SPECIAL SALES COVERAGE

LEXINGTON SALE OPENS AMID OPTIMISM

The economy is still sputtering and harness racing's future may be clouded by the uncertainty in New Jersey and at the Meadowlands, but officials with the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale, which kicks off today, are confident they will be smiling broadly and brightly when the sale concludes Sunday.

"People will be bullish and the sale will be very strong," proclaimed Randy Manges, the co-sales manager of the Kentucky Selected Yearling Sale.

Manges said he bases his confident outlook on how sales in Canada and Ohio have performed so far this year and the fact that a strong number of catalogue requests have come in from overseas.

"I am also pleased with the large volume of credit applications that were received and approved for the sale," Manges said.

Donato Hanover's first crop will be on offer in Lexington

A total of 824 yearlings have been cataloged. Among them, the offspring of Donato Hanover (Andover Hall) will receive extra attention when they go into the ring. This will be the first crop to sell by the now 6-year-old trotter who earned $2,983,858 during his career and won the 2007 Hambletonian and Kentucky Futurity. The first Donato Hanover will be sold early on Friday night when Hip No. 19 goes through the ring. Named Donatello, he is out Ladymatic (Muscles Yankee) and will be sold by Diamond Creek Farm.

Another Donato Hanover sure to receive attention is Hip No. 298, a colt out of Armbro Vanquish (Garland Lobell). The colt's value no doubt rose Saturday night at Pocono Downs when his half-brother, Manofmanymissions (Yankee Glide) won the Breeders Crown 2-year-old colt & gelding trot.

A NEW LOOK AT THE BLUE BOOK

The eternal rhythm of our sport, which brings horsemen and horsewomen from all over the world to and from wonderful Lexington in an early-October tide, is all askew this year. Wedged in between the World Equestrian Games and the Breeders Crown on the early side, and by the Black Book sale at Harrisburg in November, the Red Mile's Grand Circuit Meet and the Lexington Selected Sale both will be squeezed.

But you don't really need to read that from me. If you have spoken to a driver, trainer, owner, breeder or marketing person within our sport in the past three months you know by now that everyone—and I mean, everyone—has an opinion about this temporary re-jiggering of our industry's internal clock. The Kentucky Futurity on the first Saturday of the meet? No yearlings for sale at Fasig-Tipton from Blue Chip Farms and Hanover Shoe Farms? So many events so spread apart in such a short time? Fewer race dates at the glorious old track? No one seems happy. It, too, shall pass. Next year, they'll be no WEG in Lexington to worry about and plenty of WEG in Canada (in the form of the Breeders Crown) to contemplate come Lexington sale time. (Cont. P. 3)

Hip No. 98, which will sell toward the end of the first night, is sure to be another "buzz" horse. A filly being sold by Hunterton Sales Agency, she goes by the name of Mavourneen (Bettor's Delight) and is a half-sister to Rock N Roll Heaven (Rocknroll Hanover), currently the sport's brightest star. Rock N Roll Heaven sold at this very same sale for a mere $57,000 in 2008 and graces the cover of this year's catalogue.

The sale will also feature the first crops of Tell All (Real Desire) and Shark Gesture (Cam's Card Shark).

As is always the case in Lexington, many of the sport's top breeders and consignors will be selling the prize products of their farms and breeding operations throughout the week. Among them will be the Winbak operation, which is thrilled with the contingent it has brought to the Fasig-Tipton sales grounds. Jim Ladwig, Winbak's yearling manager, told Harness Racing Update that he is upbeat about the sale.

"We have a Conway Hall half-brother to Muscle Hill that is the perfect size for the New York Sire Stakes half-mile tracks," he said in reference to Hip No. 49.

Ladwig said he is also fond of his full brother to Rainbow Blue (Artiscape) that will sell he first night as Hip No. 66.

It's a busy time for some of the sport's top horsemen, many of whom were focusing their attentions on the Breeders Crown races just a few days ago. Now, their attention is focused on Lexington and finding that special horse. To do so, Linda Toscano is relying on the latest in technology, in this case her iPad.

"It makes it much easier than carrying around all the big sale books," she said. "If you want to show somebody something, it's very handy."

She also looks forward to being able to watch yearling videos on her iPad.

She said, "I like to watch the videos before I get to the farm. This allows me to be much better prepared."

Despite their busy schedules, many trainers spend what little time they have between racing and training going to farms to inspect yearlings. Ray Schnittker is no different.

"I have already been to Blue Chip, Lindy Farms, Southwind, Perretti and White Birch," said the Goshen resident. "The schedule is pretty hectic this year being two weeks later, but I will spend seven or eight hours a day for three days before the sale finishing my inspections."

I am always happy when I receive my Blue Book from Randy Manges and company sometime in early September. And when I received mine this year I read it over and over again with some care. Apart from whatever it may teach me about bloodlines, I like the stories it shares. They are often like fairy tales. For example, Hip No. 59 (One In A Million-Donato Hanover-Mom's Millionaire) is a half-brother to the legendary Snow White (Self Possessed), who graced me personally in 2007 with her dominating performance in the International Stallion at the Red Mile. I will be rooting for that colt and hoping he is able to fulfill even a small part of the glory and the promise of which Snow White's early death deprived us.

Snow White

I also like to look in the sales books for first-time mares whose performances I remember from their racing days. The first foal out of the great pacing mare Burning Point (Camluck), a filly, goes at Hip No. 26 (Cuzzin Molly-Real Desire-Burning Point). Just three offerings later, at Hip No. 29, comes the first foal, another filly, out of the great trotting mare Peaceful Way (Angus Hall). Named Noble Peace Price, he is by Kadabra. Four years ago, Somebeachsomewhere (Mach Three) led off the third night of the sale and a lot of people missed him. This year, Uncle Somebeach no doubt is proud of his niece, Hip No. 56 (Surf's Up-Rocknroll Hanover-Sun N Sand), the first foal out of the great horse's half-sister.

Of course, the first night is filled with brilliant pedigrees and straight-legged horses. Look for example at the enticing page on Hip No. 98 (Mavourneen-Bettor's Delight-Artistic Vision). She's a half-sister to world champion Rock N Roll Heaven (Rocknroll Hanover), now clearly on his way to Horse of the Year honors. But there is good depth on the other nights, too—and good value. It is the first-year of the crops of the likes of Donato Hanover (Andover Hall) and Tell All (Real Desire) and Shark Gesture (Cam's Card Shark) and Armbr Deuce (Western Ideal) and Equinox Bi (Valley Boss Bi). Ontario and Kentucky are up. New York and Pennsylvania are strong. New Jersey-breds figure to keep at least some of their value despite the current uncertainty over where those horses might be racing when they are 3-year-olds. But will the European money come this year?

I also like to look in the Blue Book for patterns. Here is one. More than one person, evidently, thought it would be a good idea to breed Donato Hanover to Muscles Yankee (Valley Victory) fillies out of a mare named Trolley Square (Speedy Somolli), who, not coincidentally, is the dam of the trotting champion Deweycheatumhowe (Muscles Yankee). Steve Jones at Cameo Hills Farm made that connection and the results are a filly at Hip No. 25 (Deweyneedmorewine-Donato Hanover-Drinks Like A Fish). But so did Menhammar Stuteri with a Hunterton Farm at Stoner Creek-raised colt at Hip No. 20 (Quit Smoking Now-Donato Hanover-Smokeslikeachimney). I look forward to comparing not just the sales prices on this two but also their racing careers.

It's also fascinating each year to see how the results of the two big sales—Lexington Selected and Harrisburg—interact with one another. There is a limited amount of money to be spent, correct? And money spent in Kentucky cannot be spent in Pennsylvania—and vice versa. So not only do the buyers in this buyers' market have to make wise choices about individual horses in a particular sale, they also have to factor in the choices and opportunities at the other sale. If I spend $75,000 on a beautiful son or daughter of Yankee Glide (Valley Victory) in Lexington, how will I feel if I see a gorgeous Yankee Glide sell for $50,000 at Harrisburg? Conversely, what if I pass on a nice horse at a good price at Fasig-Tipton and I don't see its equal in Harrisburg? It's like three-dimensional chess.

For the first time in five years, I won't be able to make it to Lexington this year for the sale or the great meet. I will miss virtually everything about the visit, from catching up with old friends to sitting up in the press box at the Red Mile to throwing my peanuts on the floor at Logan's Roadhouse. "If I had a million dollars," goes the song by Barenaked Ladies, "I'd be rich." If I had a million dollars to spare, I'd spent have at Lexington and half at Harrisburg and see where it all ends up.

by Emily Gaskin

Hip 29, f, Kadabra (ONT)---Peaceful Way Hunterton Farms, Agent

An Ontario eligible filly who is the first foal from the World Champion mare, Peaceful Way who made over two million dollars and had a mark of 1:51 4/5. Although she is a June foal, it will be easy to overlook the first time you see her. "She is everything that you think she would be," Cindy Stewart of Hunterton Farms said. "She is a beautiful filly, just like her mother." This bay filly is by Kadabra who continues to produce trotting champions year after year.

Hip 49, c, Conway Hall (NY/MD)---Yankee Blondie Winbak Farm

Hailing from the Winbak consignment, this is the half-brother to what some would call the greatest trotter of all time, Muscle Hill (Muscles Yankee). It is the first time Yankee Blondie (American Winner) has been crossed with Conway Hall (Garland Lobell) who has had another great year. This colt's second dam, Yankee Bambi (Hickory Pride) is a full-sister to the grandams of the Triple Crown Winner Windsong's Legacy, who was also a Conway Hall.

Hip 53, c, Western Ideal (NJ)---Arterra Kentuckiana Farms, Agent

This is the half-brother to not one but TWO world champions. If I Can Dream (Western Hanover) who won the Breeders Crown at three and the siring sensation Western Terror (Western Hanover) who sired this year's Jugette winner, Western Silk. Arterra's second dam, Delinquent Account (On The Road Again), was a champion race mare herself and has also proven to be an outstanding broodmare, producing World Champion Artscap (Artsplace). This is pacing pedigree at its finest.

Hip 56, f, Rocknroll Hanover (NJ)---Sun N Sand Preferred Equine Marketing, Agent

It has been another great year for Rocknroll Hanover and here is one of his fillies who is the first foal from a half sister to World Champion and pacing sensation Somebeachsomewhere (Mach Three). Her dam, Sun N Sand (Astreos), made over a $100,000 and shows two year old speed as she has a mark of 1:53 3/5 at two. "You just have to see this filly's video," Geoff Stein of Preferred Equine Marketing said, "She has an unbelievable gate and is a beautiful, terrific moving filly."

Hip 61, f, Muscles Yankee (NJ)---Winky's Star Preferred Equine Marketing, Agent

This February foaled filly is out of the 100% producing mare, Winky's Star (Pine Chip). She is a half sister to Southwind Wasabi (Windsong's Legacy) who has made over $500,000 and just finished third in the Breeders Crown for aged trotting mares last week. "She is exactly what you would like to see in a Muscles Yankee filly," Geoff Stein said of his yearling. This filly's second dam is the World Champion, Winky's Gill (Bonefish) who also produced the millionaire Winky's Goal (Armbro Goal). With Muscles Yankee continuing to produce superstars, you can't find trotting pedigree much better than this.

Hip 91, c, Art Major (NY)---Best Laid Plans Preferred Equine Marketing, Agent

This is the first colt from the Cambest mare, Best Laid Plains, who is the dam of four foals and four winners. "This mare always throws beautiful foals," Preferred Equine Marketing's Geoff Stein said. "But this is the LeBron James of pacing colts, everything you want to see." The second dam on this page is Wendyann Hanover (Big Towner) who is a half sister to the late, great, Western Hanover (No Nukes). This bay colt is by Art Major (Artsplace) who sired the fastest horse of this season with Hypnotic Blue Chip pacing in 1:47 2/5.

Hip 94, f, Donato Hanover (PA)---Day Five Diamond Creek Farms

This is the first foal from a Donerail mare who is a half sister to million dollar earner, Self Professed (Self Possessed) and New Jersey Sire Stakes Champion, Political Briefing (Donerail). Consigned by Diamond Creek Farms, this brown filly hails from the first crop of the World Champion and Hambletonian winner, Donato Hanover. "We've heard she may have the best video of all the Donato Hanovers at this sale," Adam Bowden of Diamond Creek Farms said. "She is a beautiful filly who has really garnered a lot of attention."

Hip 98, f, Bettor's Delight (NY)---Artistic Vision Hunterton Farms, Agent

Hip 98 is the highly anticipated half-sister to the top three-year-old pacing colt of the year Rock N Roll Heaven (Rocknroll Hanover). "She's moves outstanding in the paddock," Cindy Stewart of Hunterton Farms said of the Bettors Delight filly. "She's not a huge filly, but neither was Rock N Roll Heaven." The March foaled filly is out of the World Champion Artistic Vision and is also a half sister to Clear Vision (Western Hanover) who made over $500,000. Bettor's Delight has had a great year with the likes of Fashion Delight and Southwind Tempo. If this filly lives up to half of her pedigree, she'll be something.

WHAT'VE YOU DONE FOR ME LATELY?

By Dean Hoffman

We've all asked someone that question, and every owner has probably asked his horses the same question. After all, on a regular basis horse owners endure disappointments and yet their training bills also arrive on a regular basis.

That's why so many breeders and owners will be eying the results of the upcoming Grand Circuit meet at The Red Mile. Breeders selling yearlings this month or next are hoping to get a big bounce from both the recent Breeders Crowns and the Lexington meet. Many owners are hoping to get a big purse check.

For example, Kentuckiana Farms was undoubtedly delighted when Manofmanymissions (Yankee Glide) won the $600,000 Breeders Crown for freshman male trotters at odds of 13-1. Kentuckiana is selling a half-brother to the Crown winner by Donato Hanover (Andover Hall) on Friday night, as hip 298.

Ironically, the favorite in that race was Dejarmbro (Credit Winner), the New York Sire Stakes champion who is out of a half-sister to Manofmanymissions. Dejarmbro broke stride in the Crown after dueling for the lead in the opening half-mile.

If a breeder is selling a sibling to a horse racing this week in Lexington, what happens on the racetrack can have enormous influence on what happens in the sales ring. A smashing victory ---or even an exemplary performance---can magically transform a $50,000 yearling into a six-figure yearling.

Owners can be pumped up by a major victory, too. Certainly the bank account of owner Jim Carr of Ontario was pumped up to the tune of $300,000 after his namesake pacing colt Big Jim (Western Ideal) won the Breeders Crown for freshman male pacers. Don't you think Carr is likely to be an enthusiastic bidder at the upcoming sales with that extra cash in his pocket now?

Certainly there will be plenty of Standardbred yearlings going under the auctioneer's gavel in the next month. Now that the maple has turned to gold in the Bluegrass, Standardbred devotees find themselves in their version of Mecca-The Red Mile and the Lexington Selected Yearling Sale in Kentucky.

Action at the Fasig-Tipton Pavilion gets underway on Wednesday and continues for five sessions, concluding on Sunday. Some 824 yearlings are in catalog, which features a photo of Little Brown Jug winner Rock N Roll Heaven (Rocknroll Hanover), an alum of this sale, on its cover.

One of the highlights of this fall's sale season is the debut of Donato Hanover's first crop. The 2008 Hambletonian winner got a resplendent book of mares and his first foals are assured of a warm welcome from buyers.

Among the largest consignors in Kentucky are Brittany Farms, Diamond Creek Farm, Dunroven Stud, Kentuckiana Farms, Perretti Farms, and Winbak Farms. Bloodstock agents such as Hunterton Sales Agency, Northwood Bloodstock Agency, Peninsula Farm, and Preferred Equine will represent many breeders.

In last year's sale 800 yearlings were hammered down for an average of $34,786.

The Lexington sessions are held concurrently with the Grand Circuit race meet at The Red Mile and the racing and sales have long had a mutually beneficial relationship. It's axiomatic that an owner who celebrates in the winner's circle in the afternoon will be bidding with abandon at the sales that night.

Breeders never miss an opportunity to point out that many stakes winners at The Red Mile were sold at the Lexington Selected Sale as yearlings, particularly if a sibling is selling in an upcoming session.

After horsemen have made their selections in the mid-term elections in early November, they will head to Harrisburg, Pa. to make their selections from the 1,157 yearlings cataloged in the mammoth Black Book.

Officially, the sale is the Standardbred Horse Sales Co., but that's merely for corporate purposes. To the rest of the harness universe it's simply the Harrisburg sale. And it lasts for six long days.

The first four days, starting on Monday, Nov. 8, are devoted to yearlings only. The final two sessions have a mix of breeding stock and racehorses.

The Harrisburg sale has long been synonymous with Hanover Shoe Farms because the yearling consignment from the sport's leading breeder form the nucleus of the yearlings. It's been that way for seven decades.

Among the leaders in the supporting cast of consignors are All American Harnessbreds, Blue Chip Farms, Diamond Creek Farm, Fair Winds Farms, Fashion Farms, Hempt Farms, Perretti Farms, Stonegate Standardbred Farms, Vieux Carre Farms, Walnut Hall Ltd., and Winbak Farm.

An optimistic crowd? Sales officials hope so.

Last year 1,096 yearlings sold at Harrisburg for an average of $31,388.

Coming after both the Breeders Crowns and the Lexington Grand Circuit, some buyers should have some hefty purse checks in their bank accounts and may be willing to go back to the well looking for another winner.

The stock market is coming off a robust September and that bodes well for sales, but consignors worry as much as politicians about an "October surprise" that will deplete portfolios and flash a yellow caution light to buyers.

So breeders and owners will be watching the results from the Lexington races. A race lasting less than two minutes can dramatically influence the value of a yearling during the two minutes it's in the sales ring.
