin B Joe Fresh will leave from post position six in the field of 10 freshman pacing fillies. She is 2-1 on the morning line in the ninth race and will have the services of Dexter Dunn, who also co-owns her, in the bike.

Trained by Ryder, Twin B Joe Fresh was second to Strong Poison, who is also in this field, in her first appearance in sire stakes action on Aug. 2. It was the first time in her career she had tasted defeat after reeling off three consecutive wins in the Empire State.

The daughter of Roll With Joe—Fresh Breeze rebounded with a near world record performance (1:48.4) over Strong Poison in the next leg on Aug. 14. She was then second in a New York sire stakes leg on Aug. 27 before capturing the final.

Bred by Brittany Farms, Twin B Joe Fresh was a $65,000 purchase by her trainer, driver, Peter Trebotica and Barry Spak at last year's Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

The filly has a record of 7-5-2-0 and has banked $264,412.

Confederate made his first appearance in the sire stakes in the Commonwealth series on Aug. 7 a winning one. In fact, he broke his maiden as he was third in his career bow at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

The son of Sweet Lou—Geothermal has won both of his Championship series legs in and enters the final on a three-race winning streak.

Trained by Brian Brown, Confederate will leave from post position nine in the field of 10. Tim Tetrick will be in the sulky and the colt is 9-5 on the morning line in the 10th race.

Confederate competes as a homebred for Diamond Creek Farm. He has earned $96,200 in purse money from a record of 4-3-0-1.

MORE THAN EVER, COMBUSTION ATTEMPT TO REMAIN PERFECT IN COMMONWEALTH SERIES ACTION

More Than Ever enters her $100,000 Commonwealth series final for sophomore filly trotters seeking to make it a clean sweep. The daughter of Father Patrick—Anywhere With You will leave from post position two with Dunn at the controls for Alagna.

More Than Ever is 8-5 in the field of seven which is the second race on the card.

The filly was bred by Brittany Farms and is owned by her breeder in conjunction with Riverview Racing.

Combustion places his perfect record on the line in the $100,000 Commonwealth series final for male freshman pacers. The son of Captaintreacherous—Acquavella will be steered by T. McCarthy and is 7-5 on the morning line in the field of five, which is the seventh race.

Sold under the name Captain Picasso, Combustion was a $260,000 yearling at last year's Lexington Selected Yearling Sale.

The colt was bred by Brittany Farms and is owned by Diamond Creek Racing, Thomas Dillon, Scott Dillon and Cooper Silva Stables.

Combustion has earned $51,500 and is 4 4-0-0. He is trained by Brett Pelling.

The Red Mile will also offer a $10,000 guaranteed Pick-4 (races six through nine) in conjunction with the U.S. Trotting Association's Strategic Wagering program.

Sire stakes action continues Monday (Sept. 19) with eight $100,000 Commonwealth series finals for freshman and sophomore female and male trotters and pacers.

On Tuesday (Sept. 20) The Red Mile will host eight $50,000 Golden Rod series for freshman and sophomore female and male trotters and pacers.

Two supplement into the Jugette

A pair of 3-year-old fillies have been supplemented into the 52nd Jugette (Wednesday, Sept. 21), presented by Crawford Farms.

The connections of Sweet Treasurer and Sea Silk have made the $15,000 supplemental payment.

Sweet Treasurer is the daughter of Sweet Lou, out of She's Some Treasure. She is owned by the Hot Lead Farm of Allentown, NJ and trained by Nancy Takter.

Sweet Treasure finished second in the $253,000 Pennsylvania Sire Stakes Final and the $92,300 Shady Daisy. Unraced at 2, she has now earned $150,559 with her three wins and four seconds in 8 seasonal starts.

Sea Silk is the Ohio-bred daughter of Downbytheseaside. She is owned by Burke Racing Stable, Weaver Brusceci, Knox Services and Hatfield Stables and conditioned by Ron Burke.

Sea Silk was the top 2-year-old filly pacer in Ohio last season and has put together another strong season.

She swept the four preliminary Ohio Sire Stakes legs and the Ohio State Fair Stake. She was second against open company in the $250,000 James M. Lynch Memorial.

Sea Silk's career record stands at 14-2-2 in 19 starts with $794,456 in earnings.

The complete field will be announced after the entry box closes this morning (Sept. 18) at 10 a.m.

Charlie May, OBC freshman filly pace to kick off Jug Week

The 2021 Ohio Horse of the Year, Charlie May, and a dozen freshmen filly pacers look to take center stage on today's (Sept. 18) opening day action at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Charlie May (driver Brett Miller) will take on eight rivals in the $19,100 Ohio Breeders Championship for older pacers.

The gelded son of McArdle has an impressive resume – 23 career wins in 45 starts, $1.5 million in earnings and a lifetime mark of 1:47.1.

He is owned by Don Tiger and trained by Steve Carter, who is a handful of wins away from the 2,000-win plateau.

Charlie May, who drew post position #1, comes into the OBC on a two-race win streak – the $200,000 Jim Ewart Memorial and the $85,000 Ohio Sire Stakes Final.

The 12 entries in the $127,114 Ohio Breeders Championship for 2-year-old filly pacers requires two six-horse divisions.

In the first division, More The Merrier (Aaron Merriman) has been tapped as the morning line favorite.

Bucky Trout trains the daughter of Western Vintage for September L. Six of Greenfield, OH.

She has won half of her eight lifetime starts, including her last effort in the $55,000 final leg of the Ohio Sire Stakes at MGM Northfield Park in 1:52.2.

In the $63,557 second division, Fear Of Sports (Tyler Smith) looks to extend her four-race win streak.

The homebred daughter of Fear The Dragon is owned by Emerald Highlands Farm and is trained by Kelly O'Donnell.

Fear Of Sports hasn't been worse than second in any of her seven seasonal starts, earning $129,125.

Sunday's action will also feature four divisions of the Buckeye Stallion Series 3-year-old colt trot and three BSS divisions of the 3-year-old filly trot.

The 20-race card will feature a $5,000 guaranteed Pick 4 (Races 16-19) and the first post will be at 1:00 PM.

Free past performance pages for Sunday's races will be available at www.LittleBrownJug.com.

Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association presents five days in Delaware

The Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association (OHHA) will present "Five Days in Delaware" beginning today (Sept. 18) through Thursday (Sept. 22) as part of Little Brown Jug Week at the Delaware County Fair Grounds.

A full slate of programming is scheduled for the week including coverage of all five days of racing on the OHHA Facebook page and HarnessRacingOhio.com.

The OHHA will begin each day with Trackside Live. Trackside Live is a half-hour interview show hosted by OHHA outreach and public relations coordinator Frank Fraas. Two shows will air each day prior to post time.

Trackside Live will incorporate the traditional Speakers Series held on Wednesday and Thursday.

Following Trackside Live it is Countdown To Post Time. A half-hour show that will look at the day of racing from the Delaware County Fairgrounds. Countdown To Post Time is presented by Bluebird Valley Stables.

After Countdown To Post Time, it is live coverage of the entire race program. Coverage will include analysis of the races, interviews, and features. Race coverage is presented by Big Dee's Tack and Vet Supply, Cool Winds Farm, Midland Acres, The Ohio State University Veterinary Medical Center, and TheStable.ca.

"This summer the OHHA's coverage of county fair racing in Ohio has been seen across the United States, Canada, and worldwide," said Fraas. "This gives our fans who have watched our coverage all summer the opportunity to watch one of the greatest events in harness racing from a great place like the Delaware County Fairgrounds."

Hollywood Dayton readies for richest race night in Ohio history

Hollywood Dayton Raceway officials are readying for the Southwest Ohio track's ninth year of live racing, which opens on Tuesday, Sept. 27. Highlight of the 70-program meet will surely be the first Saturday of the season, Oct. 1, when Dayton will play host to the richest card of racing — $3.4 million in purses — in Ohio racing history, harness or thoroughbred.

Ohio Super Night is coming to Dayton for the first time ever with eight championship races, each worth $300,000, for the Buckeye State's finest 2- and 3-year-olds. Ohio's finest sophomore pacers and trotters competed in four preliminary legs of the Ohio Sires Stakes at Miami Valley Gaming, MGM Northfield Park and Eldorado Scioto Downs to gain points towards the lucrative finals. Topping the standings are Gabbys C Note (filly trot), Longshot (colt trot), Sea Silk (filly pace) and Bythemissal (colt pace). After four legs at Northfield and Scioto, the top Ohio bred freshmen on their respective lists are Rose Run Yolanda (filly trot), Jet Hill (colt trot), Fear Of Sports (filly pace) and Racing Rampage (colt pace).

Also featured will be a quartet of $250,000 Grand Circuit stakes events for the best older horses in North America. Bulldog Hanover, the No. 1 ranked horse in North America and leading candidate for Horse of the Year, is expected to face a full field of the sport's fastest older male pacers in the annual Dayton Pacing Derby. The 4-year-old superstar became the fastest harness horse in history earlier this year when he scorched

The Meadowlands track in 1:45.4.

Test Of Faith will get a stern test in the Dayton Distaff Derby for the most elite pacing mares in the United States or Canada. On the trotting side, Lovedbythemasses is the top money earner to date from a long list of nominees to the Dayton Trotting Derby; while Bella Bellini is the top earner from a shorter list of nominated trotting mares for the new Dayton Oaks. In addition to the best horses, the Dayton Derbies also attract most of the best drivers in the world on an annual basis.

Post time for the Ohio Super Night and Dayton Derbies extravaganza is 6 p.m. on Oct. 1.

The regular 2022 schedule for the Hollywood Dayton races will be Tuesday through Saturday, beginning at 4 p.m. daily. The season runs from Tuesday, Sept. 27 through Friday, Dec. 30.

Long-time industry executive Hugh Mitchell appointed to chair of Woodbine Entertainment's board of directors

Woodbine Entertainment announced today that its board of Directors has appointed long-time executive in the horse racing industry Hugh Mitchell as chair, effective immediately. Mitchell was appointed to the position during Woodbine Entertainment's Annual General Meeting on Friday (Sept. 17).

As chair of the board of directors, Mitchell will provide leadership, guidance and governance as Woodbine Entertainment fulfills its mandate to sustain and grow horse racing in Ontario. This includes further strengthening the racing product at Woodbine and Woodbine Mohawk Park. Mitchell will also play a critical role in advancing Woodbine Entertainment's community plan to develop the surrounding lands at Woodbine Racetrack to be world-class entertainment destinations while creating new revenue streams that will support the horse racing industry and the 25,000 jobs it directly and indirectly supports throughout the province.

"As we continue to emerge from the global pandemic, our board, organization, and the horse racing industry will substantially benefit from Hugh's knowledge, relationships and experience," said Jim Lawson, CEO, Woodbine Entertainment. "We have a tremendous opportunity to grow the sport of horse racing in Ontario in the coming years with exciting and transformative initiatives and we look forward to leveraging Hugh's business and horse racing experience to help realize and maximize those opportunities."

Mitchell, who has been on Woodbine Entertainment's board of directors since 2018, was most recently the president and chief executive officer of Western Fair District in London, ON, a position he held from 2009 to 2018. He has also served as chair of Woodbine Entertainment's Standardbred Racing Committee since 2020.

Throughout his successful career, Mitchell has led the horse racing industry in various prominent roles including as the chairman of the board of Harness Tracks of America (HTA) and as a member and chair of the Ontario Racing board of directors.

In addition to his role as a current member of the board of governors at Fanshawe College where he was a past vice-chair, Mr. Mitchell is also a past president of Tourism London, as well as director of both the London Chamber of Commerce and Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions. Earlier in his career, Mr. Mitchell worked for Woodbine Entertainment as the company's senior vice-president of racing from 1998 to 2005.

"I have been extremely fortunate to work in the horse racing industry for many years which makes this appointment very special and motivating for me personally," said Mitchell. "The industry in Ontario is full of hardworking people who are extremely passionate about our sport and equine athletes. I very much look forward to working with the board and Mr. Lawson on growing our sport and industry to the benefit of the thousands of families who earn a living in horse racing."

Mitchell replaces Christine Magee who was the chair of Woodbine Entertainment's board of directors since 2020 and a director since 2015. Magee was appointed chair at a critical time as the organization and industry were managing through a global pandemic and ensuing government restrictions which significantly impacted the organization, its employees and the Ontario horse racing industry and the tens of thousands of jobs it supports throughout the province.

"Having Christine's steady hand, leadership and stewardship was instrumental in managing and navigating the impacts of the pandemic," said Lawson. "Her guidance also helped lead us to a position of stability during unstable times to ensure we were well-positioned for growth and transformation as our organization and industry emerge from the first two years of the pandemic."

"On behalf of our organization, and the board of directors, I would like to thank Christine for her many contributions to Woodbine Entertainment and the horse racing industry over the last seven years."

"My time on the Board, both as chair and previously a director, has been an absolute honor," said Magee. "Woodbine Entertainment is so much more than just an organization – it's the economic engine of an industry that provides a way of life for tens of thousands of people and an institution that leads the great responsibility of managing a beloved sport that has been a part of Canadian culture and society for hundreds of years."

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank my fellow board members and the leadership team for their support and exceptional efforts. I would also like to congratulate Hugh Mitchell on his appointment to chair and acknowledge that Woodbine Entertainment and the industry will be well-served as he steps into this role."

Long-serving member Ben Hutzel is also retiring from the board of directors, effective today.

"On behalf of our board, I would like to thank Ben for his countless contributions and lengthy service to our organization and industry as a director, horse owner, and breeder," said Lawson.

An Ontario corporation without share capital, Woodbine Entertainment operates a multi-dimensional entertainment business with a core mandate of sustaining and growing the horse racing industry in Ontario.

Virginia's Shenandoah Downs opens seventh racing season today

Shenandoah Downs ushered in a new era of pari-mutuel harness racing Friday (Sept. 16) when it opened its seventh season in Virginia's scenic Shenandoah Valley with its longest meet ever, highest average daily purse distribution ever and for the first time, will offer its product to fans around the country via four online wagering sites.

The track, which held five-week meets in each of its first six seasons, will host an eight-week session which began Friday and continues through Nov. 6 with racing every Friday at 3 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m.. The schedule will change for final three weeks with Saturday and Sunday cards at 1 p.m.

Overnight purses will average $75,000 per day. Purses for Breeder's Fund races, including eliminations and finals over the last three weekends, will total $824,000. The 25th annual Virginia Breeder's Championships will usher out the meet on Sunday Nov. 6. In addition, horses that are 100 per cent owned by a Virginia resident will get a 50 per cent bonus on overnight races, and drivers/trainers that are Virginia residents will get a 50 per cent bonus on overnights.

Perhaps most exciting is the ability the track now has to introduce its signal via streaming to online betting customers who utilize TVG, Xpressbet, Twinspires and NYRabets. Previously, Shenandoah's handle was generated by on track attendees and to a smaller degree, thru Virginia's OTB customers.

Long-time Virginia handicapper "Derby" Bill Watson will provide a free daily tip sheet available at www.shenandoahdowns.com. His selections will also appear on the track's streaming feed.

Atlantic Canadian harness racing families to be honored

The host committee for the 2022 Atlantic Breeders Crown is pleased to announce the four Atlantic Canadian harness racing families who will be lauded for their achievements and contributions to the industry during the upcoming Atlantic Breeders Crown weekend at Red Shores Charlottetown on Oct. 8 and 9.

The families which have been selected by the evaluation committee in each province are:

New Brunswick: the Kirkpatrick family

Newfoundland and Labrador: the family of the late Eugene Ryan

Prince Edward Island: the Taylor family of brothers Lee, Winston and Newton

Nova Scotia: The family of the late Frank Jamieson of Wallace, Nova Scotia

Presentations to each of the four families will take place at the Atlantic Breeders Crown banquet, presented by PEI Standardbred Horse Owners Association, at the Top of the Park at Red Shores Charlottetown on Oct. 8. Memorabilia from each of the four families will be on display in the "Memory Lane" room in the upper level of the grandstand during the weekend.

The host committee also announced that presentations will again be made to the owners of all horses participating in the Championship Finals, but for 2022 will be made during the Championship race program on Sunday, due to limited seating capacity at the Saturday banquet. The Atlantic Breeders Crown banquet will be hosted by Lee Drake and Vance Cameron and carried live through the Race Day broadcast YouTube channel at redshores.ca

To reserve your seats in the Top of the Park, call 902-620-4264.

Bythemissal and Pleaseletmeknow supplement into the Little Brown Jug

A pair of 3-year-old colts have been supplemented into the 77th edition of the Little Brown Jug (Thursday, Sept. 22), presented by the Ohio Harness Horseman's Association, for $45,000.

Bythemissal is owned by Burke Racing Stable, Eric Good, Rich Lombardo Racing and Weaver Bruscermi and conditioned by Ron Burke.

He is the gelded son of Downbytheseaside and is looking to be the first Ohio-bred Jug champ since BJ Scoot (1988).

Bythemissal had only one start as a 2-year-old but had made up for lost time this season. He has amassed over $537,000 in earnings thanks to wins in the $350,000 Adios Pace Final and the $300,000 Carl Milstein Memorial.

Pleaseletmeknow was recently crowned as the New York Sire Stakes champion. He is trained by Travis Alexander for the Fiddler's Creek Stable.

He is the homebred son of American Ideal. Pleaseletmeknow has eight seasonal wins in 12 starts and has earned $522,194 in his lifetime.

Supplemental entries have fared well in the Little Brown Jug. Two of the recent Jug champs were supplemental entries: Wiggle It Jiggle It (2015) and Courtney Choice (2018).

The complete field will be announced after the entry box closes on Monday, Sept. 19 at 10 a.m.

Hambletonian-winning owner Scott Farber recounts his remarkable day

The first thing that I always notice every time I come out of the building at the beautiful new Meadowlands racetrack is the old grandstand, which sits just beyond site of the track's now 1/2-mile marker. It's there that some of my greatest childhood and teen year memories were made. Initially, as a 15-year-old in 1985 when I often found my way to the track by way of hopping in a car with much older Palisades Park, NJ high schoolers. Those memories (sorry John) include those very same high schoolers flashing some good old high school testosterone towards John Campbell and Bill O'Donnell after a race or two were lost.

Just two years later, in 1987, I watched in awe as my father's great horse Run The Table became the first to beat the previously undefeated Jate Lobell. I was instantly hooked. I had not only had my first exposure to the emotion of being tied to a world championship caliber horse but also met Jim Campbell.

My father passed in 2004 but his passion lived on in my brother Brian and me. He was our very best friend. Fast forward to 2011 and Jim and his crew had Opening Night in my first Hambletonian where he finished a very respectable third with John in the bike for that final. Interestingly, in the 2011 Hambletonian eliminations, it was Brian Sears that guided Opening Night to the final. History repeats.

I think of these things every time I see that old grandstand from the new Meadowlands racetrack and this August 6th was no exception. Once I was done with my customary reflection, I made my way up to the West Deck where friends and family had started to gather. I did my very best to be calm and remain as personable as I could be but there was really no escaping the emotion that comes with having a horse in the Hambletonian. Even my previous experiences before big races or knowing that the public was sure to make my entrant, Cool Papa Bell, a longshot, couldn't prepare me for my natural feelings. This is the biggest day and race in our sport. Everyone who is in attendance knows it. I was feeling the enormity of the day. I was alive and very happy to be feeling all the emotion.

One of those emotions was that I'd had much more confidence in Take All Comer's chances in the 2021 edition of the Hambletonian than I had been feeling with Cool Papa Bell. All I know now is that I'm very thankful that horses cannot read minds, or I would have been in for one heck of an "I told you so!"

As the day went on, I watched the mare that started me on the path to this year's Hambletonian, Next Level Stuff, give what she always gives... her very best... in the Steele. NLS chased, three of the best horses in her class, Bella Bellini, When Dovescry and Atlanta. I then watched her half-brother, Take All Comers, race against older, more seasoned horses, 2 and 3 wide throughout the race ultimately tiring to finish way back in the Vincennes. It just wasn't his day either.

When Fashion Schooner won from post 10 in the Hambletonian Oaks I was elated for Jim as I had been sitting right next to him when the draw took place at Dr. Patty Hogan's state-of-the-art facility. At that time, Jim was obviously less than thrilled with how she had drawn. I felt it only right for me to make my way down to the apron of the winner's circle to introduce myself to the owner of Fashion Schooner and one of Jim's longest tenured owners, Fashion Farms' Jules Siegel. I had never met him before and wanted to not only to introduce myself but also congratulate him on his victory in the Oaks. He was very gracious towards me and it's something that I'll always remember. I reminded him that back in October of 2020 we both won a Breeders Crown final with Jim at Harrah's Hoosier Park. His horse that night, Sandbetweenmytoes, became the horse with the highest odds to ever win a Breeders Crown final.

A final observation from the Oaks: When the van carrying the training connections pulled up to the winner's circle for the trophy presentation, Jim Campbell did not emerge. As Tim Tetrick was making his way to the winner's circle, I looked to my right, and I saw Jim about to go by on a jog cart with Cool Papa Bell! I can't speak for other trainers, but I would guess that some of them would have found another time slot to warm Cool Papa Bell up, on the chance that they had won the Hambletonian Oaks. Not Jim. He was doing what was best for the horse's chances in the Hambletonian. To me, choices that he makes, like that one, exemplify not the trainer that Jim is, but the person that he is.

Back up to the West Deck and to my now throng of guests who were having drinks, eating and enjoying the beautiful day. The vast majority of them still hadn't noticed my continually growing nervous excitement. As the horses came onto the track for the 14th race, I finally had to break away from my support group and put my AirPods in. I chose Mozart radio in an attempt to find a mindset where I could escape the pressure that was continually rising as we got closer to the big race. I passed my friend Jenn Bongiorno who had been so helpful to me in obtaining Brian Sears' services earlier in the year with Cool Papa

Bell. Brian was a huge part of the development of the horse but was fully committed to the wonder filly Joviality S in the final. Jenn recognized what I was feeling and just gave me a look like "it's going to be fine."

Along the way on this day, I came across so many people with whom I have forged friendships within the business. Hambletonian Day is truly a wonderful venue for playing catch up on a face-to-face basis, very similarly to how things were done back at the old grandstand in 1987 before cell phones allowed us to text.

Thirty-one back-and-forth laps from the West to the East ends of the grandstand saw the 14th race come and go and the horses come onto the track for the 15th race... the Hambletonian. It was time. I made my way down to the fence along the track and snapped a couple of pictures of Cool Papa Bell coming by during the post parade. The reality that it was time for the race was sobering for me. I felt most of the emotions that I had been previously feeling dissipate, replaced by a feeling of "we have nothing to lose." I looked at the tote board and the 50-1 listed next to number 6 and that helped me adopt a new, somewhat calmer mind-set.

One more time back up to the West Deck where another custom of mine awaited: Watching the race with Paula Campbell. Paula has always been a trusted friend and resource to me. She calms me. Her knowledge of how a race is unfolding is, in my opinion, unparalleled. Two minutes to post and my friends now started making their way towards me to both offer me their best wishes for luck in the race but also to tell me how much they had bet on Cool Papa Bell. Not being a huge fan of people betting on my horses, I thought to myself that these people are crazy to be placing such bets.

The horses began to line up behind the starting gate and I followed one more custom and located my four children and gave them each a hug and kiss for luck. I made my way back to the television monitors where Paula was waiting for me. The wings opened and the 97th Hambletonian was underway. Good start but Joviality S had what I thought was a very soft opening quarter of :28. Seeing where Cool Papa Bell was and that opening quarter initially had me thinking that he might be too far back to pose a serious threat to Joviality S or to Rebuff who was now the new leader past the half and in full view of the old grandstand. Todd McCarthy and Cool Papa Bell were still far back but had started to move up the rail. When Keg Stand went off-stride, Todd moved Cool Papa Bell effortlessly even closer. As the turn began, I heard my brother Brian yell "keep moving up the inside" and before I knew it, my horse had done the exact opposite of what he had done the week before and had advanced to within striking distance of the leaders. At that point I thought to myself that Todd had done a masterful job of getting Cool Papa Bell into a spot that could earn us a check. When Fast As The Wind began to gap, Todd, without hesitation, swung Cool Papa Bell out to a clear path and he began to do what I've seen him do many times before and that's put his head down and trot. He was trotting so hard that he took a bit of a bad step and Todd, amazingly, somehow gathered him and continued forward without losing any momentum. I watched the last 1/8 of a mile in what seemed like a dream as they just kept advancing. I held my breath and as he crossed the wire first, all I heard was Ken Warkentin's voice excitedly saying, "Cool Papa Bell at 50 to one!"

All I can really recall at this point was that the West Deck is at an angle that sits behind the finish line so my throng of friends that had been watching and rooting, could not tell if Cool Papa Bell had finished second or third. I turned to my right and looked at all of them, looking at me. I fell to my knees and the reality set in, at least for them, that we had won. It was blackout-city time for me. Thank God for cell phones and for people being able to capture the precious moments immediately after the race. The pictures and videos that poured in over the days following the race provided undeniable proof that I had been completely overwhelmed with what had transpired. After a short celebration on the West Deck with them, I ran to find Jenn and threw her up in the air very similarly to how an offensive lineman in the NFL picks up a running back that just rushed for a touchdown. I then somehow started working my way down to the winner's circle. I saw an ear-to-ear grinning Todd McCarthy making his way back with Jim walking at his side. The next moment I recall in vivid detail. I took it upon myself to rush onto the track and made a direct line to Jim Campbell. I basically tackled him and exclaimed "WE DID IT!"

For almost a decade, my goal in the harness racing business was to stand in the winner's circle with Jim and John Campbell after winning this race. I have since changed Jim's profile picture in my phone to reflect this exact moment. Now every time he calls me, I get to see that and be reminded of the wonder and once in a lifetime experience that I was lucky enough to have had that day.

After the trophy presentation, after the hoopla died down and the interviews ended, Jim and I were finally able to share a celebratory beer (or two) on Victory Terrace. Jim was still in his racing colors and didn't have his wallet. Jim, next time, the first round is on you! The sun was now setting on what had been a perfect day for us. New York City was off in the background, lit up in the pinks and oranges of the setting sun. We took a few last pictures with friends and family and one of the greatest days in my life was in the record books for all eternity. Before we left to begin our private celebrations at our homes with our loved ones, I looked to my left and reflected that this Hambletonian will likely be the last one in front of that old, cherished grandstand. The very same grandstand that introduced me to the very same people and excitement that had helped my father reach the level of success that he had. My dad, very similarly to Jim's dad, was my idol. My only job in life is to continue to make him proud. I think both of our fathers, Jim's and mine, were looking down on us and couldn't have been prouder on this incomparable day.
