Crown contention

My picks for which divisions are locked up and which will likely need the Breeders Crown to be decided.

by Brett Sturman

As usual, the Breeders Crown will be pivotal in determining divisional honors.

While some divisions are already locked up, most other divisions remain open heading into the Breeders Crown.

The Breeders Crown isn't necessarily the be-all end-all in determining year-end honors, but for some horses in hotly-contested races, the Breeders Crown will go a very long way in getting them there. Even with the Matron, Fall Final Four, and TVG Finals among other high-profile races still on the calendar, the Breeders Crown is where a lasting impression can be made. Beginning with eliminations in all but one division this weekend and going through next weekend's 12 division finals, here's how I see each one.

2-Year-Old Male Pacers

Beach Glass, Pebble Beach, Early Action (Work left to do): As will be a theme with the 2-year-old races tonight and next Friday, these horses may still see each other again between now and the end of November. But a win from either Beach Glass, Pebble Beach or Early Action would put them in command for the time being. It seems like Pebble Beach was long assumed to be the best one in this division throughout much of the 2-year-old season, but things have tightened. Early Action beat Pebble Beach two back in the Bluegrass in a race where he momentarily gapped from the pocket into the stretch but re-engaged late and reached when it counted. Pebble Beach would get back on top if he can turn the tables, but the wildcard right now is the upstart Beach Glass. Into the Breeders Crown by way of Nova Scotia for the same connections that brought us Somebeachsomewhere, he's been demolishing weaker at Woodbine Mohawk. Is he really this good? If his current tear continued through the Breeders Crown, even in limited starts you'd be hard pressed to not have him suddenly on top in the division.

2-Year-Old Female Pacers

Niki Hill, Sea Silk (Work left to do): Niki Hill is like Pebble Beach in that she's long been (rightfully) assumed to be untouchable in this division. She's been brilliant in all six of her starts this year, though a couple of others are creeping up. I'm not sure if Sea Silk is good enough to beat her, but the complexion of the division would change if she can. Coming in with a 9-for-9 record for Burke, the Ohio-bred Sea Silk was game in earning that 1:50.3 win in a division of the Bluegrass out; something has to give between her and Niki. Not to be forgotten, fillies like Captain Cowgirl and Gotthegreenlight may not be far off in talent but it's to be seen how high that a win would catapult them to.

2-Year-Old Male Trotters

King Of The North (Lock): I went back and forth on his status, but ultimately went to "Lock." His miscue was unfortunate in the Mohawk Million but the New Jersey Sires Stakes (NJSS) champion has done enough with wins in the Haughton and Wellwood that put him comfortably ahead of anyone else. For him to be overtaken, someone would have to step up and win the Breeders Crown plus either the Matron or Valley Victory; he seems safe.

2-Year-Old Female Trotters

Venerable (Lock): Fellow NJSS champ is currently the sport's second-highest rated horse and was able to beat the boys as a filly in the second edition of the Mohawk Million. Is a cinch for the division and will be in contention for even higher honors depending on how the season finishes.

3-Year-Old Male Pacers

Charlie May, Perfect Sting, Lou's Pearlman (Work left to do): This division has been back and forth through much of the year with no one emerging as a clear standout for a period of length. These three are close enough that a win from either of them would weigh heavily come the end of the year. Lou's Pearlman reeled off five in a row recently, including the Little Brown Jug. That, plus a Breeders Crown seems like it might be good enough to get the job done. Similarly, Charlie May has some high profile wins to his credit including when he beat Perfect Sting in the Bluegrass recently and a Crown win could be decisive, regardless as to how voters treat his first-past-the-post Meadowlands Pace. Perfect Sting has an unbelievable amount of second places this year but he's been right there in all the big dances. He'd have a credible case with a win.

3-Year-Old Female Pacers

Test of Faith (Lock): It looked for much of her 2-year-old season last year she'd win divisional honors, but she'll get it this year. A contentious field will await her next week as she elected to receive a bye this week, but she's solidified her standing no matter how that race goes. Closest pursuer Hot Mess Express races in Indiana this week.

3-Year-Old Male Trotters

Jujubee (Lock): The complexion of this division changed when Captain Corey went down to injury, and Jujubee has turned heads in recent months. That 1:49.4 win on Hambletonian day was impressive, but his 1:49.3 win when won by daylight last out in the Kentucky Futurity was a thing of beauty. The Breeders Crown is the second consecutive race that he's paid into as a supplement; at 13 for 16 on the year he's already done enough to lock up the division.

3-Year-Old Female Trotters

Bella Bellini, Donna Soprano, Katie's Lucky Day (Work left to do): I flirted with putting Bella Bellini in lock status, but on further thought it's conceivable she could be overtaken. She's only won once since her triumph in the Hambletonian Oaks and that was in the Pennsylvania-sired final. Bella Bellini has raced brave since, but she was beaten by Donna Soprano in the Elegance and then surprised by Katie's Lucky Day in the filly Futurity. If either of those two were to win the Breeders Crown, it might be enough to push them ahead.

Older Male Pacers

Allywag Hanover (Lock): His record speaks for itself. He turned into a beast this season putting it altogether at age 4 with a world record most recently in the Allerge, as well as other big wins in the Mohawk Gold Cup, Canadian Pacing Derby, the McKee, Haughton, and so forth.

Older Female Pacers

Lyon's Sentinel (Lock): The number one horse in harness racing declined a bye into the final and will enter her Breeders Crown elimination on the heels of a seven-race win streak. A win in the Crown final will further bolster her claim for Horse of Year.

Older Male Trotters

Ecurie D Dk (Controls own destiny): Swedish import made a rousing North American debut last out with his 1:50.4 win in the Allerge at the Red Mile. A supplement to the Breeders Crown, he's also TVG-eligible at the end of the season. If he wins the Crown, those two wins alone should be good enough for divisional honors. Varenne won this division in 2001, and his lone race in the U.S. was a win in the Breeders Crown.

Older Female Trotters

Atlanta (Lock): Atlanta's win last out at the Red Mile in which she trotted the co-fastest mile ever by a female in 1:49 (Manchego) sealed the deal.

Supplemental thoughts

The history behind allowing supplemental entries to the Breeders Crown.

by Debbie Little

The day before the box closed for this weekend's Breeders Crown eliminations, four owners chose to supplement their horses.

Ecurie D supplemented to the open trot, Jujubee to the 3-year-old colts and geldings trot and Katie's Lucky Day to the 3-year-old filly trot. All three paid a supplemental fee of $62,500. The fee for Racine Bell to supplement to the mare pace was $31,250.

"It's a lot of money and it's purposely a lot of money because the program is built on a schedule of payments from birth to 4 years old," said Moira Fanning, the chief operating officer / director of publicity of the Hambletonian Society.

Hot Mess Express, a 3-year-old pacing filly who has spent much of the season in the top 10 in the Hambletonian Society/ Breeders Crown poll, was not supplemented by her owner, Sam Bowie.

"Obviously, she wasn't eligible for it, so I would have had to supplement her," said Bowie. "The year that she had and the performances she had, I believe she's one of the better 3-year-old pacing fillies in the country. But at the same time, I just decided to opt out and not go there this year and race her in three races at Hoosier Park and then shut her down and bring her back as a 4-year-old."

The decision not to go to the Crown was a difficult one for Bowie, but he chose to stick with the plan that he and trainer Tony Alagna had set.

"As an owner and being able to play on this level and to think that you have a legitimate chance of winning a Breeders Crown, it was a very difficult decision," said Bowie. "But I always say, and I tell my children, it was the right decision because it was my decision and you live with it and you go on. But I'll be watching the Breeders Crown 3-year-old pacing filly race very closely and visualizing what it would have been like with her being in there."

The Breeders Crown has allowed supplements since 1986, but initially were not done in advance.

When the suggestion of supplements first arose, Tom Charters, executive vice president of the Hambletonian Society, approached then Meadowlands' director of racing Joe DeFrank for his thoughts.

"Joe said unequivocally that he didn't believe in supplements, but if we were going to do it, we should allow people who paid into the race to have the advantage to know who the supplements are," said Charters. "In overall fairness, I think you have to respect the people that have paid in. You've already told them who's eligible and then you have this new horse eligible and they ought to be able to know that, too."

"Some people say, 'Why do you have supplements at all?' and I'd say because it enhances the race, especially in a year-end championship scenario. We don't have supplements just to get more entries, we have supplements to enhance the race."

One of Charters' favorite supplement stories of all time involved the 1986 mare trot contested at Scioto Downs.

"There was a good mare and she just happened to be owned by a man I groomed horses for and I hadn't seen in 10 years," said Charters. "She'd been an outstanding filly in Ohio sires and he came into the race office and I was at the counter and he had his checkbook out and he looked at it for the longest time and he said, 'You know, we're talking about a year's college tuition for my grandchildren' and he folded up his checkbook and put it back in his pocket and walked away."

Since most of the changes have to be in the conditions before payments are taken, they take time to implement.

One such change was not requiring a yearly supplement from the same horse.

Prior to that change, the connections of Red Bow Tie paid $50,000 to supplement him into the open pace in 1998. They also paid $50,000 to do the same the following year. Since he won both races his return on investment was huge, profiting $120,000 and $140,000, respectively.

Just like the Hunger Games, the supplemental odds are not in your favor, but they're better than you might think.

Prior to 2021, there have been 112 supplements to the Breeders Crown, 52 of which have either broken even or made money. None of those 52 horses finished worse than fourth and all but three were third or better, including 21 winners. So, 46 per cent of the time smart decision making was used when supplementing.

"The one thing I pride myself in is that the Breeders Crown has been dynamic since we started," said Charters. "We weren't afraid to tweak it based on horsemen's suggestions and based on directors' suggestions. We didn't tweak it frivolously but we did change things."

The nine Breeders Crown eliminations for 2-year-olds will get underway tonight (Oct. 22) at The Meadowslands at 6:20 p.m. The 10 Crown elims for 3-year-olds and older horses will take place on Saturday afternoon. First post is noon with race 3 being the first Crown event.

Memorable Breeders Crown moments and numbers

by Bob Heyden

In 2003, the Breeders Crown ended Kikikatie's win streak at 14 (when Pan Culottes won). The 2-year-old filly won the year-end hardware, but her greatest feat was yet to come. She had four sons — all effective stallions.

Rockin Amadeus defeated Captaintreacherous in the 2012 Breeders Crown, Tellitlikeitis has sired Tellmeaboutit, second in this year's Dan Patch, Rockin Image sired the outstanding Rockin Nola and Time To Roll had a great run in Indiana in their program.

Rockin Nola is the first mare ever to win her first nine of the year in sub-1:50 — every win in 2021. Joe Putnam trains and Joey Putnam drives the daughter of Rockin Image who was sixth beaten just two lengths a year back in the Breeders Crown.

Smashing Debut

Dan Dube had a smashing debut in 1999 winning with Shore By Five and returning a healthy $108.20 at the Meadowslands. Bob McIntosh trained. That same year also saw 1-9 shot Self Possessed defeated in the 3YOCT. It was also the year that saw John Campbell's 15-year streak of at least one Breeders Crown victory each year come to an end (he had three seconds).

It was 23 years ago...

This year marks 23 years since Brian Sears debuted in the Breeders Crown, finishing third with Midori Hanover in 1998 at Colonial Downs in the 2YOFT at 6-1. Dave Smith trained.

The Hanover seven

In 2000, Hanover Shoe Farms had seven Hanovers hit the board: Royalflush, Spellbound, Ramilette, Eracer, Soulful, Klingon and Echo.

Takter's year

Last year was a huge year for Trainer of the Year Nancy Takter. Not only did she win three Breeders Crowns and Horse of the Year (Tall Dark Stranger), her 2014 HOY J K She'salady was named Broodmare of the Year.

It doesn't come down to the Crown?

For the first time, the HOY has been defeated in the Breeders Crown back to back years — Shartin N in 2019 and Tall Dark Stranger last year. In another first, the top six in the HOY balloting all went down in their final start in 2019 in the Breeders Crown.

Holloway's success and longevity

Joe Holloway (65) trained Tuff Choice in the inaugural open male pace in 1985 and finished fifth. He was not yet 30, which means that Holloway and John Campbell are the only two to have competed in the Breeders Crown finals in their 20s, 30s, 40s, 50s and 60s. Campbell won in each decade.

No repeat in sight

How long can we go without a repeat Horse of the Year? It's now 22 years and counting. The prior longest was 10 (Moni Maker 1998-1999).

Longshot overload

In 1990, Bays Fella won and returned $140.60 – a record at the time. There were two other 100-1 shots that year that hit the board in the Breeders Crown – 106-1 Somatic (third in the 2YOCT) and 101-1 Stormin Jess (in the 2YOCP).

On the same night in the 1990 Breeders Crown, two winners were one-fifth-of-a-second away from being 10 seconds apart – Artsplace 1:51.1 and Crystas Best 2:01.

Command performance

C R Commando's win in 1998 at Colonial in the freshman trot for the boys is historic in several ways:

- Carl Allen at 69 became the oldest to win a Crown.
- The 1:53.2 mile was a world record for freshmen trotters.
- Think he beat a so-so field? Think again. The 1-2-3 finishers in the 1999 Hambletonian were 3-4-5 here: Angus Hall finished third (and was second in the Hambletonian), Self Possessed was fourth (winner of the Hambletonian in record time 1:51.3) and Enjoy Lavec was fifth.

Big M trail-blazers

Meadowlands history-makers as the first to win at the Meadowlands twice in a Breeders Crown are Burning Point on the mare side (2003, 2006) and Red Bow Tie for the males (1998, 1999).

Longshot to superstar

Triple Crown winner No Pan Intended was 77-1 in 2002 in the Breeders Crown – the longest shot in the field. He would win the Triple Crown and the Breeders Crown in 2003 and is still the only horse to accomplish this.

Molly and Linda

Molly Can Do It got the ball rolling in 2002 for Linda Toscano capturing the Breeders Crown ($5.80 second choice) and the floodgates opened up for female trainers in the Crown series.

Returning the favor

Peaky Sneaky won the 3YOFP Breeders Crown with Party Girl Hill third. But PGH won the division 135-1.

Century Farroh won the Breeders Crown over Bettors Wish but the division went to Bettors Wish 133-2.

Double digit winner bonanza

The year 2004 produced the most double-digit Breeders Crown winners in any one season – eight.

H P Paque – $10

Boulder Creek – $43.60

Armbro Affair – $29.20

Western Terror – $12.40

Always Cam – $43.00

Restive Hanover – $17.80

Yankee Slide – $81.20

Village Jolt – $15.80 (Note: he won the Crown and the division when Rocknroll Hanover was scratched out of the Crown at age 2)

Down go the favorites

In 1991, odds-on favorites had a rough time in the Breeders Crown. Only Miss Easy won:

Cayster, 90 cents was third.

Royal Strength, 80 cents was second

Almost An Angel, 90 cents was sixth

Cookout, 90 cents was third

Direct Flight, 50 cents was seventh

The three-horse entry of Aerostar One, UConn Don and Mr Chin, 70 cents finished ninth, seventh and sixth, respectively.

Supplements

Three times in a five-year span the Yonkers Trot winner anted up the $35,000 and won the Breeders Crown – 1988 Southern Newton, 1991 Crowns Invitation and 1992 the dead-heat winner Magic Lobell.

Red Bow Tie became the first to ever win twice in the Breeders Crown at the Meadowlands and did it via the supplemental route.

Trainer Chris Oakes pleads guilty to doping charges

by Bill Finley

Harness trainer Christopher Oakes, one of 27 individuals indicted in March, 2020 for their role in a widespread doping scheme that included standardbred and thoroughbred horses, changed his plea to guilty on Tuesday. Nine others involved in the case have also pleaded guilty, but Oakes was the first among the handful of harness horsemen caught up in the scandal to enter a guilty plea.

Oakes, 57, pled guilty to one count of misbranding and drug adulteration with intent to defraud or deceive and faces up to three years in prison.

He will be sentenced Feb. 17, 2022. So far, three individuals among those who have pled guilty have been sentenced. Two, Scott Robinson and Scott Mangini, were sentenced to 18 months. A third, Sarah Izhaki, whose case involved extenuating circumstances, was sentenced to time served plus three years of supervised release.

Most of what Oakes was charged with involved his relationship with high-profile thoroughbred trainer Jorge Navarro, who has also pleaded guilty and admitted doping his horses. However, during his hearing Tuesday (Oct. 19) before federal judge Mary Kay Vyskocil, which was conducted via teleconference, Oakes admitted that he used performance-enhancing drugs on horses he trained that raced at Yonkers.

Claus Andersen

Trainer Chris Oakes.

The government intercepted phone calls between Navarro and Oakes in which Oakes promised to provide Navarro with performance-enhancing drugs. Oakes was charged with being a middleman who secured PEDs for Navarro.

"I purchased medications from Dr. Seth Fishman and Dr. Gregory Skelton and his assistant Ross Cohen and administered the medications to the horses in my care to gain an unfair advantage," he said when asked by Vyskocil what he had done to merit a guilty plea.

Fishman, Skelton and Cohen are drug distributors also among the 27 indicted last year.

Vyskocil returned to the subject later on in the hearing and again pressed Oakes, asking what motivated him to use the PEDs.

"To try to get an advantage and, hopefully, things would do better," he replied.

Oakes said his doping routine ran from early 2019 through his arrest in March 2020.

The government also charged that Oakes "created and manufactured his own customized misbranded and adulterated PEDs known as an undetectable 'drench' that would rapidly increase a racehorse's performance during a race."

Oakes told Navarro that if he used the "drench" that there was "zero chance you get caught."

According to the original indictment, Oakes played a central role in the doping of the Navarro-trained top sprinter XY Jet (Kantharos), who died in January, 2020 under suspicious circumstances.

Oakes allegedly supplied Navarro with PEDs that were given to XY Jet, including a "blocker" PED. On Feb. 13, 2019, the same day XY Jet won an allowance race at Gulfstream, Navarro instructed Oakes to enter the Gulfstream Park backstretch to administer PEDs to the sprinter. "Drive through," Navarro allegedly told Oakes. "If anything, if they stop you, you are an owner and you come to Navarro's barn."

According to the indictment, on March 14, 2019, law enforcement officers found multiple adulterated and misbranded drugs in Oakes' barn in Pennsylvania, including PEDs supplied by Fishman and Skelton. They also found pre-filled unlabeled syringes.

Oakes owned a handful of thoroughbreds before his arrest and won 14 races. His horses were trained by Navarro.

Oakes was among several harness horsemen banned at the Meadowlands by owner Jeff Gural.

Crown Notebook: Jaya Bae, Testing Testing benefit from extra time

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

After giving Jaya Bae additional time to mature during the summer, trainer Marcus Melander is looking forward to seeing what the filly can do in her Breeders Crown elimination for 2-year-old female trotters tonight (Oct. 22) at The Meadowlands.

Jaya Bae was known as Kadena when she was purchased at the 2020 Lexington Selected Yearling Sale for $725,000, a price that at the time was the record for a filly sold at auction. The daughter of Walner out of Mission Brief was unraced until earlier this month when she won two $10,000 conditioned races at Lexington's Red Mile.

Her second victory, in 1:53.2, earned Jaya Bae a spot in the Breeders Crown eliminations. She will compete in the first of the two $25,000 elims for 2-year-old female trotters and is 5-1 on the morning line. Venerable, who won the Mohawk Million in her most recent start and is undefeated in eight races, is the even-money favorite.

The top-five finishers from each elimination will return to the Big M on Oct. 29 for the $600,000 final. Elimination winners will draw for a starting spot in posts one through five for the final. The remaining finalists will participate in an open draw for their post.

"She trained down very well and then she ran into some problems," said Melander, who trains Jaya Bae for owner Anders Strom's Courant Inc. "She had three qualifiers in the summer, and after the last one, me and Anders decided to step back a little bit.

She was growing a lot and just needed some time to develop."

After returning to training and qualifying once in late September, Melander shipped the filly from his base in New Jersey to Lexington to race at Red Mile.

"She had no races up here and I wanted to race her on a big track, so we decided to bring her down there," Melander said. "She did great down there. She's a very nice filly. I had high expectations for her as we trained her down."

Jaya Bae won her first start with a rally from mid-pack in 1:54.2. In her second, she got the lead in a :55.3 opening half on her way to the 1:53.2 victory with driver Brian Sears. The time is the eighth-fastest winning mile for a 2-year-old female trotter this season.

"The first week, Brian drove her perfectly and she finished strong," Melander said. "The second week, she got a little grabby coming to the lead, so it was a fast first half. But he never asked her for anything in (1):53.

"If you look at the Grand Circuit races that day, they went around (1):53 as well, and she did it as easy as they did, so we decided to put her in the Breeders Crown. Maybe we would have wanted to have a couple more starts in her, but I'm confident in my horse. I really like her. But those other fillies have more experience and are nice horses too. We'll see."

Melander also has a starter in the second elimination for the trotting fillies. Joviality S, the winner of seven of nine races this season, is the 5-2 second choice for Melander and owner Courant. Her victories include the Kentuckiana Stallion Management Stakes, a division of the International Stallion, and the New York Sire Stakes championship.

"She's done everything right," Melander said about the daughter of Chapter Seven—Pasithea Face S. "I really like her. She always tries her best. She's easy to be around, easy to drive, Brian can do whatever he wants with her. She's a really nice filly."

Melander also will send out four horses in the three $25,000 Breeders Crown eliminations for 2-year-old male trotters. The top-three finishers from each elimination plus the fourth-place finisher with the highest earnings will advance to the $600,000 final.

His hopefuls are Letsdoit S (3-1) and Temporal Hanover (7-2) in the first elim, Classic Hill (6-1) in the second, and Periculum (5-1) in the third. Letsdoit S, Temporal Hanover, and Periculum all have Grand Circuit triumphs to their credit. Classic Hill was second to King Of The North in the Peter Haughton Memorial.

The 5-2 morning-line favorite in the first Crown elimination for the male trotters is Testing Testing from the stable of trainer George Ducharme. Testing Testing has won three of six races this season for owners Bill Donovan, Purnel & Libby LLC, Joe Sbrocco, and Jim Winske. The son of Walner—Sound Check raced only once prior to September and counts a preliminary round of the Kindergarten Classic Series among his victories.

"When we qualified (in June) to get ready for the New Jersey Sire Stakes, he just wasn't a hundred percent," Ducharme said. "He had growing pains, more or less. The owners let me take my time with him and I backed off and got him ready for the Kindergarten legs in September. He just needed that time."

"He's come along good. I can't complain with the way he's been the last month or so. He's gotten himself right into the shape he's in now to be ready to go to the Breeders Crown eliminations. It's not going to be easy. It's a good bunch of horses. But that's what you look forward to at this time of year, racing those horses. You know it's going to be tough, you just hope you have one that can compete and be competitive."

In his most recent start, Testing Testing won a $15,000 event for Bluegrass Stakes eligibles in 1:54 at Red Mile.

"I like his attitude," Ducharme said. "He's really game. He likes to do his job and he's very willing. He tries and he fights through any adversity. We liked him a lot to pay him into everything we did. Everything has gone to how I thought he would be, we just had to take our time with him."

Rebuff, who is 5-1 in the second Crown elim for male trotters, also has developed through the course of the season. He has hit the board in his three most recent races, winning a division of the International Stallion in 1:52.2 after finishing third in a division of the Bluegrass Stakes and second in the Kentucky

Championship Series final.

The son of Muscle Hill—Meucci Madness has won two of nine races overall for owners Kjell Andersen, Pieter Delis, and trainer Lucas Wallin.

"I think he's going to be all right," Wallin said. "We had high hopes for him, pretty much right away. He showed he had a lot of speed, but he was very immature when we trained him down. He was very, very green; as green as grass."

"He's gotten better and better. Now, the last couple races, he's been really good. I think he matured a lot. We've trained him twice since getting back from Kentucky and he feels good, so we're going into Friday with a good feeling. He's always been very special so it's nice that he's starting to show what he can do. It's a tough race, but it's going to be exciting."

Slay, who won a Bluegrass Stakes division and has hit the board in all four career starts, is the 3-1 morning-line favorite in the second elimination.

Branded By Lindy, on a six-race win streak that includes divisions of the Bluegrass and International Stallion, is the 5-2 favorite in the third elimination.

Racing begins at 6:20 p.m. tonight at The Meadowlands. The card also includes Breeders Crown eliminations for 2-year-old male and female pacers. For complete entries, click here.

Crown Notebook #2: Fouever Boy will forever be in Tim Twaddle's heart

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

Tim Twaddle won a Breeders Crown as a driver in 1994 with Hardie Hanover and will try to pick up a trophy this year as a trainer and owner, sending out Fouever Boy in the event for 2-year-old male pacers. Eliminations for the group are tonight (Oct. 22) at The Meadowlands.

But no matter what happens in the future with Fouever Boy, the colt will forever be in Twaddle's heart.

On Sept. 25, Fouever Boy raced in the Metro Pace at Woodbine Mohawk Park, providing Ontario native Twaddle, who moved to Pennsylvania in the late 1990s, the opportunity to return home for the first time in three years. During his trip, he visited family and enjoyed having his sister Robin watch Fouever Boy in the Metro, where the colt finished third.

Last week, Robin passed away after a sudden and brief illness. She was 65.

"Not that (Fouever Boy) is a world champion, but I haven't had the opportunity to race on the Grand Circuit since I can't remember," Twaddle said. "This horse gave me the opportunity to race in the Metro. While I was up there, I had a wonderful night with my sister Robin. It was just a special night. She came out to watch the race and she's always been my biggest fan.

"After we went home, she got very sick, and she passed away this past Friday. It's a sad story, but a happy one when I think that if it wasn't for this horse getting me up there, I would be absolutely devastated not having seen her before she went. So, he's a very special horse to me for a lot of reasons."

Twaddle grew up in St. Catharines, where from an early age he attended the races at Garden City Raceway. His sister Cindy worked as a messenger bettor and was instrumental in getting Twaddle started in the sport. Robin worked for years in food and beverage, running the dining rooms at Greenwood and Woodbine Entertainment.

"They were both connected," Twaddle said. "My older sister Cindy got me involved early on. It was through her that I got to hang around the track and meet people."

Twaddle started his career as a driver in 1982. He won 1,946 races in the sulky, counting the 1993 Jugette with Towner's Image among his triumphs, as well as the 1994 Breeders Crown with Hardie Hanover in the 3-year-old filly pace.

A racing injury caused nerve damage in his hand, which curtailed his driving career, but he has accumulated more than 800 wins as a trainer. In 2017, Twaddle was inducted into the St. Catharines Sports Hall of Fame.

Chris Gooden

Fouever Boy (Dave Palone) winning a division of the Arden Downs on July 31 at The Meadows.

Twaddle owns Fourever Boy with David Cohen's Micki Rae Stables. The colt is a son of Sweet Lou out of Macharoundtheclock, who Twaddle trained in the later stages of her career, including a $116,286 season at age 5 in 2015. He trained two of Macharoundtheclock's previous foals before purchasing Fourever Boy under the name Punch The Clock for $50,000 at the 2020 Standardbred Horse Sale.

"I had his mother, and she took good care of me," Twaddle said. "I always thought she was going to do something special for me.

"We're thrilled to have a colt that's good enough to be involved in these kinds of races. He's done well, but he really hasn't broken through yet. I just feel like he's a late-bloomer and he seems to be very fresh, very sharp. He's shown that he's good enough to keep up and go with the top bunch. I think he's getting better and better and he's going to have his moment before the end of the year."

Fourever Boy has won one of 10 races, earning his victory in a division of the Arden Downs at The Meadows on July 31. In his past four races, he has three third-place finishes, with the Metro being joined by the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes championship and a division of the International Stallion Stakes. In his start prior to the International Stallion, he was seventh in a Bluegrass division despite a :25.4 last quarter.

"It was just one of those races where he couldn't gain ground," Twaddle said. "The next week he was on the front end and the front end was horrible that day. I thought he was strong that day to hold his ground and be third.

"He was unfortunate not to get the sire stakes final. He got out late and was coming as fast as could be. It was just one of those things. If, if, if. But that's horse racing."

Fourever Boy will start his Breeders Crown elimination, the first of three for the 2-year-old male pacers, from post seven in a seven-horse field. Regular driver Mike Wilder will be in the sulky. Fourever Boy is 8-1 on the morning line. The top-three finishers from each elimination plus the fourth-place finisher with the highest earnings will advance to the $600,000 final on Oct. 29.

"He's just a true professional, a real gentleman," Twaddle said. "He knows his job. He sits nice and quiet in a hole or on the lead and doesn't get excited until you call on him. A lot of horses can be hard on themselves but he's the complete opposite. He just waits for you to tell him what to do.

"I love the horse. I just love him."

The fastest freshman in Harrah's Hoosier Park history, Fulfullnmydestiny, is among the seven horses in tonight's third Breeders Crown elim for 2-year-old male pacers. The gelding won a leg of the Indiana Sire Stakes on Sept. 10 in 1:49.2, the first ever sub-1:50 mile by a 2-year-old at Hoosier. The triumph followed a track-record 1:50 score in his prior start.

"Early on, we knew he had speed, but we obviously didn't know he was going to win in (1):49 and pace (1):50 a bunch of times at Hoosier as a 2-year-old," said James Yoder, who trains and drives the Brett Boyd Racing-owned homebred son of Tellitlikeitis-Driven By Destiny. "But early on, he did everything right. He's just so quiet and professional about everything he does.

"He jogs easy, he doesn't have any quirks. He's easy on himself, easy to maintain. He's classy about everything. Honestly, he makes my job a lot easier."

Fulfullnmydestiny has won five of nine races and finished second twice, earning $196,190. He enters the Breeders Crown off a sixth-place finish in the Indiana Sire Stakes Super Final, which came after missing a start because of sickness. Fulfullnmydestiny was a parked-out leader at the half but unable to hold on in the stretch.

"He was just a little short," Yoder said. "Hopefully, he will be ready to go this week. It will be a tough race. Everyone in the Breeders Crown has made their way in there, there are no slouches. I would have rather drawn the inside a little bit, but we'll take our shot and hopefully make the final. There are some really nice horses."

Fulfullnmydestiny is 6-1 on the morning line from post seven. Pebble Beach, whose wins include a Grand Circuit score and the Kentucky Championship Series final, is the 9-5 favorite.

There also is a 9-5 morning-line favorite in tonight's second Breeders Crown elimination for male pacers, Beach Glass, who is unbeaten in three starts. The Crown will mark the colt's first stakes engagement, but he heads into his elimination off a 9-1/4 length triumph over older horses in 1:51.1 at Woodbine Mohawk Park.

Beach Glass is from the final crop of the late Hall of Fame stallion Somebeachsomewhere, who concluded his career with a victory in the 2008 Breeders Crown for 3-year-old male pacers at The Meadowlands. He was the 2008 Horse of the Year in both the U.S. and Canada. Somebeachsomewhere was trained by Brent MacGrath and driven by Paul MacDonell, who also team up with Beach Glass.

The colt was bred by owner Schooner II Stable, which owns Beach Glass' dam Im With Her. The MacGrath-led group includes some of the same owners of Somebeachsomewhere.

"He's a very nice horse and it's all about now how deep he is and how healthy he can stay," MacGrath said about Beach Glass in a Harness Racing Update story (<https://harnessracingupdate.com/2021/10/17/second-coming/>). "I think he's got the talent. I think he's got as much talent as any of the 2-year-olds. He's not as seasoned as some of them, but that might be a good thing right now.

"I just hope it's going to be a good story, like Beach."

Chiodo is dreaming big with Breeders Crown duo

by Ken Weingartner / USTA media relations manager

As trainer Stacy Chiodo prepares for her Breeders Crown debut with Shezafreaklikeme and Beach Crazy in Saturday afternoon's (Oct. 23) single elimination for 3-year-old female pacers at The Meadowlands, the 20-year harness racing veteran can hear her grandmother's voice.

"She always used to say to me, you can't just do something a little bit, can you?" Chiodo said with a laugh. "We never did this before, but let's drop two in (to the Breeders Crown)."

"I always say dream big, and you can't get much bigger than the Breeders Crown."

The New Jersey-based Chiodo, who has 124 lifetime driving wins, is enjoying a career year as a trainer, with $425,210 in purses, thanks in part to the success of Beach Crazy and Shezafreaklikeme.

Beach Crazy, a daughter of Somebeachsomewhere—Crosswinds Cupcake, has won four of 18 races and earned $91,538. She won the consolation division of the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes championship and finished second to Blue Diamond Eyes in the Adioo Volo Stakes.

Shezafreaklikeme, a daughter of Sweet Lou—Nf One Rose, has won two of 21 races and $54,632. She won a division of the Liberty Bell on Sept. 30 at Harrah's Philadelphia.

The top-eight finishers from Saturday's 10-horse elimination will join bye recipients Test Of Faith and Scarlett Hanover in the $600,000 Breeders Crown final on Oct. 30 at the Big M.

"I know they're not the best horses going in there by far, but it is a horse race, and anything is possible," Chiodo said. "I've always dreamed of doing it and I just felt like this is the year because these are probably the two nicest fillies I've had. They're going in very sharp and it's at The Meadowlands, so maybe there is a home-track advantage.

"They earned enough money that I figured I could cover the starting fee and still sleep at night," she added with a laugh. "I've gambled on worse things in my life."

Shezafreaklikeme is owned by Chiodo Racing, which also bred the filly. The filly's mother is a full sister to past Chiodo star Mighty Young Joe, who Chiodo trained and drove throughout his 11-year career. The gelding earned $537,279 lifetime and posted a best win time of 1:49.3 at age 11 in 2014. The triumph made Chiodo the first female driver in history with a sub-1:50 mile.

Unraced at age 2 because of growing pains, Shezafreaklikeme won her second lifetime start at The Meadowlands, even though she drifted to the outer rail in the stretch. Over the course of the season, Chiodo has tinkered with the filly's equipment to help her improve. In her three most recent races, she had gone with an open bridle.

"Everybody that's driven her has said she has so much ability, and I'm like this close to getting it," Chiodo said. "That's why we've been tinkering with some different things. For the most part, she's really come around. The fact she won the Liberty Bell was very special and it was pretty impressive the way she came first-over. She's not the same horse when she's in front. She loves having a target, to run a horse down."

Stacy Chiodo Facebook

As for the filly's name, it comes from the world of music.

"I love hard rock/heavy metal music," Chiodo said. "There is a song by a band I like called Halestorm. The song name is Freak Like Me. There was already a horse named that, so I just added the Sheza in front of it. The song has a bit of meaning for me and the horse has turned around to have a little bit of meaning for the song."

Shezafreaklikeme will start from post one and have Andy Miller in the sulky. She is 8-1 on the morning line.

Beach Crazy, who leaves from post eight with driver James MacDonald and is 15-1, is owned by Chiodo Racing, Jeffrey Shore, and Robert Barr. Shore and Barr bought their first horses last year and now have several with Chiodo.

"The ride they've had with Beach Crazy is just awesome for them," Chiodo said. "I let them make the decision whether to go to the Breeders Crown. They decided they wanted to give the Crown a shot. They're very excited about it and I couldn't be more thrilled for them."

"I love her attitude," Chiodo added about the filly. "She's just an absolute sweetheart to be around. She doesn't do anything wrong. She tries hard. She's got some early speed, so if one of mine had to draw the outside, it was probably better it was her."

Fire Start Hanover, the returning Breeders Crown champion, is the 3-1 morning-line favorite in Saturday's elimination. Multiple Grand Circuit stakes winner Grace Hill is the 7-2 second choice followed by Kentucky Championship Series final winner Blue Diamond Eyes at 4-1.

"I get some butterflies throughout the day just kind of thinking about it," Chiodo said. "But I did not change any of their routines, I didn't say I have to train them faster this week, I just left everything the same. I'm very happy with the way they're going at the moment."

"If they're capable of beating two horses and getting in the final, then that's an accomplishment in itself. I can't do much more at this point. It's just up to them to show up and beat two on Saturday and I'll be a thrilled owner, trainer, you name it. It's exciting."

Racing begins at noon Saturday. The card also features Breeders Crown eliminations for 3-year-old male pacers, 3-year-old male and female trotters, older male and female pacers, and older female trotters. For complete entries, click here.

Jason Bartlett hits 9,000 win milestone Tuesday at Yonkers

Jason Bartlett became the newest member of the 9,000-win club for drivers on Tuesday night (Oct. 19) at Yonkers Raceway after taking the first race with In Rock We Trust.

A 7-year-old Rock N Roll Heaven gelding, In Rock We Trust forged his way into the lead on the far turn in the Tuesday opener and then was able to fend off Ari Allstar to get the victory in 1:54.2.

Bartlett then got cracking on his next 1,000 by capturing the third race with Northern Network and the nightcap with Speed Man N.

The 40-year-old Bartlett, who collected his first driving title at Yonkers in 2008 and has kept a tight grip on that spot since then, has piloted the earners of $124.7 million. He was second in North America for wins in 2009 (721) and took the runner-up spot in earnings in 2017 ($11,752,084).

Widger records 7,000th career driving win

Driver Sam Widger joined elite company, harness racing's 7,000-win club, after he piloted Yuengling to victory at Harrah's Hoosier Park Racing & Casino on Wednesday (Oct. 20). It was a maiden breaking score for the 2-year-old pacing filly and a career achievement for the 58-year-old driver.

Widger entered the program just one win shy of the milestone and he got to work quickly taking the third race on the program with Yuengling for trainer Zach Miller. Yuengling was uninvolved through the early stages of the mile while Widger waited patiently to give her the green light. Turning for home, Yuengling tipped out and used a :28.2 closing quarter to record her first lifetime victory in 1:56.

Now in his 35th season as a driver, Widger recorded his best season to date in 2019 with purse earnings surpassing the $3.8 million mark. The veteran reinsman has gone over the $3 million mark in purse earnings four times in the last five years and has finished among the top 10 drivers at Hoosier Park every season he has competed.

Widger also received a spot in the Hoosier Park history books when he guided Bolt The Duer to victory in the 2013 installment of Hoosier Park's most prestigious race, the $250,000 Dan Patch Invitational. Widger also recorded his 5,000 and 6,000 career driving wins at Harrah's Hoosier Park.

The driver, who has a farm in Beecher, IL that he shares with his wife, Nancy, and their five children, loves to hunt, fish and enjoys helping out on the family on the farm in his spare time. Widger remains humble when considering his career and accredits much of his success to hard work, determination, and perseverance.

Widger is currently third on the 2021 leading driver standings at Hoosier Park with 200 trips to the winner's circle and over $2.8 million in purse earnings. Trace Tetrick leads all drivers with 333 victories while John DeLong is just behind him in second with 221 wins.

Big M back with a bang as Crown comes to town

When live harness racing makes its return to The Meadowlands tonight (Oct. 22), there won't merely be some ripples in the trotting and pacing waters, but rather a giant wave, as the Breeders Crown will make its long-awaited return to The Big M for the first time since 2016.

The Meadowlands' Fall Championship Meeting kicks off tonight at 6:20 p.m. with eliminations for 2-year-olds of each sex and gait in the spotlight. Then, less than 24 hours later, 3-year-olds and older horses will take center stage on a Saturday (Oct. 23) elimination-laden card that has a special early post time of noon.

One week later, all 12 divisions for horses of all ages, sexes and gaits will compete for purses totaling $7.2 million over the course of the weekend. On Friday (Oct. 29) at 6:20 p.m., the four finals for 2-year-olds will take place, then on Saturday (Oct. 30), a total of eight championship events will be contested on the mile oval, with the four races for 3-year-olds and four dashes for the older horses topping the bill with a second consecutive early Saturday post time of noon.

"The Meadowlands has been the scene of many of the greatest Breeders Crown races in the history of the sport," said track chief operating officer and general manager Jason Settlemoir, "and we are honored and thrilled to kick off this incredible fall meet with the return of the Crown, which begins a sensational five-week stretch, which includes the Kindergarten Finals [on Nov. 13] before culminating with Fall Final Four/TVG Finals Night [on Nov. 20]."

DOUBLE VISION: The Breeders Crown will get plenty of live television exposure on Saturday, Oct. 30, as Fox Sports 2 (FS2) and SportsNet New York (SNY) will both provide extensive Breeders Crown Finals coverage.

FS2's coverage will take place from noon-4:30 p.m. while SNY's broadcast will go from 3-5:30 p.m.

Big M TV's Jessica Otten will provide pre-race thoughts and post-race interviews on the telecast.

SUPER SUPPLEMENTS: The connections of four horses put their money where their mouths are, ponying up some big green to supplement their horses to the Breeders Crown.

Jujubee, the Kentucky Futurity champion whose winning time of 1:49.3 equaled the fastest of the season for a sophomore trotter, is in the 3-Year-Old Colts and Geldings Trot while Katie's Lucky Day, off a thrilling nose win over division leader Bella Bellini in the Kentucky Filly Futurity, will go in the 3-Year-Old Filly Trot.

Scandinavian import Ecurie D, a winner in 1:50.4 in his first-ever start in the U.S. when he took the Allerage Trot, has paid his way into the Open Trot while early-season sensation Racine Belle, who defeated division top dog Lyons Sentinel earlier this year at The Meadowlands in 1:48.1 in the Kissin In The Sand, will take on her rival again, in the Mares Pace.

All supplements cost their connections $62,500, with the exception of Racine Belle, whose pay-in check was written in the amount of $31,250.

TOP TEN AT THE BIG M: This looks like a remake of the "Magnificent 7".

The weekly Hambletonian Society/Breeders Crown Standardbred Poll that came out Tuesday revealed the current Top 10 in the harness game. They are Lyons Sentinel, Venerable, Test Of Faith, Allywag Hanover, Jujubee, Niki Hill, Atlanta, Hot Mess Express, Captain Corey and Manchego.

The top seven horses in the poll will all be racing in the Breeders Crown at The Meadowlands either in eliminations this week or have opted for a bye to next week's finals. Hot Mess Express (ineligible) will not race in the Crown and Captain Corey (injured) and Manchego (retired) are done for the year.

$100,000 GUARANTEED: One of the more exciting wagers at The Meadowlands is the 50-cent Pick-4, and fans of the popular perplexing puzzle will get to shoot for a nice pot, as each of the two times the bet is offered this weekend – beginning in race nine – there will be a guaranteed pool of $50,000.

LOW TAKEOUTS, HIGH EXPECTATIONS: Here are the popular Meadowlands' wagers that offer a low 15 percent takeout on a nightly basis. Bettors should be aware that this weekend, the programs have 12 races, instead of the usual 13:

- Race 1: 20-cent Pick-5
- Race 3: 20-cent Survivor Pick-7
- Race 6: 20-cent Pick-6
- Race 9: 50-cent Pick-4
- Race 12: 10-cent Hi-5/Pentafecta

Slick Tony voted Harrington Horse of the Meet

George Leager's Slick Tony was presented with Horse Of The Meet honors after the 7th race Tuesday (Oct. 19) at Harrington Raceway.

For the second time in the last three years, the 6-year-old No Spin Zone stallion won the honor courtesy of the Delaware Valley Chapter of the United States Harness Writer's Association. Slick Tony had seven wins at the Harrington meet and banked more than $75,000. Slick Tony, who has banked more than $861,000 in his career, dominated the Delaware Standardbred Breeders Fund (DSBF) events at 2 and 3 and continues to compete at a high level in the Mid-Atlantic region. Slick Tony is trained by his owner in Sudlersville, MD.

Harrington Raceway's 75th anniversary season of live harness racing came to a close with a 15-race card Wednesday evening (Oct. 20).

Leading driver and trainer accolades were presented to Allan Davis (driver) and Chuck Crissman Jr. (trainer), respectively. Davis (135 wins), who won back-to-back titles, led the standings most of the meet over Montrell Teague, Art Stafford Jr., Patrick Berry and Victor Kirby. Davis is the son of perennial former driving champ Eddie Davis, who won over 8,000 races.

Davis closed out the meet with 5 wins on the program. Art Stafford Jr. had a driving triple, including Scuola Hanover ($4) who was a 1:53.3 winner in a $19,000 conditioned race for pacing mares for co-owners Art and Andrew Stafford and Thomas Ireland. Scuola Hanover has had a banner season with more than $165,000 earned for trainer and co-owner Andrew Stafford, who had 2 wins on the card.

Meanwhile, Crissman (58 wins) notched his 1st training title in many years. After a training hiatus in 2010, Crissman started training horses again in 2019 and is on pace for one of his best seasons to date in his 20-plus year career. Crissman Jr. led Joe Columbo, Josh Green, Jim King Jr., and Nick Callahan in the trainer standings.

Quiksilver Bluechip ($5.20, Victor Kirby) won the overnight featured $19,000 Junior Open Trot in 1:56.2 for co-owner/trainer/driver Kirby.

Trainer Joe Columbo notched his third straight card with multiple wins with a double, joining the aforementioned Stafford and Tyler Davis. Mike Cole and Victor Kirby each had driving doubles.

Live racing in Delaware will now shift 20 miles north to Dover Downs, which will commence a Monday through Thursday schedule starting Nov. 1.

Record purses distributed at Shenandoah Downs Fall

Shenandoah Downs completed its sixth annual pari-mutuel meet in Woodstock this past weekend with record purse distribution over 127 races contested over the 10-day season.

A total of $1,526,557 in overall purse monies were doled out over the five-week campaign, including eight Virginia Breeder's Stakes worth a combined $684,225. The two richest days were Oct. 1 and 2 when respective 2 and 3-year-old Breeders Trotting and Pacing finals were held. Between combined stake and overnight purse totals, $398,300 and $451,837 (a single day record) were distributed respectively.

Horsemen continued their strong support of the Shenandoah meet — cards of 18 races each were contested on Sept. 25 and Oct. 2 while a 15-race program was held on Oct. 9.

The fastest pacing mile of the meet belonged to Danilo Premovic's Shane Adam who scored a 1:53.1 winning effort on Sept. 18. The 9-year-old Western Hanover gelding is trained by Jennifer Sansone and was driven by Fern Paquet Jr., the meet's leading reinsman. Shane Adam, who won two of his four starts in Woodstock, has earnings of $513,024 and a life mark of 1:50. The Shenandoah track record is 1:52.1, authored by John's Dream in 2016.

Megan Roberts and Graham Grace Stables' Judge Bob triggered a 1:56.1 trotting mile — the meet's fastest — on Sept. 25. The 6-year-old Great George Two gelding took that mark in an open trot with Jonathan Roberts in the bike, then came back on closing day to win over a sloppy track in 1:59.3. Judge Bob has a life mark of 1:54.2 and has bankrolled $246,037. Gee Whiz George has the Shenandoah trot mark of 1:55.1 which was set in 2019.

Horse of the Meet honors went to Shantae Gant's Vulcan Hanover who went five-for-five during the meet. The 4-year-old Donato Hanover gelding trotter is trained by Michael Whitaker — who competed in Woodstock for the first time — and was driven by Billy Carter in all five triumphs. Vulcan Hanover also raced at the Shenandoah County Fair meet which preceded the Downs season, and was 3-for-4 there. Overall, he won seven straight in the Valley and took his best clocking of 1:56.4 on the Oct. 8 card.

There was a three-way tie for top trainer honors with Whitaker, Stacey McLenghan and Marna Shehan all finishing with 10 wins each. Gerry Longo and John Wagner were next with nine each. Brandy Wine finished in third place with seven. Wagner led all trainers in purse money earned with $352,817 while Shehan was second with $158,095.

The battle for top driver title was just as keen. Paquet Jr. successfully defended his 2020 championship, reaching the winner's circle 18 times while bagging an impressive .426 UDRS. Billy Carter finished second with 17 wins followed by Corey Braden with 16, Tyler Shehan with 14 and John MacDonald with 12. Shehan finished with the most purse earnings, $174,394, followed by Paquet Jr. with $173,705. MacDonald had the highest UDRS of .508.

Two firsts were recorded on the meet's final Friday program, Oct. 15. Sierra Seidner won her first race ever as a trainer with Benjamin Seidner's Gias Boy and in the very next race, driver Danarius Dortch won his first race ever aboard Cornelius Cavett's Dancin Eyes.

On closing weekend, Memorial races held to remember two prominent, long time Virginia horsemen who passed away recently. Winston Lineweaver's remembrance race was held Oct. 15 and Ron McLenaghan's race was held the following day. Family and friends gathered in the winner's circle for both and a blanket was presented to each winner — Corey Braden's Talk Show Chica and Lomangino Standardbreds' Thaneeya.

The 2022 Shenandoah Downs season is expected to increase in length, from five weeks to as many as eight. Details in the coming weeks will be available at www.shenandoahdowns.com.

Cumberland Mint Gaming Hall ground-breaking

This week, Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear joined local leaders and Kentucky Downs and Keeneland representatives to celebrate the official ground-breaking of a new horse racing facility in Williamsburg, KY.

The Cumberland Mint racing facility will feature two different locations, approximately 15 miles apart. The Gaming Hall in Williamsburg will feature HHR Machines, simulcasting, a sports bar and dining. The racing facility, located in Corbin, will hold standardbred racing. Ground-breaking for the racing facility is expected soon.

"Kentucky is the undisputed horse capital of the world, with a long and rich history here in the commonwealth. Today's announcement shows the best days for horse racing and tourism in our state are still ahead of us," Gov. Beshear said.

"We are thrilled to continue our investment in the commonwealth and build off the model at Kentucky Downs to grow the racing product for all breeds, and we are appreciative of the community embracing this project and look forward to the positive impact to the region," said ECL Corbin LLC partner Ron Winchell.

The project represents a joint venture between Kentucky Downs and Keeneland. The $90 million investment project will ensure the commonwealth's legendary horse racing industry generates economic value for the local community.
