Maryland romps to Mohawk Million triumph

Dynamic driver Dexter Dunn takes three of five top stakes.

by Chris Lomon / Woodbine Mohawk Park

Maryland powered home to take all the spoils in the Mohawk Million, putting an exclamation point on a picture-perfect Saturday night (Sept. 21) for driver Dexter Dunn at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

After taking the inside track, literally, to impressive victories in the $347,000 Elegance (with French Champagne) and $713,000 Canadian Trotting Classic (Amazing Catch), Dunn engineered a different trip, but produced the same result, in the Mohawk Million.

Meshuggah, in rein to Scott Zeron, blasted off the wings and took the lead heading into the first turn, followed by Lookatmegoamigo, Go Ahead Makemyday, and Lasting Dream, while Maryland sat an unfettered sixth through an opening panel in :27.1.

Maryland (Dexter Dunn) winning the Mohawk Million in a stakes, track and Canadian record 1:52.3 on Saturday at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

It was status quo on the front end through a half in a tepid :56.2, as Dunn continued to hold a patient hand, now positioned seventh, as the 4-5 choice.

Meshuggah was still on top through three-quarters in 1:24.3, as Lasting Dream looked to ratchet up the pressure. Monalishi arrived on the scene in third, while Maryland, now fourth, was five lengths off the leader, but full of trot and rolling to the outside.

Maryland, whose slot owner for the Million was Hunterton Farm, began to methodically pick off his rivals down the lane, blasting to the front with ease en route to a sharp 3½-length score after a :27.1 final quarter. Lasting Dream was second, Meshuggah third, and Onajetplane fourth. Repay here.

The final time was a stakes, track, and Canadian record 1:52.3.

“He was pretty aggressive tonight,” said Dunn. “He hasn’t really been like that before, and now the horse outside was pretty fired up on the gate, too. And there was a bit going on, but we had a little bobble there before the gate left, but he luckily kept his gait. We still got away in a pretty decent position, and just around the last turn, I nearly lost them there for a bit, but he got himself up.

“I was still confident, especially coming off the last turn, and I was close enough and he’s fast enough.”

For the son of Chapter Seven—Crucial, who won the $575,000 William Wellwood Stakes on Aug. 24 and the $527,027 Peter Haughton Memorial on Sept. 13, it was the third-straight command performance and biggest payday of his career.

“He’s probably the smartest colt I’ve been around,” said winning trainer Marcus Melander, who also took the 2022 Million with

Oh Well. “He wants to do his work. Then, you never know how much the other horses have left, but if he has the position to win when they’re turning from home, he’ll win.”

With Saturday’s win, Maryland is now 4-1-1 from 7 starts, to go along with nearly $1.1 million in lifetime earnings.

“I think pretty much when he was racing at The Meadowlands early, he just showed so much talent,” said Steve Stewart of Hunterton Farm. “And that last 16th, he always just seems to accelerate. There was one race early that I think a horse came up on him and it looked like he was going to go right by him, and he just wouldn’t let him go, and it seems like he’s very versatile.

“Marcus has been saying that the one thing that separates him from a lot of horses is he’s so intelligent.”

Maryland, owned by Courant Inc., PCW Racing, Holly Lane Stud East and SStewart R Thorn Stable, will head home to the Garden State as the newly minted Million champion.

“We will ship him back home to New Jersey and prepare him for the Breeders Crown, since he won last week and he’s already eligible for the finals,” said Melander. “So, that will be his next race, probably. Maybe, we’ll do a qualifier in between, but that’s what we’re waiting for right now.”

Bred by Hanover Shoe Farms, the bay colt, who won his debut at The Meadowlands on June 28, was a $475,000 purchase at the 2023 Lexington Select Yearling Sale.

Maryland paid $3.90 for the win.

Fallout fires to equal stakes record in Metro Pace

by Ray Cotolo for Woodbine communications

Elimination winner Fallout forged first-over glory in the $1,000,000 Metro Pace final, delivering as the 8-5 second choice to equal the stakes and track record on Saturday night at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Blue Onyx blasted out of post 9 for the front and cleared after the first eighth, though he quickly faced attacks from Prince Hal Hanover, and then Captain Optimistic (Yannick Gingras), through a :26.2 first quarter. Prince Hal Hanover swept to the lead and Captain Optimistic, the 6-5 favorite, soon shot forward and seized the helm as the field began to stretch to a :54.4 half.

Driver Tim Tetrick had Fallout off the pylons moving up the backstretch, but never flushed a helmet to follow. So Tetrick sent Fallout forward on the rim and came looming after battle-weary leaders as they scurried by three-quarters in 1:22.1. Captain Optimistic clung to a diminishing lead once Prince Hal Hanover pulled the pocket to assault, all the while Fallout continued to gain to the center of the track. Fallout reached the wheels of Prince Hal Hanover nearing the final eighth and sprung into another gear to slide by Prince Hal Hanover and win by a length. Captain Optimistic settled for third and Swingtown rallied from third over for fourth. Replay here.

“I was just kind of playing the race, and then I could see they were going to play some chess early,” Tetrick said after the race. “Yannick still got a pretty easy first half. But you know, this colt just kept coming and digging, and we kept having a helmet to follow. When it mattered, he got to the wire first.”

A colt by 2012 Metro Pace winner Captaintreacheraus, Fallout won his third race from eight starts and has now earned $590,783 for owners Robert LeBlanc, Pryde Stables, Inc. and Caviart Farms. Tony Alagna trains the Brittany Farms-bred colt as Alagna added a fourth Metro Pace trophy to his mantel. In addition to Captaintreacheraus, he’s also won with Artspeak (2014) and Exploit (2020).

“This horse showed that he had the ability,” Alagna said after the race. “It just looked like he was going to take a couple of starts for him to get really fit and really into it. We took him to Kentucky, we raced him down there twice or three times, and it looked like he was going to be [in] tough down there, so we thought, ‘You know what? We have good luck in Canada. Let’s take him to the Metro and see what happens.’ And he just exploded up here. You know, he’s been lights out both weeks.

“I thought the way Timmy raced him was going to get the miles in him that he needed to come up here. I think probably one of the biggest changes coming up here, we changed his bridal from Lexington to here, and we changed him to aluminum shoes. And, you know, aluminum shoes on the Lexington surface is kind of a 50/50 thing. But we know what they can do to a horse up here in Canada, and we made a decision to come up here. I said, ‘Okay, it’s time to switch him to aluminum,’ so that really cleaned up his gait and I think that’s kind of what put him over the top.”

Fallout, besting his 1:49.3 lifetime-best performance in his Metro Pace elimination, equaled the 1:49.1 stakes record established by Tall Dark Stranger in 2019 as well as the track record set in 2011 by A Rocknroll Dance. The mile was one-fifth-of-a-second off the Canadian record set in 2011 by Sweet Lou.

Fallout paid $5.30 to win.

Amazing Catch (Dexter Dunn) winning the Canadian Trotting Classic final in a stakes equalling 1:51.4 on Saturday at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Amazing Catch capitalizes in Canadian Trotting Classic

by Ray Cotolo for Woodbine communications

Despite a post-10 draw, Amazing Catch barreled forward and sat a snug pocket trip to burst through an inside seam and win at double-digit odds in the $713,000 Canadian Trotting Classic, an open for 3-year-old trotters, on Saturday night (Sept. 21) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Amazing Catch crossed from the grandstand to the pylons alongside Myretirementdream to a :27 first quarter while Sir Pinocchio promptly pulled outside in anticipation of 3-5 favorite Highland Kismet steamrolling down the wide path. Sir Pinocchio powered past Amazing Catch to the lead on the backstretch as Highland Kismet followed the cover, but then bobbed and went off-stride into a gallop and out of contention.

Once Highland Kismet broke, Security Protected sprung out of fifth to march forward and press Sir Pinocchio into the final turn. Sir Pinocchio maintained control by three-quarters in 1:24 but wavered off the pylons in the sprint for home, parting the sea for Amazing Catch to sail through. Amazing Catch punched to the lead and outfooted fast-closing 21-1 shot Private Access to win by 1¼ lengths in 1:51.4, equaling the stakes record. Flying Kronos S, a 65-1 outsider, rallied for third as Security Protected faded to fourth. Replay here.

“He’s had two 10-hole draws in classic races and put in two great efforts,” winning driver Dexter Dunn said after the race. “Obviously, tonight was different; [in] the Hambo, we just went back to last and rode the inside. But [tonight], he had to work out there pretty hard, and we got a good helmet after that, and he really sprinted through. But you know, he just felt fantastic tonight.

“He’s a lovely horse. He was racing some heavy hitters, so it’s not easy out there all the time. But you know, he hasn’t put too many bad efforts in.”

Ake Svanstedt trains Amazing Catch, a colt by Walner—Mets Life, who has now won three races from 15 starts and earned $887,530 for owners Al Libfeld, Marvin Katz and Sam Goldband. Svanstedt also trains third-place finisher Flying Kronos S.

“He’s been in all the big races, and in fact, there in the Hambletonian, if he hadn’t gotten interfered [with], I think he could have won it,” Katz said. “He was that close. And I think Dexter felt the same way. He raced well in the Poconos and hasn’t raced for a month. It was the same with French Champagne. So, when they both came here last week, they just needed the race. But clearly both of them were ready. I said to Sarah [Svanstedt], their plans and their organization for these horses are incomparable, and they deserve all the credit.”

Sent off at 19-1, Amazing Catch paid $41.30 to win.

Chantilly stays undefeated with win in She's A Great Lady

by Ray Cotolo for Woodbine communications

Millar Farms-homebred Chantilly stayed unbeaten in seven career starts with a 1:50.2 crowning in the $532,000 She's A Great Lady final for 2-year-old pacing fillies on Saturday night (Sept. 21) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Chantilly raced unhurried in fifth to a :27 first quarter carved by a headstrong The Last Martini, who stayed to the metal approaching a :55.2 half. Driver James MacDonald activated Chantilly midway up the backstretch and found cover to the far turn from Cant See Me, who circled a tiring Nice Buns to race in third. Chantilly perched onto the helmet of Cant See Me moving to three-quarters in 1:23.3 and erupted down the homestretch. MacDonald stayed poised in the bike as Chantilly carried him over the line 3¼ lengths in front of The Last Martini who held onto second from a game Cant See Me. Millie May Hanover finished fourth. Replay here.

"Ever since this one's come around, she gives you chills, just knowing you get to sit behind her every week," MacDonald said after the race. "And the trip worked out great. And then when I moved her, she just exploded."

"Nick [Gallucci] had asked me before, like, I could tell he was nervous, but he just said, 'What are you thinking?' And I said, 'I think we got a lot of options. We can do whatever we want. We're in a good spot, and I think we just take what the race gives us and see what happens.' And it worked out great."

Gallucci trains Chantilly, a daughter of Big Jim—Shiraz Seelster, who now has $541,000 on her spotless card.

"Yeah, I'm always pessimistic, usually training down, but she always showed enough, especially when we started training [in] the bikes," said Gallucci. "I was starting to get excited about her at around the start of June, I figured that we had a pretty nice filly on our hands."

"I had quiet confidence. I figured the only way she'd get beat is if she beat herself. And luckily, that didn't happen and James gave her a great trip. She did what she had to do, and just keeps winning and just enjoying it."

Sent off as the 1-5 favorite, Chantilly paid $2.50 to win.

No pour decisions: French Champagne uncorks vintage Elegance victory

by Chris Lomon / Woodbine Mohawk Park

French Champagne found an opening in the final moments to win a thrilling edition of the $347,000 Elegance Stakes on Saturday night (Sept. 21) at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Trained by Ake Svanstedt and driven by Dexter Dunn, the daughter of Muscle Hill—French Cafe crossed over from post 8 and grabbed the early lead in the race for 3-year-old trotting fillies, taking her nine rivals through an opening panel in :26.4 as 4-5 choice Drawn Impression and R Melina both marched on without taking a seat.

It was Drawn Impression, riding a three-race win streak, who took command, but yielded the front to R Melina, who carved out a half in :55.4, while French Champagne watched the proceedings from third.

R Melina was still calling the shots heading into the turn for home and held a slight advantage through three-quarters in 1:24.1, but Drawn Impression popped out and put the pressure on the pacesetter as the drive to the wire commenced.

Midway down the lane, Dunn was hemmed in along the pylons, with seemingly nowhere to go.

But with the wire looming, the champion reinsman found the narrowest of lanes to get French Champagne through, as they collared Drawn Impression at the last second to eke out a head win in 1:52.1. R Melina was third while Emoji Hanover finished fourth. Replay here.

“The gap opened up pretty good for me,” said Dunn. “And then it shut on me. So, it got a bit tight after that, but [she was] just full of trot. She trotted great.”

On May 31, French Champagne took her $328,767 New Jersey Sire Stakes (NJSS) final by 2½ lengths in 1:52.1.

The bay filly was even more spectacular in Saturday evening’s scintillating score at Mohawk.

“She’s improved dramatically this year over last year,” said Marvin Katz, who co-bred and co-owns the filly with Al Libfeld. “She was slow developing. She’s had some quirks. Ake and Sarah have done a fantastic job developing her.”

With the win, French Champagne, who was second in the Delmonica Hanover at Pocono Downs on Aug. 17 and third in her Elegance elimination last week, is 9-2-6 from 19 starts, to go along with nearly $750,000 in career earnings.

“She hadn’t raced for a month prior to the elimination,” said Katz. “Obviously, she was tighter tonight, and she showed it. It was a great performance. She’s been really one of the top fillies all year.”

Elegance, a daughter of Balanced Image, posted a race record of 20-7-3 and lifetime earnings of $955,368 in 41 races for owners Hyatt Holdings, Doug Millard, Jerry Van Boekel and Hall of Famer Steven Condren, who also drove the bay mare. She was inducted into the Canadian Horse Racing Hall of Fame in 2017.

French Champagne paid $12.40 to win.

Classic, while Little Rocket Man emerged atop a thriller in the $165,000 Harrah's Hoosier Park Pacing Derby.

Leaving from post 6 as the even-money favorite, Winner's Bet and driver Dexter Dunn were forwardly placed early, pressing to the outside of Ponda Jet (driven by Kyle Wilfong) on the way to the first quarter in :27. Winner's Bet took command on the backstretch, rolling along on the front unchallenged to the half in :55.1. With pocket-sitter Ponda Jet beginning to gap slightly entering the final turn, Dunn turned Winner's Bet loose on the engine, opening up by five at three-quarters in 1:23.1 while Oh Well (Todd McCarthy) led the charge first-over into third.

Winner's Bet strode home confidently, powering away by 5½ midway through the lane in front of Oh Well who moved into the place spot. Geared down at the edge of the tote board, Winner's Bet coasted to the wire in 2¾-lengths clear in 1:50.3. Oh Well fended off his Marcus Melander stablemate Periculum for the place spot.

"He's in great form right now," said winning driver Dunn. "He does it so easy, once we got to the front and got a breather on the backstretch, I felt like I had an opportunity to get some separation on the turn and he felt great turning for home."

Trained by Nancy Takter, the 4-year-old son of Walner—Side Bet Hanover has won six of nine on the season. With the victory, Winner's Bet went over the $1 million mark for his career, banking $1,000,471 for owners Lindy Farms and Robert Rudolph.

"He's really bounced back after some unfortunate circumstances in a few races this summer," said Takter. "He was great through the Graduate and had some tough luck since, but has really shown how good of a horse he is the last couple of starts."

Takter noted that while not yet certain, the Breeders Crown at The Meadowlands in October is likely the next stop for the Caesars Trotting Classic champion.

The win was one of four on the evening for driver Dunn while the 1:50.3 clocking matched the stakes record established by It's Academic in the 2023 edition of the Caesars Trotting Classic.

A race prior, Little Rocket Man rewarded his backers at the betting windows while also providing a thrill to the hometown fans as he won a mad scramble to the wire in the $165,000 Harrah's Hoosier Park Pacing Derby.

With Dave Miller back in the bike for a second-straight start, Little Rocket Man got away in good order fourth while Coach Stefanos (Trace Tetrick) diverted from his usual late-closing tactics to bring the field to the quarter in :26.2. Abuckabett Hanover (Dunn) took command briefly on the backstretch before Miller's hand was forced, with a parked out Bythemissal (Yannick Gingras) flushing the favorite who went on to assume command at the half in :54.2. Little Rocket Man sped into the far turn, under pressure from Backstreet Shadow (Matt Kakaley) who moved three-wide around Bythemissal on the backstretch to apply pressure to the leader at three-quarters in 1:21.3.

Backstreet Shadow's bid began to falter at the top of the lane, setting the scene for a three-horse battle in the stretch with Little Rocket Man between Abuckabett Hanover and Bythemissal. Little Rocket Man dug in gamely in deep stretch, fending off Abuckabett Hanover by a quarter-of-a-length on the line in 1:48.1. Bythemissal finished third, beaten only a half-length after never seeing the pylons throughout the mile.

"I think I was more nervous in the lane than [Little Rocket Man] was," Miller said with a laugh in the winner's circle. "The fractions really weren't too bad on the front, he felt good all the way through the lane, he knows where the wire is."

Ken Rucker trains the 8-year-old son of Rockin Image—GT Miss Royal for owners Russ Beeman and Boomer Freeman. Little Rocket Man earned his third stakes victory of the season, with wins already in the Battle of Lake Erie and Jim Ewart Memorial. A winner in 11 of 14 on the season, the 65-time career winner sports a career bankroll of $1,544,799.

TWELVE STRAIGHT FOR SABONIS

On a card with nine total stakes races, Sabonis headlined the Caesars Trotting Classic undercard, securing his 12th straight victory of the season in the $115,000 Jenna's Beach Boy for 3-year-old colt pacers.

Sabonis earned an automatic nomination into the Jenna's Beach Boy following a victory in the $75,000 Hoosier Cup in his last outing. Leaving from post 5 with regular pilot Joey Putnam aboard, Sabonis skirted the pylons to narrowly get the job done as the 1-5 favorite.

Putnam grabbed command early with the fired up Sabonis, crossing over to the pylons in front at the quarter in :26.2. Howlenth hills (Matt Kakaley) pressed on to the lead after being parked on the first turn, taking over before reaching the half in :55.2. M-M-s Bud (Jay Cross) moved first-over from third, going after Howlenth hills at three-quarters in 1:24 while Sabonis swelled in the pocket.

Howlenth hills and M-M-s Bud slugged it out at the top of the lane before Sabonis joined the fray, swerving sharply to the passing lane while clipping a few pylons while doing so. Sabonis was able to gather his momentum, surging up the lightning lane in :25.4 to get by Howlenth hills by a half-length in 1:50.1. M-M-s Bud held for the show spot.

The win was the second for both Putnam and trainer Aaron Stutzman in the Jenna's Beach Boy, teaming up with Soaring Now to take the 2022 edition. Sabonis has won 15 of 16 on the year. The son of Tellitlikeitis—Gypsy Bellevue has banked $445,750 this season for owner Pat Miller.

Lets Go Endofaera kept her seasonal streak alive a race before hand, pacing to her sixth straight victory in the $75,000 Carl Becker for Indiana Sired 3-year-old pacing fillies.

Driver John De Long found himself parked with the 2-5 favorite on the first turn, racing to the outside of Jada Caroline (Marvin Luna) through a first quarter of :26.4. Lets Go Endofaera cleared on the backstretch, backing the pace down to the half in :56.3. Dexter Dunn fired up fellow elim winner Teelatini up from fourth, surging first-over to take on Lets Go Endofaera at three-quarters in 1:24.4.

The battle raged turning for home, with Lets Go Endofaera digging in to counter the surging Teelatini. Powering home in :26.2, Lets Go Endofaera edged away late, crossing the wire a length clear in 1:51.1 over Teelatini. Lyin' Eyes (Joey Putnam) finished third.

The Indiana Sire Stakes champion at 2, Let's Go Endofaera has won eight of nine on the season for trainer Tabby De Long. John De Long co-owns along with William and Jesse De Long who bred the daughter of JK Endofanera—Let's Go Higher. Lets Go Endofaera has made $267,380 on the year and $552,280 for her career.

In addition to the sophomore pace stakes, Harrah's Hoosier Park hosted stakes for all four freshman divisions along with the Phil Langley Memorial for 3-year-old trotting colts.

THE MADISON COUNTY

Kicking off the stakes action for the evening was a talented group of nine freshman trotting colts going to post in the $100,000 Madison County Stakes and it was driver Kyle Wilfong who sent Operator to the front and never looked back. Stopping the timer in 1:54.3, Operator left alertly from post 8 to dictate fractions of :29.1, :58.3 and 1:27 before holding off a late surge from Monserrate and driver Todd McCarthy. Cheers Hanover and David Miller converted a pocket trip into a third place finish. Slightly dismissed at odds of 11-1, Operator returned $25.40 to his backers at the betting windows.

Trained by Jay Hochstetler, Operator recorded his third win from eight seasonal starts. With the win, the gelded son of You Know You Do—Crazyasclassic pushed his seasonal earnings to $85,005 for owners C.J. & H.J. Hochstetler, R.J. Buddig, A.N. Schwartz. Operator was bred by Christopher Nissley.

THE ELEVATION

Driver John DeLong utilized similar tactics in the very next stakes race on the program as he steered Avanti to a front stepping victory for trainer Melissa Essig in the $100,000 Elevation Pace for 2-year-old pacing colts and geldings. With a final time of 1:51.1, Avanti left enough in the tank to hold off a fast-closing Odds On Brahmastra and driver Peter Wrenn late in the lane. TH Colby and Yannick Gingras rounded out the trifecta. Sent off as the betting favorite, Avanti returned $6.40 at the betting windows.

Owned in partnership by Rocco Ruffolo and Fac Racing LLC, Avanti scored his second win of the season and established a new lifetime best in the process. The gelded son of Rockin Image—Sayulita pushed his lifetime bankroll to $101,900 with the victory.

THE KENTUCKIANA STALLION MANAGEMENT STAKES

The $185,000 Kentuckiana Stallion Management Stakes delivered thrilling performances with Sammy Jo Hanover capturing the 2-year-old pacing filly division and a dramatic dead heat finish between Kendra and Voguish in the trotting filly division.

Sammy Jo Hanover, driven by Tim Tetrick and trained by Scott Di Domenico, showcased her talent with a decisive victory in 1:51.2. Tetrick sent Sammy Jo Hanover away from the gate firing but she yielded the lead to Always Ana Hanover and Ronnie Wrenn Jr. just before the half. When the field turned for home, Sammy Jo Hanover found a :27 closing kick to surge past Always Ana Hanover and hold off Wunderkindbluechip and Scott Zeron. Sammy Jo Hanover returned $12.60 to her backers at the betting windows.

The 2-year-old daughter of Captaintreacherous—Sammy's Magic equaled her lifetime best mark, delivering her second win from eight seasonal starts. Sammy Jo Hanover, bred by Hanover Shoe Farms, is owned by Oompa's Farm and Joseph Barbera.

The 2-year-old trotting filly division added even more excitement, as Kendra and Voguish crossed the wire together in a dramatic dead heat, stopping the clock in 1:54.3.

Kendra, piloted by Dexter Dunn and trained by Nancy Takter, benefitted from a pocket trip behind her stablemate Pink Chou Chou and Yannick Gingras to shoot up the passing lane for the victory. Kendra notched her second win from seven seasonal starts for owners Black Horse Racing and Eric Good. The daughter of Walner out of Danish Girl pushed her lifetime bankroll to $158,600.

Voguish, trained by Andrew Harris and driven by David Miller, sat third for much of the mile before utilizing a :26.2 closing kick to get up in the final strides of the mile and also reach the winner's circle for the third time this season.

The daughter of Gimpanzee out of Jolene Jolene represents owners William Pollock, Bruce Areman, and Andrew Harris, and has now amassed $130,850 in lifetime purse earnings with three wins from seven starts.

THE PHIL LANGLEY MEMORIAL

French Kronos capitalized on a pocket trip with driver Dexter Dunn to capture the $100,000 Phil Langley for 3-year-old trotting colts. Greenspan (Todd McCarthy) cut the quarter in :27.3 with French Kronos tucked in behind to the half in :57. Dashing Danny (Kyle Wilfong) tried to get in contention on the turn, moving into third behind the lead duo at three-quarters in 1:25.4. Dunn tugged the right line at the top of the lane and French Kronos did the rest, trotting home in :26.4 to cross the wire 1½ lengths in front of Greenspan. Dashing Danny held for the show spot.

Trained by Marcus Melander, the son of Face Time Bourbon—Arrow Kronos S has won four of 11 on the year for owners Heights Stable, Mantorp LLC, Rtl Racing Inc., and Holly Lane Stud East LTD. French Kronos has banked $154,596 following his fifth career victory.

Meager 40 harness dates on tap at Hawthorne for 2025

Harness racing has half as many dates in Chicago as the thoroughbreds and six fewer cards than what the standardbreds have in 2024.

by Neil Milbert

Once upon a time, many of the finest harness horses in North America came to Sportsman's Park, Maywood Park and later Balmoral Park every spring and summer to compete in lucrative and prestigious races and the trainers and drivers based at these Chicago area tracks raced for robust purses six nights a week.

These days that all seems like a fairy tale.

Now, dual-purpose Hawthorne Race Course is the only track in the metropolitan area, there are no races of national importance and racing either two or three nights weekly during the coldest and snowiest months of the year is the new normal for the Illinois harness horsemen.

The Illinois Racing Board awarded 2025 dates on Thursday (Sept. 19) and Hawthorne was allotted a meager 40 harness programs, six fewer than this year's number.

This year's second meeting that is scheduled to begin Oct. 19 and continue through Dec. 30 will be extended from Jan. 4 through Feb. 23 with racing on Saturday and Sunday nights. Then, after an absence of more than eight months the standardbreds will return for a Nov. 7-Dec. 30 meeting with racing on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

In stark contrast, the thoroughbreds will have 80 programs, running from March 20-Nov. 3.

Illinois Harness Horsemen's Association president Jeff Davis, executive director Tony Somone and their constituents don't like it one bit that Hawthorne and the Racing Board are giving them the cold shoulder.

"Over the past decade Illinois harness racing has been devastated," said Davis, looking back to 2014 when there were 225 harness dates.

"The winter is least favorable for us. Our Illinois-bred 2-year-olds and 3-year-olds do not race during those months. Give us back our two weeks in October [that are on the 2024 schedule] and we would be good with that"

The three preceding years at the hearings the IHHA, the Illinois Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association and Hawthorne came to a mutual agreement on the schedule.

In 2022 it was split into four segments with the harness horses racing from Jan. 7-March 30 and from July 2-Sept. 11.

In 2023 the format was altered with both breeds being allocated one extended meeting, which was from Sept. 9-Dec. 31 for the standardbreds.

That meeting stretched into 2024 with the harness horses competing from Jan. 1-Feb. 12 before their long absence from Hawthorne until Oct. 9 when they will resume racing.

But at the Sept. 19 dates hearings for the first time there was no meeting of minds in drafting the 2025 schedule. The ITHA and Hawthorne agreed to hold 80 race programs – more than double the harness allotment – during the spring, summer and early autumn over a span of more than seven months.

"We all realize we need to share Hawthorne," said Somone, speaking for his IHHA constituents. "But this [harness racing] is not a club sport; it's a professional sport."

The rationale of ITHA president Chris Block for the October takeover was to add more opportunities for grass racing, incorporate the Breeders' Cup simulcast into the thoroughbred meeting and make it easier for trainers at Hawthorne to transition to the winter meetings at the Fair Grounds, Tampa Bay Downs and Oaklawn Park.

Davis argued for a four-segment schedule similar to that of 2022. He proposed that the harness horses race from January

“Over the past decade Illinois harness racing has been devastated. The winter is least favorable for us. Our Illinois-bred 2-year-olds and 3-year-olds do not race during those months. Give us back our two weeks in October [that are on the 2024 schedule] and we would be good with that”

~ IHHA executive director Tony Somone

“We all realize we need to share Hawthorne,” said Somone, speaking for his IHHA constituents. “But this [harness racing] is not a club sport; it’s a professional sport.”

~ IHHA president Jeff Davis

through February; the thoroughbreds from March through the first two weeks of May; the harness horses from the last two weeks of May through July; the thoroughbreds from August through October; and the harness horses from November through December.

His argument was in vain and the Hawthorne/ITHA proposed schedule was approved by a 7-1 vote.

Both harness and thoroughbred racing in Illinois are in disarray because of the decision by corporate owner Churchill Downs, Inc., to discontinue racing at one of North America’s foremost tracks, Arlington International Racecourse, after its 2021 meeting.

For nearly two decades Arlington’s management had joined the rest of the Illinois racing community in lobbying the state legislature to legalize casinos at the tracks – racinos in the gambling vernacular – so that a portion of the revenue could be used to augment purses, thereby significantly improving the quality of the racing product.

But in 2018 CDI acquired a 62 per cent interest in Rivers Casino, the most profitable casino in Illinois located less than a half hour drive from Arlington.

When a major Illinois gaming expansion bill permitting racinos at long last was legalized the following year suddenly and unexpectedly the people running CDI did a complete about-face. They put Arlington up for sale with the stipulation that the buyer wouldn’t conduct either racing or casino gambling on the premises.

The Chicago Bears of the NFL bought the property and to lower their real estate taxes tore down iconic Arlington, which was considered North America’s showcase thoroughbred track. Now, the Bears have shifted their focus for a proposed new football stadium to a Chicago lakefront location near their current home at Soldier Field.

Arlington lies in ruins and Illinois racing has been devastated by the collateral damage.

A proposed racino at Hawthorne came up during the dates hearings and on this subject the IHHA and ITHA were in complete agreement. They castigated Hawthorne for its inability to make its proposed $400 million racino a reality.

Large portions of the grandstand and clubhouse were torn down in 2020 in anticipation of construction. But, after assuring the board and horsemen’s organizations at every subsequent dates hearing that the debris would be cleared and the racino would be open by the end of the following year, Hawthorne president Tim Carey has been unable to deliver.

“We’ll believe it when we see it,” said Somone, who pointed out that the casinos in Chicago, Waukegan and Rockford that also were legalized in 2019, “all are operational in some way.

“Hawthorne already owns the land. Five years later the elephant in the room is: will they ever get financing? Horse racing in Illinois has gone backward because of the failure to go forward.”

ITHA executive director Dave McCaffrey told the board, “The racing side at Hawthorne is terrific; the racino side is abysmal. We’ve been here for five and a half years [waiting for a racino]. We need to know what’s going on.”

Block testified, “This racino was needed a long time ago. It’s a tough economic environment for horse racing in Illinois – it’s beyond tough.”

The ITHA president added that the conditions created by the teardown have exacerbated the situation because they “are not conducive to fans watching live racing – it’s like sitting in the end zone at a football game; you have no idea where your horse is turning for home so you have to look at a TV.”

Davis likewise deplored the status quo for spectators.

At this dates hearing Carey introduced Edward Winkofsky as Hawthorne’s regulatory counsel on financing and development of property, a newly created position.

According to Winkofsky, “the team has made significant progress” but he said there now is a confidentiality agreement in the final phases of the project and information can only be shared privately with the Racing Board and Illinois Gaming Board.

So, for the foreseeable future everyone else will be in the dark.

During 2023 and 2024 non-betting harness racing supplemented by the Hawthorne purse account has been conducted at the state fairgrounds in Springfield and DuQuoin. This year the twice weekly programs began in June and will continue through early October.

“We made an investment in excess of $250,000 in the non-wagering races,” Carey said. “We believe in harness racing and we believe it can thrive in the future. We remain steadfast in our effort to have a $400 million racino. The process is the process and the circumstances are what they are.”

The possibility of replacing the races funded by Hawthorne’s purse account with a pari-mutuel meeting at Springfield came up at the hearings.

John Walsh, Hawthorne’s assistant general manager, said the track had discussions this year about pari-mutuel racing with the Illinois Department of Agriculture, which controls the fairgrounds at Springfield and DuQuoin, and tried to get a Springfield lease but it wasn’t feasible because of other activities scheduled at the track.

“If there’s some way to figure it out for the coming year, we’re for that,” Walsh said. “This [shortage of harness racing pari-mutuel programs at Hawthorne] is a short-term problem. We think in the next two years things will be much, much better.”

Finish lines: Fairmount Park in downstate Collinsville across the Mississippi River from St. Louis is the only pari-mutuel track in Illinois other than Hawthorne and it conducts thoroughbred racing. At the hearings it was awarded 55 programs in 2025 from April 22-Oct. 28. Accelentertainment, a publicly-traded gambling conglomerate formed in 2009, this summer acquired Fairmount from FanDuel Sportsbook and Horse Racing for $35 million and its officers introduced themselves to the Racing Board by making a presentation at the hearings. Accel president Mark Phelan said plans call for a temporary casino with 200 slot machines and 46 gaming tables to open at the track in 2026, the 100th anniversary year of its opening. According to Phelan, “This is Accel’s first foray into horse racing. We want to use the casino as a financial tool to facilitate our horse racing objectives.”

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

Burt Firtel is still looking to hit a home run

After 50 years in the business, he's hoping buying yearlings will one day give him that great horse.

by Murray Brown

I spoke with Burt Firtel regarding this article this past Monday (Sept. 16).

"Just think I've owned horses for 50 years now," Firtel said. "I finally have one who is good enough to race in the Little Brown Jug. My only hope is that I don't draw the dreaded 8-hole."

You didn't draw the 8-hole, since there are only seven in each elimination and you drew the 7-hole in yours with Sweet Beach Life. Such is racing. I was quick to point out that there have been horses that have overcome a bad position in the Jug. Pointing to Well Said's victory in 2009 when he left from post 8. "Regardless of how I draw, I'll be out there to cheer him on," Firtel said.

Fifty years is a long time to be an owner. How and when did it begin?

"I'm a New Englander from Connecticut; I was racing at Foxboro. At that time Foxboro was a great place to race. Hall of Famers like Jimmy Doherty, Teddy Wing and Bill O'Donnell were regulars there. I had a chance to get involved with a $5,000 claimer named Rufus Direct with my partner Jack Morici. He would pace around 2:02 at Foxboro. Mark Lancaster was my trainer. I raced there for a few years. My stable consisted of three different claimers - nice horses, no champions, but they paid their way. The Meadowlands had opened and Doherty and Wing left to race there. So did some of the Foxboro horses. Lancaster stayed, but within just seven days all three of my horses were claimed. They were going to race at The Meadowlands. My stable was wiped out. A Boston newspaper ran a story on it. The headline was "Burt Firtel is Crying in his Beer."

“ I blame the horsemen and more specifically the horsemen’s association for there no longer being harness racing [in Florida]. Simply put they fumbled the ball. There has to be a reason why the thoroughbreds survived the casinos and are not only surviving, but are thriving at Gulfstream, while we have in effect been flushed down the drain... Instead of hiring professionals to act on their behalf as the thoroughbred people did, they chose to represent themselves. They were amateurs trying to play as professionals. So here we are today, a great sport that no longer exists.”

~ Burt Firtel

What did you do then?

“I guess the old saying is ‘If you can’t beat them, join them.’ So, I went to The Meadowlands and claimed a New Zealand import named Wairocka On. As luck would have it, he fell down during the race. I also found out that he was blind in one eye. He still managed to overcome those problems and became a decent horse for me. I continued to own horses with varying degrees of success. In 2012 I sold my business and moved to Florida where I began racing at Pompano Park.”

Speaking of Pompano. Why do you believe it went down and why there is no longer harness racing in Florida?

“I blame the horsemen and more specifically the horsemen’s association for there no longer being harness racing here.

Simply put they fumbled the ball. There has to be a reason why the thoroughbreds survived the casinos and are not only surviving, but are thriving at Gulfstream, while we have in effect been flushed down the drain. The horsemen's association tried to do what they were incapable of doing. Instead of hiring professionals to act on their behalf as the thoroughbred people did, they chose to represent themselves. They were amateurs trying to play as professionals. So here we are today, a great sport that no longer exists."

In recent years you have switched from racing claimers to almost exclusively racing youngsters, most of which you bought as yearlings. Why the change?

"There are likely several reasons, one of which is that I, like most people who buy yearlings, am looking to hit the home run. I'm now 85 years old. I won't get too many more chances to acquire that great horse. I realize that even though generally speaking, the chances of that happening are not great, that the only chance you have of getting that horse is to buy it as a yearling and watch it develop."

How is your present stable constituted?

"I guess it's in a state of constant flux. In November of 2023 I owned pieces of 12 horses. I am now down to six. I have them with Travis Alexander, Linda Toscano, Peter Wrenn and Freddie Grant. I believe that my stable is now short on numbers but fairly high in quality."

Let's switch topics. You are also an author and an inventor as well.

"I self-published a book called "The Legend of the Cap." I was, and to a lesser degree still am, an avid golfer. The book is a fantasy relating to golf, its history, its present and maybe its future. I used to play a great deal more than I do today. I underwent heart surgery a few years ago. The doctors have told me that I should avoid playing in very warm temperatures which are often the norm in Florida where I live."

And as an inventor?

"I presently hold two patents both of which are directed at geriatrics like me. The first is called "Don't Forget." It is designed to remind people when they are leaving their vehicle to not leave without taking their phones and other necessities such as groceries and most importantly children and pets with them. The second is designed to help those who become confused or lost and do not know where they are. This happens more often than is generally known."

Let’s go to where this story began. You have Sweet Beach Life as a starter in the Little Brown Jug.

“As you know, we drew the outside position. I’m obviously not thrilled with that, but that’s racing. I’m still excited. I’m going to Ohio on Wednesday. I’m not unrealistic enough to believe that even with a good position, that we stood a good chance of winning. But its horse racing. You never know. That’s why they race the horses before they write the purse checks. It’s kind of unusual how we even got to this place. In his last start in the Pennsylvania Sires Stakes final at Pocono Downs, Sweet Beach Life was a huge longshot. Nevertheless, he won paying $110 to win. Even more unusual, the horse that finished second to him was Rush In, a horse that I also own, who paid $280 to place. If ever before a horse paid that much to place, neither I nor anybody that I have spoken of it with has either. I have no idea what the exacta paid or if there was even a winning ticket sold on that exacta. Needless to say, I did not have a bet on the race at all.”

Editor’s Note: Sweet Beach Life finished fourth in his Jug elim from post 7 and finished eighth in the Jug final from post 8.

ALL OVER ONTARIO

with MATTHEW LOMON

Oooh! Oooh! Oooh! Owners Arnolds Horse Shack look to be welcomed back to the winner's circle

by Matthew Lomon

When Tom Gallant first thought to merge the disparate worlds of standardbred racing and 1970s sitcoms to form Arnolds Horse Shack – an ownership group named in honor of the quirky, but beloved Welcome Back, Kotter character Arnold Horshack – even he couldn't have imagined where the road would one day lead.

But like most people with a dream, and the accompanying drive to bring it to life, the breeder based out of East Caledon, ON, was prepared to see it through.

“What a ride it has been,” said Gallant. “We couldn't have predicted the way it unfolded, but it all started with the hope of recreating the experience we had when a couple of us joined an ownership group almost 15 years earlier.

“While reminiscing about the amazing feeling that journey provided us, we wondered if we could try it again.”

With the help of his boss Steve Murphy, a few co-workers, and Gallant's home-bred yearling Wheelzablazin, affectionately known as Vinnie (after John Travolta's Vinnie Barbarino on Welcome Back, Kotter), Arnolds Horse Shack was officially up and running.

Things really began to take off for the outfit, and Wheelzablazin in particular, following the arrival of trainer Paul Cameron.

“The first stroke of luck was when Paul agreed to take on this rookie group,” said Gallant. “He not only agreed to take on the task, but he generously schooled the group as he started on the lengthy process of turning Vinnie's potential into ability.”

Although Welcome Back, Kotter was a little ahead of his time, Cameron, who remembers catching re-runs, had full faith in Gallant's self-described “crazy ride.”

“I'd had horses for Tom in the past for quite a few years, and he's been a great owner,” said Cameron. “Couldn't ask for a better guy.

“He thought it might be a good idea if we could form a group where a bunch of people get in, it's not costing them a lot, and see if they could have a little fun and get them introduced to the game.”

To which Cameron simply responded, "I'm in."

The process of unlocking Wheelzablazin's natural talent did not come without its challenges, but the Guelph, ON-based conditioner knew the payoff would all be worth it.

"We got him going late in his 2-year-old year [August 2023], and he was just one of those colts," Cameron said with a laugh. "Now he's a gelding, but he was immature, he would run at any time. You never knew what you're going to get.

"But to be honest with you, Jody Jamieson, who was driving him, always said, 'if you ever get him figured out a little better or he gets his mind on business, he's got a good gait, and he feels like he's got some go to him.'"

Driver Sylvain Filion, who only piloted the son of Wheeling N Dealin—Blazing Shot once, told Cameron the very same thing.

After being shut down towards the end of his rookie campaign, Wheelzablazin returned as a new man in his sophomore season.

"We brought him back at 3, and he just felt more reliable," said Cameron. "He still has the odd mistake, but not very often. He figured it out. He just matured from 2 to 3.

"He keeps his mind on business a lot more now, and really likes racing, to be honest with you. He wants to win."

That desire to outduel his contemporaries has been on full display in 2024, as Wheelzablazin currently sports a strong 9-2-1 line through 17 starts.

"It's been a great journey with him starting with a win at Mohawk as a 2-year-old followed up by a sensational 3-year-old season," said Gallant. "Our group has been to every race with so many memorable moments along the way. To say he is a special horse would be an understatement."

Gallant, once again, gave Cameron his flowers, saying he's done a "fantastic job" getting the trotter prepped for a breakout 3-year-old effort.

As for the horse who helped bring the band together, Gallant was equally thankful.

"Vinnie was the start for a group of new owners that have taken the next step of not just owners but passionate race fans," he said. "Thank you, Vinnie."

That, however, is merely the beginning of the story of Arnolds Horse Shack.

Enthralled by Wheelzablazin's transformation, the grassroots group decided to grow their operation.

But this time around, it was Cameron leading the charge.

"Last year, I told them I was going to the Harrisburg Sale looking to buy one or two or yearlings, and they said, 'if you're interested, we'd be quite happy to get in on some of those yearlings,'" Cameron said. "And they did.

"They got in on two, one being Wickedpace."

The second filly, Banner Day, competed twice but was shut down after dealing with a few setbacks. Cameron is happy to report that she's now back in training and targeting a fall return.

Those who have been following the Ontario Sires Stakes have certainly heard the name Wickedpace before.

After all, it's hard not to considering the bay filly has already claimed two Ontario Sires Stakes Gold Series events (July 6 and 16 at Mohawk).

"We couldn't be happier with her," said Cameron of the horse he purchased for $12,000.

It's not often that a yearling with a modest price tag emerges as a consistent competitor, let alone a legitimate Gold Series contender.

So, what was it that caught Cameron's eye at the Harrisburg Sale, when most everybody else had passed on her?

Simply, she checked all his boxes.

"Wickedpace's mother, My Little Art, is a half-sister to My Little Dragon, who was a world champion mare," said Cameron. "She produced some excellent horses like Stay Hungry, and several others. This mare, My Little Art, had some prior foals, but nothing really stood out.

"However, this was the first time she was bred with McWicked, and I liked the size of her; she was just a real good-looking filly. So, we thought we'd take a shot on her at that price."

The gamble paid off immensely for Cameron, who co-owns Wickedpace with Arnolds Horse Shack, as the rookie pacer has already banked $216,872 across eight lifetime starts (3-4-1).

In other words, the team increased their initial investment by 1,707.27 per cent.

"Wickedpace has given our group nothing but excitement in every start," said Gallant. "Being an OSS Gold contender has been a ride in itself."

Alongside Cameron's invaluable contributions, Gallant also praised Jamieson for not only embracing the Arnolds Horse Shack team, but also for taking on the Mr. Kotter role of advice aficionado.

"Our group also realizes and appreciates Jody Jamieson, Paul's good friend, who has been there from the get-go with the babies," Gallant said. "He has also driven all of our horses with great success, taking the time along the way to give his feedback to our group, which has been awesome."

With Wickedpace benefitting from a much-deserved break following a hard-fought second to young phenom Chantilly in her latest Gold Series tilt on Aug. 31, Cameron says the plan for the remainder of 2024 is to stay the course.

"We're thinking of qualifying her next week, and then she's got one Gold and the Super Final left," he said. "Hopefully we get some good performances there, and then we'll turn her out, and bring her back next year."

The level of success that Arnolds Horse Shack has found in such a short time has been nothing short of astonishing.

“What a ride it has been. [The members of Arnolds Horse Shack] couldn't have predicted the way it unfolded, but it all started with the hope of recreating the experience we had when a couple of us joined an ownership group almost 15 years earlier.”

~ Tom Gallant

To think that not even two years ago, the project was still a 'what if' in Gallant's mind is simply extraordinary.

But of all the good that's come from the alliance of novices and lifelong horse people, perhaps no single contribution is more valuable than what their partnership means to the game's future standing.

“It's like a breath of fresh air,” said Cameron. “You see people getting involved for the first time, and they're enjoying it. It makes you realize that this game still has plenty of appeal for a lot of people.

“It's imperative to get new people involved, because I think that's really what our sport needs at this time. For a lot of them it was the first time they had ever seen a horse or been to the races.

“Overall, it's just great to see, and it's been a really positive experience for everybody.”

A sentiment that is surely not lost on the man responsible for welcoming newcomers with open arms.

“A journey that started with a glimmer of hope escalated into one that nobody could have predicted,” said Gallant. “To experience this volume of success in this short amount of time is rare. The group may not fully appreciate just how infrequently this occurs, but everyone is humbled by it.

“We're all just glad to have experienced it – I can't say for sure if we all would have become so passionate about the industry had the journey gone differently – but I am certain that it's been more about the process than about the success and the entire group continues to be hopeful instead of expectant.”

Medley Seelster is Glenn Dyke's Ontario Sires Stakes dream

by Melissa Keith

In the wake of the mighty Monalishi's first-division Champlain Stake victory Friday night (Sept. 13) at Woodbine Mohawk Park, the second division for 2-year-old trotting fillies could have been underwhelming. Could have, but wasn't. Particularly for owner Glenn Dyke of Townsend, DE.

He owns two-time Ontario Sires Stakes Gold winner Medley Seelster, who crossed over early from the outside post for a gutsy victory. When Sonmar Pond rebuffed Medley Seelster's first attempt to make the front, driver Jody Jamieson eased his filly into the pocket behind that leader. Just before the half, Jamieson asked and "Medley" answered with a burst of speed that carried her past Sonmar Pond.

The rest of the mile belonged to Medley Seelster, en route to her fourth career win. Before three-quarters, 3-5 favorite Southwind Milk made a first-over move for James MacDonald, but never cleared. Medley Seelster was surrounded by late speed down the stretch: Sonmar Pond resurgent to her inside, before a late break; Southwind Milk on the outside; a three-wide challenge from Beersnsunshine Deo.

Medley Seelster held off the latter by a neck for the 1:56.4 win.

“I’ve never owned anything approaching, you know, this type of horse; a Gold filly like this,” said an elated Dyke. He was picking up Medley Seelster’s winner’s circle photo and Champlain trophy after her latest victory at Mohawk.

“I bought her out of the London [Classic Yearling] Sale last year on day two. The strange thing is, I bought a Bettors Delight filly on day one, who I really liked [Kandy Kiss], and I nearly went home because I went there to buy that filly.”

Dyke said he had a hunch about another filly in the sale.

“She was my favorite video,” he said. “[Trainer] Blake [MacIntosh] is not big on videos, so I had to talk him into taking a look at it. I said, ‘Would you please look at this filly for me?’ He liked her, so we ended up buying her.”

Purchased for just $24,000, Medley Seelster has now earned $183,321, compelling her owner to make arrangements for transfer of her Canadian earnings to his American-based account.

“She’s by Wheeling N Dealin [5, 1:54s; $913,975], which is not a super fashionable sire,” said Dyke. “He was a really good young trotter. As a matter of fact, he’s not even standing at Seelster anymore. I think he’s in Quebec somewhere.”

Thrilled that Medley Seelster is the No. 1 2-year-old filly trotter on the Ontario Sires Stakes Gold leaderboard (one point ahead of No. 2 Monalishi), Dyke said he told MacIntosh, “Sometimes I wake up in the morning and I have to pinch myself. I have a Gold filly like this?”

The Delaware-based owner said Medley Seelster is a pleasant step up from the level of his previous stakes horses.

“I mainly play around in the Maryland and Delaware programs in the States,” he told HRU. “Delaware is not so minor, but Maryland is a very minor program... I had one in Pennsylvania one time that won three Stallion Series races, which is the equivalent of Grassroots races here.

“She’s my best by far. If you can win in this program, in the Gold, that’s a tough thing to do, especially when you pay $24,000 for a Wheeling N Dealin.”

Dyke said he was content to bypass the Mohawk Million with Medley Seelster (“I don’t think she’s quite that caliber”), keeping the focus on her remaining 2024 OSS dates. Gold leg 5 is coming up Sept. 30, with the Gold Super Final set for Oct. 12, both at Mohawk.

“I can’t come to the Sept. 30th race because in my business, Sept. 30th is our fiscal year end,” he said. “I’m in the equipment financing and leasing business. I work for a large German company called Siemens.”

While confident in his filly, Dyke admitted that he felt “very nervous” watching the Champlain stretch drive. “Because Southwind Milk is a real tough cookie, and I have to give my filly credit, though,” he said. “She dug in, and not only did she hold off Southwind Milk, but she had horses coming from all over the place, and managed to hold them off, as well. I’m proud of her. I’m really proud of her.

“The funny thing is, training down, she was very, very fast training down, but very, very erratic. I mean, it was rare for her to go two training trips in a row, because they usually train like Wednesday and Saturday, or whatever. She would have a great training trip on Wednesday, and Saturday she’d run all over the track.”

But the fourth living foal of Daylon Melody (4, 2:03h; $22,006) held promise. The Seelster Farms broodmare is half-sister to 2011 O'Brien 3-year-old trotting colt of the year Daylon Magician (4, 1:51.1s; $1,977,969).

When it came to racing, Medley Seelster was all business. She won her first two Mohawk qualifiers for Tyler Borth in early June, then closed gamely for fourth in her June 21 pari-mutuel debut. She spent that mile on the outside and still trotted home in :27.3.

Medley Seelster bounced back with a maiden win July 18, after a July 11 miscue in OSS Gold leg 1 at Mohawk.

"She's made one break this year, and that's when she had the 1-hole and got jammed up on the first turn," her owner said. "With trotters here, sometimes the 1-hole can be very problematical.

"Other than that, I'm shocked, basically, at how well-behaved she's been."

Dyke made a special trip Sept. 13 to watch his filly's latest start and visit her birthplace.

"I flew in at 8:30 this morning, rented a car, and went to Seelster Farms and looked for next year's Medley Seelsters this afternoon," he said that evening.

"Unfortunately, she lost both foals after Medley. They said, 'Darn it, that mare finally produced a really good one,' and of course that's what she runs into breeding problems. But I saw another Wheeling N Dealin there that I really liked. That one's a colt.

"So, I can always dream for next year. She made me enough money where I can actually fire some bullets this fall, maybe."

Dyke said MacIntosh planned to attend the Oct. 15-16 London Classic Sale to look at horses.

"And I'm going to sign up for bidding online," Dyke said. "There are several Ontario-breds selling in Lexington. When you're dealing at my price range, you're not going to find full brothers and full sisters to top horses, but I try to find something, even if it's in the second or third dam, that shows a hint that the family can produce something."

Dyke said he looked forward to watching Medley Seelster's 2-year-old OSS campaign conclude on Super Finals night.

"I will be here [at Mohawk] for the Super Final, 100-per cent certainty," he said.

Note: In last weekend's column, Jody Jamieson mentioned a childhood friend from Sackville Downs (Scott Lecain) whose name was misspelled in the article. Apologies for my error.

SUPERSTAR FEMALES OF HARNESS RACING

with VICTORIA M. HOWARD

Taylor Fritz believes if she works hard, good things will come to her

by Victoria Howard

Born and raised in Amherstburg, ON, Taylor Fritz did what any ambitious young trainer would do, she made a move with her racehorses to Batavia Downs in New York.

Although Fritz was raised around the horses, for both her father and grandfather trained and raced standardbred racehorses, making a move can be scary.

They say that change is good, but it can be frightening for you don't know what lies ahead; but if you don't take a chance, you will never know if that pot of gold is at the end of the rainbow.

Fritz is one of those people who relocated her horses from Canada to Batavia, NY, to gamble on a new adventure.

"I was raised around horses for my father Brad raced the grand circuit with his father, my grandfather Bud Fritz," Taylor said. "Father had his own stable racing mostly at Windsor Raceway and it was there that he met my mother, Anita.

"My mother wanted me to do anything other than work with horses so with a lot of encouragement – and I mean a lot – I attended St. Clair College for a diploma in Early Childhood Education."

A year after college, Taylor started to work at a thoroughbred breeding farm in St. Thomas, ON.

"My boyfriend at the time decided he and I should start our own stable," Taylor said. "This gave me the encouragement to be able to venture out on my own.

"Presently, I have a 10-horse stable, which six of them I solely own. One is Brocks Fortune, who is now in his last year of racing for he is 14 years old. I claimed him for $6,000 and he ended up racing in the preferred at Western Fair.

Brocks Fortune is special to Taylor.

"'Brock' is the horse who has brought me the most exciting time in the sport when he won the preferred 2 at Western Fair," she “Every year I strive to do better than the previous year. I hope that one day I could possibly break a baby, train it down and be able to travel with it. ~ Taylor Fritz said. “He has several problems, but in all rights he should, for all the racing he has done. Regardless of his issues, he gives it his all every time he steps on the racetrack. He is truly a war horse and is my ‘heart’ horse.

“I also own Sir Pugsley whose earnings recently topped $500,000. Even though he didn’t earn all of that for me, it is a great accomplishment. Sir Pugsley is now 10 years old and still competing in the open at Buffalo Raceway this summer.”

According to Taylor, every one of her horses mean so much to her and have played an important role, and had an impact, in her life.

“I also own a standardbred named Wesgate Son who I’ve had for 22 years!” she said.

Taylor said that Aug. 13 was a very exciting night for her as she sent four horses out to race at Batavia.

“I was victorious with two – Italia Seelster and Molly Kool – and a third with Princess Sarita,” she said. “Times like these make me realize how much I love doing what I do for the award is priceless.

“The sad thing about our sport is that not many people know what harness racing is or what a standardbred is. The problem is the lack of education, advertising and knowledge of the sport.

I was recently at a hair salon and my hairdresser asked what I did. I told her I trained horses at Batavia Downs. She had no idea what I was talking about, so I explained it to her hoping to bring a new fan to the sport.”

Taylor said she gives credit to tracks like Tioga Downs that provide entertainment between the races and make coming to a racetrack exciting.

“They also provide things for the kids [bouncy castle, etc.],” she said. “We need to get the younger generation involved more and excited about harness racing.”

When asked who her idol in the sport was, Taylor had an immediate answer.

“My Aunt Susie McNair (Fritz),” she said. “Susie worked years for my grandfather and was his ‘right hand.’ I am sure she can do the work of five men and time hasn’t slowed her down a bit.

“Today, Aunt Susie works with her husband, top Canadian trainer Gregg McNair. I’ve always strived to work just as hard as her.”

Other than trying to emulate her aunt, Taylor has other goals.

“Every year I strive to do better than the previous year,” she said. “I hope that one day I could possibly break a baby, train it down and be able to travel with it. I live for working really hard on a horse and watching my hard work pay off. There is nothing more fulfilling.

“My motto is, ‘If you work hard, good things will come to you.’”

Author’s Note: Most of the female subjects I write about you probably have heard of such as Nancy Takter, Casie Coleman, Linda Toscano, Julie Miller, and a few others, but when I notice a young trainer who puts as much time in as these seasoned trainers, devoting every minute to caring for their four-legged kids, I smile.

I started out in the business when I was 17 years old and know that it’s a 24 hour a day/seven days a week/365 day a year commitment.

To these women they are not just animals but are their children. Horses are not machines that run on gas or oil but are living, breathing creatures that God has put in our lives to care for.

Dedicated horsemen/horsewomen are married to the business and have no life other than training or grooming horses for it is necessary if you want to be successful.

But when you reach my age and realize you may have lost years experiencing normal things that others your age did (dancing, traveling, etc.) you wonder if it was worth it.

In fact, I never had a honeymoon because I didn’t want to leave my four-legged kids with anyone else. Am I sorry? No! Even though my marriage didn’t last, – Wonder if that was one of the reasons? Lol – I would do it the exact way again.

In my opinion, every second was worth it! My horses – every one of the hundreds I owned – were my kids and were treated as such. The only regret I have is that I still don’t own them. Of course, many have crossed the rainbow bridge, but if my name was Gates, Musk, or Zuckerberg, every horse would be enjoying life in a pasture eating carrots and treats.

Abandoned Horses, Part 2

by Trey Nosrac

Part 1 is here.

Julia and Walt Binghamton, a middle-aged couple, felt the morning sunlight on their shoulders as they sat in matching Adirondack chairs on the deck of their secluded wooded estate. Less than 30 feet from their chairs, two horses tugged strands of hay from a bale inside their large, enclosed lot. Forty-five minutes earlier, their morning jog had been interrupted by the unexpected discovery of these horses tied to the black steel fencing with sharp-end pickets enclosing their property.

Julia removed her sunglasses and studied the horses. She ran her fingers through her long brown hair and said, "That policeman was useless."

Walt, a stocky man, who transferred to Cleveland from London two years ago, nodded, "And he was a cheeky bugger."

One of the horses, the one with a white patch between his eyes, shuddered, snorted, and began walking in a slow circle. Julia asked, "Did you notice that they are both males? One has a white neck tattoo, and the other does not."

Walt, "Indeed, we should use that tattoo as our starting point." "Starting point for what?"

"I have no idea, my dear. Find the owner? Return them? Report someone for negligence? Call an exterminator, a veterinarian, or some horse organization?"

"I'm calling my niece, Sarah. She is into dressage. Remember we went to watch her near Ocala?"

"Jolly good idea. Consult with an equine expert."

"Sarah is a dingbat, and so is her mother. But both of them know the horse world."

Julia pulled her phone from her yellow jogging jacket and went to the house. Twenty minutes later, she came out with a sheet of paper and two chilled bottles of mineral water.

"My sister and niece were quite helpful. They can chatter about horses nonstop, but they suggested a plan."

"Bravo."

"Horse organizations used to use tattoos for identification. About a decade ago, they began microchipping horses. Various organizations maintain databases to track microchipped horses. These databases help verify ownership and track lost or displaced horses."

Walt unscrewed the cap from his water bottle, took a swig, and said, "Very convenient and high-tech. How many databases?"

"Dozens, but several organizations share microchip data. Sarah and my sister feel that since we are in Ohio, the odds suggest a [she glanced at the paper] standardbred horse."

"Which is?"

"The type of horse that pulls an Amish buggy or that race around racetracks with carts behind them."

"How do we know for sure?"

"Sarah told me to call a large animal veterinarian and verify that they have a chip reader. She suggested one in our area. I phoned him, and he will stop by at three this afternoon. He can check their health and verify if they are standardbreds or some other breed."

"Then what?"

Looking at the sheet of paper, she said, "If they are standardbreds, she said to contact the United States Trotting Association. They maintain an internet-based computer database called Pathway."

A dark blue rectangular graphic with white and light blue text. The text reads "HOW MUCH DID YOU BET TODAY?" in a bold, sans-serif font, arranged in three lines. At the bottom, it says "#BETONHARNESS" in a large, bold font, followed by the logo for "OHRO HARNESS RACING UPDATE" which includes a stylized horse head.

This database provides complete and official data to identify them and their ownership.”

“Well played, my dear. Agatha Christie would be proud. Now we await the person with the magic reader.”

At 3:15 p.m., Dr. Owen Tidwell, a tall, young man with a large Adam’s apple and protruding ears, stepped away from the horses and joined Walt and Julia on the porch. He was brief.

“Both horses are chipped. Both are male standardbred pacers and appear to be well cared for. The white-faced horse is 7, the other 8.”

Julia asked, “Is that old? What does pacer mean?”

“No, not very old. Horses can live well into their 20s. A pacer refers to how this breed moves its legs when racing. Harness horses either pace or trot. It’s a little complicated.”

“What else can you tell us?”

“I know a guy at the USTA. Let me make a call.”

Dr. Tidwell returned to his truck. As he spoke on his phone, he jotted down some information. After the conversation, he walked over to Walt and Julia.

“Here’s what I found out. Both horses were born at a breeding farm in Baltic, OH. He reviewed his notes and continued, “Currently, a Lewis Tremeau owns both. The horse with the white on his face is named Drive By Hooting.”

Walt said, “Oh good heavens, that’s the worst name I have ever heard.”

“The other is named Iggy Jiggy.”

“Second worst name I have ever heard.”

Dr. Tidwell smiled, “Yeah, I think you should use nicknames for these guys.” He looked at his notes and continued, “The breeding farm tried to sell them at a yearling auction. Yearling means they were 1-year-olds. Drive by brought $2,000, Iggy bought $2,500, but both were buy-backs. That means the owners selling them did not get enough money. The buying public did not like the pedigrees or the horses’ appearance. The ownership title transferred from the commercial breeding farm to Lewis Tremeau of Amherst, OH. There has been no additional activity since the 2019 ownership transfer.”

“What about racing?” Julia asked.

“The horses never raced.”

Julia paced across the porch, stopped, looked hard at the horses, and said, “So the last official record is that these two were in Amherst, OH, under the ownership of a Lewis Tremeau.”

“That’s where we are. Do you want the names of some horse rescue organizations?”

Julia looked again at the horses, “No, not yet. Let me visit our friend Lewis from Amherst.”

This week’s fines and suspensions

HRU is providing links to publicly-available fines and suspension lists for convenience.

Readers are reminded that because a person’s name appears on the list does not necessarily mean they are guilty of an offense. Many times, cases are not finalized and many of the accused are still entitled to due process.

Also, please note, for context, the first link is to the Association of Racing Commissioners International’s classification system of drug penalties to give readers a sense of the difference between a Class 1 and a Class 4 positive.

EUROPEAN REPORT

with THOMAS HEDLUND

France marches towards bigger dominance

by Thomas Hedlund

French harness racing has a well-known closed pedigree book. French-bred horses typically can only be from sires standing in the country. On Thursday (Sept. 19) evening, the program made an exception.

Quite surprisingly, French harness racing has decided that American-bred sire Tactical Landing (Muscle Hill–Southwind Serena) will be available for 60 mares in France and the committee in French harness racing’s head organization also voted that the offspring are approved to be included in France’s book of trotters. That means that horses by Tactical Landing will count as French-bred and this decision is not only surprising, it also tells the rest of Europe that French breeders, to a greater extent, can produce a new kind of breed. French blood, mixed with American blood is a proven method that works if a breeder wants to get the best of two worlds. Strong blood from France and speed from America will likely end with an even stronger dominance from France’s part in the sport.

The French pedigree book was closed for “outside” sires in 1993 and between 1988 and 1992, French harness racing and the U.S. had an agreement which allowed 20 mares from each country to use the other country’s sires. America never took the opportunity to use French blood, but French breeders were more liberal in the matter. Some of the very best trotters in the world, bred in France, are products of the agreement from 1988. The facts about this agreement and the result of it has been very well described in a column by Claes Freidenvall at sulkysport.se in Sweden.

Tactical Landing, with two consecutive wins in Hambletonian as a sire, plus a dominating 4-year-old in Sweden, will be a very interesting contribution to an already dominating country in the business and the future will be bright in the land of the Tricolor, and maybe less bright for the rest of Europe.

GO ON BOY BEST IN BELGIUM

Horsy Dream and Idao de Tillard were the two big names when Mons racetrack played host to the $165,000 Grand Prix de Wallonie on Saturday (Sept. 21) afternoon. But the top duo couldn’t beat another well merited French trotter who has fought beside the very best trotters in Europe for a couple of years. Romain Derieux’s Go On Boy (Password) started from post 8 behind the car and Derieux pushed his horse to the lead after 500 meters. Ampia Mede Sm followed on his back while the two favorites Idao de Tillard and Horsy Dream were settled in third and fourth over, respectively.

Midway into the race, Eric Raffin started a three-wide attack with Horsy Dream, but Clement Duvaldestin noted the move from Raffin and lifted his Idao de Tillard out in a tight situation in the moment after. Idao de Tillard landed first outside, a few lengths behind the leading Go On Boy, while Horsy Dream got a very defensive trip in his fourth over position.

Go On Boy and Derieux heightened the pace on the backstretch and throughout the last turn, whereupon the chasing opponents had problems challenging for real. Go On Boy sprinted to a safe win, and Idao de Tillard bested stablemate Ampia Mede Sm in the hunt for the silver medal.

Horsy Dream attacked on the far outside in the last turn and finished extremely fast in the stretch, but he had too many lengths to make up when the attack was set in.

Hall of Famer Mal Burroughs dies

Malvern C. “Mal” Burroughs, 83, a celebrated figure in the world of harness racing, passed away on Sept. 20.

Born and raised in New Jersey, Burroughs was a self-made man who had a successful career in the construction business. He borrowed $8,000 to purchase a used dump truck and eventually grew his business and its reputation to the point where his company was involved in significant projects, including the excavation of the World Trade Towers site and the construction of The Meadowlands racetrack.

Burroughs’ passion for harness racing began in the 1970s when he became a horse owner. By the early 1980s he had started driving his horses in the Billings Amateur Series. His partnership with trainer Jimmy Takter, a future Hall of Famer, marked the beginning of his major successes in the sport. Together, they produced notable horses like Gleam, winner of the 1994 Hambletonian Oaks.

One of Burroughs’ most significant achievements came with Malabar Man, a colt foaled on his farm in 1994. Despite health challenges, both Burroughs and Malabar Man made remarkable comebacks. Malabar Man went on to win numerous prestigious races, including the 1997 Hambletonian and the Orsi Mangelli, and was named 1997 Horse of the Year. Malabar Man was elected into the Living Horse Hall of Fame in 2008.

Burroughs’ contributions to harness racing extended beyond his successes on the track. He was actively involved in leading organizations within the sport, including the Harness Racing Museum and Hall of Fame, the Hambletonian Society and the Harness Horse Youth Foundation. In recognition of his lifelong dedication and achievements, Burroughs was elected to the Harness Racing Hall of Fame in 2024.

Burroughs is survived by his wife and sweetheart Janet, daughters Melanie and Gail, son-in-law Jimmy, sister Marianne, four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. The wake will be held at Calhoun-Mania Funeral Home, 19 Lincoln Avenue, Rutherford, NJ on Monday (Sept. 23, 2024) from 4-8 p.m. The funeral service will be Tuesday (Sept. 24) at the Church of St. Mary, 91 Home Avenue, Rutherford, NJ.

Woodbine Entertainment strengthens board with Krembil and Mungham

Woodbine Entertainment is pleased to announce the appointment of two prominent industry leaders, Mark Krembil and Tom Mungham, to its board of directors.

Krembil, a principal of Chiefswood Stables, and Mungham, former CEO and registrar of the Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario (AGCO), bring a wealth of experience in horse racing and regulatory affairs, further strengthening the board’s capacity to guide Woodbine Entertainment’s ambitious efforts to grow and sustain Ontario’s horse racing industry for future generations.

“We are excited to welcome Mark and Tom to our board of directors,” said Jim Lawson, executive chair of Woodbine Entertainment. “Their extensive leadership, knowledge, and industry experience will be invaluable as we work to further our vision of growing the horse racing industry that supports upwards of 25,000 jobs throughout Ontario.”

Mark Krembil, a philanthropist, entrepreneur, and venture capitalist with a background in systems engineering and business, is a principal of Chiefswood Stables, Canada’s largest owner-breeder of thoroughbred racehorses. Chiefswood, founded by his father Robert Krembil, was named Canada’s Outstanding Owner in 2017 and 2018, with notable wins including the 2004 Queen’s Plate (Niigon), 2013 Woodbine Oaks (Nipissing), 2018 Breeders’ Stakes (Neepawa), and most recently the 2024 Woodbine Oaks (Kin’s Concerto).

Krembil is also active in the biotechnology sector through Chiefswood Private Capital, which he founded. He serves on the boards of Allarta Life Sciences, Arthur Health, and Myant Corp., driving healthcare innovation. He is on the Brain Canada board and chairs its governance committee.

As president of the Krembil Foundation, he supports pioneering medical research, particularly in neuroscience and immune-mediated diseases. The Chiefswood After Care Program, led by Stacey Krembil, ensures lifelong homes for their horses.

“As longtime owners and dedicated members of the Woodbine racing community through our family’s stable, it is a true honor to join the board,” said Krembil. “I am excited to collaborate with the board and Woodbine’s leadership to help shape a vibrant future for racing in Ontario, supporting the interests of owners, breeders, trainers, and the entire Woodbine community.”

Tom Mungham served as CEO and registrar of the AGCO from 2020 to 2023, following 14 years as chief operating officer and director of licensing. At AGCO, he led the regulation of industries including gaming, lottery, horse racing, and retail cannabis and alcohol.

Throughout his AGCO tenure, Mungham collaborated with boards, government officials, and stakeholders across various industries to advance public policy, enhance safety, and boost economic development.

In recognition of his work, the AGCO led by Mungham received the 2023 NAGRA Award and the 2022 IAGR Award of Excellence for designing and operationalizing Canada’s first regulatory framework for an open, regulated internet gaming sector.

Prior to AGCO, Mungham was a senior executive with the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP). He currently serves on several boards, including in his community and one of Canada’s national historical sites, Ministers Island.

“I’ve had the pleasure of working with the Woodbine management team for many years on various regulatory matters, and having seen firsthand how they operate, I’m truly excited to be joining their board,” said Mungham. “I look forward to contributing to the continued success of Woodbine and positively impacting the industry and its people.”

In their role on the board of directors, Krembil will serve on both the thoroughbred racing committee and the audit committee, while Mungham will serve on the standardbred racing committee and the governance committee.

“We look forward to adding Mark and Tom’s wealth of experience as their expertise complements our Board’s deep collective experience, which spans not only horse racing but other key sectors vital to our complex business and operations,” said Lawson.

Krembil and Mungham’s appointments are subject to AGCO approval.
