Atlanta finished racing for 2018

The Hambletonian-winning filly is resting up for a return to the races in 2019 at age four.

Atlanta is already enjoying some R & R with Chris Coyle at Olive Branch Farm in North Carolina. The filly will return to the races in Atlanta, the first filly to win the Hambletonian in 22 years, will race no more in 2018. That's the word from her trainer and part-owner Rick Zeron.

"It was my intention to shut her down after the Breeders Crown. That was enough races for her. She proved everything that she needed to do," Zeron said. "She let the public, the fans and my partners, especially, know how good she is, so I didn't want to race her after the Breeders Crown. That's why we shut her down. My partners... all agreed with me to shut her down and give her some well-deserved time off. We'll look forward to 2019 and see if we can beat the 1:50 barrier next year with her."

Atlanta, a daughter of Chapter Seven out of Hemi Blue Chip, is also owned by Crawford Farms, Holland Racing Stable, Howard Taylor and Brad Grant. The trotter finished second by a head last Saturday to Lily Stride in the $500,000 Breeders Crown for three-year-old trotting fillies. For the year, Atlanta posted a record of 8-5-1 in 14 starts and earned $1,017,278. She not only won the Hambletonian against the boys in two heats, she also won the two-heat Kentucky Filly Futurity.

Zeron's son, Scott, was Atlanta's driver.

Atlanta (Scott Zeron) twice won two-heat events in 2018, including the Filly Futurity at Red Mile.

"Winning the Hambletonian with a trotting filly is one thing, but to have your son in the bike is the best," Rick said. "I just can't say enough about Team Zeron getting this filly raced and letting the fans and the public see just how good Atlanta is. I'm extremely pleased the way my son drove her all year... He analyzes everything and he got the most out of that filly all year long. He preserved her, made her strong so that she would be strong enough at the end of the year for the Breeders Crown. We did get beat, but I'm very proud of her and the way my son managed and drove her."

Atlanta is already resting up for her 4-year-old campaign at Chris Coyle's Olive Branch Farm in North Carolina, but there is still some unfinished business concerning Atlanta and 2018.

"I know I'm biased, but this filly won the Hambletonian, she won the (Filly) Futurity. She came up a head short in the Breeders Crown and she did everything known to man, to race against the boys and beat them. I think she deserves to be Horse of the Year."

Sweet love for Sweet Lou

With only his first crop on the track, Sweet Lou is the sport's leading sire of 2-year-old pacers by average earnings, just ahead of his chief rival Captaintreacherous.

by Dave Briggs

The statistics don't lie, said Mark Weaver. After a stellar performance in the Breeders Crown, Sweet Lou is the leading sire of 2yo pacers by average earnings. As of this week, Sweet Lou has average earnings of $27,324 from 97 foals, compared to Captaintreacherous at $26,436 from 113 foals. The late champion Somebeachsomewhere is third at $20,261. Both Sweet Lou and Captaintreacherous have their first crops on the track this year.

"Captaintreacherous has also had a good year, but it seems to me that for every one time that someone mentions Lou, someone will mention Captain four times, so I don't feel like my man has got his fair due," said Weaver, one of the original owners of Sweet Lou along with Mike Bruscemi, Burke Racing Stable, Larry Karr and Phil Collura. All the original owners are also part of the Sweet Lou Syndicate that includes Diamond Creek Farm that stands Sweet Lou in Pennsylvania for a fee of $12,500.

Sweet Lou is the sire of Warrawee Ubeaut, the 1:48.3 world record holder and winner of the Breeders Crown freshman filly pace — and also a horse co-owned by Weaver and trained by Burke. In the Breeders Crown for freshman pacing colts, the winner, Captain Crunch, was sired by Captaintreacherous, but is out of a mare (Sweet Paprika) that is the sister to Sweet Lou. Also, horses sired by Sweet Lou finished third, fourth and fifth in that race.

“(Sweet Lou) still has to prove himself year after year, but we think the success he had the first year with not the best book of mares — especially when you compare him to his competition — we think the future should only get better and better,” said Weaver, who admits he has a soft spot for Sweet Lou as a game-changing horse for himself, Burke and the other partners.

“To me, Lou was the people’s horse. When we got Sweet Lou... Ronnie (Burke) wasn’t really known as a trainer that could develop his own. He was more of an aged racehorse guy that would get horses from other people. A lot has changed since then, obviously, now every 2-year-old record is by a horse that Ronnie trained, but at the time Lou was our first great horse that Ronnie had developed. To me, Lou has always been the people’s horse, whereas Captaintreacherous was this big, powerful horse that had all the fancy owners behind him and we were just the poor little Sweet Lou guys, you know? It’s still that way. We priced his fee to try to make him affordable for the average person that wants to breed to a top stallion and we continue to do that.”

Weaver, who said he loved Sweet Lou’s charisma and versatility on the track, finds it interesting that the son of Yankee Cruiser out of Sweet Future, bred by Seth Rosenfeld’s Birnam Woods Farms, is also versatile in the breeding shed.

“Early on, his fillies were really good and people were saying — which is kind of ridiculous three months into his career — ‘Oh, he’s a great filly sire,’ but, as of today, of his top 11 earners, eight of them are colts and only three are fillies.

“There isn’t another horse in the world that I would want to own right now other than Sweet Lou... well, maybe Muscle Hill,” Weaver said, laughing, “but Sweet Lou is poised. He just bred 400 mares Down Under — they are finally catching on.”

Finding value buys at the Harrisburg sale

by Brett Sturman

With nearly 1,000 yearlings to be offered over the course of the next week, the annual Standardbred Horse Sale Company's sale in Harrisburg, PA represents the largest yearling sale in the sport. Yearlings will range from anywhere between next to nothing and well into the six-figure range, depending on a number of factors including their breeding.

A column earlier this year performed a statistical analysis that focused on pacers as they advance from ages two to three, so this column will focus solely on the trotting side in attempting to place value on sires that have yearlings in the sale.

Like prior analysis, one can get a good gauge into the quality of sires simply by looking at their total and average earnings of their progeny. But that's only one part of the picture. The real question is: what are the top sires producing relative to strength of the rest of their pedigree? In other words, which sires are producing results greater than the sum of their pedigree parts and which ones should be doing better, relatively speaking?

Unlike their thoroughbred counterparts, harness racing is dominated by a small, centralized number of stallions. You don't need a complex lesson on statistics to tell you that on the trotting side that the Muscle Hills, Chapter Sevens and Cantab Halls will give you the best chance for success. But what if you don't have $100,000 or more to spend on average for the going rate of one of their yearlings?

Keeping a modest budget in mind, there are plenty of yearlings next week that could provide value based on an undervaluation of their sires. It's entirely possible – and even likely – that the physical for some of these horses may not be up to par, but based on pedigree alone here are some horses that may deserve a deeper look into.

Manofmanymissions is a sire that rates favorably based in part on the success of Impinktoo and Mission Accepted. Impinktoo earned over $167,000 as a 2-year-old last year while adding substantially to that bankroll this year and in the process acquiring a mark of 1:49:4; the fastest ever for a 3-year-old filly trotter. The Ohio-based Manofmanymissions has also produced Mission Accepted who has earned over $370,000 to date at this point in his 3-year-old season. In addition, he produced good 2-year-old earners Wittyville and To Russia over the past couple of seasons, all the while being paired with dams from lesser prolific broodmare sires. His one yearling in the Harrisburg sale is a colt hip 664 out of Medusa Blue Chip. The dam is yet to produce anything through three prior foals but second dam produced 2014's O'Brien winner for 3-year-old colt trotter of the year in Harper Blue Chip. Second dam Credit Winner has been the broodmare sire of recent 2-year-old stars You Know You Do, Samo Different Day and Moonshiner Hanover, just to name a few. Manofmanymission's averaged $31,286 from seven offerings last month at Lexington.

Swan For All is another sire offering value and over the past couple of years has gained notoriety for much more than simply an Indiana-based sire. Last year his 2-year-old Fiftydallarbill won the Breeders Crown and just recently his 2-year-old Swandre The Giant was sold for reportedly close to $1 million. There are only four yearlings in the sale offered by Swan For All, and two of them to focus on are ones by dam's by Muscles Yankee. Muscles Yankee is the broodmare sire of this year's likely 2-year-old filly trotter of the year Woodside Charm as well as a number of other rich and fast young trotters over the past few seasons including Hey Blondie and Hat Trick Habit most recently. Hip 539 is from a dam with a perfect 4 for 4 record of producing winners. Although no major stars have been thrown yet, this is the first time she gets paired with Swan For All. On the other side, hip 402 represents the first foal from an unsuspecting dam. A flyer for sure, but these are the types that can be most rewarding. Three Swan For All's at Lexington averaged $46,000 but I would think these should go for lower than that.

Arguably one of the better bargain sires out there right now is Muscle Massive. He had a large number of horses sell last year at Harrisburg averaging only $21,194 and his lone yearling from Lexington this year sold for just $13,000. His profile may have been raised a bit now by the success of Cruzado Dela Noche winning the Yonkers International; that after a successful career in Europe and also as a stakes performer earlier in his career in this US. As is the case with other underrated sires, Muscle Massive has quietly produced some decent ones against the backdrop of dam's and broodmare sires not up to the record producing quality as some others. In addition to prior stars Snowstorm Hanover and Speak To Me, Muscle Massive has already produced three 2-year-old trotters that have made over $100,000 this year while also getting 3-year-old Lawmaker to the Hambletonian final. In the upcoming sale, hip 591 comes from a good producing dam, Frisky Fergi. Her sire Garland Lobell is the broodmare sire of recent top young trotters, Only Take Cash, Demon Onthe Hill and Devious Man. Another one of interest is hip 513, a second foal out of a dam by Cantab Hall. There's some nice horses if you go far back enough, and perennial top sire Cantab Hall is also the broodmare sire of recent champion horses Manchego, Atlanta, Six Pack, Ariana G and the list goes on. Either of these two yearlings may be worth a shot at an expected lower price tag.

Despite his age, venerable sire Conway Hall is still a good producing stallion. He's seen the price of his yearlings go down in recent years as newer stallions have been introduced, but he shouldn't be overlooked. Just over the past year he's produced the fast Barn Bella, and good 2-year-old's of 2018 Thunder and Conway Kellyanne. This, while seemingly outperforming the pedigree quality he's been matched with. This year at Lexington he averaged only $17,429 and from what we've seen you don't have to always go particularly fast to make good money at the New York half-mile ovals. In this sale, hip 631 is a half-sister to $600,000 Possessed Fashion. Also of interest is hip 733 who comes from a family of two $300,000 earners and five $100,000 earners.

Lastly is Yankee Glide where it was announced just a couple of months ago that he's now been retired from stud duty following mares that he was bred to this year in 2018. His breeding record through the years speaks for itself and similar to Conway Hall, he's fell out of favor as he's gotten older with the highest quality dams. With that said, he's still produced quality horses over the past couple of seasons including Giveitgasandgo, Overdraft Volo and most recently Windy Corner who has already earned close to $200,000 thus far in her 2-year-old season. In this sale, hip 593 is a Yankee Glide colt out of a Cantab Hall mare. He comes from a quality family going back to the third dam Crown Dream who was the dam of Dan Patch winner Victory Dream as well as half-million dollar earner Dream Valley Om.

Freaky Feet Pete returns to the winner's circle

The Indiana champion scored his first victory in over a year three years after a stirring Breeders Crown triumph.

by James Platz

While the eyes of the harness racing world were fixed on The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono for Breeders Crown last Saturday, a former Crown champion quietly picked up his first win of the season at Harrah's Hoosier Park. Three years removed from his signature win at Woodbine, Freaky Feet Pete dashed home in :26.4 for driver Trace Tetrack and stuck a neck in front of Night Pro to score a 1:52 triumph. The victory was the 32nd of his career, but his first time back in the winner's circle since August 2017.

"Last season and this season has been pretty up and down. He raced well at points last year," said Marty Rheinheimer, who trains the millionaire and world champion. "It was good to see Pete back in the mix."

The son of Rockin Image has been plagued by splint bone issues that have limited his starts in 2017 and 2018. It was a broken splint bone that cut Pete's 2016 season short and began the string of ailments. After allowing the bone to heal naturally with time away from the track, the pacer returned to action last season. He registered nine starts before the same bone broke once again.

"Last year when we quit with him after the sires stakes he had broken a splint bone in that same leg," Rheinheimer said of the stallion, bred and first conditioned by his late father, Larry. "We let it heal the first time and he broke that splint bone again, so we had it removed this time."

With those issues behind them, the trainer, who co-owns the horse with his mother, Mary Jo, began to prepare Freaky Feet Pete for the 2018 campaign. All was going according to plan when the six year old sustained another injury that again put him on the shelf.

"I had him just about ready to qualify in June and he broke a splint bone in the other front leg. We had to take those out and that set me back another six to eight weeks," the conditioner said.

Pete returned to Hoosier Park on August 25 in the first of three qualifying efforts. The Indiana-sired star handily won each trip behind the gate, clocking miles of 1:55.1, 1:53 and 1:53.4. In his pari-mutuel debut Oct. 13, Freaky Feet Pete paced in 1:52.4. The next week (Oct. 19), he returned to race fifth, registering a 1:52.3 mile. While not a win, Rheinheimer saw more from his charge that contest than his winning effort.

"Actually, the start the week before, he was the last horse at the top of the stretch and he came flying home. He came home a 27-second last quarter in a serious head wind," the conditioner offered. "The week before was more impressive than last week to me. Last week he had the perfect trip and he did what good horses do, fought to the wire. The week before I saw flashes of the old Pete in him."

Rheinheimer said the plan is to take it one race at a time with the former Indiana Sires Stake champion. The trainer brought the homebred back to competition this fall to gauge his progress. He would like to give the pacer a few starts at Dayton to close out the year, but Freaky Feet Pete is working through issues with scar tissue.

"There is some scar tissue in the original leg. He might come up a little sore for a couple of days. It's just a process of getting that scar tissue torn loose. That's kind of a big battle right now, but he seems to have come out of everything good so far," he stated. "I don't think he's lost any ability or any of his desire. He never ceases to amaze me. He loves to race. I can't really even describes it. That's what he loves to do."

Racing fans have been awaiting Freaky Feet Pete's return. The horse that was once one-third of the heralded "Big Three" that also included champions Always B Miki and Wiggle It Jiggleit generated interest when he began qualifying this summer. After his latest win, Rheinheimer said many congratulated him on Pete's return to action.

"There is a lot of interest. After he won the other night, I don't know how many people congratulated me and told me it was great to see him back," he said. "People want to see him come back."

A career winner of more than $1.5 million with a 4-year-old mark of 1:47.1 taken at Pocono, Freaky Feet Pete's 2015 Crown victory was one of the feel-good moments of the championship card. While the last two-plus seasons have been a rollercoaster ride for the Rheineimer family, marked by both triumph and tragedy, Pete is a horse of a lifetime. Marty Rheinheimer wants to see his charge compete in 2019, but he won't risk the horse in order to do so."

"It's conflicting because he's the best horse we've ever had and the best horse we'll ever have, more than likely. It is hard to give up on one like that. If he holds up and races well, and he's not hurting, we'll bring him back and race him next year," he said. "I just don't ever want him to look bad. People in Indiana and the local community love to watch the horse race. But I don't ever want him to be a five claimer. I won't ever do that to him."

Jennifer Sears-Vanderwerken on continuing the family legacy

by Victoria M. Howard

In many family businesses, children often follow and take over their father's or grandfather's legacy. In the world of harness racing, the Sears family is an example of three generations of success.

Gene Sears was followed into the business by his son, Jay, and then Jay's son and daughter Brian and Jennifer.

Gene, who originally came from Indiana, enjoyed working with all breeds of horses. He raced ponies under saddle as a boy, trained standardbreds, and trained and raced thoroughbreds in Florida in his later years. Several standardbreds he was known for conditioning were Red Sails, Stephan Smith and Hi Lo's Solar.

His grandchildren, Brian and Jennifer, would spend a lot of time visiting him, leaving a positive influence and teaching them skills he no doubt passed on to his progeny.

In their respective careers, both Gene and Jay recorded 1,000 and 1,500 plus winners. Years later, Brian would proudly surpass that with amassing more than $190 million in his Hall of Fame career.

"Before I was born, dad took his stable out west to California. There he met his future wife, my mother, Sharon Courtois, who worked for the local small animal vet. We lived there until I was 3 before moving back east," Jennifer said.

"Dad and mom thought it an integral part of growing up in the Sears family that everyone shared in learning good horsemanship, beginning with owning our own ponies. This progressed to training harness horses on weekends with dad.

"It was tough while we were in school, for Brian and I spent six months in a Florida school and the rest of the year in New York. After graduating high school, I spent one year in college before realizing I wanted to work with horses and returned to join my family in Vernon.

"I began my racing career with a little N.Y. Vermont stakes filly named Dappalou, together winning all our starts. I was the first woman driver to ever race at those obscure tracks. The next year I took to racing more at Vernon Downs where my horse Sing Please was voted Trotter of the Year.

"In 1983, I became a leading provisional driver at Vernon Downs and met my future husband, driver/trainer Joe Pavia Jr., who was awarded ROOKIE OF THE YEAR for the Nation-Mumpton Award.

"Joe and I raced horses in Freestate and Pompano Park and for a short time I even dabbled in being a jockey at Calder Racetrack in Florida. Unfortunately, our marriage ended. I began training hunters and jumpers before I returned to Pompano where I was the leading percentage driver for the Sunshine Stakes.

"That's when my brother, Brian entered the picture."

Jennifer said she knew there was only room for one great driver in the family and that would be Brian.

"He was always a great athlete with a very strong will so it was no surprise that he would be as good as he is," Jennifer said. "I also want to add that my mother was a big part of both Brian's and my success in life. It was her undying devotion and faith, along with our dad's, that helped us become who we are. Sadly, our mom died in 2015 from ovarian cancer after battling it for 8 years (when she was given five years to live). Like my mom, I was diagnosed with stage 3c ovarian cancer in 2014 with a 90 per cent return rate within five years. It's going on five years and I am still in remission. I credit this with a strong body and will, love for life, and a sense of purpose. Something my brother Brian and I have inherited from very, very great parents."

Jennifer said the business has change a lot and it's no longer a novel thing for a woman to be racing horses.

"I think women get as much or more notoriety in the harness business, depending on how well they are suited to the task," she said.

So from driver/trainer Mildred Williams – a pioneer in getting the United States and Canada to license women and an advocate for women for their right to drive in races in the '60s and who set the trail for women in the sport – as Loretta Lynn sang, "We've come a long way, baby."

Tipping Points

The Real Life Ventures and Adventures of Trey and Batman

by Trey Nosrac

Our destination was Dayton Racetrack to do “research” on the harness horse business. My new horse partner suggested we take back roads. Through the windshield, October leaves zigzagged down like playing cards from squirrels folding in a game of Texas Hold-Em. Every ten miles or so, we cruised through another small tired town desperately struggling to survive in a big new world.

We slid down our windows to sniff in the smells of the season, but we only caught a whiff when we stopped for a light or a stop sign, probably a little life lesson. Five miles past the shadow of a town called Ditmore Junction, I decided to spit out an idea that was rattling around in my head for the past two days.

I turned to him and said, “I’ve got an idea. It’s crazy good, like your old buddy Steve Job’s good. Maybe you can get me a patent or something because it involves the internet and social media.”

He shot me a glance and a grin, “You sure you want to tell me about it – I might steal it.”

“I’ll risk it. I’m telling you, Batman, this might be a better plan to help save harness racing than your secret schemes. It’s a great idea but needs some of your expertise because my business skill is equal to a head of cabbage.”

He chuckled, “Sounds serious.”

I drove up behind a yellow tractor pulling a trailer filled with bales of hay.

I slowed behind the behemoth and said to my passenger, “Sit in my shoes.”

He chirped, “Maybe you mean stand in my shoes.”

“Maybe I mean, walk in my shoes.”

“Maybe you mean, walk a mile in my shoes.”

I sighed, “Maybe we should stop bantering about shoes.”

He grinned and gave me a time-out tee sign.

“Thank you. Now, returning to my brilliant idea. Let us begin with the premise that there are some people in the world like me like who prefer to watch harness races instead of Wheel of Fortune, Naked and Afraid, or World Indoor Drone Flying Competition.”

“Your target audience.”

“Yes, we are out there and we like to do a little gambling.”
“Okay.”

I continued, “Some of us may not know much, but we know that we aren’t good handicappers. I haven’t won money wagering on harness racing since the days of Billy Ray Cyrus and Achy Breaky Heart.”

He smiled, “I can see you line dancing.”

“I even had a black cowboy hat. But, I digress...handicapping races takes time and work. As you may have noticed, I am busy driving you around and wasting my free time. Devoting time to statistics and variables that go into wagering on horses is a problem. I’m out of the handicapping loop. I’m a dilettante, not a savant. Therefore, people of my ilk, are faced with working hard and spending time losing money to prove we are lousy handicappers.”

“Not seeing a business plan yet, Trey.”

“First, I’m gonna tell you a story.”

“I like a good story.”

“My uncle took me to a harness racetrack when I was nine-years-old. As we entered the building, there was a man in a suit sitting on a high stool selling Tip Sheets. He would call out, ‘Get your winners here while they last. Don’t go home a loser.’ He peddled his yellow sheets like a carnival barker. They cost fifty cents and had selections for every race with a short commentary like, ‘On the rise’ or ‘A sleeper waiting to wake up.’ My uncle usually bought one and slipped it in his racing program.”

“How much research went into the tip sheet?”

“No idea. But in the technological age, we need these tipsters.”

“Proceed with your plan.”

“We find a true handicapper like Bob Pandolfo. We place him into a business. Let’s name it - Big P’s Pod Play.”

“Which is?”

I reached into the wallet pocket of my jeans, tugged out a folded sheet of notebook paper, and handed it to him. He gave me an odd look, unfolded the paper, and then read.

- Each P-play covers five races, about five minutes apart.
- Players sign in for tonight’s P-Play.
- We buy our “Tip Sheet” from Pandy for $25 (or increments of $25).
- Once we pay, our thinking is finished.
- Over the next half hour or so, Pandy takes the wheel, which in this case is the live stream feed.

- He will wager $5 from our tip sheet purchase on his next five preferred races.

- He will have a few minutes before the post to explain his selection to us.

- We will watch the race.

- He will take a few seconds after each race to explain what went right or wrong.

- At the end of five races, if the Pod did not have success and the money is gone, the players get nothing. Pandy gets nothing.

- At the end of the half hour, if tonight's Pod has made money, Pandy takes a 4 per cent cut for his efforts. We, as the brains, operators, and bankers behind this madness, take 1 per cent.

He refolded the paper and handed it back to me. "In essence, certain gamblers pay the expert handicapper a 5 per cent fee for his work and for placing your bets?"

"Yep, a guy like Pandy is probably 20 per cent smarter than me at picking winners. Farming out our wagering would save me time, save me money, and I would not need to wrestle with my device. Not to mention, I would have someone to blame when I lose. In fact, I will never pick the wrong horse again — it's like the perfect storm."

"Trey, calm down. You usually don't get this excited."

"So what do you think?"

He nodded, "Interesting...your Pod Play idea would not be intimidating. It would enable those with a desire to learn harness horse handicapping from an expert. Each Pod Play is a lesson from a professional. Soon, people may prefer to take the tipster out and take the wheel themselves. That could bring people into the real game of race handicapping."

"I told you this was gold."

He gave me a slowdown motion by pushing his palms against an invisible wall, "Well, I see some holes and possible legal issues, but it is certainly worth a second look. There may be an opportunity here. Give me a few days to think this through, to do some research. We can hold another meeting on the subject. We can spitball some more and maybe I can add a few twists." He paused and added, "And Trey, your shoes are a fine fit."

A New Future Awaits

Michael Lisa

Reign Of Honor (David Miller) won the the $221,540 Kindergarten colt and gelding trot in 1:55.3.

Kindergarten finals featured on Meadowlands card

by Dave Little / Meadowlands media relations

Corey Callahan was a major player in the two Kindergarten Classic trotting events at the Meadowlands Saturday night, an evening that saw four Kindergarten finals for 2-year-olds.

'The Captain' drove 1-9 favorite Seven Hills in the $221,540 colt and gelding trot, but after beginning his career with four powerful wins, the son of Muscle Hill—Southwind Maywood went off stride in the first turn, losing all chance.

"He's still really immature," said Callahan. "Vinny (Ginsburg, driving Lucky Weekend) kind of crossed over on me and I had to grab hold of him a little bit and he made a break."

That opened the door for 7-1 second-choice Reign Of Honor to break his maiden at a most opportune time.

David Miller kept the gelded son of Father Patrick—Margarita Momma in a live cover flow, came alongside leader Divine Spirit at the top of the stretch, before powering past that foe to go on to a convincing 5¼-length score in 1:55.3. Memo was second with Reve Toujours third.

"It definitely opened the race up," said Miller of the early break by the favorite. "And around the first turn I wasn't real happy with my spot. But I got cover past the half."

Reign Of Honor, trained by Nifty Norman, returned $17.60 to his backers for owners Deo Valente Farms, Jennifer Dalton Stable and Tom Pontone.

Callahan guided an upset winner in the $236,060 filly trot, steering 17-1 shot Stella Jane to victory lane in 1:54.4.

Tim Tetrick blasted Sister's Promise away from the gate from post 10 and Callahan went with him from the eight hole. After making the lead at the quarter, Stella Jane yielded to Sister's Promise and the duo raced 1-2 around the track.

Stella Jane vacated the pocket in mid-stretch and rolled to 2¾-length score in 1:54.4. Princess Deo rallied for second with Sister's Promise holding third.

Global Pageant, the 9-5 favorite, went a tough first-over trip, wilted and finished eighth.

Stella Jane, trained by John Butenschoen, returned $36.20 for owner Crawford Farms Racing.

"She really has been good all year," said Callahan. "She's been handy, so we just shot out of there and everything worked out well. I had a lot of trot in the last turn."

Michael Lisa

Escapetothebeach (Andrew McCarthy) won the $173,800 Kindergarten colts and geldings pace in 1:51.3.

Pacing Kindergarten finals

It was a case of too close to call in the Kindergarten Classic for filly pacers.

Odds On St Lucie and Michelin's Filly finished in a dead heat in the $148,700 event in a mile that went in 1:52. Alkippe was a head back in third.

Brett Miller sent 6-1 shot Odds On St Lucie to the top in search of her third straight series win. She would never relinquish the top. Even-money favorite Michelin's Filly started to inch her way toward the leader after popping out of the four hole at the half. Three-quarters was reached in 1:24.2 as Michelin's Filly and Marcus Miller continued to march closer while racing uncovered.

Through the stretch, Michelin's Filly bravely continued on, and at the wire, the photo finish cameras could not separate the pair.

Odds On St Lucie, a daughter of Sweet Lou—Shes Some Treasure, paid $5.20 to win for trainer Tony Alagna and owner Odds On Racing. She's now five-for-10 lifetime and has earnings of over $100,000.

The Erv Miller-trained Michelin's Filly returned $2.60 for owners Ronald Michelin and Michael Anderson and now has six wins in 13 starts and also a bankroll that just breaks the six-figure barrier.

"I thought I was out there way too long," said Marcus Miller of Michelin's Filly. "She paid me back for taking care of her in her last few starts. She was as game as possible. They were both digging right to the wire."

Escapetothebeach went a perfect trip on the way to taking the $173,800 colts and geldings pace in 1:51.3. It was three-quarters of a length back to Mac's Power. Waterway was third while 8-5 favorite Southwind Ozzi finished last in the field of 10.

Waterway and Brett Miller fired right to the top and cut out all of the fractions as Andy McCarthy sat right behind with Escapetothebeach. In deep stretch, Waterway bore out while weakening on the lead, allowing Escapetothebeach a pathway to victory.

"He raced really good tonight," said McCarthy. "I got him to hustle out of there pretty good and I got the trip I wanted. He had a lot of pace. I was quite confident if I got out, I was the winner. I kept edging to the outside (in deep stretch) hoping I'd get room, but it wasn't coming, so I looked and it looked like it was starting to open up to the inside, so I switched him back there and he went right through."

A son of Somebeachsomewhere—Shelliscape, Escapetothebeach returned $16.00 to his backers for trainer Alagna and owners Alagna & Inthegym, J. Sbrocco, R. Leblanc and W. Donovan, and now has three wins in 12 lifetime starts and earnings of $124,728.

A LITTLE MORE: One lucky player became the second in as many nights to walk away with a $10,000 score in the 20-Cent Survivor Pick-10. Friday night, the winner had to go 10-for-10 but on Saturday, all it took was five out of 10 to hit big... Yannick Gingras drove three winners on the card while Corey Callahan, Brett Miller and David Miller had two apiece... All-source wagering on the 11-race program reached a meet-best $2,539,969.

Harness racing superstars showcased at Harrah's Hoosier

Some of the sport's brightest stars descended upon Harrah's Hoosier Park on Friday (Nov. 2) and as predicted, the stakes filled card delivered some outstanding harness racing battles. It was the final night of Grand Circuit racing action for the 2018 season.

After finishing second in the $500,000 Breeders Crown 3-year-old colt trot last week, Met's Hall was out for redemption and delivered on his promise in the $256,000 Carl Erskine Trot. Overcoming a poor position, Met's Hall turned in a dominant performance to deliver as the even money favorite in 1:53.2 with Andy Miller in the bike. With the win, Met's Hall sent his seasonal earnings over the $1 million mark.

Miller sent Met's Hall away from the gate firing from post nine but he would have to work for position as Yannick Gingras also sent You Know You Do away from the gate aggressively. Met's Hall grabbed command just before the quarter in :27.2 and looked relaxed on the front while clicking off fractions of :56.2 and 1:25.1. Maxus and Peter Wrenn were the first to apply pressure first-over but would have their work cut out for them as Met's Hall looked strong on the front.

As the field turned for home, Miller asked his mount for more and Met's Hall dug in gamely to hold off Helpisontheway and Tim Tetrick to get the win by nearly two lengths. Hockey Hanover and Matt Kakaley found late racing room to round out the trifecta. Met's Hall returned $4.00 at the betting windows.

"He can leave the gate as quick as any," Miller noted after the victory. "I wasn't sure if we would get to the front, but when he did. I figured he would be good. He's just an amazing animal who loves his work; he works through his issues and shows up every week."

Trained by Julie Miller, the 3-year-old son of Cantab Hall—Met's Inn recorded his fifth win of the season from 14 starts. Owned by Story Inc. and The Andy Miller Stable, Met's Hall has now won 10 of 24 starts while amassing $1,278,494 in lifetime purse earnings.

The stakes action kicked-off for the evening with the $137,000 Crossroads of America Stakes for three-year-old trotting fillies and it was Custom Cantab and Peter Wrenn who went gate to wire to score in 1:54.1. Custom Cantab left alertly from post five and held strong to the wire to hold off a hard-charging Seviyorum and Andy Miller. Looking For Zelda and Matt Kakaley utilized a ground saving trip to get up for third place honors. As the heavy betting favorite, Custom Cantab returned $4.20 to her backers at the betting windows.

"She's a tough filly," trainer Chris Beaver noted in the winner's circle. "Even when she's not 100 per cent she gives it her best. She's staked to The Matron Stakes so as long as she comes out of this race okay we will try her there."

Indiana's champion three-year-old trotting filly recorded her 12th win and has finished no worse than third in 16 starts this season. Owned by Christopher Beaver, Donald Robinson, and RBH Venture, the daughter of Mr. Cantab—Custom Model has now won 14 of 58 lifetime starts and sports a lifetime bankroll of $643,936.

Not to be outdone, Youaremycandygirl turned in an impressive performance of her own to dominate her rivals with a nine and three-quarter length romp in the $113,000 USS Indianapolis Memorial for three-year-old pacing fillies. With regular pilot Yannick Gingras in the bike, Youaremycandygirl seized the early lead and steadily drew away from the field to stop the timer in 1:50.1.

Leaving from post six, Youaremycandygirl reached the front through the opening panel in :27.1 and never looked back. After recording middle fractions of :56 and 1:23.2, Youaremycandygirl began to pace away from the rest of the field and still had a :26.1 closing kick left in the tank. Solitary and Brett Miller were the best of the rest finishing second while Double A Mint and David Miller finished third. Sent off as the 3-5 favorite, Youaremycandygirl returned $3.40 at the betting windows.

"She's just super-fast," trainer Ron Burke noted of his filly. "She's from Sweet Lou's family — it's become the best maternal speed family in the country. A couple things haven't gone right this year so it's made for a longer year for her but she's a top filly."

With the win, Youaremycandygirl recorded the eighth win from 16 seasonal outings. The millionaire daughter of American Ideal—Sweet Lady Jane pushed her lifetime bankroll to $1,365,973 for owner W.J. Donovan.

The stakes action concluded with the $190,000 Monument Circle Pace for three-year-old pacing colts and geldings and after a disqualification of the first-place finisher Lather Up and Montrell Teague, it was Always A Prince and Trace Tetrick who came out victorious. The time of the mile was 1:49.1

Lather Up used his early gate speed to grab the early lead through the opening panel in :27.1 before yielding the lead to Dorsoduro Hanover and Matt Kakaley just before the half in :55. Tetrick gave Always A Prince the green light just past the half and he ranged up to engage the leader through the three-quarters in 1:22.

While the top pair were battling it out on the front, Lather Up went off stride and although he came back pacing, was ultimately placed eighth for causing interference to trailing horses. Always A Prince was placed first with Dorsoduro Hanover placed second. Sent off as the 5-2 second choice, Always A Prince returned $7.20 for the victory.

“He’s just a great horse,” trainer Tyler George said in the winner’s circle. “He was a little tired after his last start so we gave him the week off to prepare him for this race. He doesn’t get excited, he doesn’t do anything wrong—he’s just a great horse to be around.”

Indiana’s champion three-year-old pacing colt recorded his seventh consecutive victory and 19th win from 22 lifetime starts. Owned by Carl and Melanie Atley, Always A Prince was unraced as a two-year-old but has amassed $492,875 in lifetime purse earnings.

The action-packed evening was complimented by a special appearance from harness racing’s richest horse, Foiled Again, who finished a very game second in the $15,000 Dick Macomber Memorial with Ricky Macomber Jr. in the bike.

“He’s come to enjoy this,” trainer Ron Burke noted of the fanfare that surrounds his superstar pacer. “A year ago, I don’t know if he would have liked it, but he seems to understand what’s going and he really enjoys the attention and seeing all the people.”

Just an hour after pacing his mile in 1:51.4, Foiled Again visited the front paddock at Hoosier Park to meet many of his adoring fans. Foiled Again’s appearance was one of the many stops of his 2018 Farewell Tour.

Quebec Jockey Club to go ‘whipless’ Nov. 18 and 25

The Quebec Jockey Club management has announced that the drivers will go ‘whipless’ in all the harness races held at the Hippodrome 3R on Nov. 18 and Nov. 25.

“This is an experiment of pari-mutuel racing without whips,” said director of racing Murielle Thomassin. “There will be absolutely no whips allowed on the track these two special days.

“There is no surprise that this year the population is tired of cruelty on animals. The Quebec Jockey Club is ready to change with the society and evolve in a sport where the horse is our pride and joy. We must respect and protect them at all cost.”

Over the past 10 years a few tracks, Plainridge Raceway and Indiana Downs, have experimented with different forms of ‘whipless’ racing. The biggest movement was announced in 2016 when Harness Racing Australia voluntarily decided to phase out and ban the whip. Not just in races – but on training tracks and stables, too.

“We will see how the racing goes these two days without whips,” Thomassin said. “We will study the races themselves and the wagering patterns too and maybe come up with some changes for the 2019 harness racing season in Quebec.”

Breeders Crown feedback

Being raised on Long Island, I have attended harness races for about 58 years. I have attended many Breeders Crown races including the ones held at Pocono Downs. Having the greatest respect and admiration for both John Campbell and Moira Fanning, I have the following comments: [1] While I understand that the Breeders Crown is, to a great measure, awarded to tracks that can make a substantial financial commitment to the purses, in view of the size of the purses, quality of the horses and importance for end of the year honors, the Breeders Crown races should be run on a 7/8 or one mile track. Out of 12 races at Pocono, not one winner came from outside the five post. I understand that if you win an elimination race you will draw from the five post in, but there were some very good horses from the six post out and not one of them could win a race That is ridiculous; [2] If The Breeders Crown are going to be run at the end of October or in November, the races should be run at tracks that have enclosed grandstands. I find Pocono to be very fan user unfriendly and the last 2 Breeders Crowns there were on nights that were cold and rainy. While the weather can't be controlled, at least at a track with an enclosed grandstand you can sit in comfort; i.e., Hoosier Park, Meadowlands, or Mohawk. Either sitting in a tent or going out to see a race and then having to go back into a or a tent is not appealing. The Breeders Crown deserves better.

More Crown feedback

As reported in your coverage of Breeder's Crown night at Mohegan Sun Pocono, it was a terrific night of racing. Each event featured head to head battles of the top horses in their respective class. Many owners, breeders, trainers and drivers had good reason to celebrate.

It was a great night just to watch as a fan of the sport.

However, as a bettor with no more than a hundred bucks in his pocket, it was maybe not so great. Pocono's betting menu was straight out of 1983: win/place/show, exacta/trifecta/superfecta for every race. (I don't play trifectas and superfectas.) Not one Pick 3 on the entire card? No 50-cent minimum offers? (Yes, I have become spoiled by what is offered routinely any day of the week at other tracks). There were only $1-minimum bets on the scant couple of Pick 4's and one Pick 5 that were offered, and the $65 and $106 winners in the middle of the card ensured that most bettors taking a shot at those were wiped out in a hurry.

It would have killed them to offer even a couple of extra daily doubles? One or two Pick 3's? Sorry, my money stayed in my pocket on what should have been one of the sport's biggest nights for betting handle.
