Self-made success: The story of Steve Stewart

How Hunterton Farms' Steve Stewart built a breeding empire from the ground up.

by Murray Brown

TALES FROM THE CURMUDGEON

with MURRAY BROWN

Steve Stewart credits two men, Joe Taylor and Bill Shehan above all others for any success he has had in the horse business.

Steve is the youngest of six kids and five boys born to Tom and Betty Stewart. His twin brother Mike preceded him by 10 minutes.

His parents had no background in the horse business, but their home bordered on Clarence F Gaines' original Gainesway Farm off Tates Creek Road in Lexington, KY.

All of the boys were destined to have a future in the horse business.

After college, the oldest, Tom, went to work for Alan Leavitt at Lana Lobell Farms in Hanover, PA and eventually became the farm manager. In 1972, he moved back to Kentucky to succeed the famed Charlie Kenney at world renowned Stoner Creek Stud, when it was owned by Norman Woolworth and David Johnson.

Although it was initially a thoroughbred farm and was a very successful one, it was destined to become one of the Buying yearlings can be very rewarding or a major risk. If you want to improve the reward and reduce the risk, consider a Wilt yearling purchase in 2020.

In 2017, Wilt sold five yearlings, four took records at two in 2018. In 2018, Wilt sold five yearlings, four took records at two in 2019. In 2019, Wilt sold six yearlings. Five have taken records, including Charlie May, considered one of the top two year old pacing colts in Ohio 2020.

Add to these results the professional manner in which Wilt yearlings have been raised from conception to their yearling sale to become Champions. Wilt two and three year olds have won major sires stakes in Indiana and Ohio, and beyond, both trotting and pacing.

ALERT, ALERT!! Three of the five 2020 two year olds are in ISS SUPER FINALS Oct. 16, racing for $270,000 (Hoosier Park). Two year old colt trot: Bridge To Success. Two year old filly trot: Four Under Par. Two year old colt pace: He's Gonna Get Ya. ISS Aged Stallion & Gelding Trot, $70,000 Bridge To Jesse. Good luck to all owners, trainers & drivers.

greatest of all standardbred nurseries. They stood the great stallions Meadow Skipper and Nevele Pride, but perhaps just as importantly, it has been the birthplace of seven Hambletonian winners –fabled ground indeed.

John, next in line, started his own Brentwood Farms in Central Kentucky, where he stood a few stallions and was essentially a horse trader surviving on his skill to buy and sell horses along with raising a few yearlings each year.

Bob, the next brother, became and still is an extraordinary horse trainer. He is best known as being the trainer of the immortal Hall brothers – stallions Conway, Angus and Andover.

Steve Stewart.

Dave Landry

The lone sister, Sue Ellen, became the dean of medical students at University of Kentucky.

Then came twin brother Mike, who was destined to become a veterinarian. Mike knew at a very young age that was what he wanted to be. He started working almost exclusively with standardbreds upon graduation from vet school and joining the veterinary group of Dr John Steele. He eventually went out on his own and practiced mostly at Yonkers Raceway.

His practice today is focused mostly on sport horses, although, when needed, he sometimes helps out some of his old standardbred patrons.

Then came Steve.

Growing up, Steve split his time between the family farm leased behind Gainesway and working with and learning from his three older brothers.

All the time, Steve maintained a close relationship with Joe Taylor who ran Gainesway Farm.

Joe ran a thoroughbred farm that at one time stood 54 stallions – yes 54 – all of which served mares by natural cover. Nevertheless, Steve's first and never ending love was with standardbreds.

YEARLING SALE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17 UNTIL WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 2020

Dave Landry

Steve and Cindy Stewart built Hunterton Farms from the ground up.

Steve helped out his brother Bob at the racetrack and wasn't exactly sure which area of the standardbred business he wanted to be involved. But he knew he was going to be involved. Brother Bob dissuaded him from becoming a trainer.

Steve eventually decided that he wanted to run a farm, but not as brother John had done it. He wanted to be involved with high end, top of the line horses.

He took a course in equine studies at the University of Kentucky. He learned the basic dos and don'ts there, but quickly realized that there is no substitute for hands on experience.

He told his mom and dad about his plans and a family meeting was called to discuss them.

They met. Some agreement and slight contrarian views emerged. Steve realized that, above all, he needed his mom's support if his proposal was going to succeed. His mother's maiden name along with Steve's middle name is Hunter, so he proposed that the new farm would be named Hunterton Farms. Mama was all aboard.

Eventually an agreement was reached and the decision was made to purchase an 80-acre tobacco farm at the back end of Gainesway.

The interior of the tobacco buildings were quickly converted to horse stalls.

The participants agreed to give young Steve a one-year trial year to either sink or swim. This all happened at the end of 1980, when Steve was 21.

Steve was to run it at a salary of $100 a week. Somehow, between inception and realization, that $100 a week became $50 a week.

Steve wasn't happy about the salary, but he reasoned that the salary wasn't all that important. What was most important was that the opportunity to realize his dream was coming to fruition.

Those were the glory days in Kentucky breeding. The four major farms – Castleton, Stoner Creek, Walnut Hall and Almahurst – were all standing top stallions.

The Stewarts stood to benefit by becoming a boarding farm for the mares who were booked to those stallions.

It was the first year that Castleton stood Niatross. Several of the mares booked to that great horse were sent be boarded at Hunterton.

In the interim, another family meeting was called after the trial year. Steve made a proposal that he would give the family 25 per cent of the gross proceeds, anything else would belong to him and his wife, Cindy. It was a no lose proposition. The family would get 25 per cent, regardless of any profit.

Almost immediately, they outgrew the original 80 acres.

In the interim, Steve's parents needed some money and had to sell the 80-acre farm.

Steve was only temporarily stopped. He found a 100-acre farm just adjacent to notable thoroughbred breeder Will Farish's place in Versailles.

Steve had no money to speak of. Enter Joe Taylor. Joe vouched for the young man. Because of Joe's support, the farm's owner, Jim Rouse, agreed to lease the farm to him.

The farm needed a lot of work. Horse stalls, among other things, had to be built. Steve was significantly underfunded.

But he and Cindy were up for the challenge.

They stayed there two years, but things were not working to the Stewarts' satisfaction.

Along came Joe Taylor again. In 1987, Joe arranged for them to lease a 125-acre farm owned by Hal Price Headly. Headly was thoroughbred royalty in Kentucky. His father had been one of the original founders of Keeneland. They also eventually leased three other smaller venues.

Two years later, disaster struck. All of the top stallions in the Commonwealth shipped out. Of the high quality studs, only Abercrombie remained. Eight hundred standardbred mares left the Commonwealth.

New Jersey had become the land of Milk and Honey, with New York close by. Very few people would be shipping their mares to Kentucky to be bred.

Steve and Cindy quickly realized that there was no way that they could fight the changing conditions. Steve realized he had to follow suit.

They found and leased a farm in New Jersey owned by Joe Taub, then an owner of the New Jersey Nets.

It suited their needs perfectly. Just across the road was veterinarian Dennis Milne. In New Jersey, the Stewarts were close to where many of the top stallions were standing and fairly close to New York where a number of other good stallions stood.

Steve decided he needed to present his clients with a deal they could not refuse in order to keep their business.

He bought a used pickup truck and a six-horse trailer.

He would continue to board their mares and raise their yearlings. He would charge them only $90 to ship them to the New Jersey farm. They'd be able to breed to the hot stallions in New York and New Jersey and also be able to raise their foals in the lush Kentucky bluegrass.

Most of them stayed aboard and availed themselves of the opportunity.

The biggest negative for the Stewarts was that Steve was on the highway going to and from New Jersey 12 hours a day or more throughout the breeding season.

Hunterton Farms remained at the Headly Farms for 10 years.

In November of 1995, Steve's oldest brother, Tom, died of Leukemia. Two months later, their father died.

Those were very challenging times for all the Stewart family. Steve was distraught, but Joe Taylor told him, "You cannot bring your brother or dad back. You've got to do the best you can."

In the interim, Stoner Creek Farm had Jerry Snyder as its manager.

For whatever reasons, the farm's owners, Norman Woolworth and Alice Johnson, had decided to sell historic Stoner Creek.

It appeared that Robert McNair, the owner of the Houston Texans who owned the adjacent farm, was prepared to buy Stoner Creek and turn it back into a thoroughbred farm.

If that happened, the historical importance of the place to harness racing would be forever lost.

Steve, Cindy and their two children were in Florida and just happened to meet up with Margareta Wallenius-Kleberg and Norman Woolworth.

They got together and Margareta suggested that she would be willing to buy Stoner Creek, if Steve and Cindy would lease and maintain it for her.

Ms. Kleberg indicated that time was running short and she needed an answer quickly.

Here was Steve Stewart at the age of 35 being offered the stewardship of one of the greatest horse farms in the history of the world.

The only possible negative being its size of 700 acres was far bigger than anything he had ever been associated with; certainly relative to the number of horses they had at the time.

Steve, the eternal optimist or "pollyanna" as his mother had named him said, "We will just grow into it."

Indeed they did.

You and Cindy have a great relationship and have raised a wonderful family.

"I met Cindy in 1980 at the University of Kentucky. We got married in 1982. We have two children. Our daughter Elizabeth is an accomplished sporting horse trainer and rider. Our son Taylor (guess who he's named after) won a basketball scholarship to the United States Air Force Academy. He is now an accomplished pilot – Captain Taylor Hunter Stewart."

You keep mentioning Joe Taylor and Bill Shehan as being the two most influential people in your career with horses, let's talk about them, Bill first.

"Bill Shehan might have been the most brilliant person I've ever known, both in and out of the horse business. He taught me so much. Probably the most important lesson was, when raising horses, everything is important, especially the little things. He was brilliant, but sometimes he was a troubled soul.

"He was a gay man at a time when that was considered to be about the worst thing a person could be.

"He wasn't afraid to buck tradition and take on the establishment. He became pissed off with the owners at Tattersalls and together with Tom Crouch began the Kentucky Standardbred Yearling sale. Financially though, he was always living on the edge.

"People sometimes looked upon him at times as being a bottom feeder, buying cheap and breeding to cheap stallions. But that wasn't near the case. He bought what he could afford at a point in time and sometimes what he couldn't afford.

"When he was flush, he would spend and spend big. He spent a huge amount for Keystone Profile as a yearling and she turned out to be cheap relative to her later accomplishments.

"He established and owned Clermont Farms as great a piece of land on which to raise horses as any place on the planet. When raising his horses, he never skimped on anything. If a horse needed something it got it.

"The one thing he constantly preached to me was to never stand a stallion. It can kill your broodmare band. You are much better off having all options available to you when booking your mares, rather than to be glued to a horse you are standing. Looking back, I would say that he was probably speaking from experience. Although Castleton Farms stood him, Bill bet the ranch on his horse Tamerlane who turned out to be a colossal failure.

"He rarely went to the big name trainers, although I believe he had some with Billy Haughton at one time. Instead, he trained with Charlie Clark, Ezra Eads, Chip Noble and a then unknown young Swedish kid by the name of Jimmy Takter.

"As great a breeder as he was and as great an influence as he had on the sport, I can't imagine how much more it might have been if he had the funds to do things as he could with more means at his disposal.

"He was fond of poking at the establishment. He would publish his own little yearling catalog. Each year people looked forward to reading his introductions.

"One year, he made it a point to say that his horses did not have inherited money behind them. He made it clear that he had made it himself through brain power and hard work, obviously taking a jab at the ownership of Castleton and Walnut Hall, the two leading Kentucky farms at the time.

"One year, he got angry at George Sholty because George, as would many trainers, checked to see if a colt had two descended testicles. He wrote something in his booklet saying something to the effect that little sawed off horse trainers wouldn't be welcome to look at his yearlings if they were going to touch their testicles.

"Each time, he would get desperate for cash, he would have to have a dispersal sale. I believe the first was to Tom Crouch. The story I heard was that he sold his broodmare band to Tom for an astounding price to be paid over five years. That money eventually evaporated through bad deals in real estate and the establishment of a bar in Lexington.

"The next dispersal including Clermont Farms was to George Segal who renamed the farm Brittany Farms.

"After the Segal sale, Bill was left with a few mares and no farm. He chose Steve and Cindy Stewart with whom to board his few remaining mares. What an honor for a young couple working their way up.

"Later that fall at a Tattersalls mixed sale, he did what he did best. He purchased a very low priced mare named Bridle Path in foal to Nearly Perfect. I think the price was around $2,000. Bill had the remarkable talent to look inside a horse to see what we ordinary mortals couldn't.

"The foal that she was carrying turned out to be the great filly Imperfection who won the Breeders Crown at 2 for Bill and trainer driver Chip Noble. After her 2-year-old season, once again strapped for cash, he sold Imperfection to Phil Tully who gave her to Ronnie Gurfein to train. She became a world champion.

"The last dispersal was at Harrisburg when he knew he was dying and sold his remaining mares through Preferred Equine."

Let's talk about Joe Taylor.

"Joe was the closest thing to a second father that I've ever had. Joe was there helping me at every step of the way in my career. I wouldn't have had the first three farms that I leased, if not for Joe Taylor backing and vouching for me. When we started the family farm, Joe allowed us to use an old round barn and some land in the back of Gainesway free of charge. Joe was great with horses and even better with and to people. I started buying horses in partnership with Joe in 1996. One of the first mares we owned together was Emory Girl, who became the dam of the great world champion Galleria and founder of her own family. Another was Hustler's Best who unfortunately had only four foals, one of which was Run The Table. Another wonderful mare that Joe and I owned together was the Illinois champion Legend Queen. Our best buy by far was the most expensive one. I was turned on to Emilie Cas El by my long-time Finnish friend and partner Martti Ala Seppala. She was one terrific race filly who was the O'Brien champion Horse of the Year in Canada as a 2-year-old. We bought her for $300,000 with Joe, Martti and I owning a third each. We also owned Pizza Dolce who herself has turned out three individual sale toppers in Kentucky. When Joe passed away, we aligned all the mare partnerships we had at the time."

Steve, you raise numerous partnership-owned yearlings, most of them with you as a partner. Tell us about them.

"I love having partners. I can get along with just about everybody. I'm totally a glass is half-full type of guy. I want to make money, but I want my partners to make money more than I do myself. I realize that if they do well, I'm going to do well.

"We have all sorts of partnership arrangements and leasing deals. So much depends on who my partners are.

"The great UK basketball player Cotton Nash and myself have owned horses together for a long time. He hates getting monthly bills, so I pay all the expenses and we divvy up after the yearlings get sold.

We have done incredibly well doing business in that manner. I have a great relationship with several Amish people, especially the Schmucker family in Northern Indiana. I get along with them so well because we share the same philosophy. We believe in quality first and that we are in it for the long haul. We might take a little off the top, but for the most part, everything we make we put right back in the business in the form of more and better broodmares and shares in popular stallions."

Let's talk about some of your greatest thrills in the sport.

"I suppose the greatest day I've ever experienced was on Hambletonian day in 2014. Trixton, a colt we bred and raised, won the Hambletonian and Mission Brief a filly we bred and raised won the Merrie Annabelle.

"Trailing not too far behind was a few weeks ago when Venerate a colt we bred and raised won the Mohawk Million at Woodbine Mohawk and Exploit a colt we also bred and raised won the Metro Pace on the same program.

"Of course, topping the yearling sale in Lexington more than anybody else has always been a thrill, but the sale is only the beginning. It's having your 'kids' do it over and over on the racetrack that provides the greatest satisfaction."

You speak of topping the sale, let's talk about a couple of your recent sales toppers.

"Tactical Landing is still the greatest looking colt we, or maybe anybody else, has ever raised. He was jaw-dropping beautiful from the day he first hit the ground. When he was just a weanling, Ernie Martinez saw him and tried to buy him. I said no. Our business is selling yearlings. Ernie came back with, 'Would you sell him for $600,000?' I said, 'if you have $600,000 for him, I'll discuss it with my partners.' Needless to say, he didn't come up with the $600,000. Come sale time, Ernie told me 'I'm going to buy that SOB regardless of what he brings.' 'Yeah, sure,' I thought. 'I've heard that line before.' Apparently, Ernie had lined up $600,000. The only problem was he bought him for $800,000. He needed another $200,000 and didn't know where to get it. He approached Howard Taylor who had been part of the Burke group that was the under-bidder on him. There was no conflict of interest since the Burke group was now out. So Howard was in for $100,000. Then Ernie came to me and wanted me to come in for the remaining $100,000. I told him, 'No way. I'm in the breeding business, not the racing business.' A few days later, I was having dinner with Myron Bell and we were talking about the colt and Myron asked me, 'Do you really believe in the colt?' 'Sure I do,' I responded. 'He's the best horse we ever raised.' Then Myron said, 'You need to buy in. I had the same experience with Michael Parisi after we bought Captaintreacherous. I told him, 'You bred him. You need to show the confidence in your own product and come in for a piece.' I took his advice and I'm very pleased that I did.

"The Mission Brief filly this year is gorgeous. I felt confident that she would top the sale. I had no idea of how much she would bring because of what's going on in the world today. But I knew she would top the sale and she did. Like all breeders I wish her buyer Anders Strom every possible success with her."

How about Timonium (AKA Harrisburg) this year, what are your thoughts?

"I think the sale will be very good. Perhaps, on a relative basis, even better than Lexington. I think there will be far more Canadians in attendance because of the Super Finals being over. The restrictions on returning to Canada won't affect horsemen as much as it would have if they couldn't participate in those big money stakes. I've also heard that many Europeans have plans to attend."

How about the future for the Stewarts and Hunterton Farms?

"Better for sure and possibly bigger. That's always been my philosophy. I'm the perennial optimist. Every day is better than the previous one, mostly because I believe I benefit from my mistakes and those that I see others make. I'm a huge believer in the future. We will keep on investing in what we believe. We will be selling all of our yearlings, even those fillies that we consider to be our best. Our first yearling crop in which we had some ownership included eight yearlings. This year we have 85. Next year, I hope we have more and better ones. There is only one direction that I believe and that is going forward. The only benefit to be found in the past is in correcting mistakes you have previously made."

Inaugural Ontario Select Yearling Sale grosses $2.2 million, averages $20,427

A trotting colt bred by the late Harry Rutherford topped the sale with a bid of $140,000 from trainer Scott McEneny.

by Dave Briggs

The inaugural Ontario Select Yearling Sale, held Saturday afternoon (Oct. 17) at Winbak Farms in Inglewood, ON, saw 110 yearlings gross $2,247,000 total for an average of $20,427.

Trainer Scott McEneny was the sale's leading buyer after purchasing the two most expensive yearlings sold — Hip #110 All In Resolve, a Resolve colt out of Im A Munchie Girl for $140,000 out of the Preferred Equine Canada consignment and Hip #17 Vintage Delight, a Bettor's Delight filly out of Roller Cam for $72,000 consigned by Twinbrook Farms.

The fact that All In Resolve was bred by the late Harry Rutherford and his partner Diane 'Joey' Ingham was particularly poignant for Steve Bray, the director of operations for Preferred Equine Canada.

"It's always nice to have the sale's topper and, of course, we have to thank our long, lost, dear friend Harry Rutherford and Joey," Bray said. "They've been great clients of Preferred and great friends. With the loss of Harry, that was a great tribute to what he's put together over the years and to be able to top a sale like this."

Preferred owner David Reid — who remained in the United States due to the COVID-19 border closure, despite having multiple negative COVID-19 tests this week — said selling the sale topper was a credit to Rutherford and Ingham's terrific breeding operation.

"I know it's been a hard year for the operation and I'm happy to see them bear some more fruits for their success," Reid said.

Preferred and Twinbrook sold the next two highest-priced yearlings, respectively, when Lou Liebenau purchased Hip #90 Denice Muscles, a Muscle Mass filly out of Enjoy N My Lady for $72,000 and Jeff Ruch, acting as agent for Wallace Stables, purchased Hip #95 Bettorholdontight, a Bettors Delight colt out of Farouche Hanover, for $70,000.

The sale was created by Winbak owner Joe Thomson in response to the London Selected Yearling Sale's decision to go with an online-only sale (background here) due to restrictions posed by the COVID-19 pandemic.

online only primarily because its sale facility, the Western Fair Agriplex, was being used as a COVID-19 field hospital.

Thomson opted to stage the sale at his farm – with additional online bidding – because of his preference for a live auction.

Following Saturday's sale, Pat Woods, the farm manager for Winbak Canada that organized the sale, said, "the feedback from the people and the consignors that came here was extremely positive. We couldn't have enough good compliments.

"We had a lot of positive comments from the people that understand the business. People like David Heffering from Tara Hills and Twinbrook Farms, Steve Bray, just the people that understand what these undertakings entail. We're very happy. Joe (Thomson) was extremely happy with everything."

Though Woods said staging a sale at the farm was an enormous undertaking two months in the making, he was pleased with the results from the first-time effort.

"I was happy with the sale," Woods said. "Our auctioneers and our audio-visual guys, the people doing the live auction TV – all outstanding. The few things that I wasn't happy about, that was just me being picky."

Visitors to the farm for the sale were limited to only the sale crew, consignors and those that registered as bidders. Strict COVID-19 protocols were in place.

"The most difficult thing in this whole, entire set up was just not knowing the final set plan," Woods said. "We didn't know if we'd be allowed to have people here or if the bidding would have to be online or how many people would even be allowed here? That was the biggest thing. It was hard to plan not knowing what we needed to have in place. It came down to the last week and then we finally had to say, 'Okay, this is it...' For tent sizes and where we had to put them and how we had to have people spaced and all the rest of it. That was the most difficult challenge was just not knowing what was going to happen."

Resolve led all sires in average ($60,333 for three sold), followed by Bettor's Delight ($45,167 for six sold) and Muscle Mass ($34,000 for seven sold). Sportswriter led all sires in gross sales with $313,000 for 14 sold, followed by Bettors Delight ($271,000) and Muscle Mass ($238,000).

Preferred led all consignors with $1,106,000 in gross sales for 46 yearlings sold, followed by Winbak ($529,000 for 37 sold) and Twinbrook ($246,000 for six sold).

Twinbrook was the leading consignor by average ($41,000), followed by Joe Hudon ($32,333 for three sold) and Preferred ($24,043).

"I think the numbers for Preferred today were really good," Bray said. "Some clients did come up and talk to me and say they were happy with their day, which is a tribute to Preferred and Dave Reid and the job he does in putting these together. Unfortunately, he couldn't be here."

"Obviously, with the travel restrictions, I made the decision to not go up, from a border point of view, even though I've taken multiple COVID-19 tests and they are all negative," Reid said. "I just thought it would be in the best interest just to stay back here, understanding that I had Steve Bray up there to run it along with our long-established crew. I've got to give them all the credit."

As for whether the sale will return next year, Woods said that was never the plan from the outset. It was simply a stop-gap measure made in a difficult pandemic year.

"This was a one-time thing this year," he said. "We said afterwards we'd re-assess how it went and everything else, but as of right now there's been no talk of next year. That's not my decision, that's a Joe Thomson decision."

Power powerful in Paris

by Thomas Hedlund

A perfect third inside trip resulted in a tight win for Robert Bergh and his 4-year-old Googoo Gaagaa son Power in Friday night's (Oct. 16) $470,000 Grand Prix de l'U.E.T. at Vincennes.

The race over 1.3 miles on the small track at Vincennes was spectacular, at least in the race's ending phase, when leader and betting favorite Ecurie D. Seemed to have everything under control in the hands of Björn Goop. But when the field turned in for the last stretch, Ecurie D's gait began to fail and 50 meters ahead of the wire, still in the lead, Frode Hamre's trotter lost his gait and started to pace, which resulted in disqualification.

Instead, Bergh could take advantage of Ecurie D's mishap. Bergh lifted Power into outside position in the last turn and the full attack was set with 150 meters to go. What Bergh didn't know at that moment was that the leader was about to lose gait and between Power and Ecurie D. other horses got close to the wire. French mare Green Grass finished strongly between horses, Guzz Mearas as well and on the outside Aetos Kronos sprinted in his characteristic style. It was almost impossible to proclaim a winner when the four top horses reached the wire, but in some way Power put his nose first in a mile rate 1:54.3 over 1.3 miles.

Power and Hail Mary, both trained by Bergh, both sons of Googoo Gaagaa, have dominated the Derbys in Europe 2020, but according to Bergh, the season of Power next year will be different from the usual experience for 5-year-old trotters in Sweden. Bergh mentioned on ATG-live on Saturday afternoon that Power will work as sire during the spring and summer and that he might be back for the races next fall.

"We, the owners and I, are at least thinking about an arrangement like that, but there are still some prestigious races left this year, so we will see what happens," Bergh said.

The Googoo Gaagaa blood will most probably be sought-after in Swedish breeding, not least after Googoo Gaagaa's successful year as a sire.

Helgafell wins European Derby for sophomores

Three-year-old Helgafell (Charly du Noyer) was superior in $117,500 European Championship for 3-year-olds. Eric Raffin drove the Philippe Allaire-trained trotter and sent Helgafell to the lead a half mile into the race. In front, Helgafell had everything under complete control in a moderate mile rate of 1:59 over 1.3 miles.

Feerie Wood wins Derby for 5-year-olds

In the $117,500 Championship for 5-year-olds, Feerie Wood (Rockfeller Center) and Alexandre Abrivard found their space behind leader Stoleteshow at the top of the stretch and the mare sprinted to safe win in a mile rate 1:57.2 over 1.3 miles.

Swedish authority's investigation into Propulsion turning into a spy novel

Top Swedish racing journalist Claes Freidenvall writes about being grilled by an investigator for Svensk Travsport (ST) looking into the case of the Elitloppet winner.

by Dave Briggs

The investigation into the Propulsion case by Sweden's racing authority Svensk Travsport (ST) is apparently turning into more of a spy novel than a truth-finding mission, according to veteran Swedish journalist Claes Freidenvall.

Friday morning (Oct. 16), Sweden's Sulkysport published a story written by Freidenvall saying he was interrogated by an investigator with a history of using digital techniques to try to catch criminals. The investigator revealed he had accessed Freidenvall's search history on the USTA's Pathway system. Freidenvall had not given his consent to do so.

The story, which was written in Swedish, was translated paragraph by paragraph into English using Google Translate by HRU, so it is not a perfect translation. However, what Freidenvall wrote is troubling in any language.

Before meeting with ST's external investigator Roger Lindblom, Freidenvall requested questions be sent to him in advance. No questions were sent. Freidenvall, who has extensive experience with U.S. racing, still decided to cooperate as a courtesy, but wrote that he was shocked by the meeting.

He wrote he was grilled as if he was the person that had performed the nerve procedure on Propulsion. He was also questioned as to why he had written articles critical of ST. Freidenvall was then showed a screenshot of his private, password-protected searches on the USTA Pathway system related to Propulsion.

According to Freidenvall, acquiring such information without consent goes against both the USTA Pathway system's own privacy rules and the European Union's long-standing General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

On Saturday morning (Oct. 17), Sulkysport published an open letter from its owners (full letter here) — Hall of Fame breeder Margareta Wallenius-Kleberg, Bjorn Damm and Per Rodert — sharply critical of the alleged invasion of privacy and calling on ST CEO Maria Croon and the board of ST to provide a full account of how such data breaches and breaches of privacy occurred.

That the renowned Wallenius-Kleberg has now publicly admonished ST and Croon is another incredible chapter in the case.

Performing what is alleged to have been an illegal search of Freidenvall's search history is troubling, but so is the reason ST was interested in Freidenvall in the first place.

"Roger Lindblom wanted – according to his own statement – to find out if I had an 'unhealthy relationship' with (Propulsion's trainer) Daniel Redén – what does this mean?" Freidenvall wrote (as translated by Google). "It was not Sulkysport that first revealed the news that Propulsion had been nerved. Norwegian Trotting and Gallop News did so after Propulsion's victory in the Elitloppet."

Freidenvall said Sulkysport did report – as did HRU – that Propulsion had undergone a nerve procedure at a veterinary clinic in the U.S. and that the USTA export certificate sent to ST clearly indicated that the nerve procedure had been done.

HRU has previously reported on the case here (2020-06-05 story) and here (2020-06-06 story).

The brief synopsis is this: days after Propulsion won the Elitloppet in May, word began circulating out of Sweden that the U.S.-bred son of Muscle Hill out of Danae might be stripped of that victory – or worse: ALL European victories – because he underwent a lower nerve procedure on both front legs in the United States while under U.S. ownership. Horses that undergo nerve procedures – regardless of how long ago that procedure was done – are not allowed to race by Sweden's strict rules.

Redén purchased the horse at a mixed sale in the U.S. and told HRU that had he been aware of the nerve procedure, he never would have purchased the horse in the first place. U.S. rules at the time required the procedure to be disclosed to the racetrack where the horse was racing – and be posted there – which, by all accounts, it was. The procedure was not documented by the USTA until after Propulsion was sold to Redén, primarily because it needed to be documented on the export certificate. It is indisputable that the USTA clearly documented that the nerve procedure had been done on the export certificate that was sent to ST before the horse raced in Sweden (export certificate available here).

In my way of thinking, that means ST is at least culpable in failing to stop the horse from racing and abiding by its own rules. Propulsion has raced for six years in Sweden and earned some $3.6 million (U.S.). How did no one with ST check the documents for that many years? Even more questionable is how ST failed to check the export certificate after the procedure came to light again a year ago and ST sent two veterinarians to Redén's farm in June of 2019 to examine the horse. Not only did the vets clear Propulsion to race, they did so almost a full year before the trotter won the Elitloppet.

Word that there may be problems with ST's investigation into the case started this June when ST fired its lead investigator (2020-07-10 story). Steen Morten Johansen, the head of security and investigations for ST told Swedish media he believes his dismissal came because ST is trying to make him "a scapegoat" in the Propulsion investigation.

The investigation now is into its fourth month, but Redén, the man at the center of the case, has yet to hear from ST directly.

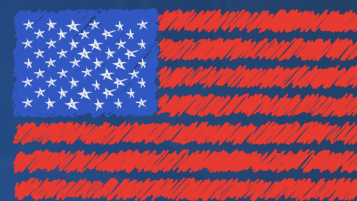

Instead, apparently, ST is going after journalists and riling legendary Swedish breeders as it tries to place the blame on anyone and anything but itself.

It's all rings too much like a Swedish spy novel such as The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo than a serious attempt to arrive at the truth and adjudicate the case fairly.

salvaged an underwhelming campaign Friday night (Oct. 16) at Harrah's Hoosier Park, winning the $270,000 Indiana Sires Stakes Super Final with a lifetime best 1:49.1 performance. It was only the second seasonal win for the pacer, and opens the door for another shot at the Breeders Crown, this year on the filly's home track.

"It's been kind of disappointing this year, no doubt," said Hochsprung after the victory. "The year wasn't going too well, but she raced awesome. She's the filly we thought she was, you know? It's pretty exciting."

As a 2-year-old, Priceless captured seven of 11 starts, winning a trio of Indiana Sires Stakes legs and the $270,000 Super Final as well as a Kentuckiana Stallion Management stake. She earned her 1:50.2 freshman speed badge with a near five-length score over Reflect With Me in a Breeders Crown elimination in Canada last season. Priceless accumulated $347,162 in 2019 and looked to be a filly that could contend on the Grand Circuit in 2020.

Unfortunately, this season has proven a struggle, with a single win in 11 starts entering Friday night's race. Despite a 1:52 triumph in her sophomore debut, Priceless hit the board only three more times. She raced second to Reflect With Me when the latter established a new Hoosier Park track record of 1:48.2 to capture the Nadia Lobell, but paced fourth in the Mistletoe Shalee. In the Fan Hanover final, she finished last after making an early break. At home in Indiana Sires Stakes action, she twice registered third-place efforts.

"She's got some ankle problems, she's got some issues," said Hochsprung. "She's got high speed, but we're dealing with front ankles right now. Even now, she's still not 100 per cent."

After a trying campaign, Hochsprung and Miller decided Priceless needed a change of scenery, moving her to the barn of Andy and Julie Miller. Andy Miller explained that they received the pacer three weeks ago, and he sat behind the filly for the first time in competition Oct. 9, the last Indiana Sires Stakes leg leading into the Super Final. That night she finished fifth, and after seven rounds of competition, held the 10th and final points position to earn a spot in the Super Final.

"The week before she was okay and had pace, but she got locked in a hole and was on a line pretty good," Miller said. "I couldn't let her drift, so it kind of took the pace away from her in the lane."

With that in mind, Miller made sure traffic would not be a problem Friday night, firing her to the lead from post eight. On the front, Priceless paced a :25.3 opening panel.

"We decided we wanted to cut it and that way I was able to let her drift a little in the lane, but she wasn't on a line nearly as bad. I really didn't want to follow anybody. I wanted to control the race," he said.

The plan worked to perfection. Reaching the half in :54.1 and three quarters in 1:22.1, the filly, sent off as the fourth choice, closed out the mile with a :27 last quarter to win by a length and a quarter. While only her second seasonal win, the victory is the second Super Final score for Priceless and pushes her career earnings to nearly $550,000. More importantly, the victory shows Priceless can be competitive in a Breeders Crown division that also includes the flawless Party Girl Hill and Peaky Sneaky, a recent winner in Lexington.

"She's got a few leg issues and some rigging issues. We've made a few changes on her and it worked well," Miller said. "I think she's as good as most of those fillies. I think this win kind of stamped her as a contender in there too. She's one of the faster fillies this year I think."

Hochsprung said the decision on whether to enter the Breeders Crown will come down to how Priceless comes out of the Super Final and how her ankles respond. With the possibility of four more starts on her dance card, the owner said his sophomore's Super Final victory helped to erase many forgettable races this season.

"We're just ecstatic. We forgot about the bad year now," he said. "We're kind of leaning toward it right now; we're just waiting to see how she comes out of it Monday or Tuesday. Andy and Julie have done a phenomenal job with her, so she needs a little more TLC and I think we've got it. She put her best foot forward. Let's hope we can get there next week. We're going to try to give it our best effort."

Grand Swan, Katkin American collect second ISS Super Final titles

The trotters crowned Super Final champions also included: Bridge To Success, Swift Swanda, May Baby and Swan In Motion.

by Kimberly French for Harrah's Hoosier Park

On Friday (Oct. 16) Harrah's Hoosier Park played host to its annual Night of Champions. Worth $2.5 million, the power-packed 15-race card featured eight $270,00 Indiana Sire Stakes Super Final contests for sophomore and freshmen trotters and pacers, as well as four events — three carrying purses of $70,000 and one with a purse of $50,000 — for older horses.

Sticking just with the trotters, the victors were dual Indiana champions Grand Swan and Katkin American as well as newly-crowned titleholders Bridge To Success, Swift Swanda, May Baby and Swan In Motion.

Grand Swan (LeWayne Miller), glided to the finish line in front Morairtime (Jack Parker Jr.) and even-money favorite Compelling (Verlin Yoder) in the race for older female trotters. Grand Swan was content to sit in second out of the gate and remain in that position behind leader Morairtime through fractions of :28.1, :56.2 and 1:24.4. As the mares half-mile after favored Brookview Bolt led the field of 10 with fractions of :28.1 and :57.3. The gelding began to advance at the three-quarter pole and was tracking from second entering the stretch. With a final panel of :27.2, Bridge To Success out-finished Brookview Bolt to collect the second win of his debut campaign.

Bridge To Success (John DeLong) captured the first $270,000 Indiana Sires Stakes Super final event for 2-year-old trotting colts and geldings in a lifetime best 1:54.4 for conditioner Roger Welch. The full brother to fellow Indiana champion Bride To Jesse's defeated Brookview Bolt (Sam Widger) and Swingforthe fences (Peter Wrenn).

Owned by William DeLong, William Patrick DeLong and Welch, the gelding, who is sired by Jailhouse Jesse and out of Bridge To Nowhere, is now 7 2-2-1 and has amassed $160,675 in purse money.

Breeders Crown eligible Katkin American (James Yoder) provided his driver, who also serves as his trainer, with one of three triumphs on the evening when he dominated his competition in the division for older male trotters. Bridge To Jesse's (John DeLong) was a valiant second with Martini Show (Sam Widger) lighting up the tote board in third at odds of more than 50-1.

Yoder placed Katkin American in third at the start as Breeders Crown winner Fiftydallarbill (Trace Tetrick) led the field of nine through the first quarter-mile in swift :26.1. The 5-year-old son of Guccio--Katkin decided to take command and after clicking off fractions of :56.1 and 1:24.1, the gelding stopped the clock in a sparkling 1:51.4.

Owned by Brett Boyd Racing Inc., Katkin American appears to be rounding into top form and seeks to add a Breeders Crown trophy to his two pieces of Hoosier hardware. The gelding boosted his bankroll to $311,950 and has a career record of 21 12-8-0.

"This horse had the freshest legs going into this race," Yoder said. "He is a class act and I can't say enough good Swift Swanda (Trace Tetrick) defeated Country Girl Charm (LeWayne Miller) by a neck in 1:55.2, a new career mark, to capture the title for 2-year-old trotting fillies. Trained by Erv Miller, the daughter of Swan For All--Cheetah Hall was sixth for the first half of the contest as Queen Of All (Robert Taylor) led the field of 10 through the first panel in :27.1. Favored Shirley Goodness (Peter Wrenn) assumed command at the half-mile marker in :57.2. From there, Swift Swanda steadily advanced with Country Girl Charm on her hooves to surge past Shirley Goodness who held for third.

Owned by Anthony Lombardi and The Kales Company, the filly is now 10 6-1-1 and has banked $228,137. Swift Swanda is Breeders Crown eligible.

"She's a pretty immature, green filly," Miller said. "She's really growing this year and just like Trace said she will make a great 3-year-old. Last week, she relaxed a bit more in the turn and went off a bit. In the Kentuckiana (Stallion Management Stake on Sept. 9) she was too far back to get ahead. She's mainly been babied along because of immaturity."

May Baby (James Yoder) collected her fourth consecutive victory en route to equaling the track record for her age, sex and gait in an impressive performance against nine sophomore rivals in the $270,000 Super Final for 3-year-old trotting fillies. Also conditioned by Yoder, the daughter of Guccio--Free Wheeling bested last year's Indiana champion Rock Swan (Trace Tetrack) and Pretzel Party (Sam Widger) in 1:52.2.

The filly sat in the garden spot as Rock Swan led the way in :27.2, :56 and 1:24.2. It appeared Rock Swan was going to hold her advantage to the finish line, but Yoder moved his charge to the inside and with an explosive turn of foot, May Baby flew past Rock Swan while easily widening her advantage to the wire.

Owned by Cheyenne Yoder, May Baby was a finalist in last year's Breeders Crown and will contest that event again this season. She is now 20-13-3-1 and has earned $465,365.

"She's small but she's got a big heart," Yoder said. "I kind of floated her out there to see where she would end up and it was on Rock Swan's back. She was a little on the right line so I went on the inside and it worked out. She is eligible for the Breeders Crown and if she comes out of this sound she will be there. My dad won the Breeders Crown a couple years ago (Verlin Yoder, Woodside Charm) so I'm hoping to follow in his footsteps."

Swan In Motion (Ricky Macomber) overcame some traffic trouble to defeat Bluebird Deacon (Tim Tetrack) and Tj's Top Pick (Andy Miller) to become Indiana's 3-year-old colt and gelding trotting champion in 1:53.1. Trained by Macomber's wife, Jamie, the son of Swan For All--Keystone Sadie appeared to be locked in at the three-quarter pole in fifth place. As the field turned for home, Bluebird Deacon assumed the lead from Emma Town Bud after fractions of :27.3, :55.4 and 1:25.1. Emma Town Bud broke while on top and as the youngsters put in their bids to the wire, Swan In Motion proved best.

Owned by M & M Racing and Norbert Maza, Swan In Motion is Breeders Crown eligible. He has a record of 21 8-7-2 and has collected $396,845 in purse money.

"I always have confidence in this colt," Jamie said. "He has done nothing but make me happy. When he made that break (in the final of the sire stakes on Sept. 10) that was so uncharacteristic. We went above and beyond to get him to the winner's circle tonight. Ricky loves this colt more than anything, so he didn't to push him through his last qualifier. I promised him he would not run tonight and that was the most trot he has ever had. If it was up to me I would put him in the Breeders Crown, but I have to check with the owners on that."

This year's Breeders Crown will be held at Hoosier Park for the second time in four years. The sport's championship events will commence on Oct. 23 and continue on Oct. 24 with eliminations. The finals for 2-year-olds will be held on Oct. 30 and the remaining finals will be on Oct. 31.

Indiana Super Final victories were turned in by pacers Tellmeaboutit, Rockin Nola, Priceless, Somethingbeautiful, JK Going West and Clever Character.

Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino played host to its annual Hoosier Champions Night on Friday, (Oct. 16). Featuring total purses of $2.5 million, the power-packed 15-race card featured four $270,00 Indiana Sire Stakes Super Final contests for sophomore and freshmen pacers as well as two $70,000 events for older mares, stallions and geldings of the same gait.

The victors were repeat Indiana champions Tellmeaboutit, Rockin Nola, and Priceless as well as newly crowned titleholders Somethingbeautiful, JK Going West and Clever Character.

Two-year-old pacing fillies kicked off the $270,000 Super Finals for the evening and it was Somethingbeautiful who capped off her perfect Indiana Sires Stakes season with a 1:51.4 victory. With driver Tim Tetrick in the bike, Somethingbeautiful (Tim Tetrick) capped off her perfect Indiana Sires Stakes season with a 1:51.4 victory in the $270,000 Super Final for 2-year-old pacing fillies.

Somethingbeautiful was able to hold off a late surge from Hot Mess Express and Andy Miller to get the victory and deliver as the heavy betting favorite.

"I talked to (trainer) Dylan (Davis) before the race and watched her race a few times," Tetrick said after the victory. "She's obviously a super talented filly who loves to do her job, I just had to put her in the right spot."

After an opening panel in :27.1, Somethingbeautiful moved to the lead down the backside and never looked back. She utilized a :26.4 final quarter to hold off a hard charging Hot Mess Express and Andy Miller.

Somethingbeautiful improved her lifetime record to 9-8-1-0 and equaled her established best with the victory.

Owned in partnership by Howard Taylor, E. Gold, A. Basen, and R. Lombardo, the daughter of Always A Virgin—Summer N Sand has now earned $314,750 lifetime.

The 3-year-old pacing fillies were up next and it was Priceless (Andy Miller) who notched her second Indiana Sire Stakes championship in a lifetime best effort in 1:49.1.

Making the lead before the first turn, Priceless, in her second start for new trainer Julie Miller, went the distance in this event for 3-year-old pacing fillies. The daughter of Rockin' Image—Btwnyurheartnmine defeated Mystical Carrie (Trace Tetrick) by 1-1/2 lengths in 1:49.1. Genie Rockwell (James Yoder) was a first-up third, never threatening the winner while beaten 4-1/4 lengths.

'I wanted to control the race,' Miller said.

Priceless, from post position eight, did exactly that through spritely intervals of :25.3, :54.1 and 1:22.1.

Owned by Kevin Miller and Bert Hochsprung, Priceless now sports a record of 23 9-2-2 and has banked $546,944. The filly was victorious in the Indiana Sires Stakes 2-year-old pacing filly Super final and eighth in last year's Breeders Crown final for 2-year-old pacing fillies after winning her $25,000 elimination.

JK Going West and driver/trainer LeWayne Miller staged an impressive rally and found late racing room to get up in the final strides of the mile to capture the $270,000 Super Final for 2-year-old pacing colts and geldings. Stopping the timer in 1:51.4, JK Going West was able to overcome post position nine and survived a judges' inquiry to get the victory.

Dean Gillette

Tellmeaboutit (Peter Wrenn) added another Super Final score to his resume when he defeated a fast-closing Shamwow (LeWayne Miller) in 1:49 to capture the $76,000 Aged Pace.

"I really wasn't sure why there was an inquiry, I was nervous but I didn't think I did anything wrong," Miller said after the victory. "My colt had all kinds of pace so I knew I had to find some room and as soon as I did—he really paced strong to the wire."

Owned in partnership by Bill Beechy and David Ferch, JK Going West recorded his third win from 11 seasonal outs. The son of JK Endofanera—Southwest pushed his lifetime bankroll to $224,558 with the victory.

In the 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings division, it was Clever Character and Sam Widger who were also able to overcome post position nine to best their rivals and pull the 9-1 upset in the $270,000 Indiana Sires Stakes Super Final. With a final time of 1:49.4, Clever Character dug in gamely late in the lane to get the victory and establish a new lifetime best in the process.

"I've been watching this colt race for the last two seasons," Widger said after the victory. "He's a very gritty colt. He doesn't need a perfect trip because he loves to hunt them down. The only problem when he clears them as quick as he did tonight is that he will wait on them. I am thankful to the connections for having confidence in me and letting me drive him."

Trained by Ron Burke, Clever Character was recently acquired by the ownership partnership of Burke Racing Stable, Weaver Brusceci, Larry Karr and Frank Baldachino. The son of Tellitlikeitis--Ruby Delight recorded his third win of the season from 13 starts. Clever Character has now earned $375,965 lifetime.

Tellmeaboutit (Peter Wrenn) added another Super Final score to his resume when he defeated a fast-closing Shamwow (LeWayne Miller) in 1:49 to capture the $76,000 Aged Pace. Ideal Ace (Stephen White) was third in the field of seven.

After even-money favorite Little Rocket Man (Tim Tetrick) broke on the lead at the quarter pole through a first split of :26, Tellmeaboutit, who is conditioned by Alvin Miller, assumed that position and never looked back. The 4-year-old son of Tellitlikeitis--Portia Blue Chip established fractions of :54.2 and 1:22.1 prior to holding Shamwow at bay.

Owned by Twila Harts and his trainer, the gelding now has a record of 41 15-10-9 and has earned $442,500.

Rockin Nola (Joey Putnam) also added another Indiana Sires Stakes trophy to her collection after she was a convincing winner in the $50,000 Aged Mare Pace with driver Joey Putnam in the bike.

Rockin Nola sped by leader Rockin Serena after the first quarter-mile in :26.2 to assume control and never looked back. She defeated It's Time For Fun (Kyle Wilfong) and Dojea Rita (Trace Tetrick) in 1:50.1 after setting fractions of :54.3 and 1:23.1.

Owned by J P Racing and Suttons Bay Racing, the 4-year-old daughter of Rockin Image--Gottogetoutmore, who is trained by Joe Putnam, now has a record of 41-20-9-4 and has amassed $547,907 during her career. This is her third Indiana championship victory as she won the both the 2 and 3-year-old contest for her sex and gait.

Veterans fast and furious in Ohio Sires Stakes Championships

by Kimberly Rinker / Ohio Standardbred Development Fund Administrator

Veteran Ohio-bred pacers and trotters of both genders proved fast and furious on a chilly Friday (Oct. 16) evening at Dayton Raceway, sparring in a quartet of $85,000 Ohio Sires Stakes (OHSS) Championships.

Weslynn Quest (5-1) held off 1-9 stablemate Pure Chance in the Mares Trot Championship, clocked in 1:54. Danny Noble drove the 4-year-old Manofmanymissions--Weslynn Legacy mare for trainer Chris Beaver and owner Derek Ivany of Toronto. Longshot (35-1) Heidi's Heart was third for Josh Sutton. The victory, the 11th of her career in 32 starts, pushed Weslynn Quest's career earnings to $245,341.

Talkaboutaqueen (5-2) used a bold move at the half to take command and never look back in the Mares Pace Championship for driver Brett Miller. The 5-year-old mare by Oaks Enforcer--Trouble Talk is trained by Jayme Laing for Rod Allums, Jr., and now has $165,203 in her career coffers. Checks On The Way (5-2) was second for Aaron Merriman, while 1-1 Big Bad Jane was third for Danny Noble. The winner was timed in a career-equalling 1:50.4 for her effort.

Brad Conrad

Weslynn Quest (Danny Noble) won the Ohio Sires Stakes Mares Trot Championship in 1:54.

Pass The Vape, the 2-1 choice, used a near wire-to-wire journey to take the Veteran Trot in 1:54 for driver Dan Noble and trainer Derek Watiker. The 5-year-old altered son of Dejarmbro--Vapor Rises upped his lifetime bankroll to $432,459 for owner Lionel Ray Watiker of Zanesville, OH as he made his 23rd trip into the winner's circle. Lane Of Stone (9-5) was second, a length and a half back for Jeff Nisonger, while 2-1 Jailhouse Sam was third for Sandy Beatty.

Sectionline Bigry, the 1-1 favorite, held off his eight rivals with a commanding 1:50.1 performance in the Veteran Pace for driver Tyler Smith and trainer Steve Bauder. Owned by Harold Lee Bauder of Delaware, OH, the 5-year-old Pet Rock--Aquatic Yankee homebred collected career win 27 and now has $565,227 in lifetime earnings. Tivo Hanover (16-1) was second for Kayne Kauffman, while 2-1 Gold Digger King was third for Brett Miller.

Gearing up for the Breeders Crown

by Bob Heyden

Trainer Chris Ryder, who enters the Breeders Crown with unbeaten Party Girl Hill has had a number of notable females in his career.

In 2001, he sent out Cathedra Dot Com ($1,082,619), who was second to Bunny Lake that year in money. Both were the first duo to pass $1 million as sophomore fillies. Cathedra Dot Com wound up at $1,506,933 lifetime.

Mystical Sunshine won back-to-back Breeders Crowns in 2006-2007. The daughter of 2006 Horse of the Year sire Glidemaster out of Yankee Glide (1-2) took a quick mark of 1:50.3.

Too Much Trouble was one of the first top pacing mares conditioned by Ryder.

Put On A Show in 2009-2010 set the 2-year-old filly pacing record from earnings of $1,893,475. She later set the world female all-time mark as a mare of 1:47.3.

I Luv The Nitelife surpassed Put On A Show's record at 2 and 3 with a combined $1,943,287 banked in 2012-2013. Unfortunately we lost her this year while foaling.

Party Girl Hill is now 12-for-12 as she heads to Indiana for the Breeders Crown. The last two HOY honorees who were undefeated were also ladies – and they did so back to back – 2013 Bee A Magician and 2014 J K She's A Lady.

Sticking his neck out

Party Girl Hill's sire, Captaintreacherous, had a habit of sticking his neck out.

He had seven wins by a neck and was never second by a neck. Only once did he win by a nose, never by a head.

Neck wins:

10/19/13 Pocono $500,000 Breeders Crown, Sunshine Beach was second.

10/5/13 Red Mile $215,500 Tattersalls, Vegas Vacation was second.

9/2/13 Tioga $360,215 Cane Pace, Word Power was second.

6/29/13 Pocono $500,000 Hempt final (and elim), both times Vegas Vacation was second.

9/1/12 Mohawk $1,010,000 Metro, Odds On Equuleus was second.

8/18/12 Mohawk in the Nassagaweya, Vegas Vacation was second.

Tall Dark Stranger

Tall Dark Stranger will make his 21st career start in either the elim or final of the Breeders Crown. Both Somebeachsomewhere and Muscle Hill started 21 times in their careers.

TDS' sire Bettors Delight was a Breeders Crown winner at 2, but was fourth as the .65 cents on the dollar favorite in 2001 as a sophomore.

Tall Dark Stranger would be Nancy Takter's second Horse of the Year if she wins it. In 2014, J K She's A Lady won it.

Bettors Delight is the #1 money-winning sire in horse racing history. Can he get his very first HOY in 2020?

Whoever gets it – Tall Dark Stranger (Bettors Delight),

Ramona Hill (Muscle Hill) or Party Girl Hill (Captaintreacheraus) – it will be 21 years into the new millennium and the 21st different sire to have a HOY credit

Order By Stable

Nice pair of Chapter Sevens bred by Order By Stable. They left Kentucky just $37,000 shy of $5 million in combined lifetime earnings:

Atlanta – $2,524,453

Gimpanzee – $2,438,575

Total – $4,963,028

Plus, Chapter Seven won the Kentucky Filly Futurity too with Love A Good Story.

Lookalike seasons

When Amigo Volo crossed the wire easily taking the Kentucky Futurity, his record at 2 and 3 looked like mirror images:

2: 12 6-2-0 $610,546

3: 12 6-1-2 $595,823

Speaking of mirror images, his sire, Father Patrick, also sired the 2019 Kentucky Futurity winner Greenshoe. He becomes the first sire in the last half century to win the Futurity with his first two crops. Muscles Yankee did it in 2003 and 2005 with his first and third crop – Mr Muscleman and Strong Yankee. Father Patrick is the rare Three Year Old Trotting Colt Of The Year who himself did not win a Triple Crown event, yet both of his stablemates did – Trixton in the Hambletonian and Nuncio in the Yonkers Trot and Kentucky Futurity.

Seventh heaven for Ake Svanstedt?

Ake Svanstedt had seven in the Kentucky Futurity this year. He didn't win it, but he got 44 per cent of the purse, or $186,480.

He was: second with E L Ideal, third with Third Shift, fifth with King Alphonse, seventh with Coventry Hall, eighth with Jula Trix Treasure, 10th with Gangster Hanover and 12th with Back Of The Neck.

Rare moment

The top three finishers in the 2020 Hambletonian all missed the board on Futurity Day – Ramona Hill, Ready For Moni and Back Of The Neck.

Trainer Anette Lorentzon

by Victoria M. Howard

Born in Bladingeas, Kronobergs Lan, Sweden, Anette Lorentzon grew up on her parent's farm. In 2003 when she was 20 years old, Lorentzon moved to the America to embark on a career in harness racing hoping to follow in the footsteps of renowned Swedish trainer Jimmy Takter.

After arriving in the United States, Lorentzon got a job working for trainer/driver Trond Smedshammer. Her plans were to learn more about training and racing 2 year-olds and then return home to Sweden.

Courtesy Anette Lorentzon

Trainer Anette Lorentzon.

"I guess you can say it all began for me when I was 11 years old," she said. "My parents gave me a horse named Expensive AS and told me I could do what I wanted with him."

"Boy, I had a lot of fun with that horse. When I turned 16, my parents sent Expensive As and me to France for six months. Today, he is 29 years old and living out his life on our farm in Sweden. Although I love all the horses I own or train, Expensive As will always hold a special place in my heart."

A career in harness racing can be very competitive and challenging, but that didn't discourage Lorentzon. After all, she is no stranger to facing an arduous situation. Six years ago, she fought the toughest battle of her life when she was diagnosed with bone cancer and underwent femur replacement and chemotherapy.

"It was supposed to last for at least 15 years, but unfortunately two years ago I shattered the cement and had to have a new replacement."

But being the positive and courageous woman she is, Lorentzon said, "Cancer may have started the fight, but I will end it."

Thankfully, Lorentzon has now been cancer free for five years.

Lorentzon, 37, lives in Paris, KY and operates a 35-horse stable (including many 2-year-olds) that she shuffles between Magical Acres in New Jersey and the Red Mile in Lexington.

"Most of my horse are homebreds, but I try to find some horses I like at the sales every year. The babies are the most trying, but exciting, and they're what keeps us horsemen going. That dream of having the next world champion."

For the past five years, Lorentzon's stock has captured many of the major races, but she acknowledges that it gets more difficult as the successes pile up.

"You've got to be lucky in the big races and hope the horses stay sound and healthy."

One of her star pupils is a homebred 6-year-old male trotter named Guardian Angel As, who has now banked more than $1.5 million.

In 2019, he won the prestigious Maple Leaf Trot (equaling a Canadian record for the mile), Spirit of Massachusetts (a track record at Plainridge), Cleveland Trotting Classic (world record at Northfield) and Maxie Lee Memorial. Guardian Angel As was also second in the John Cashman Memorial and third in the TVG Series Championship and Caesars Trotting Classic.

In August 2020, Guardian Angel As was the upset winner in the $220,000 Crawford Farms Open Trot at Tioga, beating out Gimpanzee and Crystal Fashion.

"I'm so proud of Guardian Angel As for he has raced against some of the best out there and proved he can go with them. We always had high hopes for him and we took our time to bring him around slowly, and it paid off."

Also in August a 2-year-old pacing filly trained and owned by Anette named Heavenissofaraway equaled the track record in Urbana, OH. The daughter of Racing Hill crossed the wire first in 1:58.1, making it two-for-two in the Buckeye Stallion Series.

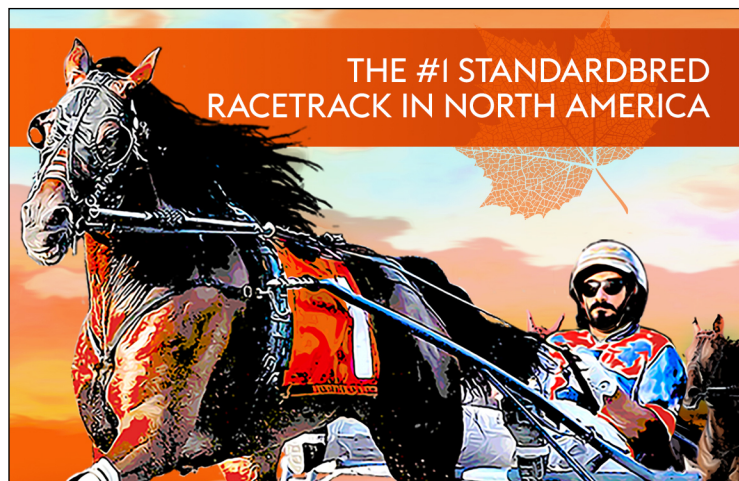

When her horses race at the Red Mile or in Ohio they are usually driven by boyfriend, Elliott Deaton. The pair has been a successful team — on and off the racetrack.

Lorentzon said she admires, "all trainers who work hard in the business — whether they have a large or small stable, or they are male or female, for it's a tough business."

"But, most of all, I look up to my parents for what they have accomplished. They literally started out with one pony and built everything up from there."

"My sister, Anna, has been a great help to me with the New Jersey barn, and I'm very grateful to the people around me and my owners for I couldn't do what I'm doing without them."

Ontario's Super Final Night 2020 one for the record books

by Sandra Snyder / OSS publicity

Super Final Night 2020 delivered a spectacular finale to the Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) season at Woodbine Mohawk Park on Saturday (Oct. 17), complete with a dead heat, photo finishes, thrilling stretch duels and impressive individual performances.

Pemberton claimed the 3-year-old trotting colt title with a commanding three and three-quarter length victory in the seventh of the eight $250,000 Super Final battles. Driver Trevor Henry put the fan favorite on the front heading for the

"Trevor was very impressed with him, has been all along," said trainer Paul Walker. "I mean we've always liked him, but you keep thinking, well one of these times these guys are going to beat him, but he raced him a different way tonight again and it didn't make any difference."

Walker trains Pemberton for his wife Brenda Walker of Owen Sound and their daughter Christine Walker of Tara, ON. Mother and daughter also bred the son of Wheeling N Dealing and Dayshifter, who wrapped up his sophomore campaign with eight wins, four of them in Gold Series action, and one third in 10 starts for earnings of $363,684. He was the only one of the eight division point leaders to claim a Super Final title.

The gelding was joined in the winner's circle on Saturday by some of his youngest fans, two of the Walker's grandchildren Austin, 14 and Amelia, 10, who broke their superstitious habit of watching him race on the computer in the milk house of their dairy farm while sitting in very specific seats.

"They broke the mould. I said, 'Oh my God, you guys are coming?'" said Walker with a chuckle. "That's the first they've come to watch him go and they got their picture taken so they're pretty happy."

Driver Jody Jamieson, who leads all drivers in the Ontario Sires Stakes (OSS) program in wins and money earned since the current record keeping system was implemented in 1997, added two more Super Final wins to his tally with 3-year-old pacing filly Rose Run Victoria and 2-year-old pacing colt Bulldog Hanover.

second half of the race as Karma Seelster and then Alicorn rang up fractions of :27, :55, and 1:23.1. Turning for home Rose Run Victoria was just one length behind the leaders and a big finishing kick propelled her to a three-quarter length win in 1:51.1. Lauras Love finished second and Karma Seelster was third.

"It worked out perfectly," said Jamieson, who piloted the Hes Watching—Victoria Gallery filly to her fourth win of the season for trainer Rod Boyd and owners Rick Phillips of Tappan, NY and Mark Harder of Freehold, NJ. "From the eight-hole it's difficult sometimes when you have an

“That was exciting. It’s just so rewarding when you see them go a trip like that,” said owner/trainer Jack Darling. “It really surprised me that he could blow that group away. That’s a good solid group of 2-year-olds and I’m shocked, really, that he did that.”

The win gave Bulldog Hanover one Grassroots win and three Gold Series wins in six career starts for earnings of $248,850.

Driver Sylvain Filion of Milton, ON also scored a pair of Super Final victories with 2-year-old trotting colt Fashion Frenzie and 3-year-old pacing gelding Rhythm In Motion.

After an equipment malfunction caused a high-speed post parade and sent him back to the paddock for a new set of trotting hobbles and a securely fastened over-check, Fashion Frenzie returned to the racetrack in a mellower frame of mind. The Archangel–Striking Fashion son left well from Post 3, reaching the front heading by the :27.2 quarter and then settling in second behind Full Of Muscles for the trip to the :57.1 half and 1:27 three-quarters. Swinging off the final turn Filion sent Fashion Frenzie to the lead and the colt opened up a three length margin on heavy favorite Macho Martini, stopping the teletimer at 1:55.1. Full Of Muscles finished third.

“He was really impressive every time I saw him race, so when I got the opportunity to drive him I jumped on it,” said Filion, who was making his first appearance in the colt’s race

The win was Fashion Frenzie’s second in Gold Series action and his fifth on the season, boosting his career earnings to $204,775.

Heading into Saturday’s Super Final test Rhythm In Motion had never won an OSS race. The gelding boasted a second and a trio of thirds in Gold competition this season, but had been unable to notch a win. Off a pocket trip behind fan favorite Tattoo Artist in the biggest race of the season, Rhythm In Motion finally achieved victory, sprinting down the stretch to a one and one-quarter length triumph in 1:50.1. Beaumont Hanover and Indictable Hanover closed hard for second and third.

"He deserves this, he tried week after week, and racing against Tattoo Artist is not easy he's such a great horse. We might have caught him on a night that he was a little off and we were able to go by him," said Filion. "He leaves the gate so good, he can place himself so good in the race and then you've got to wait and see what you've got left at the top of the stretch and tonight he was full of himself" season the gelding amassed a record of four wins, two seconds, five thirds and earnings of $259,185.

"The mother was the second horse that they gave me to train and that was a beginning of a good relationship between Santo and Nunzio and me," said Baillargeon. "They're just great guys, I am very happy for those two. The horse deserved it and the owners deserved the win too."

The evening got off a to an exciting start in the 2-year-old trotting filly Super Final as it took a photo finish to separate winner Dashing Muscle and runner-up Up And Ready, who hit the wire in 1:56.1. Meadowview Lilly finished four lengths behind the duelling leaders in third.

James MacDonald picked up his first-ever Super Final with the Muscle Mass—Delmonica filly, engineering her third win of the season for trainer Chantal Mitchell and owner James Armitage of Dunrobin, ON.

"She was gutsy as heck, I mean Doug (McNair, with Up And Ready) was coming to her and I thought he had me for sure and she just found a little more," said MacDonald. "And they're super nice people and they did a great job training her down. And Chantal and her team, they did a great job with her all year, managed her perfectly, and here we are."

The result of the 3-year-old trotting filly Super Final was even closer as Shape Shifter, Magic Cape and Royalty Deal hit the wire in near-perfect alignment. After a lengthy review of the photograph, officials determined that Shape Shifter and Magic Cape would share the Super Final spoils, while Royalty Deal finished third. It was the first ever dead-heat for win in the 21-year history of the Super Finals.

The co-winners stopped the teletimer at 1:55.2, a personal best for Johnny William daughter Magic Cape, who was driven by trainer Michiel Vanderkemp for owner/breeder Sonja Booth of Robbinsville, NJ. Phil Hudon piloted Kadabra—Too Good For You daughter Shape Shifter to her third win of the season for trainer Gerald Lilley and owner Tom Crouch of New Smyrna Beach, FL.

The 2-year-old pacing filly showdown featured a fierce battle between fan favorite Scarlett Hanover and Voelz Delight. Scarlett Hanover and driver Ed Hensley clocked a :26.3 opening quarter and were under immediate pressure from Voelz Delight and Sylvain Filion, who rang up a :55.1 half. Scarlett Hanover was back out and driving by the 1:23 three-quarters and kept battling all the way to the wire, getting a head in front for the 1:52.1 score. Best Keepsake finished third.

Ashleigh Hensley trains Bettors Delight—Sammys Magic Girl daughter Scarlett Hanover for Burke Racing Stable LLC of Fredericktown, PA, Frank Baldachino of Clarksburg, NJ, J And T Silva – Purnel & Libby of Delray Beach, FL and Weaver Brussemi of Canonsburg, PA. Buckeye banter

by Trey Nosrac

Idling at a red light, I sighed and said, “Man, finding new harness racing fans is impossible.”

David, my passenger in the Lexus, answered, “Not impossible, difficult. Do you think it’s easier to get new people to attend the opera, take up chess, or learn to foxtrot? Don’t feel sorry for yourself; other types of sports and games have lesser products to promote. In the long run, everyone must restock the herd.”

“I have a few ideas.”

“You always have ideas.”

“Let’s hear this one.”

“Okay. Every November, I gather with a dozen of my cohorts around the warmth of a gigantic flat screen to watch Ohio State play Michigan in the big annual football game. We take turns hosting. The host will carefully remove breakables and children from the premises. Designated drivers arranged, and neighbors alerted because we go a tad overboard with a bacchanalian display of gluttony, guzzling, gloating, and in our case, a little gambling. I’d invite you, but the party 2020 is one of the million fun things canceled by the virus.”

“I’ll take a rain check. What does this have to do with horseracing?”

“One of our mindless rituals at the party is a simple gamble called the Buckeye Banker. Before the opening kickoff, we each toss $5 into a bowl next to the television. Our host, who we refer to as the banker, places folded slips of paper with numbers from zero to nine into an old cigar box. He holds the box above his head and circulates the room while each player picks out a slip of paper. We open our slip of paper, glance at our number, and stuff it into our pocket.”

“For what reason?”

“When the referee blows the whistle to signal the end of the first quarter, and they go to 27 commercials, the person holding the numbered slip of paper that matches the last digit of the total number of points scored to this point in the game is declared the winner. The Buckeye Banker dramatically pays the winner $45 dollars. The winner gloats and occasionally does a crazy dance.”

“And you and your pals find this wildly entertaining?”

“Hell yeah, we put on quite a show. Then we refold our little numbered slips of paper, return them to the cigar box, and toss another five dollars into the bowl for the second quarter of the game, the third, and the fourth. The most a player can lose is twenty dollars, and the most a player can win is one hundred eighty dollars. There is no thinking involved, probably a plus since our logic fades with each quarter.”

He said, “Your Buckeye Banker gamble merely enhances the football game?”

“Absolutely. Why couldn’t the Buckeye Banker fun be used for horse races? You know, the host of a party could match the entries in a harness horse race.”

David nodded and took over the reins as if he was back in his days as a corporate media mogul, “The ability to livestream your races to flatscreen televisions should have opened more doors to your sport. Your races should all be in HD, and your product needs an upgrade. The more real-time horse races are in front of people, the more your chances of growing your audience will improve.”

“Hey, dude, this is my idea.”

He chuckled and said, “It’s a good one, showing live harness races to people who do not know a trotter from a tomahawk or a pacer from a petunia is a simple proposition in 2020. A horseracing version of the Buckeye Banker gamble could be on the table for enterprising hosts to lure visitors. It’s not rocket science to ask guests to look up from their martinis and watch a race for fun, hoping to make a few dollars. I guess you could consider using the streamed races as a party game that is an upgrade from charades.”

“Charades, what the hell kind of parties do you go to?”

He just kept rolling, “The best-case scenario is that when a person wins a race or two, they ask you about the sport. You gently guide them along. There is a chance that a desperately needed new fan will be grown. There are undoubtedly other ways that astute people could use the simple Buckeye Banker concept more productively or creatively.”

“Well, Techman, you are getting carried away. But the bottom line is that my crowd finds tremendous enjoyment in holding a numbered scrap of paper while hoping that the last digit of the football scoreboard total is the same as the number on their slip of paper. Watching a horse race is a much better snippet of entertainment.”

“Agreed, everybody in your sport should consider it a duty to host a party with a bowl, an old cigar box, and a flatscreen.”

I smiled, “And alert the neighbors.”

Simpson stakes for freshman fillies at Philly

Despite the fact that it was cool and rainy in the greater

Philadelphia area on Friday afternoon (Oct. 16), and that 2-year-old fillies were featured in the 2020 debut of the John Simpson Sr. stakes series, form held up very well, with almost all the young misses who figured to be close either winning or in the hunt at the wire.

Hall of Fame trainer Linda Toscano won two of the three divisions of the $93,602 Razzle Hanover (all Simpson stakes are named after top horses connected with Simpson and/or Hanover) for the pacing set. In one cut, High Minded the program choice, was let go at 7-2, and she proved her talent to her disbelievers, sitting the pocket behind favored Mackie Hanover and then rallying sharply in taking a 1:53.4 mark while 1½ lengths clear of the pacesetter. Dexter Dunn drove the victorious daughter of Captaintreacherous—Auniqueaquisition for Camelot Stable Inc., Fred Wallace, The Bay's Stable LLC, and Steve Stewart.

Toscano's other win came with the Roll With Joe—Armbro Amoretto filly Albergita Hanover who brushed to the lead in front of the stands for driver Scott Zeron and then withstood pocket-sitter Skyy, over whom she was favored by $31, by a length in 1:54.1. Toscano's Camelot Stable Inc. also completed an ownership double, here with partners Seth Coen, George Derocker, and Decker's Corner Stable.

The third division saw second choice Darby Hanover brushing around favored Podium Girl at the three-eighths, then withstanding that one's late comeback bid by three-quarters of a length in 1:53.2. The daughter of Betting Line—Duenna Hanover, driven by Marcus Miller, has now won four of her last six starts for his aunt, trainer Julie Miller, and the ownership of Andy Miller Stable Inc. and Mr. Carroll Huffman.

In the first of two divisions of the $112,800 Davidia Hanover stake for trotters, Anoka Hanover was the shortest possible kind of favorite coming off of two straight Grand Circuit triumphs at Lexington, and she continued her superior form with a 9½ length route for driver Todd McCarthy in 1:55. The daughter of Donato Hanover—Aunt Mel has now earned $243,491 for trainer Noel Daley, who shares partnership in the fleet filly with L A Express Stable LLC and Caviart Farms.

The Andover Hall—Pine Yankee filly Love Muffin favored in the mutuels by $85, used a popular tactic on the day, settling early then moving in the second quarter for driver Corey Callahan. They then held on to the advantage to the wire, although Love Muffin's 1:57 mile put her only a nose to the good of tough pocketsitter Goo Doo Doll. The Pennsylvania Stallion Series championship winner, the filly is now 7 for 10 with $114,859 on her card for trainer Dave Wiest and her owners, "The Sunshine Boys," Donald Wiest (Dave's father and a celebrant of his 90th birthday earlier this month) and Ed Kimmel, a mere stripling at age 77.

Breeders Crown supplemental and entry box approaching

The deadline for potential supplements to the 3-year-old and older Breeders Crown races and for all eligible horses to declare in to the year-end championship events at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino occurs next week.

Supplemental entries for 3-year-old and open events are due and payable by 12:00 noon [EDT], Monday, Oct. 19, in the race office of Harrah's Hoosier Park or at the Hambletonian Society offices in Cranbury, NJ. There are no supplements for 2-year-old races.

All Breeders Crown eligible horses must declare in by 11:00 a.m. [EDT] Tuesday, Oct. 20. All eligible 3-year-olds have the option of entering the sophomore event to which they were nominated or an Open event.

Supplemental declaration amounts are listed below. Click here for more instructions on supplementing: Supplemental Information.
