A sure sign the Grand Circuit is back in Lexington

The return of the Backstretch with Gordon column is a tradition similar to the swallows returning to Capistrano. Oh, and the price of gas in Lexington is around $3.50.

BACKSTRETCH WITH GORDON

with GORDON WATERSTONE

With all respect to Emerson, Lake and Palmer, "Welcome back my friends to the show that never ends."

I know some of you probably thought you'd heard the last from me as I've had a pretty quiet year, but here I am back for yet another year of Backstretch With Gordon from Red Mile in gorgeous Lexington, KY.

I continue to bounce around as much as a pickleball, and here I am this year in the pages of Harness Racing Update. After many, many years at The Horseman And Fair World and the last two with the U.S. Trotting Association, year 21 – yes, year 21 – of Backstretch With Gordon has now bounced to HRU.

Much thanks have to go to my longtime sponsor, Steve and Cindy Stewart's Hunterton Farm and Hunterton Sales Agency, for continuing to support me. I am grateful that several publications reached out to me about Backstretch – some good offers, some not-so-good offers – so thanks also have to go to my agents Nick Salvi and Amy Hollar for advising me to sign with HRU. Thank you, Dave Briggs.

Getting what y'all want out of the way early, when Backstretch started back in 2003, the price of gas was around $1.50-1.60 a gallon. On Tuesday (Sept. 26), as I made my way to Red Mile on a picture-perfect morning in the Bluegrass, the price for a gallon of gas was between $3.45-3.59. A couple of days ago, using my Kroger points, I knocked a dollar off a gallon, so I paid $2.49.

The six days of major stakes racing gets underway on Thursday afternoon (Sept. 28), and of course, after not having rained in Lexington since Aug. 25, the track could come up sloppy. The forecast calls for rain Wednesday night into Thursday, but they can't tell us how long it could go into the day. At least temperatures will stay warm as highs this first week of racing are predicted for the low 80s.

Red Mile looks a little bit different this year as a new paddock has been built, taking up a far part of the parking lot that was behind "The Deck" and "The Tree of Knowledge." Also, sports betting got underway on Sept. 7, so make sure you stop in and see what a nice job was done in the sportsbook. Although you enter through the casino door, the area is actually the first floor of the Red Mile clubhouse. Announcer Gabe Prewitt – who is now the track's VP of racing operations – did a great job working with Caesars to make the place look great. And by the way, the clubhouse has also received an overhaul since last year and it looks great, too.

There were a lot of hellos as I walked around the backstretch on Tuesday (Sept. 26). My first stop – of course – was to the breakfast tables where today's food was provided by my sponsors, Hunterton Farm. I grabbed a bagel and then got some ribbing from Chris Tully and Nick Salvi, who were sitting on The Deck, for not having enough cream cheese on my bagel.

Eric Patalan was sitting nearby and I saw he was wearing a Detroit Tigers hat. As a fellow Michigander I walked over to ask Patalan why he wasn't wearing a Lions hat as they are this year's "in team," but I saw that he had on a Lions shirt. I talked a little football with Patalan, who is at Red Mile with horses from the Anthony MacDonald barn.

Jim Stocker, who worked forever for Hall of Fame trainer Bob McIntosh, but is now in the barn of trainer Anthony Beaton, stopped to say hello on his way to the license office. Well wishes have to go to McIntosh, who is on the mend after a recent fall.

Speaking of falls, Myron Bell has made his way back to the track after falling and breaking a hip a few weeks ago. Bell looks to be recovering really nicely, no doubt in part to the support of his wife Stephanie.

I stopped for a second in the judges' office to say hello to PJ Cooksey, and Jim Campbell came in. I apologized to Campbell for not calling to congratulate him on his recent Hall of Fame election. Campbell asked me about the Dan Patch Awards dinner in Orlando, and I told him the shindig is on Feb. 25 at Rosen Centre on International Drive.

Linda Toscano went by me on the way to the track so I congratulated her on her recent wins in the Little Brown Jug and Jugette. I texted congrats to driver Scott Zeron on both victories but I was remiss in reaching out to Toscano.

Speaking of Toscano, husband Brad McNinch also said hello as he was heading back to his barn. Carter Pinske was heading to the track so I asked him where the boss was – referring to his wife Makenna – and he said she should be right behind. I turned around and there was Makenna so I said hello to her as well.

I also walked by the stables of Nancy Takter and Chris Ryder, and both conditioners did a great job sprucing up the area. I saw Takter and assistant Josert Fonseca, and I was able to see up close Hambletonian champ Tactical Approach and a horse that is my 2024 Hambletonian choice: Karl. Karl is four-for-four in his young career – including the Kentucky Sires Stakes championship – and will aim for his fifth in a row on Thursday afternoon (Sept. 28) in race 12, a division of the Bluegrass for 2-year-old male trotters. I told driver Yannick Gingras that Karl was my Hambletonian pick already for next year and he told me that next August is a long way off, but Karl is a nice trotter who is still learning and picking up experience with every start. As much as I know Gingras loves coming to Lexington every year, I'm sure this year is different for he and his wife, Vicki, as their son Jaiden, is a freshman at the University of Kentucky.

I then made my way to say hello to Bob Stewart where we always talk about the late John Cashman as has been my first-day tradition, and Ernie Hendry came past so we chatted a second. I did the same with Dr. Andy Roberts and Charlie Norris.

If you are planning on coming to the Red Mile for the first week of racing, remember it's a 1 p.m. post on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. And remember that traffic could be heavy on Saturday (Sept. 30) as the UK football team takes on Florida at noon.

Alas, Stewart wasn't at his barn, so I called him. He apologized that he wasn't around, but that he had to leave to pick up a horse at a nearby farm. I told him I'd see him over the next couple days for sure. Joe Holloway came by on his golf cart, so he stopped for a second and I congratulated him with his wins last Friday night at Hoosier Park with Newsroom and Blue Pacific.

If you are planning on coming to the Red Mile for the first week of racing, remember it's a 1 p.m. post on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. And remember that traffic could be heavy on Saturday (Sept. 30) as the UK football team takes on Florida at noon.

While Sunday is an off day for racing, the Stable of Memories fundraiser will be held that night. And then the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale at Fasig-Tipton gets underway at 7 p.m. on Monday night (Oct. 1). The sale moves to 1 p.m. sessions on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, before the last session at 7 p.m. on Friday night.

Don't forget that at noon on Tuesday (Oct 3), prior to the sale getting underway, there is a cocktail reception in the Kentucky Room with breedings to seven sires – Walner, Bulldog Hanover, Trixton, Tall Dark Stranger, Sweet Lou, Captain Crunch and Bettor's Delight – auctioned off to benefit the Breeders Crown Charity Challenge.

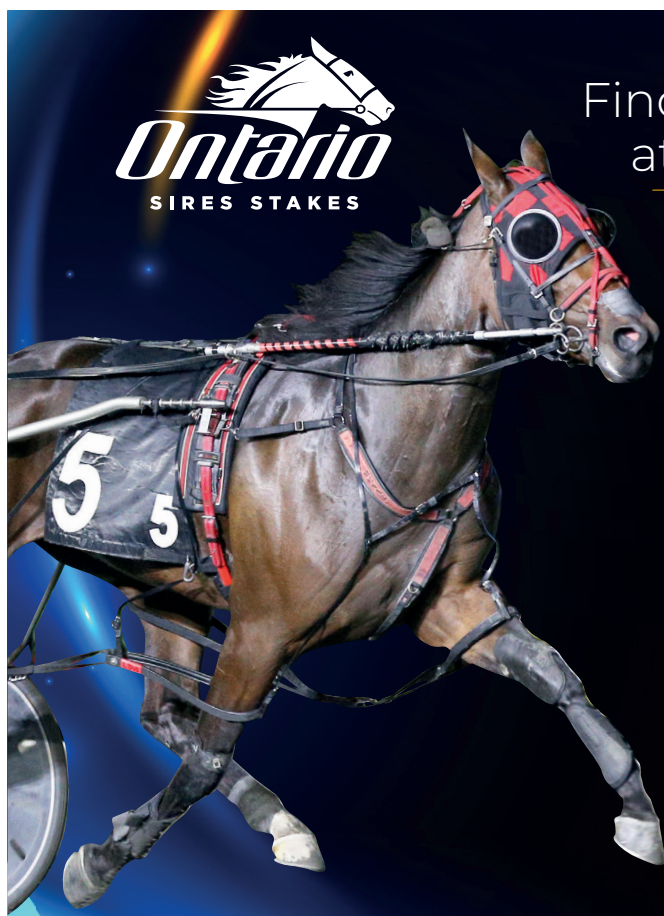

Racing then returns at 1 p.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with the latter closing-day card of course highlighted by the contesting of the Kentucky Futurity.

I am looking forward to all the action in Lexington this year, but it certainly won't be the same without the late Dave Brower, who thrived here in the Bluegrass. By now we – meaning, Brower, Salvi and Prewitt – would have likely gotten together two or three times upon his arrival after working Little Brown Jug week in Delaware, OH.

So, after walking 2.1 miles Wednesday morning at Red Mile, I'll be back with you in Friday's HRU and then a third Backstretch on Sunday. Thanks again to Steve and Cindy Stewart for their sponsorship. And thanks to Dave Briggs for reaching out to get me on board for a 21st year of Backstretch With Gordon.

A few figures for yearling sales

by Trey Nosrac

"There is no joy in possession without sharing."

— Erasmus.

50-50-45-25-10-5-10

No, this is not one of the countless website passwords that, once upon a time, we wrote down and can never find. Even if we find the missing password in our wallet or junk drawer, the dang thing does not work. At some point, a message will suggest we use our phone to receive a code to reset our lost password using a stronger password that contains a capital letter, a letter in century Gothic script, a hieroglyphic symbol of a bull, and the name of an Italian Opera.

50-50-45-25-10-5-10

These numbers represent my various percentages of yearling ownership over the last decade. The descending sequence roughly mirrors the success of the previous yearling purchase and, ergo, my available disposable income. Thinking back, a review of my ownership misadventures reveals an interesting phenomenon: the percentage of my ownership seems to make zero difference in my hopes and dreams for each yearling. In fact, due to a lack of fiscal pressure, my lower percentages of ownership were "more" enjoyable.

At this point, you may scoff, "If you find yourself racing a sires stake champion, you won't be happy that you only own a minor percentage of that racehorse." Should I ever own a trotting champion, and the odds are about the same as me dunking a basketball over LeBron James, I will write a book-length report about my emotions. The weird thing is, I believe my excitement would be over the moon at any percentage of ownership of a phenomenal racehorse.

Of course, you may be a wealthy lone ranger, an owner who likes to control the decisions, risk all the money, and earn all the money; and that's great. Harness racing affords that option. But in my humble opinion, the key to having fun in this sport is sharing the ride with a few people on your wavelength. For some of us, sharing the ride, sharing the dream, talking, rejoicing, and moaning about the progress of a yearling is the engine that drives us down the difficult road of racing young trotters and pacers.

During various assignments and tomfoolery, I have crossed paths with three wealthy gentlemen who play the yearling game. These super-nice guys have more funds than they can spend in several lifetimes. Early in their long involvement in our sport, they were solo ownership acts. These days, each one prefers to have a few pals and gals along on each harness racing yearling ride.

As I look back at my percentage of ownership, my favorite percentage range is between 10 and 25 per cent. This number allows me to squeeze my budget beyond reason, participate in a yearling that sells in the middle range, and keep the training bills low enough that I do not need to (yet again) drain the rainy-day fund.

Another excellent option is fractional ownership via operations like Thestable. After lurking in the shadows, watching a few of his non-stop videos, and talking to participants, they report that Anthony MacDonald offers them a nice ride. Fractional ownership also puts a layer of professional selection between you and your investment and frees you from the details of yearling and young horse ownership. No doubt there are other fractional ownership groups worth looking into.

Here is another little factoid in my troubling psychological and fiscal world. Twice in the past decade, for some reason (see finances), I did not own any portion of a yearling. However, my close pal had a few racehorse prospects during my hiatus. My emotional involvement in his horses amazed me. Even without a dollar invested, each step of the journey and each race found my heart racing and breaking with the racetrack results.

To sum up something you already know, while this sport is a livelihood for some folks, most of us play for something other than money. And playing is more enjoyable with friends.

Cody Polisenno looks to improve on a career best 2023

by Chris Lomon

Cody Polisenno is finding out a little confidence can go a long way in the race bike.

The 2023 racing season has indeed been a good one for the New Jersey-born driver who now calls Delaware home.

Courtesy Cody Polisenno
Cody Polisenno in action.

With just over three months left on the calendar, Polisenno has already posted career-best numbers across the board, including wins and purse earnings.

Pun aside, it's certainly most appropriate to say that the 29-year-old has hit his best stride.

"It's definitely been a good year," said Polisenno, son of trainer/driver Carlo Polisenno. "I think the highlight has to be getting more catch drives. It makes me feel very happy and that I've accomplished something. I've been able to make a lot of connections with other trainers, which has given me the chance to drive horses other than my dad's. We have some nice babies coming up, so hopefully that will lead to a stakes start in Delaware."

All of it has provided Cody, who began his driving career in 2015, with a confidence boost. That said, his everyday approach remains status quo.

"Being out there now, I'm getting a lot more experience in different situations, so you get that education of knowing how to react when something new comes your way," Cody said. "Previously, I was driving maybe four or five horses a week and I took a little break. I came back and now I'm driving at least four or five horses a night. Repetition definitely helps you become more confident."

Advice, from a wide range of sources, has been in abundance since Cody started his journey to driving standardbreds.

Some of that advice, including from his father, has stuck with him to this day.

"My dad, he's always helping me and encouraging me," Cody said of the man who is closing in on 600 training wins and 500 driving victories. "He likes me to be aggressive out there. If I'm going to leave, I can't just float, I have to go. He always talks to me after every race and provides some pointers, what I did well and what I can improve on. I'm always happy to listen."

Cody has found the perfect balance between being too self-critical and not getting ahead of himself.

He expects that trend to continue over time as he looks to solidify his reputation as a proficient horseman, one willing to have an open mind when it comes to his craft.

"I always want to take something away from each drive," said Cody, whose milestone first win came on Feb. 28, 2015, when he partnered pacer Three Of Spades to victory. "Whether you win, hit the board, or finish last, there is always something you can learn about yourself. Someone can tell you a thousand times what to do or not to do, but you need to be out there to fully understand and appreciate that. So, whatever the outcome is, it's a valuable lesson going forward."

Going forward happens to be the direction Cody is heading.

In the short term, his list of goals includes building off a campaign highlighted by personal bests and buying a horse or two of his own.

Ohio Sired Standardbreds raced for over $20 million dollars in 2023.

“My dad, he’s always helping me and encouraging me. He likes me to be aggressive out there. If I’m going to leave, I can’t just float, I have to go. He always talks to me after every race and provides some pointers, what I did well and what I can improve on. I’m always happy to listen.”

~ Cody Poliseno

He also hopes to find himself in the driver’s seat for big races, whether at home or on the road.

“For this year, I definitely want to keep getting more drives,” Cody said. “It’s been good and it’s building, but I want to keep that momentum going. I’d also like to have my own horse or a couple. I just need to find the right price to make that happen. Beyond that, I’d like to be in a big race somewhere. It really doesn’t matter where it is. I’ll be in the stakes races in Delaware, but I’d love to drive in a stakes like the Meadowlands Pace or Hambletonian one day. That would be a dream.”

In a year of far more highs than lows, Cody has learned a great deal about himself and the sport he competes in.

When it comes to self-assessment of his skillset, one particular thought comes to mind.

“Patience is key,” Cody said. “When I first started driving, I would get very anxious and there were moments when I wouldn’t get the result or the trip I wanted. But that has changed. I feel much more comfortable and confident in my decision-making process, when to move, when not to move, and putting myself in the right spot. Being out there, like I said before, that’s what gives you the confidence and helps you learn the things you need to be successful.”

Away from the hustle and bustle of the track and the pressures associated with his career, Cody looks to the great outdoors or a food adventure to take his mind off racing for a few hours.

On any given day, depending on the season, Cody, who lives about an hour’s drive from his parents’ farm, could be catching a wave, rocketing down a hill, or enjoying the catch of the day.

“I live down at the beach, so I love hanging out there,” he said. “It’s always fun and relaxing. I love going surfing and in the winter I will go snowboarding. I also love food. I’m a big foodie. I always find a restaurant that I enjoy. I’m not biased when it comes to trying new things because I love pretty much all food. Sushi would probably be my favorite. As for my cooking skills, my girlfriend is much better at that than I am.”

Working at ways to keep up the momentum he’s built up in 2023 continues to be food for thought for Cody.

Resting on his laurels won’t be an issue.

“It’s been a great year and I hope it keeps going,” he said. “But I know for that to happen I have to keep pushing harder and getting out there so more people can see me and hopefully that will lead to more drives and opportunities. As long as I can keep driving well and keep going forward, I’m hopeful that will happen.”

Go On Boy tops in Belgium

by Thomas Hedlund

Romain Derieux-trained Go On Boy (Password) crowned his career with a group 1 victory when the $160,000 Grand Prix de Wallonie was held in Mons, Belgium on Saturday (Sept. 23) afternoon.

The race in Belgium became a stretch battle between two French-bred trotters since first over horse Elie de Beaufour easily disarmed leader Stoletshow mid-stretch. Go On Boy, who got cover from Elie de Beaufour with a mile to go in the 2,840 meters long event, could wait with his attack until the stretch and the two French horses battled side by side where Go On Boy had his nose first at the wire and won in a mile rate of 2:00.2.

Elie de Beaufour and Stoletshow took the places behind the winner.

ITALIAN DERBY WINNER DIMITRI FERM BEST IN BOLOGNA

Bologna, Italy, played host to a 4-year-old race the $160,000 Gran Premio Continentale over 1.3 miles on Sunday (Sept. 24). Driver Andrea Farolfi sat behind Mauro Baroncini's Derby winner Dimitri Ferm and could use the half mile track's open stretch after a pocket trip behind leader Denver Gio.

Dimitri Ferm sprinted to a safe win in a mile rate of 1:58 and this was his second win for the season. The victory prior to Sunday's triumph came in a $15,000 race and he had not established his position as number one in the Italian 4-year-old crop, until Sunday.

Daniele Jet was runner up after a third inside trip and Diluca Mo was third.

The mares' division was a $70,000 event where Alessandro Gocciadoro totally dominated. Gocciadoro trained the four horses that ended up on top of the result list when Dali Prav (Donato Hanover) held on to victory from the lead for driver Rene Legati. Daughter As was second, Dea Grif third and Dea Sprint Bar fourth. Winner Dali Prav came home in 1:56.3.

BIG WIN FOR DUBOIS

Legendary French horseman, trainer/breeder/owner/driver, Jean-Pierre Dubois owns 4-year-old Je M'Envole (Joyau d'Amour) who claimed a really big trophy at Vincennes on Sunday (Sept. 24) afternoon.

Monté race, the $250,000 Prix des Elites, ended in a great triumph for trainer/jockey Matthieu Mottier, who sat on the big favorite Jean Balthazar's outside with Je M'Envole and Mottier's horse proved strongest in the stretch after a speedy race where the leader hit the third quarter of a mile in 1:22.4.

Je M'Envole won in a strong mile rate of 1:53.3 over 2,175 meters, Jean Balthazar was second and Jane Aimee third.

Debbie Brunet finds that barn work makes her marriage work

by Victoria Howard

Debbie Brunet has a very rare story to tell. Despite the fact that she and her husband have worked together in the barn for five decades, they defied the odds and celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last year. That's quite an accomplishment in today's world.

Being with your mate 24/7 is difficult no matter what business you're in. Supporting each other and staying attentive to one another's needs is not an easy job.

Being involved in the sport of harness racing is hard enough when you're single, for you're "married" to the business, spending most of your time with the horses, instead of at home. You'll most likely miss out on things like your children's activities and birthdays, etc., for you train in the day and race at night. And if you ship to other tracks, you are on the road a lot.

Horses require all our attention and love. They are not machines that can be ignored or tossed aside. They need and demand your time; thus, they take time away from your home life.

Debbie Brunet was born in Brookville NY. Sadly, her father died when she was only 10 years old. Until his death, her father, Frank Zaza, owned standardbreds; some of whom were trained by Eddie Cobb.

After his death, Debbie and her mom moved to California where her mother eventually met and married horse trainer, Jack Sherren.

"It was the winter of 1970 when I met my future husband, Gates [Brunet]," Debbie said. "He came from Canada with some of his father's horses. I was 16 years old and Gates was 18. Gates was supposed to take a year off before going to the University, but that didn't happen.

"I guess you could say I changed his plans. We dated for two years and then married in 1972, and have been married ever since."

Back in the '80s and '90s, Debbie drove a little. During her career, she won 12 times in 60 starts. Not a bad percentage at all. She also participated in a Women's Driving Championship in Montreal in the '80s.

"After working for my father four years, Gates and I decided to go east to Vernon with trainer Jack Bailey," Debbie said. "Gates trained for Jack while I groomed. We then went to Pompano where I got a job working for Dick Oldfield and my husband worked for Jay Sears. We became good friends with Jay, his father Gene, son Brian and daughter Jennifer, which we cherish to this day. Jay drove some for us before he gave Gates a chance to drive. He was successful, so we decided to go out on our own. Jay was the person who really gave my husband his start as a driver.

"Throughout our career, we've had some nice horses. Our best horse was Muscle King who is now 23 years old and happily retired. Muscle King won the Blue Grass, Matron, NJSS, and was beat a nose by the great Mr. Muscleman in the [Canadian Trotting Classic] which at the time was the richest race [$1.4 million] in Canada. Muscle King is literally a family member who travels everywhere we go. He is a lucky boy who gets to spend winters in Florida with us.”

Muscle King was not Debbie’s only top horse.

“We’ve also had New York Sires Stakes champions Cowgirl Hall, Coraggioso, Dear Old Boy, Stardust, Hay Goodlooking and Some Girls,” she said. “We also trained a California Sire Stake champion called Capital Game [by Camp David] that I bought as a yearling for $600.”

Fast forward to today and the Brunets are based at Vernon Downs and currently train seven horses. During the winter, they relocate to Southern Oaks Training Center in northern Florida.

“We race mostly at Vernon, Tioga and Pocono Downs, but have raced our horses in about every jurisdiction, including Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Delaware, Indiana, California, Florida, Ontario and Quebec,” Debbie said. “If there’s a harness track, we most likely raced there at one time.”

Debbie has found that the secret to a long marriage is sharing the barn work.

“I take care of the horses that rotate at our farm and Gates does the training, shoeing and most of the driving,” she said adding with a laugh. “I overlook the daily duties and drive my husband to the hospital when he needs to go to the Emergency room. I also take the horses on the road when he’s racing at other tracks.

We survived, and my husband is still my best friend, along with everything else. We feel blessed to get to spend winters at Southern Oaks where we have made some new friends that we enjoy tremendously, while still doing what we both love the most, training horses.”

Over the past 20 years, the Brunets trained for some of the best owners in the business, such as Ted Gewertz, Al and Michelle Crawford, and Gates’ brother, Jean.

“At one time we also trained for Bob McNerney, Harry Harvey, Tom Durkin, Joe Spadaro, Ken Jacobs, Winbak Farms, Irv Liverman, Jim Doherty, Emil Benvenuto, the Purple Haze Stable, Martha Frank and others,” Debbie said.

As for retirement, Debbie says there’s is nothing officially in their plans.

“My husband says we will retire when the phone stops ringing so as long as our health holds out, we’ll be around for a while,” she said.

SIRES STAKES

Hats off to Gingras, Zeron in Mass Stakes at Plainridge

by Tim Bojarski for the Standardbred Owners of Massachusetts

The $3 million Massachusetts Sire Stakes got underway at Plainridge Park on Monday (Sept. 25) and visiting drivers Yannick Gingras and Scott Zeron both had hat tricks, driving three winners apiece out of the eight MASS divisions that went postward. And it's noteworthy that those divisional winners were sent behind the gate by eight different trainers.

All races for both genders went in two divisions Monday due to the number of entries and each carried a purse of $40,000. The day-long rain had the track listed as "wet-fast" and it turned in some very impressive performances.

Gingras won both divisions for male pacers starting with last year's 2-year-old champion Rooster Bennett (So Surreal–Teddy Ballgirl), who put in a very strong performance going gate-to-wire. Gingras had Rooster Bennett on top by two lengths almost the entire mile and defeated the pocket-sitting So Rock N Roll (Kevin Switzer, Jr.) by one-half length in 1:54. Rooster Bennett ($2.10) is owned and bred by Nancy Longobardi and Dominick Longobardi. Nancy Longobardi also trains the winner.

Gingras added wins with the pacing colt Colt Bennett and filly trotter The Wise One. Gingras also had an overnight win to give him a grand slam for the afternoon.

Azariya gave driver Scott Zeron one of three Massachusetts Sire Stakes victories on Monday's Plainridge Park card with a 1:53.2 victory in the 3-year-old filly pace.

Tom Melanson

Driver Yannick Gingras also won three MASS events on the card, including this win with 3-year-old pacing colt Rooster Bennett.

Zeron's three wins were topped by a big effort from pacing filly Azariya (Lazarus N–Lainey Deo) who drafted along third behind My Sweet Kate (Matty Athearn) until the top of the stretch. There, Zeron tipped her three-wide and tracked down the leader and then fought off Seafood Beauty (Jay Randall) in deep stretch to win by a neck in a lifetime best 1:53.2. Azariya ($13.00) is owned and trained by Duane Marfisi. Deo Volente Farm bred Azariya.

Zeron's other two wins came behind the trotting geldings Walter's Keepsake and Wallop.

Another defending 2-year-old Massachusetts champion well on her way to another crown is Dame (Dude's The Man–Seat By The Window) who simply dominated her sister pacing fillies. Jim Hardy put Dame on the point and she did the rest after that. As she set fractions of :28, :57.3 and 1:26, Dame also extended her lead from one length at the quarter to three lengths at the top of the stretch. Then, Dame bolted home easily to win by 5-½ in 1:53.1, which was only one-fifth off her lifetime mark.

Dame ($2.10) is trained by Jolene Andrews for owner/breeder Stephen Richard.

Another solid win with lifetime mark came from Way Off Broadway (E L Titan–Black Broadway) who also dominated her division of trotting fillies. Troy Beyer sent Way Off Broadway to an easy lead and then rationed out her speed from there going quarters in :28, :57.3 and 1:26.4 with Laurens Hoopla (Zeron) following right on her back. At the top of the stretch, Way Off Broadway opened up a 2-length advantage and won handily in 1:55.3, taking a new personal best.

Way Off Broadway ($15.20) is owned and bred by Mike Eaton and Bob McHugh. Eaton also trains the winner.

Big Bad Bruiser in P.E.I. Colt Stakes Graduates Series shocker

Big Bad Bruiser capitalized on a front-end tussle on his way to the winner's circle in the P.E.I. Colt Stakes Graduate Horses final as part of a Saturday (Sept. 23) evening five-bagger from driver Adam Merner at Red Shores Racetrack and Casino at the Charlottetown Driving Park.

The $9,500 P.E.I. Colt Stakes Graduate Horses final, presented by Kays Wholesale and the P.E.I. Standardbred Breeder's Association, saw Betterthanbutter (driven by Colin Sheppard) demand the lead while parking out race favorite Middleton Terror (David Dowling) through fractions of :28.1, :56.2 and 1:25.2 while Big Bad Bruiser (Adam Merner) sat in the 2-hole at 12-1 odds. Betterthanbutter would give way in the final quarter with Big Bad Bruiser driving by for a 1:55.2 victory over a closing Pictonian I Am (Ken Murphy) and Middleton Terror, who hung on for third to complete a healthy $1,075 triactor ticket. Neil Bambrick of Charlottetown owns and trains the winning son of Rollwithitharry.

Merner grabbed five wins on the night including the $3,500 fillies and mares preferred with Dreamfair Zenfire in a 1:54.4 mile as part of a training double for Brent Campbell. Trainer Melissa Rennie supplied the other Merner driven victories with a triple from her barn consisting of Kataparka (1:55.3), Rose Run Quest (1:55.1) and Hemingway (1:57.3).

Jason Hughes continued his driving dominance at the capital oval as he scored three wins including the Saul Lanigan trained Smart Official (1:55.3) and with his own trainees Phil Dorleans (1:56.1) in the race 1 opener and Spicey P (1:56.1) in the race 14 finale.

Stash It Away surged home for a preferred pace victory in 1:54.4 with Murphy in the bike in the $3,600 event for trainer Kevin MacLean and owner Reg MacPherson of Stratford. Rollwithhottytoddy (Myles Heffernan Sr.) was second ahead of Blood Money (Gilles Barrieau).
